Philly Zoo Wants Wolves From Here, Four-Legged Kind

Philadelphia's zoo is interested in securing some wolves, the four-legged kind. In a recent inquiry to the Artesia Chamber of Commerce they sought information as to where they might be able to purchase one or more wolves for the zoo.

Anyone who might be interested, is requested to contact the Chamber of Commerce office.

Dave Moore, manager, explained he and his secretary's experience was all with the two-legged kind rather than the other.

H. J. Dollinger Will Be Speaker At Chamber Luncheon Tuesday

H. J. Dollinger, who is to be the special speaker for the May luncheon of the Artesia Chamber of Commerce set for noon Tuesday, May 20, on the Roof Garden of the Artesia Hotel, is assistant manager of the Southwestern Division of the Chamber of Commerce.

a special study recently made by the National Chamber to determine what effect educational levels have upon standards of living in various parts of the United States and in various foreign countries. This study has revealed some surprising facts, and has proved so illuminating that the results are being given wide circulation among business men and educators throughout the nation.

It is expected that the luncheon here will be a joint affair with the Artesia Rotary club joining with the Chamber of Commerce for the session. The Rotary club meets on Tuesday noon, but will meet next week at the Roof Garden instead of at Skinnie Drive-In. Reservations will be made for the Rotarians, since this number is known, but all members of the Chamber of Commerce are being urged to make their reservations for the meeting with the Chamber of Commerce office.

Indications are there will be a splendid attendance for the luncheon here. Those not members of the two civic groups are invited to attend if they desire. All they need to do is notify the Chamber of Commerce and request a reservation be made for them.

Dollinger is a graduate of the National Institute for Commercial Organization Executives at Northwestern University and a veteran of over 20 years experience in Chamber of Commerce work.

Contract Is Let For Highway Gap On Mayhill Road

A contract for miscellaneous construction including an asphalt base on four and a half miles of Highway No. 83 between Mayhill and Artesia and which must be approved by the Federal Public Road Administration has been let to D. D. Skousen of Albuquerque for $229,188.20, it has been announced by the State Highway Commission.

The contract was let on Friday when bids for approximately $800,000 worth of highway construction were opened.

Although no detailed description of the proposed work to be done between the end of the paving west of Hope on Highway No. 83 and Mayhill has been announced, it is presumed that besides the four miles of paving other work to be done is placing the highway in condition for laying of additional blacktop. Just where the four miles of asphalt base will be laid on the route also has not been announced, but since Mayhill is mentioned, it is expected this will be just this side of Mayhill. This part of the highway is ready for the paving.

From the end of the present paving, which is approximately 50 miles west of Artesia, to Mayhill considerable work has to be done before paving can be laid.

Assurance has been given, however, that all of Highway No. 83 would be completed during the present administration. Besides the laying of the paving between the end of the present paving and Mayhill there is approximately another 18 miles to Clouderfoot besides the highway down the west side of the Sacramento to where Highway No. 83 junctions with Highway 70.

Some announcements have declared that it is proposed to use the railroad bed going down the (continued last page this section)

Artesia Scouts Win First-Aid Area Contest

The first aid team representing Boy Scout Troop 28 of Artesia, winner in the Gateway District first-aid contest, won the contest for the Eastern New Mexico Area Council in Roswell Saturday, defeating six other teams.

The Artesia boys made 450 out of a possible 500 points. Competing with them were teams of Boy Scouts from Tucumcari, Roswell, Carlsbad, Hobbs, Carrizozo, and Portales.

The Boy Scouts from Artesia were David Dillard, Star Scout and patrol leader in charge; Norvil Howell, Star Scout; Kirk McCarter and Kirk Jordan, First-Class Scouts, and John Thomas Easley, Tenderfoot.

They were accompanied to the contest by J. T. Easley, John Thomas Easley's father.

Business Executives Of Fort Worth Are To Visit Artesia May 29

Artesia will be on the third-day schedule of the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce business executives' tour of West Texas and Eastern New Mexico, the members of which are to arrive here by special train at 4:05 o'clock Thursday afternoon, May 29.

"We are reviving our business executives tour of West Texas and New Mexico which was suspended during the war years," Gaylord J. Stone, tour chairman, said. "It is our desire to meet the business leaders of the 26 cities we are visiting and to discuss with them problems of mutual interest for the development of this vast neighboring region."

Among other prominent Fort Worth men among the 150 scheduled to make the trip are Melvin J. Miller, president of the Fort Worth Chamber of Commerce, and William Holden, vice president.

Visitors Find It Costly To Drive Here Intoxicated

Three out-of-town men were fined $150 each and their licenses were revoked for a period of 12 months when they appeared before City Judge J. D. Josey this week for driving automobiles while intoxicated.

They were Theodore Van Vleet, Harold Lewis, and James Tucker. Virgil F. Adams, who was accompanying Tucker, was brought into court along with him and fined $25.

It was pointed out to the men that Artesia is a friendly city however, it does not welcome this type of visitor and the city police force will strive to prove this fact by arresting and pressing heavy punishment against such visitors, as well as local citizens who disobey the laws of the city.

T. H. Jackson, Ira D. Dilworth, and Willis Nary, local Negro residents, were fined $50, $25, and $15 respectively for carrying deadly weapons.

Drunk and disorderly conduct charges were pressed against two women in the justice of peace court of Judge Josey Tuesday.

The defendants were Inez Snyder Britain and Dorothy Walker, who were both fined $20 and costs.

James L. Hemphill was fined $25 Monday, having been found guilty of giving liquor to a minor.

Saturday night's round-up of drunks and persons charged with disorderly conduct found five (continued last page this section)

Farmers Given Figures About School Budget

About 50 members of the Eddy County Farm and Livestock Bureau Monday evening heard from Leslie Martin, a county budget commissioner, what he termed "astounding figures" in regard to the 1946-47 school budget, on which a hearing was held in Carlsbad Monday of last week.

At the meeting last week Martin declared that "we are building up things in our schools that we can't maintain."

Reiterating the statement at the meeting here Monday evening, Martin brought out the high administrative costs of the Eddy County schools.

He said that at the budget hearing the school officials had budgets set up which would take all of the current available tax monies plus approximately $360,000 which has been set up over the last few years as a reserve for emergencies.

Martin told the farmers and ranchers that the budget officials were able at the meeting to cut the spending to a point where about half of the reserve was kept for future use.

He declared that for the coming year the Carlsbad and Artesia superintendents raised their salaries $1000 each to $6800 and $6400 respectively. And, Martin added, (continued last page this section)

Meetings Called To Organize Oil Mill Co-Operative

Two farmers' meetings have been called for the next week to further the organization of the Pecos Valley Co-operative Oil Mill, to which a little more than the $200,000 in shares has been subscribed.

The meetings will be at 8 o'clock Friday and Monday evenings, respectively at Atoka School and Cottonwood School.

It is expected that Virgil Grantham of Roswell, president, will be present at the meetings.

Tom Hymer of Artesia, one of the organizers, will explain to the interested farmers the plans of the organization and how it will operate.

He was present Monday evening at a meeting of the Eddy (continued last page this section)

Tucumcari Man Named Commander Of USWV At State Encampment Here

At the closing session here Friday of the two-day New Mexico department encampment of the United Spanish War Veterans, E. A. Haggard of Tucumcari was elected and installed state commander to succeed George Frisch of Artesia.

Upon invitation from the new commander, Tucumcari was selected for the 1947 convention.

The members passed two important resolutions at the business sessions, which were held on the Roof Garden of the Artesia Hotel, both directed towards bringing about further benefits for veterans of the Spanish-American War.

In one they voted to prevail upon the members of the New Mexico Congressional delegation to support and vote for legislation whereby a 20 per cent increase in pensions "across the board" be provided for Spanish-American War veterans and their dependants.

The other two trips include both Texas and New Mexico towns and cities.

The other calls for the Veterans Administration to provide unlimited hospital rights to veterans of the Spanish-American War.

John White of Dallas, Tex., national commander-in-chief of the USWV, was represented at the encampment by Jackson H. Daugherty, also of Dallas, a member of the organization's national committee on legislation, who served as installing officer.

W. J. Halthusen of Albuquerque was elected senior vice commander, and John Vandagriff of Artesia, junior vice commander.

W. J. Monical of Hagerman, who served as junior vice commander the last year, was first elected senior vice commander, but he declined to serve. Halthusen was then elected in his stead.

Appointments made by Commander Haggard: Chief of staff, J. B. Priddy, Portales; adjutant-quartermaster, Ira J. Briscoe, Tucumcari; judge advocate, Edwin Mehen, Las Cruces; surgeon, Dr. LeRoy Jones, Old Albuquerque; patriotic instructor, Henry L. Mershon, Albuquerque; marshal, George Corneille, Albuquerque; historian, George Curry, Lincoln.

The banquet was last Thursday evening at the IOOF Hall, served by members of the Rebekah Lodge, at which an air of informality prevailed, with Commander Frisch presiding as toastmaster.

A short address of welcome was given by Mayor A. P. Mahone, who also had welcomed the USWV at the opening session that morning.

Rules And Prizes For Model Plane Contest June 1 Announced By NAA

Complete rules and a list of prizes for the model airplane contest to be staged Sunday afternoon, June 1, at the Artesia municipal airport by the Artesia chapter of the National Aeronautic Association, were announced this week by Oscar Bayer, chairman.

Serving with Bayer and assisting in working out the rules were Dean Martin and Bob Collins.

Bayer said everyone is eligible to enter the various classes of the contest, except the members of the committee and the judges.

However, anyone who has so-logged an airplane and holds a student permit or private pilot license will be ineligible for the grand prize, which will be a solo flight course, offered by Hazel Flying Service. Likewise, the winner of the capital prize must be 15 years old or older, in order to take advantage of the offer, because present regulations of the Civil Aeronautics Administration provide that the holder of a student permit must be 16 years old.

Besides the grand prize, first prize will be a class "C" gasoline engine, second, a class "B" engine, and third, a class "A" engine, while in the rubber powered class the first prize will be a carbon dioxide powered engine. Many other prizes also are being offered.

The committee chairman announced there are three general classes, one each for solid models, rubber powered models, and gasoline powered models.

The gasoline powered class is broken down into free-flight and control-line models, and each of them into models using "A," "B," and "C" engines.

All models will be judged separately on workmanship and detail and, in the case of flying models, on speed or length of flight.

Bayer said solid models will be judged especially on detail. He pointed out that a greater amount of detail can be built into solid models than the flying models.

The rubber powered models will be judged on length of flight. They are to be hand launched.

The free-flight gasoline models are to be set to spiral and will be judged on the basis of 20 seconds of sustained flight and the length of sustained flight.

The chairman said control-line models are to have control lines 50 feet long. They will be judged on speed.

Many people in the Artesia community have taken an interest in model airplane building and many are planning to compete in the various classes. Bayer pointed out there still is time for planning and completing model planes in time to enter them in the contest.

Entries are being taken by (continued last page this section)

Recruiting Officer Points Out To Seniors Education Offered By Army

T/Sgt. Preston Triplett, local Army recruiting officer, has been pointing out to members of the Artesia High School graduating class the advantages of being offered to young men by the Army and urging them to consider an enlistment in the service after graduation.

The campaign being staged here by Sergeant Triplett is part of a nationwide appeal being made by the Army to young men just graduating from high school, offering them further education while serving and helping to maintain a peacetime Army of 1,070,000 men.

The sergeant is pointing out to the Artesia graduates that through the U.S. Armed Forces Institute they may continue their studies while in the Army. The institute, he said, is one of the greatest educational institutions in the world, with its campus spread throughout the United States and into many foreign countries.

In it the young man is offered technical courses, college courses, and specialized courses, through standard texts, self-teaching texts, or correspondence courses.

Sergeant Triplett said some of the courses are helpful in preparing for college and that should a (continued last page this section)

Clovis Boosters Plan Visit To Artesia May 27

Clovis Goodwill Boosters of the Clovis Chamber of Commerce have scheduled a visit to Artesia on Tuesday, May 27, two days before the "goodwillers" from Fort Worth are to visit the oil city.

The Clovis group has scheduled an hour and a half stop in Artesia and will take lunch here. They are slated to arrive in Artesia at 12:35 and are to leave here then at 1:25.

Whether arrangements will be made to entertain the visitors at the noon hour had not been announced.

Clovis is planning three good-will trips on May 27, 28 and 29. On the day the visit Artesia they also are to stop in Elda, Kenna, Roswell, Dexter, Hagerman, Lovington, Carlsbad, Hobbs, Tatum, and Portales.

The other two trips include both Texas and New Mexico towns and cities.

Baccalaureate Exercises To Be On Sunday

Baccalaureate exercises for the 1947 graduating class of Artesia High School will be at 8 o'clock Sunday evening in the school auditorium, with Rev. S. L. Morgan, pastor of the First Baptist Church, delivering the sermon.

Commencement is to be staged at 8 o'clock Friday evening of next week in the auditorium. Dr. H. G. Gossard, professor of education at Eastern New Mexico College, Portales, will be the commencement speaker.

A partial list of the graduates, of whom there are to be 96, will be found in a box on page 5 in the second section. However, the names of Rosemary Martin, Pauline McCauley, Nadeen Ross, Jack Ward, Travis Kelly, and Marjorie Sammons were inadvertently omitted from the list. Lisewis, Joe Gilbert, who is named there, although a senior is not a candidate for graduation.

The baccalaureate program: Processional, high school orchestra; invocation, Rev. Kenneth Tuttle, pastor of the First Christian Church; music, "The Beatitudes," by Carl E. Superintendent Kerr has asked that members of the congregation remain seated during the recessional.

Telephone Strike Ends At Midnight On Wednesday

The telephone strike in Artesia is over.

It ended officially at 12 o'clock last night, May 14, and it is expected that normal service will prevail here.

The telephone strike, which started here on Monday, April 7, has seen pickets on duty at the local office from that date until the end of the strike.

Artesia has been extremely fortunate, it has been pointed out, because it has enjoyed what many have described as above normal service on the local calls during the strike. Only emergency long distance calls have been handled.

The local manager, maintenance crew members, the chief operators and supervisors, with the aid of those who did not go on strike, plus the aid of many of the former operators, made the service possible here.

Choral Club Spring Concert Friday To Have Guest Dancers

The Artesia Choral Club is having final rehearsals for the annual spring concert, which will be presented in the auditorium of Artesia High School at 8 o'clock Friday evening.

The entire motif is to be Latin American and Mexican and will be presented in native costumes.

Guest artists on the program will be a group of 20 dancers from the Harding-Webster School of Dance at Carlsbad, who recently appeared in a splendid recital at Carlsbad in elaborate costumes, which they will wear at the concert here Friday evening. Their accompanist is Helen Webster.

Members of the Artesia Choral Club and six men assisting are being directed by Geneva Smith. Joanna Gerhardt is the accompanist.

Soloists include A. Lynn, Mrs. H. O. Miller, and Marinelle Sagan. Sue and Kay Booker will be heard in flute and marimba respectively.

The staging of the presentation is being done by Sybil Pior, while scenic scenery has been designed and executed by Helen Pies. Margaret Bildstone is in charge of make-up.

Commenting on the Latin American motif, Mrs. Ross said, "We really wish to understand people we must do more than learn facts about them. We must feel as they do. And perhaps the quickest and best way to do that is to sing their songs—the songs which have been sung by their families generation after generation. That is why we are presenting this program.

"Our songs have not been chosen with the idea of including an equal number of songs from each Latin American country. It is more important that we know those songs which are traditional and popular in many countries."

Countries whose music will be represented on the program are Brazil, Chili, Venezuela, Peru, Argentina, Spain, and Mexico. Contrary to rumors, all numbers will be sung in English and not Spanish.

The Choral Club has announced a change in the program from what was originally intended, with word received from Santa Fe that the professional dancers from there who were to have appeared cannot fill the engagement in Artesia.

The members feel, however, fortunate that the services of the group of 20 dancers from the Harding-Webster School of Dance were obtained.

School Building Program Is To Start At Once, Board Decides

The Artesia Board of Education decided at a meeting Monday night to start a building program, which has been planned some times and involves six buildings.

Highest on the priority list is a four-room addition to Park school, while a two-room addition to Oilfield School would make a total of four additional classrooms to be available as soon as possible.

Some of the proposed buildings are to be on a permanent basis, including the Park and Oilfield School additions.

A band room is to be temporary, as third on the list. It will be located on the high school grounds.

Next in order of priority is an administration building, also to be on the high school premises, and to be a permanent structure.

A one-room, temporary addition to Carver School, Negro, is fifth on the priority list.

A northside school building is planned, to be either permanent or temporary, whichever is found to be the better in the near future, and depending somewhat on the costs, the board decided.

The board met again Tuesday with the architects, Roy Vorhees and Frank Standhardt of Roswell, who were instructed to proceed immediately with the plans for the proposed buildings, starting with the Park and Oilfield School additions.

At the meeting Monday, the board voted that periodic inspections be made of all school buses, in order to better insure the safety of students.

Approval was given for the employment of two persons during the summer months to assist with music at salaries not to exceed $100 each. However, the board disapproved further transportation for music pupils from the oil fields during the summer.

It was decided the Artesia school janitors should participate in a janitors' school, to be conducted in Carlsbad May 28-29, with the board allowing their expenses.

W. E. Kerr, superintendent, discussed with the board the matter of principals' salaries in relation to other salaries, and the board registered no reason for making any change in the schedule.

Permission was granted by the board for the holding at Central School of the Union Vacation Daily Bible School for two weeks starting May 26.

The board authorized advertising for bids on musical instruments and furniture and equipment as provided for in the budget.

With First Concert Big Success, Band Seeks Funds To Continue

On the heels of the first concert of the new Artesia municipal band, which was received with enthusiasm last Thursday evening in Central Park, an active campaign for funds to make the band permanent and insure future concerts has been started, with early reports from members of the band committee reporting good response.

The question of whether Artesia desires such a musical organization was answered by citizens of the community, many of whom called the concert last Thursday one of the best presented here in a number of years.

Highlights of the concert last week were the singing, with band accompaniment, of "The Holy City" by A. Lynn Myers, and a recital solo by Ed Haralson.

The municipal band was planned shortly after the first of the year, but feelers in regards to funds seemed necessary for its existence brought forth little encouragement, so local musicians decided to go ahead with what music and instruments were available and to give at least one concert, which developed into the performance last week.

Under the direction of Franklyn L. Wiltse, high school instrumental music instructor, the band rehearsed only about a month in preparation for the initial concert.

After the enthusiastic reception last Thursday evening, a committee consisting of Clarence Fischbeck, Glenn Caskey, Paul Dillard, Tony King, band president, and W. W. Ports, vice president, started a campaign for funds Friday morning, striving to raise about $3000.

It was pointed out that amount would be needed in order to buy needed equipment for the band, buy music, and pay the conductor a reasonable salary.

Among the instruments desired are timpani, chimes, a bassoon, an oboe, and an English horn, all of which would be made available to the high school band, along with the municipal band's music library, in return for the use of high school equipment and library, thus both serving a double purpose and increasing the general music interest in Artesia.

Six or seven summer months six concerts are planned, the second of which will be in Central Park at 8 o'clock Thursday evening, May 27. Dates for the remainder of the series are to be announced later.

Besides the concerts, the band plans to play for a number of other occasions this summer, including the annual good-will trip to (continued last page this section)

Take An Interest

AS WE CONTINUE TO COMPLAIN and clamor about what our governmental bodies do; about the constant increase in taxes; and about tax expenditures, we are accomplishing little.

And we can continue to clamor and to argue without sufficient facts, data and information to argue intelligently about these matters and we are not going to accomplish very much.

There is, of course, much which can be done but it can be done only when we as citizens, voters and taxpayers take a genuine interest in public affairs.

Many years ago we turned over to others the operation of our government. When we had only honest, sincere and efficient officials, that worked very fine.

And then our political groups began to be formed because they had learned there was a nice profit in politics. They learned there were many purchases, much graft that could be secured; pay backs and refunds, and that favored friends would pay off for being favored.

And the result was that political groups, well organized minorities, took over our government because it proved to be good business. They made politics their business, because they could make politics pay.

Now the United States Chamber of Commerce is trying to impress on all business people that governmental affairs, politics, is big business and it is their business. They are seeking to impress on business and professional people they must become interested in governmental affairs, in taxes, in expenditures, in budgets and all matters pertaining to their government.

They are reminding them that extra costs of government expenses means they pay extra taxes and extra taxes comes out of the profits they make in their business or in their profession.

It means dollars and cents to business people. It is just good business to become interested; to know what is going on; to know the cost of operating our city, our city schools, our county, our state, our nation and all their departments.

When we really become interested and endeavor to become informed on these matters, we can act and counsel intelligently on these matters and in time, when we become well informed, we can save thousands and thousands of dollars, which today are being wasted in extravagant spending by our governmental agencies.

Governmental agencies and departments should be operated like private business in an efficient and economical manner. But they won't be until we, as citizens and taxpayers, demand that this be done.

Yes, it is time we take more interest in our governmental affairs.—O.E.P.

Oil And Water

ARTESIA'S FUTURE depends on two things—oil and water.

Many argue that the future of Artesia and North Eddy county depends on oil—the finding of more shallow pools or the finding of deep production.

That, of course, is true, but our future also depends on water, because even with oil and no water, we are still in trouble.

Although those close to the situation feel we will find not only deep production but more shallow pools, it is a well known fact that North Eddy county produces its share and more of agricultural products. The production from irrigated crops is tremendous. That income helps make this the prosperous community it is today, along with the income from oil and allied industries of oil.

And if the day ever comes when the oil played out, with water the community could continue to be prosperous because of its agricultural production.

Through the years, which have gone by, we have grown careless with our water supply. We have become extravagant despite the regulations, which the state has thrown about our water supply. Each year there is a tremendous amount of water wasted—water, which could be saved to help produce more crops another year.

Artesia has recently named a water conservation committee to work with other committees in the valley to help conserve our water supply and use it wisely.

These committees after study, we feel sure, will make some recommendations for the future welfare of our city and our county. It will be wise for these to be followed and for any laws or legislation, which might be necessary to require they be followed, if that be needed, to be passed.

We can best protect our future by acting wisely now.

What we save this year we can have another year and the future growth, expansion and development depends on our water supply.—O.E.P.

Welcome Kiwanis

ARTESIA'S KIWANIS CLUB has joined the ranks of the other three service clubs here and is taking its place in the ranks of the community work.

And we join with the community, and especially the other civic clubs, in bidding welcome to this newest organization here.

Kiwanis has a splendid reputation where ever it functions and where ever it exists. The Artesia club is expected to take its place in upholding this fine reputation and in assisting in the many worthy movements and undertakings here.

The club is composed of a fine group of men with a splendid set of officers and bids fair to carry on here.

Once again, welcome Kiwanis, and the best of luck to you in the months and the years ahead.—O.E.P.

The Military Path

A NUMBER OF YOUNG MEN will graduate from Artesia High School next week. They will be embarking upon a new phase of life, in which it will be up to them to choose the path they will follow.

Many paths will be open to them. And, for some, more than one path could be chosen wisely, with prospects good for success in life.

One such path would lead to the Army, which today is being maintained on a very high standard, a standard so high that education does not stop when a young man decides to join. Through the U.S. Armed Forces Institute, one of the greatest educational institutions in the world, whose campus extends throughout America and into many foreign countries, a young man can continue his studies and prepare himself for a civilian career after his enlistment is completed.

And in choosing a military enlistment or a military career, a young man would be doing his part in helping to maintain the Regular Army at a strength of 1,070,000 men, which means a constant flow of 30,000 high-quality volunteer men a month, according to General Eisenhower.

The young men of the 1947 graduating classes in the nation are the first in six years whose actions and attitude toward military service will be entirely voluntary and based upon their individual desire and decision.

We recommend to the young men of the senior class of Artesia High School that they at least consider the military path, a path which will give some of them a higher education from which they might otherwise be precluded.—A.L.B.

Keep City Clean

THE FLY SEASON IS HERE AGAIN.

The city plans its campaigns against the flies and again will do everything possible, including spraying the alleys, garbage cans and wastes to destroy flies and to destroy their breeding places.

But the co-operation of the citizens is needed and urged if this undertaking is successful.

City ordinances, of course, not only require garbage cans but they require these garbage cans have lids. The difficulty of securing lids and keeping the lids on the cans is recognized. But there must be lids on the garbage cans if the campaign is a success.

City health officials do not want to cite anyone for failure to follow the law. They want and need the help of all citizens in the campaign to keep the city clean and to free it of flies.

But if necessary the law will be enforced and arrests will be made and fines handed out.

But we feel sure that all realize and appreciate the need of cleaning up our city and keeping it clean. We also are sure that all will give their complete and full co-operation in observing health rules and regulations.

If we do not have garbage cans let's get them. And if our garbage cans do not have lids—let's provide some sort of a lid that will protect it. If it requires a chain to keep the lid attached to the can—then let's do that.

The campaign against flies is one in which all citizens should be interested and be willing to do their part.—O.E.P.

It Is Eddy County's

EDDY COUNTY SAVED some $200,000 of its cash balance for the schools of the county for a rainy day.

The budget hearing discussed many phases of the situation now and of tomorrow. There was a slash of some $64,000 in the proposed school budgets. There had been a slash of approximately $108,000 at an earlier hearing.

And yet all of the schools received more money for the coming year than before.

Some 25 counties of the state, so we are told, have already budgeted for their 1947-48 terms all of their cash balances. They have no money left.

What they will do another year remains to be seen. Some of the other counties have funds left.

But certainly Eddy county and every other county is entitled to its cash balance. Fear has been voiced that efforts may be made to get these funds back into the state funds for distribution to those counties, which have spent all of their cash balances.

Certainly there must be some protection for those counties, which have tried to be economical and which have planned for another year.

The $200,000 cash balance, which Eddy county has, belongs to the Eddy county schools. They have saved it and are entitled to have it when they need it.

We don't know what safeguards need to be taken or what steps should be planned, but what ever they are—well, it should be done now, to insure that this cash balance be available next year, the year following, or when ever it is needed.—O.E.P.

Payrolls are possible here because there is business here. When this business increases, payrolls increase. And the more payrolls, the better city we have.

Up and Down Main Street

STARTS THINKING UP AND DOWN MAIN PRODUCES ACTION

The open discussion of various civic and community problems here is a fine thing for Artesia.

It is true, of course, that an idea is only of value if and providing it results in action. But the fact does remain that matters have to be talked over and discussed even before any action can be taken.

The Lions club, in its recent radio forum, discussed three or four important matters to the future growth and welfare of Artesia. One of these topics was that of taking new additions into Artesia.

The need for definite rules and regulations for accepting these additions was stressed. The fact also was brought out there should be provisions for parks and for school sites in these additions. The Lions also urged that additions being brought into Artesia be so laid out that streets would meet and be continued. Another subject receiving their attention was improved mail service in and out of Artesia.

Considerable attention is being given at this time by other cities in the valley concerning their train service, passenger service and mail service. It is unfortunate, of course, that the valley is so situated that direct connections in and out of Artesia are only made at Clovis.

And the present train service certainly does not make for the best mail service in and out of Artesia. Even the Star routes and additional truck route service, although it helps, does not give all of the service, which is needed, wanted and sought. And the only way that anything will be accomplished along this line is for the matter to be discussed, talked over and emphasized not once but many times.

Mrs. Taylor Cole declaring she neither wants to buy or be given a dog of any kind or description. Chief of Police O. L. Lindsey headed toward the city hall. Judge J. D. Josey inquiring about a youngster he sent to do some work. Mrs. Sam Stewart visiting with some friends while down town. Wayne Griffin headed up Main. Postmaster Jess Truett enjoying a hamburger and declaring he was hungry. Forrest Warren visiting with Ralph Petty. Hershel Scott waiting on customers and greeting friends. Paul Dillard on the Kiwanis radio program. Tony King admitting he would accept some contributions to the Municipal band. Frank Wiltse and Jack John discussing the situation over a cup of coffee. Tom Boyd and Taylor Cole greeting friends down at the Boyd-Cole Motor company on their opening. J. D. Jensen busy at the jewelry store. Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Fletcher arriving at Marie's shop during the morning. Billy Gill and Thelma Renuau returning to the beauty shop after enjoying a cup of coffee. Jack Hastie headed down the street. George Frisch pleased with the fine interest in the Spanish American War Veterans annual encampment. Lloyd Simon declaring he would be glad to do something for a friend. Bill Hinde paying up the subscription for the telephone company. Murle Sharp greeting customers with a big smile over at the Star Grocery. Ray Bartlett going toward the theatre. Johnnie Maurer waiting on customers at the meat counter in the Safeway store. Charles Gaskins discussing a floor show he saw while attending a meeting in Clovis. Stanley Blocker pushing the sale of air conditioners. Owen Hensley driving his truck down the alley. P. V. Morris wearing his "bring 'em back alive" hat. That was Up and Down Main this week.

Another subject, which came up for discussion, was the matter of providing more members on the payroll of the fire department and to provide greater compensation for the volunteer firemen.

The present department was praised for the fine job it does and the protection it provides. But the fact was stressed that those giving of their time and their efforts to protecting Artesia property are entitled to compensation for their efforts. It also is being emphasized that probably lower insurance rates would be available with more paid members on the local department. Another matter, which could have been mentioned, could have been the providing of a larger and more adequate fire station. That has been discussed at various times and considerable thought has been given to the matter. A site for such a station is available just north of the present station. But the station is needed. Artesia has grown and expanded so the need for more protection for the increased values has grown. And it will doubtless require a larger station to provide this. The providing of more paid members on the fire department and the providing of a fire station and more equipment, of course, requires money. And the City of Artesia is encountering many problems now in securing adequate funds to meet present expenses. But when we discuss these matters; talk them over; become convinced what can and what must be done, we usually do something about it. In other words, our discussion of these matters results in action being taken and it always requires action to get things done. It may be necessary to discuss these matters again and again, but if we talk them over often enough and long enough, eventually we will do something about them. There is room for more discussions and more talks on these things, which we need in Artesia.

Bus Station Air Pavilion Draws Many At Opening

Many called and visited the Artesia Bus station when they had their formal opening Saturday evening, May 3, after remodeling the station, constructing the open air pavilion and installing their cafe fixtures for the serving of refreshments.

The visitors started calling during Saturday morning and continued during the afternoon and evening. The open air pavilion, where umbrellas have been installed and tables and chairs arranged, has caused plenty of favorable comment. Mr. and Mrs. O. J. Carson have announced they have provided this place for the young people of Artesia to gather, enjoy themselves and even dance if they desire.

A total of five gifts were awarded during the evening with a handmade lace table set being given to Mrs. R. E. Coleman of W. Lake Arthur; a fitted case to W. C. Cunningham of Artesia; a belt and tie set to Paul Perry, Artesia; a handmade lace table set to Miss Helen Perkins of Artesia; and a baby place and cup set to Tommy Williams, Jr. of Artesia.

All have been notified they were awarded these gifts. The public is invited to visit the Bus Station cafe at any time.

Rotary Prexy Aston Gives Good Report On District Conference

Chuck Aston, president of the Artesia Rotary Club, gave a comprehensive report at the weekly luncheon on May 6 on the annual district conference held in Albuquerque April 27-29.

He reported that H. C. Pannell of Lovington will be the next district governor. He is superintendent of schools there. President Aston said various speakers at the conference stressed international understanding and youth work in Rotary, as well as the necessity of good attendance.

Special guests were M. Duane Sams, chief high school coach, and Bill Fleming and Jimmie Blue, Artesia Bulldogs who represented Artesia High School at the state track and field meet in Albuquerque last week end.

Naval Reserve Medical Exams Are Suspended

To facilitate enrollment of non-veterans in the new civilian Naval Reserve, the medical examinations heretofore required of non-veteran volunteers have been temporarily suspended. The 11th Naval District has announced.

In place of the complete physical examination, which had to be made by a naval medical officer, candidates will until October be subjected to a simplified physical screening which can be carried out by any commissioned officer or petty officer.

The physical standards for the Naval Reserve call for the applicant to read block letters three-eighths of an inch high at a distance of eight feet without eye glasses and 30 feet with eye glasses. Applicants must be between five feet and six feet four inches in height, not be obviously overweight or underweight, and have a pulse rate under 100 a minute and be without apparent physical defects.

Non-veterans between the ages of 17 and 40 are eligible for membership in the Naval Reserve, as are all former servicemen. Among the inducements offered are pay for attendance at meetings of the Organized Reserve and annual two-week paid training cruises for both the organized and inactive-duty components.

"Service with a Smile"

Motorists are mighty glad to patronize Ed's Service Station. The driveway's always cleanly swept, the pumps kept nicely painted, and the office and rest rooms neat and spotless. And Ed himself is "Service with a Smile."

It's not only Ed's idea. The company that supplies Ed's oil and gasoline insists on certain standards—not just in the upkeep of the station, but in the courteous service that Ed renders.

It's like the brewers' program of Self-Regulation. Through bulletins, meetings and personal visits, the brewers encourage retailers of beer to maintain clean, law-abiding taverns. Those that don't toe the line are reported to the authorities.

From where I sit, it's just common business sense to see that the product which you sell is handled by responsible, courteous people through attractive outlets. It wins the good will and the gratitude of the community.

VA Highlights

A great majority of the 15 million servicemen and women who took out National Service Life Insurance during World War II eventually will receive dividends on their policies, the Veterans Administration has revealed. The VA now is undertaking to calculate dividends on the millions of insurance certificates and policies issued, and this is a tremendous task, it is next to impossible at this time to estimate how long it will take to accomplish the final calculations.

The payments to individual veterans will vary greatly as they will be based on the amount of insurance the veteran has carried, the length of time he has held the insurance, and his age at the time he took it out. NSLI is mutual insurance, and when the insurance fund shows a surplus from gains and savings, that surplus belongs to the policyholders who have paid in their premiums and so contributed to the surplus, including policies of those who have allowed their insurance to lapse.

As of March 31, the number of World War II veterans in the United States taking education or vocational training totaled 2,802,143 or an increase of 106,730 over the Feb. 28 total. Veterans taking education in schools, colleges and universities increased 105,379 to a total of 1,882,407, and the total taking on-the-job training reached a new high of 719,736 or a gain of 1361 over February. There was a gain of 3827 veterans in vocational training under Public Law 16, which was offset largely by a drop of 2466 under the GI Bill.

Training by no means comes to an end when a nurse joins the staff of a Veterans Administration hospital. VA currently is conducting advanced courses for nurses in neurological, psychiatric and tubercular nursing, and in the training of neuropsychiatric attendants.

Courses, lasting from one week to three months, are under the supervision of Miss Dorothy V. Wheeler, director of nursing service in the VA department of medicine and surgery. Nurses who complete the courses are expected to return to their hospitals and teach the procedures they learned to other nurses and to attendants.

Nurses in Veterans Administration hospitals now may wear white uniforms and capes of their own choice. The VA's nursing service has announced. This is the second step taken by the VA to accord its nurses the same freedom in selecting their uniforms that nurses in the nation's civilian hospitals enjoy. Earlier a regulation requiring VA nurses to wear caps with black bands denoting their positions was rescinded.

HIGHER FARM WAGES MORE FARM WORKERS

A few more people on farms, getting higher wages, was the farm-labor picture as of April 1. By regions, increases in wage rates ranged from 7 to 11 per cent, except in the Pacific Coast states, where the average was 5 per cent. Nationally, average wage rates this year amounted to almost four times the 1910-14 "parity" period. About 9,242,000 people were at work on the nation's farms, including 7,371 family workers and 1,871 hired workers. Both groups were slightly larger than a year ago.

CONTROL

Any good pitcher will tell you that it isn't hard to make a baseball "do things." Curves and drops and knuckle balls can be mastered by almost anyone who wants to learn to pitch.

But CONTROL! There is the genius of great pitching. To be able to throw a ball exactly where you want it to go—that is an art.

Control is the all-important factor in living, too. "Self-control" we usually call it. Its mastery crowns life with nobility. By it men become strong, courageous, morally fit. Wherever it is exercised, life becomes richer in the qualities that make for lasting happiness.

The Church begins in childhood to teach us "self-control." It implants in the minds of youth both a Way of Life and the will to noble living. Then through our adult years, by revealing the truths of God and the Bible, the Church provides men with the spiritual foundation for an enriched life.

With your whole family, attend church regularly and support the Church.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend and support the church of his choice. They are: (1) For his own sake, (2) For his children's sake, (3) For the sake of his community and nation, (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church on Sunday and read your Bible daily.

Brownies Become Full Girl Scouts Here On Tuesday

Brownie Scout Troop 8 held a "fly-up" ceremony at the Woman's Club building Tuesday afternoon, when many members of the troop "flew up" and are now full-fledged Scouts. Mrs. Herman Fuchs and Mrs. Marvin Worley, troop leaders, were in charge of the services.

As the Brownies entered the room, they formed a circle, while the Girl Scouts followed to form a horseshoe. The two groups gave the Pledge of Allegiance after the color guard advanced and the entire gathering sang "God Bless America." After the dismissal of the color guard, the Brownies sang one of their own songs.

Four Brownies who were not old enough to join in the ceremony acted as escorts for the girls who transferred. As the Brownies were presented to Mrs. Fuchs they received their wings and then were taken to Mrs. Gale Ray, leader of Troop 14, by two Girl Scouts. Mrs. Ray presented the Girl Scout badges, heard the Scout promise and gave the welcome, finishing with the Scout handshake and salute. Then, the two Brownies and their Scout escorts formed a horseshoe inside the larger original formation.

After all the girls had been received they were presented the 10 Girl Scout laws and repeated the Scout promise in unison. The ceremonial was closed with the singing of "Goodnight Scouts" by the entire group. A group game was played, after which the groups formed separate circles and sang "Taps." The Brownies are now members of Troop 14.

Those who "flew up" were Wanda Crume, Frances Ann Fuchs, Jessie Bell Brazelton, Jeanette Franklin, Charlene Johnson, Peggy Ruth Hannan, Angeline Barnett, Florence Worley, Margaret Ann Goodno, Yvonne Dew, Joan Akins, Sue Carolyn Miller, Helen Howell, Annette Carter, and Betty Rutherford.

Troop 9, with Mrs. Bill Royer and Mrs. W. J. Cluney as leaders, assisted in the rites. Guests were mothers of the Brownies. Refreshments of cold drinks and sandwiches were served.

VFW Has Ladies' Night Social On Monday Evening

The Veterans of Foreign Wars and VFW Auxiliary and guests enjoyed a social evening at the American Legion building Monday evening after the regular monthly VFW meeting, at which Bob Rodke presented a past commander's pin to Alan Thompson, who was succeeded a month ago by J. B. (Buster) Mulcock.

An instructive talk on National Service Life Insurance was given during the meeting by John A. Mathis, Sr., a local life insurance agent.

He told the veterans to keep their government insurance, that it offers them all that any commercial company can offer and even more.

Mathis said the veterans can reinstate their government insurance through January, 1950, and urged that those who have dropped it do so.

Commander Mulcock appointed Ben Rodke and C. G. Twilley to cooperate with members of the other veterans' organizations in making arrangements for observation of Memorial Day.

During the social part of the evening, bingo was played and light refreshments were served.

Central PTA Members Are Entertained With Musical Program

The Central School Parent-Teacher association was entertained by Mrs. Clyde Dungan, who presented a musical program for that group when it met Friday afternoon at Central School.

The feature of the program was "Songs From Thunderbird Land," by Ruth S. Thurman and Evelyn Bayne of Silver City. The presentations were supervised by Miss Kay Barry.

Miss Molly Reeves gave an instructive talk on starting children in school. Mrs. John A. Mathis, Jr., reported on the state convention which was held in Roswell, and Mrs. Don Teed reported on the outcome of the Saturday morning movies for children. Mrs. William Blackburn concluded the program by outlining plans for a PTA drive for the coming year.

Miss Margaret Ann Clowe Becomes Bride Of Harold Lovelady Monday

MRS. HAROLD M. LOVELADY

Before an altar banked with roses and lighted by altar candles, Miss Margaret Ann Clowe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. I. Clowe, became the bride of Harold M. Lovelady of Artesia, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Lovelady of El Paso, in a quiet ceremony held Monday morning in St. Paul's Episcopal Church. Rev. Joseph Harvey read the double-ring service.

Miss Teresa Sullivan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Murt Sullivan and a niece of the bride, played the "Wedding March," by Mendelssohn, for the entrance of the wedding party.

Miss Clowe, given in marriage by her father, wore an attractive spring suit of bride's blue cut on smart swallowtail lines. Her accessories were of white. She carried a bride's bouquet of tea roses tied with pink satin ribbons attached to a white prayer book. For something old, the bride wore a ring belonging to Mrs. Murt Sullivan, a sister; something new was a matched set of earrings and chatelein pin; the prayer book carried by the bride was borrowed from her twin sister, Mrs. Don Adams; a blue garter completed the tradition, and for luck a token belonging to her grandmother was worn in the bride's slipper.

Mrs. Adams attended her sister as matron of honor. She wore a striking gown of ice blue French braid and other accents also were black. A corsage of talisman roses was worn on the shoulder.

James Lovelady, a brother of the bridegroom, attended him as best man, while Don Adams and Rayburn Lovelady, brother-in-law of the bride and brother of the bridegroom respectively, served them as ushers.

Mrs. Clowe, mother of the bride, chose a smart navy blue eylet ensemble with which she wore white accents. White rosebuds were worn on the shoulder.

Mrs. Lovelady, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. I. Clowe, was born and reared in Artesia. She attended the Artesia schools and served in the WAVES during the war.

Mr. Lovelady attained his formal education in Marfa, Tex., and New Mexico Military Institute at Roswell and completed his schooling in Carlsbad. He served two years in the Navy, 22 months of which were spent in the Pacific theater. He came to Artesia about a year ago and now is manager of the C. G. Morrison and Company store.

Because of injuries sustained in an automobile accident Friday evening preceding the wedding, the couple has postponed a wedding trip pending their recovery. However, they plan a tour to Denver, Colo., in the near future. They are making their home in Artesia.

Mr. Lovelady attained his formal education in Marfa, Tex., and New Mexico Military Institute at Roswell and completed his schooling in Carlsbad. ## Tea By Delta Kappa Gamma Is Given Seniors

The annual Delta Kappa Gamma sorority tea honoring the senior girls was held Sunday afternoon at the Woman's Club building. As this was also Mother's Day, the mothers of the girls were guests, as were other women of the school faculty.

Those on the committee in charge of the affair were Mrs. I. L. Spratt, chairman, Mrs. Margaret Bidstone, Miss Lois Netherly, and Miss Marion Wood. Mrs. Flora Powell, president, headed the receiving line and was assisted by Mrs. Leone French and Miss Hilda Kletke.

Music for the afternoon was furnished by Franklin Wiltse's Orchestra, which presented ensemble and solo numbers. Guest musicians were Miss Jane Shugart and Mrs. Howard Whitson, who played violin duets. They were accompanied by Mrs. Helen Henson.

At the flower-decked refreshment table, Mrs. Fred Jacobs poured tea and Mrs. Chuck Astor poured coffee. A color scheme of pink and white was carried out in the table decorations of pink and white candles and roses. Lime ice, tea cookies, mints, and nutmeats were served.

Good Reports On Girl Scouts Are Made Monday

The annual meeting of the Girl Scout Association was held Monday evening at "Mac West Curve," where a covered-dish dinner was served to about 40 people, including leaders, committee members, board members, and wives and husbands.

After the dinner hour, the group retired to the girls' gymnasium at the high school and Mrs. Jacobs opened a business discussion there. Changes to be made in the local association were read by Mrs. Raymond Bartlett and the group voted to accept them.

Mayor A. P. Mahone reported on the progress of plans to obtain a Girl Scout "little house" for Artesia Scouts. No definite drive has been planned thus far, but the initial donation by an individual has been made by Martin Yates, Jr.

Mrs. V. P. Shields reported on the camp situation and announced little change in the picture since her last report had been made and that camping for Artesia Scouts and most Scouts in this area will be confined to troop camping. Leaders who are interested in offering this type of recreation to their groups are asked to contact Mrs. Sheldon for further information. Older Intermediates and Senior Scouts will have a better opportunity for this work than the younger girls.

Brownie camping for this year will be confined to the Brownie day camp, it was reported by Mrs. George Beadle, day-camp chairman on the board, and while no definite date has been set, the camp will be held in August. There is a possibility the camp will be open this year to non-Scouts. This may be made possible provided that mothers of girls from 7 to 10 years of age who wish their daughters to participate will also be willing to donate time and effort in preparing for the camp and in carrying out plans for it. Mrs. George Beadle may be contacted by any volunteers who wish to help.

Mrs. Catherine Walterscheid, registrar, reported that this year there are 204 girls registered, giving a total of 72 more than at this time last year. There are now 15 Scout troops in the city, while there were only six last year. The leaders have pointed out that the growth in adult assistants has come in response to radio and newspaper publicity and expressed their appreciation.

Mrs. W. J. Cluney, new president of the Leaders' and Committee Members' Club, has announced the next meeting of that group will be held in August, probably early in the month.

Mrs. Jack Frost and her committee received full credit for the success of the association dinner, which preceded the meeting. Working with her were Mmes. Herman Fuchs, Raymond Bartlett, Howard Gissler, and W. J. Cluney.

The other three local service clubs, Lions, 20-30, and Kiwanis were in charge of the forums last three Fridays.

Weekly payroll books now available at Advocate.

Chuck Aston, president of the Rotary Club, appointed best guests on the forum panel Robert A. Waller, Charles Gaskins, and W. E. Kerr. Either they or their substitutes will be heard during the subject.

Veterans attending colleges in Colorado, New Mexico, Utah, and Wyoming, who plan to remain in school during the summer will receive subsistence checks without interruption if they comply with a new but simple procedure adopted by the Branch 13 office of the Veterans Administration.

Harold J. Cole, branch office director of vocational rehabilitation and education training, announced that training officers at the various institutions have been instructed to secure signed VA forms from all veterans studying under the GI Bill who intend to continue their studies during the summer.

Uraform Is Another Advance In Newest Fertilizer For Soils

A slow-acting nitrogen fertilizer that feeds crops over a long growing period has been developed by soil scientists of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The fertilizer is one of a series of combinations of urea and formaldehyde known as uraform and since both chemicals are in short supply, it is produced only on a laboratory scale.

Unlike nitrogen fertilizers now used, uraform does not leach out of the soil easily, and so offers a source of nitrogen for corn, potatoes, and tobacco — crops which ordinarily need additional fertilizer after they have been planted. Uraform may be used in mixed fertilizer as well as in separate applications.

Rules For Model Plane Contest Are Discussed
Rules and regulations for the model airplane contests to be held at the Artesia municipal airport Sunday, June 1, under the auspices of the National Aeronautic Association, were discussed at a meeting of the local chapter at the airport May 4.
It was decided to have the controlled-flight contest on one of the runways at the airport, to be designated at the time of the contest by A. H. Hazel, manager, so as not to interfere with air traffic.
Announcement was made of a demonstration to be staged at Morris Field here Sunday, May 25, by nine members of the Carlsbad Balsa Benders Club, who will bring some models for controlled flight.

It was pointed out the exhibition put on by the Carlsbad men should stimulate interest in model airplane building in Artesia and will give local enthusiasts assistance in getting their models ready for the NAA show here June 1.
R. E. Smith, I. C. Austin, and N. F. Little, members of the board of directors of the Carlsbad Balsa Benders Club, are to be the AMA contest directors for the flights at Morris Field May 25.

Notice is hereby given that Annual Transit Policies numbered 807851 to 807860 of the St. Paul Fire & Marine Insurance Company, sent to a former agency at Artesia, New Mexico, have become lost or mislaid and no liability exists under them. ### Co-operation To Keep City Clean Asked By Mayor

Why the city planning to do everything possible in the coming weeks to keep the city clean and to free the city of flies, complete and full co-operation of all citizens is being urged by city officials.

Mayor A. P. Mahone stated that the city again expects to spray the alleys and garbage cans with DDT as it did last year but he emphasized the fact that all garbage cans must have lids; that all citizens and residents must have garbage cans; and for the program to be a success, the complete co-operation of all citizens is vitally needed.

Alie Connor, health officer, checked the city some weeks ago and in many instances found garbage cans without covers or lids. At that time, he explained, he left reminders to property owners and residents that the city ordinances require that all garbage cans be covered.

Mary, he stated, have failed to secure the covers for their garbage cans, but it is hoped that they will do this and that they will give their complete and full co-operation.

The warning was issued, however, that unless this is done and other health rules and regulations are observed that the city will act to enforce the ordinances. This, of course, will mean arrests and fines.

Mayor Mahone expressed the belief, however, that this would not be necessary and he voiced the opinion that the complete and full co-operation will be given the city, not only in keeping Artesia sanitary, but in fighting the flies during the summer months.

names on the city police blotter.

They were Homer Wright, fined $20; T. W. Montgomery, $15; W. H. Buchanan, $20; W. G. Lewis, $15, and C. S. Rosenstack, $15.

Traffic violations by local residents have shown a tremendous improvement in the past few weeks, and only two speeding charges were filed this week. They were John Dane and Frank Mullenack, both fined $20. For driving without a license Ervory Owens, Jr., was fined $5.

James Isnan, vagrant, upon investigation by local authorities, was found to have a number of police records and having an undesirable character and was ordered to leave town.

A fine of $10 was given George Fox for failing to pay a parking ticket of $10 at the designated time.

Judge Josey said the parking ticket is for a small offense. A fine of $1 is a reminder to citizens that there is a limited amount of parking space available in the business district and it must be shared by many. In order that everyone may have a chance at convenient parking spaces, cars must not be left parked over the allotted time, he said.

"If you get a ticket, prompt payment of it will save you from appearing in court and having to pay a larger fine," Judge Josey added.

each is insisting on a business manager at a salary of $4800 to $6800.

Martin said the budget officials were astounded at the administrative cost for the superintendents' offices, including the salaries for the superintendents, business managers, and secretarial help.

For Artesia alone, Martin declared, it will cost about $22,000 the coming year to maintain the superintendent's office, including salaries and supplies.

Also on the Farm Bureau program Monday evening was Tom Hymer, one of the organizers of the Pecos Valley Co-Operative Oil Mill now in process of being formed.

Reaction of farmers to the idea was enthusiastic and they agreed the present mill at Loving should be purchased, provided the purchase price is in line.

Hopkins Tells Rotary Of Burma Road Struggle

An interesting account of the conquering the jungle in the building of the Burma Road and parallel pipeline and then the quick retaking of them by the jungle and weather was given Tuesday noon by Howard F. Hopkins, who was there with the 1756th Pipeline Engineers, when he spoke at the weekly Rotary luncheon.

Hopkins told of the constant struggle in building and maintaining both the road and pipeline, the former a distance of about 1300 miles, in order to deliver fuel and other material to the Chinese and Allies.

In July, 1945, he said, the Burma Road, for the most part, was excellent, much of it 24 feet wide and in some places as wide as 42 feet. But after the surrender of the Japanese the American and British troops were ordered to retreat over the road, taking with them certain items. After Dec. 15 there was no more maintenance on the road, Hopkins said, and when his outfit, the last officially over the road, left, the road had so washed in places that trucks could hardly get through. In some places it had washed so narrow there was barely room to advance. It took only 30 days to deteriorate into a total loss, Hopkins declared.

The pipeline likewise was not long in becoming useless, the speaker said. He related that the last time he drove it, the jungle growth had lifted sections of pipe four to five feet off the ground.

The Burma Road, Hopkins said, paid off in tonnage miles, but the pipeline never accomplished what it was built for, to furnish the Air Forces gasoline. It would have had to supply the air needs 90 days to have been considered paying off, he said.

President Chuck Aston announced the Rotary Club will meet with the Chamber of Commerce on the Roof Garden of the Artesia Hotel next Tuesday.

He introduced J. T. Mitchell as a "baby Rotarian."

County Farm and Livestock Bureau, at which he likewise pointed out what the Pecos Valley Co-Operative Oil Mill plans to accomplish.

Negotiations are on foot at present for the purchase of the oil mill at Loving, the only one in the Pecos Valley at present, which is privately owned by Texas interests.

It was pointed out that farmers in the Artesia locality are not as prompt in co-operating with the valley project as in some of the other areas, including Hagerman and Dexter, and it is hoped many will come out to the meetings Friday and Monday evenings and indicate their willingness to become members of the co-operative.

Moore To Assist In Forming East State Chamber

Dave Moore, manager of the Artesia Chamber of Commerce, and Fred Brookshear, manager of the Clovis Chamber of Commerce, have been named as a temporary committee to investigate fully the possibilities of forming an Eastern New Mexico Chamber of Commerce, following a meeting held at Clovis on Wednesday night.

Artesia was represented at the meeting by Manager Moore, President Chuck Aston and Charles Gaskins, treasurer, of the local civic group. Clovis was host for a dinner for representatives from Artesia, Carlsbad, Hobbs, Roswell, Peralta, Tucumcari and other communities in the Eastern half of the state.

The majorities of the communities represented expressed an interest in such an organization and expressed the belief their cities or towns would be interested in joining. Roswell opposed any action at this time Hobbs stated they were not ready to act at this time.

Carlsbad, represented by Victor L. Minter, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, Floyd Riddon, publisher of The Current-Argus, and Bill Colvert, advertising manager of The Current-Argus, not only favored the organization, but moved for the temporary committee.

President Aston expressed the belief Artesia would be interested and believed it would be willing to join the movement.

Gov. Thomas J. Mabry, who was in Clovis, attended the meeting briefly and in a brief talk assured the group he would do anything he could to aid them in their organization.

Those present expressed the belief that such an organization of the towns and cities in the Eastern part of the state could result in united efforts in various movements for the Eastern part of the state and would make for a united group in any and all movements.

The local representatives at the meeting expressed the opinion that such an organization will probably be formed as a result of the meeting held in Clovis.

Artesia Seniors Are Rated High In State Test

Six Artesia High School seniors placed in the top 10 per cent and of them three were in the top 100 among 2998 seniors in 97 four-year accredited high schools in the state who recently took the statewide test of academic achievements, it was announced by Dr. Wilbur S. Gremory, head of testing and counselling at the University of New Mexico.

Jack Gerald Jordan, Ramon M. Davidson, and Mary Jo Jacobs were in the top 100 in the state. Besides them included in the top 10 per cent were Teddy Jane Archer, Robert Glen Painter, and Ralph Albert Shugart.

The three New Mexico seniors who rated highest in the university's statewide test were Harry Lee Paton of Clovis High School, Ruth Esther Starrels of Albuquerque High School, and Juan P. Chavez of Union High School at Grants.

Dr. Gregory explained that the examination, used also in other states, is designed to measure basic knowledge acquired in high schools in five fields: English usage and literature, history, social science and current events, mathematics, the sciences, and reading and vocabulary.

The top 100 students will receive certificates of distinction, Dr. Gregory said, while others in the top 10 per cent get honorable mentions. All, he said, are eligible for scholarships to the university provided need for financial assistance is established by the university's scholarship committee.

Amputees May Still Get Cars Without Cost

Veterans of World War II who have lost, or lost the use of, one or both legs above the ankle, are still eligible for an automobile at government expense, according to Richard P. Loomis, contact representative for the Veterans Administration in Carlsbad. However, veterans are reminded that the deadline for application and approval of automobiles is June 30, Loomis said.

To date 96 New Mexicans have applied for these automobiles, and of this number 68 have been certified as eligible.

Veterans may apply for jeeps, trucks, or tractors instead of cars, if they wish, so long as the cost of any of these vehicles is not more than $1600.

Veterans are urged to visit or write Loomis at his office in the Eddy County courthouse. Loomis also visits Artesia each Thursday. When writing to the VA contact office, veterans are urged to include their full name, latest complete address, service serial number, and date of birth, Loomis said.

Reinstatement GI Insurance Open Until Aug. 1

Veterans who have allowed their GI term insurance to lapse have only until Aug. 1 to reinstate their policies without a physical examination, Richard P. Loomis, contact representative for the Veterans Administration's Carlsbad office, announced.

Veterans are urged to reinstate their lapsed term policies now, and need pay only two monthly premiums and sign a statement that they are in as good health now as at the time of lapse, Loomis said. Those who did not have GI insurance while in the service can apply now for a policy, and can choose any of the seven plans.

The president signed a bill Feb. 21 extending the reinstatement date from Feb. 1 to Aug. 1, thereby enabling about 10 million veterans to reinstate their lapsed term policies.

Veterans may visit or write Loomis at his office in the Eddy County courthouse. Loomis also visits Artesia each Thursday of every month.

When writing about their insurance, veterans should include their full name, latest complete address, insurance certificate number, if known, or service serial number, date of birth, and address at the time of discharge from service, he said.

Hobbs Airfield Buildings Being Put Up For Sale

Buildings at the Hobbs Army Airfield will be offered for sale between May 23 and June 12, the War Assets Administration announced.

There are 112 buildings, including 32 barracks, 16 administration buildings, 12 recreation buildings, 11 officers' quarters, 22 lavatories, and 19 miscellaneous structures at the field to be put up for sale.

Priority holders, including federal government agencies, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, buying for resale to small business; state and local governments, and non-profit institutions may apply for buildings between May 23 and June 2. Certifiers who propose to divert the materials to the veterans' emergency housing program and non-priority holders may enter bids between May 23 and June 12. Bids will be opened at the Denver WAA office, 728 Fifteenth Street, June 16, according to Regional Director John A. Skeen.

Hog Support Prices Are Revived Uward For April-September

Although strong demand makes it unlikely that the government will need to support hog prices during the current year, hog support prices for the final six months of the 1946-47 year will be available at an average increase of $1.35 a hundred pounds if needed.

The Chicago weekly average support price announced by the Department of Agriculture for the April-September, 1947, season will range from $15.25 during May and part of June to $17.25 in September. This average of $15.60 for the period is based on the March 15 parity price of $16.60 per hundred pounds, compared with an average of $14.25 in effect from October, 1946, through March, 1947.

The revision results from the recent sharp increase in parity, which reflects increased prices for things farmers buy. It is also in accord with the approved policy that the hog support price be established at 90 per cent of parity, as required by law, at the beginning of the two marketing seasons, spring and fall.

Oilseed Supply Is About Same As Year Prior

Supplies of oilseed cake and meal available for feed from April through September are expected to be about the same as a year ago, reports the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Dairymen and other livestock feeders who will need more protein meal when hot weather begins to dry up pastures might be wise to lay in the supplies now, the USDA said.

Maximum growth is necessary for maximum returns from livestock, said Dr. C. W. Campbell of Kansas State College, and growth producing rations must contain liberal amounts of minerals and proteins.

Cottonseed oil in 1946 again was the leading oil used in making margarine, one of the most important food products that help to give value to cotton farmers' seed.

"Are you wasting feed and power by too much grinding?" asked M. W. Muldrow, Arkansas Extension Animal Husbandman, issued a timely warning against grinding grains and roughages too much. Coarsely ground grain and chopped roughage is more palatable, too, he added.

Increased mechanization of cotton and other crops will make agriculture more productive and give the world more goods at lower cost. A. L. Ward of the National Cottonseed Products Association predicted at the Oklahoma Experiment Station Feeders' Day.

Heavy application of nitrogen fertilizer to poor land not only increased the yield of corn, but also increased the protein content, a five-year study at Purdue University showed. The protein content increased from 9.9 per cent to 12.3 per cent in these tests.

Creep feeding calves, often the most profitable way to produce beef, offers special advantages this year, said W. R. Tyrrell of Tennessee Extension Service. This is because of narrowing profit margins and feed lot costs. Among advantages of creep feeding are that it makes maximum use of pasture and minimum use of grain and quicker annual turnover in capital, prevents after-weaning setbacks, and it permits a larger cow herd by reducing pasture required for older steers.

Versatile cotton is not only cool for warm weather, but it's also the warmest clothing against extreme cold. A South Carolina mill wove special cloth, similar to that used by our armed forces, for Admiral Byrd's Antarctic Expedition.

Ten years of experience on California range shows the value of feeding protein supplements. Calf crops of herds fed protein supplements varied between 80 and 89 per cent, compared with only 55 to 79 per cent calf crops for the beef herds that received no supplement.

"Beat the bugs to your cotton crop" is a warning that can't be repeated too often right now. At present prices of cotton and cottonseed, no grower can afford to lose the one-bale-out-of-seven which insects normally steal, the USDA said.

By Dallas Rierson
County Extension Agent

Proper feeding and wise culling of milk cows are sound practices in the success of any dairy business. Good milking cows should be fed all the roughage they can eat, and the amount of concentrates in their feed should be determined by the relationship between the price of feed and the price of milk. The relationship between feed and milk should also determine the uneconomical producers—the cow that should be culled. Good cows fed properly will usually produce more milk at lower cost than a larger number of cows poorly fed. Therefore, it's good cow sense to discard the lower producers and give their feed to the rest of the herd.

Don't allow rubbish to accumulate in barns, attics, and outbuildings. Remember, too, that combustible dead vines, brush, and weeds along fence rows and near buildings are all targets for a stray spark or a hastily discarded cigarette. Just remember, if you clean up your farm today, it won't burn tomorrow.

Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson recently said: "When John Smith and Miles Standish came to these shores, the topsoil averaged about nine inches in depth. Today, due to the ripping and wearing action of water and wind on unprotected land and to the removal of organic matter—the result of land abuse—topsoil averages about six inches in depth for the nation as a whole. In some places it is all gone."

Farmers Follow Pattern Needed For Stability

Farmers are following the kind of production pattern needed throughout the nation's economy to bring price stability for both industrial and agricultural products, Secretary Clinton P. Anderson believes. Here's the way he stated it to a group of businessmen:

"By maintaining food production a third above prewar levels, the efforts of farmers have been directed at assuring plentiful supplies and holding food prices down. The price support program helped to make this big production increase possible by assuring farmers that the prices of commodities for which wartime increases were requested be supported when necessary two years following the hostilities. . . Price support . . . has . . . provided . . . a gram for consumer price. Most of the expenditures of the Commodity Credit Corporation during the last few years have been for subsidies designed to hold consumer prices down and keep production up."

Secretary Anderson pointed out that high purchasing power for unsatisfied demands for manufactured goods leave more pressure on food prices. . . of most agricultural commodities are well above the price level, and the prices of commodities are therefore affected by the price-support program.

One out of every hundred homes will be burned to the ground or damaged by fire this year, according to reports from the National Fire Protection Association. Fire in farm homes is usually more destructive than in urban homes.

Yes, life's savings can go up in smoke in an hour's time. And all of this can happen when farm people take chances. Remember, the fire risk involved in permitting fire hazards to exist on the premise is high. The odds are all against the farmer—and for the fire demon.

New Mexico farmers and ranchers are soil conservation conscious, according to Leonard Appleton, soil conservationist of the New Mexico Extension Service. With 57 soil conservation districts, New Mexico ranks 12 in the U.S.

Appleton says that New Mexico ranks second among the 48 states in the acreage in soil conservation districts. The only state with a larger acreage in districts is Texas.

Peruvian farmers know their county agents as "rural agents." Yes, there are extension workers in this South American country, and their extension techniques are very similar to those followed in the United States. Educational work through demonstration activities and other means and assistance in the procurement of improved seeds, machinery, livestock, and other farm production facilities.

May export allocations of 1,296,000 long tons (2240 pounds) of wheat flour (in wheat equivalent), corn, grain sorghums, oats, and barley has been announced by the Department of Agriculture. This is a total of approximately 51,500,000 bushels. April allocations totaled 1,500,000 long tons or approximately 58,000,000 bushels. Most of the reduction in May allocations is on account of smaller quotas for wheat.

The objectives for the 1947 garden program in New Mexico are to assist families in meeting the cost of living and to aid in the development of cultural values that come with home gardening and home grounds and community improvement. There is another reason, too: The need for keeping the art of gardening alive as a defense measure in any emergency such as war, drought, or economic collapse.

When fires break out on the farm, the first five minutes are the most important. Five minutes may be all the time you have to rescue the family, to send out the alarm, to fight the fire before it gets out of control. There should be a simple fire-fighting plan on every farm, and every member of the family should know it. Not only should families be ready to be effective against fires, but communities must be resourceful and organized to take action in time.

Hand Picking Is Recommended To Control Insects

Many folks manage to keep down insects in small gardens without much use of insecticides. They simply go through the gardens, examine the plants carefully, and pick off and kill any insects as soon as they show up.

That, says County Agent Dallas Rierson, is a good gardening practice.

The main point in this hand picking is to begin early and get the first insects that show up," Rierson explains. "When they are few in number and before they really get a chance to start running through the multiplication tables, this hand picking is one of way to handle the small garden-insect problem."

The county agent added that sometimes the gardener can control large beetles, caterpillars, and plant bugs by hand without insecticides. For aphids or plant lice, which are too small to hand-pick, he said, gardeners may find they need to put a handful of rotten cloth in a handkerchief or square of cloth and shake a little of the insecticide on the infested plants as they move down the row. As aphids and some other insects lurk on the undersides of the leaves, turn back the leaves, and make sure the dust falls on them, he said.

"Remember, in all your insect fighting, you save yourself a lot of trouble later by getting the first insects that are attracted to your plants," Rierson concluded.

Trade School For Feed Dealers To Be In Roswell

The New Mexico Grain and Feed Dealers Association will hold a feed trade school at Roswell May 26-27. Arthur Ravel, president of the association, announced.

The school will be given over principally to bring the dealers up to date on nutrition, he said, and the instructors will mostly come from the state agricultural college. In addition, there will be management talks by industry leaders.

Ravel said schools of this type are being sponsored over the United States and it was the determination of his organization to have New Mexico dealers as well informed and able to serve their customers as dealers anywhere.

All interested in feeds and feeding are invited to attend, he said, and attendance is not limited to association members.

Check These Safety Tests in Farm Home

If you can answer "Yes" to these 10 statements, give yourself a score of 100 on this test for safety from fire hazards in your home. These are some of the precautions by which you can protect your house and your family from fire:

The chimney is free of cracks and holes.

Chimney top is at least three feet above a flat roof and two feet above ridge of gable and hip roof.

Chimney is cleaned regularly to prevent fires.

Stove pipe is fastened to flue securely by rivets, wire or other safe method.

A wire mesh spark arrester covers top of the chimney (if roof is combustible).

Oily rags are promptly discarded or kept in metal containers.

Matches are in a metal container.

Only safety matches are used.

Matches are out of reach of children.

Every match is completely extinguished after use.

Flashlight instead of a match is used to see in dark places.

Conservation Brings Dividends to Farms

Farmers throughout the nation have made astounding progress in soil conservation. Farmers now know that conservation pays in dollars and cents. Farmers never would have been able to roll up the production record of the war or the high, profit-making production of today had it not been for our years of soil conserving work.

actively stocked, show an improved condition, with better forage, but higher weight gains per acre were registered for livestock.

In the period chosen, May 10 to Nov. 10, long yearlings showed gains averaging 325 pounds per head. On similar ranges, heavily stocked, the yearlings registered only 190 to 250 pounds per head. In addition, the yearlings with higher gains command a premium of 50 cents to $1 on the market.

Electric Pig Brooder Saves Many Lives

Device Is Simple and Operation Cost Small

Little pigs, which grow up and go to market, aren't those which die or are crippled as a result of being chilled or crushed during farrowing.

To prevent these misfortunes and consequent loss in revenue, many farmers have investigated the use of electric pig brooders. Such brooders consist of a triangular wooden framework, the sides of which are about 3 1/2 feet long, nailed or bolted together at right angles, with the top of the hover constructed of lumber, insulating board or metal plate. A two by four inch board or metallic guard across the front of the framework will give the brooder additional strength and provide an opening approximately eight inches high through which pigs enter.

Heat is provided by a 100 or 150 watt incandescent lamp per brooder, the size depending on the degree of warmth needed. These lamps are placed in a 14 or 16 inch dome type reflector, which is bolted securely on top of the hover, with the light directed through a hole about one inch smaller than the diameter of the reflector.

The brooder should be in place a day or two before farrowing time and the floor of the pen and hover covered with two or three inches of litter. Electricity consumed averages about 36 kilowatt hours per litter. Tests record that electric brooders reduce mortality of early spring pigs by 17.4 per cent.

Control Blackhead by Use of Phenothiazine

The small roundworm, cecal worm, is not a serious parasite itself but is very important in the spread of blackhead. Control of the cecal worm tends to control blackhead. Control of the cecal worm is best done, according to Washington State college, by placing the young poults upon a one-half per cent phenothiazine mash for five days when the young poults are first turned out on the open range.

Value Of Gardening Stressed In Statement By President Truman

In support of the 1947 garden program, President Harry Truman released the following statement:

"The value of gardening in building strong bodies, healthy minds, and a happy people has never been greater. Today we need physical strength to increase production of all the commodities the nation needs; we need moral strength to combat inflation and other economic dislocations; we need spiritual strength to see us through the trying days of post-war adjustment. We need clear minds to cope with the problems of establishing a lasting peace. Today we need relaxation, happiness, and congenial relationships among our people.

"Those needs can be met in a great part by continuing program which involves the participation of millions of Americans in home gardening. Eating more nutritious foods, improving home surroundings, and aiding community development will make this land of ours an even better place to live in."

School Program Tests New Outlet For Milk Throughout Nation

Promise of getting health-building milk to thousands of youngsters who have had practically no milk since they left the cradle is seen in a test program on powdered milk being conducted in a few areas in connection with school lunch programs.

Under this program, non-fat dry milk solids—powdered milk—are shipped from heavy dairy production areas for use in schools of deficit areas. The dry milk is reconstituted with water into liquid form right at the school, shortly before serving, and in general is being received very well by the children.

Swine Growers Can Increase Profits In Hogs
Many New Mexico swine producers can increase their profits more than 50 per cent by controlling internal parasites in their hogs, County Agent Dallas Rieron said this week. This figure, he declared, is based on a recent survey by the Bureau of Animal Industry, which shows that parasites greatly reduce the value of hogs in this state and in the rest of the Southwest. "Infested livers, kidneys, casings, and affected parts of the and other cuts that are demmed cause this loss," he explained. "Though the ate loss falls on packing lishments, farmers pay it. There are additional losses in the form of deaths, food costs." The county agent added damage caused by internal sites is often overlooked or derestimated because injuries hidden until time of slaughter. Prevention consists chiefly raising pigs in pastures and clean surroundings rather than old hog lots, he said.

DAV To Choose Hero's Name For National Honor

Leland Wittkopp, commander of Donald S. Simons Chapter No. 19, Disabled American Veterans, is urging all members to attend the regular meeting of that organization at 7:30 o'clock Monday night in the American Legion building. Matters of the utmost importance will be brought before the meeting, such as the appointment of certain officers for the ensuing year and completion of the chapter's delegation to the department convention in Albuquerque June 14-15, in addition to the regular business, Commander Wittkopp said.

One of the matters that will probably be of more interest than any other is the selection of a name of a veteran who died on the field of battle to be sent to national headquarters at Cincinnati for the special memorial services which will be held at the DAV national convention in August at Las Vegas, Nev.

"After talking with a number of the members here," Wittkopp said, "we have about decided the logical choice for that honor would lie between the names of Dale Hannah and Dee White for the reason that when the general public helped us select the name of Donald S. Simons for the chapter last year, Hannah and White received the next largest number of votes of any of the deceased heroes from North Eddy County."

"The final decision will, of course, be up to the members of the chapter who are there Monday night to vote on it."

Roswell Chapter Of DAV Honors Dunnam, Artesia

Bill Dunnam, organizer of the Donald S. Simons Chapter No. 19, Disabled American Veterans, at Artesia and a member of the Sunshine Chapter No. 4 in Roswell since the early '30's, was singled out for special honors at a meeting of the latter chapter in Roswell Monday night when a past commander's badge was presented him.

The presentation was made by Sam Bryant, an old friend of Dunnam's, and a charter member of the Roswell DAV chapter. Bryant referred to Dunnam as one of the faithful few who stood by the chapter "when the going was really tough," and during times when the chapter had a hard time to survive. The chapter now is the second largest in the department and New Mexico and is probably in the best financial condition of any other in the state.

Dunnam was taken by surprise and his attendance assured when Commander Robinson requested him to bring Commander Leland Wittkopp of the Artesia chapter, as plans were being discussed relative to the department convention of the DAV scheduled for Albuquerque June 14-15.

Dunnam qualified as a past commander during 1945-46, when as senior vice commander he finished the term of a commander who became critically ill and resigned.

Other members from Artesia present were Vice Commander

Flurry Elvin and Treasurer King Burtner.

Swine Growers Can Increase Profits In Hogs

Many New Mexico swine producers can increase their profits more than 50 per cent by controlling internal parasites in their hogs, County Agent Dallas Rierson said this week. This figure, he declared, is based on a recent survey by the Bureau of Animal Industry, which shows that parasites greatly reduce the value of hogs in this state and in the rest of the Southwest.

"Infested livers, kidneys, casings, and affected parts of the lungs and other cuts that are explained. "Though the immediate loss falls on packing establishments, farmers pay it through lower prices received for their hogs. There are additional losses, in the form of deaths, retarded growth of hogs, and increased food costs."

The county agent added that damage caused by internal parasites is often overlooked or underestimated because injuries are hidden until time of slaughter. Prevention consists chiefly of raising pigs in pastures and clean surroundings rather than old hog lots, he said.

The first federal grants extended to agricultural colleges were made in 1862 under an act of Congress known as the Morrill Bill.

DAV To Choose Hero's Name For National Honor

Leland Wittkopp, commander of Donald S. Simons Chapter No. 19, Disabled American Veterans, is urging all members to attend the regular meeting of that organization at 7:30 o'clock Monday night in the American Legion building. Matters of the utmost importance will be brought before the meeting, such as the appointment of certain officers for the ensuing year and completion of the chapter's delegation to the department convention in Albuquerque June 14-15, in addition to the regular business, Commander Wittkopp said.

One of the matters that will probably be of more interest than any other is the selection of a name of a veteran who died on the field of battle to be sent to national headquarters at Cincinnati for the special memorial services which will be held at the DAV national convention in August at Las Vegas, Nev.

"After talking with a number of the members here," Wittkopp said, "we have about decided the logical choice for that honor would lie between the names of Dale Hannah and Dee White for the reason that when the general public helped us select the name of Donald S. Simons for the chapter last year, Hannah and White received the next largest number of votes of any of the deceased heroes from North Eddy County."

"The final decision will, of course, be up to the members of the chapter who are there Monday night to vote on it."

Roswell Chapter Of DAV Honors Dunnam, Artesia

Bill Dunnam, organizer of the Donald S. Simons Chapter No. 19, Disabled American Veterans, at Artesia and a member of the Sunshine Chapter No. 4 in Roswell since the early '30's, was singled out for special honors at a meeting of the latter chapter in Roswell Monday night when a past commander's badge was presented him.

The presentation was made by Sam Bryant, an old friend of Dunnam's, and a charter member of the Roswell DAV chapter. Bryant referred to Dunnam as one of the faithful few who stood by the chapter "when the going was really tough," and during times when the chapter had a hard time to survive. The chapter now is the second largest in the department and New Mexico and is probably in the best financial condition of any other in the state.

Dunnam was taken by surprise and his attendance assured when Commander Robinson requested him to bring Commander Leland Wittkopp of the Artesia chapter, as plans were being discussed relative to the department convention of the DAV scheduled for Albuquerque June 14-15.
Dunnam qualified as a past commander during 1945-46, when as senior vice commander he finished the term of a commander who became critically ill and resigned.
Other members from Artesia present were Vice Commander

Flurry Elvin and Treasurer King Burtner.
