HEALTH COLUMN

Conducted by Dr. J. R. Earp, Director, New Mexico Bureau of Public Health.

Hygiene B. C.

The law of Moses, says Sir George Newman, is "Mosaic in origin and texture." By this he means to refer to the several traditions of hygiene which are incorporated in the Pentateuch. Undoubtedly the hygiene of the old testament borrowed some of its wisdom from Babylon, some from Egypt and some, through Egypt, from the ancient Minoan civilizations which date back around 3,000 years B. C.

The reader of Leviticus will find rules for the diagnosis of infectious skin diseases, which are all included under the term leprosy, rules for the isolation of the patient and the disinfection of his clothing and his home. He will find rules for maintaining a clean and sanitary camp and rules for the protection of water and food from contamination. Note that flesh foods liable to infestation with parasites are forbidden as unclean.

The hygiene found in the Vedas, the religious books of the Hindu faith, dates back to some 1,500 years B. C. It specializes rather in personal hygiene than in public health. Its strict doctrine on personal cleanliness was taken over intact by the Mohammedans and is responsible for the zeal in bathing found among the religious people of the East to this day. It is perhaps unfortunate that the Hindu wisdom on personal cleanliness is not combined with the Mosaic wisdom on protection of water supplies. That is a synthesis left to modern hygienists to incorporate in a modern code.

How well those ancient people used the little knowledge that they possessed. If we took like advantage of even a half of the modern knowledge of hygiene how different this modern world would be.

Mrs. Guy Reed Brainard (Lola Ward) arrived Saturday from her home at Henderson, Texas, and visited until Monday with her parents Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Ward and Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Brainard. She drove over with Allen Perry, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Perry, former residents and a friend of his who were visiting with friends here over the week end.

MORE TERRACING IN EASTERN COUNTIES

Farmers in eastern New Mexico are showing more interest this spring in terracing than in previous years, says G. R. Quisenberry of the New Mexico State College. County agents in dry land counties are now spending all available time on running terrace lines.

The retirement of wheat land and other acreages in the adjustment program is making many acres available for terracing at a season the farmer can find time to do the work. Previously, much of this land has been in crops at this season of the year and not available for terracing.

Some of the lands already terraced and flooded are growing good crops of alfalfa and large yields of other crops. Grain sorghum, corn, and similar crops on terraced land, when planted in contour rows, are showing large increases in yields, 100 percent increases are not uncommon.

Farmers are learning that as they take acreages out of production they should prepare the remaining acreages more carefully as well as protect the non-cropped areas from weeds, erosion, and depletion. Terraced and contoured land is fully protected from water erosion and does not blow as badly as other lands. When put into a permanent crop of grass or legumes, it improves.

The adjustment program will permit farmers of non-irrigated land to plant acreages of alfalfa, sweet clover, crested wheat grass, or brome grass. These crops serve admirably as soil improvement and erosion control crops and offer possibilities in non-irrigated sections for permanent pastures and hay plants when planted on the contour in terraced fields. These same crops, when planted on sloping land that is not terraced, have not given very satisfactory yields. They have survived and in occasional wet years given reasonable yields when planted in rows.

MALAGA COUNTY CHAMPIONS

The basketball championship of Eddy county was won by the Malaga school in both the boys and girls division. A record of the scores kept during the past season reveals that Malaga scored 407 to 244 points for the opposition in the boys division and the Malaga girls scored 157 points to 63 for the opposition.

BANKHEAD COTTON BILL NOW READY FOR PRESIDENTS SIG'TURE

WASHINGTON—Only the signature of President Roosevelt is needed to put on the statute books the nation's first federal compulsory production control act—the Bankhead bill.

The house Tuesday adopted the senate approved conference report 235 to 105 and sent to the White House the measure to force farmers to keep cotton production in the coming crop year at 10,000,000 bales.

In the brief debate it was charged by opponents led by Representative Busby (D-Miss.) that it meant an "irretrievable surrender" of the rights of farmers to control their own production.

Chairman Jones (D-Texas) of the agriculture committee, replied that "planless agriculture condemns our south and our farmers elsewhere to eternal poverty," industry, he said, planned production to meet consumption needs and agriculture should do likewise.

With few exceptions the bill went to the president as the house originally passed it, the senate having receded on its controversial proposal to exempt the first six bales from the 50 per cent tax imposed on production in excess of quotas.

President Roosevelt recommended the bill in principle in a letter to the chairman, Jones, when the agriculture committee was considering it.

SCOUT NEWS

At a special meeting of the Court of Honor Friday night two boys, David Crockett and Hardin Lauderdale, passed tenderfoot test getting ready for the "Camp-O-Ral" which begins in Roswell today and closes Saturday morning.

The Camp-O-Ral (or rally in camp) is intended to be a wholesome outing for the boys and where leadership among the boys is encouraged though each troop is required to have adult leadership throughout the Camp-O-Ral, but the real leadership evolves around the senior patrol leader and the various patrol leaders. Each troop must be equipped with necessary bedding and camp equipment for comfortable living in the open.

Its chief purpose is to develop real leadership among the boys and to teach them how to live with others. With the first arrival in camp until the Camp-O-Ral is officially closed, every action (or lack of it) is subject to judging by the officials.

Two national headquarters certificates will be given to the troops that can qualify on the following points: The troop which has at least 75% of its membership in correct uniform will be awarded the best appearing troop certificate, and the troop having at least 50% of its membership in correct uniform will be awarded the certificate for improvement in appearance. These certificates have never been offered in this area before. Parents, a real Scout will appreciate a uniform as much as anything you could give him, and considering the quality of material and the fact that it may be worn on almost any occasion it is inexpensive.

Scouts are taught to respect the flag. They are also taught to respect their uniform and badge and to keep them out of questionable places. Scouting is not a military organization and the uniform is not a military uniform, and should never be worn while carrying firearms. Some of the places where a Scout uniform should never be worn are pool halls, saloons, gambling dens and the like.

Correct uniform consists of Scout hat (or bareheaded, optional), Scout neckerchief with sliding clasp either hand made or official, Scout shirt, belt, breeches, and long stockings and high top shoes, either black or brown. Neatness and cleanliness are of prime importance.

If you have a boy who has attained Scout age (12 or over) send him to the Scout meeting places, either to the Legion hut on Tuesday nights or to the Baptist church on Friday nights, for enlistment. The registration fee is 50 cents per year. Then he will need a Scout hand book from which he will learn all his scouting work. I don't know another book besides the bible that is so full of useful things that a boy should know as this hand book at 50 cents.

GINNERS ADOPT NRA CODE AT CARLSBAD WITH ONE EXCEPTION

Thirty-eight members of the New Mexico Irrigated Cotton Ginners association from New Mexico and west Texas late Monday in session at Carlsbad approved with only one exception the NRA marketing code as applying to ginning and elected a state code authority.

Members of the code authority are: Hub Gifford, Roswell; Robert Miller, Barstow, Texas; Will Summers, Fabian, Texas; Jeffrey Watkins, Hatch, and C. W. Beeman, Loving.

The exception to the code was to the rule determining the weighing of seeds. The ginners explained that the steam sterilization of seeds required by the government in combating the pink boll worm will prevent the determining of the weight of seeds by weighing because of saturation. They voted to ask for a substitute rule allowing weight determination on a percentage basis.

MILEAGE CONTROVERSY

Charges have been made that some members of the special session of the state legislature have claimed excessive mileage. The name of Senator J. H. Jackson of Artesia was brought into the controversy. Members of the state legislature have previously been allowed to claim the mileage by rail from their home to Santa Fe. Senator Jackson was quoted by the press dispatches as saying: "I read where I claimed more than 1,000 miles in the house 'feed' bill. I put in no claim at all. I remember at the regular session I told someone to give me whatever Z. B. Moon, my predecessor, claimed."

That was a point raised by Senator Fred Wilson. He said in order to get the mileage, it was necessary to sign a slip for it. "I discovered that slip says 'I claim' so much mileage." That, the senator said, put the burden on the person signing the slip.

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the bible: "For there is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus." (1 Tim. 2:5).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook: "The atonement is a hard problem in theology, but its scientific explanation is, that suffering is an error of sinful sense which truth destroys, and that eventually both sin and suffering will fall at the feet of everlasting love."

An evangelist, upon returning home from holding a meeting, was asked how many people obeyed the gospel during his meeting, and he replied: "If you will multiply the number of days between Christ's resurrection and ascension by the number of carpenters or smiths the Lord showed to Zechariah; then add the number of cubits the flood rose above the highest hills; then divide this sum by the number of days Paul tarried at Troas; from this subtract the number of things God appointed to destroy Jerusalem; then multiply the remainder by the number of years the man came seeking fruit on his fig tree and was disappointed; to the result add the number of years Jair judged Israel; divide this sum by the number of months Elizabeth hid herself; from this subtract the number of loaves of showbread; then add the number of men who ran before Absalom; and you will have the number of people who 'obeyed the gospel' during my meeting."

FURTHER PLANS ARE MADE FOR SANITARY SURVEY IN COUNTY

Mrs. Edith Hardy, county health nurse, who was here yesterday, announced that plans had been completed for making a sanitary survey of the community. Some changes have been made in the original plans and some delays have been experienced, which prevented the project from starting last week. The survey will be conducted here by the Artesia Women's club with the Artesia Chamber of Commerce cooperating, under the direction of the county health department. This project is part of the state health survey, inaugurated by the National Tuberculosis Association, and will be conducted in most of the counties of the state. The questions when answered and tabulated will give a valuable picture to the health department on the sanitation and other health problems of the county. The cooperation of each family interviewed is requested that the work of compiling the data may be more pleasant and the findings most valuable.

As we understand it, the project must be finished by the end of next week. The local Women's club has agreed to supply the necessary committees for this work.

Eddy County Farm News

On April 12 the County Cotton committee, consisting of W. D. Bales, Walter Craft, M. W. Evans and County Agent Wunsch, were called to Las Cruces to confer with the State Board of Reviews in regard to the 1934 contracts. In checking the Eddy county contracts the State Board of Reviews found that during the years 1928-29-30 there had been some 12,000 more bales of cotton listed than had been ginned in the county. Most of the other years checked with a few tenths of a percent. It was adjudged by the board that this evidently was due to the lack of accurate records during the years stated. In order to expedite and complete the work the board finally decided to reduce the lint records on the contracts showing a 1928-29 base from 4% to 6%. This was done and the agent advised to send notices to all farmers, which has been done, and as soon as these notices are received the contracts will be complete and ready to send to Washington. The Eddy county contracts were the first in the state to be completed and there will be no further change made, and those contracts that are not accepted by the producers will be withdrawn from the county list. The board reports that all contracts were received and will be forwarded to Washington on April 18. The complete review shows a total of 436 contracts, making a total of 36,160 acres with a reduction of 13,300 acres, with an average lint of 352 pounds per acre. Returns from these contracts and checks should be received by the latter part of April.

Heavy liquidation coming from Chicago and New York Monday and Tuesday sent all markets downward, stop loss orders from farmers helped the decline and some ten-cent-loan cotton added to the general selling.

Apparently the market is fairly well corrected and speculative shorts have now been placed at a decided disadvantage. The Bankhead bill, having already been fully discounted, is not a factor marketwise at this time—what its effect may be is another problem requiring separate analysis.

As advised for the past few weeks sales of last year's cotton above the twelve cent mark could not well bring regret.
