Meter Ordinance Becomes Effective Tuesday

Artesia City Council at a meeting Wednesday of last week passed a city ordinance defining the operation of parking meters, setting hours for their operation and otherwise setting up regulations in regard to them.

According to the ordinance, it is to go into effect five days after publication in today's issue of the Advocate, which will be next Friday.

The ordinance recites that it is unlawful to have a vehicle in a parking meter zone at any time during which the meter shows a signal indicating that the space is illegally in use, other than such time as is necessary to operate the meter to show the parking, between 8 o'clock in the morning and 6 o'clock in the evening of any day, except Memorial Day, Labor Day, the birth of July, Labor Day, Thanksgiving, Armistice Day, Christmas, and any other holiday proclaimed by the mayor.

Operation of the meters is invested in the chief of police, who is to designate some person to make regular collections from them and deposit them with the city treasurer.

The ordinance also says it will be the duty of the chief to have lines or markings painted on the curb or street adjacent to each meter to designate the parking zone for each meter.

It will be unlawful to park a vehicle across any such lines, or be so parked as not to be entirely within the designated zones.

A section of the ordinance recites that the funds derived from the parking meters are to be levied and assessed to provide for the proper regulation, control, and inspection of traffic on the public streets and to cover the cost of supervising, regulating, and inspecting the parking of vehicles in the parking meter zones, the cost of placing and maintaining the lines designating the zones, and the cost of purchase, supervision, protection, inspection, and control of parking meters, to be placed in a special fund. Any excess is to be placed in the general fund.

The ordinance also provides that the chief of police and his officers are to attach to vehicles which are illegally parked notices instructing the owners or operators to report to the police judge.

An owner or operator may, at the option of the chief of police, after the time such notice is attached to a vehicle, pay the city judge 50 cents in full satisfaction of the violation.

However, the ordinance continues, any person violating the provisions and upon conviction may be punished by a fine not exceeding $100 or by imprisonment in the city jail not more than 30 days.

Portions of streets established by the ordinance as parking meter zones:

Main Street—From the west side of First Street on the north and south sides to the west side of Fifth.

Second—From the south side of Texas to the north side of Quay on the east and west sides.

Third—From Main Street south on the east side to the alley of Quay, and from Main Street north on the east side to the south side of the alley.

Roselawn—From Main Street south on the east side to the alley; from Main Street south on the west side to the north side of Quay, and from Main Street north on the west side to the south side of Texas.

Fourth—From the south side of Texas to the north side of Quay on the east and west sides.

Fifth—From Main Street north on the east and west sides to the alley.

The ordinance makes it unlawful to park any vehicle on the west side of Third Street from Texas to Quay, and on the east side of Roselawn from Texas to the alley between Main and Quay.

It is further provided in the ordinance that the city may make provision for bus stops, loading zones, and entrance ways, while the types of businesses which may have such zones are limited to several mentioned in the ordinance.

The City Council will determine whether a loading zone or entrance is required and will assess $1 a foot a year for such space reserved.

Mayfield Urges Students Of Artesia To Register Early

Wm. Mayfield, superintendent of Artesia schools, this week urged students and patrons of the school system of the Artesia school district to register early for the start of classes Sept. 2.

The schedule: Seventh and eighth grades, Friday morning, Aug. 29; ninth grade, Friday afternoon; 10th and 11th grades, Saturday morning; 12th grade, Saturday afternoon.

All students of those grades are requested by Superintendent Mayfield to report at the high school on the designated days, in order to expedite enrollment and to have it out of the way for the opening of school.

All school buses are to run on the high school registration days and they will start their regular daily schedules on Sept. 2.

The buildings purchased from Carlsbad Army Air Field to be used as temporary classrooms in the Artesia school system are being moved in this week. The first 100-foot building was set on its foundation on the Park School property at 10 o'clock Monday morning. More are arriving each day and are being put in condition as rapidly as possible.

In connection with the coming opening of schools, M. A. Sams, (continued last page this section)

Artesia motorists will have to change their parking habits, if they comply with the new ordinance and manage to stay within the parking meter lines, which are painted at an angle of 37 1/2 degrees from the curb instead of the former angle of 45 degrees.

A check Wednesday revealed 20 consecutive cars on Main Street, every one of which had a tire on or across a parking line, which, starting next Tuesday, would make the operators subject to fines.

The trouble seems to be with the right front wheels, which many drivers fail to straighten out when they have pulled into a parking area, continuing to describe an arc, until they are over the line.

It was pointed out that if every driver parks properly within his meter area there will be ample room to get out of and into any car in the restricted zone.

Most Motorists Fail To Park Within Lines

The ink on the police judge's desk blotter was heavy this week with cases connected primarily with assault, drunkenness, fighting, and disorderly conduct.

Annie V. Ross was assessed $30 and committed to 30 days in jail for assault Tuesday. Oliver J. Tandy was fined $20 last week for assault.

The driver's license of Albert Delgado was revoked for a period of a year and he was assessed a fine of $150 for driving while intoxicated, when arraigned in court Monday. David H. Smedley was given the same fine of $150 and his driver's license was revoked for 12 months for drunken driving Friday.

Mary Frances Coulter and Jeff Coulter were cited in court the first part of this week for fighting and destroying property, respectively. Jeff Coulter was assessed $20 for this section.

Ink On Judge's Blotter Is Heavy With Many Cases

At that time there probably will be some discussions and a line-up of the back field, but the first general practice will not be until in the afternoon.

At present the two coaches are in Albuquerque attending the annual New Mexico coaching school, which is sponsored by the New Mexico Coaches and Officials Association, Albuquerque Lions Club, and University of New Mexico.

The school activity bus, in charge of Principal F. L. Green, is to leave Saturday morning for Albuquerque, taking a number of students to see the fourth annual North-South New Mexico football game Saturday night, which will be the final event of the coaching (continued on last page)

First Football Practice Will Be On Monday

Chief Coach Claude (Jiggs) Whittington and Coach M. Duane Sams have announced their first general football practice for candidates for the Bulldog squad will be at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon.

However, the coaches asked that candidates be at the high school gymnasium at 1 o'clock school afternoon, when football gear will be issued. At the very latest, they said, the boys should report at 12 o'clock Monday morning.

Playground Equipment Parade And Dedication To Be Friday Afternoon

Everything is set for the dedication Friday afternoon of the playground equipment purchased by the Artesia Lions Club and installed at Central School, was announced this morning by Fred H. Golden, chairman of the boys and girls' committee.

The dedication proper, which will be in the park, will be preceded by a parade for boys and girls, with prizes offered by the committee.

There will be prizes for the decorated boys' bicycle, best decorated girls' bicycle, best costumed boy, and best costumed girl.

Golden said his committee, which previously had announced prizes also for pets, has voted against having pets in the parade, because of the danger of fights among dogs and cats. The chairman asked that no pet be brought to the boys and girls.

The parade is to form on South Second Street just off of Main Street and start at 3:30 o'clock Friday afternoon.

The line of march for the youngsters will be up Main Street to Eighth and then south on Fifth to the west quarter of the park, in which most of the new equipment has been placed.

There G. Taylor Cole will make the dedication talk and will turn over the playground equipment over to Mayor A. P. Mahone, who will represent the city. The mayor in turn will turn it over to the use of the boys and girls.

The equipment includes five new pieces, which were ordered a few days ago, and two merry-go-rounds which were placed in (continued last page this section)

Harold Hancock Dies Suddenly At Coleville, Utah

Word has been received here of the sudden death last Thursday at Coleville, Utah, of Harold Hancock, who moved there from Artesia a week prior. He died in a grandstand while attending a VJ-Day rodeo, it was understood.

Few details have been learned, but it was understood funeral services and burial were to be at Coleville.

Mrs. James Nellis, Jr., a daughter of Mr. Hancock, and Mr. Nellis and baby, Sharon, left by plane from Roswell for Coleville.

Besides the daughter here, Mr. Hancock is survived by his widow and another daughter, Miss Norma Hancock, who left Artesia with her parents Aug. 7 to live in Utah.

The personal history of Mr. Hancock, who was an oil field worker here, could not be learned here immediately.

Two Are Killed In Army Vehicle And Truck Crash

The only unhappy event in connection with the VJ-Day celebration here last Thursday was an accident 75 miles out of El Paso early Saturday morning, in which one of the pieces of anti-aircraft equipment from Fort Bliss collided with a Hill Lines truck, killing Fred H. Bell of Amarillo, 21, and fatally injuring his brother, Lester Bell, 22, also of Amarillo, who died late Sunday in an El Paso hospital.

The truck and cargo were demolished by the crash and a fire which broke out.

The bodies of the brothers have been taken to Amarillo for burial. The battalion of anti-aircraft equipment, which was in the celebration parade and later was on exhibition at the airport, left Artesia early Friday. It was understood that members of the battalion were to go through the Carlsbad Caverns that day and continue on to Fort Bliss that night. Dawn was just breaking at the time of the accident.

Heart Attack Is Fatal On Monday To Charlie Buck

Charlie Buck, 51, prominent Cottonwood farmer, died suddenly Monday evening while being brought to Artesia Memorial Hospital from his home, after suffering a heart attack.

It was brought out in a coroner's inquest Tuesday before Judge J. D. Josey that Mr. Buck had complained earlier of not feeling well and that when he was found slumped over in his pick-up he was brought to Artesia by Mrs. Buck and two Spanish-American hands. Upon arrival at the hospital a physician pronounced Mr. Buck dead. The jury set the time of death at between 6 and 6:30 o'clock Monday evening and (continued on last page)

Greatest Celebration Ever Here Staged VJ

The first annual VJ-Day celebration sponsored last Thursday by the United Veterans Club of Artesia was a success from every standpoint, from the matter of attendance, with the largest crowd here in the history of the city, to finances, with a "sizeable sum" realized towards the completion of the Veterans Memorial Building.

From the start of the big parade at 10 o'clock in the morning, until two dances broke up after midnight, everything ran smoothly, except for a period in the late afternoon, when a downpour soaked a crowd of perhaps 5000 persons at the "hot-rod" races on the new track at the municipal airport and other hundreds on the downtown streets.

The parade, more than a mile long, was witnessed by an estimated 10,000 persons.

With members of the American Legion, Disabled American Veterans, and Veterans of Foreign Wars, representing the Army, Navy and Marine Corps, out in front as color bearers and guards, the colorful parade advanced from 13th and Main Streets to Second, where it turned south on Quay Avenue and thence to the west.

Scores of other veterans of World Wars I and II marched in a section behind the high school summer band, many in uniform, others wearing caps of one of the veterans' organizations.

In the parade were more than a dozen floats, on which much effort had been put, as well as numerous other cars and trucks, including two model T Fords of ancient vintage. The Chamber of Commerce had offered prizes of $25, $15, and $10 for the three best.

Judges awarded first place to a beautiful float, jointly entered by Magnolia Petroleum Company wholesale business and Dowell Service Station, on which were seated three pretty girls and a "sailor."

The United Veterans Club's entry, depicting the now famous picture, "Flag Raising on Iwo Jima," took second place, while third went to the Girl Scouts' float, on which was a miniature of their "dream house." On the truck were both Girl Scouts and Brownies.

Other floats included: A patient receiving a blood transfusion, entered by District 8, Nurses' Association; a scene representing a grocery store, Batie's food store; the dove of peace and Kiwanis International emblem, Artesia Kiwanis Club; a decorative float bearing the I.O.O.F. emblem, I.O.O.F. and Rebekah Lodges; a group of girls, one depicting the Statue of Liberty, and a placard, "Let's Keep Peace," Artesia Elks Club; decorated tractor mounted on a flatbed truck, and pulled by another tractor, representing the thought that agriculture helped win the war and can help win the peace. Myers Company; "flying disc factory," purported to have been from Mars, a conflagration "machine" from which were fired "flying discs," a float which added a bit of comedy relief, Artesia 20-30 Club; float fixed up to represent The Patio, complete with sun umbrella and string orchestra, The Patio; decorative float, on which Peggy Jo Bentley was twirling a baton, Phillips 66; decorative float, on which Basye Cook and His Orchestra were playing jazz, Gary's Colonial Club.

English Bride's Mother Here Can Eat Plenty For 60 Days

Among the first impressions of Mrs. Gordon Smith of Bath, England, who is visiting her daughter, Mrs. James M. Griffin, one of the English war brides of Artesia, and Mr. Griffin, is the amount of food available here.

Mrs. Smith, who crossed the Atlantic by Pan American Clipper and then flew by TWA to Albuquerque, where she was met Tuesday of last week by Mr. and Mrs. Griffin, said the food situation in England is more critical than during the war. And she was amazed at all the food—especially meat—which may be had in the United States.

She is the first mother of an English war bride to come to the United States to visit her daughter, Mrs. Smith said, and she is the first war bride's mother to visit in this area.

Mrs. Smith embarked at 2 o'clock Sunday morning, Aug. 10, from Heath Row Airfield, London, and 15 hours later she was

Five Girls Sustain Minor Injuries In Army Vehicle VJ-Day

Five girls sustained bumps, bruises, and minor cuts while riding in an Army vehicle at the municipal airport on VJ-Day.

The girls, Anna Marie Dunn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Dunn; Willa and Jean Green, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Green; Betty Crume, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Crume; and Betty Jo Means, of Carlsbad; were shaken up considerably.

Jean Green sustained a head laceration which required three stitches but this was the most severe injury to any of the group. She also suffered a nose bleed.

English Bride's Mother Here Can Eat Plenty For 60 Days

At LaGuardia Field, New York, with stops at Shannon, Ireland, and Newfoundland.

Planning to come to the United States by ship, Mrs. Smith found it hard to obtain passage by water, as Britain feels it is more important to accommodate Americans than British subjects, as England must be rebuilt and revenue is an important thing. But she was lucky in obtaining a seat aboard the Clipper, she said.

Persons leaving England are allowed to take out of the country only 75 pounds, which is about $300, and to stay only 60 days. But on Oct. 1, Mrs. Smith said, the amount will be reduced to 30 pounds, or $120, so again she feels she was lucky in obtaining passage at this time.

Mrs. Smith said that all food is being rationed in England, with barely enough allowed to sustain life. For instance, she said, one is allowed only nine loaves of (continued on last page)

Death Comes To Baxter D. Pollard Suddenly Monday

Baxter D. Pollard, 41, was found dead in his home shortly after noon Monday by Mrs. Pollard, the victim of a heart attack.

He had been ill the last year and only Monday morning had been X-rayed by way of examination. Mrs. Pollard took her husband home between 10:30 and 11 o'clock Monday morning and then returned to her work, she told a coroner's jury Tuesday morning, with Judge J. D. Josey sitting as coroner.

Evidence at the inquest disclosed Mrs. Hollis had been despondent for some time and previously had threatened to take her life.

Notes left by Mrs. Hollis, which were not placed in evidence, were said to have indicated she had planned the act.

Witnesses included Mrs. Hollis' brother, Bill Cox, and Mrs. Cox, Mrs. Ruby Sharp, and Mrs. Wilkerson, all of whom were at the Oasis at the time Mrs. Hollis shot herself. Mr. Hollis was at work at the time.

It was brought out in the inquest that Mrs. Cox had been at the Hollis home, where Mrs. Hollis had the shotgun. Mrs. Cox testified she said, "Don't do that," to which Mrs. Hollis replied, "I'm not going to do anything."

However, Mrs. Cox said, she was told by Mrs. Hollis to get out (continued last page this section)

Arrangements were made by Paulin Funeral Home for the shipment of Mrs. Sanders' body Wednesday night by rail to Rocky Ford, Colo., her former home.

Funeral services and burial are to be there Saturday.

Surviving Mrs. Terry are her husband; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Amervine of Rocky Ford, and three sisters and two brothers, Helen, Maxine, Vesta, Dale, and Clarence.

Bob Bourland Defeats Everest To Win 1947 City Golf Crown

Dr. J. J. Clarke, Sr., of Artesia, third vice president of the American Association of Dental Examiners, was raised to the second vice presidency for 1948 at the annual convention of that body in Boston Aug. 4-8. Dr. Henry Swanson of Washington, D. C., was elected president.

As is the custom of the association, dentists elected as third vice president move up a step a year, which will give Dr. Clarke the honor of being president of the national association in 1950.

In connection with the meeting of the American Association of Dental Examiners, the American Dental Association also met, at which Dr. Clarke was appointed to a five year term on the judicial council.

Bob Bourland, twice medalist in annual Artesia city golf tournaments, defeated Ed Everest 2-1 Sunday afternoon on the Country Club course to become 1947 champion.

Bill Bullock, 1946 medalist and champion, went out of the tournament in the semi-finals, when Everest defeated him 4-3.

Likewise the medalist in the current tournament, J. R. Roden, went down to defeat in the semi-finals, when Bourland took him out 1-up.

Cliff Loyd took the championship flight consolation by beating Bill Linell, who holds the Artesia record for championship more years than any other. Loyd previously had defeated Floyd Springer in the consolation games, after being sent to the consolation route by Everest.

Linell got to the consolation final match by defeating Jack Fauntleroy, after being put out of championship play by Roden.

The first flight, composed of players who lost their first matches in the championship flight, went to H. D. Burch, who defeated Stanley Sutton in the final rounds. Previously he had beat Sam Laughlin and Bill Angley.

Sutton reached the first-flight final rounds after winning over C. A. Baker and A. W. Harral.

In the second flight Jack Spratt took the honors over Judal Terry, while Lynn Shelton won the consolation over Mike Stefancko.

Frank Schriever was the third-flight winner, defeating Neil Watson. The consolation in that flight went to Bill Keys, who won over Leland Price in the final rounds.

The fourth flight, in which 14 players were entered, went to Stanley Carper over Ed Gore, while Chuck Brown took the consolation over Charlie Bullock.

Deane And Local Commanders Ride Near Parade Head

Among the distinguished visitors in Artesia at the VJ-Day celebration last Thursday was George S. Deane of Roswell, New Mexico, department commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the only state commander of the three organizations represented in the United Veterans Club of Artesia who was able to attend.

Merle S. Briggs of Silver City and Paul Pompey of Dawson, department commanders respectively of the American Legion and Disabled American Veterans, sent their regrets.

Meter Ordinance Becomes Effective Tuesday

The Artesia City Council at a meeting Wednesday of last week adopted a city ordinance defining the operation of parking meters, setting hours for their use and otherwise setting up regulations in regard to parking.

According to the ordinance, it will go into effect five days after publication in today's issue of the Advocate, which will be next Monday.

The ordinance recites that it is unlawful to have a vehicle in a parking meter zone at any time during which the meter is showing a signal indicating that space is illegally in use, other than such time as is necessary to operate the meter to show the amount of parking, between 8 o'clock in the morning and 6 o'clock in the evening of any day, except Memorial Day, the 4th of July, Labor Day, Veterans Day, Thanksgiving, Armistice Day, Christmas, and any other holiday proclaimed by the mayor.

Operation of the meters is invested in the chief of police, who is to designate some person to make regular collections from them and deposit them with the city treasurer.

The ordinance also says it will be the duty of the chief to have lines or markings painted on the curb or street adjacent to each meter to designate the parking zone for each meter.

It will be unlawful to park a vehicle across any such lines, or be so parked as not to be entirely within the designated zones.

A section of the ordinance recites that the funds derived from the parking meters are to be levied and assessed to provide for the proper regulation, control, and inspection of traffic on the public streets and to cover the cost of supervising, regulating, and inspecting the parking of vehicles in the parking meter zones, the cost of placing and maintaining the lines designating the zones, and the cost of purchase, supervision, protection, inspection, and control of parking meters, to be placed in a special fund. Any excess is to be placed in the general fund.

The ordinance also provides that the chief of police and his officers are to attach to vehicles which are illegally parked notices instructing the owners or operators to report to the police judge.

An owner or operator may, at the discretion of the chief of police, after the time such notice is attached to a vehicle, pay the city judge 50 cents in full satisfaction of the violation.

However, the ordinance continues, any person violating the provisions and upon conviction may be punished by a fine not exceeding $100 or by imprisonment in the city jail not more than 30 days.

Portions of streets established by the ordinance as parking meter zones:

It is further provided in the ordinance that the city may make provision for bus stops, loading zones, and entrance ways, while the types of businesses which may have such zones are limited to several mentioned in the ordinance.

The City Council will determine whether a loading zone or entrance is required and will assess $1 a foot a year for such space reserved.

Playground Equipment Parade And Dedication To Be Friday Afternoon

Everything is set for the dedication Friday afternoon of the playground equipment purchased by the Artesia Lions Club and installed at Central School, was announced this morning by F. S. Golden, chairman of the boys and girls' committee.

The dedication proper, which will be in the park, will be preceded by a parade for boys and girls, with prizes offered by the Lions.

There will be prizes for the best-decorated boys' bicycle, best-decorated girls' bicycle, best-costumed boy, and best-costumed girl.

Golden said his committee, which previously had announced prizes also for pets, has voted to have pets in the parade, because of the danger of fights among dogs and cats. The chairman asked that no pet be brought to the boys and girls.

Word has been received here of the sudden death last Thursday at Coleville, Utah, of Harold Hancock, who moved there from Artesia a week prior. He died in a grandstand while attending a VJ-Day rodeo, it was understood.

The personal history of Mr. Hancock, who was an oil field worker here, could not be learned here immediately.

COMMUNITIES INQUIRE ABOUT CELEBRATION

Dave Moome, manager of the Artesia Chamber of Commerce, says the success of the celebration here on VJ-Day has traveled far and far and that he has had inquiries from eight different communities as to how it was planned, what events were held, and other details.

The nearest, he said, was Big Spring, Tex., far enough away as not to interfere with the celebration here next year.

Most Motorists Fail To Park Within Lines

Artesia motorists will have to change their parking habits, if they comply with the new ordinance and manage to stay within the parking meter lines, which are painted at an angle of 37½ degrees from the curb instead of the former angle of 45 degrees.

A check Wednesday revealed 20 consecutive cars on Main Street, every one of which had a tire on or across a parking line, which, starting next Tuesday, would make the operators subject to fines.

The trouble seems to be with the right front wheels, which many drivers fail to straighten out when they have pulled into a parking area, continuing to describe an arc, until they are over the line.

It was pointed out that if every driver parks properly within his meter area there will be ample room to get out of and into any car in the restricted zone.

The girls, Anna Marie Dunn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Dunn; Willa and Jean Green, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Green; Betty Crume, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Crume; and Betty Jo Means, of Carlsbad, were shaken up considerably.

Jean Green sustained a head laceration which required three stitches but this was the most severe injury to any of the group. She also suffered a nose bleed.

Ink On Judge's Blotter Is Heavy With Many Cases

The ink on the police judge's desk blotter was heavy this week with cases connected primarily with assault, drunkenness, fighting, and disorderly conduct.

Annie V. Ross was assessed $30 and committed to 30 days in jail for assault Tuesday. Oliver J. Tandy was fined $20 last week for assault.

The driver's license of Albert Delgado was revoked for a period of a year and he was assessed a fine of $150 for driving while intoxicated, when arraigned in court Monday. David H. Smedley was given the same fine of $150 and his driver's license was revoked for 12 months for drunken driving Friday.

Mary Frances Coulter and Jeff Coulter were cited in court the first part of this week for fighting and destroying property, respectively. Jeff Coulter was assessed $20 for fighting.

Heart Attack Is Fatal On Monday To Charlie Buck

Charlie Buck, 51, prominent Cottonwood farmer, died suddenly Monday evening while being brought to Artesia Memorial Hospital from his home, after suffering a heart attack.

It was brought out in a coroner's inquest Tuesday before Judge J. D. Josey that Mr. Buck had complained earlier of not feeling well and that when he was found slumped over in his pick-up he was brought to Artesia by Mrs. Buck and two Spanish-American hands. Upon arrival at the hospital a physician pronounced Mr. Buck dead. The jury set the time of death at between 6 and 6:30 o'clock Monday evening and (continued on last page)

English Bride's Mother Here Can Eat Plenty For 60 Days

Among the first impressions of Mrs. Gordon Smith of Bath, England, who is visiting her daughter, Mrs. James M. Griffin, one of the English war brides of Artesia, and Mr. Griffin, is the amount of food available here.

Mrs. Smith, who crossed the Atlantic by Pan American Clipper and then flew by TWA to Albuquerque, where she was met Tuesday of last week by Mr. and Mrs. Griffin, said the food situation in England is more critical than during the war. And she was amazed at all the food—especially meat—which may be had in the United States.

She is the first mother of an English war bride to come to the United States to visit her daughter, Mrs. Smith said, and she is the first war bride's mother to visit in this area.

Mrs. Smith embarked at 2 o'clock Sunday morning, Aug. 10, from Heath Row Airfield, London, and 15 hours later she was at LaGuardia Field, New York, with stops at Shannon, Ireland, and Newfoundland.

First Football Practice Will Be On Monday

Chief Coach Claude (Jiggs) Whittington and Coach M. Duane Sams have announced their first general football practice for candidates for the Bulldog squad will be at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon.

However, the coaches asked that candidates be at the high school gymnasium at 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon, when football gear will be issued. At the very latest, they said, the boys should report Monday morning.

At that time there probably will be some discussions and a line-up of the back field, but the first general practice will not be until in the afternoon.

At present the two coaches are in Albuquerque attending the annual New Mexico coaching school, which is sponsored by the New Mexico Coaches and Officials Association, Albuquerque Lions Club, and University of New Mexico.

The school activity bus, in charge of Principal F. L. Green, is to leave Saturday morning for Albuquerque, taking a number of students to see the fourth annual North-South New Mexico football game Saturday night, which will be the final event of the coaching (continued on last page)

Rev. Spencer Johnson Of Oklahoma Called To Nazarene Church

The Church of the Nazarene of Artesia has called Rev. Spencer Johnson of Bethany, Okla., as pastor.

It is expected he will arrive this week and will fill the pulpit Sunday.

Rev. Johnson will succeed Rev. Joe Stephens, who resigned July 27.

Greatest Celebration Ever Here Staged VJ

The first annual VJ-Day celebration sponsored last Thursday by the United Veterans Club of Artesia was a success from every standpoint, from the matter of attendance, with the largest crowd here in the history of the city, to the finances, with a "sizeable sum" realized towards the completion of the Veterans Memorial Building.

From the start of the big parade at 10 o'clock in the morning, until two dances broke up after midnight, everything ran smoothly, except for a period in the late afternoon, when a downpour soaked a crowd of perhaps 5000 persons at the "hot-rod" races on the new track at the municipal airport and other hundreds on the downtown streets.

The parade, more than a mile long, was witnessed by an estimated 10,000 persons.

With members of the American Legion, Disabled American Veterans, and Veterans of Foreign Wars, representing the Army, Navy and Marine Corps, out in front as color bearers and guards, the colorful parade advanced from 13th and Main Streets to Second, where it turned south on Quay Avenue and thence to the west.

Scores of other veterans of World Wars I and II marched in a section behind the high school summer band, many in uniform, others wearing caps of one of the veterans' organizations.

In the parade were more than a dozen floats, on which much effort had been put, as well as numerous other cars and trucks, including two model T Fords of ancient vintage. The Chamber of Commerce had offered prizes of $25, $15, and $10 for the three best.

Judges awarded first place to a beautiful float, jointly entered by Magnolia Petroleum Company Wholesale business and Dowell Service Station, on which were seated three pretty girls and a "sailor."

The United Veterans Club's entry, depicting the now famous picture, "Flag Raising on Iwo Jima," took second place, while third went to the Girl Scouts' float, on which was a miniature of their "dream house." On the truck were both Girl Scouts and Brownies.

Other floats included: A patient receiving a blood transfusion, entered by District 8, Nurses' Association; a scene representing a grocery store, Bati's food store; the dove of peace and Kiwanis International emblem, Artesia Kiwanis Club; a decorative float bearing the I.O.O.F. emblem, I.O.O.F. and Rebekah Lodges; a group of girls, one depicting the Statue of Liberty, and a placard, "Let's Keep Peace." Artesia Elks Club; decorated tractor mounted on a flatbed truck, and pulled by another tractor, representing the thought that agriculture helped win the war and can help win the peace, Myers Company; "flying disc factory," purported to have been from Mars, a confederate "machine" from which were fired "flying discs," a float which added a bit of comedy relief, Artesia 20-30 Club; float fixed up to represent The Patio, complete with sun umbrella and string orchestra, The Patio; decorative float, on which Peggy Jo Bentley was twirling a baton, Phillips 66; decorative float, on which Bessy Cook and His Orchestra were playing jazz, Gary's Colonial Club. ## Young Wife Of Sanders Terry Dies Suddenly

A heart attack was fatal to Mrs. Sanders Terry, 21, at her home at 12:05 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. She had apparently been in normal health, but was stricken and lived only a short time.

Arrangements were made by Paulin Funeral Home for the shipment of Mrs. Sanders' body Wednesday night by rail to Rocky Ford, Colo., her former home.

Funeral services and burial are to be there Saturday.

Surviving Mrs. Terry are her husband; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Amervine of Rocky Ford, and three sisters and two brothers, Helen, Maxine, Vesta, Dale, and Clarence.

As Ariene Esther Amervine, Mrs. Terry was born in Kansas and moved later with her parents to Colorado.

She came here about two and a half years ago from Colorado and two years ago married Mr. Terry.

Mrs. Sanders was a member of the Methodist Church.

Mrs. Hollis, 22, Kills Self With Shotgun Monday

Mrs. Howard Hollis, 22, killed herself by shooting herself in the abdomen with a 410-gauge shotgun, at her home at the Oasis between 9:30 and 9:45 o'clock Monday morning, according to the verdict of a coroner's jury Tuesday morning, with Judge J. D. Josey sitting as coroner.

Evidence at the inquest disclosed Mrs. Hollis had been dependent for some time and previously had threatened to take her life.

Notes left by Mrs. Hollis, which were not placed in evidence, were said to have indicated she had planned the act.

Witnesses included Mrs. Hollis' brother, Bill Cox, and Mrs. Cox, Mrs. Ruby Sharp, and Mrs. Wilkerson, all of whom were at the Oasis at the time Mrs. Hollis shot herself. Mr. Hollis was at work at the time.

It was brought out in the inquest that Mrs. Cox had been at the Hollis home, where Mrs. Hollis had the shotgun. Mrs. Cox testified she said, "Don't do that," to which Mrs. Hollis replied, "I'm not going to do anything."

However, Mrs. Cox said, she was told by Mrs. Hollis to get out (continued last page this section)

Bob Bourland Defeats Everest To Win 1947 City Golf Crown

Dr. Clarke Elected Second Vice President National Association

Dr. J. J. Clarke, Sr., of Artesia, third vice president of the American Association of Dental Examiners, was raised to the second vice presidency for 1948 at the annual convention of that body in Boston Aug. 4-8.

Dr. Henry Swanson of Washington, D. C., was elected president.

As is the custom of the association, dentists elected as third vice president move up a step a year, which will give Dr. Clarke the honor of being president of the national association in 1950.

In connection with the meeting of the American Association of Dental Examiners, the American Dental Association also met, at which Dr. Clarke was appointed to a five year term on the judicial council.

Death Comes To Baxter D. Pollard Suddenly Monday

Baxter D. Pollard, 41, was found dead in his home shortly after noon Monday by Mrs. Pollard, the victim of a heart attack.

He had been ill the last year and only Monday morning had been X-rayed by way of examination. Mrs. Pollard took her husband home between 10:30 and 11 o'clock Monday morning and then returned to her work, she told a coroner's jury Tuesday morning, with Judge J. D. Josey sitting as coroner. She said that when she returned home shortly after noon she found Mr. Baxter dead. He previously had complained of a pain in the region of (continued last page this section)

Boys And Girls Have Swimming Meets, Ending Summer Recreation

A swimming meet for boys Wednesday morning of last week and another Friday morning for girls concluded the summer recreation programs for both.

The boys' events were divided into two groups, for juniors, 6 to 14 years old, and midgets, less than 6, and were run off under the direction of Kenneth Lance, who was in charge of the boys' summer program.

Blue, red, and yellow ribbons were awarded in each event. Results up to third place in the junior group:

Lightning Strikes Troy Bourland At Cavern City

Troy Bourland of Carlsbad, formerly of Artesia and the father of Bob Bourland of Artesia, narrowly escaped death last Thursday in a VJ-Day game of golf on the Riverside Country Club course at Carlsbad, when he was struck by lightning.

The bolt struck him on his right shoulder, coursed across his body and went down through his left leg and out through his foot.

Bourland's glasses were burned off of his face, his belt buckle was melted, and his golf club was burned, but he lived through the shock and is now recovering in a Carlsbad hospital.

The other members of the foursome in which Bourland was playing were knocked down, but none was injured. They were O. H. Smith, Claud Ferris, and S. Blanchard.

Bourland formerly was manager of the dry goods department of the old Joyce-Pruit Store in Artesia. He moved in 1942 to Carlsbad, where he had lived before coming to Artesia.

Deane And Local Commanders Ride Near Parade Head

Among the distinguished visitors in Artesia at the VJ-Day celebration last Thursday was George S. Deane of Roswell, New Mexico department commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the only state commander of the three organizations represented in the United Veterans Club of Artesia who was able to attend.

Merle S. Briggs of Silver City and Paul Pompeo of Dawson, department commanders respectively of the American Legion and Disabled American Veterans, sent their regrets.

For Their Own Good

THE ADVOCATE was recently taken to task for some of the things, which it has said regarding the labor situation and some of the tactics of the unions.

That, of course, has not changed The Advocate's opinion. The Advocate has never had a quarrel with labor. It likewise has no brief for large business, which may take advantage of labor. It does, however, have its complaint against labor leaders, who employ racketeering tactics and whose one object is to promote themselves and their movement, rather than to aid labor.

The labor situation is growing worse instead of better. Jobs are fewer and there is more competition for the positions and jobs, which are available. In the weeks and months ahead this situation threatens to grow worse, in our opinion, instead of better.

We sincerely hope we are wrong. We do know that where a few months ago we had to seek and hunt employees that today employees are seeking jobs.

We also know that the weeding out process is underway. We know that the good employees will continue to have jobs. We know those, who are not producing and doing the job are going to be dropped.

We have said many times before and we are only repeating now, that an employee is only worth to his employer what he can earn for that employer. And if he or she is not earning something for that employer—then they have no value, thing for that employer.

We also know that the days and times of working 40 hours with little production in order to get to the overtime period must be forgotten. We believe that the employer has a perfect right to demand and expect 40 hours of production. Because in many plants the time is being cut to eliminate overtime.

But there have been those, who have put in 40 hours only to get to the overtime rate. Those days are over, or at least soon will be.

And the employee, who desires to have a job; to be able to keep his or her job; and who wants to produce, can have their jobs. Those who fail to produce or earn the pay, which they are paid, are going to be without jobs and be among those, who cannot find jobs.

What we have said here and said before is all for the good of labor. It is up to them as to whether they keep jobs and have jobs. We do know that industry can not continue under the setup, which has prevailed for the past five years.

After all, there are far more individuals working and holding jobs who are not members of unions; who never intend to join unions; and who are happy and satisfied as independent workers.

The small cities of this nation are filled with such people, who find happiness in their work and their labor.

They don't appreciate or want any interference. There are, of course, scores of employers, who have fine employees who want to be left alone and not annoyed or bothered and whose employees are happy and satisfied.

And the quicker we as a nation can find the happy medium; settle down to our jobs and our work; produce; earn; and live, the happier we are all going to be.

We never get anything for nothing. If we do it isn't for long.

We have to pay for what we get whether it is labor and production or whether it is pay for work.

And in the final analysis, most employers want to pay for what they receive and most employees want to work for their pay. It is only those, who don't produce and who are never happy because of their own shortcomings, who are in trouble and want to create trouble for others.—O.E.P.

Governor's Economy

GOV. THOMAS J. MABRY, who recently demanded that state purchases be based on bids, in keeping with the state law, has now taken another step to try and restore as much economy as possible. He is now demanding that the "dead-ends," as they were called in Louisiana in the late Huey P. Long's heyday, be removed from the payrolls.

Governor Mabry has openly declared that he feels that fewer men can do some of the inspecting on the tobacco tax and that some of those now on the payrolls be removed.

There are probably others on the payrolls of the state, who are not earning their salaries and who were placed on the payroll in order to pay a political debt. But apparently eventually the governor is going to get around to removing these, too.

It may take a little time but it is very apparent that Governor Mabry means business and that he is trying to get the New Mexico taxpayer's dollar to go as far as it can possibly go.

There has been a tremendous increase in payrolls in the state in the past six years. This includes not only increase in salaries but in the number of employees. Doubtless some of these increases in salary were deserved and probably some of these additional employees are needed. Yet the fact remains that we are always a little free with the taxpayers' money when we are spending it—far more free than if we were spending our own.

But the state of New Mexico needs every extra penny it has or it can raise for its state institutions; for its schools; for its road building program; and for other improvements. It hasn't any extra money to pay in increases in salaries, which are not needed, or for employees, who do not work and produce and are not needed.

Governor Mabry apparently is endeavoring to keep the salaries and employees down to the actual need and to have this money for other purposes.

We are sure the average citizen of the state is in favor of the Governor's program of economy and is only hopeful he can continue to make every reduction possible in keeping with sound and economical governmental operation.—O.E.P.

Discourtesy To The Flag

OUT OF THE GRAND CELEBRATION last Thursday came one discordant note: Many men showed disrespect for the flag by remaining covered when it passed.

From our position in the parade we could not notice this, for we were some distance back from the colors. But plenty of others noticed it and reported the lack of courtesy and flag etiquette.

We were told that it was surprising how many men managed to turn their heads, as though they did not see the colors, or just openly ignored the Stars and Stripes when it passed by.

But it is not surprising how many veterans noticed it, for they learned anew when they were in the service the things they had been taught in school about saluting the flag.

Many of them languished in prison camps, where they did not see Old Glory for many a month. And when they were liberated the mere sight of their flag gave them a lift far above their strength, a lift that no other object in the world could have given them.

It is a simple thing to uncover when the flag passes. It is a simple and dignified way to show that we are proud to be Americans, to live in America, and to enjoy the American way.—A.L.B.

Consider North Roselawn

NORTH ROSELAWN, quite definitely a feeder street, has been neglected for many years, as people living in the north part of the city and in La Loma have trudged through dust or mud, as the case might happen to be at the moment, between their homes and the business section or the schools.

Besides, on the very few days we do have rain, they have had the problem of crossing Eagle Draw, an eyesore, an unhealthful ditch, and a hazard.

Now we are erecting a temporary elementary school in the north part of the city, a school which will serve children in that area.

Probably the majority of them live north of Eagle Draw and will not have the problem of wading through it when it is wet. But most of the teachers will live south of the draw, making for them a bad problem.

It is time—in fact it is past time—to build a bridge or a culvert at Eagle Draw on North Roselawn and to pave the street.—A.L.B.

Unity Of Purpose

FOR THE "EAR" of last week's issue we wrote, "Look at What Unity Can Do!" But we little dreamed what an understatement our prediction would turn out to be.

Yes, just look at what unity of purpose can do, whether it be unity on the part of veterans, or of individuals or organizations.

Artesia long has needed some sort of special day, on which everyone in the community could celebrate—preferably a holiday of patriotic significance.

It has needed a day for such a purpose which would not conflict with neighboring communities. Artesia—through the United Veterans Club—hit upon the idea of observing VJ-Day, a thought which other cities overlooked.

Now that we have established Aug. 14 for a celebration in Artesia, we should guard it jealously, discouraging any other community in this section from special events on that day.

And one way we can do that is to encourage other communities when they have their affairs peculiar to themselves.

For instance, Roswell has its Eastern New Mexico Fair, and now Eddy County is to have a fair at Carlsbad. We should encourage them both, take part in them, and help talk them up.

Once upon a time we had a Gateway Bowl in Artesia—remember?—but that was taken away from us, and in such a manner that it is as dead as a dodo, with no chance of ever reviving it.

Now we have hit upon the celebration of VJ-Day, which no one can ever take away from us as an annual celebration, provided that same unity of purpose continues in Artesia, the veterans among themselves, and the clubs and other groups in the community with the veterans.

As Artesia Grows

TWENTY YEARS AGO
 (From The Advocate files for Aug. 18, 1927)

Representatives of the Texas Company spent two days in Artesia making a survey of the oil field. The piping of natural gas into the town was being widely discussed.

John Fanning of Dayton was in a Roswell hospital from an eye injury.

Rube Dunn and family were on a fishing trip in the northern part of the state.

Several suggestions for improving the appearance of the town included the removal of the weeds and rubbish on the vacant lots along Main Street.

"God and the Grocerman," by Harold Bell Wright, was the newest best seller of the day to reach the local library shelves.

TEN YEARS AGO
 (From The Advocate files for Aug. 19, 1937)

Counterfeit $20 notes were being passed in the state. The bogus bills were reported being handled by a narcotic addict.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Paton had just announced the marriage of their daughter, Wilma, to Kyle Clark. The marriage took place in Clovis on Aug. 4.

Misses Jimmie and Beth King, Cecilia Rehberg, and Glen Polk had spent a gay week end in Rudoso.

"Naughty Marietta," one of the first of the Nelson Eddy-Jeanette McDonald shows, was playing at the Valley Theater, while the Ocotillo featured the Marx Brothers in "A Day at the Races."

Penny's back-to-school ad carried twin sweater sets for $1.98, girls' frocks for 98 cents and boys' shirts for 59 cents.

Bond Purchases In State Show Downward Trend

Residents of Eddy County invested $37,189.50 in U.S. Savings Bonds during July, the Treasury Department has reported to L. B. Feather, co-chairman of this county's Savings Bond Committee. The total during June was $173,834.75, and $80,130.25 during July, 1946.

Investments in Series F and G Bonds by Eddy Countians totaled $6177 in July, as against $133,066 during June and $16,074 in July, 1946.

In New Mexico as a whole, $600,744.50 was invested in Series F and G Bonds in July, more than in any other month since the Victory Loan Drive except in September, 1946, when there was $36,080.00 more.

In all three series, New Mexicans placed $1,394,413.50 during July, exceeded only by January among the months of 1947.

Series E statewide purchases of $793,639 during July exceeded those of June by $196,625.25.

U.S. Pays Mexico $49 Head For Foot-Mouth Condemned Animals

The United States government has paid to the Mexican government about $49 a head for cattle condemned and slaughtered in the current campaign to wipe out foot-and-mouth disease in the neighboring state.

This average payment was estimated by a tabulation of 29,000 receipts for indemnities paid between April 10 and May 31, the U.S. Bureau of Animal Industry reports.

The cattle were in all classes, including cows, calves, and work oxen. Oxen were the most valuable, averaging about $76 a head for 11,544 animals.

Dogtag Is Hardly Proper Garb For Shipboard, Navy Vignette Relates

(Seabees and others in the Navy got off many good ones during the war, some of which the Navy has compiled under the caption, "Navy Vignettes." Here are a few of them:)

A Navy Seabee battalion had a practically fool-proof method of forecasting weather conditions at its North Pacific base.

"If the clouds are above the mountain," the Seabees used to say, "it will rain. If the clouds are below the mountain, it will rain. And if it isn't raining at the time, you know darn well it's going to rain!"

The following notice, which appeared in the battalion newssheet, "The Beachcomber," was prepared for the Navy Seabees sweating in the tropical Solomon islands climate during the early days of the war:

"Some people are forgetting a notice that appeared on the bulletin board regarding dress at chow. It is not expected that anyone must sacrifice comfort to the extent of wearing dress blues, but on the other extreme, the simple costume of a dogtag seems hardly enough."

During the Bizerte operation of World War II, German planes roared over the U.S.S. Landing Ship Tank 173. The ship's bell clanged general quarters. The crew rushed to battle stations. The ship's engineer was luxuriating in a long-awaited shower. Having been well oriented in naval necessity, he hurried to his battle station stark naked.

Modesty is not the uppermost requirement aboard an exclusively male populated warship, but bare skin can be severely damaged from flash burns and he was ordered to don some sort of garment.

A moment later he reappeared at his battle station—clad in a life jacket!

When the natives of a South Pacific island insisted the Navy's Seabees construct a coffin out of pine boards for their chieftain, the Seabees agreed—provided the natives could furnish the proper kind of boards.

Before the Seabees had finished winking at each other for their clever sidetracking of the request, the natives produced the lumber—quietly stolen from the Seabees' own supply.

A Seabee who had dislodged one of his front teeth on an unusually tough coconut, took the orphaned task to the battalion dentist, only to learn that facilities were lacking to make him a replacement.

Considerably worried about his appearance, the Seabee searched the beach for a shell that matched the color of his remaining teeth. "I'll make my own false tooth," he promised, and proceeded to confound his many skeptics by doing just that.

First he found a shell of brilliant whiteness, which he split with a cold chisel. Using an emery wheel, he ground one piece of the shell to the approximate size of the lost tooth. A nailfile was the only tool he needed to add the finishing touches. Next, he enlisted the assistance of the dentist, who designed a clamp to hold the substitute in place.

With his shining new addition, the Seabee was able to smile as brightly as models in toothpaste ads. "Is isn't much for eating," he said of his homemade incisor, "but it sure fools the women!"

During the early weeks of the invasion of Tinian, in the Marianas, a group of Seabees was stalking out an area with markers while the marines continued their clean-up of Japs on the remainder of the island. Next day the Leathernecks told the Seabees they had discovered the markers all through "no man's land." Unknowingly the Seabees had pioneered the way.

Some Seabees who participated in the French invasion will never forget the picture of a buddy milking a cow in a mine-strewn Normandy pasture while a pretty French girl stood over him dropping petals in his hair and chanting (in French), "I love you, I love you not, etc."

Bright and early each morning and after sundown each evening, the Seabee and the maid would walk arm-in-arm to the pasture—chaperoned by Madame, the maid's employer.

But, all was not as it seemed. The maid was using the Seabee as a sort of mine-detector.

His duty each day was to find a spot clear of mines so the cow could be staked out safely.

Social Security Has Come Far In Its 12 Years

The Social Security Act became law 12 years ago, providing a measure of financial security for the people of the nation through three principal channels, old-age and survivors' insurance, formerly known as old-age insurance; unemployment insurance, and public assistance.

Amended in August, 1939, and August, 1946, the act today is stronger, and much improved on its 12th birthday than it was when it first became law. The following anniversary data were supplied by Perry A. Webb, manager of the Social Security field office in Roswell:

Old-age and survivors' insurance, steadily growing as more and more of the nation's wage earners acquire an insured status with a resulting increase in number of claims payable as a result of death or retirement of the worker, has passed the two million mark in beneficiaries and a million dollars a day in benefits.

Those entitled to such cash insurance rights, bought and paid for by joint employer-employee contributions, include retired workers at or past the age of 65, wives of such wage earners who are also 65 or older, unmarried children under 18 of such retired workers or of deceased insured wage earners, widows of insured workers who are either 65 or older or who have one or more minor children entitled to benefits in their care, and aged dependent parents of deceased insured workers who let no widow or child entitled to monthly benefits.

Unemployment insurance payments by the individual states have fluctuated widely as job opportunities were few or many.

By mid-1947, the various states had developed their public assistance programs, based on a proved financial need of the individual, with federal matching provisions in varying degrees, to the point that more than 2,250,000 of aged were receiving in excess of $80,000,000 each month in old-age grants.

Almost 400,000 families and almost 1,000,000 children were receiving more than $24,000,000 each month in aid to dependent children grants and nearly 80,000 needy blind were receiving some $3,000,000 each month in assistance grants.

Persons desiring more detailed information on any or all of the three programs may direct inquiries on public assistance to the State Department of Public Welfare at Santa Fe, or unemployment insurance to the Employment Security Commission of New Mexico at Albuquerque, and on old-age and survivors' insurance to the Social Security field office at Roswell.

Salazar Reports Cuts Effecting Savings In Taxes

In obedience to the request of Gov. Thomas J. Mabry that a survey be made to determine whether or not cuts could be made in the payroll of some of the divisions of the Bureau of Revenue, Victor Salazar, commissioner of revenue, has reported to the governor that he has made cuts effecting a substantial savings in this respect.

He reported that he has cut the luxury tax inspectors to effect a saving of approximately $500 a month, and that four of the nine fieldmen are on the payroll on half-time basis at an average salary of only $110 a month. This, he said, reflects a saving of nearly 30 per cent in fieldmen payroll.

It is further noted by his report that nearly $8000 less was spent for salaries and administration purposes by the luxury or tobacco tax division than was spent in the first six months period of the year preceding the Mabry administration.

In reporting to the governor, the commissioner pointed out that the tobacco tax will bring in approximately a million and a half dollars and that the cost of field service barely exceeds 1 per cent of the total returns.

There have been dropped from the Bureau of Revenue payroll two liquor tax inspectors, two school tax auditors, and two attorneys.

"You will be happy to know that the total Bureau of Revenue collections for the first six months of your administration exceeded collections for the first six months of last year by $2,221,181.87," the commissioner reported. He pointed out also that $337,191.65 in "delinquencies and underpayments" established by field audits in this department was recovered by field auditors in the School Tax Division.

The commissioner of revenue further reported that all divisions of the bureau will collect in excess of 30 million dollars in the present fiscal year, the larger part of this in taxes that go to the support of the public schools.

Lookin' and Thinkin'

The little girl in the picture gazes across the tumbling waters of the mountain stream and wonders about things.

She wonders about the other side of the stream; about the wild life that flourishes in its depths and along its banks; about the great mystery of the waters as they roll on to the distant river and the far-off sea.

As she grows in years and stature and her mental horizon expands she will know more about these and many other things; but always there will be things to be learned, problems to be solved, mysteries to be explained.

The little girl is a symbol of humanity as she stands and looks and wonders. For man is always peering into the dim distances and wondering what lies beyond.

But there is a key to all human problems and a solution for all mysteries. It is the key of faith. It is found in the Scriptures and the teachings of the Church. It is God's gift to those who live by faith.

Religion helps men to solve present perplexities and lights up the dim beyond.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH
 The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend and support the church of his choice. They are: (1) For his own sake of his children's sake. (2) For his own sake of his community and nation. (3) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church on Sunday and read your Bible daily.

Simplified Driving Controls Built For All Disabled

Disabled persons of many types, who have in the past given up the privilege of driving a car are being encouraged to reapply for drivers' licenses when they learn of demonstrations being made by James W. Redding, World War II veteran who lost both legs in the Ardennes campaign.

Redding is making a nationwide tour of hospitals, driving and demonstrating a car equipped with a set of simplified driving controls developed by engineers. Redding has been licensed in several of the most exacting states and drives with perfect control and skill.

The set of controls, supplied as packaged accessories, compensate for disabilities caused by injury or disease where loss or loss of use of limbs has resulted. Because of shortages of materials in the immediate postwar period, disabled veterans were given high priority in filling orders for the control sets. Today the sets are available to all who need them.

Controls are supplied in five different sets graduated to compensate for various disabilities. This process of "tailoring" to the degree of disability enables the purchaser to select the set needed from charts compiled by medical, safety, and engineering experts.

Redding's demonstration of the controls will be made at various cities and towns throughout the country lying on his current tour of military and civilian hospitals.

Be On Guard For Heat Sickness, Warns Rierson

"This is the times of year to guard against heat sickness," warned Dallas Rierson, county agricultural extension agent. "With the high temperatures and the rush of harvesting, it's easy to be overcome by heat illness. When it strikes, it can be serious, sometimes fatal. There are several forms of reaction, heat cramp, heat exhaustion, and heat stroke."

These heat sicknesses happen when the body's heat regulating system collapses during prolonged heat or overexposure to the sun, Rierson said. One can protect himself from becoming a victim by sensible hot weather care, in taking the following precautions, he said:

Avoid overexertion, particularly in the early part of a heat wave.

Avoid extreme indoor temperatures.

Wear light, porous clothing and avoid tight-fitting clothes.

Increase the use of salt on food, or use salt tablets, or salt in drinking water to offset the excessive loss of salt from the body through perspiration. A 15-grain tablet with each glass, or a level teaspoonful to a quart of water, is proper. People with high blood-pressure or heart or kidney disturbances should consult a doctor before increasing salt intake.

Drink water often throughout the day, one glass at a time.

Eat nutritious food, but avoid overeating. Vitamin C lost through perspiration should be replaced with fruit juices.

Avoid ice-cold water and alcohol.

In applying first aid treatment to a person overcome by heat remove him to a shady spot if he is cold or keep him cool if he is hot, Rierson says. In an emergency, always call a doctor.

RESPONSIBILITY

Man is a responsible being. This is one of the main points of difference between him and other forms of animal life. One of the greatest needs of the world today is for more people to realize this fact and to prepare themselves to shoulder their share of the responsibilities that fall upon the human race. Man is different from other animals in that he can govern what he is. If he so desires he can climb the mountain peaks and prove his kinship of divinity; if he does not so desire, and allows himself to degenerate, he will become as a brute beast and will even do things that a beast would not do. Man needs to realize that his destiny in this life and more especially in the hereafter is governed by the extent to which he makes preparation; develops himself; shoulders responsibility.

To whom or what is man responsible? First: to God. By virtue of creation God owns the human race; therefore, man is responsible to him. He has the right to state man's duties and the fact that God commands or requires a thing makes it a duty. However, God requires nothing of man that is not for man's best interest. If man will accept God's requirements as the standard of his responsibility and if he will comply with these requirements to the best of his ability he will accomplish the most possible in this life and will be prepared for the life to come.

Second: Man is responsible to civil authority. In the 13th chap-

Vets' Float In Parade Is 'Flag Raising On Iwo Jima'

—Gable Photo

"Flag Raising on Iwo Jima" was depicted in the float entered by the United Veterans Club in the VJ-Day parade last Thursday and it took second place. More than a dozen other floats added color, patriotism, and comedy to the parade, which was more than a mile in length.

ter of Romans Paul wrote, "Let every soul be subject unto the higher powers. For there is no power but God; the powers that be are ordained of God." Again in the same chapter, "Render, therefore to all their dues: tribute to whom tribute is due; custom to whom custom; fear to whom fear; honour to whom honour." Man is responsible for participation in and the upholding of civil government. Too many shun this responsibility and then complain about what others do. The one then who shirks his responsibility along this line certainly has no right to complain about what others do or fail to do.

A third responsibility of every person is to society in general; to his fellowman. Influence is one of the most powerful forces there is and everyone has an influence that is either good or bad. No matter how insignificant we may feel we still have a circle of associates and friends whose thinking and conduct is governed to some extent by our speech and actions. It is our responsibility to our fellowman that our speech and conduct be Christian; that it reflect the highest ideals of citizenship; that it be the kind which, if followed, would make that individual better. It is only by this process that our city, state, nation, and world can be made better. This is our responsibility. What are we doing about it?

One of the highlights of the parade was a battery of anti-aircraft equipment from Fort Bliss, which strung out about a block.

Many Boy and Girl Scouts were in the parade, while in the mounted section were members of the Eddy County Sheriff's Mounted Posse and the Artesia Goat Riders' Club, as well as a number of other riders. One of the city fire trucks brought up the rear.

As the day's activities unfolded, hundreds of persons thronged to the municipal airport, where the anti-aircraft equipment from Fort Bliss was on exhibit, and where a B-29 was open to inspection. Several thousand persons inspected the anti-aircraft equipment and the Superbomber.

And the majority of them, joined by hundreds more, then went in the afternoon to the new veterans' race track on the airport to watch the "hot-rod" races, the first in the Artesia community, which proved quite popular.

The thousands of spectators first roared under the hot August sun, then enjoyed a cooler hour, after clouds gathered. But they were soaked when, during the final and main event of 20 laps, a downpour started.

The rain continued into the evening, forcing a concert by the municipal band to be held on the porch of the Veterans Memorial Building, instead of the park in front. But a large crowd on the porch and in the building heard the concert, under the direction of W. W. Ports, in the absence from the city of Conductor Franklyn L. Wiltse.

After the concert the building was packed by persons enjoying the big celebration dance and carnival.

At the same time as the concert, other hundreds packed into and about The Patio for the old fiddlers' and square dance contests. Rain caused the contests to be moved to the girls' gymnasium, but when it later cleared up somewhat, contestants and spectators alike returned to The Patio, where the contests were completed and then square and round dancing was enjoyed.

Tunnel In 83 Section Is Only One In The State

When the new section of Highway 83 cutting the distance between Cloudcroft and Alamogordo from about 24 to 19 miles, is completed, it will have a 500-foot tunnel, the only highway tunnel in the state.

The El Paso Herald-Post in a recent story about the highway said in part:

The new road, 4.4 miles long and costing about $700,000, will be unusual in that it will have the state's only highway tunnel. The tunnel will be 500 feet long. It will be about seven miles out of Alamogordo. Workers recently holed through for the roadbed, which will have a width of 26 feet and a clearance of about 14 feet.

The project is under the supervision of the Public Roads Administration, Federal Works Agency.

The present road is narrow, has excessive grades, 15 railroad crossings and nine timber bridges. As the railroad is being abandoned, the crossings will be eliminated and the maximum grade on the alignment will be kept to 6 per cent, permitting a travel speed of 45 miles an hour.

Actually the new road is an old road which was used 40 or 50 years ago. The state built the present road, which includes an irregular jog to La Luz, about 20 years ago. With the new alignment, that community will be bypassed. Eventually it is hoped to give La Luz a direct outlet to the new road.

The federal project starts at the west boundary of Lincoln National Forest and extends easterly through Dry Creek and Fresnal Creek Canyons.

The State of New Mexico has under contract a 3.45 mile project from the take-off point on U.S. Highway 54 three miles north of Alamogordo to the Forest boundary.

Other government projects are planned to extend construction to an intersection with the present road near Mountain Park and on to Cloudcroft. When this work is completed the travel distance between the resort and Alamogordo will be reduced five and a half miles.

As the crow flies, Cloudcroft is only 15 miles from Alamogordo, but over the present road it is 24 miles.

Although the tunnel is the most spectacular feature, the alignment of the present State Road 83 is being blasted and carved out of some of the most difficult terrain in the Southwest. Two or three tractors with bulldozed attachments are being used and already one of these and a dumpster have gone over the hillside.

More grief occurred when a rock slide demolished a new air compressor.

The tunnel undertaking, through a large, unnamed ridge, began with a pioneer bore, an approximate 7x7-foot section. This was made at the apex of the proposed main bore so that they will have a common roof of seven-foot width.

In addition to providing better ventilation during the main bore operations, the pioneer bore was valuable as a guide to conditions to be expected, such as places where the tunnel would have to be enlarged for lining.

Considerable grading remains to be done and a two-mile section must be built. PRA officials said, however, that minor traffic along the new route may be practical the latter part of September. The contractors are Frank P. Levellyn of Alamogordo and Henry Thygesen Company of Albuquerque.

That's the kind of job that confronts telephone engineers when they plan the manufacture of telephone equipment to fit a certain town.

You see, no two towns are exactly alike in their telephone requirements, so when equipment is added—and a lot is being added these days—it has to be "tailor made" to fit perfectly into existing systems.

In scores of towns throughout the seven western states we serve, telephone men are busy installing more equipment and extending our wire and cable facilities, bringing us closer to the day when everyone can have the kind of service he wants, when he wants it.

 "Mind" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, Aug. 24.

The Golden Text is: "Righteous are thou O Lord, and upright are thy judgments . . . Give me understanding, and I shall live."—
 (Psalms 119:137,144.)
 Among the citations which comprise the lesson sermon is the following from the Bible: "Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus."—(Philippians 2:5.)

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook:

"When the divine precepts are understood, they unfold the foundation of fellowship, in which one mind is not at war with another, but all have one Spirit, God, one intelligent source, in accordance with the Scriptural command:
 'Let this Mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus.'" —

Fawn Deer Is Rescued After Mother Killed

Bambi, a buck deer fawn, who was orphaned shortly after birth a week ago today, is residing in Artesia, the guest of George Akins, who rescued him in the Sacramento Mountains on VJ-Day a few minutes after his mother was fatally attacked by a mountain lion.

At the Westerner, where Akins is keeping Bambi for the present, observers have declared that the orphan thinks his benefactor is his mother. At any rate, he follows Akins around like a pet puppy, and he will, if gently stroked, lick the hand of any friend.

Akins relates that he and a party in two cars were in the Sacramento for an outing, when they heard a cry, as though some animal were in distress. He stopped his car and ran in the direction of the cry and discovered below about 30 feet in a canyon the bushes parted upon his approach, as though a predator, presumed to have been a lion, were slinking away.

And there was Bambi's mother, her throat cut and bleeding, staggering and falling. Upon Akins' approach, the doe staggered off and was lost, but undoubtedly fatally injured, only to be further stalked and killed by the panther.

There, huddled against a rock, was Bambi, who, Akins said, apparently had been born only a short time prior and had never stood.

As soon as the party returned to Artesia, Akins reported to L. W. Simon, deputy game warden, who gave temporary permission for him to care for the fawn. Since then Akins has applied to the State Game Department for a permit.

In the meantime he is feeding his friendly little pet on a bottle, which Bambi nurses eagerly. In the party besides Akins were Mrs. Akins and their two children; Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Jackson, and Mrs. Tom Post, Artesia, and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Akins, Billings, Okla.

Boy Scouts Will Have Water Meet Here On Aug. 29

At a meeting Friday evening of scoutmasters of the Gateway district, plans were made for Boy Scout activities in the near future, including a water carnival at the Artesia municipal pool from 4 to 6 o'clock Friday afternoon of next week, Aug. 29.

Members of Troop 27, sponsored by the First Baptist Church; Troops 28 and 295, First Methodist Church, and Troop 69, Loco Hills, are to participate. Water activities will include swimming and diving events, as well as stunts by individuals and troops.

The public is invited to attend and to bring watermelons for a feed, to be held immediately after the water carnival.

The scoutmasters also discussed a district overnight camp at Maljama, the night of Friday, Sept. 5.

Two days prior to that, on Sept. 3, a scoutmasters' round-table with troop committees will be held in the Flynn, Welch & Yates office.

Attending the meeting and making the plans Friday were John Easley, Scoutmaster of Troop 295; Ernest Thompson, Troop 28, and Glenn Collard, Troop 27.

Collard has just taken over the duties of scoutmaster for Troop 27, after the troop had been without leadership for some time. Shirley Hager, formerly a member of the Cub Scout committee, resigned that post to become assistant scoutmaster under Collard.

GEORGE S. DEANE

Commander Deane rode in a car near the head of the parade with Mayor A. P. Mahone and the commanders of the three local veterans' organizations comprising the United Veterans Club, J. B. (Buster) Mulcock of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Harry Gilmore of the American Legion, and Leland Wittkopp of the Disabled American Veterans.

Others who rode in that section included the Gold Star Mothers of Bataan, members of the United Spanish War Veterans, disabled veterans, and members of the City Council.

In the second section the majority of the veterans marched.

'Idento-Tag' Is Presented Mayor By DAV Chapter

Mayor A. P. Mahone was presented a sterling silver "Idento-Tag" at the regular meeting of Donald S. Simons Chapter No. 19, Disabled American Veterans, Monday night at the Veterans Memorial Building, at which meeting the chapter passed a resolution unanimously commending members of the United Veterans Club committee and their assistants for the excellent work in staging the VJ-Day celebration, and made a start towards the annual chapter flower sale.

The "Idento-Tag" presented to Mayor Mahone is a silver miniature license plate bearing the name of the state and his automobile license numbers. This marks the beginning of the distribution by mail of the DAV tags throughout this section.

These little "Idento-Tags" are manufactured by the millions in a plant owned and operated in Cincinnati, Ohio, and mailed out to motorists throughout the nation, asking them to remit 25 cents or more. The funds thus received are used to hire service officers to handle claims before the Veterans Administration. The money from those tags has enabled the DAV, the smallest of all recognized veterans' organizations, to hire more service officers than all other veterans' organizations combined, they claim.

Through these tags, more than 5000 keys are returned to owners who have lost them each month.

Commander Leland Wittkopp, Wade Cunningham, committee member, and Bill Dunnam reported to the chapter on the VJ-Day celebration. After the report, the chapter unanimously passed a resolution thanking and commending the United Veterans Club committee and its assistants for the work in staging the celebration.

Bill Dunnam was appointed chairman of the chapter's annual torque-me-not flower sale. He was authorized to select a committee from the membership to work with him. "About the only definite instructions, so far, from the chapter," Dunnam said, "is that it be held the latter part of September or first of October, if possible."

Kaiser To Head Yule Street Lighting Here, First Since 1941

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday of last week G. E. Kaiser was named chairman of a committee in charge of Christmas lights for the city during the coming Christmas season.

Other members of the committee were not named at that time, as Kaiser was out of the city and it was decided to confer with him as to helpers desired.

The directors said work of getting strings of lights ready will start immediately, along with other necessary arrangements. When the city was last lighted for Christmas in 1941, there were many strings of wire and hundreds of bulbs, but a number of the strings will need to be repaired or replaced and it is presumed many bulbs will have to be purchased before it is time to decorate the city.

Four Years Of Girl Scouting Is Observed Here

Four years of Girl Scouting in Artesia were climaxed by two weeks of extensive activity when the association conducted its "Fly-Up" Brownie Day Camp at the J. M. Berry farm southeast of Artesia. The girls entered a float in the VJ-Day parade and won third place on it. An intermediate Scout overnight camp at the Gissler Flying Shirltail Ranch was another big feature of the activities.

The day camp was declared the most completely successful of any such camp held in the past. A record registration of 63 Fly-Ups and Brownies and a daily attendance of 67 girls added to the merits of the camp.

An Indian theme was carried out in the camp with each unit selecting a tribal name and what they considered an appropriate chieftain name for their leader. Crafts offered were based on Indian lore and the out-of-doors phase of scouting was particularly stressed with hiking and nature study being emphasized.

Mrs. Duane Sams, campstory teller, narrated an Indian legend pertaining to nature during each day's story hour. Mrs. B. A. DeMars was in charge of crafts.

An evening session, planned as an outdoor "pow-wow," was rained inside and moved to the girls' gymnasium at the high school. Parents of the girls attended and enjoyed a picnic lunch with the Scouts. Stunts and singing comprised most of the evening's entertainment, as limited space prevented the girls from having their dances and active games.

On Thursday, VJ-Day, the Scouts participated in the United Veterans Club celebration. The float entered by the girls depicted Scouts at camp. The Scouts who had attended camp were out en masse, many wearing their Indian costumes, which were their own creation. Intermediate and Senior Scouts joined in to form the largest group to march in the parade.

The Intermediate Scouts were at the Flying Shirltail Friday equipped with bedrolls and cooking equipment for their overnight camp. The Fly-Ups were included for the occasion and to many it was a first experience at sleeping and cooking out-of-doors. Despite a shower just before bedtime and a heavy rain on Saturday morning, the affair was wholly successful from the standpoint of putting the "outing" in Girl Scouting and from the pleasure the girls derived from the experience.

The Artesia Girl Scout Association feels justifiably proud of its young organization which has grown in four years from a struggling one troop affair to a group of well-organized, efficient, volunteer workers and eager energetic girls who can sponsor and carry on such an active program as the two weeks just completed has required, members said.

The Scout president, Mrs. Fred Jacobs, and day-camp chairman, Mrs. George Beadie, served an informal coffee Wednesday morning at the Jacobs residence in order to express their appreciation for the splendid help given by the camp staff and the co-operation of the parents who furnished transportation to and from the two camps.

visiting teacher and attendance officer, said this week, "During the last two years . . . we have had fine co-operation on the part of most parents in keeping their children regular in attendance, and we are hoping for the same co-operation in the coming year. Every day's absence is not only a definite loss to the pupil but also a loss to the school. We trust that from the opening day, throughout the school year, parents will make special effort to have their children regular in attendance and on time."

"We will check with the principals of the various schools in both the forenoon and afternoon sessions and make immediate investigation of those absent. It would be a fine gesture on the part of parents, when a child is ill or kept out of school for a legitimate reason, to call the principal and inform him of such necessary absence."

We want 1947-48 to be the best year in the history of Artesia schools. Only through mutual co-operation can that result be obtained."

Alton Unangst Is Eagle Scout

Here is Alton Unangst, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Unangst of Loco Hills, who became an Eagle Scout at a Court of Honor Monday of last week at the Sherman Memorial Church, Loco Hills. The presentation talk was made by J. D. Smith of Artesia, chairman of the Gateway district, and Eagle Scout Unangst's mother pinned his badge on him.

The Eagle Scout also received Merit Badges in life saving, bird study, civics, and camping.

Buford Is One Of Three Honored By Arkansas Library

The late Lynn Buford was one of three men recently honored at Springdale, Ark., when a library at the First Baptist Church was dedicated to their memory.

Mr. Buford was a resident of Artesia, a druggist at the Palace Drug Store, at the time he joined the Navy, in which he served as a pharmacist's mate second class. He was aboard the cruiser Helena, when it intercepted units of the Japanese fleet near Kolombangara in Kula Bay and sank nine ships before it went down. He was one of 200 men lost aboard the ship, and was officially declared dead by the Navy Aug. 31, 1945.

The memory of Cpl. Elmer Johnson, Jr., and Second Lt. James Gordon Turner was also honored in dedication of the library. Pictures of the three men were hung in the library near a plaque bearing a tribute to them, according to clippings from The Southwest Times-Record of Fort Smith, Ark., which Mrs. Buford sent to The Advocate.

Mr. Buford and family came to Artesia from Springdale, where his family returned after he joined the Navy.

Springdale, as well as Artesia, claims him as one of the community's hero dead of World War II.

bread a month, or flour, but not both. And with only 28 points a month allowed per person, to be used during the month or become worthless, a can — she calls it "tin" — of salmon requires 36 points. On the other hand, a "tin" of stewed beef required 18 points, leaving 10 for the remainder of the month.

One may have a half pound of meat a week, Mrs. Smith said. But the cost is much less than here, about 14 cents.

Under rationing, a person may have a half pound of sugar a month, and in addition a half pound of "sweets"—candy. Tea is limited to two ounces.

Mrs. Smith said there has been formed in England a GI Brides' Parents' Association, which plans next year to charter a ship, so 500 parents may come to this country to visit their daughters and their families.

Thrills And Near Spills Provided By 'Hot-Rods' VJ-Day

The Artesia community was introduced to "hot-rod" races last Thursday, when 15 of the "souped-up" cars sped around the new veterans' track at the municipal airport as one of the VJ-Day celebration attractions, providing thrills and some near spills, but no serious accidents.

Perhaps the most enjoyed event of the program was the eight-lap consolation race, in which the first Artesia "hot-rod," built by Hugh Barron and Curtis Killingsworth, whizzed around the track in real professional style to make the opposing racers look like stock cars, driven by Earl Emmons, a former Artesia boy, who has been driving midget racers on the West Coast.

Barron, whose racing driving experience has been limited to the last few weeks, since the car was completed, had a narrow escape in the first lap of one of the earlier races, when another "hot-rod" ran up over his "515" on the north turn of the track, missing his head by inches. Barron's racer then jumped off the track, and he withdrew from the race.

The final and main event of the day was slowed down when, after about four laps of a 20-lap race, a downpour came, scattering the estimated 5000 spectators and making the oiled track very slick. Hoies which the racers had torn up in the earlier races became deep mud puddles and the spinning wheels could not gain traction.

In the qualifying trials, T. C. Noe, driving No. 14, had the fastest lap, making the half-mile in 31 seconds flat. Noe also took the next event, the trophy dash, for the two fastest cars, over Wesley Dible of Roswell, driving No. 2, who won the final and main event.

"Acey-Ducey" of Carlsbad came in first in the third event, a six-lap race for the slowest qualifying cars, while Duffy Fravenderior in No. 10 took the six-lap race for the fastest qualifying cars.

No. 66, belonging to Woodard Brothers of Loving, won the Australian pursuit race, in which six cars started.

Besides the accident in which Barron's car was involved, the only other accident which might have had serious consequences was in the six-lap race for the slowest qualifying cars, when No. 24 spun on the north curve and hit No. 7, damaging both, but not hurting the drivers.

The United Veterans Club, sponsor of the event, is considering having races on the new track again on Labor Day. Leland Wittkopp, who was in charge, said some changes will have to be made in the track, however.

use about a year ago. Chairman Golden urged as many parents as possible to turn out with their children for the parade and dedication.

and after several such orders she ran for help, but had not gone far, when she heard the shot.

The witnesses, all of whom were on the scene quickly, testified Mrs. Hollis apparently was dead when they entered the Hollis kitchen, where the body lay on the floor, with the shotgun near by.

The coroner's jury: Ray Carter, foreman; Wade Cunningham, J. D. Felton, J. S. Sharp, W. M. Kissinger, and Luther Stewig. Funeral services for Mrs. Hollis were at the Baptist Church in Dexter at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon by Rev. Camel. Burial was in South Park Cemetery, Roswell.

Mrs. Hollis is survived by her husband; two children by previous marriages, Geneva Fay and Terry Don; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Cox, Dexter, and three brothers and three sisters, Bill Cox, Artesia; Jack and Junior Cox, Dexter; Mrs. Faye Alexander, Ceres, Calif.; Mrs. Lillie Huddleston, Hagerman, and Mrs. Lorraine Hudson, Dexter.

Planting Of Fall Garden Helps To Cut Cost Living

Most of the early garden vegetables have just about run their course, but there's still time enough to plant a fall garden. And County Agent Dallas Rierison has some good reasons to offer. "If you don't take over your garden area this fall, the weeds will—and that'll mean an even greater weed problem for you next year," he said. "Besides, it'll soon be cooler, and then you'll find that the fall is the most enjoyable time of year to work a garden. But most important, you'll save money and have more and better food."

Rierison also recommended that gardeners give their soil a lift by applying a complete fertilizer as soon as the summer vegetables have been harvested. "Turn the soil over with a spade and thoroughly mix the fertilizer into the top three or four inches of soil," he advised. "Use one pound of fertilizer for every 25 feet of row."

Vegetable seed which still have time to mature in Eddy County are snap beans, beets, carrots, spinach, leaf lettuce, turnips, cabbage, and radishes, according to Rierison.

"Start planting your fall garden today. You won't regret it."

Wool Market Looks Favorable In State For Next Few Years

New Mexico sheepmen should find the wool market rather favorable for the next few years, according to Ivan Watson, state extension animal husbandman.

Watson based his statement on the 1947 estimated wool production—the lowest since 1935—and the increased demand for and consumption of apparel and carpet-type wools.

This year's production is estimated at 3,670,000,000 pounds. The last high point was reached in 1941 with 4,200,000,000 pounds.

Although world wool stocks are high, Watson pointed out, they decreased about 10 per cent in the last year.

COTTON FARMERS

With December cotton selling around 32 cents and prospects of a 12,000,000 bale crop, it might be good business to hedge at least part of your crop. If interested, can contract at even December Basis Mid, Middling or Better, or Hog Round. Prefer 50 and 100-bale lots. No margin required where you have prospects of a good crop. Call or look me up.

New Dairy Building Will Be Ready For State Fair

Livestock show buildings at the New Mexico State Fair plant at Albuquerque are being rounded out with construction of a dairy building, now under construction and which will be completed in time for use at this year's fair opening Sept. 28.

The new building is 307 feet long by 112 feet wide, will have capacity for 150 dairy animals, and will include a completely equipped dairy parlor in which the most modern equipment for handling and processing milk will be shown, as well as a dairy bar in which milk and other dairy products will be sold during the annual fair.

Completion of its dairy show barn gives the New Mexico fair one of the most complete equipments in the West for livestock show purposes. The group includes three large beef cattle barns, a sheep building, swine building, three large horse barns, exclusive of the 450-capacity racing barn equipment, and a poultry building.

The accompanying drawing by Louis C. Hesselden, architect, shows the dairy, sheep and swine buildings as they will be seen by visitors to this year's fair.

Check Furnaces And Stoves For Winter Hazards

County Agent Dallas Rierison warned farmers to take time this summer, when furnaces and stoves are cold, to eliminate chimney fire hazards.

"Roof fires," he said, "are chiefly caused by sparks leaking out through cracks in the chimney. Farmers should remember that after a few years concrete can dry out and crumble. In time the bricks may loosen and a dangerous fire hazard is created. Such cracks should be cemented before heating units are started in the fall."

Rierison also recommended that stove pipes be thoroughly checked for rust holes and worn spots. "Be sure the pipe joint fits snugly; otherwise, flame and smoke may seep out," he said. The county agent suggested farmers take the additional precaution of having an approved fire extinguisher near stoves and heaters and wherever there is a chance of fire getting out of hand.

He said that combustible roofs are a real menace, too. Such roofing, declared Rierison, should be replaced or covered with fire-resistant shingles or other flame-proof material. Emphasizing that fire can wipe out a farmer's work for many months in a few hours, the county agent reminded farmers that America's fire losses for the first five months this year were greater than for the entire 12 months of 1942.

State's Farmers Harvest Biggest Of Wheat Crops

The harvest of New Mexico's first 10-million-bushel wheat crop is just about completed, except for one or two counties in the northern part of the state.

And to make the story better yet, the crop is currently worth double the 1936-45 average farm price of $1.02 a bushel.

The acreage of winter wheat harvested in the state this year is 15 per cent more than the acreage seeded last fall, according to the latest crop report of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

In the years, 1936-45, the harvested acreage in New Mexico averaged 31 per cent less than the seeded acreage, indicating heavy abandonment each year because of hail, wind, and dry weather. But this year, the amount of volunteer wheat exceeded the small abandonment by 83,000 acres. Although New Mexico farmers planted only a half more wheat than average, they are harvesting two and a half times their average acreage. And with the yield per acre also above average, the total wheat production in the state is almost four times above average, or about 10,378,000 bushels.

Total value of this year's wheat crop in the state is estimated to be $21,275,000.

Weed Killer, 2,4-D, Is Double-Edged Sword And Quite Powerful

The new weed killer, 2,4-D, is a double-edged sword and much more powerful than many growers realize. Reports from Louisiana and Texas indicate extensive damage to cotton and other field crops from 2,4-D dust applied by plane and intended for rice fields. Under present circumstances, it should not be applied in dust form by plane in an area where any crop or broad-leaved plant is grown.

Experiments have shown that all broad-leaf plants — crops as well as weeds — may be destroyed or injured by 2,4-D and that application of dust by plane can not be controlled. Dusts have been given up in favor of sprays, but even sprays are dangerous except when used with great caution. All information about 2,4-D calls for extreme care in the use of this powerful herbicide.

Flying H Gets Fish By Air From Dexter Hatchery

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service shipped from its Dexter Fish Cultural Station 5000 bluegill sunfish and 500 large-mouth bass by plane Saturday from Roswell to a lake on the Flying H Ranch.

The rather unusual movement of fish by air was arranged by L. Q. Carman, superintendent of the hatchery, and Phillip Oxford of Roswell. Oxford flew one plane over the ranch with the fish, while Travis Maples, another pilot, flew the larger portion of the fish. A return report revealed that the fish showed no signs of uneasiness from the trip, and were planted in the lake in excellent condition.

On two other occasions the Dexter station has transported live fish by way of air on much longer trips, having shipped fish to Walker Lake, at Hawthorne, Nev. In certain cases the plane is a very fine way to transport fish, as it delivers them in a short time, but in other cases, the compressed air equipped truck is more practical, as it can stop anywhere at any time to deliver the fish, or care for the fish if they should need some personal attention. Carman said. No doubt fish will be handled by air more and more as time passes, he added.
