PORT OF ENTRY

Often the persons who do the most work for the community receive little, if any, praise and the most criticism.

We have yet to hear a Carlsbad citizen praise the good work of the port of entry officials, who daily direct hundreds of tourists to Carlsbad's many attractions, but we have heard several criticize the port of entry men on reports that were without any basis of truth.

Here we would defend these officials, who are real gentlemen, and who do their utmost to look to the convenience and happiness of the tourists. They are equally as courteous to the residents of Carlsbad. The port of entry officials are employed by the state, and they are not obliged to look after the welfare of the city, yet each day they distribute hundreds, sometimes thousands of pieces of literature for the city. They always have been ready and willing to cooperate in every way.

Officials at the port of entry find themselves in many trying situations, yet they always have been known to remain calm and courteous. It is human nature to be ready to criticize on hearsay, but one should investigate before he attacks any person or group active in public work.

In a Texas newspaper recently there was an erroneous news story stating Texas persons had been forced to buy New Mexico licenses, although they were only passing through. It is the purpose of New Mexico officials to encourage travel, not to impede it.

Don't be guilty of the same offense—against the men who are working for the good of your own community.—Current-Argus.

LACK OF ROADS

The Roswell Record continues to decry the lack of a hard-surfaced road from the Pecos Valley to the Lea county oil fields. Apparently the Record is just waking up to what Texas has done to southeastern New Mexico, or is the agitation of a road east from Roswell a subtle disguise?

The need of a road into the Lea county oil fields has been realized since 1930. Midland and other west Texas towns realized the need and got quick action and incidentally the bulk of the oil business and what Midland missed Lubbock got.

If the Record, admittedly a republican paper, operating under the banner of an independent newspaper, will take the trouble to look up the amount of highway money spent in southeastern New Mexico and in Lea county the past year and a half, which has been under the Tingley administration, the final figures might be surprising. At least Lea county, now probably the biggest tax paying county in the state, has gotten more highway work during the Tingley administration than all other previous administrations combined.

What the Record and a few Roswell citizens want is a highway to the east. They ought to be frank enough to say so and not start belly-aching now about losing the oil field business that has been lost over six years. What the Record ought to do is to try to find the proverbial horse, instead of trying to lock the proverbial stable or worse in trying to throw in with the northeastern communities in getting a highway that parallels the state line so that Texas can get the remaining oil field business.

THE MOST DANGEROUS PLACES

The most dangerous place you can be in the ordinary course of existence is in an automobile. The second most dangerous place is in your home.

These deductions are made from figures recently released by the National Safety Council, covering the accident record during 1935, when accidents caused more than 100,000 deaths. Automobiles accounted for 37,000 of the total—an all-time high record—and home accidents for around 31,000.

It is a sad commentary on the habits of the American people that easily avoidable home accidents cause more injuries and deaths than industrial accidents. The average American industry has made astonishing strides in reducing both the frequency and severity of accidents. Part of this achievement followed better guarding of machinery. But the most important cause of the reduction was the instillation of a philosophy of carefulness in the workmen.

At home and on the road, the man who wouldn't think of taking a chance at his work, apparently feels free for such "inhibitions." The driving errors that cause motor accidents are well known. Not so well known are the principal causes of home accidents. Falling out of windows, slipping in the bathtub, falling downstairs, tampering with electrical equipment—these are sources of thousands of deaths and injuries each year.

These figures should make you think—and think more than once. The hospital and the morgue await those who are thoughtless, careless and reckless.

FIFTY-FIVE FOREST FIRES IN JUNE

A total of fifty-five forest fires during the ten-day period ending June 30, burned less than one acre per fire in the national forests of New Mexico, the regional forester's office at Albuquerque said Friday. The Santa Fe National Forest reports that no man-caused fires have been started on their lands since the first of the year.

Since the first of the year there have been forty-five man-caused fires in the national forests of the state. Seven guilty parties have been arrested.

Two hundred and eighty-three forest fires in the state since the first of the year have burned over 450 acres of land within the boundaries of the national forest. Seven emergency guards have been posted.

The average marriage age for women in the United States is 21.7 years.

A Paying Investment

Many farmers say a telephone has a dollars and cents value, because it helps them sell more of their farm produce; makes it easy for them to keep in touch with prices in more markets; finds buyers for surplus crops that otherwise might be a loss.

Chislings

Pecan: "Doesn't riding horse-back give one a terrible headache?"
Pistache: "On the contrary!"—Tongs and Times.

First CCC-ite: "I think that new cook we have just got must be an old baseball umpire."
2nd Ditto: "What makes you think so?"

1st Ditto: "Didn't you just see him dust off that plate with a whisk-broom?"

A young lady, finding herself stranded in a small town, asked an old man at the station where she might spend the night.

"There ain't no hotel here," he replied, "but you can sleep with the station agent."

"Sir," she exclaimed, "I'll have you know I'm a lady."

"That's all right," drawled the old man, "so is the station agent."

Paul Mallon, in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, tells of the precautions taken to see that all who approach close to the president have no opportunity to carry a lethal weapon.

"Presidential guards have a rule that no one be permitted to approach the president with a hand concealed. This is a precautionary outgrowth of the McKinley experience. McKinley's assailant did not have his hands in his pocket, but he concealed a weapon in the palm of a hand under heavy bandages. The quick frisking of distinguished White House guests is carried out with such dexterity that few except the guests realize what has happened to them."

"At the recent judicial reception, six justices of the supreme court headed the guest line. As they approached the president and Mrs. Roosevelt, two of them allowed their left hands to remain in their pants pockets, a natural thing with men in full dress. Secret service men approached them, tapped their trousers gently, and lifted their hands out of their pockets. The movement was so swift that the two justices did not know what had happened, until they realized with horror that they were suspected of having weapons in their pockets."

A good republican told us that as long as Farley talks, the donkey should be the emblem of the democratic party.

"If of nervous temperament," writes a motor expert, "you must be prepared to go through a good deal while learning to drive a car." Including, possibly, the windshield.

The way to make war impossible is to fight it on a cash basis.

"That chicken we had at dinner was an incubator chicken."
"How do you know?"
"Any chicken that had a mother couldn't be that tough."

Wife to Hubby: "Please don't look so thoroughly miserable. Here comes the man to whom I was engaged before I married you."

It was one of those embarrassing moments for C. J. Dexter when a group of friends recently presented him or rather gave back to him a key to the city of Los Angeles, California. It seems that Dexter once possessed this key, which had at the time a thermometer on the side of it, but according to the legend of the key, Dexter had it in his hand one day when he saw Mae West coming down the street. And the thermometer got so hot, all the mercury ran out at the top.

If you have any stale jokes tell them to Doc Pepper (A. P. Mahone). Doc was telling one the other day to a bunch of Rotarians, something about what one little Sunday school boy said to another SS boy about "set down you dirty little republican," a joke that created a laugh two years ago. And we wonder if drinking Dr. Pepper makes one absent-minded?

The following from the Arizona Record shows what home boys sometimes do when away from home:

C. E. Mann of Artesia, N. M., forfeited a bond of $5 when he failed to appear before Police Judge Oren F. Frary in Miami yesterday on a charge of speeding, made by Motorcycle Officer G. E. Hicks.

Fireworks were responsible for seven deaths despite reports indicating a big scale revival of this traditional feature of Independence Day. The same number were killed from the cause in 1935, 1933 and 1929.

Comparing death totals for the past several years, officials of the national safety council were inclined to credit this year with a fair showing. Death totals in 1925 were 216, 175 in 1934, 185 in 1933 and 243 in 1932.

The pointed out that the 254 highway figure was somewhat under estimates for the two days, based on previous marks, and said that July's average daily death toll from accidents is around 300.

Motorists now are able to travel on hard surfaced road all the way between El Paso and Alamogordo and detours have been eliminated as a result of progress in highway construction, officials reported at Alamogordo.

Establishment of a fly CCC camp to improve the road to Queen was announced last week at Carlsbad. Work is to be done by the enrollees at the Lake Arthur CCC camp and construction will start within about three weeks, it was said.

Holiday Deaths On 4th Total 444

CHICAGO—The double holiday of July Fourth was celebrated by the nation at a cost of 444 lives, revised fatality tables Monday disclosed.

The list was the second longest for the country's holiday in nine years and exceeded only by the 483 of 1931 for the past six years. In 1931 as this year was a two-day holiday period.

With millions of cars on the highways, motor vehicle accidents led all other causes of accidental death with a 254 aggregate. Drownings numbered 104. Various other accidents contributed the remainder.

Fireworks were responsible for seven deaths despite reports indicating a big scale revival of this traditional feature of Independence Day. The same number were killed from the cause in 1935, 1933 and 1929.

Register Livestock Brand, Says Toner

Attention to the law which requires recording of livestock brands is called by Ed Toner of Carlsbad, cattle inspector for this district. Toner declares the law will rigidly be enforced.

The law pointed out is as follows: Sec. 117—It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to use any brand for branding horses, cattle, mules or asses, unless said brand shall have been duly recorded in the office of the Cattle Sanitary Board of New Mexico and the person, firm or corporation using such brands holds a certificate from the said Cattle Sanitary Board certifying to the fact of such record. (S. 131, N. M. S. Ann., '15).

Sec. 121—Any person, firm or corporation violating the provisions of Section 131, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, in any of the courts of this state having jurisdiction of such case, shall be fined a sum of not more than five hundred dollars ($500.00) or imprisonment for a term not exceeding one year.

Basin-Listed Field Sponges Up Big Rain

News of "the heaviest rain since 1933" from the Colby, Kansas, field station of the Bureau of Plant Industry reported "the soil got a good soaking to a depth of fourteen inches," with "some loss by runoff." But on fields where the basin lister had been used "the moisture soaked down to a depth of about twenty inches, even where there was considerable slope." On the Great Plains six inches more of moist soil may be the difference between a crop and failure.

The basin lister—developed by the Bureau of Agricultural Engineering and Iowa State College—is a lister with an attachment that gathers soil and dumps it at short, regular intervals as dams across the listed furrows. Each tiny dam holds water where it falls.

Listing on a slope without a basin attachment leaves ready-made ditches to collect and carry away water with its load of topsoil. If listed furrows could be on the contour, there would be less need for such a device as the basin former. But an entire field can rarely be listed exactly on the contour. Slopes seldom are regular and listed furrows must be parallel. Also, in listing to reduce wind erosion, furrows must be at right angles to prevailing winds, which may run them up and down a slope.

Listing is a cultural practice that cannot well be dropped in the Great Plains region. It is one of the best ways of checking wind erosion, the furrows catching and holding drifting particles of soil. The basin lister with its numerous cross dams is even more effective.

In buying oil alone, auto owners in the United States are mulcted $40,000,000 annually through shortage.

Plans for the Grand Coulee dam in Washington show it to be twice as high as Niagara Falls.

Gene Pecarl White left Wednesday for El Paso where she will spend a few weeks visiting her sisters, Mrs. R. J. Murray and Mrs. Sam Zumwalt. Miss White will leave the latter part of this month with Mr. and Mrs. Murray for the Grand Canyon, San Francisco and Los Angeles, where she will visit friends and relatives.

Strike Slows Up Oil Field Work

Oil field operations have slowed up considerably in Lea county due to the strike of rig builders which has now been on for three weeks. No new rigs are being erected and as fast as wells are completed the drilling tools are stacked and drilling crews are laid off.

This has had a very depressing effect upon all kinds of business in the oil fields. It is estimated that from 1,000 to 1,500 oil field workers are out of employment on account of the strike and that more than $100,000 a week in wages is being lost.

Up to the present time nothing has been accomplished by way of a settlement of the difficulty although numerous conferences have been held and the commissioner of labor for New Mexico has been in the field this week trying to affect an agreement.

The wage scale for rig builders has been $12 and $14 a day and they are striking for an increase of $2 a day, which the oil companies refuse to pay. The rig builders claim that their side of the controversy is not understood by the public and that they do not receive anything like the amount of money for their work that they are supposed to get, that they are being constantly shifted from one field to another on their own time and at their own expense, and that the dangers in their work is very great and the accidents to them are most common.—Lovington Leader.

Health Column

Barriers

I was with a group of doctors discussing that much debated subject of socialized medicine. Said one of my friends: "It is not the barrier of poverty but the barrier of ignorance which separates people from the doctor."

There sprang into my mind at once the picture of a tragedy even then reaching its climax in a nearby hospital. A little girl of seven summers lay dying, attended impatiently by three very clever doctors. All three agreed that she must die. They had been called too late. Yet any competent physician could have saved her life if he had seen her in time. The mother of this little girl is poor; she must count every penny. Had it not been so she would probably have called the doctor earlier.

So much for the barriers of poverty.

But what of the other barrier? If the mother had known that a sore throat during a scarlet fever epidemic may well be scarlet fever; if she had known that infection of the middle ear may follow any sore throat and is a very common complication of scarlet fever; if she had known that pus in the middle ear is a common cause of earache and that unless it is drained off by an incision in the drum it will go on into the brain—if she had known these things then even though she had been destitute, yes and desperately in debt, she would have besieged her doctor's office and begged him with tears for his help. No doctor would have refused her. The child that now is dead would have been alive today.

Ignorance—this is the great big barrier. It is this barrier which the health educators, the public health officers, sanitarians and nurses must demolish. Will not my readers engage themselves to lend a hand?

ENGRAVING—THE ADVOCATE

The Advocate's Tested Recipe

By Frances Lee Barton

OUR old Aunt Cassie used to vow that she couldn't keep house without a bunch of eat talls to clean out the corners, and I can't get on without a jar of chocolate sauce in the refrigerator.

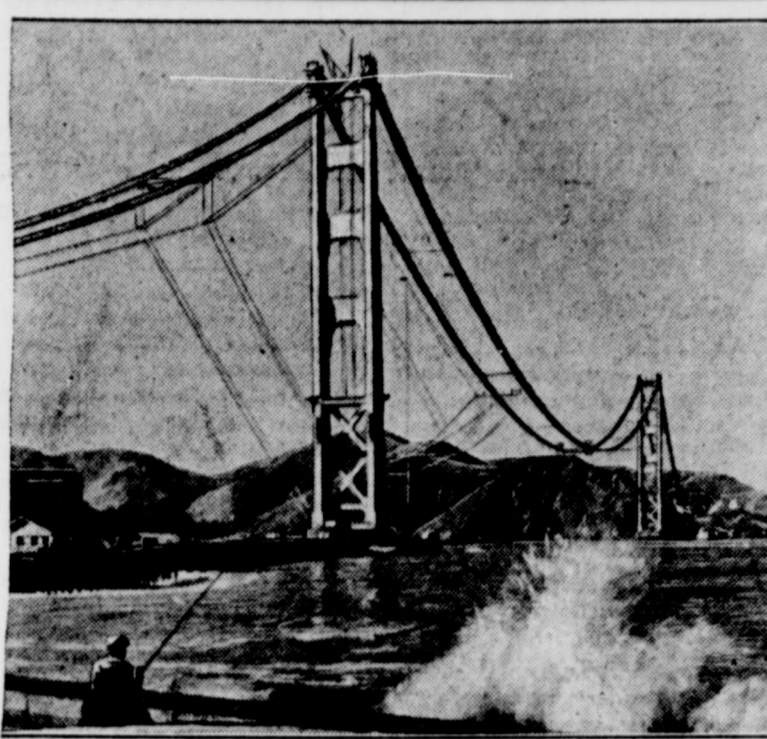

First, I serve it hot on pudding, cake, or ice cream. Then, if there is any left, I store it in a jar in the refrigerator—so that there's always a gay dessert in the office.

Imperial Sauce

1 1/2 squares unsweetened chocolate; 1 cup milk; 1 cup sugar; dash of salt; 2 tablespoons light corn syrup; 1/2 teaspoon vanilla. Add chocolate to milk and place over low flame. Bring to a boil and cook until mixture is smooth and blended, stirring constantly. Add sugar, salt, and syrup, and stir until sugar is dissolved and mixture boils; continue boiling, with out stirring, until a small amount of sauce forms a jellied mass in cold water (220° F.). Add vanilla. Serve hot on ice cream or desserts. Makes 1-1/3 cups sauce.

Golden Gate Bridge Towers Support Longest Span

Two 746 Feet High Towers of Largest Suspension Bridge in World Are 4200 Feet Apart.

WORK on the main span of the Golden Gate Bridge, the largest suspension bridge in the world, will soon be started by the Bethlehem Steel Company which recently completed erection of the two great towers for the bridge. The towers are 4200 feet apart as compared with the 3500 feet distance between towers of the George Washington Bridge across the Hudson River between New York City and New Jersey.

These towers are each 746 feet in height, and for their construction 44,000 tons of steel was required. When the entire job is completed in the spring of 1937, the towers and main span will have called for 70,000 tons of steel, with the grand total including cable work and approaches exceeding 100,000 tons.

"Sacrament" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in all Churches and Societies of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, July 12th.

The golden text is: "To do good and to communicate forget not: for with such sacrifices God is well pleased." (Hebrews 13:16)

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible:

"Let us therefore come boldly unto the throne of grace, that we may obtain mercy, and find grace to help in time of need." (Heb. 4:16)

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science text book:

"Waking to Christ's demand, mortals experience suffering. This causes them, even as drowning men, to make vigorous efforts to save themselves; and thru Christ's precious love these efforts are crowned with success."

Our summer meeting is now in progress and will continue till July 19. John T. Smith of Lubbock, Texas, is doing the preaching. You will enjoy hearing him. Make your plans to attend every service. The services are being held in the Central school auditorium each evening at 8:00.

Ladies Bible class will meet Thursday at the church building. Regular Bible classes will meet on Sunday morning at 10:00.

All other regular classes and meetings are discontinued until after the meeting.

We extend to the public a cordial welcome.

ALLEN E. JOHNSON, Minister.

Pastures In N. M. In Fair Condition

Late spring and early summer rains started New Mexico pastures to growing and livestock, therefore, is in fairly good condition, says the agricultural report issued by the Santa Fe Railway company.

The report says a normal acreage has been planted to the so-called dry-land crops, and these are doing well. The rains did not come in time to save the wheat crop. The yield will be about 1,000,000 bushels compared with a 4,000,000-bushel average yield.

The New Mexico valleys under irrigation are beautiful to behold—alfalfa, melons, cotton, small fruits and vegetables of various kinds. Reports from the snow-drift area of the Rocky Mountains is of sufficient pack to furnish irrigation water for the season.

Indications are that broomcorn and beans will make satisfactory yields.

Pastures, although dry, are meeting the needs of livestock.

An ancient Babylonian lamp now in the Smithsonian Institute is believed to have been a library reading lamp, as it was found near the entrance to the king's library at Nippur.

FORT BLISS, Texas—Walter E. Bennett, Lee C. Shearman, Chester W. Lapsley and Sanders L. Mills, all of Artesia reported here July 1st for a one month's course in physical training, hygiene, first aid, citizenship, military training and recreation.

A portion of each day will be devoted to instruction in equitation, cavalry and artillery drill, military tactics and discipline, customs of the service, and rifle and pistol marksmanship.

An interesting athletic program is planned for all C. M. T. C. students, including volley ball, baseball, track, boxing, swimming and tennis. Participation in some athletics is compulsory and interesting contests are held with other amateur teams in all sports.

Entertainments and moving pictures are conducted for the evening program. A dance will be held by the candidates during the camp.

At the end of the encampment a parent's day will be held July 29th. All parents are cordially invited to attend.

All C. M. T. C. instruction is preliminary to giving those who pass a satisfactory examination a reserve commission in the Officers Reserve Corps, P. S. Army.

C. E. Notes

The day after the Fourth is a bad time for a Christian Endeavor meeting. Since the president, vice president and the leader were absent, the Rev. Massie took charge of the meeting. The few present thoroughly enjoyed his lesson.

A committee was appointed to prepare for the ice cream social to be held on the First Christian church lawn Wednesday (and possibly Thursday) evening from 6:30 to 9:30 p. m.

The meeting of the executive committee will be held Tuesday evening at the parsonage.

Let's see everyone at Endeavor Sunday evening.

C. E. Jests

Johnny Bert: "Yes, but I'm prettier when I'm clean."

Mrs. Massie: "I don't want any more flour like that you gave me last week."

Groceryman: "What was the matter with it?"

Mrs. Massie: "It was so tough my husband couldn't eat the biscuits I made from it."

Marjorie Rowland (meeting one-legged tramp on the street): "Poor man, you have lost a leg, haven't you?"

Tramp (looking down): "Well, I'll be darned if I haven't."

"Pay your C. E. dues with a smile," advised Mr. Massie.

"I wish I could," said "Bo" Bradshaw, "but they seem to insist on cash."

TWO ARTESIA GIRLS ON CIA HONOR ROLL

DENTON, Texas—Two Artesia girls, Misses Peggy Brainerd and Virginia Gates of Artesia, have been accorded scholastic honors at Texas State College for Women (CIA) on the basis of their work during the second semester of the past session. Their names will be inscribed on the dean's honor roll, and special recognition will be given them by the college.

Wildfowl Refuges Now 2,100,000 Acres

Wild ducks and geese have three times as much land set aside for them in the United States as refugees as they had two years ago.

The Bureau of Biological Survey now has 2,100,000 acres of land either already developed, or under development as refuges. Two years ago there were 700,000 acres. The areas are located on the four main waterfowl flyways—the Atlantic, the Mississippi, Central and Pacific.

With the help of 4,480 workers of twenty-eight CCC camps, the bureau is restoring many of the old waterfowl feeding and stop-over grounds along the main flyways. Even with much of this land destroyed by drought, drainage and farming operations, the ducks are slow to change over to other routes. They stick to the routes followed by their ancestors in spite of unfavorable conditions.

The CCC workers improve the refuges by building islands in many of the large shallow water areas, and dams to store and control water. In the northern areas the islands are used by ducks as nesting grounds, while in the central and southern regions they serve as food-growing sites. The islands also prevent waves and wind from tearing up aquatic vegetation before it is firmly rooted.

To provide food for waterfowl, the CCC workers plant aquatic seeds and tubers in shallow water, and field crops. Food for upland game on or near the refuges is provided by planting food-bearing shrubs and trees.

In February, 1935, there was a total of 60,667,000 cattle in this country compared with 68,290,000 in 1934. The smaller number, however, had a valuation of $1,270,000,000 as compared with $1,247,000,000 for the larger number in 1934.

Church of Christ Meeting Progressing At Central School Auditorium Here

The meeting being conducted at the Church of Christ at the school auditorium started with excellent attendance services. John T. Smith of Lubbock, Texas, is doing the preaching in an excellent manner. All hear him are more than pleased with his preaching. He has earned in his presentation of God and a burning passion for souls of men.

The meeting will continue several weeks, closing July 19th. The ice is held daily in the week with the usual two services. On the 12th and 19th, a dinner will be served at the Park.

Altitude must always be considered in canning. Increase per cent time 15 per cent for each additional 1,000 feet.

Complete Dirt Work At Red Bluff

This week saw the completion of the dirt work at the Red Bluff dam as Lundin Bros., practically completed their contract of building the dirt dam embankment. The embankment is now at its specified height and the dirt work is completed with the exception of some dressing work, filling small holes and smoothing the tamps where the trucks have climbed the face of the embankment.

The work of smoothing and dressing the dam face will require several days.

At least two weeks of rip-rap work are left before Peterson completes this part of the work which will make the total completion of the dam embankment. Peterson expects to complete this part of the work in another twenty days at the most.—Pecos, Texas, Enterprise.

Agree To Conserve Cloudercroft Timber

A plan for the conservation of the scenic attractions of the Cloudercroft area was agreed upon in a meeting at Cloudercroft of the Southwest Lumber Co., United States Forest Service, and Southern New Mexico Chamber of Commerce, it was announced Friday.

Under the agreement there will be no lumber cutting in the resort proper, leaving 1,000 acres of fine timber standing untouched.

The agreement signed, allows for the cutting of 2,000 acres of timber outside this area with the United States Forest Service supervising and marking all trees to be cut. There will be no cutting within 300 feet of the highways or the golf course and at no place will the cutting exceed sixty-six and two-third per cent of the volume.

Logging operations will run from November 1st to April 1st.

SMITH ADDRESSES ROTARY

John T. Smith of Lubbock, Texas, who is here conducting a revival for the Church of Christ, was the principal speaker at the luncheon program of the Artesia Rotary club Tuesday and made an interesting talk on the subject of unselfish service. Probably the outstanding thought of the speaker's remarks was that many people today are starving, not from physical hunger, but for encouragement and that when a man does a job well he should have the unselfish commendation of his friends and neighbors.

H. G. Watson, the incoming president, presided at Tuesday's program for the first time. Visitors present were: Charles Allison of Roswell, W. C. Ross of Lindsay, Kansas, Ben Attebury of Paola, Kansas, and E. E. Haley of Ottawa, Kansas, Bill Brooks of Borger, Texas, and John T. Smith of Lubbock, Texas.

An Englishman invented the umbrella.

Western Railroads To Launch New Advertising Campaign At Early Date

Artesia Advocate, Artesia, N. M. Gentlemen:

It gave me great pleasure when the Western Association of Railway Executives at a recent meeting made it possible for the Association to advertise in weekly newspapers.

During the business depression railroads suffered as much as any industry, more than some. Consequently they have been forced to curtail advertising expenditures and concentrate what budgets were available in the centers where most shipping and passenger traffic originates.

I know, however, that the railroad executives, individually, have been desirous of increasing the allotments for advertising in the weekly newspapers along their lines, realizing that these papers and the people who read them are the closest neighbors of the railroads. When the executives acting for the association decided to advertise in newspapers again this year, they authorized us to include the weeklies. This is in addition to their individual line advertising.

The decision to use the country weeklies is personally gratifying because of my former connection with that branch of the newspaper business. For four years I was publisher of the Plaindealer at Alma, Kansas, and for ten years published the Nonpareil at Central City, Nebraska. It is easy to persuade me, therefore, that the country weekly yields a powerful influence in the local community. Progress in the making of the country newspaper has been so great that I am no longer familiar with many of the improvements, but interest in the profession still lingers and I am happy to renew my contract in this manner.

Incidentally, when we came to make up the list of weeklies, we found the amazing total of 6,036 along the lines of western railroads. It takes 18,108 mats or steros to supply this list with three ads each.

You will receive the order with mats or steros in the near future from our advertising agency, Reincke-Ellis-Younggreen & Finn.

Very truly yours,
H. G. TAYLOR,
Chairman, Western Association of Railway Executives.

HE READS THE ADS

Artesia, N. M., July 3, 1936. Advocate Editor, Dear Sir:

I notice in this week's Advocate where you use about a half a page talking about people that spend their money out of town. Is there any difference in people or the merchants spending their money out of town? You have one market that buys all its beef from packers and another one that buys nearly all from packers. When there is plenty of good beef in the country for sale at prices as low or lower than they are paying the packers. Do the packers spend much to keep your town up?

Yours respectfully,
A SUBSCRIBER.

The Willingness of a Bank to Loan

—is limited only by the fundamental rules of good banking practice.

In making loans a bank uses primarily the money of others—its depositors. As custodian of this money it is obligated to obtain adequate assurance that its borrowers are responsible and its loans are safe. Furthermore, a large part of a bank's deposits are subject to withdrawal on demand and it must always have ample cash available. For this reason preference is given to commercial loans for current business activities, because their cash proceeds are sufficient, within a specified period, to repay the loan. These repayments, together with new deposits, enable the bank to meet the requirements of depositors and to make fresh loans.

Mrs. Gussie Brazeal underwent a tonsillectomy yesterday morning.

GOLDEN PHANTOMS

Fascinating Tales of Lost Mines

BY EDITH L. WATSON © W.S.U.

UNPROFITABLE MURDER

AN OLD Uintah Indian told Pete Madison, prospector-at-large, a story of gold. There were two miners, the tribesman said, who spent the winter in the Pat's Hole section of Moffat county, Colorado. They worked all winter, in spite of storms, and at last collected about 25 pounds of gold.

Finally they ran out of provisions. It would seem pleasant to see other people again, a sort of vacation after the long, tiresome winter, so the two left their camp and started west toward a settlement where they expected to buy supplies.

In the early days of the West, "bad men" seemed to be hidden in the most unexpected places. A band of such outlaws appeared after the two miners had crossed the Utah line, and they found that they must fight for their lives.

There was a ledge back of them; they stood against this and defended themselves as best they could against the desperadoes.

It was an uneven battle. One miner went down; the other tried to fight his way through but a bullet stopped him.

Much to the chagrin of the outlaws, the miners had only enough gold with them to pay for their supplies and a modest spree. It had been scarcely worth while killing them for this. And now the point arose that if these bodies should be discovered, posses would certainly trail down the murderers.

The only thing to do was to conceal the corpses where they lay. Accordingly, the outlaws pried off the face of the ledge so that fallen rocks and dirt covered the two dead men, and hurried away from the scene.

This was the story that the old Uintah Indian told Pete Madison, and Pete, a characteristic chaser of golden phantoms, made up his mind to hunt out the mine. He went as far as the ranch of Harry Chew, an old-timer in that region, and here he found substantiation to the story and the fight: Years before, while Chew was exploring a steep cliff in Pool canyon, Utah, he found a human skull, exposed by erosion, at the foot of a ledge. Curious to know what lay out of sight, he dug around and uncovered two bodies—evidently those of the two unfortunate miners.

Beyond this neither man was able to trace. The mine remains hidden among the hills, perhaps concealed by fallen trees or rock slides, and the lucky discoverer has not yet come along.

Girl Scout News

Camp Mary White, the national Girl Scout camp in the Sacramento mountains, officially opened its tenth annual session Sunday, July 5th, with each of the four units being filled to capacity.

Twenty-four "Indians" in Koshare pueblo will spend their time in campercraft, handcraft, riding, swimming, archery, hiking, singing, simple dramatics and games. Their programs have been built by the campers around the Indian lore of this section of the southwest.

Twenty "Natives" who will be in Escondido Rancho will specialize in dramatics, though they will also take part in all camp activities. This group will take up the directing of simple dramatics, stage settings, costuming, and some history of the drama, and as its contribution to the camp program, will present several delightful and entertaining dramatizations.

The twenty "Hands" on Ferndust ranch will find much to interest them in nature and their surroundings, and will make many hikes, several overnight camps, and take active part in swimming, tracking, stalking, and horseback riding. Photography, handcraft, folk dancing and singing will also occupy a part of their time.

The group in Oaks ranch is limited to sixteen girls, fifteen years of age or older, who have had previous pioneer camping experience. These pioneers have as their special hobby an outpost camp where a large portion of each period is spent. They specialize in primitive camping, campercraft and three or four day vagabond trips.

Staff members of Camp Mary White who were at the camp for a week's training previous to the opening of the camp, spent the Fourth of July at Clouderoft "taking in" the rodeo.

Girl Scout Troop 3 met at Koshare Tuesday afternoon for a picnic and outing. The troop was divided into two patrols, the "Pals" and "Peppy."

The tenderfoot test was reviewed, songs and games played and a general good time enjoyed. Scouts present were: Charlene Martin, Edna Cave, Guinivere Ellis, Shirley Watson, Betty Irene Tope, Betty Sue Hannah, Delores Mayerhoffen, Barbara Wheatley, Helen Watson, Marjorie Clowe, Mary Kathryn Belford and Scout leader, Mrs. John Williams.

A swimming party will be enjoyed by the troop at the Oasis this afternoon.

Charlene Martin and Peggy Linell expect to attend the summer session of Camp Mary White in the Sacramento mountains July 19.

RITES FOR MRS. PRATT

Rites for Mrs. J. V. Pratt, about forty-five, who died at a Roswell hospital in the afternoon of July 4th, were held here Sunday.

Mrs. Pratt, who suffered a ruptured appendix, underwent an operation at St. Mary's hospital at Roswell June 30th. She never rallied and grew steadily worse until the end. The Pratt family have lived here a number of years and are well known to many local people.

Eddy County Farm News

Fred Barham, county agent, was here yesterday distributing cotton price adjustment checks (the difference between ten spot markets and twelve cents). Since his last visit to Artesia Mr. Barham has distributed about $6,000 in checks, making a total distribution of approximately $24,000 to Eddy county farmers. About $9,000 in checks remain to be distributed.

Mr. Barham stated he was looking forward to the inauguration of a screw worm control project for this county, but outside of arranging a few preliminary details, had heard nothing more from the proposed $460,000 project to be started in the southwestern states.

Typhoid Fever Takes Life of Francis Adams, At Santa Fe, July 4th

News dispatches from Santa Fe Sunday told of the death of Francis Adams, aged about 35, former resident of Artesia, which occurred at Santa Fe on July 4th. Adams, poet and writer, who formerly resided in New York City, came here about three years ago for his health. He lived here until a year and a half ago, at which time he moved to the west coast. He was well known for his daily news poem titled "A Sonnet on It."

Survivors are a widow and two children of Toledo, Ohio, a brother, Chuck W. Adams of New York, and another brother, John Quincy Adams of Harlingen, Texas. His death was said to have been caused from typhoid fever.

LA JOYA SALE IS POSTPONED

Accompanied by an assertion from the bench that politics had crept into the sale disposition of the 216,000-acre La Joya land grant appeared indefinitely postponed Thursday.

Judge Harry I. Owen ended a hearing at Socorro last week on the $76,750 bid of Thomas D. Campbell, Montana land owner, for the tract supported by the state tax commission and protested by State Land Commissioner Frank Vesely.

Mr. and Mrs. Ballard Spencer returned Tuesday from a two weeks trout fishing trip in the northern part of the state.
