Members of the central committee of the United Veterans Club of Artesia this week made appeals, one for a large attendance at a meeting at the Veterans Memorial Building at 7:50 o'clock this evening to discuss the VJ-Day celebration and the completion of the building, and to secure a large turnout Sunday morning, when the concrete walks and other concrete work will be poured.

Proclamation By The Mayor

Aug. 14 Will Be City Holiday

Whereas, Thursday, Aug. 14, 1947 will be the second anniversary of the surrender of the Japanese in World War II, which has come to be called VJ-Day, and Whereas, the United Veterans Club of Artesia is sponsoring a community-wide celebration on Aug. 14, in which many attractions of both a serious and light nature are planned, and Whereas, the members of the United Veterans Club of Artesia are inviting everyone in this and surrounding communities to celebrate with them, to the end that Artesia will be in a carnival mood and the friends of the veterans will wish to have a part in the day's activities, houses of the city close on that day and that employers and employees join in observation of VJ-Day.

To the end that it be a general holiday, I ask that the merchants and other businessmen of the downtown area fly the Flag of the United States and that they decorate their places of business in keeping with the spirit of the day.

Further I would request that as many businesses and civic and other organizations as possible participate in the parade planned for the morning of VJ-Day by entering floats or otherwise taking part, and that the citizens of the Artesia community support the United Veterans Club of Artesia in the various features of the day's program.

A. P. MAHONE, Mayor of Artesia.

Plans Coming Nicely To Open School Sept. 2

With nearly all teacher vacancies filled and plans coming along nicely for the coming semester, Tom Mayfield, superintendent of Artesia schools this week announced classes will start Tuesday, Sept. 2, on which day all of the school buses will start their regular scheduled runs.

The superintendent said registration for junior and senior high school students will be the week prior to the opening of the schools, in order to avoid confusion on the first day for classwork. The schedule of registration days and hours will be announced later, he said.

A faculty meeting has been called for 10 o'clock Monday morning, Sept. 1, preparatory to the opening of school the next day.

Superintendent Mayfield said A. R. Wood, former superintendent of schools at Mountainair, has been employed for business manager. Wood also has been a member of the faculty of the Albuquerque city school system, and for the last 18 months was connected with a school supply company. He assumed his new duties as business manager here this week.

R. M. Stinnett, former school business manager, has been appointed principal of the proposed new school on the north side.

The vacancy as principal of Central School, caused by the resignation of Miss Fannie Woodruff, has been filled by the appointment of Vernon Mills, who was principal of an elementary school at Portales the last five and a half years. Miss Woodruff has joined the faculty at Carlsbad.

Superintendent Mayfield said it is hoped the double shifts of pupils, which has been necessary in the past because of crowded school facilities, will be of short duration, if necessary at all, (continued last page this section)

Celebration Plans Are Falling Into Place Like Jigsaw Puzzle

Sponsors For Church Page Are Being Sought

With this issue starts the second six-month church page in The Advocate, a feature which has caused considerable favorable comment, both because of the splendid copy and art work and because of the spirit of those local businesses and individuals who have been underwriting it.

Some of those who have been underwriting the page the last six months feel they have done their share for the present in making the "go-to-church" appeal to the Artesia community, and they have asked that The Advocate pass the privilege around.

While others are going ahead with their support, an invitation is issued to those who feel the common appeal of a "go-to-church" page is of civic and moral value to add their names to the list of signatories.

During the last six months The Advocate has underwritten a portion of the post, revealing far below the regular advertising rate for the space used, besides buying the material for the pages at a good price.

With this in mind and the fact that the Artesia Ministerial Alliance has placed its stamp of approval on the page, individuals and businesses are invited to help underwrite this splendid undertaking.

With the United Veterans Club "Preparedness for Peace" VJ-Day celebration only a week away, committee workers declared this morning that everything is beginning to fall into place like the pieces of a jigsaw puzzle, the completed picture of which will be something long to be remembered in the Artesia community.

From the big parade in the morning to the dance and carnival at the Veterans Memorial Building in the evening, the next Thursday will be packed with something doing every minute.

Program times overlap, but not sufficiently that everyone cannot enjoy a portion of every feature.

Don Bush and M/Sgt. Preston Triplett of the committee said the parade should eclipse any ever held in the history of Artesia, with floats, members of veterans organizations, the Tucson Army Air Field and Artesia municipal bands, a composite anti-aircraft battery from Fort Bliss and several other sections, which should stretch out for several miles.

The parade, which is to start at 10 o'clock in the morning of VJ-Day, will form at 10th and Quay, will form at 10th and Main and back to the place of starting on Quay Avenue.

About a dozen organizations and businesses in Artesia have informed the committee they will have floats. But more probably are being planned.

The committee this week received a telegram from General Wainright to the effect that he has notified Fort Bliss to make available the anti-aircraft equipment. (continued on last page)

Duck Season Cut To Two Periods Of 14 Days Each

A curtailed open migratory waterfowl season of 28 days, divided into two periods of two weeks each, was announced last week after President Truman set periods for the various zones by proclamation.

The open season for the zone which included New Mexico will be Tuesday, Oct. 7, through Monday, Oct. 20, and Tuesday, Dec. 23, through Monday, Jan. 5.

The 28-day waterfowl season compared with 45 days for last year, which was a shorter period than the year prior.

But surveys taken throughout the northern part of the United States and Canada in the breeding areas, showing a great reduction in the number of ducks and other migratory waterfowl, indicated an even shorter period should be permitted.

It was not announced at the time of the president's proclamation what the bag limit would be this season, but local sportsmen believe it will be no larger than last year, if that large. A year ago the daily bag limit on ducks was seven, down from 10 the year prior, while the possession limits each year were double those figures, except for the first days of the seasons.

The daily shooting hours were not immediately announced, but (continue on last page)

Fishing Without Proper License Found Expensive

Fishing was found to be expensive by Sherman Adamson when he was caught engaged in this sport without proper license and appeared before and was fined $28.50 by Judge J. D. Josey, who sat as justice of the peace Monday.

A Sergeant Roper was fined $20 on the same day in the justice of peace court for engaging in a fight on the streets of Artesia.

With the exception of a vagrancy charge pressed against L. T. Beaucham, who was found not guilty, and a speeding charge against William Ammous, who was assessed $10, all the names appearing on the city record this week were there for drunkenness.

W. J. Henshaw was fined $20 for drunkenness and fighting and Leroy Carroll was assessed $20 for drunkenness and disorderly conduct. All other persons listed here were assessed the usual $15 fine for drunkenness.

They were Julio Achorn, Fred Escandien, Albert Scott, Ramon Gardner, Rogue Valencia, J. A. Turner, Andrew Gibson, Rudolph Bernal, Manuel Mashaer, Gualdopce Navarette, and W. J. Henshaw.

Henshaw was again arrested and fined $15, after having paid a $20 fine earlier in the week for drunkenness and fighting.

'Fly-Up Day Camp' For Scouts Off To Good Start

The Brownie "Fly-Up Day Camp" got off to a fine start Monday morning, when 49 Scouts met at Central School and were transported to the J. M. Berry farm.

The activities of the first day included short hikes, nature studies, a selection by the campers of the craftwork they will do for the remainder of the camp, and story time. Mrs. Duane Sams served as narrator and provided an interesting and educational feature by explaining tree mushrooms and fungi. One large tree at the farm has a number of growths which added to the explanation.

The campers and staff of the day are finding the Berry farm ideal for their camp. The girls have been divided into age groups and have chosen Indian names for their units. Unit leaders have been dubbed with Indian names also.

Tribes represented at the camp include Taos, which is the Fly-Up Intermediate group; Navajo, the 8-year-olds; Cherokee, the 7-year-olds; and Apache, the 9-year-olds. One of the most amusing names given to any of the unit leaders is the one selected for Mrs. T. A. Hart, leader of the Apaches, who is known as "Chief Corn-on-the-Cob."

Fifty-eight girls turned out for the second day of the camp. This is an all-time record for day-camp attendance. The leaders believe this is because of the postponement of day camp until later in the summer, rather than holding it immediately after school closed for the summer.

The day-camp staff has expressed its appreciation for the splendid co-operation given by the persons furnishing transportation to and from the camp. It is (continued on last page)

The art work was executed by Miss Betty Blue. Marie Fletcher, owner, has had the fixtures rearranged somewhat to give a more modernistic touch. Part of the show window boxing has been removed, making it possible to view the shop from the street, as well as making more light inside and seeming to enlarge the entire shop. "This is a holdup," said the gruff voice outside the movie ticket window in Santa Monica, Calif. "Are you kidding," laughed Wanda June Phillips, the cashier in front of the gun's muzzle. "Move on, you're holding up the line." The would-be bandit fled, but the next man in line pursued, colored him, and called police.

Gen. Patrick J. Hurley, who was severely wounded in the head while running the Jap blockade to reach the boys on Bataan, will be the principal speaker, it has been announced. Among those mentioned for the state chairmanship are Phillip Hubbell, present chairman; Gerald Champion, Alamogordo, and Lyman Raef, Socorro. Another Jack Rabbit Drive On Seven Rivers Planned For Sunday Another jack rabbit drive is planned for Sunday afternoon in the Seven Rivers area, it was announced by Frank Howard, after one last Sunday was somewhat of a failure because of scattered showers, which kept sportsmen away. It was thought also that some who might have attended otherwise did not go because it had been announced both shotguns and 22 rifles would be permitted. Howard said that for the sake of safety, no rifles will be permitted in the drive Sunday afternoon. It is to be organized at the catleguarch north of the Moutray ranch on Seven Rivers at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon. All hunters with shotguns are invited. Social Security Man Will Be At City Hall Tuesday Afternoon Anyone needing information or assistance on the federal social security program can get help in Artesia Tuesday. Perry A. Webb, manager of the Roswell Social Security office, has announced that he will be at the assembly room of the city hall beginning at 2 o'clock on a regular visit to talk with claimants, employers, and others. He emphasized that the federal old-age and survivors' insurance program, which he administers, provides payments to qualified retired workers past the age of 65, and to families of wage earners who die. "Our program does not provide payments for younger persons who are temporarily out of work," Webb added, "although they may be eligible for unemployment compensation under the state program. Information on that program may be obtained at any time at the New Mexico State Employment Service office in Artesia." At Kilgore, Tex., the bridegroom was knocked out and the best man came to his aid while the bride looked on. That sounds like a fight at a wedding, but it wasn't. Baseball Pitcher Willis Channess was married to Miss Jane Brown in a home-plate ceremony, then went on the mound to pitch the game. But he was knocked out in the eighth by opposing team batters and the best man, Ed Kennon, was sent in to relieve him. Grow Perennial Flowers From Seed You can save considerable garden money and add new zest to your gardening by growing your own perennial flowers from seed. The best quality seeds cost only a few cents a packet and with simple care will produce scores of plants to bring color and beauty to the garden for years to come. Most perennials grown from seed bloom the second year after sowing. Seed should be started at about the same time as that of the annuals, such as zinnias and marigolds. The secret of success is to get the seedlings to transplanting size early enough so that when set in their permanent places in garden or border, they will get a good root-hold before cold weather comes on. A specially prepared seed bed or seed box is best for starting perennial seeds. A seed bed can be easily prepared by knocking the bottom out of a good-sized shallow wooden box and sinking the sides into the ground. The top should be about two or three inches above the surface. Use finely prepared, crumbly garden loam containing plenty of humus. It is important to locate the seed bed where it will be sheltered from strong winds and from sunlight during the hottest part of the day. A seed box or flat may also be used, with holes bored in the bottom for drainage. This has the advantage of being movable to sheltered locations when necessary. Some perennial seeds are very small. Mix them with sand so that they will not be sown too quickly in the row and merely press them into the soil instead of covering them. Larger seeds need a shallow covering of soil. Firm the soil down on them so that they will make immediate contact with the moisture and plant food. Keep the soil moist but not wet until the seeds sprout. Some gardeners spread damp burlap over the surface to furnish needed moisture, removing it at the first sign of sprouting. Here are a number of perennials that beginners can start from seed with almost sure success: Columbine, gallardia, coreopsis, hollyhock, painted daisy, sweet william, hardy pansies, hardy alyssum, and the violas. Perennial seeds usually take somewhat longer to germinate than those of annual flowers. Don't be discouraged if the tiny sprouts do not show themselves for two or three weeks after the seed is sown. In every normal year, the streams of the United States wash away three billion tons of the soil, which has made us a 'have' nation in a world of 'have nots,' Miller continued. He declared that, according to Dr. Hugh H. Bennett, crusading chief of the Soil Conservation Service, "we have destroyed a fifth of all the usable farmland our country ever had. "We have left about 450 million acres of good cropland, of which a quarter is now being seriously damaged by soil erosion. Dr. Bennett estimates that 15 years if it is to be stopped at all. Another 100 million acres are going at such a rate that we have only 15 to 30 years in which to save it." On every acre of unprotected cropland the six-inch margin of topsoil fertility is growing slimmer, day by day. Miller said that forestation must be restored on the highlands, the steep slopes, and the headwaters of streams, where it should never have been removed, but that is only part of the solution which soil conservation brings. "Since 1937, the Soil Conservation Service has helped farmers to organize 1850 democratic units for soil planning, covering approximately 980 million acres of land," Miller asserted. "Even so, unless the destruction of our soil is stopped within the next 20 years or so, we'll all be doomed to slow starvation," according to P. Schuyler Miller of the Adult Education Department of the Schenectady (N. Y.) Public Schools, speaking on a science forum. The six-inch topsoil margin between plenty and starvation is shrinking fast in the United States, as it is in most parts of the world, Miller pointed out. "We in the United States have destroyed as much land in a century and a half as the empires of antiquity destroyed in thousands of years," he explained. "We started at the Eastern seaboard and swept across the continent like locusts. When one farm 'played out' we moved West to find another. "Flood waters are rushing off the eroded farms of half the nation, carrying with them tons of soil. "Every minute that the Mississippi River is in flood, it carries away enough topsoil to cover a 40-acre farm to a depth of seven inches."

Rotary Juniors Defeat Carlsbad Sunday 16-12 The Artesia Rotary Club's junior baseball team defeated the Carlsbad 20-30 Club juniors here Sunday 16-12, in a game which the local boys had sewed up after the first inning. However, in the first inning, it looked as though Carlsbad would step out and carry the Artesia boys off their feet, when Buster Brown walked three in a row and allowed a hit, giving Carlsbad a 4-1 lead. With the pitching of Duane Tucker starting in the second inning, the Artesia boys came through to take the lead, which they maintained throughout the remainder of the game. Tucker struck out nine Carlsbad boys in six and a half innings and allowed eight hits. On the other hand, the Artesia boys got 14 hits off of three Carlsbad pitchers. The win Sunday gave the Rotary Club's team a third victory in five games. The team was to meet the Carlsbad City Creamery junior team in Carlsbad Wednesday afternoon and will play the same team here Sunday afternoon. Classified FOR SALE — 1933 Chevrolet pick-up.  "Spirit" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, Aug. 10.
 The Golden Text is: "Teach me to do thy will; for thou are my God; thy spirit is good; lead me into the land of uprightness."
 —(Psalms 143:10.)
 Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "God is a Spirit: and they that worship him must worship him in spirit and in truth." —(John 4:24.)
 The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook: "The Scriptures imply that God is All-in-all . . . The Scriptures also imply that God is Spirit . . . He fills all space, and it is impossible to conceive of such omnipresence and individuality except as infinite Spirit or Mind. Hence all is Spirit and spiritual." — (Page 331.)
 Visitors always welcome.

American Defense Service And Victory Medals To Be Distributed

Distribution of American Defense Service Medals, with fleet or base clasps, and World War II Victory Medals to all eligible veterans of the Naval Service and personnel now on active duty will start Aug. 1, the 11th Naval District disclosed.
 It is estimated 200,000 men and women will apply in the 11th Naval District, which includes New Mexico.
 The huge job of processing the applications and distributing the medals has been assigned to naval recruiting stations throughout the nation.
 Delivery of medals will be made to applicants only upon personal presentation of discharge certificate, certificate in lieu thereof, or release orders in the case of officers, accompanied by the NavPers Form 553, notice of separation, where available. In no case will the medals be issued if the character of the separation is in doubt. Naval recruiting stations are situated at Albuquerque, Santa Fe, Clovis, and Roswell.
 Eligibility for the American Defense Service Medal calls for active duty between Sept. 8, 1939, and Dec. 7, 1941, inclusive. The Fleet Clasp will be issued along with the Defense Medal to those who served on the high seas during that period in any vessel or aircraft squadron. Those who served on bases or naval stations outside the continental limits of the United States during the period will be eligible to receive the Base Clasp. Only one clasp will be issued to any one person.
 The World War II Victory Medal is awarded for active duty in the armed forces at any time between Dec. 7, 1941, and Dec. 31, 1946, inclusive.
 The Bureau of Naval Personnel will make all posthumous awards and will process the applications of Naval veterans now residing outside of the United States.

 In such instances, the veterans' organization posts involved will collect such documents from its members as would be required where the individual applying separately, and will make a preliminary verification of the eligibility of such members for medals and clasps, then by special arrangements satisfactory to the officer in charge of the distribution activity, the post will present a collective statement of its requirements, with substantiating documents, for verification of claim, and for receipt of necessary issues in bulk.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

"One to a Customer"

War-time rationing may be over—but it's interesting to see how folks in our town (merchants too) cooperate when supplies are short—seeing that everybody gets their fair share.

There's no law that says they have to. And probably if there were, they wouldn't—human nature being what it is. But when it's up to the folks themselves, the buying and the selling, "one to a customer" is an accepted phrase almost everywhere.

From where I sit, the more you leave things to the people, the better results you get. Take the Brewing Industry, which endeavors to keep taverns clean and orderly and law-abiding through its program of Self-Regulation.

The aim of this Self-Regulation program is to keep places that sell American beer friendly, orderly, clean and wholesome—and open to inspection by anyone at any time—just as they should be.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

War-time rationing may be over—it's interesting to see how folks over town (merchants too) cooperate when supplies are short—seeing that everybody gets their share.

There's no law that says they're to. And probably if there was, they wouldn't—human nature being what it is. But when it's to the folks themselves, the buyers, and the sellers, "one to a customer" is an accepted phrase most everywhere.

From where I sit, the more you leave things to the people, the better results you get. Take the Brewing Industry, which endeavors to keep taverns clean and orderly and law-abiding through its program of Self-Regulation.

The aim of this Self-Regulation program is to keep places that sell American beer friendly, orderly, clean and wholesome—and open to inspection by anyone at any time—just as they should be.

Department Of Public Health Gives Regulations

The State Department of Public Health has received the new interstate quarantine regulations which became effective June 16, pertaining to "Psittacine birds." The term, "Psittacine birds," includes all birds commonly known as parrots, amazons, Mexican double heads, parakeets, African grays, cockatoos, macaws, love birds, lorries, lorikeets, and all other birds of the Psittacine family.

The regulation states that no person shall offer for transportation, or transport, in interstate commerce, any psittacine birds unless the shipment is destined for a zoological park or research institute, or the shipment must not exceed two birds which must be accompanied by the owner and such birds must have been in the owner's possession for the preceding two years and have not had contact during that preceding two years with other Psittacine birds and that these birds will be transported immediately to the owner's private residence and retained there as household pets.

It would seem that this new regulation will prevent any commercial dealing in Psittacine birds but does not prevent an individual moving into the state who has owned such birds at least two years and who wishes to move them into New Mexico as household pets.

Haldeman Hopes 'Freedom Train' May Stop Here

W. T. Haldeman, exalted ruler of the Artesia Elks Lodge, who attended the national convention in Portland, Ore., last month, has announced the approval of a proposal to send a "freedom train" rolling over the nation starting in September, designed to become a national shrine and to house about 100 original American historical documents upon which the development of American democracy and civil rights is based.

The exalted ruler said he has hopes the train may be brought into the Pecos Valley, with a stop at Artesia.

Stops are to be made in each of the 48 states, and it is planned to ask local authorities at each city to proclaim and organize a rededication day or week.

The "freedom train" was but one project incorporated in a program at the convention fostered to develop greater and more responsible participation by American citizens in affairs of their government and to inculcate in the youth of America a full appreciation of the heritage of which they will be trustees tomorrow, the exalted ruler said.

Many UNM Students Work Outside Classes To Help Meet Expenses

University of New Mexico students doing classwork and employed part time by the university worked 49,246.7 hours from Jan. 1, 1946, to July 1, 1946; and from July 1, 1946 to Jan. 1, 1947, they worked 75,777.22 hours, earning a total of $62,512.65, at 50 cents an hour, according to figures released by the university business office.

The base pay rate for student help was raised to 60 cents an hour last Jan. 1, with some offices paying more, the report said.

The greatest employer of student employment on the campus is the university library, which employed an average of 76 students a month during the winter, and 60 during the summer session.

Of course, the picture was taken to show the "hot-rod" racer, "515," built by Hugh Barron, the racer's pilot, seen on the far side in helmet and goggles, and Curtis Killingsworth, who is not in the picture.

Clark and "515" will race in the various events at the new racetrack at the Artesia municipal airport on VJ-Day, Thursday, Aug. 14, in the first Artesia owned "hot-rod," and one that will get up and go.

A number of other racers will be here for the big celebration being sponsored by the United Veterans Club of America, the proceeds from which will go towards the completion of the Veterans Memorial Building.

Although Miss Marler will not be along side of "515" when it is whizzing around the track on VJ-Day, she probably will be at the dance that evening in the Veterans Memorial Building.

out question, had reached that point. How do men reach that place in life? First, by stifling their conscience in smaller things until it begins to lose its force. Then, it is only a matter of time until it becomes "seared" and they degenerate to the place where they are little different from beasts.

A third basic element of character is: Punctuality. It may be defined as the ability to do or say the right thing at the right time. We readily recognize that many things that are done should be left undone; likewise, many things that should not be done are done because of the inability to think punctually, decide, and act.

Our fourth basic element of character is: Industry. Making proper use of time may almost be considered a "cure all" for the things that are lacking in the character of men. Because if one has this characteristic, whenever deficiencies are found he will not cease to try until it is eliminated. Thus one would ever be developing the character she should have.

There are now 85,909 men enlisted in the National Guard, with a goal of 682,000 by Jan. 1, 1951.

CHARACTER

One of the greatest needs of the world today is men and women with character. In every realm of affairs, international, national, and local; in civic, social, and religious activities there is this need.

Most older persons can remember the time when a man's word was his bond; when the majority of people could be depended upon to do the right thing. A common saying then was that there is "honor even among thieves." Today one is not a pessimist when he acknowledges that it is different. When one makes an analysis of the ills of the world today he may easily see that many of them are the direct result of this lack of character. It is a general condition that ought to be corrected and I call attention to it because I believe that when people are shown these things that many will respond to the call of duty and strive to develop those things that are lacking.

What are the basic elements of good character? The first that I will mention is: Thought culture or development. Solomon wrote of a man, "As he thinketh in his heart so is he." Men need to have both the desire and ability to think for themselves. "Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty," and men cannot be vigilant without the ability to think, determine, and analyze things for themselves. The lack of this ability leads men to do things that they would not otherwise do.

Next, among the basic elements of character I would mention: Fidelity to conscience. Man's conscience is placed within him as a watchman; however, man may disregard it until he nullifies its ability or effect. Finally, it may become seared. The Bible speaks of such and it also speaks of those who are "past feeling." We can think of infamous men of world affairs of late who, with-

CROWS CAN'T TELL THE DIFFERENCE

It isn't hard to fool a crow. Just hang some tattered clothes on a stick—and the crow thinks he's looking at a man. That's why the ragged gentleman in the picture has been so successful in keeping the field to himself.

But we know he's just a "scarecrow." We can tell the difference! We can tell a real man from an imitation of a man... and we can tell a man of moral strength from one of moral weakness. We are not easily deceived by false fronts: we look for character in the people we meet.

We seek to build character, also. That's why our churches are so important. We rely on our churches to mold the character of our children through religious education. And in our churches we fortify our own character through regular worship of God.

Thoughtful men and women attend worship services and support the Church. They see the difference that religious faith makes in the life of the individual and the welfare of the community! Go to church this Sunday.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend and support the church of his choice. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church on Sunday and read your Bible daily.

Ford Motor Company

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

3000 Schaeffer Road
DEARBORN, MICHIGAN

July 31, 1947

Mr. Philip Murray, President,
Congress of Industrial Organizations,
1500 Commonwealth Building,
Pittsburgh 22, Pennsylvania.

Dear Mr. Murray:

I am writing you because of the critical situation which faces Ford Motor Company today. We are threatened with a general strike next Monday which we are sure could be avoided by the use of patience and reason.

We believe in collective bargaining. We have, moreover, scrupulously followed the practice of negotiating across the bargaining table. It is our conviction that no good purpose can be served by turning the bargaining table into a public forum.

We find now, however, that we are no longer bargaining with the representatives of our employees. The negotiations have become a marionette show, with hands far distant from the bargaining table pulling the strings.

For this reason we feel we have no choice but to bring to your immediate attention a proposal which we have made to the Ford UAW-CIO, and one which the Union claims it is powerless to consider.

The Union is asking us to include in our new agreement a provision which would in effect nullify certain provisions of the Taft-Hartley law. This we cannot agree to do. We respect and obey the laws of the land and cannot be a party to placing Unions above the law.

On the other hand, we are aware that irresponsible factions in Ford UAW-CIO could inspire incidents over which the Union leadership might have little or no control, and that the Union might in consequence suffer financial penalty for an act it could not prevent.

To eliminate this possibility, we have suggested a contract provision which would leave no question as to our good faith under such circumstances. We have, to be specific, proposed that the Company will agree not to institute suit against the Union for damages arising out of illegal strikes under the following "good faith" conditions:

1. If the Union has not inspired or authorized such an illegal strike, and
2. If the Union will agree promptly to denounce publicly such an illegal strike, and
3. If the Union and its responsible officers and agents will agree to use prompt and honest effort to prevent or end any such illegal strike, and
4. If the Impartial Umpire, who, by agreement with the Union, decides other points of difference arising out of our contract and who has always had the complete confidence of both the Union and the Company, can be the final judge as to whether the Union has taken these reasonable steps in regard to illegal strikes.

In short, this provision merely asks that the leadership of the Union act in good faith and with reasonable diligence to avoid illegal strikes or the threat of such strikes. In turn, we are pledging the good faith of Ford Motor Company not to claim damages if, in the opinion of the Impartial Umpire, the Union meets these reasonable conditions.

Finally, I would like to point out that the strike which is threatened against this Company would not really be a strike against Ford Motor Company at all. It would be a strike against the Government and the laws of the land.

In this connection, may we say that we sharply question the wisdom of a strike or a threat to strike under these circumstances. Our customers, our employees, our management—none of whom is at fault—will suddenly suffer loss of cars and trucks, wage, and income, simply because Ford Motor Company has been chosen as the guinea pig in an effort by UAW-CIO to veto those parts of a Federal statute which it does not happen to like. In our opinion, it is things like this which cause people to lose confidence in labor leadership, which we will both have cause to regret.

We do not want a strike. We believe our employees do not want a strike. To avert a strike we have made a proposal which we are sure you will find fair and reasonable in every respect. Since Ford UAW-CIO seems powerless to act in this matter, we are calling on you to act.

Please advise.

Very Sincerely,

Henry Ford II

VA Highlights

The Navy Department Terminal Leave Disbursing Office at Great Lakes, Ill., reports that it is unable to process and pay thousands of claims for payment of unused leave because of the failure of claimants to supply correct information. The office said also that approximately 100 bonds and checks are returned each day by the Post Office Department because of lack of correct addresses. The office is holding approximately 1100 claims which bear no address. Veterans who submitted their claims prior to March 1, have not yet received bonds or checks in payment, should immediately communicate with the Terminal Leave Disbursing Office. All communications should indicate service number, as claims are filed by service number and cannot be located without the number.

Paralyzed and tubercular patients in Veterans Administration hospitals now may study educational courses while they are bedridden by flashing microfilm slides of textbooks on the ceilings over their beds with special projectors. VA said this is the first time it has used this method to bring educational texts to veteran patients for study while they are flat on their backs. In the past, VA has used the process mainly for entertainment purposes. As patients complete the study of a page projected on the ceiling, they "turn" the page by pressing a small button on the special bedside projector to throw a new page on the ceiling. Service organizations and other groups throughout the nation purchased the projectors and donated them to the VA.

Sixty-eight national and state organizations are authorized to represent veterans in the presentation and prosecution of claims against Veterans Administration. VA now is authorized, in general, to recognize only state or governmental services, or organizations granted a charter or recognition by an act of Congress.

Three paralyzed bowling champions from VA hospitals recently were presented championship awards at a White House ceremony. The veterans then demonstrated their bowling skill from wheelchairs on the White House bowling alleys. The champions are the three top winners of the national 10-pin bowling tournament that VA conducted in six of its paraplegic centers where paralyzed veterans receive special treatment. High individual scores were Gerald A. Kopp, Spokane, Wash., with an average of 137 pins per game for 12 games. The journey was one aspect of the broad sports and games program which is part of the rehabilitation of disabled veterans and is conducted as prescribed by the doctors treating the patients. Approximately 30,000 veteran patients participate in the program each week.

On-farm training, combined with classroom instruction, is proving popular with World War II veterans in New Mexico, Colorado, Utah, and Wyoming, the Veterans Administration reports. Although the program was organized only about a year ago, nearly 3000 veterans are enrolled in four states. Utah led with 1292 trainees on June 1, including 344 disabled veterans training under the Vocational Rehabilitation Act. Colorado had 116 veterans enrolled, Wyoming 83, and New Mexico approximately 420.

Milk Cooling With Electricity Sound Better Quality Product Results at Small Cost

Milk customers don't pay off on the quality of milk as it is produced on the farm. It's quality at the print of sale that puts money in the bank. The dairy farmer, therefore, faces a double task—to produce good milk at milking time, and to preserve that hard-won goodness until his product has been sold. Preservation of quality requires that milk be cooled below 50 degrees within approximately an hour and a half after it is drawn in order to check bacteria growth and eliminate souring and off-flavors.

Water alone is not a satisfactory cooling agent, because only in rare instances is its temperature lower than 60 degrees. The addition of ice to water will help, but storage difficulties and the work involved in keeping the tank adequately supplied present certain obstacles to its use. In addition, its cost, if purchased, often is so high as to offset the price received for satisfactorily cooled milk.

Because of this situation many electric milk coolers (either of the tank or aerator type) are being installed on electrified farms. Such coolers, according to the Pennsylvania State college school of agriculture, meet the farmer's requirements for they are "designed to cool fresh milk quickly, uniformly and economically."

On the basis of tests conducted recently on 101 electrified New York state farms, the cost of cooling milk electrically averages from 12 to 13.5 cents per hundred pounds. The power rate in the test area was 3 cents per kilowatt hour of power, which is about 1/2 cent lower than the national farm electricity rate.

The number of veterans enrolled in the national farm training program rose from 58,000 on Oct. 1, 1946, to 162,500 last May 1. The veteran's farm is considered his laboratory where he puts into practice the knowledge he learns at a nearby agricultural or vocational school. All of the veteran's farm operations are supervised. His classroom instructor visits him regularly to check on his practical farm work. The program is designed mainly for veterans who own or operate farms or who plan to do so. However, it also provides training for those who desire to obtain jobs as hired managers or skilled workers. More than 13,500 of the trainees are disabled.

Fourteen of the 24 blind veterans in Utah, Colorado, Wyoming, and New Mexico are receiving institutional or on-the-job training. A Braille edition of "Veterans' Rights and Benefits" is being distributed to all blind veterans through VA training officers.

The number of veterans receiving institutional training in the four states comprising the VA branch 13 area dropped from 43,737 on May 1 to 40,334 on June 1, a decrease of 3403. Veterans taking on-the-job training declined from 15,776 to 15,138.
