OUR GOOD NEIGHBORS IN THE HILLS

The devastation wrought in the mountains cannot be imagined until one has been there and seen for himself. And only then can one realize the terrible beating and setback the mountain people have taken.

Although we did not go deep into the mountains, we were in the Sacramento over the week end and saw part of the destruction done by water in the floods, especially that along the Lower Pecos. But having seen that, we can realize how bad it was other places of which we have been told. The other places are easier to picture in the mind now.

Citizens of the Artesia community and the mountain people have been on the best of terms for many years, each group taking the other more or less for granted.

But the time has come when we of the valley, who suffered but little from the water, should look upon our friends in the hills with more consideration.

A bushel of apples purchased will not provide much money for our friends, but if all of us would purchase whatever we can use from the remaining stocks in the mountains, we would be doing a Christian deed, as well as receiving our money's worth. Of course, there are many persons in the mountains who have nothing to sell; the flood took it all!

And besides, they are mighty good apples; we know. In fact we substituted a load of apples for a deer, but we did our best.

WE SALUTE GOVERNOR MILES

Although we do not know any of the details as yet, we salute Governor John E. Miles and his move to coordinate traffic and safety measures in New Mexico, by means of the governor's coordinating traffic and safety committee and the New Mexico Safety Council.

It seems to us that his plan is one of the best which could have been advanced, whereby the leaders in many movements are brought together in a common organization with safety its principal object.

Already the governor has conferred with Lew Wallace of Chicago, legislative administrative consultant of the National Safety Council, making plans for the New Mexico organization and for a series of meetings.

We will look forward with considerable interest to the development of the plan, which we will back to the limit in the governor's efforts to make New Mexico a safer place in which to live.

A NAVY WITHOUT MEN? PREPOSTEROUS!

One of the follies in the national defense program is that of drafting men for the Army, at the same time building a two-ocean Navy, for which there is inadequate personnel without resorting to the draft system of obtaining men.

But the condition does exist, so we must depend on the hard-working recruiting men to build up the Navy roster to where it should be and where it must be, for with world conditions as they are today, it is imperative that our country be equipped with a Navy second to none.

Upon the shoulders of every American citizen deriving the benefits of liberty, equality and the pursuit of happiness rests a patriotic obligation in the days to come.

In practically every generation in the history of the United States, patriots have been called to the colors to preserve the right of freedom. The present generation is no exception, for we are faced with the necessity of arming ourselves to the extent where no power or combination of powers can dictate to us whether we shall be a free people or suffer under the heel of ruthlessness.

It behooves the young men of the United States, those who know they sooner or later will be called to the colors, to consider the Navy at this time, weighing well the advantages to be derived from joining and learning some trade, at the same time helping to stave off the aggressor nations.

As more and more ships come off the ways, more and more men are needed. Let it never be said that the United States had the finest navy the world ever had seen—but could not operate it for want of men.

In order to encourage young men at least to look into the opportunities and requirements of the U. S. Navy, there is printed on this page a blank, which, when filled out and mailed to the U. S. Navy Recruiting Station, Carlbad, will bring information posthaste. Do it now!

WORRY! WORRY! WORRY!

We always have something to worry about; if it isn't one thing it's another.

And now it's preachers! Sometimes it is hard enough to identify a preacher who has done something or other, for everybody does not get to know them of all denominations as well as do we, and persons not belonging to a clergyman's church may not know what his name is, or with what church he is connected. So they refer to an individual either as "Preacher Jones," or "That preacher—oh, you know—the one with glasses," and it is up to us to figure out just who did what.

And now, we presume, in such cases it will be "Preacher Morgan," whether it be the pastor of the Baptist Church or the pastor of the Methodist Church.

Of course, we are happy to welcome Roy Morgan, new Methodist pastor, and we in no way mean to imply that we aren't happy to have two Morgans helping to keep the people of Artesia in the paths of righteousness, for we are happy and they're both fine fellows.

But doggone, we have to worry about something. Try writing something as cockeyed as some of the paintings that the artists win prizes with. Then see how many prizes you will get.—Albuquerque Journal.

The Golden Text is: "Put off concerning the former conversation the old man, which is corrupt according to the deceitful lusts; and be renewed in the spirit of your mind."—(Eph. 4:22,23.)

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "And be not conformed to this world; but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect will of God."—(Rom. 12:2.)

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook: "The necessity for uplifting the race is father to the fact that Mind can do it; for Mind can impart purity instead of impurity, strength instead of weakness, and health instead of disease."

Morgan Takes—

start out to be a preacher. Born at Gaylord, Kan., he went to Colorado at the age of 10 years with his parents and was reared on a cattle ranch in the southwest part of that state. He was 21 years old when he decided to study for the ministry, at which time a neighbor remarked that "a good cowboy was being spoiled to make a preacher."

Dr. Morgan's pastorates included: Atwood, Merino and Willard circuit in Colorado, 1916-19; Fort Lupton, Colo., 1919-24; Delta, Colo., 1924-27; Arvada, Colo., 1927-30; Lamar, Colo., 1930-35; Las Vegas, N. Mex., 1935-39; Santa Fe, 1939-41.

With the new pastor here is Mrs. Morgan, who takes an interested and active part in the church. She likewise is a graduate of the University of Denver. They have three daughters, all of whom are mature and live elsewhere. They are Miss Frances L. Morgan, a teacher at Clayton, N. Mex.; Pearl, Mrs. Verlon Davis, Springer, N. Mex., and Miss Mildred E. Morgan, a nurse at Colorado Springs, Colo.

While Dr. Morgan was pastor at Santa Fe, he also was district superintendent of the New Mexico Mission of the Methodist Episcopal Church until the time of the merger of the Methodist Church in 1939. He is a frequent contributor to The Upper Room, devotional quarterly of the Methodist Church, and is an occasional contributor to The Christian Advocate, general publication for the church, published in Chicago.

The name of Dr. Morgan is to appear in the next issue of "Religious Leaders of America," the "Who's Who" among the clergy. The publication is to come off the press late this year for 1942.

While pastor at Arvada, Colo., the Rev. Dr. Morgan built a church and he built parsonages at Fort Lupton and Delta, Colo.

He is a Mason and was an active member of the Rotary Club while pastor of St. John's Methodist Church at Santa Fe, just prior to coming to Artesia.

At the time of his appointment to Artesia, The Santa Fe New Mexican said editorially of Dr. Morgan:

"It is with regret that Santa Fe learns that the Rev. I. L. Morgan, pastor of St. John's Methodist Church, has been transferred to other fields. The conference announced Tuesday that the Rev. Dr. Morgan has been assigned to the Methodist Church at Artesia.

"In the four years that the Rev. Mr. Morgan has been in Santa Fe, he has become an integral part of the community. He has taken an active part in every project which has had for its object the betterment of the Capital City. He is active in the Rotary Club and in Boy Scout work and his counsel and sound Christian judgment have endeared him to all who were fortunate enough to know him.

"Santa Fe's loss, however, is Artesia's gain and in leaving, both the Rev. Mr. Morgan and his wife take with them the best wishes of the citizens of the Ancient City."

Junior Women Are Sponsoring A Toy Library

Plans for a toy library, whereby toys will be circulated somewhat after the manner of books, have been completed by the Junior Woman's Club, which expects to open the project for boys and girls up to and including 10 years old on Saturday, Nov. 29. The location is to be announced later.

A "toy tea" is to be held at the Woman's Club building Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 25, at which time the public, young and old, is invited. Those who care to may bring toys at that time. Mrs. H. H. Bryant, Mrs. Olen Featherstone and Mrs. Phillip Kranz are to be in charge of the tea.

Already a number of firms have donated toys to the library and others are expected to respond, and civic clubs are being asked to donate also. Any firm, club or individual wishing to put a toy in the library is asked to contact Mrs. Kranz or Mrs. Delbert Swindle. Each toy will bear the name of the firm donating it.

Another phase of the toy library is the gathering of used toys by Boy Scouts and their repair by members of the fire department.

Under the rules, only boys and girls up to and including 10 years may become members of the library, which will be open from 1 to 5 o'clock each Saturday afternoon. A member may check out only one toy a week and it must be returned the next Saturday after it is obtained. Provided it is kept over time, a fine of a penny a day will be charged and if a toy is damaged other than reasonable wear, the member who borrowed it must pay for it.

If a member moves, he must notify the library of his new address, and the same applies to a change in telephone number.

And here is what will help make the youngsters take care of borrowed toys: If he fails to follow the rules, he may lose his membership.

What to Serve When A Committee Meets

No matter who you are, or where you live, or what you have to do, there's always some way to get more out of life. For instance, the engagement pad says there's a committee meeting at 11. And who wants to go, for 11 o'clock is that in-between hour when spirits lag and the long wait for lunch seems endless? One astute hostess who heads many important committees realized the reason so many members were late or lacked enthusiasm was because of this morning let-down. So she decided to try an experiment and serve coffee and a light accompaniment at these meetings.

The result was startling. The committee members arrived on time—enjoyed the "coffee and," and dispatched the business with energy and enthusiasm. The coffee was freshly made in a small drip urn and served from an attractive table right in the committee room. And with it was passed an assortment of hot breads, kept hot on a big electric plate warmer. Little coffee cakes, cinnamon buns, fruit and nut muffins and nut fingers were among the favorites. The friendly gesture of this thoughtful hostess could well be extended so that all committees get more out of life.

Nut fingers: 2 cups flour, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 4 tablespoons shortening, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 egg, 1/4 cup milk, 1/4 cup finely chopped nut meats.

Sift the dry ingredients; cut in the four tablespoons of shortening until the consistency of coarse cornmeal. Moisten with the egg, slightly beaten and combined with the milk; mix until blended. Transfer to a board dusted with flour; and roll into oblong shape one-fourth inch in thickness. Divide in halves; spread one-half with the chopped nuts and butter combined. Cover with the second half; press the edges together; and cut in finger length strips. Transfer to an oiled shallow pan; and bake in a hot oven, 400-degrees F., for fifteen minutes, or until brown on top.

Elmo Naylor, Melvin Murphy, Ed Shockey and J. W. Brown, all employees of the Southwestern Public Service Company here, drove to Dallas Friday to see the Southern Methodist University-University of Texas football game there Saturday, in which Texas won 34 to 0. The party returned home Sunday.

Miss Linell Is Pledged to the Delta Tau Kappa

Miss Peggy Linell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Linell of Artesia, has pledged the Archos Council of Delta Tau Kappa, the honorary leadership fraternity of the Colorado Woman's College in Denver, Colo.

Miss Linell was pledged to Hauto and Hegator, the two councils which prepared her for the final degree, and upon her entry into Archos, the last council, she becomes a full-fledged member of Delta Tau Kappa.

She also was chosen literary editor of The Skyline, the college annual. During the week end of Oct. 25, she attended the Rocky Mountain intercollegiate press convention held on the University of Colorado campus in Boulder, Colo. As one of the three delegates from Colorado Woman's College, she attended business meetings and various social functions held for all delegates.

Universally hailed as the greatest grid star of them all, husky Tom Harmon, swivel-hipped football idol of America, punts and passes his way into the Ocotillo Theater next Tuesday through Thursday in Columbia's exciting new film, "Harmon of Michigan". Aply supported by such football greats as Forest Evashevski, also of Michigan, Nick Lukats of Notre Dame, Ambrose Schindler of U.S.C. and many others, Harmon is said to provide even more thrills on the screen than he ever brought to the playing field.

Hollywood reports that in spite of its line-up of football heroes, "Harmon of Michigan" is not just another football picture. Filmed against a stirring background of collegiate life, the story dramatically deals with an All-American star after his graduation! The way in which he meets the propositions offered him by tin horn gamblers and big time sports promoters, furnishes the basis for what is said to be a thrill-packed, heart-warming yarn certain to meet with the approval of motion picture fans everywhere.

The film has been hailed for its breath-taking opening scenes, which show some of the most exciting moments from Harmon's final games for Michigan. It then goes on to the star's graduation and marriage to lovely Anita Louise, who plays the feminine lead.

The cotton country, with its pest-killing boll weevil, is no place for a mink raiser, H. L. Hughes of El Paso decided. Arsenic scattered to eradicate the cotton pest was blamed for the death of 300 minks the former Philadelphian was raising. He said the minks—what's left of them—are moving to the New Mexico mountains.

Deer Hunters

(continued from page 1) P. Evans Store, where size does not count and where a sleeping bag will go to someone registering and weighing in his deer.

At the Brainard-Corbin Hardware Company store, where many of the deer are eliminated, because the prize of a gasoline camp stove will go to the registered person having killed the heaviest buck with six points or less, seven had been registered.

However, one of the deer registered there, a buck killed by Willis Rowland and weighing 176 pounds drawn, was of unusual size for one of no more than six points and probably stands a good chance to win the stove.

The prize buck to date was one of the first ones killed, and it was found low in the mountains and was the first one weighed in Saturday. The buck, weighing 200 pounds at the L. P. Evans Store, was killed by W. T. Santo on the Crockett ranch at Elk, only about a mile from Highway 83.

It was to the effect that they be advised, when paid off, each man should have a medical examination and have it filed with his county clerk for future reference if and whenever needed.

Power Line

(continued from page 1) system, Roswell to Carlsbad, with power plants at those two cities. Artesia is being fed from both ends and all is tied in together.

Although the old line also was carrying 33,000 volts, the new one was built for more efficient service and looking ahead to growth of the valley communities, when more capacity may be needed, Williams said.

The Southwestern bought electric systems in the entire Pecos Valley in 1925, since which time it has continued to improve the plant, keeping up with the development of the country and "striving continuously to improve service, insofar as humanly possible for Artesia and the Pecos Valley," Williams said.

Mrs. Turner

As Agnes A. Hart, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hart, Mrs. Turner was born Nov. 26, 1863, at Detroit, Mich. She married Mancil E. Turner July 7, 1880, in Butler County, Pennsylvania. To them were born four children, of whom the three mentioned survive.

Mr. and Mrs. Turner came to the valley in 1922 and settled at Hope. However, they moved a year later to Artesia and lived here a number of years. While living in Eddy County, Mr. Turner ranched at Hope and was interested in the oil business at Artesia. They lived at Pale Verde the last seven years.

Mrs. Turner was reared an Episcopalian, but joined the Presbyterian Church after her marriage to Mr. Turner. However, she was reconfirmed into the Episcopal Church in September by the Rt. Rev. F. B. Bartlett, bishop, when he made his official call in Southeast New Mexico. Bishop Bartlett called at her home for the confirmation.

N. M. Baird returned home last Thursday from a business trip to Santa Fe, Hot Springs and El Paso on company business with W. C. Williamson, attorney for the Republic Production Company out of the Houston office.

Mrs. Arma Eghbert of Alamogordo arrived Saturday for a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Howard Whitson, and Mr. Whitson for a few days.

Gateway Bowl

Many sports observers here believe the vote will be in favor of the rule change, for in the past few schools have been opposed to Artesia's annual sports event or have signified that they would not be interested in case they were invited to play. Others are not so optimistic.

It is almost certain the two counties last year, Hobbs and Clayton, and those of 1939, Jal and Silver City, are strongly in favor of the game. Jal winner of the 1939 game, already is looking forward to another invitation this year.

LOCAL BOWLERS KEEP UP WINNING STREAK

The Pior Ruber Company bowling team is continuing its winning streak in the league at Carlsbad, hung up two more the last week and now has a record of twelve in succession out of thirteen games in the winter series, defeating the Jeeps last Thursday evening and the Cavern team on Sunday.

In the games Sunday Bud Jenkins rolled high series score for the league with 516, while Chuck Johns had the high individual game, bowling 240. The team total Sunday was 2,508 points.
