Sales Tax Check Shows Recovering Economy

City Rainfall Ranges From 1.1-2.2 Inches

Late Tuesday afternoon, dark, heavy clouds broke loose with rain over Muleshoe, depositing from the official 1.07 to approximately 2.2 inches in the City of Muleshoe.

However, the rain was very localized, with Mrs. I. L. Kitchens in the Longview community reporting only 'showers.'

Foster Fertilizer at Lazbuddie said they received two and a half inches, three miles east of Lazbuddie, while in Lazbuddie, up to three inches was reported.

In the Progress area, Elzada Gulley said her gauge had only .3 for the past 24 hours, and only showers were reported in the Needmore area, with no rain in the Bula-Enochs areas.

Brief periods of street flooding were reported in Muleshoe, with a few vehicles stranded after 'drowning out' in the deep water before it ran off into area playa lakes.

Constant lightning kept the skies brilliant, and steady rumbles of thunder accompanied the storms as they crossed Muleshoe, but no hail was reported during the evening storms.

National Weather Service predicted a continuing chance for afternoon and evening showers through today, Thursday.

Spider Mites Big Problem In Vegetables

Spider mites are tiny, but they can cause big problems in home gardens.

These pests prefer tomatoes, beans and peas and do most of their damage in hot, dry weather, said Spencer Tanksley, county agent with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service.

Spider mites, also called red spiders, are only 1/60th of an inch in length and vary in color from white to green to red.

The tiny pests can build up quickly and completely engulf plants. Eggs laid on the underside of leaves hatch in four to five days. A complete life cycle takes three weeks, and as many as 20 overlapping generations can occur in a single year.

Mites spin a thin web which often can be seen on the underside of an infested leaf. Cont. Page 6, Col. 3

State Comptroller Bob Bullock said Friday that Texas cities can expect handsome revenue increases from their local sales taxes as the Texas economic recovery continues to pick up steam.

This month's city allocation checks showed a 23.5 percent increase over June 1987, a growth rate too high to attribute to the broadened sales tax base.

'Local governments will continue to see a healthy increase in revenues from their sales taxes as the state's economy mends and consumer confidence continues to grow,' Bullock said.

Texas' economic outlook will continue to improve, barring a national recession or a collapse in oil prices, according to Bullock.

Checks totaling $65.1 million were sent to 878 cities that collect local option sales taxes at either one or one and one-half percent.

Since January, the state has sent $465.9 million in local taxes to cities across the state, an increase of 10.3 percent over last year's allocations during the same period.

'This increase is too great to be attributed to the Legislature's broadening of the sales tax base, which was estimated to bring in an extra 3.5 percent in local revenues,' Bullock added.

Bullock projected that local sales tax revenues statewide will continue to increase at an average rate of more than eight percent a year through 1991.

Bullock said counties that began collecting a half-percent county sales tax in January can also expect to see increasing revenues throughout 1988. He said checks totaling $6 million were sent to 80 counties on Friday, Bullock said.

Muleshoe's most recent check was in the amount of $15,668.58, an increase of 38.53 percent over the $11,310.20 received for the same period a year ago. This brought current 1988 payments to $106,622.39, an increase of 19.96 percent over last year's figure of $88,881.53.

In Cochran County, Morton showed a yearly increase of 35.18 percent. To date at this time a year ago, Morton had collected $23,159.47, and this had increased to $31,306.12 at the same time this year. Their current payment was $4,223.01, and was $3,431.57 at this time a year ago, for an increase in monthly payments of 23.06 percent.

Littlefield reflects a slight increase in both yearly and monthly payments to date in 1988. Their current payment was $16,894.59, an increase of 8.01 percent over the $14,834.16 they had received for the same month last year. Their yearly total is $126,202.96, up 5.20 percent from the $119,967.50 received at the same time last year. In Parmer County, Friona shows a good monthly increase, but a negligible yearly increase in rebate checks. Their current payment was $8,488.13, up by 23.16 percent over the $6,891.89

B&B Medical Supply To Open Local Business

Around July 1, a new business will be open in Muleshoe, and can be utilized by many local residents.

Muleshoe native, Mark Benedict, who graduated from Muleshoe High School in 1977, is opening a branch office of his B&B Medical Supply, Inc. which is headquartered in Quanah.

Although he left Muleshoe in 1983, and moved to Quanah where he opened his medical supply business, he has never forgotten his 'roots' and needing a branch office to serve his ever growing district, opted to open a South Plains branch in Muleshoe.

He said he opened his Quanah store three years ago, and serves a territory to Perryton and Spearman and into southwest Oklahoma, as well as the Texas South Plains.

Specializing in home respiratory therapy, home oxygen and home breathing, B&B Medical Supply, Inc. will also offer a complete line of medical equipment, supplies and services for home care and rehabilitation patients, said Benedict.

'When we open the new store at 516 South First (formerly Beavers Flowerland), we will have hospital beds, wheel chairs, diabetic aids, commode chairs, walkers, ostomy aids, monitors, bathroom equipment, traction units, chair lifts and other equipment.'

'We will have a registered nurse (RN) or licensed vocational nurse (LVN) employed to help with home respiratory therapy.'

Benedict said the nurse would be available 24-hours a day and would be giving monthly follow-up visits for all respiratory equipment patients, plus, provide written patient progress reports to patients, home health agencies and referral sources upon request.

They will also be available to process all Medicare, Blue Cross-Blue Shield and Champus insurance claims, along with all Medicare supplements.

Mark Benedict is the son of Vic and Ece Benedict. He and his wife, Vickie, are the parents of Kendra, six; and April, 21 months old. His wife, Vickie, assists him in the business.

Area Cotton Off To 'Good' Start

Although some of the area's young cotton crop has been plagued with problems ranging from sand to hail and dryness to moisture, the 1988 crop is off to a better start now than in the past few years, said Dr. James Supak, agronomist and cotton specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Contrasting this year's planting season to those of 1986 and 1987, Supak remarked, 'This represents the most uniform start in several years.' He noted that the plantings were late the past two seasons because wet, cool conditions persisted.

Supak estimated nearly 3.2 million acres reserved for cotton this year, 90 percent of which has already been planted. This shows an increase from the 2.8 million acres planted in 1987. Supak said this is partly because there is not need to abandon any cotton acreage yet since there has been no widespread adverse crop conditions.

However, rain and hail caused damage to some cotton in western counties such as Bailey and Cochran. Sam Field, Cochran County agricultural Extension agent, reported that 30 percent of the cotton in the county needs replanting.

Eastern counties such as Crosby and Garza have experienced some dryness with any precipitation welcome. 'Although rains have been timely,' Supak said, 'We are still moisture deficient.' Supak stressed that deep moisture reserves aren't present, and more rain is still needed.

Sand and wind have also damaged young seedlings in Cont. Page 6, Col. 4

TIM LUST

Tim Lust Receives Scholarship

Tim H. Lust, 1988 valedictorian of the Lazbuddie School, was awarded an $8,000, four-year Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo Future Farmers of America (FFA) scholarship Thursday night in special ceremonies in the Astrodome at Houston.

Tim, son of Barbara and Glen Lust, was involved in FFA, serving as chapter vice president and district president. He was a Star Chapter Farmer and Star Greenhand and received the Lone Star Farmer degree. He attended the FFA state convention and placed sixth in state with his Angus heifer.

Tim, who plans to major in agricultural marketing at Angelo State University, was one of more than 200 Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo scholarship winners honored.

For the first time in Show history, many of the student recipients sharing in the Show's annual educational commitment exceeding $1 million were gathered in one place, along with committee volunteers, Show officials and guests.

'We wanted our 6,000 volunteers, who make this Show and these scholarships possible, to be able to see the results of their efforts,' said Show president Hal Hillman. 'It's such a thrill to be able to meet these outstanding young people personally. They represent a very promising future for agriculture.'

You Can Help Sudden Heart Attack Victims

Heart attacks can happen without much warning, and they happen anywhere, any time. Do you know how to help someone who is having a heart attack? The Texas Medical Association says that you help save a life if you recognize the signs of an attack and take action immediately.

Severe chest pain usually is the first sign. The pain often is described as pressure beneath the breast bone. It can become severe, and can move into the neck and jaw area and the left shoulder or arm. Any kind of exertion makes it worse. The pain will be continuous, but may subside.

Other early warning signals of a heart attack that accompany the pain include nausea, sweating, difficulty in breathing, and dizziness.

The first step to helping a victim is to call an ambulance immediately. Then, make the person as comfortable as possible, which is usually sitting, with the legs up and bent at the knees. Loosen ties, collars and tight clothing around his or her upper body.

Another way you can help is simply by being prepared for all types of emergencies. Know what the emergency number is in your area. Know where the closest hospital is. Learn CPR. If the victim loses consciousness, and has no pulse or stops breathing--you may not have time to wait for medical help to start CPR.

Knowing all of these things also will help you remain calm and reassure the victim.

The Texas Medical Association is a professional organization with more than 28,000 physician and medical student members. It is located in Austin, and has 116 component county medical societies around the state.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Comptroller Bob Bullock last week predicted Texas will have sufficient revenues to maintain current spending levels without a tax increase for the next two years.

A real plus in the state's economic growth has been helped in part by Texas ranchers and farmers who made $2 billion more last year.

Ongoing efforts led by Rep. Dudley Harrison and Sen. Bill Sims with assistance from other top agricultural leaders are aimed at increasing those profits.

Simply stated, much Texas produce is shipped out of the state for processing. If it's processed here, more profits stay here.

The Texas Agricultural Diversification Program, passed last session by Harrison and Sims, has $500,000 to award small grants to firms which can match an amount with private dollars.

The funds are seed money for expanding textile plants, flour mills, slaughterhouses, and retail facilities.

"Kill It Myself"

No state agency will approve grant applications. Instead, a panel comprised of top farm and ranch leaders oversees the funding.

Harrison, a conservative, often called "The Wiley Ol' Fox" by other lawmakers, and Sims sit as ex-officio members to monitor the program's cost effectiveness.

"It's not going to be another give-away. If it's not cost-effective, then I'll kill it myself," Harrison vowed.

Mauro Seeks State Share
Former U.S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough was a key state's witness in a lawsuit last week over whether parties involved in a West Texas oil lease owe the state millions of dollars in delinquent royalty payments.

Texas Land Commissioner Garry Mauro seeks to halt payment of oil royalties to the owners and says the state and owner should split the $161 million which has been produced by the lucrative four-acre lease since 1934.

Mauro says Texas has received only $10 million and is demanding the balance be paid to the state.

Yarborough was an assistant attorney general in 1935 when the state approved a deal whereby the owner assigned the lease to another businessman.

The question now is whether the owner illegally assigned the lease to himself behind a dummy operation, a move that Yarborough said, if known, would have killed the 1934 settlement.

Probe Sought for Senator

Though it smacks of politics more than a mission of good government, the Texas GOP called for an official budget probe of state Sen. Richard Anderson, D-Marshall.

After Anderson admitted someone in his office ran up more than $1,000 on the state phone bill for calls to his campaign offices, the Republicans asked the attorney general and Travis County district attorney, both Democrats, to investigate all of Anderson's state office expenses.

Political Vendetta

Some veteran observers feel there is a whiff of vendetta here. In 1986, Anderson narrowly won a Northeast Texas special election which ultimately pitted U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm's realignment movement against Texas Democratic Party chairman Bob Slagle's machine, right in Slagle's backyard.

Since then, Anderson is regarded by some as Slagle's protege senator, and he has hired several staffers also close to Slagle. Anderson was hospitalized last week, but Slagle said Anderson would repay the state for a careless mistake by an overzealous staffer.

The GOP tried to make political hay once before when Anderson was arrested for DWI. Now they'd like to make this an issue all the way to the November balloting, and mudball Slagle to boot.

Other Highlights

• Former Gov. Mark White and his partners have dissolved their law firm which was based in Houston, Dallas and Austin. White hasn't said what line of business he will next pursue.

• Gov. Bill Clements said he would not call a special session in 1988 to deal with school financing, but would wait until the regular session opens next January.

• Supreme Court Chief Justice Thomas Phillips, a Republican, announced endorsements by seven former House speakers: Bill Clayton, Rayford Price, Price Daniel, Robert Calvert, Byron Tunnell, Reuben Senterfitt and Jim Lindsey.

• Secretary of State Jack Rains, the state's top elections officer, drew criticism over his judgment and partisanship after he announced plans to attend the Republican National Convention.

• Federal Judge William Wayne Justice, who wrote the court order calling for reform of the Texas prison system, now has a plan to phase out reform monitoring in 1990.

MICROWAVE COOKING

By Linda Attaway

A fluffy omelet can be made by first separating the whites and the yolks, beating the whites until stiff, then blending the yellows back in.

Pour the mixture into a nine-inch pie plate which has melted butter covering the bottom. Cook at 50% power for three to five minutes until partially set and then lift edges so uncooked portion spreads evenly.

Microwave an additional two to four minutes, until the center is almost set and pour in the filling of ham, peppers, or whatever else sounds good, fold over and cook an additional minute before placing on serving plate.

Never underestimate your ability; others will do it for you.

LIZ TIPPS, HILLARY ANN

Sunlight, Rain Cause Costly Drapery Damage

If you've taken draperies or curtains for cleaning only to have them returned with small tears or streaks, chances are sunlight or rain have taken their toll.

Sunlight, yes. But rain? It happens all the time according to Dr. Ann Beard, a clothing and textile specialist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service.

"A window gets left open and rain blows through onto the drapery. Once it dries, brown or yellow stains from the chemical sizing used to finish the fabric may appear," she said.

"If condensation forms inside a window and comes in contact with a drape it may also cause stains or sizing streaks."

In some cases, sizing streaks can be removed by dry cleaning, but not always.

"It depends on the age of the stain and the fabric," said Robert Craig, a Houston drycleaner and South Central States Director for the International Fabricare Institute.

"To remove a water mark the drapery must be wet-cleaned, rather than dry cleaned. But wet cleaning can't be used successfully on all fabrics," he said.

Sun is also a common culprit in drapery damage. Most textile fibers are weakened by exposure to strong sunlight.

Beard said the fibers most vulnerable to sunlight damage are delustered (dulled) rayon, acetate, nylon, cotton, silk and wool. Heavy years are more sun-resistant than fine yarns.

"Acrylic, modacrylic, polyester, nylon and glass fibers are the most sunlight resistant fibers," she said. "By selecting a fiber blend in drapery fabric, you can get both the texture and look you want along with higher sun-resistance."

Since dark colors absorb more light, the Extension specialists said they will deteriorate more rapidly. On printed fabrics, the damage will be greater in the colored areas than the white or light areas.

"The fiber damage usually occurs along the folds of the drape on the exposed side. Sometimes the damage won't be apparent until the fabric is cleaned and the weakened yarns break and fall apart in the process," she said.

After carpeting, drapes are the next biggest investment in household textiles. So it can pay to think through your selections.

Beard offered the following points to consider:

- Invest in lined drapes. Most drapery liners are sun resistant and their light color helps reflect light. Generally, unlined drapes will last three years and lined drapes five.

- Look for sun-resistant fabrics or blends containing sun-resistant fabrics.

- Protect drapes with low sun-resistance by also installing blinds or other sun blockers on the window.

- Rubberized backing on drapes insulates and reflects light, but may be difficult to clean without damage to the backing.

Dairy Products Meet Different Dietary Needs

No matter what kind of diet you're on, there is no need to deny yourself the taste of dairy foods or the calcium and vitamins they contain.

"With the variety of dairy products now on the market, practically every special dietary need can be met," said Dr. Mary Kinney Sweeten, a nutrition specialist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service.

For people counting calories or trying to reduce their fat intake, she said low-fat dairy products are the obvious answer.

"Some people don't like non-fat milk, but there are plenty of other low-fat choices ranging from 1/2 percent to 2 percent milkfat that may be more acceptable in taste and yet still cut calories," she said.

"Low-fat yogurts, cheeses and ice milk will also significantly cut fat intake if eaten in place of whole milk products," she said.

Until recently, people on low-sodium diets had to avoid cheeses due to their salt content.

"However, a whole array of low-fat processed cheeses from Swiss to Monterey Jack, are now on supermarket shelves. They're also lower in fat and have about half the calories of regular cheeses," she said.

For individuals who have trouble drinking milk because they can't digest lactose, Sweeten said there are several alternatives. Drinking a small amount at one time may help the problem in some cases. Most lactose intolerant people can also eat cheeses or yogurt since they contain little or no lactose.

"Fortunately, low-lactose commercial milk products are also available in most supermarkets. Some are low-fat as well as low in lactose content," she said.

"People on low-cholesterol diets will, of course, need to follow their physician's instructions," said Sweeten.

In general, however, experts with the National Heart, Lung and Blood Institute's Cholesterol Education Program advise a balanced diet with reduction of total fats, saturated fats and cholesterol.

"Dairy products can fit into the recommendation to reduce cholesterol intake to below 300 milligrams a day," said the nutritionist.

For example, of 450 food products containing cholesterol which were examined by the Food and Drug Administration, almost one-fourth had less than 20 milligrams of cholesterol in a serving. Among these foods were skim and low-fat milk as well as some cheeses and yogurts made from skim and low-fat milk, she said.

It's always easy to stand on the sidelines and criticize the players.

The man who knows it all is as dangerous as the man who knows little.

It's strange how some people can tell you what's best for you.

Self-interest has always been the foe of national security, the destroyer of patriotism.

RENAMING STREETS JAYCEE PROPOSAL

Members of the Muleshoe Junior Chamber of Commerce at a meeting Friday night went on records as favoring the renaming of Muleshoe streets in the interest of charity and appointed a committee to confer with City Commission on the subject.

Speakers pointed out that most towns of the Plains streets have been named in alphabetical order in one direction and have been designated numbers in the other direction.

The matter came up when the group was told that erecting signs on street intersections has been discussed and is viewed favorably by the city commission. Several voiced opposition to the erection of signs until the matter of renaming streets has been thoroughly examined.

TWO SMALL TWISTERS CAUSE $20,000 DAMAGE IN MULESHOE THURSDAY NITE

Two small twistlers dipped down on the north side of Muleshoe about 10 p.m. Thursday causing an estimated $20,000 property damage, but no injuries. The small tornadoes destroyed a 100X100 foot hanger at Muleshoe airport, and almost totally destroyed four airplanes. Damage was estimated at almost $15,000. In addition the storm ripped out ten of Southwestern Public Service Company's high voltage lines over a quarter mile stretch in northwest Muleshoe, causing a power failure in the section of 13th street which crews were still working on Saturday.

Trees, tree limbs, small out buildings, and TV antennas suffered the most damage in other places in town. Highway department personnel were forced to bulldoze a stretch of highway 84 west, where trees had blown across the road.

One small residence in the northwest part of town was shifted on its foundation and a henhouse overturned, but no one was injured.

RECORD FALLS

TEMPERATURE REACHES 108 Whew! Did your evaporative air conditioner seem to fail somewhat Thursday? Regardless of what you did, did you somehow have the feeling it was a little warm?

You could have been right, you know, as the temperature got to an unofficial 108 degrees at 5:30 Thursday afternoon at 9:15 it was still 95 and at 1 a.m. it was 85 degrees.

Then blessings of all blessings, and thanks to living on the great South Plains, by morning most residents were hunting light cover as rapid cooling followed early in the morning.

At the Muleshoe National Wildlife Refuge, 25 miles south of Muleshoe, the official temperature was 104. This was the highest temperature recorded on this date since records started being kept on weather there in 1967.

Too Many!

Not many weeks pass when the average citizen doesn't receive a new credit card—unsolicited—by mail. The usual spiel about all the advantages of these cards accompanies the card, and often the recipient signs it and begins to charge purchases.

After a time, many glance at their wallets and find they are carrying fifteen or twenty cards. The bills arrive in the mail each month, there is a charge annually, and there is a charge for interest or service, or both, for credit.

The question which comes to mind is: How long can this process continue? How many credit cards does one need, can one keep track of? Those spewing out free cards in wholesale numbers know some of the risks they run are had that some will charge goods and not pay for them.

So service and interest charges are set high enough to cover the bad risks—and the good risks, the honest, pay the freight.

This might be worth a thought when the next free credit card arrives, or when the next free gift you have won is announced (in return for a visit to some real estate development).

Too much credit leads to too much debt. It would seem wise to limit the number of free cards one accepts.

Rotarian Olan Burrows Talks About The Past

Rotarian Olan Burrows was in charge of, and presented, the program for the Muleshoe Rotary Club Tuesday at noon.

He spoke on his 30 years as a Rotarian, with 26 of those being a member of the Muleshoe Rotary Club.

Burrows told the group he had seen a lot of changes in the Rotary Club during his years, with the first four years being as a member of the Lovington (N.M.) Rotary Club.

According to Burrows, one of the best aspects of being a Rotarian is being given the opportunity to visit other Rotary Clubs all over the world.

He remembered his favorite experience as being a visit to the Dallas Rotary Club in the late 50's.

Burrows said that at that time, there was only one Rotary Club in Dallas and it had over 1,000 members, and was the largest Rotary Club in the world.

The Dallas Rotary Club had a greeting line, and the visitor from the farthest district was crowned and sat at the head table to eat.

A lot of committee reports were given during a meeting of the Dallas Club, he added, and they reported on member-related illnesses and deaths.

Burrows said he was the only member left who was a member at the time he joined the Muleshoe Rotary 26 years ago.

As he read a list of members who had dropped out, he asked the question "WHY?" And, said Coach Sammy Gonzales' team will play the Clovis Outsiders in Clovis next week, with the Lubbock Outsiders coming to Muleshoe the following week.

Midwestern State University head football coach Mike Calcote says MSU has received commitments from a number of talented freshmen to play football for the Indians next fall.

The new Indians are the first MSU football recruits since 1956, the last year MSU fielded a football team.

he believed they quit because they didn't have anything to do.

Burrows said both quantity and quality is needed in new members -- and they need to be given projects to work on -- something to do to keep them busy.

The longtime Rotarian spoke about the Paul Harris Fellow awards presented in Muleshoe (he is a recipient) and of the Rotary Scholarships presented (his two sons were both recipients of scholarships). Now, one of his sons is a CPA and the other is an attorney.

Burrows concluded with, "I'm real happy to be a Rotarian."

A discussion was held on the signs being erected at the entries to Muleshoe, and the signs have been painted, and are ready to put in place.

All Rotarians were asked to take their paper products to the warehouse sometime this week, to be transported to the recycler.

of a year ago. However, for the year, the increase is only 0.27 percent, with total receipts of $48,904.00 at this time in 1987, and were $49,038.32 for the same time this year.

Houston saw the greatest increase in revenue this month -- their check of $11.2 million was a whopping 35.6 percent increase over last year's June payment. Dallas' payment of $7.4 million reflected a healthy increase of 18.1 percent.

San Antonio's $3.9 million check grew by 17.7 percent over June 1987.

El Paso County received the largest payment totaling $870,828. Jefferson County's check of $556,464 was the second largest, and the third largest payment, $459,637, went to Lubbock County.

Bullock said the state's six metropolitan transit authorities received $28.8 million in June allocations, an increase of 18.4 percent over last year's payments.

El Paso received the first allocation check this month for the city transit department tax, which went into effect on April 1 this year. June's allocation payment was $684,508.

The MTA's and the CTD should continue to see an increase in revenues along with the cities and counties, Bullock said.

Mites...

They feed by inserting their mouth-parts into plant tissue and sucking juices. While feeding, they inject toxic substances into the plant, Tanksley says.

Infestations of spider mites can be identified by tiny white spots on the underside of a leaf. Heavy infestations cause bleaching or yellowing, first along the main leaf veins and then throughout the plant. The plant may also shed buds and small fruit. Spider mites can completely defoliate a plant if not controlled.

Control of spider mites is often difficult and requires two to four applications of insecticide at five-day intervals. Plants should be checked frequently for spider mites since the pests can build up rapidly.

Insecticides registered for controlling spider mites in gardens are diazinon, kelthane, malathion, ethion and sulfur. However, do not use sulfur on cucurbits (cucumbers, squash or melons) as severe plant change could occur.

As always, read and follow label directions on all insecticides, cautions Spencer Tanksley.

ASCOM Plans

Big Celebration

At Plainview

Associated Communications, Inc. (ASCOM) of Plainview and Clovis are celebrating. The Plainview office plans a showing of the latest in radio communications equipment, Saturday June 18, at the Holiday Inn, Plainview.

During the morning hours, customers will be special guests, and 1-5 p.m. the same afternoon, the celebration will be opened up to the public.

Special guests for both events will be 'Hank', who is a Hank Williams, Jr., lookalike. He will be joined by Charlie Hager, new country western artist, known for 'I Overlooked An Orchid,' which has been charted nationwide this year, to be followed by a release of 'Broken Hearts.'

ASCOM also said they are welcoming CELL-X SMR NETWORK, of which ASCOM is an exclusive member in this area, benefitting Muleshoe ASCOM customers with 'free' roaming privileges in selected areas within the Cell-X network.

Emma Holland, co-owner, said ASCOM is now serving Muleshoe, along with other West Texas and Eastern New Mexico towns with new trunking technology, the G.E. MARC V-E system.

Mrs. Holland said they would like to have all their customers, and those interested attend the Carlton Holland family celebration Saturday.

STATE CAPITAL

HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN-While Texas Republicans convened in Houston, state Democratic officeholders gathered behind Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby's call for new guidelines for public school funding.

Meanwhile, more groups and state officials are coming to the rescue of ten parole officers who complained of poor conditions following the rape of a woman officer by a client in Beaumont.

The GOP convention opened with a warning from party chairman George Strake to Vice President George Bush to court the right wing of the party, particularly delegates of Pat Robertson.

Apparently the message fell on fertile ground, because Robertson later appeared at a Bush fundraiser and cancelled plans to attend a rally for himself because he felt it might be misread as a move for divisiveness.

Earlier Robertson's Texas campaign manager had criticized the Bush faction for ignoring anti-abortion groups. Peace had been made with some, but not all, by the outset.

many of the surrounding counties. Field noted that cotton in Cochran County has had as much damage due to wind as rain. Billy Warrick, Hockley County agricultural Extension agent, reported that a sand storm on May 30 damaged some 4,000 to 5,000 acres of cotton in the county.

Although insects have not presented a serious problem yet in area cotton fields, some potentially hazardous pests have been spotted. Andy Vestal, Crosby County agricultural Extension agent, reported that thrips populations are beginning to develop and cause some damage.

Stiles Warns Board

After a woman parole officer was raped by a client at his home, parole officers around the state have been speaking out for safer conditions and catching threats of job loss from some of the state parole board officials.

The threats so concerned Beaumont state Rep. Mark Stiles that he called a Capitol press conference to issue a hands off warning.

Last week, 10 parole officers were reprimanded for writing the board chairman without permission, telling of job conditions.

Plano Rep. Sam Johnson, the Texas Civil Liberties Union and Association of Texans Against Crime got into the act to fight "Hitler-type tactics" by parole agency officials.

Call for Guidelines

Lt. Gov. Hobby said lawmakers have increased money for poor school districts but have nagging doubts about how well it is spent.

Hobby said accountability standards must be built into any new finance method, a subject certain to be addressed by the next Legislature.

A state district judge has ordered the Legislature to come up with a new finance system by September 1989.

Count Illegal Aliens?

Attorney General Jim Mattox is siding with Mexican-American Legal Defense and Education Fund lawyers to fight a federal lawsuit brought by Eastern states which blocks illegal aliens from being counted in the next census.

Mattox said Texas could lose three or four members from its congressional delegation. Certainly, the case will affect the way the Legislature re-draws state senate and house seats in 1991.

Business Taxes

A new report from Comptroller Bob Bullock concludes that taxes aimed directly at Texas businesses--corporate, insurance, occupation licenses and state property--add up to 12 percent of the total tax burden.

The report says the business burden is high because Texas has no state income tax as most other states do.

After Alaska and Wyoming, Texas ranks third highest in overall business tax burden in a national study of state and local taxes paid by businesses.

'Trumped Up' Charges

Regents who voted to fire Southwest Texas State University

President Robert Hardesty have compiled a list of charges alleging that he spent lavishly and was away from the campus too much, the San Antonio Light reported last week.

The case against Hardesty, much of which was developed after his May 19 firing, will be made when regents meet this week to reconsider the action.

"These are charges that have been trumped up since they fired me," Hardesty said. "Five days after they fired me, they called for my expense vouchers and travel vouchers. They're looking for after-the-fact reasons."

Royalty Halt Denied

An Austin judge refused to halt $400,000 in royalty payments to the heirs of a man the state says defrauded the public school fund of millions in an oil lease deal.

But, Land Commissioner Garry Mauro said the ruling does not harm the state's chances of winning a jury trial verdict.

Other Highlights

Third Court of Appeals Judge Jim Brady resigned his seat effective Aug. 31 to return to private practice. Brady, who lost his primary re-election bid, is appealing a reprimand by a judicial conduct commission.

An appeals court last week upheld the constitutionality of city "barking dogs" ordinances by finding an Austin woman guilty of harboring barking dogs which annoyed neighbors.

A July 21 bond sale to finance court-ordered prison construction was approved last week. New prisons will be built at Amarillo, Marlin and Woodville.

WELCOME COUNTRY FANS--Musical entertainment and country fun are the menu for the 1988 summer season of "Country Caravan" a 90-minute country music program produced by South Plains College in Levelland. "Country Caravan" is scheduled for a performance on June 24 in Muleshoe. Showtime is 8:30 p.m. in the new city park. Admission is free. Joe Carr, the "Caravan's" host, extends a hearty welcome as the show gets underway. The cast consists of students and faculty from South Plains College's unique country and bluegrass music program. The performance is being brought to Muleshoe by the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture.

'Country Caravan' Performance Scheduled Here June 24

Nostalgic country classics by such artists as Tammy Wynette and Ray Price and the current country hits of Reba McEntire and Randy Travis will highlight the 1988 edition of "Country Caravan," an unusual music show scheduled for a performance June 24 in Muleshoe. Sponsored by the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture, the show begins at 8:30 p.m. in the new city park, and is being conducted free of charge.

A production of South Plains College, Levelland, "Country Caravan" features nearly 40 country music classics and current chartbusters in 90 minutes of non-stop country music fun. Cast members are a troupe of talented SPC students, selected for the show through highly selective auditions, and faculty in SPC's country and bluegrass music degree program.

"Country music is more exciting than ever, and as a result "Country Caravan" is better than ever," says John Hartin, the show's general director who has been on the road with SPC's country music summer productions since they began in 1977. "We have a very talented group of singers, musicians, and dancers who will provide you with good old-fashioned family entertainment."

He feels that the 1988 version of "Country Caravan" reflects the country music industry trends going on in Nashville. "Current artists are reviving a lot of the country styles that were prevalent 15 or 20 years ago. And they are adding a different twist to the songs written and performed today. The songs we have come up with for the 1988 season represent major forces which have molded and built country music over the past 20 years."

For instance, "Country Caravan" features a medley of hits by artists such as Mel Tillis, Tammy Wynette, Ray Price, Kitty Wells, Ernest Tubb and others; and Elvis Presley number "Guitar Man," and Ritchie Valens' timeless hit, "La Bamba."

Current hits performed in the show include Reba McEntire's "The Last One To Know," "On The Other Hand" by Randy Travis and "Turn It Loose" by the Judds.

But, that's not all. "Country Caravan" also spotlights country gospels, the patriotic "Trilogy" by Loretta Lynn, and precision dancing with the return of the Caravan Cloggers. The Cloggers perform a traditional clogging number to Roy Clark's "Alabama Jubilee" and, for the first time, add a traditional square dance number to their routines.

The cast of "Country Caravan" also debut a new theme song this season -- a version of Tom T. Hall's notable song, "Country Is." "Tom T. Hall has become a great supporter and admirer of our educational program," said Hartin. "This song seemed to have all the elements that would lend itself to a great introduction."

"Country Caravan" is scheduled for a tour of 37 cities throughout Texas and Eastern New Mexico this spring and summer. By the time of the final performance July 4 in Levelland, the show will have logged more than 10,000 miles and performed for more than 25,000 country music fans.

"Country Caravan" is country music at its best; and we hope everyone can come out and enjoy the show," said Hartin. "We're here to entertain."

Pet, Inc. Dispute Sale Rumor

Pet Incorporated, the owners of Mountain Pass Canning in Anthony, Texas and makers of Old El Paso Mexican foods, is beginning an effort to inform customers, suppliers, employees, and other related parties that Mountain Pass Canning is not being sold.

An article in the June 3 issue of the El Paso Times indicated that Hatch Farms Inc. intended to buy M.P. Foods, a company currently marketing a Mountain Pass label of Mexican foods, principally in New Mexico and the western part of Texas. The title of the article was "Hatch farms to buy Mountain Pass."

Pet Incorporated is issuing an alert that the Mountain Pass referred to in the El Paso Times article is not Mountain Pass Canning, which Pet has owned since 1968. The Mountain Pass product currently on the market is not produced by Mountain Pass Canning.

Pet contends that the Mountain Pass name is being used wrongfully by Mr. Steven Dawson, a former employee and former broker of the company, and current president of both Hatch Farms Inc. and M.P. Foods.

Pet has sued Dawson and his company to stop him from using the Mountain Pass name. The case is pending, and is expected to come up for trial sometime in September of this year.

"People are confused," said Milford Oxford, Plant Manager of Mountain Pass Canning. "We want to resolve the problems arising from someone else using our name. We also want people to know that the Mountain Pass Canning is not being sold. We have more than 700 people at our operation. We have been here for many years, and we want our employees and our many loyal friends and customers in this part of the country to know that we plan to be here for a long time to come."

Protect Rural Structures From Risky Wildfires

Continuing dry conditions have increased the potential for wildfires which have destroyed farm buildings and other rural facilities in Texas and across the nation in recent weeks.

Homes and farm buildings in isolated rural areas are at high risk when a wildfire becomes a threat, said Carl Schattenberg, a forestry assistant with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service.

Fire prevention measures can be taken to guard against wildfire damage, although some of these procedures may be taken for granted until a wildfire becomes a reality, he cautioned.

'Think Safety' For A Vacation To Remember

Now that school is out, family vacations are just around the corner. The Texas Medical Association reminds you to "think safety" to help avoid some of the most common "accidents" that can spoil your vacation.

If you are driving long distances, you or a mechanic should give your car a thorough inspection. Check the brakes, battery, fluids, oil, and tires, including the spare.

Buckle up every time you get into the car. If you have toddlers, be sure to have child restraint seats -- not only for safety reasons, but also to allow the child to see outside and enjoy the ride more.

Being outdoors in the summer sun and heat can cause unpleasant side effects such as sunburn and heat exhaustion if you're not careful. Use a sunscreen whenever you plan to be outdoors -- even on cloudy days. Wear protective clothing such as t-shirts, hats, and sunglasses. Take the sun in small doses, and don't overexert yourself in the heat. Drink plenty of water to replace what you lose through perspiration.

Review first aid, pack accordingly for your trip, and remember to pack a first aid kit.

Finally, use your common sense and "think safety" to make your vacation accident free.

The Texas Medical Association is a professional organization with more than 28,000 physician and medical student members. It is located in Austin, and has 116 component county medical societies around the state.

"Basic guidelines exist that will help minimize property damage if a wildfire does occur," said Schattenberg, who is headquartered at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center at Overton.

A perimeter of 30 feet should be cleared around all buildings, removing weeds, debris, leaves and dried foliage from the ground, he recommended. Trees should be pruned so that branches are not within this 30 feet perimeter and area trees do not touch each other.

In addition, all trees should be pruned of dead limbs. Telephone lines should be pruned, Schattenberg said.

"Keep roofs clear of flammable debris such as dried foliage, leaves and twigs. Avoid building flat roofs that will allow such debris to collect," he said. Porches and attics should be enclosed or screened to keep hot embers from a fire out of buildings.

"A water supply outside of the home, accessible to pumps and hoses, is a necessity. The water supply can be in the form of a pond, cistern, well or faucet," Schattenberg said.

A 10-pound ABC-type all-purpose fire extinguisher should be kept in a convenient location easily accessible in rural homes should a fire occur, he said.

A garden hose is a useful fire fighting tool that should be kept adjacent when rural residents burn trash, since many wildfires begin as trash fires.

"All precautions should be taken before starting a trash fire, and never burn on a windy or extremely dry day," Schattenberg said.

"Remember, start a wild fire escapes and starts a trash fire, there are legal consequences that may be involved," he cautioned.

"If simple precautions are taken, such as a cleared perimeter around buildings, roofs free of debris, an adequate water supply provided, and safe trash burning procedures are followed, dangers of property losses from wildfires will be greatly minimized," Schattenberg said.

Notice To Taxpayers

Taxpayers in the Bailey County Appraisal District have an opportunity to protest values proposed for their property for local taxes. The property owner must file a written "notice of protest" with the Appraisal Review Board (ARB) before June 21, 1988. The district's Appraisal Review Board will begin hearing taxpayer protests on July 11, 1988.

Official forms for a notice of protest are available at the Bailey County Appraisal District office, 104 E. Avenue C, Muleshoe. A letter from the taxpayer is also acceptable as long as it identifies the property owner, the property which is the subject of protest, and indicates dissatisfaction with some decision or action of the appraisal office.

Each protesting taxpayer may offer evidence or argument either in person or by filing an affidavit with the ARB. Taxpayers should be aware that the ARB has no authority over tax rates or taxing unit spending and will not hear protests of those matters.

The ARB will schedule hearings as property owners file protests and will inform them of the time, date, and place of their individual hearings.

The State Property Tax Board has issued a pamphlet called "Taxpayer's Rights, Remedies, Responsibilities" available at the Bailey County Appraisal District office, 104 E. Avenue C, Muleshoe, which explains how to prepare and present an appeal to the ARB.

'Billy The Kid' Kicks Off An All New Season

The New Mexico Outdoor Drama Association, operators of the state built Caprock Amphitheatre near San Jon, N.M., are proud to announce that the popular historical drama "Billy The Kid" will begin its second season on June 16. The one hour and forty-five minute production will run each Thursday, Friday, and Saturday nights at 8:30, through August 20.

As in all drama productions, changes and additions keep the show fresh and exciting - so it is with "Billy The Kid." Many new faces will be seen, new or redesigned sets on stage, new lighting and sound plots, and an additional dance scene featuring authentic Mexican music and dances; these are some of the changes.

New faces include Kevin McNulty, the director whose background includes four years with the Air Force's "Tops In Blue" entertainment group. Brad Reynolds, who will star as Billy the Kid, was also with "Tops In Blue." This actor, dancer, musician, originally from Amarillo, Texas, is like McNulty, from Cannon Air Force Base near Clovis, N.M. Another Cannonite, Susan Serico from England, will join the show's technical crew.

The new choreographer is the lovable Rudy Ulibarri of Albuquerque, a 22 year veteran school instructor who took up folk dancing seriously in 1962. A graduate of the University of New Mexico, Rudy taught UNM's International Folk Dancers for many years and now heads a spin-off group called Rudy's International Folk Dancers. Rudy will bring to the "Billy The Kid" drama authentic Mexican folk dances and music.

Kathy McAlavy, wife of the playwright, Don McAlavy, has designed new costumes for the dancers and with the help of a host of volunteer seamstresses is constructing new costumes for the show. She will join the cast as a dancer and actress.

Of course a host of last year's actors and actresses are returning to again perform in roles they made notable. Steve Cormier, currently working on his Ph.D., returns as the wise Sheriff Pat Garrett. Mikal Deese, who like Cormier, lives at Santa Rosa, N.M. and returns as Susan McSween and the new duty of assistant director. George Langan, Jr. of Clovis, N.M. returns as the saloonkeeper, Beaver Smith, a role that delights the audiences. The heroine Abrana Garcia will again be played by the talented Jane McNulty of Clovis. Another Clovisite, Don McAlavy, will again portray the mean Deputy Sheriff Olinger. Others from last year's cast who will be returning in various roles are Tina George and Fred Fair of Portales, NM; Stacy Knapp and Ken Stenz, from Tucumcari. Wayne Buchanan, a musician and actor, lives at Bledsoe, Texas. Returning from Clovis are Jim Vercelline and John Atkinson. Atkinson joins the technical crew this year.

New actors and actresses include Lacy Langan of Farwell, Texas; Bill Strong of Fort Sumner; and from Tucumcari are Laura Love, Karla Kathman, Dave Nichols, and Jon Manning. Larry Buchanan of Floyd, NM will again be the balladeer and leader of the 1880 band. Larry has appeared in four western shot near Santa Fe since last summer.

The new scenic designer and painter is Monty Hicks of Devine, Texas, currently working on the set to give it more of the authentic 1880 appearance.

The 1000 seat Caprock Amphitheatre, whose parking lot and road into the site, are about to be paved, can easily be reached, inspite of the recent change in rural highway numbers. From I-40, at San Jon, exit 356 band take Highway 469 (old NM 39) and go twelve miles south to atop the Bluffs of the Llano Estacado (the caprock). From the south, and coming through Clovis, NM, take Highway 209 (old NM 18) to Grady. Turn north on Highway 469 and travel 15 miles to the site.

No reservations are necessary unless one comes with a group of 15 or more. Show tickets are extremely low priced: $6 for an adult, $3 for children under 12, $5 for Seniors 65 and older, and also $5 for members of a group of 15 or more. Groups should make at least a three week advance reservation by writing Billy The Kid, Caprock Amphitheatre, P.O. Box 337, San Jon, N.M. 88434, or by calling 1-505-576-2455. Evenings after 6 p.m. from June 16, call 1-505-576-2779 at the theatre. Barbecue starts at 6:30 with adult plates at $5 and children under 12 at $3.50.

Evenings at the Caprock can get cool, so bring a wrap.

Manage Lawn To Cut Your Water Bill

When the weather turns dry, don't just turn on your lawn sprinkler and then gripe about your water bill.

By watering, fertilizing and mowing your lawn properly, you can reduce your water bill as much as 40 percent, said a turfgrass specialist.

"Conservation by the homeowner provides the only solution to high water bills and excessive demands during our hot and usually dry Texas summers," said Dr. Richard Duple with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service.

In small cities where industrial demand for water is low, lawn watering may account for as much as half of all the water used during summer months. Even in larger cities, lawns get 30 to 40 percent of all the water supplied by municipalities.

"Most Texas lawns use about 2 inches of water per week during the summer, and most of this usually comes from irrigation," Duple said. "However, as little as 1 inch of water per week can keep lawns alive and green."

Exactly what can a homeowner do to reduce the summer water bill?

"First, water your lawn only when grass starts to show signs of drought stress," said Duple. "Look for discoloration and wilting. If leaves roll up in the late afternoon and footprints remain after walking across the lawn, then water within 24 hours."

"Once you've decided that your lawn needs watering, do it right," said the specialist. "Most homeowners don't water their lawns properly. They either water too often, causing grass to develop shallow roots and making it a prime target for insects, diseases and temperature extremes, or they water too infrequently and apply too much water at one time, resulting in a lot of runoff."

"When watering, soak the soil to a depth of 4 to 6 inches," Duple said. In heavy clay soils, watering for 15- to 20- minute periods may be necessary to prevent excessive runoff.

"Cutting back on lawn fertilization can also reduce watering," said Duple. Applying fertilizer in the spring and fall will generally keep your lawn healthy. Fertilizing during the summer, especially with nitrogen fertilizer, will green up your lawn, but it will also increase grass growth and water use.

"Mowing less often and cutting your grass at taller heights also will help keep your lawn in better shapes during hot, dry weather," said the specialist. "St. Augustinegrass lawns do well when mowed at a 3-inch height, and bermudagrass lawns can be cut at a 2-inch height."

Summer Highway Work Poses Many Safety Hazards

The highways of Texas will be more crazy than lazy and hazy this summer. Summer is construction season, and soon increasing numbers of the familiar concrete barriers and orange traffic cones will provoke driver dismay all over the state.

But the temporary lower speed limits around work zones aren't sinister plot to tie you up in traffic, and slowing down to the posted speed is not the mark of a wimp. Just look at the facts.

In the past three years, 58,291 accidents occurred in construction areas on Texas streets and roads. Of those accidents, 386 resulted in deaths.

"Construction and maintenance workers and managers want good traffic flow through construction areas, since that means fewer headaches and complaints," says Roger Welsch, the state highway department's deputy director for design and construction.

"But reduced speeds must be posted for many reasons: narrowed lanes, increased congestion, construction equipment, decreased stopping distance, and the danger posed by rubbernecking drivers," he explains.

Remember the last time you stopped by the side of a road? Recall the buffeting of the wind as cars and trucks zoomed past. Consider the damage a vehicle could do to you if the driver made just a slight miscalculation. Now imagine yourself in a highway worker's safety vest, working all day by the edge of the road, intent upon your task, while autos zip by at high speed.

Slowing down and staying extra alert in these zones is a courtesy toward the men and women who do the risky work of improving highways. In this work environment, they can do little to protect themselves from reckless motorists; they must depend on the public to drive safely.

"Maintaining our roadways is of utmost importance," Welsch said. "The highway department is still catching up from years of low funding, when construction and repairs had to be deferred." At any one time this summer, 15,000 miles of state roadway will be undergoing work ranging from resurfacing to complete reconstruction. City and county road departments will also be active.

Though road work is a nuisance, think what would happen if the work were curtailed. Soon potholes, congestion, crumbling pavement, wornout bridges, and other problems would slow you down everywhere.

So when you see "Reduced Speed Ahead" or "Slow" signs branched by construction workers, drive friendly.

They're just doing it for their health -- and yours.

they won't mix.
