

Legion Building Will Be Opened To All Veterans

Steps were taken to make the American Legion building available to all veterans' organizations of the community as a veterans' club, when the building was held its June meeting last evening and installed Gilmore as commander for the coming fiscal year.

Commander Gilmore and other officers were installed by Dr. Hamilton, who served as the commander the last year.

After a general discussion to effect that all of the veterans' organizations were formed for a common cause, although membership in each is restricted to certain classifications, the American Legion, whereby the Veterans of the American Legion chapter was asked to share in the use of the building and, possibly, to form a veterans' club for the use of all. About 800 veterans will be eligible.

A concrete proposal is to be presented to the other veterans' organizations at their June meetings, the next Monday and the DAV meeting, June 16, whereby the building can be carried out, if the DAV agree.

Although the details of the proposal are yet to be worked out by a committee composed of Alan Thompson, M. E. Baish, and A. L. Bert, it was brought out that in general it will provide that a veteran eligible to any one of the three groups, or more than one, may join or continue his membership in that organization or organizations and will pay a stipulated sum in addition, which will give him all of the clubroom privileges.

It was further tentatively decided Monday evening that, with the approval of the VFW and DAV, a general meeting of all of the veterans will be held once a month, at which time entertainments and money-making projects may be planned for the common good, with the building to be used in the general plan. It was pointed out, the title to the building will remain in the American Legion, although all veterans will have equal rights to its use, so long as the organizations exist.

Should a veteran choose to belong to two or three of the groups, he would pay only one building fee, but would be required to pay local, department, and national dues to each of which he belongs.

After the proposition has been presented to the other veterans' organizations the next two weeks, Jesse L. Truett, Artesia, postmaster, announced this week that the closing time for outgoing mail for the northbound Santa Fe train in the evening will be advanced from 7:30 o'clock to 7 o'clock Sunday, when the new train schedule goes into effect.

The northbound train will be due in Artesia at 7:52 o'clock instead of 8:20 o'clock, or 28 minutes earlier, making it necessary to set the mail deadline up a half hour, the postmaster said.

Quick Turn Heads H. F. Lewis For Term On Forgery

It was a quick turn of events for H. F. Lewis, who forged checks here Saturday, was arrested in El Paso Sunday, and entered a plea of guilty Monday, and is now awaiting sentence, probably to the state penitentiary.

Lewis, who had been working as a farm hand for S. F. Bowman, on whom the checks were forged, was picked up Sunday in El Paso by officers upon the request of Deputy Sheriff J. B. Mulcock, who filed the information against him.

Lewis waived extradition to New Mexico and was brought back here Sunday night by Deputy Mulcock.

Arraigned before Justice of the Peace J. D. Josey here shortly before noon Monday, Lewis entered a plea of guilty and was bound over to the action of the district court.

Mrs. O. D. Conner And Children Have Narrow Escape As Bus Burns

Four Artesia residents were among 25 passengers who narrowly escaped serious injury Sunday afternoon of last week, when the gasoline tank on a bus they were riding caught fire and destroyed the bus at Indianola, Okla.

They were Mrs. O. D. Conner and children, Rose Marie, Thomas Burton, and Jerry Virginia, who were on their way to Cache, Okla., for an extended visit with their mother and grandmother, Mrs. Rosa Logan.

Officials of the bus company said a piece of steel frame holding the tank snapped and friction ignited the gasoline when the tank struck the pavement.

Passengers were hurriedly removed, along with all luggage, before the fire exploded a second tank and sent flames showering over the bus.

This was the second such experience for Mrs. Conner and children, who escaped from a burning bus in 1941.

Schools Show Great Growth As Kerr Serves Here 19 Years

W. E. Kerr, superintendent of the Artesia municipal schools for the past 19 years and who retires July 1, has seen the enrollment of the local schools grow from 733 in 1928 to 1955 this year and has seen the graduating class increase from 20 students to some 66, who held their commencement exercises here May 23.

Superintendent Kerr took over the task of heading the Artesia schools on July 1, 1928, succeeding Supt. J. T. Reid. At that time there were only a handful of teachers, an incomplete and inadequate plant and some 733 pupils.

Artesia at that time was only a little over 2000 in population. And during this 19 years Superintendent Kerr has seen the enrollment climb almost 300 per cent; the school system develop into one of the finest systems in the state and the village of 1928 grow into the modern city of 7500 to 8000 population.

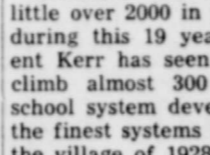

And he has played an important role in seeing the schools kept pace with the expanding city during this 19-year period. This has not only called for additional school plants but also more teachers and instructors as well as new subjects added to the courses being offered.

Superintendent Kerr has helped design and build the present Junior and Senior high school building with the large auditorium, the library and the gymnasium. He also has seen the Park school building constructed and has plans now for the erection of the third classroom building here. He has seen the district grow and expand to include other territory and has watched the enrollment steadily spiral upward.

He led the way for the establishment of the separate school for the Negro children and the construction of their own school. Present plans call for the enlargement of this building.

Besides his work with the local schools he found time to participate in the county, district, state and national educational programs and attend these meetings and conferences. He has served as president of the New Mexico Educational association and has continued his work and efforts to improve the status and the standing of the teachers in the state.

Advocate Starts Trips Weekly To Juneau, Alaska

The Advocate's newest subscriber is Jack K. Jones, Juneau, Alaska.

Although during the war The Advocate mailed copies each week to practically every part of the world, it is just a little uncommon now to receive a request for a civilian in far away Alaska for a subscription.

But beginning this week The Advocate will go to Juneau, Alaska each week to Jack K. Jones to keep him posted on what is happening back in New Mexico and especially Eddy county and Artesia.

Odum Charged Involuntary Manslaughter

An information was filed Wednesday by Sheriff Dwight Lech charging James Odum, Negro truck driver, with involuntary manslaughter in the death Tuesday evening of last week of three young people west of Artesia.

Miss Anna Ruth Ward, 18; and Miss Maryette Seeley, 17, were instantly killed, and Le Ray Stem Teel, 21, was fatally injured when the car driven by young Teel crashed into the rear of a heavily-loaded lumber trailer, which was parked on State Highway 83 about 11 mile west of Artesia. The truck-tractor had been removed and was brought on to Artesia after trouble, Odum told officers.

It is alleged by officers that the trailer was left on the highway without proper flare warning.

At a coroner's inquest last Thursday morning before Justice of the Peace J. D. Josey, a jury termed it an "avoidable accident."

The jury, W. M. Linnell, Dallas W. Golden, Louie Burch, Ed V. Watson, T. C. Hart, and Glen Sharp, found that "the deceased came to their death by reason of an automobile driven by Le Ray Teel and a parked, loaded trailer loaded with lumber... in an avoidable accident."

Odum was working for the New Mexico Eastern Lumber Company and was bringing the lumber to (continued last page this section)

New Artesia City Directory Being Distributed Here

Artesia's new city directory, which has been compiled and published by Lloyd's National Directory company, has now been completed and is being distributed here. All of the data within the directory was gathered during the past few weeks.

The directories are now being delivered to the 75, who placed orders for them here by the representatives of the company. The distribution of the books was started on Monday. Approximately 200 copies of the directory were brought to Artesia and it is expected that 25 copies of the directory will be left at the office of the Artesia Chamber of Commerce. They can be purchased there or they can be ordered direct from the company in Oklahoma City.

The directory has been described as a complete, thorough job and many fine compliments have already been paid those who produced the directory.

Besides containing the names and addresses and phone numbers of local residents, the directory also contains considerable information concerning Artesia, Eddy county and the state. A full list of city, county and state officials is recorded in the directory.

Listings of individuals are in alphabetical order and include first names of wives in parentheses. Besides showing the street number, the listings also show (continued last page one)

Governor Tells Artesia No. 83 Will Be Completed This Year

The remaining gap on State Highway No. 83 between Artesia and the Lincoln National Forest will be paved this year, Gov. Thomas J. Mabry assured several dozen Artesia and Hope business and professional men Saturday noon at a luncheon in his honor on the Roof Garden of the Artesia Hotel.

Advertisements for bids on the work on the seven miles will be made during June or July, the governor said.

Governor and Mrs. Mabry stopped over in Artesia during the noon hour on his way to Carlsbad, where he spoke at a convention of the New Mexico Junior Chamber of Commerce in the evening.

Recently a project for four and a half miles straddling Elk was let, leaving the only remaining gap of the state highway on the east slope of the seven miles from near the Dunken road intersection to the Elk section.

Last year, during the administration of Gov. John J. Dempsey, about 15 miles of highway was let and built from the end of the pavement beyond Hope nearly to the Dunken road, leaving about a dozen miles yet to be improved.

And recently a contract was let for a new highway on the west slope of the mountains, a project which is now under way, including the blasting out of a tunnel. The highway from Cloudcroft to the Tularosa Basin goes down the Sacramento Mountains south of the old Highway No. 83 right-of-way.

Governor Mabry told his Artesia audience Saturday that the seven-mile project to be let in June or July will complete the unimproved gap from the end of the present oil to a point near Reeves Hill, which will close all unimproved gaps from here to the forest line, with the exception of oiling the sections which were built a few years ago. These are from the forest east and Reeves Hill west.

The governor quoted a recent memorandum from B. G. Dwyre, state highway engineer, in which he was informed the oiling of these sections will no doubt be up for consideration next year.

Governor Mabry recalled to his Artesia hosts that during the campaign, when he was a candidate, he made no definite road promises, but assured Artesia and Eddy County that highways would have his consideration and that he would see what could be done about No. 83.

He said he is trying to do a good job for all of the state, but (continued last page this section)

Artesia's Population Within City Limits Is 7351, Directory Shows

Artesia's population within the corporate limits is 7351.

These are the figures as shown by Lloyd's directory, which has been completed and is now being distributed.

Although the figures are slightly under the estimates of 7500 to 8000 used by the Chamber of Commerce, it was explained these are within the corporate limits. Workers on the directory stated it is possible that some small children may not have been included, but they felt sure this was the total of the adult population.

Civic leaders point out there is a large number of suburban residents outside the city limits, which would increase the figure to be around the 7500 and possibly approach the 8000 population figure.

This growth, of course, is an increase of over 3000 within the past seven years since the 1940 census gave Artesia a population of a little over 4000.

The growth, of course, has been outstanding in the city and the director points out that Artesia is one of the fastest growing cities in the state.

The directory lists the number of meters in use here for natural gas, water and electricity and the number of telephones. Most of these figures, it was stated, have been increased since the directory information was compiled. However, as of that date, the directory shows some 1753 gas meters; 1475 water connections; 2036 electric meters and a total of 1686 telephone connections.

One of the remarkable things about the city's growth, it is pointed out, is the fact there has been no army camp here and no war industries to account for the growth. It has been a steady growth, which is expected to continue.

Many have emphasized the fact that once deep oil production is found in the fields east of Artesia, that the growth will even be more rapid.

The chances for deep production appear to be much brighter with more deep tests planned.

The problem of finding houses and apartments, which can be rented, remains a difficult one, despite the many, many new homes, which have been constructed.

The erection and construction of new homes and residences continues, while the demand for business buildings is on the increase.

Board To Study All Applications For School Head

No action on the employing of a new superintendent is expected to be taken here until the school board has had ample time to study all applications and has made a thorough investigation of the qualifications of all applicants for the position, it has been announced by Artie McAnally, president of the board.

A new superintendent is to be hired to replace W. E. Kerr, who has served Artesia for 19 years and who requested that he be retired as of July 1. Superintendent Kerr is eligible for retirement under the school retirement program.

President McAnally stated that the entire school board desires to consider and study all applications received and to go into the matter very thoroughly before reaching their decision as to just who the new superintendent will be.

He also explained that the superintendent will be a New Mexico school man, since under the (continued last page this section)

'Artesia Now Perfect City,' Kiwanis Governor Says Presenting Charter

"Artesia is now a perfect city," Rev. Charles Franklin Parker of Prescott, Ariz., governor of the Southwestern district of Kiwanis International, told a large audience here last Thursday evening, when he presented the charter of the newly-organized Artesia Kiwanis Club to Paul R. Dillard, the club's first president.

Governor Parker spoke of the three other service clubs and the splendid spirit and co-operation in the Artesia. "But," he added, "the only other thing Artesia needed was a Kiwanis Club."

He brought out objects of Kiwanis for 1947, which include consideration of every boy and girl for Kiwanis service, not only underprivileged children; the making of every club of service to home, church, and school; keeping the faith with the veterans; striving for equal rights and responsibilities under the law of all phases of economic life; the unselfish participation of citizenry; championing competitive enterprise for a sound national economy; supporting the United Nations in the interest of world peace, and the championing of international good will by the United States and Canada, the two Kiwanis countries.

Governor Parker welcomed the Artesia club to the "great family of clubs, devoted to service one to another, seeking to give of themselves, that the communities wherein they live will be better because of 175,000 Kiwanians working tirelessly for great and (continued last page)

New Rotarians Are Given Lesson In Club Objects

The newer and younger members of the Artesia Rotary Club were given a comprehensive insight into what Rotary stands for at the weekly luncheon Tuesday by Boone Barnett, who presided over that the primary object of Rotary is to sell the member on service and encourage him to practice the highest standards of ethics in his business or profession.

Rotary, he said, teaches service to all, to customers, to competitors, and to employees.

E. B. Bullock, who recently returned from New York, where he represented the Eastern New Mexico Area Council of the Boy Scouts of America at a national meeting, gave some interesting sidelights on his experiences in the big city and his attendance at a meeting of the largest Rotary Club in the world.

W. C. Martin of Cottage Grove, Ore., a charter member of the Artesia Rotary Club, was a guest. He was editor and one of the publishers of The Artesia Advocate a number of years prior to May 1, 1938, when he sold his interests to the late Ray Blocker.

Shortly after that time he purchased a newspaper at Cottage Grove and moved there with his (continued on last page)

Long Career Ends

SUPT. W. E. KERR, who has guided the Artesia Municipal Schools for the past 19 years, will end that career on July 1, 1947.

Superintendent Kerr has requested the board of education to retire him of that date and his request has been honored. He is eligible for retirement and for the pension, which is provided under the New Mexico educational laws.

Mr. Kerr became superintendent of the Artesia schools on July 1, 1928 and has served these long years, including the depression period and World War II.

When he came to Artesia the present city was little more than a village, with only a handful of teachers and few more students in the entire system than enrolled in the Junior and Senior high school last year. The school plant and equipment were little and from that he built the Artesia schools into one of the finest systems in the state.

Total enrollment back in 1928 numbered some 733 in the entire system, while only 20 seniors were in the graduating class of that year. Mr. Kerr succeeded J. T. Reid as superintendent here.

On May 23 this year the graduating seniors numbered 86, the largest class in the history of Artesia and more than four times as many seniors as received their diplomas back 19 years ago when Superintendent Kerr took over the school system.

The growth in enrollment has been almost as great, for he has seen the 733 grow to approximately 1955 with almost as many enrolled in the Junior and Senior high school this past year as were registered in the entire school system in 1923.

But enrollment is not the only thing, which has grown under his direction and guidance. The number of faculty members has increased from a few to many; courses offered have increased and improved; latest methods and procedures of instruction have been adopted and new plants have been erected.

Superintendent Kerr has seen the funds for education increase and new plants and buildings provided. He directed the activities resulting in the construction of the present Junior and Senior High School building, the library, gymnasium and auditorium in 1937. He supervised the construction of the new Park school building and has plans now for the expenditure of some $275,000 in bonds voted for the erection of another class room building and other facilities here for the education of the school children in the Artesia school district.

And during this period he has seen Artesia grow from the village of 2476 as shown by the federal census in 1930 to the 5000 in 1940 and an estimated 7500 to 8000 population as of this date.

He has worked and strived and toiled to keep the schools abreast of this growth, this progress and this advancement and to meet the ever increasing enrollment of students.

Through these years he has given his best to Artesia, its schools and its boys and girls. He has been and is a recognized leader of education in the state and has served as president of the New Mexico Educational Association. He has been active in district and national organizations. He has played an important role as citizen in his community, participating in lodge work, church activities, community programs and civic groups. He is a member of the Artesia Rotary club and has served as president of that organization.

He has served Artesia and New Mexico faithfully during these 19 years and is entitled to the well earned rest, which he has requested and been granted.

His has been a long, fruitful and successful career—one, which has won him the place he now holds in educational fields of endeavor and Artesia's best wishes go with him as he leaves his post after over 19 years with deep appreciation for his splendid service.—O.E.P.

Plans Are Set

COMMITTEE of the Artesia Chamber of Commerce has now set the suggestions for the approval of the city council, which has been in session since last Monday.

The committee is now set to meet with the approval of the city council, which has been in session since last Monday.

Isn't Costly

COURTESY DOESN'T COST A THING but a little effort.

And courtesy is returning to many places where it has been lacking the past few years.

That courtesy, which wasn't extended because there was so much business, is going to come back now because of the decrease in business. It is slowly changing from the seller's to the buyer's market.

That is we say courtesy is going to return where private business is involved. There may have to be a little pressure applied to return it in other places.

But the public doesn't have to stand discourteous conduct on the part of employees or firms or large corporations. The report made to the right place will get results.

This isn't always proving to be the case with public employees and especially so with tenure laws and civil service examinations. It is so easy to think we are working for ourselves and that we can do as we please.

Many a case on an unpleasant, disagreeable and rather insulting individual from a state or federal income tax office has been known. But the public doesn't even have to tolerate such individuals. The mere fact that these people are on the state or federal payroll doesn't mean the public has to take it. We haven't as yet gotten into the kind of government where a government agent can come around and treat us as he pleases.

We have usually found the higher up official or those in charge of the office or the department as a rule want their employees to be courteous and polite and they will handle such matters when they are brought to their attention. It isn't always easy, we say, to handle these matters because of certain regulations now concerning employees. But the fact does remain the public has a perfect right to expect and to demand, if that is necessary to secure it, to have service and courteous treatment whether they are dealing with a state and federal agency or whether they are dealing with private business.

And a few fair and just complaints registered properly and at the right place will get results and teach some discourteous and independent employees that after all, they are only working at the place—they don't own or run it.—O.E.P.

It's Up To Motorists

IT SEEMS THE RESPONSIBILITY for the children in several neighborhoods is with the drivers of automobiles, who must exercise more than normal vigilance to keep from hitting them.

And we're not talking about older kids crossing the street; we refer to toddlers playing, walking aimlessly, or even lying in the street.

More than once on more than one street we have observed little boys and girls, some hardly old enough to talk, out in the street, sometimes with the fond mammas in the front yards, paying no attention to them.

Sometimes the mammas glare at the frightened motorists as they creep down the street—evidently peeved at them because they have the audacity to use the thoroughfare in which the kids must play.

It is bad enough for older youngsters to play in the street, perhaps when it is the only place they have, but boys and girls old enough to play ball usually watch for oncoming cars. And besides, when they are playing ball, there are some facing in each direction, so they can warn each other.

But the little kids in swaddling clothes have no business in the street, even if the fond mammas are in the yards, and whether they pay their children any attention or not.

Certainly the tots do not know better. They have no fear of cars. And they pay them no attention.

They are not being bad when they wander out into the streets. But the parents are being bad when they allow it.

A child can be taught quickly—by the gentle punishment method—to stay out of the streets. Perhaps some parents will say they simply cannot spank a child who has not been bad, whose only offense it that he has wandered out into the street. But it is showing a greater amount of love for a child to spank him by way of developing or jogging his memory than to allow him to endanger his life in the streets, leaving his safety in the hands of God and the motorists.

That's asking too much, for even God is handicapped by such a situation. And drivers, whether careful or careless—and there are lots of careful drivers—are kept worried when they must creep along past tots, whose next move no one can predict.—A.L.B.

Goodwill Trips

PLANS HAVE NOW BEEN completed here for the holding of three goodwill trips of Artesia merchants, business people, professional men and citizens. Plans call for trips to the oil fields, Lake Arthur, Hagerman and Dexter and the mountain communities of Elk, Mayhill, Cloudfroth, Weed, Sacramento, Dunkan and Pimon.

These trips are not only good for those, who make them, but for Artesia as well. When we take time off to visit those, who patronize us, for a little friendly visit, it makes them feel much kinder toward Artesia. It makes those folks we visit feel we are genuinely interested in them and in their affairs.

The goodwill trips are more than worth the time and the cost and we sincerely hope there is a splendid representation on the trips this year just as there was a year ago.

You may feel you can't afford the time, but the fact is that you can't afford not to make the trip.—O.E.P.

About the only reward ever given that individual, who has the courage to stick his chin out in demand wise spending of tax money, is a sock on the chin by those spending the taxpayers' money.

Up and Down Main Street

DOESN'T MATTER UP AND DOWN MAIN IF IT HELPS CITY

It doesn't matter who advances the idea or program or movement or undertaking here if it will aid and help Artesia. The important thing is that we take advantage of the opportunity and do something about it. We have noticed that frequently good ideas and suggestions, which should be adopted and carried through, get little or no consideration. Maybe we are all wrong about it, but it seems to us that the idea or suggestion has to come from some source if it is accepted. We hope we are wrong about it, but we have watched it rather closely. And we know that our willingness to accept these ideas and to do something about it has cost us some things in the past. They will cost us more things in the future. It is past time that we wake up to the situation and take full advantage of the opportunities, which are presented to us. It is time that we do something about the things, which need to be done, instead of constantly talking about the things, which can't be done because we haven't the money. We are usually able to do the things, which we want to do. But when something comes along which would prove worth while and would aid our city, to refuse to do much about it because we didn't suggest it or think of it is a very poor excuse. And especially is this true when our refusal to do anything about it when we could and should, just tends to hold our city back instead of helping it to move forward. We have delayed about certain things in the past and it has cost us things that we should have as a community. It will continue to delay us just as long as we adopt and follow such attitudes.

Clyde Parrish talking over the phone during the morning.

Ross Sears out shaking hands with friends. Dr. J. J. Clarke renewing acquaintances. Paul Dillard doing an errand for a friend but admitting he was kinda caught up on his community job. D. D. Archer wasn't altogether happy about a certain situation. Don Bush greeting friends with a big smile. Neil Watson checking up on a notary seal a customer needed. John Cochran heading for home after a visit to the postoffice. Wayne Griffin visiting with Sam Steuart over a cup of coffee. Hollis Watson showing a willingness to feed a friend. Ralph Petty out and around a little and declaring he was sorta enjoying it. Deputy Buster Mulcock all smiles. Chuck Aston being accused of looking more like an Oklahoma Aggie than an Oklahoma Sooner. Leslie Martin sorta waiting to get even with Artie McAnally over a little matter between the two. Nothing serious, of course. Mayor A. P. Mahone refusing to get caught in a little argument on bond issues and the construction of the city hall. Rev. Kenneth Tuttle helping out on some church work. W. W. Byers headed up Main Street as though he was in a hurry. W. E. Rood in from Hope and just hoping that Highway No. 83 will be built. Jesse Carr going toward the Guy Choleoff office. Fred Brainerd visiting with friends. Dr. Chester Russell renewing his Advocate subscription and purchasing the morning paper. Paul Stroup busy at his news stand waiting on customers. E. A. Hannah all smiles and busy at his office. B. R. Gorman visiting at the postoffice before returning to his office in the Carper Building. J. P. Fleming enjoying that morning cup of coffee. Dr. John Clarke, Jr., busy at his office taking care of patients. That was Up and Down Main this week.

For almost five years we could and did employ the war as our excuse for not doing certain things, which need to be done. And that, of course, is out of the picture now. But we continue to

Fraud in Claims By Veterans May Bring Charges

Veterans who have fraudulently claimed readjustment allowances are likely to discover that although their claims were paid before discovery of the fraud, they may later be subject to criminal prosecution under the provisions of the Servicemen's Readjustment Act, and the forfeiture of further allowances.

In a statement issued by Benjamin D. Luchini, chairman-executive director of the Employment Security Commission, which administers Title V of the Servicemen's Readjustment Act, he said: "The commission is charged with the administration of the act, which provides, under Section 1300, that where any veteran knowingly accepts allowances to which he is not entitled, he shall be barred from any further readjustment allowances."

During the last year 12 veterans, who had violated Section 1300 of the act, forfeited more than $8500 in future allowances and may be prosecuted in the Federal District Court. The special examiner for the commission has recently heard cases of this type in Carlsbad, Hobbs, Clovis, Santa Rosa, Belen, and Albuquerque.

Generally the violations fall into two groups, unempowered veterans who fail to report earnings during a week or are unavailable for work where they are claiming readjustment allowances, and self-employed veterans who fail to report the sale of goods or products during a month for which they claim self-employed allowances. When it is determined that a violation exists, a denial of any further allowances is made and the case is referred to the Veterans Administration, which may request criminal prosecution by the U. S. District Court in the Federal District Office.

Other coincidental payments, which may result in denial of further benefits, are subsistence allowances paid to veterans attending school while at the same time claiming readjustment allowances for total unemployment.

Luchini emphasized the fact that the commission is concentrating on investigations of all cases which have come to its attention.

Spring Blossom

Sweet as the blossoms of springtime, this beautiful graduate clasps the diploma which symbolizes years of study and achievement. The light of fresh knowledge is in her eyes and the glow of happiness on her cheeks as she sees the distant vistas of life spread out before her.

Whither her course will lead her now—to further academic pursuits, to the marriage altar, or to new achievements in other fields—is a question the picture does not answer.

But whatever her future course may be, she is certain to find pitfalls, dangers and difficulties along the road of life. She will need character, courage and faith to carry her safely through and bring her life to its highest and richest attainment.

Religion and a suitable church connection is something she cannot afford to neglect. The beauty of her sweet young face must be enhanced by the beauty of mind and soul attainable through faith.

Let her but reach up and put her hand in the hand of God, and he will lead her safely into the fullness of life.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH
 The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend and support the church of his choice. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church on Sunday and read your Bible daily.

Miss Lora Mae Lane Is Married To S-Sgt. Ferron Cummins Sunday

An improvised altar banked with rambler roses, white lilies, ferns, and palms formed a charming setting for the marriage of Miss Lora Mae Lane, who became the bride of S-Sgt. Ferron E. Cummins Sunday afternoon. Rev. Chester Rogers read the impressive double-ring service before the candlelighted altar in the home of the bride at Lake Arthur.

Preceding the ceremony, white tapers set in candelabra rising from the floor were lighted by Miss Viola Lane, younger sister of the bride, Miss Lane wore a white formal with a sweetheart corsage. Pre-nuptial music was played by Mrs. Redmon Pate, who also accompanied Miss Billie Sue Tyson of El Paso, Tex., when she sang "I Love You Truly" and "Because." The "Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrin" was used for the entrance of the wedding party.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a traditional white satin gown, which was fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, fitted bodice, and bouffant skirt. Fitted sleeves tapered to a point over the hands. A fingertip veil was held in place by a coronet of pearls. She carried a bouquet of red rosebuds. For something old and borrowed, the bride carried a lace kerchief, which was used by both her mother and grandmother at their weddings. A single strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom, was new, and a blue carter completed the group. An old coin was worn in her shoe for luck.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was Mrs. Cecil Bostick, who wore a pink formal with a fitted bodice of chiffon velvet and a full skirt of net. She carried a colonial bouquet of sweetpeas. Bridesmaids were Misses Pamela Lou Jones of Anthony, N. M., and Evelyn Hinton of Encino. Their dresses were fashioned along the same lines as that of the matron of honor and were aqua blue and yellow respectively. Their flowers were colonial bouquets of sweetpeas.

Gurvis L. Cummins, brother of the bridegroom, attended as best man. Groomsman were John and Wesley Lane, brothers of the bride. Mrs. Lane chose for her daughter's wedding a smart afternoon dress of black with matching accessories. Red carnations formed her corsage.

Mrs. Cummins, the bridegroom's mother, wore a white afternoon ensemble with white accents. Her corsage was of pink carnations.

A reception for the wedding party was held immediately after the ceremony. A three-tiered wedding cake with miniature bride and bridegroom topping was served by Mrs. Bostick after the bridal couple cut the first slice. Mrs. Ward Hobbs and Miss Joan Norris, both of Carrizozo, presided at the punchbowl.

The couple left on an extended wedding trip after the reception. For going away, the bride chose a summer suit of Kelly green gabardine with matching accessories. She wore a shoulder corsage of red rosebuds.

Mrs. Cummins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Lane, graduated from Lake Arthur High School and finished her second year at New Mexico A. & M. College at Las Cruces this spring. Sergeant Cummins is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Cummins. He is also a graduate of the Lake Arthur schools and enlisted in the Army in 1940. He served about four years in the Pacific theater, more than three of which were spent in a Japanese prison camp. He is now stationed at Roswell Army Air Field.

Sergeant and Mrs. Cummins make their home in Roswell. In addition to members of the wedding party who came from out of town, guests who came to Lake Arthur for the ceremony included Miss Betty Butler of Portales, Miss Delilah Estes of Clovis, Vance Lusk of Clovis, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Cummins of Roswell, and Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Hinton, Sr., and children, John, Herbert, and E. L. Jr., of Encino.

Intemperance Likened To Octopus In Talk At W.C.T.U. Meeting

"The Modern Octopus" was the topic of an instructional lecture presented by Miss Eleanor Clark at a meeting of the W.C.T.U. Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. L. J. Chester. The topic dealt with comparing the spreading of the evils of intemperance to the spreading of the tentacles of an octopus. A short devotion program was presented by Mrs. N. J. Cabot.

At a business meeting, presided over by the organization president, Mrs. Kenneth Tuttle, a discussion was held on a new organization, the National Temperance Movement. Thirteen members were present for the instructive meeting.

 "God the Only Cause and Creator" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, June 8.

The Golden Text is: "Through faith we understand that the worlds were framed by the word of God, so that things which are seen were not made of things which do appear." — (Hebrews 11:3.)

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "For the invisible things of Him from the creation of the world are clearly seen, being understood by the things that are made, even His eternal power of Godhead." — (Romans 1:20.)

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook: "As mortals gain more correct views of God and man, multitudinous objects of creation, which before were invisible, will become visible."

 Visitors always welcome.

SKIP styling for a moment — it's pretty well admitted by now that Buick has called the turn on the shape of cars to come.

And for the present, slide over performance — with that big bonnetful of Fireball power, nobody's going to challenge you much on the open road.

What else has the trim Buick got that others can't quite come up to?

You find one big answer where the cobble are plentiful, the car tracks tangled, the bumps big.

This brawny traveler has a ride
 — a smooth, level, easy stride that makes you think of a canoe drifting in quiet waters.

One reason: It was Buick that first introduced the American public to soft, gentle coil springing on all four wheels.

It was Buick that first made it

THESE DO IT
 — four big-but-gentle coil springs permit each wheel to "stop over"
 bumps as it reaches them.
 It is this independent action of each wheel that gives Buick its matchless buoyancy on any and all roads.

possible for each wheel to step over bumps as they came along, leaving the frame and body to pursue their level way undisturbed.

Buick's coil springs keep their gentle softness always. They need no greasing or attention.

 They are unaffected by dirt, wear or the weather, and breakage is practically unheard of.

The net of it all is that you put yourself on Easy Street when you seat yourself in a Buick.
 You make every road a better road — every ride an adventure in smooth and buoyant comfort.

Chamber Offices Are Being Moved To South Second

The Artesia Chamber of Commerce offices, which have been located in the city hall since the new building was erected here, are being moved on Friday to 114 South Second street. These are the offices, which were formerly occupied by Dr. John McMurray and more recently by Dr. H. W. Crouch.

The move was made necessary because of the need of the city of the offices used by the Chamber of Commerce because of the expanding of city operations.

The city hall is not large enough to accommodate the Chamber of Commerce and provide needed city offices. It is hoped and expected that the day will come when the city can enlarge the city hall.

The new location will be only a half block off Main street and only one block from Highway No. 225. Many tourists and travelers visit the Chamber of Commerce offices every day and the new offices will be more accessible to them.

The Chamber of Commerce now affords the Chamber of Commerce more space with room for directors' meetings.

Manager Dave Moore stated that plans are all set now for the move on Friday and it is expected the organization will be set up and in operation at their new location on Saturday.

The public is cordially invited to visit them in their new offices.

and will be here from the opening of the summer sessions until the middle of September. Aldrich will not be here for the opening weeks of the program, but is expected to arrive about Aug. 1 to join the faculty as a top-flight drummer and percussionist.

All of the music classes will be held in the high school auditorium with the morning hours from 8 o'clock to noon, scheduled in order for the senior high school band, string class, junior high school band, and beginners' band.

Solos and ensemble groups and twirling classes will be held in the afternoons. Some evening drills also are being planned.

Girl Scouts Of Two Troops Have Mountain Trip

Girl Scouts of Troops 8 and 14 went on an all-day picnic Tuesday and covered many points of interest between Artesia and Cloudford.

The girls and their sponsors left the First Methodist Church at an early hour and made their first stop at the Mayhill picnic grounds at midmorning. They drove on to Cloudford for their midday meal and spent several hours hiking during the afternoon. They went to the new Lodge, the golf course, and the lookout tower. They also visited the skating rink.

Returning, they stopped at the greenhouse near Mayhill, and in Mayhill they explored the town while a flat tire was being repaired. Near Mayhill they also saw the swallow cliff and made a thorough examination of the mud nests.

The girls prepared their evening meal at the camping ground just west of Hope. There they also had their Girl Scout sundown campfire service. The tired but happy crew arrived home around 9 o'clock in the evening.

Girls who made the trip were Jo Ann Akins, Nancy Lee Baker, Angeline Barnett, Jessie Bell Brazelton, Annette Conner, Wanda Crume, Yvonne Dew, Frances Ann Fuchs, Bobby Jo Hanson, Helen Howel, Charlene Johnson, Rosemary Stinnett, Florence Worley, Janette Dudley, Margaret Ann Goodno, Mary Ida Brazelton, and Dortha Howell.

The trip was made by Mmes. Gale Ray, Mervin Worley, Herbert Howell, George Akins, and Herman Fuchs.

as many business men as can possibly make the trip, but to have the municipal band on the trips.

It is also hoped and expected that a large number of souvenirs and gifts can be awarded on the trips and special committees to solicit these gifts already have been designated. They are expected to make their contacts prior to the dates of the goodwill trips.

One or two firms have already secured gifts, which they expect to give away during the goodwill tours.

Complete plans and details for the tours will be made and discussed at the luncheon on June 13.

Hollis Watson has been designated as master of ceremonies for all three of the goodwill trips.

Judge Roy Anderson in Carlsbad an hour and a half later, and again he entered a plea of guilty.

Judge Anderson deferred sentence on Lewis, awaiting information on the record of Lewis, who officers said has previous criminal record. However, the court told the prisoner that he probably is headed for Santa Fe and that the few days it will take to run down his record will make little difference in the long run. In the meantime he is lodged in the Eddy County jail.

The complaint entered by Deputy Mulcock alleged that Lewis on Saturday forged checks in the amount of $71.50 on the First National Bank of Artesia, fraudulently signed with the name of S. P. Bowman.

Community Pays Homage To Its Hero Dead Friday

While paying homage to the nation's hero dead at the Memorial Day services in Woodbine Cemetery Friday morning, Paul Dillard, principal speaker, pointed out that we have a solemn duty to rededicate ourselves to the preservation of this nation, to the many privations to which we must bow and to the financial backing we must give this great nation of ours, that these dead shall not have died in vain.

The speaker said it must be insisted that the representatives of the people give the nation a foreign policy which is "less foreign and more policy."

"If we are going to put up our dollars against Russia we should be prepared to put up our men," he declared.

Dillard spoke on "Memory and Duty," in which address he brought out the history of the struggle of the United States full of heroism and sacrifice—not only of the men who fought the various wars, but of the statesmen and the women who bore the sons to carry on the work for them—that the principles of democracy and liberty might prevail.

Referring again to them, he said, "We have a solemn duty to do what these dead expected we would do when they left the affairs of the world in our hands, a duty to rededicate ourselves to the preservation of this nation, to the many privations to which we must bow, and to the financial backing we must give this great nation of ours, that these dead shall not have died in vain."

The Memorial Day services were held at the grave in Woodbine Cemetery of Hal Hamill, Sr., who served in both World Wars I and II, under the joint sponsorship of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, Disabled American Veterans, and the United Spanish War Veterans.

The services were opened by Rev. Kenneth Tuttle, pastor of the First Christian Church, who gave the invocation after which Dillard read the Memorial Day address.

After the address a firing squad of veterans in command of T/Sgt. Preston Triplett fired a salute of three volleys over the grave of Mr. Hamill, symbolizing the graves of all the honored dead. "Taps" was then played in the distance by Perry and Donald Schulze.

Group singing awards were given to Alpha Crouch, Janette Howard, and Mary Ann Solt. Service stars were earned by all the regular members of the troop.

A short program followed the presentations. The Girl Scout promise was recited by the group and Wanda Burch gave a short summary of the founding of Girl Scouting.

Mrs. Jack Frost and Mrs. C. P. Burch are the leaders of the troop.

VFW Is To Consider Legion Proposition At Meeting Next Monday

Important matters will be taken up at the monthly meeting of the Veterans of Foreign Wars at 7:30 o'clock Monday evening at the American Legion building, it was announced by J. B. (Buster) Mulcock, commander.

Among them will be consideration of a proposition made Monday evening of this week by the American Legion that the VFW, as well as the Disabled American Veterans, be formed into a veterans' club, all members of which will have equal privileges in the new building.

Bob Rodke, program chairman, announced Joe Rosenthal of Albuquerque will present a program on moderation and will show a movie, "Clear to the Top."

Concerts Drive For Coming Year Is Successful

The membership committee for the Artesia Concerts Association, a branch of New Mexico Concerts, has reported a successful membership drive. While the enrollment for the coming season did not show a large increase over last year, it was gratifying to note that many new names have been added to the list of subscribers.

Grady Booker, chairman of the drive, has expressed his appreciation to the workers who aided in putting over the affair.

Dr. Reginald Fisher, who is head of the musical division of New Mexico State Museum at Santa Fe, will be in Artesia within the next 10 days to meet with the local committee to arrange for the fall concert. With half a dozen symphony orchestras, several college musical departments, a number of special music and radio stations originating network broadcasts in the region in which to draw talent, the Museum believes the Southwest has come of age musically. The Southwest was defined roughly as the area from Denver on the north to Dallas on the southeast, Phoenix on the south, and Albuquerque in the center.

Local music lovers are eagerly looking forward to the splendid programs which are assured for the next season.

Model Airplanes Furnish Thrills At Port Sunday

Crack-ups and temperamental engines marked a model airplane demonstration at the Artesia municipal airport Sunday afternoon, staged under the sponsorship of the Artesia chapter of the National Aeronautic Association.

Under a rule set by the NAA a week prior to that there be 15 or more entries for contests in the various classifications, no times were taken and no prizes were awarded.

The previously announced contest will be staged at a later date, when it is hoped the rapidly growing interest in the building and flying of model airplanes will have prompted a large number of local people to prepare and enter.

A special show was provided for an El Paso man Sunday, who did not know the planned contests were to be for local people, and who brought six splendid free-flight planes, which he flew.

Two of the planes cracked up after a number of successful and interesting flights and then the visitor gave up in disgust. But he and his planes provided the principal thrills of the show.

'Only The Valiant' Is Presented On Sunday At Methodist Church

Seven Of Nine Living Veterans Were In War II

Seven out of every nine living veterans of the nation's last five wars served in World War II, according to the latest tabulation released by Veterans Administration.

The remainder participated in World War I or the Spanish-American War, or they still receive VA compensation or pension benefits for service in the peacetime forces, the Civil War, or the Indian Wars.

The table showed that many veterans reside outside the United States. More than 100,000 live in Alaska, the Canal Zone, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico, and 50,000 live in foreign countries, exclusive of the Philippines, where 18,000 are reported.

VA explained that the 18,000 estimate for the Philippines excludes many former soldiers for whom no official Army separation records exist.

United States citizens who served only in the Allied military forces are omitted from the tabulation, although some are eligible for various VA benefits. VA said the number of these veterans cannot be estimated with any degree of accuracy.

ans recorded in the list can qualify for VA benefits. For example, the GI Bill advantages are available only to those discharged under other than dishonorable conditions. This limitation affects about 150,000 World War II veterans, but the number is being reduced as the War and Navy Departments reconsider the circumstances under which other than honorable discharge certificates were granted.

Of the estimated total of 18,188,000 living veterans as of May 1, 14,267,000 served in World War II and the remainder, 3,921,000, in the four prior wars and in the peacetime forces.

Of an estimated 74,000 veterans living in New Mexico, 60,000 served in World War II and the remaining 14,000 in prior wars.

Cloudcroft Golf Tourney To Be Played July 17-20

One of the Southwest's most famed and oldest golf tournaments, the Cloudcroft invitational, traditionally held over the Fourth of July, has been postponed this year to July 17-20 to avoid conflict with the Southwestern amateur championship which will be held in Albuquerque over the Independence Day week end.

Announcement in the change of dates for the Sacramento Mountain resort tourney, played at 10,000 feet over the nation's highest golf course, was made by Clyde R. Lathrop, owner and operator of Cloudcroft Lodge. Lathrop reported that the course was in the finest shape in its history with the greens in close to perfect condition. He gave much of the credit for this to Paul Hernandez of Cloudcroft, the course greenskeeper.

Entrants may qualify on any occasion up to and including June 17. Match play in flights will get under way July 18, and continue for three days.

The Calcutta Pool will be held the night of July 17. It will be unique among such pools because every cent invested will be paid out to those holding the winning players. The club will take no cut. Handsome trophies will be awarded winners and runners-up in all flights as well as the low medalist in the qualifying rounds.

Midland Fliers Invite Artesia To World Rodeo

An arcade of seven airplanes from Midland, Tex., visited Artesia Saturday afternoon on one of the stops planned to advertise the annual world's championship rodeo at Midland today through Sunday, with purses totaling approximately $7500, including entrance fees.

The seven planes which landed at the Artesia municipal airport while a high, gusty wind was blowing, was only part of the original arcade, a number of the lighter planes of which turned back before reaching here.

The visitors from Midland were greeted by a fair-sized crowd of Artesia citizens, including Mayor A. P. Mahone and Chuck Aston, president of the Chamber of Commerce. In spite of the high wind, it is believed several hundred would have turned out to greet the visitors from Midland, comparable to a greeting tendered a similar arcade a year ago, had there been more advance notice. No one here knew the Texans were coming until late last Thursday.

Over a public address system carried on one of the planes, the people of the Artesia community were invited to attend the rodeo at Midland, open to all the world, June 5-8.

In the arcade were three Stinsons, two Globe Swifts, and one each Howard and Ercoupe.

VA Urges Vets To Arrange Early Plans For College

The Veterans Administration is urging veterans who plan to attend college and other institutions of higher learning for the first time next fall under the GI Bill to arrange immediately for entrance into the schools of their choice if they have not already done so.

VA forecasts another peak registrations in institutions of higher learning at the beginning of the next school year.

All indications point to an increase over the current peak of approximately 1,200,000 former GI's now enrolled in these institutions. Veterans who wait until the last minute to apply for entrance are running the risk of being shut out, VA said.

VA also advised veterans who plan to start their educational training next fall to apply at once for their certificates of eligibility.

A veteran can obtain an application form for education or training by writing or visiting any VA regional or sub-regional office.

VA explained that when a school accepts a certificate of eligibility and forwards it to VA, it becomes the basis for payment of the veterans' tuition, fees, and supplies to the school and the subsistence allowance to the veteran.

Applications filled with VA regional offices now will be acted on promptly so that veterans may have their certificates when they contact the schools concerning their enrollment, VA said.

Vocational Ag Boys Sell Dads On Idea Of Soil Conservation

Early this year a vocational agriculture class at Swainsboro, Ga., undertook a pasture development project after the instructor talked over the program with Emanuel County agricultural conservation program committeemen.

They got written permission from their fathers to use a portion of each farm's soil-building allowance. Then they went to the ACP office in a body to get their purchase orders for seed. Projects varied from one to 10 acres for each boy, and averaged about 6 acres of permanent pasture per farm.

A total of 5400 pounds of lespedeza seed was issued on the purchase orders. The seed planted with Bermuda grass complete fertilizer at the rate of 2000 pounds per acre was seeding, and arrangements made for potash to be applied soon as it could be obtained. Instructor supervised the work. Emanuel County office revealed that on these 23 farms only six had reported a soil conservation practice for the past three years. Three had ever secured money through grant-aid or purchase order programs. Now the boys are going to find out what ACP business is all about.

Cattlemen Are Making Plans For State Meeting

More than 250 cattlemen representing every county in New Mexico are planning to attend the next quarterly meeting of the New Mexico Cattle Growers Association to be held at Raton June 20-21, according to George A. Godfrey, Animas, president.

Discussions of the program to eradicate foot-and-mouth disease in Mexico, reduction of livestock grazing permits on the National Forests, and return of federal public domain lands into state or private ownership will highlight the sessions, Godfrey said.

The state association is laying plans to sponsor a state-wide contest among the FFA and 4-H youth of New Mexico on matters of current concern to the industry, Godfrey said. A committee from the association will meet at Raton with L. S. Kurtz, state 4-H leader, and L. C. Dalton, state FFA supervisor, to lay final plans for the contest.

Foot-Mouth Disease Control Is Under Way In Old Mexico

About 18,000 animals have been slaughtered and buried in the campaign to stamp out the foot-and-mouth disease in Mexico. Slightly more than half of these were cattle, and the rest were sheep, swine, and goats.

In addition, about 75,000 apparently healthy animals have been sent to slaughter in the main quarantine zone of Southeastern Mexico, in order to reduce the numbers of susceptible livestock in that area. Officials expect that more than 1000 animals will be slaughtered daily when the control program reaches full swing.

About 12,000 oxen — used by Mexican farmers for draft purposes — were included among the animals slaughtered. These are being replaced by mules, which are not susceptible to foot-and-mouth disease. Estimates are that 50,000 more mules will be needed; 5000 have already been obtained from Northern Mexican states. Tractors will be used as replacements where conditions justify.

Save Protein In Alfalfa Crops, Specialist Says

New Mexico dairymen can reduce the size of their next winter's feed bill by saving more protein in their alfalfa crops, according to E. E. Anderson, dairy specialist of the New Mexico Extension Service.

Anderson declared. This loss may amount to more than a third if the crop is rained on while it is being cured. Much of the protein loss can be avoided by making silage from the forage crops, instead of curing them in the field for hay, the dairy specialist said. He quoted the results of long-term experiments by the Bureau of Dairy Industry and the Bureau of Plant Industry, Soils and Agricultural Engineering at Beltsville, Md. Losses from the first and second cuttings of alfalfa for hay at Beltsville in 1945 amounted to 264 pounds per acre, or the equivalent to 750 pounds of linseed oil meal, which at 4 cents a pound is worth $30, Anderson explained. On the other hand, when the two cuttings were made into silage, by the wilting method developed by the Bureau of Dairy Industry, the loss of protein was only 127 pounds, thus making silage saved 137 pounds of protein per acre, which in terms of linseed oil meal was a saving of $15.60.

Control Of Sheep Ticks Now Means Heavier Lambs

Control of sheep ticks now will result in heavier lambs this fall, Dallas Rierson, county agent, said. One of the most costly effects of sheep-tick infestation is the reduction of the weight of lambs at weaning time, according to Rierson. In those areas where ewes are lambing before shearing, the ticks move to the lambs and "set up housekeeping," he said.

Farm Briefs

The latest tabulations released by Veterans Administration reports an estimated total of 18,188,000 living veterans as of May 1. Of this number, 14,267,000 served in World War II and the remainder were in prior wars and in the peacetime forces. Geographic distribution of the recorded veterans include: Colorado, 156,000; New Mexico, 74,000; Utah, 82,000; and Wyoming, 42,000. Not all of

Merit Awards Are Given For Improving Jobs

In New Mexico, 4-H Club members again have an opportunity this year to win special recognition for developing methods that will simplify their farm and home jobs. Recognition in the form of merit awards will be given on county, state, and national levels in the 4-H better methods electric activity, the National Committee on Boys' and Girls' Club Work has announced.

Sewing Interest Is On Increase Among 4-H Girls

Interest in sewing is steadily increasing among rural girls. This is reflected in an announcement that 1945 counties in 45 states named winners in the 1946 national 4-H clothing achievement awards program, or a gain of 144 counties over the preceding year.

Control Of Sheep Ticks Now Means Heavier Lambs

A few sheep can be treated by using a rotenone dust, Rierson added. This dust may be prepared by mixing one part 5 per cent rotenone to 10 parts pumice, talc, pyrophosphate, or any other cheap diluent. A more thorough treatment of the ewe and lamb with this preparation will almost eliminate the tick, he said.

Outstanding records of achievement in this activity are again being recognized by the merit awards. County winners receive gold-filled medals of honor. The state winner gets an all-expense trip to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago next December. Twelve state winners selected for national honors each receive a $200 college scholarship.

State winner in 1946 was Edna Johnson, 18, Lake Arthur, who received a trip to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago. Among her work simplification accomplishments on the farm and in the home was that of studying the job of churning butter twice a week for a family of seven. By purchasing an electric churn, she saved 14 days of hand churning, 1.4 miles of walking, and 3.1 tons of lifting per year. In planning their new home she also made recommendations for electric outlets for an electric mixer, a sewing machine, and other electrical appliances.

New Slant On Saving Pigs Is Accident Result

An ingenious life saver for little pigs—as simple as it is practical—is the result of an accident in Kentucky. The results were so fortunate that the Extension Service is recommending the method widely as a good method to increase efficiency in meat production.

Methods for spraying sheep can be worked out effectively, Rierson said.

Livestock Producers Get Fund Protection Through Government

Livestock producers from now on can have additional protection of their sales proceeds under an arrangement worked out by the U.S. Department of Agriculture and the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, according to Hoy Connelley, PMA range and livestock specialist.

The plan, Connelley said, "will be similar to the insurance protection provided on personal bank accounts. When a commission firm deposits in separate custodial bank accounts shippers' funds representing proceeds from sales, such funds will be insured up to $5000 for each shipper having an interest in the account. So the shippers' sales proceeds on deposit are protected even though the bank fails before the commission firm's check in payment of the net proceeds is cashed by a shipper.

Artesia's Ministers Speak

(Rev. Cyril Stone)

A series of articles for the department is being written during June by a former pastor, Rev. Cyril Stone, and Mrs. Ed Stone, who are back here for the summer vacation from Perkins School of Theology, Southern Methodist University. He is an ordained Methodist minister.

This week, the motherly eye of Methodism is cast on her youth who are just finishing another year of schooling. Her young men and women who are receiving higher education are receiving more and more attention, and annually there is one day when they are recognized, as they will be on June 8 this year. This greater emphasis on Christian education has been a process through the years, but it seems that through the past few years there has been given far more consideration to Christian, and not just higher, education. Methodism is not alone in this earnest effort to furnish for future use generations of men and women well trained, for all our fellow Christians are likewise involved. What then do we really mean by Christian education? E. L. Shaver, in his "Project Principle of Religious Education" tells us that it "sets as a goal the development of character which harmonizes with the Christian ideal both within the individual and the social order." And the character becomes, then, the way one meets all life situations. However, education of this nature does not begin with the upper brackets of the educative process, but within the very beginning of education for the child, which loosens the confines of formal education which we generally hold to.

Christian education begins then where people are. It takes the child in the home in the first formative years and enlarges his experiences and develops his moral sense, which adds to the maturity of character of the youngster. Then the home must share this responsibility with the church, for the church takes hold of the child and becomes partly responsible for the type of individual he becomes, before the public school has a chance to work with him. Working together, the home and the church strive to give the child a number of experiences which will develop him for experiences in a larger society. After a few years the public school takes over the child and adds its contribution to the making of an individual whose character is growing to harmonize with the Christian ideal. Our only hope that such a triangle will accomplish its purpose lies in the full participation of each part of the triangle.

Christian education must be creative. If at home the child is treated as though he is not wanted how is the church or the school going to proceed with its share in the educative process? I do not raise this question facetiously for this particular question is facing the church and the school more and more today. The home is not fulfilling its share of the responsibility of teaching the child "the way in which it shall go."

There is, to be sure, a small percentage of the homes which will strive to maintain the ties which lead to loyalty, trust, faith, and love, but that percentage is far too small, and it may well be the result of our own economic system. The home is not alone in failing to give creative experiences to the child, for traditional educational methods still prevail in far too many of our schools. The child is not led into the process of growing through experiences, but instead is still given facts and figures to digest without having an opportunity to see any use for these same facts and figures in his present-day life.

Keep Eggs Cool In Summer To Preserve Quality

Runny whites, questionable yolks, and dirty shells won't win customers for eggs. County Agent Dallas Rierson reminded poultrymen. And with warm weather on hand, he said, producers have to be more careful than ever about preserving the quality of their eggs by keeping them cool.

"It's easy to market high-quality eggs when the weather is cool, but egg quality slumps fast at temperatures above 60 degrees," Rierson said. "Eggs lose as much quality in three days at 99 degrees as they do in 23 days at 61 degrees."

The county agent said that every producer can safeguard egg quality by observing a few easy rules. One of these is to gather eggs at least twice daily.

"As all hens want to lay in the same nest, the eggs laid in the morning will be under a hen all day, unless gathered sooner," Rierson said. "And since the hen has a body temperature of 107 degrees, it's easy to see what happens to the quality of eggs left after gathering. He said that eggs gathered in a wire bucket and set down in a cool place will lose their best heat in six hours, while those kept in a case will take 20 hours to cool off. Even eggs set in a cool place will require a dozen hours to cool."

"Eggs will maintain their market quality if stored at 60 degrees in a room which is humid, clean, and free from strong odors. A wet sand floor or pieces of wet burlap hung in the storeroom will supply the moisture necessary in the dry Southwest."

Rierson also stressed the value of clean eggs in creating buyer appeal. "Dirty eggs appear unwholesome and drive the customer away. Keep your eggs clean by confining your hens to the poultry house during wet weather and by putting plenty of dry litter in the nest and on the floor. Remember, one hen with muddy feet can dirty a whole nest of eggs."

which showed nearly 51,000 home loan applications received, against 41,000 in March.

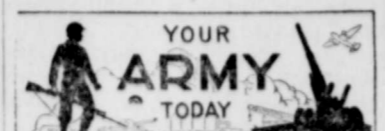

The peak month was last September, when 58,000 applications for guaranty of insurance of home loans were received. VA attributed most of the April increase to seasonal factors.

While the upswing was general throughout the United States, the sharpest increases were reported in New England and on the West Coast. Seattle, Wash., led with an increase of 62 per cent over March, followed by California with 56 per cent and the combined New England states, with nearly 40 per cent.

Total home loans approved through April numbered 692,000, representing a mortgage value of $3,926,000,000 and carrying VA guarantees of more than $1,842,000,000.

In addition to the April increase, VA also noted that the amount of the average GI home loan has shown a net increase of about 20 per cent over the last year. This figure rose from $4605 in January, 1946, to $4948 in April of the same year and reached a high of $128 in February, 1947. The upward trend was reversed during the last two months, with the average declining to $6053 in March ROOKIES: The period of a soldier's life when he is considered a rookie will be longer after May 5. The basic-training program will be extended to that date from eight weeks to 13 weeks. The new program will provide a complete course in the fundamentals of military training for all newly-enlisted personnel of the Army except Air Force. It does not apply to branch training. The eight-week training program was a necessary interim measure to meet demands for replacements in overseas theaters.

AWARD: A new medal has been struck, and the War Department soon will distribute it to soldiers and veterans who have performed occupation duty in former Axis countries. It is for service in Germany after V-E Day and for service in Japan and Korea after V-J Day. Thirty consecutive days of service are required. The medal also will be awarded for occupation duty in the Trieste area of Italy.

The medal is a silk ribbon composed of a white stripe, a black band, a red band and another white stripe goes with the medal, which is of bronze and about the size of a 50-cent coin. The face of the medal shows a part of the Remagen Bridge over the Rhine. The reverse side has a sketch of Fujiyama, sacred volcano of Japan.

CUSTER: A new officer reported for duty the other day with the Seventh Cavalry, which made the famous last stand with Custer. The new officer is Lieut. Col. B. C. W. Custer, grand-nephew of the famous George A. Custer of the famous Seventh, which is on occupation duty in Tokyo. He is 44 years old and hails from Monroe, Michigan. He had commanded a battalion in Europe and was decorated for gallantry in action.

THAW: "Williwaw" and "Frigid" are coming back to the States to thaw out. These are the names of task forces which have been testing Army Ground Forces clothing, vehicles, weapons and equipment under extreme terrain and weather conditions in the Aleutians and in Alaska. "Williwaw," based on Adak Island, is sailing for Seattle. "Frigid," based at Fairbanks, Alaska, is sailing for San Francisco in two groups, the second being scheduled to depart from Fairbanks on May 10.

Colonel Joseph D. Raney commands Task Force Williwaw. Colonel Paul V. Kane is the commanding officer of Frigid. A third task force, "Frost," conducted winter tests in Wisconsin.

EDUCATOR: Philip S. Donnell, dean of engineering at Oklahoma A & M College, Stillwater, made pertinent statements about universal military training when he visited the UMT experimental unit at Fort Knox, Ky., the other day. "I would," he said, "by all means endorse such a program as exists at Fort Knox, for I believe that it will instill and improve the values of citizenship. It will teach the teen-age boys respect for authority, increase their consciousness of the meaning of citizenship, and teach them how to live with other people. At the same time, they will learn to take care of themselves, and be in a much better position to come out alive should future strife occur."

LEARNING: The army is an educational institution, and its curricula goes beyond the four R's—reading, 'riting, 'rithmetic and 'rifles. About 300,000 army people are attending off-duty classes, and the subjects they study range from Shakespeare to elements of electricity. To date, more than half a million high school diplomas have been granted to service men on the basis of work completed under the Army education program.

This adult education movement is carried out in co-operation with the United States Armed Forces Institute—abbreviated USAAFI. The schools in overseas theaters are staffed mainly by American civilian instructors. These schools are augmented by mobile units, which carry learning to men in the field. In the United States, many enlisted men are taking university extension courses.

and dropping further to $5985 in April.

Home loan defaults continued negligible in number, compared with total loans approved. However, of the 2821 home loan defaults reported through April, 782 were reported in that month alone, establishing a record high compared with any previous month.

A substantial number of the defaults reported have been restored to good standing by means of negotiations between the veterans and the lenders, with VA assisting where possible in working out a satisfactory method of payment. During April, 268 home loan defaults were cured in that manner, representing nearly 30 per cent of the total of 935 to date.

Only 292 home loan defaults thus far have resulted in claims against the government.

Veterans have repaid 9180 loans with a total face value of $39,562,000. They repaid nearly 1500 in April alone.

Any veteran who served in the armed forces between Sept. 16, 1940, and the end of the war and who was released from service under conditions other than dishonorable after at least 90 days of service, or who was discharged for service-connected disability after a lesser period of service, is eligible for a guaranteed loan. His discharge papers constitute his certificate of eligibility, which he need only present to the lender from whom he desires to obtain the loan.

VA guarantees the lender against loss up to 50 per cent of the loan, with a maximum guarantee for any veteran of $4000 on real estate and $2000 on non-real estate loans. Farm loans are repayable up to 40 years, and non-real estate loans up to 10 years.

In addition to the guaranty, VA pays the lender, for credit to the veteran's account, a cash sum equal to 4 per cent of the guaranteed or insured portion of the loan.

Frances Willard was president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union from 1874 to 1898—a period of 25 years.

VA Highlights

Veterans in need of surgery of the nervous system now are sent to 41 specially equipped and staffed hospital centers operated by VA or under contract to it. Each center has the special equipment, neurosurgeons and other skilled personnel necessary to perform all types of neurosurgical operations, including some involving surgery not performed in the average general medical hospital.

The VA center in the Rocky Mountain region is at the Salt Lake City hospital. Eligible veterans also may be treated in the Army's Fitzsimmons General Hospital at Denver.

Indications are that about half of the veterans attending higher educational institutions under the GI Bill in Utah, New Mexico, Wyoming, and Colorado will continue their education during the summer session. Contact with schools of higher learning indicates that if present building and expansion problems are completed, the institutions can accomplish a slight increase in enrollment at the beginning of the fall term.
