Men Watch Ideas Over Western Area

Interesting Tests In Wrighton Sector; Six
Producers Completed In Widely Scattered Areas
Last Week.

Completed wells added to the column in southeastern Mexico and locations staked wells during the past week being six of each. Practically all the new wells announced drilled are in the Eunice district and one new test is to be run in the Monument field, now connected with the Eunice Lea county. Finished wells widely scattered, three being Eunice sector, one in the Jal one in the Jal sand belt, one in the Cooper area.
Producers are watching the test of three wildcat tests, two of which are in the Loving Co. of the Lea county, the Clardy No. 1 of the Oil Co., sec. 13-16-36, 28-15-35, which has shut down the seat, which has shut down at 2368 feet, and according to geological markers is to be oil. The other test is the Scharbauer No. 1, sec. 28-15-35, which was shut to rig up standard tools at the well in the Jal field, eastern Lea county, recently drilled by Harry Leonard in his No. 2, sec. 21-25-37, has connected with the pipe line pinched in to comply with production orders. Drilled to test, the Lanehart was given hour test and flowed at the 285 barrels an hour with 400 feet of gas.
Several small wells were completed in scattered districts during the week. Among these were the Tiddwater, House, sec. 7-21-36, drilled to test and tested to flow at the seventeen barrels an hour with 40,000 feet of gas flowing through tubing. The Belly No. 10, of the Gulf Oil company in the Eunice district, 21-36, was drilled to 3844 feet after an acid treatment of 237 barrels per day with feet of gas. The Humble Refining Co., Knox No. 3,

Smith Killed Mine Accident

Services for E. J. Smith, 35, killed Sunday in an accident in the Potash Company mine, were held at 5:00 Monday in the First Baptist church at Hobbs.
Smith, who had been employed at the mine about one year, died minutes after he was struck by a mine car. Fellow employes rendered first aid and rushed the top, but he died soon after reaching the surface.
Smith was a cager at the bottom of the mine pit, he was at his post when the fatal accident occurred.

Crop Down Billion Bushels

LAGO — Drouth-dogged turned anxious eyes on the state's corn fields Tuesday as they hope for the heavy rains to revive their crop.
Farmers said that the corn crop is in the most critical period, and indications that the harvest would shrink to 1,500,000,000 bushels, or 1,000,000,000 bushels under normal crop. Drenching downpours would do little damage but farmers saw scant precipitation in the immediate future.

Shallow Water In Felix Area Is Fully Developed

State Engineer McClure
Says Study of the Area
Shows District Reached
Its Peak Development;
Well Drilling Stops.

Thomas McClure, state engineer, has issued the following letter in statement of findings concerning the shallow ground water area on the Felix:
"The state engineer's office has been conducting a study of the shallow ground water area known as the Felix area in townships 13 and 14, ranges 25 and 26 east, near Hagerman, New Mexico.
"This study has been carried on by C. G. Smith, Artesian well supervisor, at Roswell, in cooperation with the Pecos Valley Artesian Conservancy District.
"It is the opinion of the state engineer that this area has reached the peak of development and there is not any unappropriated shallow water in this area. This opinion has been concluded from the following pertinent facts relating to this area:
"In township 14 south, ranges 25 and 26 east, a total of sixty-four wells have been approved by the state engineer for the irrigation of 9,773 acres of land. Forty-two of these wells have been drilled and are now in use to irrigate 6,148 acres of land. The remaining twenty-two wells approved, but not drilled, will be used to irrigate approximately 3,625 acres of land.
"The first measurements made on wells in the Felix area was in 1927 and a comparison of the levels taken then and of the levels taken at approximately the same time in 1936 show a lowering of the water table of approximately seven and one-half feet. In making a comparison of the water table levels of June 1932 with June 1936, the table shows on an average of four feet lowering. From this comparison it is apparent the development between 1927 and 1932 lowered the water table some three and one-half feet, this period being the period of the largest development.
"It can be expected that the completing of the additional twenty-two wells not drilled now will have an additional lowering effect on the water table.
"The state engineer is now negotiating with the United States Geological Survey to make a complete survey of this area in all prades of underground water studies, and until this study is concluded the area included in townships 13 and 14 south, ranges 25 and 26 east, are hereby closed to further applications to appropriate shallow underground water."
THOMAS M. MCCLURE,
State Engineer.

Eunice Oil Operator Rigging To Drill On The Old Platt Well

Henry Harper, oil operator of Eunice, has purchased the Platt oil lease southwest of Dayton and is rigging machinery over the old Platt well to drill deeper, it is reported here. The Platt well, located in the SW SW sec. 26-18-26, was drilled to a depth of 2200 feet by Kissinger and others several years ago. It is understood Mr. Harper has staked a location for another test, in the event the present one does not measure up to expectations. Since the early development of the Artesian belt this area has been regarded as prospective oil territory, but few real oil tests have been made.

FIFTY NAMES ADDED

Approximately fifty names have been added to the local registration list since posting the names of the voters the first of the week.
Unless the additional names are added to the registration list by court order before the date of the primary August 8th, voters who have been left off the registration books will not be permitted to vote in the primary. Quite a few names were omitted in copying the list from the registration books.

Petition Says Big Cattlemen Are Not Fair

Petition Circulated At the County Seat Charges
Taylor Bill Inaugurated
For Purpose Crowding Out Little Cattleman.

Taylor grazing act officials for the Sixth district are charged with unfair administration of the provisions of the law, denying grazing privileges to small cattlemen and denying homesteading rights, in a petition being circulated by Eddy county stockmen, asking repeal of the act, it was learned at Carlsbad yesterday.
The petition charges "big cattlemen" with having framed the act
"for the specific purpose of getting rid of the small cattleman." Signers of the petition addressing it to Secretary of the Interior Ickes, protest "what is known as the Taylor grazing act, and the manner in which it is being administered in the state of New Mexico, and especially in the sixth grazing district."
"It is our belief," the petition says, "that the Taylor bill was inaugurated by the big cattlemen of the country with the intention and
for the specific purpose of getting rid of the small cattlemen and placing all of the grazing lands in the hands and under control of the big cattleman."

Building of Retard Dam Hope District Is Again Revived

Farmers Authorize Necessary Steps In Building Retard As WPA Project
To Impound 1,000 Acre Feet of Water.

Preliminary steps for the construction of the proposed retard dam above Hope to be built as a WPA project were taken Saturday evening at a meeting of Hope farmers. Farmers present authorized the commission to take such steps as necessary to start the construction of the dam at the earliest practical time.
The construction of the proposed retard was revived last week when Messrs. E. C. Hawkins, Virgil Craig, F. E. Fite and Rex Seeley visited Roswell and conferred with Henry Johnson, district WPA supervisor, relative to construction plans.
Under the present set-up Hope water users have agreed to reorganize as the Hope Water Users Association and incorporate. Proposals call for the construction of the retard dam, to conserve the flood waters, the retard to be located near where the Quevo runs into the Pecos. The proposed dam is to cost approximately $125,000, twelve thousand dollars of which is to be supplied by the sponsors. The dam will impound approximately 1,000 acre feet of water and is calculated to more than supply the present farming area around Hope.
Aided by mountain rainfall, the Hope irrigation district has fared better this year than in the past four years. Eight rises from the Pecos have been run into the irrigation ditches of the district and supplemented by rains, crops have suffered very little for moisture. As result, crop prospects for that area are probably brighter than for several years.

California Visitors Wreck Car Near Lake Arthur Early Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. Newton Umpherys and family of Vista, California, narrowly escaped serious injury when their car, a Studebaker, was demolished at Lake Arthur Sunday morning as the family was enroute to the Carlsbad Caverns.
Observers said Matias Heredia of Lake Arthur drove out from his place near the Lake Arthur section house just as the Umpherys car was passing and the two cars collided. Mrs. Umpherys was painfully cut on the left arm, but other members of the family escaped with a severe shaking up and minor injuries. Fortunately Dr. R. A.
Stroup, who was returning from Roswell, was traveling just behind the Umpherys car and stopped and brought Mrs. Umpherys here for first aid treatment.
The family returned Tuesday to their home at Vista, California, on the train.
When arraigned Tuesday at Roswell in the justice of the peace court, Heredia plead guilty to reckless driving and was bound over to the Chaves county district court under a $600.00 bond.

Typewriter Ribbons—The Advocate

Application of the second coating of gravel on the streets to be blacktopped here will be completed within about two weeks, it was learned here yesterday. Crushed rock from the Walnut has been placed on thirty-six blocks to date and there are eighty blocks in the present project.
H. G. Watson, mayor, said yesterday tentative arrangements had been made with a Roswell contracting firm, Armstrong & Ar-strong, to apply the black top.
This arrangement was made because the city does not have the proper equipment to apply the oil.

PERSONALITIES (An editorial)

It is regrettable one candidate for tax assessor should make a last-minute appeal for this office by indulging in personalities. We refer to the announcement of J. T. (Button) Hardin of Carlsbad for the office of assessor in the last issue of The Advocate.
The substance of Mr. Hardin's appeal is that he wants his opponent out of office so that he can get in. He deprecates the fact that his opponent has been in the assessor's office twelve years, at the same time admitting he has held office ten years in Texas and Oklahoma. It is naturally assumed if Mr. Hardin is elected he will want a second term, which would make a total of fourteen years in the assessor's office and if it is undemocratic to stay in office fourteen years, it is even more undemocratic to stay in office fourteen years, and if after holding office for fourteen years, a total of four years in New Mexico, Mr. Hardin might even decide to move to Arizona and after staying there a short while might want the assessor's office two more terms, making a total of eighteen years, which would even be more undemocratic, so undemocratic, in fact, that probably the republicans would have nothing to do with him.
He charges his opponent, Mrs. R. H. Westaway, with nepotism.
We'll venture the assertion Mr. Hardin never heard of the word until he moved to New Mexico and we doubt if he knows the real meaning of the word yet. If he does not, we hasten to assure him it ain't poisonous and nobody has ever had to disinfect an office where it was practiced. It's a word used in politics to get votes and it may be two years before it's heard again.
It has been our understanding that anybody could announce for office without violating any party principles or law of any sort.
The matter as to whether a candidate should be elected is usually left up to the voters. Moreover, in the democratic solid south, candidates often hold office over a period of years, their tenure in office depending in a large measure on the efficiency of the office holder. And while Mrs. Westaway did not go into detail as to why she announced for office, we suspect a recent petition circulated here and at Carlsbad and containing the names of over 220 taxpayers had something to do with her decision. It would, in most cases. The petition in itself is a testimonial of the fitness of the Westaways and indicative that a large portion of those who pay taxes and have dealings with the assessor's office would like to see the office remain unchanged. This is a matter, however, for the voters to decide August 8th, and it is not a policy of wisdom for any one individual to attempt to make the change beforehand.
In regard to changing the name of the county to Westaway county, it is probable the majority of the people might not object to changing the name of Eddy county since the name carries no special appeal. On the other hand, they might even be willing to change the name to Hardin county if Mr. Hardin is successful, or they might not object to calling it "Button County" for short, except for the fact that buttons sometimes come unbuttoned and cause both trouble and embarrassment.

ELECTION RETURNS

Arrangements are underway to receive return from the Eddy county primary Saturday night as fast as they are available. The totals in each precinct will be posted on the windows as the vote is received. We are asking the cooperation of all north Eddy county precincts to make this occasion a success and we will appreciate the favor if some election official from each precinct will telephone us the total vote as soon as the votes are counted. A sample ballot can be used very effectively in tabulating the results.
North Eddy county precincts include Oil Field, Lakewood, Dayton, Artesia, Hope and Cottonwood.

Second Coat of Gravel Is Now Being Applied To City Streets

Under the present plan, if carried to a conclusion, the work of black-topping will be done at practically cost.
Once the second coating of gravel is applied, blacktopping the streets with the special equipment will be fast work. The contractors are able to cover about a mile a day with the machinery and at this rate the work should be completed within about a week from the time it is started.
The curb and gutter project is complete with the exception of approximately five blocks.

GOP Endorses the Townsend Plan At County Meet Sat.

Insurgent Democrats and The Townsends Take Over Convention Held
At Carlsbad Saturday Afternoon.

Left wing democrats and Townsends took charge of the republican county convention at Carlsbad Saturday afternoon in one of the largest, if not the largest, republican gatherings ever seen in the county and instructed the forty-four delegates to fight for a Townsend plank in the republican state platform and endorsed the candidacy of Caswell Neal, Carlsbad attorney, for United States senator. The convention postponed the matter of placing a county and district ticket in the field until a meeting in September and after the state convention August 17th.
Caswell Neal was chosen as temporary chairman of the meeting, and Miss Florence Dooley of Artesia, as temporary secretary.
The Townsend plan was endorsed despite opposition of the north Eddy county delegation. Republican leaders are said to have admitted privately they intend to fuse the insurgent democrats, the Townsends and the republicans into a hybrid republican party of Eddy county.
Neal, candidate for United States senator, scored the state and nation administration. He scored the administrations of Roosevelt and Tingley for "broken promises to the democrats," and scorned the national administration's farm program and promised a better one.
He called for a social security program, and another speaker, J. U.
Falke, orated in beautiful terms anent a pension plan that brought a round of applause from the Townsends. W. F. McIlvain, Carlsbad republican, praised Neal's decision to enter the folds of the republican party. Other speakers were: R. D. Cole, Adolph Heinz, J. S. McCall and Ernest Montoya of Artesia, who asked the question if Neal would support the GOP party in the event the party refused to nominate him.
Among those attending the convention from north Eddy county were: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Morgan, S. E. Ferree, Mrs. E. N.
Bigler, William Dooley, Miss Florence Dooley, Roy Lowe, D. I.
Clowe, Mrs. Frank Linell, O. M.
Trotter, Ernest Montoya, E. A.
Hannah, Jack Hastie, T. E. Hinshaw, all of Artesia; W. S. Medcalf and J. C. Whisenant of Hope and A. D. Hill of the Cottonwood, and J. W. Dauron of Lakewood.

Twenty-Seven Miles Roswell-Tatum Road To Be Blacktopped highway committee were told in conference with Gov. Clyde Tingley and Lea Rowland, state highway commission member, at Santa Fe

STATE DEMOCRATIC MEET NEXT MONDAY

SANTA FE—State Chairman

mittee meeting at Santa Fe Monportioning delegates.

Largest Cotton Crop In Years Now Prospect

Estimates Say the Present Crop Will At Least Be Equal To That of 1933; Harvesting Expected To Start Next Month.

Aside from the year 1933, general crop conditions over this section and over the entire county for that matter are the brightest they have been in the past fifteen years.
Cotton growers anticipate they will average a bale to the acre the county over and in some communities the average will be even higher, if the development of the cotton plant continues at the present rate. Preliminary estimates say the lint yield should run as high as it did in 1933, which averaged 520 pounds in the best farming areas of the county.
An accurate total of the county's cotton acreage is not yet available, but the most conservative estimate says the acreage will run between 25,000 and 26,000 acres, which means as many bales. Because of favorable planting conditions the crop this year is about three weeks in advance of the crop of the corresponding period of last year, and in 1935 harvesting operations were well underway by October 1st.
Some farmers have a few fully developed bales, but grown bales will not be numerous until about the 20th of this month.
Indications are the valley will harvest a crop of approximately 47,000 bales. The labor supply is expected to be adequate to start the season.
So far damage from worms and insects has been negligible.

Fred Cole Addresses Young Democrats At Meeting Last Night

The Young Democratic League had its regular Wednesday night meeting. Fred Cole made the chief talk on "Why I Am A Democrat." Plans were discussed for the dance Saturday night at the hotel roof garden. After the meeting the members present went to a watermelon feed west of town about a mile. Everyone watch the trees by the old Bank Building for bulletins of future events.

Near Inch Rain Falls Last Week

Fine rains fell over a large portion of eastern New Mexico and west Texas last week adding further assurance to crop prospects and to the outlook for a good fall crop of grass and weeds on the range. Thursday night a slow rain fell here, the amount of precipitation measured almost three-quarters of an inch or .72 of an inch.
Friday morning's rain brought the total moisture up to near an inch or .94 of an inch. Light to heavy showers fell over a wide scope of country in eastern Eddy and western Lea during the time, the rain in the Artesia oil field measured two inches. Heavy rains also fell between here and in the Sacramento mountains and in the Sacramento mountains rains fell for six consecutive days.
Most of the roads in that area are muddy but passable. The rainfall in the mountain section is the heaviest to date for several years.

BUILDING LOCKER ROOM AND BATH HOUSE

A locker room and tile bath house is being built at the Malco building will be up-to-date in every accommodate all employees.

Big Increase Seen In Potash Business

Cephas A. Smith, vice president of the Potash Company of America, said at Baltimore, Maryland, Monday the company expect to double production in New Mexico within the year.
Smith said that increased activity in New Mexico is due to a greater domestic demand for potash because of increased use among farmers and a general use turn in business.
He said he had nothing to report on any foreign order because the company does no export business.

THE MOSQUITO NUISANCE

How long will the people of this district endure suffering and have their health endangered by the presence of a horde of mosquitoes? We have asked ourselves this question repeatedly and have found no satisfactory answer save possibly the public has decided the situation cannot be remedied, or do we accept the mosquitoes as merely a necessary evil because we haven't the initiative, the energy and the ambition to combat the nuisance? If the Pecos valley were located down in the heart of the Louisiana swamps, then we might have cause to feel that a fight against the health menace was hopeless, but we are not living in Louisiana nor a swamp country, instead we are living in a country classed as a semi-desert, a country so dry that even a mosquito is not supposed to live. But mosquitoes do live and thrive in the bogs, which we have religiously preserved for the benefit of a few out-of-town sportsmen.

Authorities tell us that mosquitoes breed only in still or stagnant water. They may hibernate in vines or shrubbery, but it takes still water for them to breed in and as long as we have the bogs along the river with a connecting system of irrigating ditches reaching that area and a southeast wind, just that long will we have mosquitoes.

Rain barrels over Artesia may provide additional breeding places, but wherever such breeding places are knowingly permitted the owner of such rain barrel or barrels should be classed as a public enemy, and dealt with as such.

Repeated warnings have been issued from the health department with reference to the mosquito menace. We have had a few light cases of malaria here, despite reports to the contrary. Dr. O. E. Puckett, the present district health officer, has attempted to have a malaria control project established here, but his efforts have been blocked by selfish interests. His efforts might have been more successful if the people here had shown the proper cooperation. Aside from the efforts made by The Advocate and the health department, no civic organization, including the Woman's club, the Chamber of Commerce, the Rotary club, has even so much as raised a little finger in behalf of the project.

The question is, shall we continue to sit and take it or will we do something?

ROAD RACING LESS DANGEROUS

About a generation ago, automobile road races were held periodically in many parts of the country, and were one of the most popular and thrilling of the hazardous sports.

The races were customarily held over public highways between important communities, and ranged in length from 100 to 500 miles. On race day, no other traffic was permitted to use the roads. Every precaution was taken to keep the right of way clear for the daredevils who were competing. The cars used were naturally in the pink of condition, and every driver was a qualified expert. No inexperienced driver took the wheel in a road-race—if he did, his demise was just a question of time.

But road races were eventually outlawed, principally because of the great dangers inherent in the sport. Deaths and injuries—to spectators, as well as participants—became too common.

Today our highways are thronged with cars which travel at speeds much greater than those attained in the old road races. Many of these cars are in bad mechanical condition, with faulty brakes, jittery steering, glaring or weak lights, worn-out tires. Many of them are driven by drivers who are incompetent or reckless and, in some cases, physically incapacitated. It's likely that an old-time racing pilot would rather drive a car in a road race than take a chance on the highways of the present.

Is it any wonder the automobile death toll continues to soar. No wonder 36,000 lives are sacrificed each year to the gods of speed and carelessness—that property loss from accidents runs into untold millions—that thousands of persons are seriously injured.

Until America moves aggressively against incompetent, reckless and speed-mad drivers, and out-of-repair cars, our grisly accident record will continue to get worse, not better.

PIE NEW DEAL EMBLEM?

The democratic primary election is only ten days off and the candidates are busy. With the county speaking dates on, the campaign is getting to be sort of a pie-eating contest as well as one of oratory. The office-seekers are being entertained at various places in the county with pie as the piece de resistance. Two or three communities have changed the refreshment feature to ice cream, which has been particularly pleasing to some of the candidates who are not used to such rich food as pie.—Curry County Times.

The Artesia Advocate doesn't know the republican candidate for governor two years ago, listing Prager Miller as running then and as being a candidate for the place this year.—Roswell Record.

Health Column

Conducted by Dr. J. R. Earp, Director, New Mexico Bureau of Public Health.

Mothers of Taos
Thanks to financial aid from the Children's Bureau we have been able to learn a few facts about the conditions under which babies are born in Taos county.

In a six months period 202 birth certificates had been filed and Miss Emilie Baca, working for the Bureau of Public Health, was able to trace twenty-one more births for which no certificates had been filed. Nine of the mothers had moved out of the county. Our facts relate to the remaining 214 mothers and their families.

Ninety-one of them lived within ten miles of the village of Taos. Yet only one-third of these were attended by a doctor at childbirth. Beyond the ten-mile limit lived 123 mothers and only ten of these received medical care.

These 214 mothers have borne 1,005 living children but at the present time only 745 of their children are alive; more than one-quarter have died. About three-quarters of the deaths took place within eighteen months of birth.

Of the fathers 65 per cent could read English, 83 per cent could read Spanish. Of the mothers 48 per cent could read English, 73 per cent could read Spanish.

When asked why no doctor had been consulted more than half of the mothers explained that it costs too much. The fee for a doctor's care at childbirth ranges from $25 to $60 according to distance from the village. It is easy to believe that these fees are really beyond the reach of very many people living in that county.

But other reasons are given too. Not a few prefer the care of a midwife whose ministrations accord with the family tradition for generations past. Others believe that the great distance from the doctor would make it impossible for the doctor to arrive in time. A few feel that the presence of a doctor would shock their modesty.

Of the 260 children who have died only one-quarter were seen by a doctor during their illness.

Oakley Not Perturbed Over WPA Set-Up In New Mexico

Captain E. H. Oakley, state director of the public works administration, Monday said he is not greatly perturbed over the failure of the president to include New Mexico projects in the first list in the new PWA program. Having been advised that no allotments were made for New Mexico projects because of lack of sufficient skilled and unskilled labor available in New Mexico, Captain Oakley delved into the problem of ascertaining as accurately as possible the necessity of providing work relief in those towns in which eligible projects are located.

After conferring with other officials, Captain Oakley has reached the conclusion that though there may not be sufficient labor available at the present, by October there will again exist in New Mexico a need for projects to provide employment of the type given by PWA projects.

The initial list of projects approved by the president required an allotment of slightly less than $25,000,000 of grant money or less than eight per cent of the $300,000,000 recently made available for PWA expenditure. It is apparent that the president in approving in connection with each case. In the end, this should lead to an efficient utilization of PWA funds and make for a more successful program.

Discovers Shaft Excavating Ruins

Discovery this week of a mysterious underground shaft, during the excavation work on the Old Spanish Mission ruins at Jemez Springs, has led the CCC boys to attack the job with wild excitement, Supervisor Andrews of the Santa Fe National Forest said in a report received at the regional office at Albuquerque recently.

While excavation work was being done and before discovery of the mysterious shaft, Baker, archaeologist from the University of New Mexico in charge, kidded the CCC boys with a story of buried treasure. Shortly afterward the shaft was found and the crew galvanized into wild action.

Debris was quickly cleared out and it was found that the shaft was an eight foot vertical opening designed for a use which is unknown at the present writing. Further excavation of this mysterious opening has been discontinued because of danger of cave-in. It was thought, however, that the shaft may have been used as a mode of escape during attack or siege.

Excavation of this beautiful ruin of San Diego de Jemez is being done by a side camp from the Polica CCC camp, under supervision of the U. S. Forest Service.

Erected in 1617, in what was then the heart of a populous Indian pueblo, the Jemez Mission stands today as a remarkable example of what had once been the glory of ancient Spain. Many of the walls are still intact, constructed of red sandstone, and have reared their massive shoulders above sand and debris for almost four centuries in a vain struggle for existence.

The excavation work which is now being done by the CCC, the University and the U. S. Forest Service will bring the light many points of interest of the old mission that have been buried many feet beneath the dirt.

This mission, like many others in the southwest, was constructed centuries ago by the Franciscan Fathers who accompanied the Spanish military expeditions on their treks of conquest.

Farm Prices Hiked On Drouth Report

CHICAGO—With farm prices at the highest general level since 1930 as a result of the protracted drouth, market analysts Saturday forecast that 1936 farm income might be the largest in six years, barring further serious crop losses.

Farmers' income in the first half of the year was $335,000,000, 0.000 greater than a year ago, the government estimated. Since then, the rise in prices of important agricultural commodities—in some cases the sharpest since war days—was believed by some observers to have more than offset the serious crop losses due to heat and lack of rain.

Wheat advanced materially at the Chicago board of trade Saturday on reports of worse crop conditions both in Europe and Canada, but sharp breaks in prices followed quickly. Corn opened higher, but also tumbled.

Drouth conditions in the mid-west are affecting prices on farm produce here. Corn, oats and wheat are advancing in price, while buyers are reported to be looking for new hay from the third cutting at $8.50 per ton, an advance of about $2.00 per ton over the low price which prevailed here at the beginning of the season. A lot of the third cutting, on the ground at the time of the recent rains, is reported damaged.

Telephones between observation car and diner, and from the engineer's cab back to various train crew stations through the train, are the latest innovations on the western railroads' streamliners.

MISS ELSIE PALMATEER BECOMES BRIDE OF MR. HENRY CROWEL ALLEN

Announcement has been made this week of the marriage of Miss Rachel Elsie Palmateer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Henry Palmateer of Clovis, to Mr. Henry Crowel Allen, only son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Allen of Artesia, in Clovis, July 29, at four o'clock in the afternoon.

The marriage ceremony was read by the Reverend J. W. Rosenberg, a minister of the Methodist faith, at the church parsonage in Clovis. Friends had decorated the living room of the parsonage with gorgeous summer flowers especially for the occasion. They were attended by Miss Twylah-Belle Palmateer and Mr. Julius Palmateer, sister and brother of the bride.

The bride was attractively gowned in a navy blue sheer crepe with pink accessories. The ensemble was completed with a corsage of pink roses. Her attendant wore a pink crepe frock with navy accessories.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Allen are well known to Artesia people. Mrs. Allen, a graduate of the New Mexico Normal University at Las Vegas, has taught in the public school system for the past eight years. She has been at Central building and taught second grade most of the time. Mr. Allen came to Artesia with his parents when a small boy and for many years he was associated with the Joyce Fruit Company and until recently manager of the local store here.

Thursday, after their marriage on Wednesday, Mr. and Mrs. Allen returned to the home of the bride's parents where they were entertained with a wedding dinner with her sister, Miss Twylah-Belle, acting as hostess. Covers were laid for immediate members of the family only. A three-tiered wedding cake, beautifully decorated in pink and white, was served with the last dinner course.

Mr. Allen returned to Artesia with his bride Friday. They are at home at the Hogan apartments at 1001 Grand street.

35,000 Killed In The Spanish War

Reports of fresh successes by liberal arms punctuated Spain's civil war yesterday as Red Cross officials estimated 35,000 persons had been killed in the most savage political-military upheaval in Spanish history.

Inspired by military successes in the Guadarrama mountains, the government insisted it had inflicted a decisive defeat on a rebel column near Avila.

Meantime, another nation—Greece—instituted martial law to combat with its regime termed "a subversive and seditious movement fostered by communist propaganda."

Newly reestablished as a kingdom, Greece faced a 24-hour general strike called by Leftist labor unions. The chamber of deputies was dissolved. The government of Premier John Metaxas, the Athens news agency reported, had the situation well in hand.

The Red Cross estimated that those wounded in the Spanish fratricidal fighting exceeded 10,000.

In Paris, the French government's proposed three-power non-intervention pact was offered to other European nations by suggestion of Great Britain, Italy and Germany. France looked to Moscow for support in maintaining a hands-off policy.

Madrid Leftist authorities began a dual drive against Rightist sympathizers and supporters. More than 600 Fascists and Monarchists were arrested in a city-wide police roundup.

CONTINUE TO SMASH AT CAVERN RECORD

The month of July continued its assault on the record number of Caverns visitors, piling up a total of 29,485 visitors from forty-seven states, the District of Columbia, and twenty-one foreign countries. The largest previous July was in 1935 when 21,365 people went through the Caverns. In addition to a large representation from the states, it is also interesting to note the month of July 1936 attracted an unusually large number of visitors from foreign countries. It is predicated the daily goals for August will exceed those for July by a good margin.

4-H Club News

All-day picnics, county-wide camps and district camps are being held for the 4,857 4-H club members in the various sections of New Mexico this summer, according to Emma Hawk, of the New Mexico extension service.

All members who have their club project work up-to-date are eligible to attend the county and district camps. Complete programs including ritual, instruction, recreation, health study, nature study, music appreciation, and camp fire programs are planned so that club members will not only enjoy the time spent but will also learn a great deal which will be of benefit to them and their clubs.

Three district camps are being held in August. Perhaps the largest of these will be the sixth annual camp held August 3, 4 and 5 at which club members from Colfax, Union and Harding counties will be in attendance. This camp is being held at Clear Creek in Cimarron Canyon, Colfax county, and approximately 300 club members from these counties are expected to take part this year.

WATER IN LAKE LOWERED

Carlsbad irrigation district water users are using water rapidly, and not enough water is flowing into the reservoir to replace the evaporation, Jed Howard, irrigation district clerk, said Friday at Carlsbad.

Recent rains filled the reservoir to about 19,000 acre feet, Howard said, but there is about 16,000 feet of water in the reservoir now.

There is sufficient water for another irrigation, which will insure the cotton crop.

Palpitation

Quite suddenly, it may be in the middle of the night or when you are sitting perfectly still in your chair, the heart begins to beat not only rapidly but violently. The doctors call it tachycardia which is Greek for rapid heart. The neighbors call it palpitation which is Latin or they may prefer the English language and call it a heart attack.

It is an alarming experience whatever you call it. The patient feels as though he dare not move. He feels that very likely he is going to die and this thought makes his heart go, if possible, still faster. The first time it happens he calls the doctor. The doctor's very presence reassures him and it may be that by the time the stethoscope is applied to his chest the paroxysm will be all over and he will grin sheepishly when the doctor laughs at him.

Some people insist on making invalids of themselves because they suffer from these attacks. They spend a large part of their lives in bed. They are afraid to walk uphill and if they cannot find a doctor who is willing to help them freighten themselves they will buy many useless medicines of secret composition from the corner drug store.

A doctor should always be consulted. Tachycardia though not dangerous in itself may be the symptom of some disease that is dangerous. It may, for example, be the first indication of tuberculosis. If the doctor finds your heart is sound, as he probably will, and does not find any other cause for worry, then your future happiness depends mostly on yourself. You will find that you can go about your business while the "heart attack" is going on. Sometimes the paroxysm can be stopped by taking a deep breath. There are some other physiological tricks for stopping it that your doctor can show you. But after a while you will almost cease to care whether it stops or not.

Shortage of Skilled Labor in New Mex.

SANTA FE—There is a plentiful supply of semi-skilled labor, Works Progress Administrator Lea Rowland advised E. H. Oakley, Public Works Administration director, Tuesday, but there is "an absolute lack of skilled labor" on the relief rolls in New Mexico.

Rowland, Oakley and George Cook, director of the National Emergency Council for New Mexico, conferred Tuesday on the matter of getting skilled labor so that various PWA projects in the state, for which bonds have been voted and issued, might proceed. New Mexico was one of eleven states which lost PWA allotments because skilled labor was lacking.

After the conference, Rowland Tuesday afternoon late, put into a letter what he had said at the conference. "I know there is a large amount of skilled labor in New Mexico right now," he wrote in the letter to Oakley, "but the rub is, skilled laborers have been so well supplied with regular jobs they never had to ask for relief. As a result, no skilled labor has ever been certified as in need of relief, and, in my opinion, it never will be in New Mexico.

"Inasmuch as the skilled laborers in this state have managed to live for the last four years without going on the relief rolls, it is reasonable to suppose that they can get along without relief now, in these more favorable times."

The shortage of skilled labor "is well evidenced by our experience on Works Progress Administration projects," Rowland wrote. "On projects needing skilled labor we have had to get them out of the non-relief quota."

Oil Industry Discovers New Reserves

HOUSTON, Texas—During the first half of 1936 the oil industry of the United States successfully fulfilled its responsibility of finding new oil reserves to replace those used meanwhile by the consumers. In fact, the industry apparently discovered more oil deposits during the period than it took from the ground for the motorists and other users.

In meeting the consumer requirements, the industry took from the nation's oil wells about 525,000,000 barrels of crude oil in the initial six months of 1936.

But in the meantime, the oil companies and operators were diligently searching for new fields, attempting to widen established fields, and endeavoring to find new and deeper productive strata in the existing fields.

The article brings out that the 525,000,000 barrel drain on the nation's oil reserves in the first half of this year was compensated, in fact, by discoveries within Texas alone. But in addition, important discoveries, aggregating at least several hundred million barrels, were made also in various other states, including California, Oklahoma, Kansas, New Mexico, Louisiana also has furnished some new oil this year, although the big Redessa oil accumulation was discovered in 1935.

The extensive discoveries in Texas this year were largely in several districts of the state, including eastern Texas, the Texas Gulf coast section, southwest Texas, and west Texas, and embraced opening of the Talco field and extension of the Redessa field into Texas.

California's discoveries this year have included three important fields. One of the three is the Old River field, Kern county, which probably is the most important discovery since Kettleman Hills was established as a field in 1928.

which is practically inexhaustible, the oil industry has the responsibility of constantly seeking new fields to replace those being depleted. This year, the industry successfully is fulfilling that responsibility. In fact, since the beginning of the United States oil industry more than 75 years ago, there have been only brief and temporary shortages of oil; and on the whole, the oil companies and operators have done well the task of keeping the public supplied with oil.

VINE MESQUITE CHECKS EROSION IN SOUTHWEST

Vine mesquite, an important southwestern grass in revegetating range lands, also is efficient in holding soil against such thieves as racing wind and run-off water.

Vine mesquite, a tufted perennial, produces a matlike covering with its widely creeping stolons—some of them eight and ten feet long. It spreads so rapidly, even under adverse conditions, that a few "transplants" soon cover nearby areas. It is one of the first local plants to recoupy gullies and other eroded areas.

When tender and green, the leaves and stems of vine mesquite make good pasture for livestock. On overgrazed ranges, animals eat the dry stalks and event the stolons, destroying new plants starting at the nodes. For this reason vine mesquite should be encouraged by protecting the range from overgrazing.

Well-managed grazing is a cheaper way to obtain new growth than by seeding or transplanting, for seed germination is low and transplanting costly.

PORTALES—William Gabriel, aged Roosevelt county farmer who had lived the life of a recluse on his homestead near Dora, was found dead Friday, the victim of what sheriff's officers said was murder.

Last seen while plowing in his field Thursday morning, Gabriel apparently had been engaged in a terrific struggle, Deputy Sheriffs J. R. Poindexter and J. R. Bradford said.

His head had been beaten horribly with a heavy instrument, they said. The officers expressed belief Gabriel had been dead between twelve and twenty-four hours when his body was found.

The body was discovered by F. D. Chambers, a neighbor, who, with his two small daughters, went to call on Gabriel late Friday.

Chambers told the officers he found the house locked, looked around the place and found Gabriel's body lying near a windmill. A team of horses, tied to a nearby tree, evidently had been standing there all day, Chambers said.

The officers could establish no motive for the murder. They were handicapped in their investigation by a heavy rain.

Back to the Farm at Mealtime

- "Honest Abe," Not "Plain Jane"
- Foods
- Honesty is the best policy—in food, too, if you agree with the cooks "back on the farm." Nowhere else in this round world does simple honest-to-goodness food come into its own as on the American farmstead. From the shoo-fly pie of Pennsylvania to the shortenin' bread of the South, farmwives have a way with flavor—not "Plain Jane" food, lacking savor and bloom, but "Honest Abe" cookery!
- Tender pink slices of fried ham, hot biscuits with "sun preserve"; pickled peaches from Aunt Nellie's recipe; dumplings; banana pie; sunshine cake! There's not an hors d'oeuvre or a bouchee in the lot, but just real country cooking!
- If you are a kitchenette or a city housewife, invite yourself back to the farm for such a meal; if not, cook yourself one!
- New England Beef Stew

 - 1 small onion, chopped
 - 1 turnip, diced
 - 3 carrots, diced
- Water

 - Salt and pepper
- Dumplings
- Have beef cut into small pieces for stewing. Dredge with flour and seasonings and brown in mazola with chopped onion. Cover meat and onions with water and simmer 2 or 3 hours (or until meat is tender). Half an hour before serving add other vegetables, 15 minutes later add dumplings.

Roll up like jelly roll and cut off pieces 2 inches thick. Melt 4 tablespoons butter in heavy skillet and add 1/2 cup dark karo, and put biscuits into it, cut side up. Bake in moderately hot oven (400° F.) about 35 minutes or until biscuits are done. Invert skillet and turn biscuits out immediately. Eight to ten buns.

Proved Cotton Seed Should Be Planted In Area

Desire to grow "bigger and better" cotton often leads the cotton producer into buying seed from a suave salesman in the highly competitive cotton seed business who is boosting some particular variety.

It is a frequent occurrence for the cotton producer to buy "novelty" seed stocks only to find in the fall that he has bought a "gold brick," says C. B. Doyle, Bureau of Plant Industry, U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Not that the farmer is advised against paying a premium for good seed, says Doyle, but that he should attempt to obtain some information as to the "pedigree" of the variety before he buys.

When the dairyman invests his money in an expensive animal he has the Babcock butterfat test and the scales to back up the record of performance. In much the same way the trap nest furnishes a record on which the poultryman may depend. Now the cotton farmer can obtain seed with a record of performance that has received the acid test—through the one-variety cotton community.

Cotton growers are rapidly concluding that the one-variety community project is a source of good cotton seed, Mr. Doyle points out in citing a report from Roy F. Saunders, bureau agronomist stationed at Greenville, Texas.

In Texas—where growers in the Blackland area are undertaking the largest one-variety community, expected eventually to include some 5,000,000 acres—cost of one-third of the huge Texas crop, has adopted it for its five-million-acre one-variety venture. This work has the support of a state coordinating committee composed of representatives of the state extension service, the state experiment station, the state department of vocational agriculture, and the Bureau of Plant Industry of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

This will eliminate "hit or miss" methods of seed selection. As the proved sire has become the standard for improving the dairy herd, proved seed is becoming the standard by which cotton growers will be assured good cotton crops under favorable conditions.

Chevrolet Has Electric System To Meet Demand

How the electrical system of the modern motor car has been improved within recent years, to keep up with the constantly increasing demands placed on it by electrical accessories, from radios to fog-lights, was described by James M. Crawford, chief engineer of the Chevrolet Motor Company, at a recent gathering of service experts in Detroit.

"No doubt you have been asked by some motorists whether their batteries can stand the addition of more electrical accessories," said Mr. Crawford. "However, many car owners don't say; they just keep adding gadgets that use up the battery without considering whether it can stand the load."

"Fortunately, both generators and batteries have been improved greatly within the last few years. Generators have been increased in output, and means of regulating the output to suit the demand have been devised; at the same time, batteries have been given greater capacity."

"Two most important improvements in generators are forced air cooling and load control. The output of a generator falls off as its temperature rises; therefore, air cooling has the effect of increasing its output. Then, in some cars, as the Chevrolet, the automatic control is arranged to step up the generator output whenever the lights are on or the radio is going, and the driver may increase the charging rate even when the lights are off by means of an instrument panel control. Batteries have kept pace with the generators, too. With little or no increase in size, they contain more plates, and hence possess a greater reserve capacity, particularly advantageous for cold starting."

WAGE SCALE FOR SKILLED WORKERS WILL BE INCREASED

(Special to The Artesia Advocate)

Skilled workers on WPA jobs in New Mexico, who can produce more results than fellow workers with less experience, will receive a higher wage rate than the others, according to wage scale revisions announced recently at Works Progress Administration state headquarters. However, workers on the lower rates will continue to earn as much as the others by working more hours per month.

Teachers, writers, musicians and other professional and technical employees were given higher rates of pay, and the rate for artists was reduced, putting all in that class on the same maximum rate of 86 cents an hour. They must work ninety hours a month.

Revisions are on the wage schedule announced for July 1, and are retroactive to that date. They do not affect workers in unskilled and intermediate classifications.

Skilled workers such as blicklayers, electricians, carpenters, plasterers and plumbers, have been divided into three wage classes.

American railways represent an investment of twenty-six billion dollars—nearly equal the present national debt, according to Harry G. Taylor, chairman of the Western Association of Railway Executives.

EXHIBITS DRAW ATTENTION

The agricultural products on display in the New Mexico exhibit at the Texas Centennial are attracting much favorable attention, according to Mrs. Maynor D. McGee of Las Cruces, who is in charge of the exhibit.

In a letter to Acting President H. M. Gardner of the New Mexico State College, Mrs. McGee says: "The onions and Irish 'Cobblers' almost caused a riot when we placed them on display. The publicity man for the building prepared a story about the agricultural methods on exhibit. More than seventy per cent of the visitors are farmers and they are amazed at the variety of our products."

Eddy County Farm News

Quite a few farmers and stockmen attended the screw worm control project meetings held here and at Carlsbad last week. Because the original meetings were postponed the interest was not as great as it might have been otherwise. Fred Barham, county agent, reports screw worm damage has been greater this year than has been generally recognized.

One sheepman at Hope has reported 1,200 cases of screw worms this year. The recommended remedy for worms is a treatment of ninety per cent benzoin applied in the wound. After the wound has been treated with benzoin, fill the wound with cotton and paint over with pine tar oil of a 1.065 gravity.

Bud Williams of Roswell, district supervisor, has been working over the county. The services of Mr. Williams can be secured by contacting Mr. Barham, county agent.

County Agent L. C. Brown and forty-five Chaves county farmers spent Tuesday looking over the terracing work done in south Eddy county.

A number of hay growers are letting their alfalfa seed this year. Quite a few seed crops will be harvested in the lower part of the county.

The Smith-Crawford farms are harvesting the fourth cutting of hay, which will average a ton and a quarter of hay to the acre, according to estimates. Preparations are being made to feed 10,000 lambs on this farm and hay barns are being built for every twenty acres of alfalfa. Buck rakes will be used to convey the hay to the barn, where the hay will be cut and blown into the building. This is calculated to save both labor and the expense of baling the hay.

FUNDS FOR BLACK-TOPPING HIGHWAY

Assurance has been received that the funds will be available for the surfacing of State Highway 18 from Lovington to Tatum.

This was the information brought back from Santa Fe by the county commissioners and the county clerk who returned Wednesday from a several days stay at the state capital. While there they were assured by the highway department and by Governor Tingley that the money for the completion of this important highway to Tatum is now available in the sum of $90,000. They also had the assurance that work upon the road would begin not later than the first of September.—Lovington Leader.

Petition Says—

Taylor grazing act in the sixth district, southwestern New Mexico grazing district, the small cattleman has suffered at the hands of the board in that many of them have been denied grazing permits. We feel that the act has been unfairly administered in this district.

"We further feel that it has deprived American citizens of their right of homesteading in that under the provisions of the act, homesteading has been discontinued throughout the southwest. Many men, under present conditions, would like to exercise their right of homestead and own a small piece of land upon which they and their families might reside and have a home."

In Selecting Your COUNTY COMMISSIONER For District 2, August 8

I ask you to use the same business judgment that you would in employing help for your own particular vocation. I will appreciate very much your personal investigation of my qualifications for the office of commissioner, and your vote, if you see fit to give it to me.

It will be impossible for me to see every voter in north Eddy county before the primary. I am taking this means of asking you for your support and influence.

I am making but one promise: To fulfill the duties of this office to the best of my ability!
