HELPING TO BUILD A GREATER ARTESIA

VOLUME FORTY-FOUR

ARTESIA, NEW MEXICO, THURSDAY, OCTOBER 9, 1947

NUMBER 41

With Eunice Polished Off, Bulldogs Eye Hobbs

The Artesia Bulldogs made it here in a row Friday, when they defeated the Eunice Cardinals at 14-6.

But they were scored on for the first time this season, as they encountered a stronger team than captain, whom they defeated 45-0 the opener, and Jal, whom they defeated 30-0 in the second game.

And now the Bulldogs are being groomed by Coaches Claude Whittington and M. D. Sams for a clash on Morris Field here at 7:30 o'clock Friday evening against the Hobbs Eagles, a time grid enemies from Lea County.

The Eagles have broken even this season in four games, winning over Eunice and Kermitt, but being defeated by Clovis and Roswell, two of the strongest teams in this section.

The scores against Eunice might indicate the Hobbs Eagles have a slight edge over the Bulldogs, for Hobbs made one more touchdown against the Cardinals than did Artesia, whereas Eunice scored on the Bulldogs, but not on the Eagles.

But Chief Coach Whittington said the Bulldogs are in top shape and determined to put up a good scrap against the visitors here Friday evening.

Besides the prospects of a good game Friday evening, it is predicted that the largest crowd ever to be seen in Morris Field will be on hand for the battle. With a number of busses chartered for Hobbs rooters, it is expected that the Lea County city will be nearly deserted as the Eagles flock to Artesia, where it is expected the grid audience will reach 8000 persons.

In the game at Eunice last week, John Sudderth went over for the first touchdown, after the ball was set up in scoring position by Eugene Batie, who made a 30-yard end run, and "Cotton" Marsh, who made seven yards off tackle, just prior to the scoring play. Sudderth plunged over for the extra point.

The Cardinals scored their only touchdown in the second period, after taking possession of the ball on a Bulldog fumble. The Eunice back went over six plays later on a crosscut. An attempt for the extra point by the kick route failed, when it was blocked.

In the same period Batie went over the Eunice goal line for what appeared to be a second touchdown, but the ball was called back and Artesia was penalized for what officials said was "both sides outside." The half ended a moment later.

The third quarter was marked by exchanges of possession of the pigskin, as was the early part of the fourth quarter.

But with only three minutes of play remaining, the Bulldogs, after Marsh received the ball on a punt, went into a huddle and came out determined to make another touchdown.

With three first downs tucked away in the next seven plays, including a gain of 40 yards by Batie on a long run, Sudderth again went over for the Bulldogs' second touchdown. Sudderth made a center plunge for the extra point.

Don DeMars had just kicked off to Eunice and the Cardinals were poised for their first play when the game ended.

The Bulldog blockers and linemen showed up well, taking out Cardinals who were seeking to plunge through to the ball carriers.

Coach Kenneth Lance's "B" squad defeated the Roswell "B" team at Roswell 13-0 Saturday afternoon, with Kenneth Malone making both of the touchdowns.

The first he made on a line play in the first quarter. In the second quarter he received a pass from Ronald Dublin and carried the ball over. "The extra point was made after that touchdown on a placekick by Boyce Cauble.

Entire Community Joins In Move To 'Beat Those Eagles'

If ever there were an armed camp on the eve of battle, with everyone poised and anxious to get a foe, it is Artesia at this time, as the entire community joins Friday night with but one thought—"Beat Those Eagles."

The Bulldogs, the strongest in a number of years, already with three victories tucked away, are ready and determined to—"Beat Those Eagles."

The hundreds of Bulldog fans are thinking but one thing and even thought about it during the world series—"Beat Those Eagles."

A communitywide rally is to be held this evening, when the townspeople will join with the student body to set the stage to—"Beat Those Eagles."

With the building of new bleachers on the east side of Morris Field and the designation of the west stone stadium as a reserved section, the reserved seats are selling out fast, as the number of Bulldog fans increases and all are shouting—"Beat Those Eagles."

The stage is set—or perhaps the battlements are drawn—with the curtain to go up at 7:30 o'clock this evening, when the entire city will stage a "Beat Those Eagles" rally, starting at Morris Field, where a parade will form. The time will be designated by means of blasts on the fire siren.

New Stands And Reserved Section To Help Seating

Construction of 160 feet of bleachers along the east side of the football field on Morris Field is being rushed to completion to accommodate 800 to 1000 spectators. It is expected the stands will be needed for the Hobbs-Artesia grid game Friday evening and for subsequent football games and other athletic events.

The stands are being built under the sponsorship of the Bulldog Boosters.

It is believed every seat—new or old—will be needed Friday evening for the Hobbs-Artesia game.

Garden Club Flower Show Is Greatest Ever Presented Here

In spite of adverse weather conditions for the growing of flowers this season, the annual flower show of the Artesia Garden Club of the Veterans Memorial Building Saturday and Sunday was the greatest in the club's history, with a total of 279 entries, compared with a former record of 125, according to Mrs. J. W. Jones, chairman.

Although there were fewer entries in some classes than in former years because of a retarded season, in general each class had many flowers entered, the majority of them in excellent condition.

Mrs. L. E. Francis, president of the club, took the sweepstakes with nine firsts, while Mrs. E. Fleming and Mrs. C. C. Smith tied for second honors.

So many were the exhibits and so close were some of them, the judges had great difficulty in making decisions. In some classes they gave more than one first, second, or third-place ribbon, while in others they skipped first or a class entirely, when they deemed the entries not worthy, as they scored towards perfection.

The judges were Mrs. C. R. Blocker of Artesia, Mrs. C. E. Mason of Hagerman, and Mrs. Howard Moore of Carlsbad.

In the dahlia class there were more subclasses and entries than in any other. Results in that class, with each place designated by a numeral, because of the multiple awards in some cases:

Three cactus dahlias—Mrs. W. E. Fleming 1, 2, 3.

One cactus dahlia—Mrs. L. E. Francis 1, 2, Mrs. C. C. Smith 3.

One formal decorative—Mrs. C. C. Smith 1, Mrs. L. E. Francis 2, Mrs. H. R. Paton 3.

Department DAV Commander To Be Here Tuesday

Paul Pompeo, Jr., of Dawson, New Mexico department commander of the Disabled American Veterans, will make his official visit to Donald S. Simons Chapter here at 7:30 o'clock next Tuesday evening, Oct. 14, it was announced by Leland Wittkopp, chapter commander.

The meeting will be at the Veterans Memorial Building and will be the place of the regular monthly meeting, usually held the third Monday of each month, changed over to next week to accommodate the itinerary of Commander Pompeo.

Coming with Commander Pompeo is Denver D. Adams of Albuquerque, national service officer of New Mexico, who will give assistance on his visit here to all veterans having disabilities or problems in regard to hospitalization.

Such veterans are invited to attend the meeting to meet Commander Pompeo and Adams. Bill Dunnam, chapter service officer, asked that disabled veterans who may wish to confer with him when he is here next week may advise them and make work for Adams less.

Rotarians See Scale Model Oil Rig In Operation

N. Raymond Lamb of the New Mexico Bureau of Mines and Metal Resources gave an interesting demonstration of the operation of a rotary oil well drilling rig at the weekly luncheon of the Artesia Rotary Club Tuesday noon, using a working scale model, which was constructed by Garry Steinbough of Lovington.

The model, which stands higher than a man's head, is complete in minute details, and may be operated so as to do all of the operations of drilling a well.

Lamb likewise showed a scale model of a pumping unit, which likewise is mechanically operated.

Brig. Gen. C. G. Sage, the adjutant general of New Mexico, who was a guest, told the Rotarians the preliminary steps have been completed for the formation here of an anti-aircraft battery of the 697th Battalion of the New Mexico National Guard, which will have batteries at Artesia, Roswell, Carlsbad, and Hobbs.

The money for the battery is available, General Sage said, awaiting only its formation in the community.

Claude (Jiggs) Whittington, chief high school coach, and A. R. Wood, business manager of the Artesia schools, were introduced as "baby Rotarians" by F. L. Green, high school principal.

Army Friendship Is Renewed Here Between Mathis And Colonel

John A. Mathis, Jr., a former Army captain, renewed a friendship this week with Col. Dick Abbott, who has just come off duty in Hawaii, and whom Mathis had not seen since June, 1944, when they parted company at the Boston Port of Embarkation, after having been together at several Army installations in the East.

When they parted, Colonel Abbott went to the Pacific theater, while Mathis, then a first lieutenant, shipped out for Europe.

Colonel Abbott arrived in Artesia Tuesday and visited in the Mathis home until Wednesday morning, when he left for San Antonio, Tex., for his discharge, after 22 years in the Army.

Girl Scout Plans Are Discussed At Meeting Monday

The second monthly meeting for the fall session of the Artesia Girl Scout and Troop Committee Member Club was held at Central School Monday evening with 30 members in attendance.

The meeting was called to order by Mrs. W. J. Cluney and plans for future meetings were discussed with much concern being shown at the relatively small number of members attending these meetings. It was pointed out that the troop committee members are a vital part of the Scout organization, yet a very small percentage of these people are present at meetings. Hopes were expressed for a more representative group at the next scheduled meeting, which will be the first Monday in November. The time and place will be announced at a later date.

Mrs. C. P. Bunch reported on plans for the coming of the Clare Tree Major Actors' Group, which will present three plays during the next few months. The first will be "Alice in Wonderland," given Nov. 15.

In connection with this announcement, Mrs. Curtis Bolton said that the regular story hour, sponsored and presented by the Story League at 9 o'clock each Saturday morning over station KSPV, would continue telling the story of "Alice in Wonderland," which will be followed later by "Hans Brinker," or "The Silver Skates," and "Sleeping Beauty." A. L. Williams, 49, Lease Foreman, Dies Here Friday

Allen Leo Williams, 49, of the American Republics Corporation lease, for which he was foreman the last 20 years, died at 3:30 o'clock Friday morning at Artesia Memorial Hospital after an illness of about four months.

Funeral services were from the First Methodist Church of Artesia at 2:30 o'clock Monday afternoon by Rev. C. A. Clark, pastor. Burial was in Woodbine Cemetery.

Mr. Williams is survived by his widow; two sons, Kenneth Allen Williams, Los Alamos, and Harold Laverne Williams, Artesia; three brothers and three sisters, Lewis Williams, Indianapolis, Ind.; Bert Williams, Hayto, Mo.; Richard Williams, East Chicago, Ind.; Mrs. Roy Ossenbaugh, Bridgeport, Ill.; Mrs. Jennie Stewart, Sikeston, Mo. and Mrs. Charles Clark, Oakesville, Wash., and a grandson, Dickie Williams.

A son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Williams, Allen Leo Williams was born at Washington, Ind., March 21, 1898.

He married Mina Matthews in Indiana Nov. 1, 1919, and to them were born three sons, those mentioned as surviving and Ralph Edward Williams, who died June 11, 1937.

The family moved from Illinois to New Mexico Sept. 16, 1927, since which time Mr. Williams was lease foreman for the American Republics Corporation.

Funeral arrangements were in charge of Paulin Funeral Home.

Legion Oratorical Contest Here Is To Be Sponsored

The American Legion post here will sponsor a local oratorical contest among high school students in connection with the organization's annual contest, it was announced Monday evening at the monthly meeting.

At that time the commander named Paul Dillard chairman to confer with Tom Mayfield, superintendent of schools, and make arrangements for the post to participate.

Commander Gilmore said the students of the nation taking part in the contest will speak on some phase of Americanism or the Constitution, with about 15 subjects from which to choose.

The post decided to order 500 copies of a book now being printed and carrying the names of all of the North Eddy County servicemen in World War II, as well as General Marshall's victory report on both the European and Asiatic theaters.

The books will be offered for

General Sage Seeks Guard Building Site

Brig. Gen. C. G. Sage, the adjutant general of New Mexico, was in Artesia Tuesday conferring with Mayor A. P. Mahone and other city officials in regard to a possible site for a proposed National Guard armory and warehouse here.

Several sites shown the general were approved by him, but none was selected.

General Sage explained to the city officials that at least four acres will be necessary for the National Guard buildings, giving ample space for landscaping. And the site must be so located as to have water and sewer and other utilities, he said.

The formation of the proposed National Guard anti-aircraft battalion at Artesia depends somewhat on obtaining a suitable site and erection of the warehouse, the general indicated.

At this time funds are available for two National Guard warehouses in the state, General Sage said, and Artesia can have one of them if action is taken in obtaining a site.

As efforts are being pushed for the formation of an effective National Guard in New Mexico, a number of units have been set up, General Sage said. But there still remain some designated cities which have not as yet complied with the prerequisite requirements, including Artesia.

It is proposed, the general said, for the Artesia battery to be part of a battalion including units at Artesia, Roswell, Carlsbad, and Hobbs.

Councilmen Landis Feather and Frank Smith are on the City Council's committee to find a site for the use of the National Guard.

In Judge J. D. Josey's police court Wednesday of last week, D. H. Smedley was charged with drunk driving. This was the second offense for the defendant and he was fined $200 and given 30 days in jail, and his license was revoked for a year from that date.

Robert F. Riley was fined $150 and his license was revoked for 12 months Wednesday for drunk driving and later he was fined $20 on a charge of being drunk and disorderly.

Odie F. Jones paid the customary fine of $150 and his license was revoked for 12 months for driving while intoxicated.

Clyde Taylor and Cecil Rogers were fined $25 each for accompanying a drunken driver. Cecil Rogers later was charged with being drunk and disorderly and paid a fine of $10.

Failure to report a meter violation ticket within the 48-hour limit cost V. L. Bryant $5 last Thursday.

Fire Prevention Essay Winners Are Given Awards

Awards of $5 each were made Wednesday evening to three school children winners in an essay contest on "Fire Prevention" sponsored by the Artesia Chamber of Commerce, representing the fourth, fifth, and sixth grades.

The winners: Patti Webb, fourth grade; Arlene Faulk, fifth, and Ramona Stevens, sixth.

Dave Moore, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, originally announced the three prizes would be awarded to winners in three age groups, grades 4-6, 7-9, and 10-12, but no essays were turned in to him for the two upper age groups by the deadline, which was Saturday, so one award each was made for the three grades in the lowest group.

The awards were made on a radio program over station KSPV last evening by Manager Moore.

He announced 75 essays were turned in from the three grades, many of which were quite worthy, causing the judges considerable study before they selected the winners.

The essay contest was held in conjunction with "National Fire Prevention Week," which is being observed this week throughout the United States, with many different organizations stressing fire prevention.

Bands, Possemen From Artesia In Roswell Parade

Four organizations from Artesia were represented in the Eastern New Mexico State Fair parade at Roswell Wednesday morning.

Included were the senior and junior high school bands and the Artesia municipal band, all in uniform, and the North Eddy County members of the Eddy County Sheriff's Posse, along with South Eddy County members.

Many other Artesia citizens were in Roswell for the opening parade of the fair, which will continue through Saturday.

By way of advertising the fair, two busloads of Roswell boosters visited Artesia Friday afternoon.

The busses, piloted into the city by one of the Artesia police cars, parked on Main street between Roselawn and Fourth Street, where a hill-billy band entertained for nearly an hour.

Hollis Watson Is Not an 'Ex,' He Proves Hard Way

Hollis G. Watson, former mayor of Artesia, former New Mexico state senator, former president of the First National Bank of Artesia, former druggist, and a few other former, is not an "ex," and nobody in Artesia thought so, but he had to prove it the hard way and have an emergency operation in Waltham, Mass., a suburb of Boston, as a result of which the Associated Press, various and sundry mayors, and others have concerned themselves.

But before continuing, he is doing nicely, according to a telegram from Mrs. Watson Tuesday, and he should be out of the hospital within a few days. The operation was performed Saturday in Waltham, because that is where Mr. and Mrs. Watson happened to be on a vacation trip when it became necessary.

It seems that among the many friends of former Mayor Watson who were concerned about his condition and welfare was present Mayor A. P. (Doc) Mahone, who wired Mayor John F. Devane of Waltham.

And hizzonnan at Waltham post-haste called on former Mayor Watson, had a good neighbor—East and West—visit with him, and reported back that the prominent Artesia man seems to be enjoying life.

But he and Mrs. Waltham will remain in Waltham for some time while the former mayor recovers his strength for the trip home.

Velma Springer, Women's Medalist, Wins City Championship Sunday

MISS VELMA SPRINGER

Miss Velma Springer, medalist in the 1947 women's city golf tournament of the Artesia Country Club, shot her way to the championship Sunday, when she defeated Mrs. Fritz Crawford in the final match.

In reaching the championship, Miss Springer in turn defeated

Mrs. Mike Stefanko, Mrs. Charles M. Murphy, and the runner-up, Mrs. Crawford.

The championship consolation was taken by Mrs. A. W. Harrall, who defeated Mrs. Nora B. Clayton.

In the championship flight besides those mentioned were Mrs. Harvey Jones, who shot the second lowest qualifying round for medalist, and Mrs. J. O. Miller.

The first-flight honors went to Mrs. Leon Clayton, who defeated Mrs. Jerry Marshall in the final match, while Mrs. Bill Angley won over Mrs. Leland Price to take the consolation.

Mrs. Bill Bullock won the second flight championship over Mrs. Cliff Loyd. Mrs. Jack Armstrong took the consolation by defeating Mrs. Chuck Brown.

In the tournament in the three flights were 27 women who qualified.

A barbecue supper was served at the Country Club Tuesday evening exclusively for the 27 and their husbands or escorts, at which time tournament trophies were awarded. Miss Springer received one each for being medalist and champion.

Play in the tournament started Sunday, Sept. 14.

'Air Power, 1947,' To Be Subject Of RAAF Officer At Chamber Luncheon

Lt. Col. William W. Perry, special weapons officer at Roswell Army Air Field, will be the principal speaker at the monthly meeting of the Artesia Chamber of Commerce on the Roof Garden of the Artesia Hotel at 12:10 o'clock Friday, it has been announced by Dave Moore, manager.

It is expected that in his talk on "U.S. Air Power, 1947," Colonel Perry will touch on the many new and varied weapons of warfare devised by the Air Forces.

Manager Moore said Colonel Perry will be glad to discuss with the members present any questions which may be of a non-restricted nature.

No other program was planned for the meeting Friday, with as much time as possible to be given over to Colonel Perry, because of the interest in his subject at this time and the uneasy international situation.

It was understood he will be permitted to discuss to a certain extent robots and guided missiles, but it is probable many of the phases of the subject are restricted and too technical for the average lay audience.

However, as special weapons officer, Colonel Perry is well versed in his subject and should have an interesting message, Manager Moore pointed out.

He stressed that one does not have to be a member of the Chamber of Commerce in order to attend the monthly meetings. Rather, the general public is urged to take part in such meetings, which are so planned as to have something worth while and of interest, as well as some discussions of the problems of the Chamber of Commerce and the future of the Artesia community, in which all are invited to participate.

Manager Moore asked that as many as possible planning to attend the luncheon tomorrow call his office today, so he may report to the hotel management, giving the approximate number expected.

Drilling Interest Shifts To West And Southwest Of Artesia Area

While Eddy County oil operators this week staked four locations and completed two wells, one of which is a producer, attention in Southeast New Mexico was shifting more and more to the area west and southwest of Artesia, even into and beyond the Guadalupe Mountains.

One of the interest spots is the location of the Elliott No. 1 of the Southern Union Gas Company, SW SW 24-18-23, which is about 15 miles southwest of Artesia.

That well now is at a total depth of 2000 feet, with nine-inch casing set at 1800 feet, while the contractor, N. J. Delaney, is moving in a rotary rig to continue to production or a deep test to 7500 feet, according to Charles Gaskins, local manager for the Southern Union Gas Company.

Magnolia Petroleum Corporation last week made location of the State 1-W, SW SE 16-21-22, a granite test on the east slope of the Guadalupe southwest of Artesia.

And nearly due west of there, on the rugged west slope of the Guadalupe, Standard of Texas is rigging up a rotary rig for the drilling of the Blaze 1 in a granite test, in NE SE 18-21-18. Winch lines are being used to snake some of the equipment to the location, which is under the rim of the mountains.

Completions this week in Eddy County:

R. R. Woolley, Woolley 6-D, NW SE 31-17-30; total depth 2882 feet; pumped 30 barrels of oil per day, after shot.

Flynn, Welch & Yates, Dunn 6-D, NW SE 10-18-28; total depth 2372; plugged and abandoned.

Appeal Made To Kwanis For Cub Pack Sponsorship

A plea to the Artesia Kiwanis Club was made at the weekly luncheon last Thursday by Bill Hintze, field executive of the Boy Scouts, for the club to sponsor a Cub Scout pack, two or three more of which are needed in Artesia, he said.

The field executive explained in a talk the set-up of the Cub packs and told of the good the program does for boys not as yet old enough to become Boy Scouts.

Paul Dillard, president of the club, called attention to the district Kiwanis convention to be held in Carlsbad Oct. 18-19 and urged as many of the local members as possible to attend. He expressed the hope the club will have 100 per cent attendance.

The Kiwanis Club is to be host this noon today to the members of the Artesia High School Bulldog squad and their coaches.

It was planned also to hold the annual election of officers at today's meeting.

Infant Smith Son Dies Here Friday

Graveside services in Woodbine Cemetery were conducted at 11 o'clock Saturday morning for Donald Doyle Smith, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis D. Smith, who died at 1:15 o'clock Friday afternoon at Artesia Memorial Hospital, by Rev. S. S. Perry, Baptist missionary.

The baby was born at the hospital here Sept. 30.

Funeral arrangements were in charge of Paulin Funeral Home.

Russia's Goals

NO ONE IS SURE just what Russia wants; what she is seeking to do; or where she may lead the world with her present attitude and her present philosophy of government.

Everyone knows that Russia has lied about her goals and objectives and they know she has lied about America.

But Russia isn't as dumb as she pretends to be. She knows the truth and she realizes that sooner or later the truth will out.

Russia knows without the aid and help of America she could never have saved herself or been saved. She knows without the food, clothing and munitions of America that she could never have halted the German army. She knows that America helped to save her from Hitler just as America helped to save the rest of Europe.

Winston Churchill recently acknowledged this fact when he declared that no nation in all of the history of the world had given or done so much for the world as America has done. Russia knows that this is true.

And the Reds also know that America for almost 175 years has been aiding and helping others; has never promoted a war to satisfy its own selfish greed; and has never been a land grabber after the war was over.

During these 175 years America has kept her word and kept the faith. Yet a little government born only yesterday and doomed to die tomorrow wants to dictate to the Great America.

America has been the dominating power in the world for many years now. She will continue to be that dominating power as long as we have the great wealth regardless of what Russia may do, say, think or strive to control.

Russia can never rule Europe. She can never control the Far East. Her very form of government has doomed her to destruction. Dictators have never lasted but a few years. She can check ancient history or she can read modern history.

And so Russia is doomed, too, unless she changes her ways; her forms of government; and her philosophy of government.

It is unfortunate that she is ungrateful for what has been done for her. But ingratitude is one of the world's greatest shortcomings. Perhaps we should have expected what has happened and is happening.

But don't forget for one minute that regardless of what Russia says, she still knows when she assaults America she is attacking a nation, which has been a friend of hers. She knows when she accuses America of wanting to rule the world that she is telling a boldface lie. Talk is cheap, always has been. It is action, which speaks the loudest.

And America's action and attitude for 175 years as a Democracy, the oldest Democracy in the world, brands the Russian statesmen's statements for what they are—boldface lies.

Russia is slowly turning the world against her—all the world that is free to turn, because she is doing exactly what the world fought Hitler and Mussolini to keep them from doing.

The Reds are dooming themselves with their attitudes, their actions and their conduct.

Perhaps when she is destroying herself so fast our hatred for her conduct and actions should be only sympathy.—O.E.P.

Improvements Needed

ARTESIA HAS MOVED FORWARD and taken many progressive steps in the past few years. She continues to make these improvements and to grow out of the town class into a modern little city.

But with all of the growth, expansion and progress Artesia has made no improvement in the mail service coming in or going out of Artesia—that is no big improvement—has been made.

Truck or bus routes east and west have aided to some extent but this service has not given Artesia the kind of service it needs and deserves in connecting mail service to and from the large cities.

It still requires too much time for mail from Artesia to reach Fort Worth, Dallas, El Paso, Albuquerque, Kansas City, Chicago and New York. There is still too much delay because of the route, which the mail must travel.

And the only way there will be an improvement is for the city of Artesia to demand improvement and to continue to demand that improvement until the service is provided.

For years Artesia has been on the end of a railroad line with a train coming down in the morning and going back in the evening. And letters prepared for mailing, if they miss that night train, must lay in the postoffice or in Artesia until 24 hours alter.

Recently we commented at length on the need for a connection between Carlsbad and Pecos, Texas. There was a day and a time when such a line existed. There was a time apparently when this was justified because it was built and the investment was made.

Today and for some years the railroad serving Artesia has enjoyed a great business. It continues to enjoy that business and in appreciation for that business it appears that not only Artesia but Carlsbad and Roswell are entitled to better mail service than that with which they have been and are being provided.

We suggested some weeks ago that either an effort should be made to persuade the Santa Fe to continue its line to Pecos and there make direct connections to Fort Worth and Dallas and with El Paso or that efforts be made to persuade the Texas and Pacific Lines to build a road into New Mexico.

It is true, of course, that this would take effort. It is also true that the city would meet opposition. It is also true that it would require time but it is just a question of whether we want to move forward with progress and improve our mail service along with our other improvements.

A careful check was made following our recent editorial. And you can rest assured that careful check of Artesia's efforts will be made.

You can also rest assured that nothing will be done until the proper effort is made and until this effort is continued.

We can have an improved service and bring our city up to date with its mail service just as we have brought it forward in other respects if and when we are willing to go after that improvement.—O.E.P.

They're Bulldogs All

SOME OF THE BULLDOGS, so we are told, are smuffed at us, a condition which we regret greatly.

It seems that enough of them do not get their names in the news stories about the football games, when the fact is that we would prefer to have in every game the names of all of the 26 on the varsity squad.

But that is impossible, as we are not a keen enough observer of sports to tell what any individual is doing. In fact, we usually have to ask someone who made the touchdown, unless we happen to catch the player's numeral, which is mighty hard to do sometimes.

It is true that a touchdown—except in rare cases—is not made entirely by the boy who carries the ball over the line. It takes a number of plays prior to that, and it takes 10 other boys as a team to make it possible for the ball carrier to make the score.

Sometimes the scoring play is very easy compared with plays leading up to it, and in most cases others have carried the ball to scoring position. And at the same time those fellows on the line are doing their part. Each deserves a share of the praise and credit. But we do not know who is doing what, because to us there are only 11 uniforms out there filled with 11 swell guys from among the 26.

From our notes, after they get cold, we can tell you how much gain was made on each play, and in a few instances who carried the ball. But only on spectacular plays or touchdowns do we check with other spectators on identities. And that is done to make certain.

When we say that the Bulldogs, or Artesia, marched down the field, we are implying that 11 Juggernauts have, through teamwork, done so and thus. And the names of all 11 of them are implied. We wouldn't have the Bulldogs—or any of them—sore at us for anything. And we believe they really understand. But it must be somewhat disappointing when a fellow knows that he did great work not to have the fact put down in black and white.

So let it be known that we do not like to make stars of anyone. And we do not want to slight any Bulldog. But we cannot tell who did what in every play. And we cannot summarize what any individual has done.

To us they're Bulldogs all, a great gang of young fellows, representing a great school and the greatest little community in the Southwest—a community which is proud of them.—A.L.B.

Christmas Lights

IF ARTESIA PLANS this year to have any Christmas lights then that matter of course, should be given some attention now.

Materials remain difficult to secure and it doubtless will require considerable time to accomplish the task. However, if the matter is neglected or postponed until later in the season then it will be too late.

Last year Artesia citizens did a rather outstanding job in home and yard decorations. Everyone knows that it added and will add considerable to the city during the holiday season.

The task of preventing the theft of colored bulbs remains a difficult one but probably one, which could be solved.

Perhaps if sufficient pleas were sounded to the youngsters guilty of these thefts they would develop sufficient pride and stop stealing the bulbs off the strings of lights.

Several communities are already making their plans for Christmas decorating and are buying their needed materials now. If Artesia hopes and expects to act in this matter then now is the time that action should be taken; a definite decision should be reached; and the matter should be settled.

There is no question but what attractive Christmas lighting adds much to the Christmas spirit in the communities where they are used.—O.E.P.

It's refreshing to watch a bunch of kids playing in Central Park on the playground equipment provided by the Lions Club. To those who wondered about the advisability of placing it there, when a few protests were heard at first, we would suggest that they drive by some day when the youngsters are having fun.

Vets Forfeit All Rights By False Allowance Claims

Twenty-four veterans in New Mexico have forfeited all rights to further allowances under the provisions of the GI Bill because they knowingly claimed and accepted allowances to which they were not entitled, Benjamin D. Luchini, chairman-executive director of the Employment Security Commission, said.

These veterans, if convicted in the Federal District Court, may also be fined up to $1000, or sentenced to prison for not more than a year, or both, for making false statements or representations, as provided by law, Luchini said.

Of the 24 cases on which the investigations by the commission have completed, 19 veterans were claiming unemployment allowances of $20 a week and five were claiming self-employed allowances of $100 a month.

Seventeen of the unemployed veterans failed to report earnings which would have affected their allowances, one claimed these benefits while receiving unemployment compensation benefits from the state, and one veteran was fully employed while drawing the benefits.

Of the self-employed veterans, two failed to report sale of cattle, two were working for wages and were not self-employed, and one veteran was claiming to be unemployed in the state of Arizona and self-employed in New Mexico at the same time.

Of the total number of cases, five veterans are from Bernalillo County; two each in Dona Ana, Mora and San Miguel Counties, and one each in Chaves, Colfax, Curry, Eddy, Guadalupe, Lea, McKinley, San Juan, Taos, Torrance, and Valencia.

ABC, To Which Advocate Belongs, Is 33 Years Old

The representatives of 3000 publishers, advertisers, and advertising agencies, members of the Audit Bureau of Circulation, with which The Advocate is affiliated, will hold their 33rd annual meeting in Chicago Oct. 16-17.

Operating for a third of a century as the outstanding example of successful co-operation between buyers and sellers in an industry, the bureau's work reflects the benefits of self-regulation and free enterprise in business.

Previous to 1914, the year the Audit Bureau was established, advertising was pretty much of a gamble.

When merchants and manufacturers bought advertising space in those days there were no standards for measuring the circulation of newspapers and periodicals and no uniform method for auditing and reporting these circulations.

Then, in 1914, a group of advertisers, publishers, and advertising agencies organized the Audit Bureau, established standards for circulation values and the means for verification. With the advent of the Audit Bureau, advertising was transferred from a field of speculative adventure to one of investment in known values and it became possible, for the first time, for advertisers to buy space with the assurance that they would get what they paid for instead of spending their money on as basis of guess work and unverified claims.

The Audit Bureau, better known as ABC, maintains a large staff of experienced circulation auditors who examine and audit the circulation records of all publisher members at regular intervals. The results of these audits are issued in ABC reports which are available to advertisers and advertising agencies for use in buying advertising space.

These reports tell how much net paid circulation a publication has, how it was obtained, the price or prices at which it was sold, how and where distributed, and many other facts essential to the sound investment of advertising money. Thus, with the aid of ABC reports, advertisers can select the media best adapted to their needs, invest their money on the basis of verified information, and know just what they get for their advertising dollars.

Today 95 per cent of the total circulation of all daily newspapers in the United States and 98 per cent in Canada is audited by ABC. Many weekly newspapers have joined the bureau in recent years and the movement of verified circulation in the weekly field is growing rapidly. In addition to newspapers, the bureau's publisher membership includes most of the leading magazines, business papers, and farm publications in the United States and Canada.

Without the protection made possible by the use of ABC reports it is probable that advertisers would not have invested the large sums in advertising that now characterizes our economy. The Audit Bureau therefore, by its participation in the development of American business, is an integral part in the public service performed by the newspapers of America.

Eddy Is Third In Enrollment At University

Every county in New Mexico is represented on the University of New Mexico campus this year, with Bernalillo County leading with 1838 students out of a total of 2767 registered students, Dr. Daryl Keefer, director of admissions, announced.

Bernalillo County's nearest competitor is Santa Fe, which sent 124 residents to the university. Eddy with 74, Chaves with 63, and Curry County with 54 rank next in order.

The male students outnumber the female three to one in practically every instance, with Bernalillo County leading with 1400 men as against 438 women. State totals showed 2049 men and 718 women students registered.

In the out-of-state category, Illinois leads the field, while New York, California, and Texas are close behind. The three-to-one ratio holds good for the total enrollment, too, with 3256 men and 1110 women. To handle this all-time record enrollment of 4366 students, the university has engaged 304 faculty members, for another UNM record.

The counties, in the order of their representation: Bernalillo 1838, Santa Fe 124, Eddy 74, Chaves 63, Curry 54, Colfax 53, Lea 44, McKinley 48, Valencia 47, Taos 34, Torrance 34, Dona Ana 34, San Juan 33, Quay 31, Grants 27, Roosevelt 22, Rrriba 21, Lincoln 21, Otero 20, Union 20, Socorro 19, Guadalupe 18, Luna 18, Sierra 14, Sandoval 14, San Miguel 11, Harding 9, Mora 8, De Baca 7, Catron 5, Hidalgo 2.

Rierson Gives Few Rules For Hunting Season

Hunting season is here again and Dallas Rierson, Eddy County agent, has this word to hunters:

Most farmers are hospitable folks and readily grant permission for hunting on their farms. There are exceptions, of course, particularly farmers who have had some rather unsatisfactory experiences with hunters in the past.

The sportsman's rules of courtesy and safety will do much to net him a return invitation to enjoy a farmer's hospitality for hunting.

The following are rules for hunters' etiquette: Always ask a farmer's permission before you hunt on his land; leave your car in the farmer's yard; always climb fences at the post; close gates when you use them; do not shoot near the buildings or livestock; be extremely careful with matches or burning tobacco so as not to cause a fire; pay the farmer as much respect as you would expect him to respect you and your property.

In addition to these rules Rierson suggests that the hunter carry staples to staple any loose wire that he may find or cause when crossing a fence. Never cross a fence if a gate is handy. Shooting excites livestock, take care not to crowd them in a corner or to shoot at or near them or over them.

These few rules, if followed, add up to more than courtesy and safety — they mean good sportsmanship and are an essential part of a successful hunting trip.

USDA Discusses Suspension Of Food Purchases

How Britain's suspension of food purchases from the United States, if long prolonged, would affect this country's food export picture is anybody's guess, according to the USDA. Food shortages in many parts of the world could help to offset for some commodities the loss of the British market. Yet many countries, like Britain, are also experiencing economic distress and a "shortage of dollars."

Here is how the export picture stacked up during the last fiscal year ended July 1. Total U.S. exports of foods amounted to almost 18.5 million tons. Of this amount, the United Kingdom took about 9 per cent, or 1.7 million tons, consisting of 837,000 tons of wheat and flour, 125,000 tons of other grains, 17,000 tons of fats and oils, 50,000 tons of meat, 185,000 tons of dairy products, and 438,000 tons of other foods.

Related to total U.S. exports of specific foods, these exports to the United Kingdom represented 8 per cent of the wheat and flour, 3 per cent of other grains, 7 per cent of the fats and oils, 22 per cent of the meat, 38 per cent of the dairy products, and 18 per cent of the other foods.

Britain has recently been put back on a wartime footing through measures which include cutting meat rations from about 24 to 20 cents' worth a week — slightly less than a pound of the cheapest cuts—reducing the size of restaurant meals, and eliminating pleasure motoring.

THE "CARRY"

There are parts of North America through which men can travel a thousand miles by canoe! But not all of the journey is easy paddling on glassy lakes, or lazy drifting before friendly currents. There are choppy rivers and swirling rapids. And when the river becomes un-navigable, or the lake ends... there is always a "carry."

A "carry" isn't easy. You have to shoulder your duffle-packed craft and make your way slowly overland to the next stretch of water. You have no choice in the matter... you must make the "carry" or you can't go on.

Life isn't much different than a journey by canoe. There are "carries" that must be made if we are to go on. A man can't escape the burdened miles that are part of his journey.

The strength we need for such times is not physical, but spiritual. It doesn't come from vitamins—it comes from FAITH.

The Church has helped millions to make the "carries" of life. The Church can help YOU.

SOCIETY

Cartier To Give Varied Acts In Performance Here

The Artesia Concerts Association, a division of the New Mexico Concerts, is bringing to Artesia Jacques Cartier, actor-dancer, in a brilliant new show entitled "Theater Cavalcade" at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening, Oct. 22, at the high school auditorium.

A clever portrayal of characters has been shaped into a complete and spectacular program as the name of each part implies.

The opening selection is "The Glory That Was Greece," taken from Euripides' "Crestes." The god, Zeus, and the mortal, Crestes, are the characters in the drama which takes place in Athens in the year 408 B.C.

His next interpretation is of Francesco Andriani, a member of the Gelosi Company, which appeared in Florence in 1596. "The visit of the Spanish Princess" is the reproduction and the skit is entitled "The Commedia Dell'Arte in Italy."

Mr. Cartier's next portrait is of William Shakespeare in "The First Performance of Hamlet," which is set in the Globe Theater in London. The drama, "Tartuffe," with the character of Louis XIV, king of France, supplies the material for the fourth part of the concert which is "Moliere Attends His Royal Patron, the Sun King."

"The Farewell Performance for Charles II," taken from "The Man of Mode," is then shown. The setting is London's most famous theater, Drury Lane, in 1682. Cartier gives an excellent characterization of Thomas Killigrew, who portrayed the character, Sir Fopling Flutter.

The second half of the concert opens with "Fool's Opera," or "The Taste of the Age," which is cleverly presented in "The First Play in New York." A New York colony in 1703 provides ample opportunity for the talents of the artist. Anthony Aston is the actor Mr. Cartier copies. John Wilkes Booth and Edwin Booth are given the master's touch in two scenes, which comprise "The Brothers Booth."

No performance of this type could by-pass the theater's royal family, the Barrymores. Lionel and John Barrymore in two of their better-known stage roles, the characters Neri and Gianetta respectively, lend the Broadway touch as the scenes enter present-day moods.

One of the scenes which is particularly adaptable to the showing of skilled artistry is "The American Tour of Mei-Lan-Fang," the most famous of all Chinese actors. The tour was made in 1939. "The Phoenix Goddess," which was shown in San Francisco, is the choice of Mr. Cartier. Constantin Stanislavski as "Tsar Fyedor," a character borrowed from the Russian stage and shown in this country in 1922, pays tribute to "The American Tour of the Moscow Art Theater."

The versatility of the concert artist will be shown in the finale of the show, "Hollywood Procession." Such famous actors and actresses as Ben Turpin, Sarah Bernhardt, William S. Hart, Theda Bara, Rudolph Valentino, Nazimova, George Arliss, Greta Garbo, Maurice Chevalier, Mae West, Fred Astaire, and Charlie Chaplin, will be blended to the wide talents of the interpreter.

No tickets will be sold at the door for single performances as ticket sales were held in advance of the concert season. Only holders of season tickets will be admitted.

White Shrine To Have Monthly Dinner Meets

Plans for monthly dinner meetings were made by Artesia Shrine No. 2, Order of the White Shrine of Jerusalem, at a stated meeting in the basement of the Masonic Temple Friday evening. The meeting was preceded by a covered-dish dinner. Guests from Hope, Hagerman, and Lake Arthur attended.

At the general business session it was decided Hope and Lake Arthur will be in charge of the November get-together. Plans for a benefit Halloween dance, to be held at the Cottonwood School auditorium Thursday, Oct. 30, have been started. Mrs. O. A. Pearson, chairman of arrangements, reported that an orchestra had been engaged. Prizes will be given for the best costumes and for games. Tickets will be put on sale in the near future.

Mrs. Claire Meisinger was appointed worthy herald and will succeed Mrs. Hilda B. Griffith of Carlsbad.

One of the most outstanding ceremonials of the Artesia group will be held Saturday, Dec. 6. At that time the auditorium of the Masonic Temple will be ready for use and new robes and ritual equipment will be used. A large class will be ready to receive the degree of the order.

Hosts for the dinner were Messrs. and Mmes. Clarence Roach, H. R. Paton, Arba Green, and Rufus Stinnett, and Mmes. John F. Runyan, Dora K. Polk, Beth Thorpe, Don Riddle, and Fay Thorpe.

Report Is Given On State Nurses' Confab By Mrs. Worthington

At a meeting of District No. 8 of New Mexico Graduate Nurses' Association, held Wednesday last week in Dr. Robert Harper's office, Mrs. Henry Worthington, president, gave an interesting report on the annual state nurses' convention held recently in Albuquerque. Miss Tommie Terry, who also attended the convention, gave reports on public relations and the economic security program.

Guests at the meeting were Mmes. Wilma Knudson, Gladys Driver, and Katherine Crites, and Misses Betty Knapp, Ella Hamilton, and Eleanor Rhoads. Sisters M. Wilma and M. Serena, members of District No. 7 from Carlsbad, were guests. Miss Catherine Walterscheid and Miss Audie Everett, local nurses, and Sister M. Benita, superintendent of Artesia Memorial Hospital, also attended the meeting.

Light refreshments were served to the guests at the close of the meeting.

'Model Meeting' Is Held By ESA For Its Rushees

A special meeting, known as the "model meeting," for the benefit of rushees of Alpha Nu Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha was held Wednesday evening of last week in the home of Miss Velma Springer.

Mrs. Gene Chambers was elected corresponding secretary to replace Miss Patti Runyan, who is now in college in Kingsville, Tex., and Miss Jimmie Starkey was elected by the rushee-guests to represent the Artesia chapter in a beauty contest being sponsored by national headquarters. Chapters from coast to coast will participate. Miss Starkey's picture will be entered for the local chapter. The winner of the contest will be named, "Miss ESA."

Mrs. Allen Mills conducted an educational musical program after the business meeting. Her introductory talk explained that she was starting with "jazz" with a follow-up of "swing" and would come to a close with the modern classics of today. As her program developed, even as the music of the years have, Mrs. Mills pointed out the difference of each phase of music. She chose this program for its educational points as well as its entertainment qualities.

The guests were invited to be pledges of the chapter and each signed a pledge card. Miss Springer, vice president, is in charge of rushing and getting new pledges, and has done a splendid job of leading the group in a very busy rush season. She has been planning entertainments and has announced a theater party to be held in the near future, the exact time to be announced later.

At the close of the evening, Miss Springer served cleverly decorated open-faced sandwiches and punch to Misses Wanda Lunsford, Mary Glasscock, Elizabeth McDonald, Bonnie Fletcher, Lucille Arnall, and Jimmie Starkey, and Mmes. Gene Chambers, Allen Mills, Albert Linell, E. P. Bullock, Ray Carter, Jr., George Lynch, Jack Roland, Wayne Truett, Millard Waters, and Clarke Miller. Mrs. Leo Austin and Miss Martha Broocke are also pledges but were unable to attend the meeting.

B. Atkeson, chairman.

She urged that all local artists show their work the week of Nov. 3-8, both those who have exhibited in former years and those who are new in Artesia.

As in past years it is hoped to have oils, water colors, pen and pencil sketches, possibly sculpture, and other forms of art as practiced by local people. The range of types is wide, Mrs. Atkeson stressed.

A report from the committee, which is working on the type of yearbooks, was given during the business session.

Mrs. S. O. Higgins, Mrs. Paul Terry, and Mrs. Nevil Muncy were appointed by Mrs. Rogers to nominate officers for the coming year. Mrs. Norma Hall Is Guest Speaker At Exhibit Tea

Mrs. Norma Bassett Hall of Santa Fe was the guest speaker at the Woman's Club art exhibit and tea Wednesday afternoon of last week. Mrs. J. B. Atkeson, chairman of the art committee, introduced Mrs. Hall and explained that she was a representative of the State Museum at Santa Fe. A display of linoleum cuts, lithographs, serigraphs, and woodcuts, produced by seven New Mexico printmakers, were on sale during the afternoon.

Mrs. Hall, who has lived in New Mexico two years, received her formal art training in Portland, Ore., and Chicago. Mrs. Hall's works in both woodcuts and serigraphy are well represented in several leading galleries. Her short and interesting address concerned the pleasures and tribulations derived from her work.

Mrs. E. J. Foster, president of the third district of Woman's Clubs, gave a brief report on her recent trip to New York, where she attended a convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

Mrs. Howard Whitson, violinist, played special music at the tea hour. Her rendition of "Liebestraum," by Liszt, was a highlight of the afternoon. Mrs. Stanley Carper played her accompaniment.

Hostesses for the tea were members of the art committee. A color scheme of green and yellow was carried out in a beautiful centerpiece of bright fall flowers and in floral arrangements placed in strategic spots around the room to complete the pattern. Mrs. Foster and Mrs. Glenn Caskey, president of the woman's Club, presided at the silver tea service.

Miss Violet Robertson kept the guestbook. More than 200 guests called during the afternoon.

Presentation Of 'Alice' Is Result Determination

When the Parent-Teacher Association, Artesia Story League, and Girl Scouts sponsor "Alice in Wonderland" Nov. 15 at the high school auditorium, local theatergoers, young and old, will have an opportunity to witness the results of determination to make the theater a temple of true education and spiritual development as well as sound entertainment for young America.

Parents and teachers who find their resources strained to the point of exhaustion whenever they undertake the dual task of entertaining and educating even a small group of children, view the sublime courage of Mrs. Major with unalloyed awe.

The founder and director of the famous Children's Theater of New York is called upon to select, dramatize, and produce the modern cultural entertainment which will hold the mercurial interest of more than two million young Americans annually. Moreover, the Herculean task is accompanied without ever resorting to low slapstick comedy or episodes of brutality and violence with which the movies shock their youthful patrons into paralyzed attention.

Mrs. Major is deeply aware of her responsibility, not only to entertain and win absorbed attention, but to set standards of character and behavior for children's emulation, which will result in their personal happiness and success.

To accomplish this, she chooses from the great literature of the world examples which contain the necessary dramatic intensity, content of struggle, accomplishment, and humor, for children must laugh, and never must the plays descend to mere preaching.

Then the child's instinct for color, movement, and simplicity of action must be taken into account. All Children's Theater productions are exceedingly colorful, and the adult professional actors are schooled in a technique which enables them to project thought and emotion and illusion of continuous movement with the simplicity and sincerity demanded by juvenile audiences.

 Mrs. V. P. Sheldon will be in charge of the training. She is giving this course in response to the cry of committee members, who declare they do not understand their duties and responsibilities to the troops. Mrs. Sheldon pointed out that this will be the only course of its kind to be offered this year and anticipates a record turnout for the occasion.
 She also said that, although this is the only course planned especially for the committee members, those persons registered as such are free to attend any and all leader training courses. She went on to say, however, that leader courses will not provide an answer to the committee woman's problems, but will serve to enlighten her upon the duties of a leader.

Moore Hopes To Get New Ideas At NAVOS Meeting

Dave Moore, manager of the Artesia Chamber of Commerce, who last week was named on a committee to draw plans for the New Mexico Chamber of Commerce Managers Association, is to attend the 33rd convention of the National Association of Commercial Organization Secretaries at Colorado Springs, Colo., Sunday through next Wednesday as a member of the board of directors of the Mountain States Association and a representative from New Mexico.

 After that improvement, the prescription department was rebuilt and set farther to the rear of the store, giving more space for merchandising, but nevertheless making for a more efficient prescription room. Activities in that department are in plain view through a glass partition.

 More recently many new fixtures have been added and the old ones have been redecorated to conform in a color scheme of gray and green trim.

Know Your Neighbor

When one considers the relatively small place that women have occupied, until the last two or three decades, in the national life of Latin American countries, it is interesting to note how much they have distinguished themselves in the field of poetry. Noteworthy, too, is the fact that a similar flowering of feminine poetical talent never took place in Spain where a few women were proficient as prose writers but where, with the exception of maybe St. Teresa of Avila in the 17th century and Rosalia de Castro in the 19th, the doors of Parnassus seemed to be tightly closed to the wearers of skirts. What, then, was that missing element, that elusive something that gave wings to the inspiration of Latin American women? Is it the soil, the life, the customs or simply that the women of Latin America have fashioned for themselves a soul of their own? Out of the thousands who have written poetry, stop and examine a few.

As early as the 17th century Mexico produced "a real poetic genius." Sor Juana Ines de la Cruz. The child prodigy, said to have already been writing poems at the age of 8, grew into a vastly learned young woman who became the wonder of the court of the viceroy for her extraordinary knowledge of Latin, rhetoric, architecture, philosophy, theology, law, and history. Her achievements as a poet won her the title of "the Tenth Muse," and her small cell at the convent which she had entered as a nun at the age of 17, because she found she was "tormented for her wit and pursued for her beauty," was the scene of intense intellectual activity. In spite of the inevitably pedantic taste of her time, Sor Juana Ines has left the world poems of stirring beauty and sincere feeling and she is considered as one of the great poets of the Spanish language.

Tip-toeing across the centuries one comes to another woman who has made a great name for herself in the field of letters, Gertrudis Gomez de Avellaneda. Born in Camaguey, Cuba at the beginning of the 19th century, she, also, started writing poetry at an early age. When, upon reaching young womanhood, she had to go to Spain with her mother who had married an officer in the Spanish army, she soon became known for her talent as a poet and as a dramatist and was an important figure in the literary circles of Madrid.

Unhappy in her private life, she loved a man who stood in awe of her because of her superior intelligence. The man she finally married died after a year of marriage and her second husband was stabbed by a political enemy. Her quest for consolation in her sorrows tints Avellaneda's poems with an eminently religious flavor.

Salome Urena de Henriquez was born, lived, and died in Santa Domingo during the second half of the 19th century. She began to write poetry while still in her teens, singing her country, its land, its glories. She had gained well acquired fame when she married another distinguished writer, Francisco Henriquez. Salome Urena's principal aim had always been to promote peace and progress through her writings, and when one of the great thinkers and educators of Latin America, Eugenio M. Hostos, came to Santo Domingo, she opened a school for young ladies which was to be conducted according to his principles. All her life she strived to what she calls in her own words "win the illustrious palm of knowledge in the sweet calm of peace."

Latin America has in Maria Enriqueta and Alfonsina Storni, in Gabriela Mistral and Delmira Agustina, in Juana de Ibarbourou, feminine singers of robust, virile spirit as well as of more graceful, mystic, delicate charm.

Gabriela Mistral, doubtless the greatest living poetess of Spanish language, writes of her native Chile, of life, of death, in ardent, intense, sometimes quietly tragic tones, hiding under her pseudonym the strong personality of a simple woman, "peasant, daughter of peasants, with the soul and profession of a teacher," as she says herself.

Juana de Ibarbourou and Delmira Agustini, although both Uruguayan, interpret life differently through their poetry. Juana who leads a quiet, full, happy life, is lyrical, delicate, very feminine in her verses. Delmira marries a man she does not love, lives a tumultuous existence, writes in a tragic mood, dies equally tragically when her husband kills her in a fit of jealousy.

Argentine Alfonsina Storni is a passionate, elegant, eminently intellectual in her poetry, while Mexican Maria Enriqueta, of a slightly more 19th century style, has a "poignant insight" on the humble things of life.

Behind the Scenes in the Telephone Business

Most people are aware that record numbers of telephones are being installed these days, but few realize all the work that goes on behind the scenes to make telephone service possible. The telephone instrument itself is only 1/17 of all the equipment necessary to provide telephone service.

In hundreds of telephone exchanges throughout the area we serve, central office equipment is being installed as fast as it is received—a painstaking job requiring many skilled hands.

We're moving as fast as we can toward the day when everyone can have the kind of service he wants—and it will be better service than ever!

Know Your Neighbor

When one considers the relatively small place that women have occupied, until the last two or three decades, in the national life of Latin American countries, it is interesting to note how much they have distinguished themselves in the field of poetry.

Noteworthy, too, is the fact that a similar flowering of feminine poetical talent never took place in Spain where a few women were proficient as prose writers but where, with the exception of maybe St. Teresa of Avila in the 17th century and Rosalia de Castro in the 19th, the doors of Parnassus seemed to be tightly closed to the wearers of skirts.

What, then, was that missing element, that elusive something that gave wings to the inspiration of Latin American women? Is it the soil, the life, the customs or simply that the women of Latin America have fashioned for themselves a soul of their own? Out of the thousands who have written poetry, stop and examine a few.

As early as the 17th century Mexico produced "a real poetic genius," Sor Juana Ines de la Cruz. The child prodigy, said to have already been writing poems at the age of 8, grew into a vastly learned young woman who became the wonder of the court of the viceroy for her extraordinary knowledge of Latin, rhetoric, architecture, philosophy, theology, law, and history.

Her achievements as a poet won her the title of "the Tenth Muse," and her small cell at the convent which she had entered as a nun at the age of 17, because she found she was "tormented for her wit and pursued for her beauty," was the scene of intense intellectual activity. In spite of the inevitably pedantic taste of her time, Sor Juana Ines has left the world poems of stirring beauty and sincere feeling and she is considered as one of the great poets of the Spanish language.

Tip-toeing across the centuries one comes to another woman who has made a great name for herself in the field of letters, Gertrudis Gomez de Avellaneda. The man she finally married died after a year of marriage and her second husband was stabbed by a political enemy. Her quest for consolation in her sorrows tints Avellaneda's poems with an eminently religious flavor.

Behind the Scenes in the Telephone Business

Most people are aware that record numbers of telephones are being installed these days, but few realize all the work that goes on behind the scenes to make telephone service possible. The telephone instrument itself is only 1/17 of all the equipment necessary to provide telephone service.

In hundreds of telephone exchanges throughout the area we serve, central office equipment is being installed as fast as it is received—a painstaking job requiring many skilled hands.

We're moving as fast as we can toward the day when everyone can have the kind of service he wants—and it will be better service than ever!

Scout Activities Are Outlined At Planning Meeting

Plans discussed at a fall-planning meeting of the Gateway District of the Boy Scouts Wednesday evening of last week included the organization of a new Scout Cub pack and two Boy Scout troops and the registering of at least 100 new Boy Scouts during the coming year.

The meeting, held at the Veterans Memorial Building, was attended by a large number of scouters and others interested in the Boy Scouts, including four women. Present were Howard Brown of Roswell, field executive, and Bill Hintze of Carlsbad, field executive.

The program was under the direction of C. D. Hopkins, vice chairman of the district. After an orchestra from Troop 27 played and members of Troop 27 presented a stunt, "The Yellow Cab," the adults split into three groups for business, with Hopkins serving as chairman of the district committee, Hintze presiding over the scoutmasters, and Bob McQuay in charge of the Cub activities group.

It was decided the planned round-up of new and registered Boy Scouts, which has started, will end Dec. 6, with each troop or pack attempting to attain its goal by that time.

A district court of honor was planned for next Tuesday, Oct. 14, while Oct. 24-25 was set for the next camp, which will be a rodeo round-up.

It was planned to ask Jack Frost to show the Scouts his pictures of his trips down the San Juan and Colorado Rivers at a meeting in November, in the early part of which month a meeting is to be held at Hope. The December activities will be highlighted by the big round-up and "branding" ceremonies.

At that time the two fire trucks will pace the parade from Morris Field, east on Richardson Avenue to Roselawn Avenue, then to Main Street and back west to the city hall.

At that place there will be yells, school songs, and pep talks. And then there will be a big bonfire north of the fire station, with firemen standing by for safety.

The next evidence of the great impending battle will be about 6 o'clock Friday evening, when the stands at Morris Field start to fill, and as busloads and carloads of Eagle fans begin to arrive from Hobbs.

And then the battle will begin at 7:30 o'clock.

After the game Friday night, the Band-Aide, formerly the Band Boosters Club, will give a public dance in the Central School gymnasium to raise funds for new uniforms for the junior band.

At the same time the "teen-age canteen" will be open at the Veterans Memorial Building for "teen-agers of Artesia and Hobbs.

Legion Contest

Howard Whitson and Dr. L. F. Hamilton of the building committee reported good progress towards the finishing of the Veterans Memorial Building. It is planned to complete the clubroom and lounge in the near future and to have asphalt tile laid in the halls. A new heating system has been ordered, they said.

J. B. (Buster) Mulcock reported the veterans' racetrack is "slowly but surely" paying off and that all there now is in the clear except for the bleachers. Ed Boans, Gene Chambers, and H. F. (Butch) Worthington were appointed to provide entertainment for the next meeting, which will be Nov. 3.

Convention Of 20-30 Is To Be Here Oct. 18-19

Announcement was made this week that a subdistrict meeting of 20-30 Clubs will be held in Artesia Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 18-19, with an expected attendance of more than 50 members and their wives.

District Gov. Joe Bonfield of Hobbs is to be here to preside and he will be assisted by "Speck" Crettinger of Clovis, subdistrict governor.

Registration for the visitors will be from 1 to 7 o'clock Saturday afternoon and evening at the Artesia Hotel.

A banquet will be served on the Roof Garden there at 7:30 o'clock, after which a dance is planned for 9 o'clock.

The Sunday activities will start off at 8:30 o'clock Sunday morning with a breakfast at the Coffee Shop.

The business session will be at the Veterans Memorial Building at 9:30 o'clock.

Subdistrict Governor Crettinger and Marion Bell of Carlsbad, national trustee, were guests at the weekly meeting of the Artesia 20-30 Club last Thursday.

It is expected that plans for the subdistrict convention will be made at the weekly meeting on the Roof Garden at 7:30 o'clock this evening.

Toastmasters To Organize Club This Evening

A meeting is to be held at 7:30 o'clock this evening at the Veterans Memorial Building for the possible formation of a local club of Toastmasters International, national headquarters for which are at Santa Ana, Calif.

G. W. McKim of Albuquerque, district governor, is to be at the meeting to explain to local men interested in the formation of a club here the principles of the group.

In general, Toastmasters International, a nonprofit organization, is for adult education and betterment in leadership and public speaking. At present there are three such clubs in Albuquerque and one each in Santa Fe, Clovis, Portales, and Roswell. In the nation there are 438 clubs with a membership of about 14,000.

It is expected some members of the Roswell club will be present for the meeting this evening, to which all men interested are invited.

New Stands

game, when a crowd of 8000 is expected.

At the same time finishing touches are being put on the new pressbox sponsored by the Artesia Lions Club for the use of local and visiting members of the radio and press.

As the wooden bleachers relieve the seating pressure in the permanent west stadium stands, the portion there from the west entrance to the north end has been set aside as a reserved section, to accommodate 840 spectators.

Season tickets for that new reserved section are on sale at the Central Valley Electric Coop (REA) office, where there is a chart designating the position of each.

The reserved section is divided into six subsections of 140 seats each, with each marked, so the purchaser will be assured of the place.

Bands, pep squads, and student bodies are to use the new wooden bleachers on the east side of the field. In front of them there again will be reserved boxes of four chairs each, as at the Jallartesa game two weeks ago, which were sold by the "B" football squad. Those which were not engaged for the entire season will be available for the game Friday.

The east stands are seven rows high, with railings at the bottom and top. The lowest row is about four feet from the ground, high enough for persons seated there to see over anyone in front. Steps leading to them have been built at the center near the 50-yard line.

According to Otto Wood, president of the Bulldog Boosters, the 16-foot sections are so constructed that they can be skidded out of the way for softball next summer and for other athletic events for which more room is needed.

Although the Bulldog Boosters are sponsoring the new stands, many others in the community have been behind the project, and funds for their construction have been underwritten, to be repaid out of admission charges. When paid for the stands will belong to the schools. It is expected they will be paid out by next season.

The Boy Scouts are to assist at the game Friday in keeping people in the stands, by way of policing the sidelines, and will also assist in parking automobiles adjacent to the schools prior to the games. Some of the parking space there is to be reserved for Hobbs vehicles. All Boy Scouts on duty will be in uniform.

The last two will be presented by the actors' group Jan. 13 and March 31.

Mrs. Duane Sams, vice president of the club, was in charge of the program for the evening and presented Mrs. Bolton in a story, "Jolly Old Roger, the Timmacker Man." Mrs. V. P. Sheldon led the group in singing and games.

Troops 10 and 11 served delightful refreshments at the close of the evening.

Farm Briefs

By Dallas Rierson
County Extension Agent

New Mexico turkey prices for the 1947 crop will be supported at from 25 to 35 cents a pound live weight under the price support program which became effective Sept. 1.

Prices for grade "B" turkeys will be 3 cents a pound less on all classes, live and dressed.

It is expected that this year's 94,000 turkey crop will go to market earlier than usual because of present high feed prices.

"Farm Day" is scheduled for Oct. 14 at the New Mexico A. & M. College campus. The program committee, of which Martin Hoover, extension agronomist, is chairman, has tried to schedule something of interest to anyone attending regardless of the part of the state from which he comes. There will be two principal topics, "Hybrid Corns for New Mexico" and "New Varieties of Sorghums and Wheat for New Mexico."

Harbor Jones, assistant agronomist in charge of the substations at Albuquerque, will talk on hybrid corns and John Carter, assistant agronomist in charge of the substitution at Clayton, will talk on the new varieties of sorghums and wheat.

Trench silos can be built with farm machinery and will save the feed value of immature corn.

Disease and insect damage in 1948 gardens can be reduced if the trash left from the 1947 crops is gathered and placed in compost piles or is destroyed by fire.

Poultry feed wastes which cost poultrymen thousands of dollars each year, can be cut considerably by not filling the fed troughs brimful.

One ton of farmers' stock Spanish peanuts (unshelled) will produce an average of 600 pounds of oil, 900 pounds of meal, and 400 pounds of hulls and foreign matter.

In the nation as a whole, one farm fire occurs every 15 minutes. The tragic fact is that 90 per cent of all these fires are preventable.

How? There are three basic prevention rules: Exercise care and fore thought in the construction, maintenance and use of farm buildings.

Be prepared with simple equipment for putting out fires before they get large. Have the farm family organized so that every person will know what to do in case of a fire, and will work together with others to control it.

Most folks have areas in their gardens which have grown a vegetable crop or two but which will lie idle for the remainder of the season. Such portions of the garden should be utilized to grow a cover crop.

About the only sources of the organic matter which is so important to keep the soil in good physical condition are manure and cover crops. Manure is generally unobtainable, often unwarrantedly expensive, and full of weed seeds; also, haulage is still a real problem. An adequate cover crop can be grown almost every year. It will build up the soil organic matter and not interfere with efficient and maximum production of vegetables. A good cover crop reduces washing of the soil and the leaching of soluble plant food materials. The garden looks better during the idle months with a green blanket.

Dairy cattle will produce about 15 tons of manure per 1000 pounds of live weight per year.

New Product Keeps Potato Sproutless

Problem of Storage Now Aided by New Methods

The sprouting, shriveling and softening of potatoes when kept at room temperatures now can be prevented with use of barsprout. The treated potatoes remain firm, practically farm-fresh, and not only cook but also taste better. The product is equally effective on certain other root crops such as beets, carrots, turnips and rutabagas.

The active ingredient is methyl ester of naphthaleneacetic acid. When applied to the potatoes as a dust, it vaporizes and literally "gets into their eyes," keeping them from sprouting. Feeding tests have shown that the chemical imparts no harmful effect. Tests have been conducted for the past five years at leading agricultural experiment stations.

By this treatment the potatoes may be kept at ordinary room temperatures without sprouting and without formation of reducing sugar. Ordinarily potatoes are held below 45 degrees and shrink 5 per cent in weight, developing reducing sugars which affect color and taste.

U.S. Looks Ahead To New Foreign Farm Outlets

Work which may be particularly significant when the supply of United States farm products becomes much larger in relation to demand is taken under the Research and Marketing Act to seek new foreign outlets for farm products.

As part of an over-all program to expand markets for U.S. agricultural products, commodity specialists will be assigned to work in this country and abroad to stimulate foreign demand for certain products usually produced in this country in excess of normal domestic needs.

Men assigned to the work will represent the government in contacting foreign government agencies, exporters, importers, and consumer groups abroad, and will also deal with foreign purchasing agents in the United States.

In this country, they will provide producers and shippers first-hand information about marketing developments in Western Europe, the United Kingdom, and elsewhere abroad and to learn what types of information and activity are most urgently needed to expand foreign outlets for our farm products.

Serious Shortage Of Industrial Oil And Fat Remains

New Mexico homemakers were again reminded of the serious shortage of fats and oils, when C. V. Hemphill, state committee chairman, U.S. Department of Agriculture's Production and Marketing Administration, urged intensified co-operation in saving and turning in used kitchen fats.

Production of fats and oils for the year will be a sixth less than during prewar years, he said, explaining the only remaining source for making up the deficit is used fats saved in the kitchen.

"The enormous deficit is slowing down production of countless consumer items we wear and use every day," he said. "Some homemakers have the mistaken impression used kitchen fats are not as vitally needed as they were previously. The fact is we need this material for our home industry now and we need it badly. I feel confident the women of New Mexico will redouble their efforts and set an unprecedented record."

Hemphill was confident that retail grocers and collectors of used fat would continue to cooperate in the government-industry program. During the last five years more than 600 million pounds of household fats have been recovered.

Fall Is Time To Use 2,4-D Sprays For Killing Weeds

Early fall is recommended as the desirable season for using 2,4-D sprays to kill weeds in lawns, according to Chester Gibbs, extension horticulturist with New Mexico A. & M. College.

Gibbs says 2,4-D will not kill grasses that occur as weeds, such as crabgrass, quackgrass, and others, without injuring also the desirable grasses, bluegrass, fescue, or red top, present in the turf.

It is simple enough to rid a lawn of common broadleaved weeds, like dandelion and plantain, by spraying the area with 2,4-D, but after those weeds have been killed the task is only partly done, because as the broadleaved weeds die and rot away, bare areas are exposed. In most localities the bare spots will soon become infested with weeds of the grass type that cannot be controlled with 2,4-D.

The control of lawn weeds should be undertaken in the season, usually autumn, that is most favorable to the growth of lawn grass. The bare areas that result from killing the weeds in the turf should be replanted to grass within two weeks or a month after the area is treated.

New Mexico Potato Goal For 1948 Set By USDA At 3700 Acres

Establishment of an Irish potato goal of 3700 acres for New Mexico has been announced by the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The goal includes 2000 acres for commercial potato farms and 1700 acres for farms producing less than three acres which are not classified as commercial potato farms.

Goals for individual farms will be established by County Agricultural Conservation Committees. Planting within acreage goals will be one of the eligibility requirements for participation in the department's 1948 price-support program for potatoes.

The national potato goal is 2,352,000 acres, slightly less than the 1947 goal of 2,517,000 but larger than the 2,238,700 acres actually planted this year. The 1948 goal should, under average conditions, produce approximately 375 million bushels, enough to fulfill anticipated requirements from the 1948 crop.

Half Of Nation's Land Affected By Soil Erosion

Soil erosion has affected in some degree more than a billion acres of land in America. This is more than half of the nation's land.

Approximately 50,000,000 acres of once productive cropland have been already ruined for any further immediate cultivation, another 50,000,000 acres are in a condition almost as bad, and half to all the fertile topsoil has been removed from another 100,000,000 acres.

Of the present American cropland of 415,000,000 acres, only about 342,000,000 acres can be classed as really good land. Of the 342,000,000 acres of good land, about 62,000,000 acres are non-erodible, and the other 280,000, 000 acres of good land is losing soil with every hard rain.

Three billion tons of topsoil wash down the streams and rivers every year.

Annual loss of soil minerals is 20 times the amount of soil minerals annually used in plant life.

The nation is annually mining out five times the soil minerals that are annually put back into the soil.

Erosion alone is costing the nation approximately $3,844,000,000 annually.

SUCTION HARVESTERS SAVE MORE SEED
Now there are machines to save more of the seeds of such legumes as white, alsike, red, Ladino, and subterranean clovers, and other legumes that are so important in conservation. Machines somewhat like giant vacuum sweepers have been designed to pick up the seed that shatters when the crop is dry. In Michigan the machine picked up from 25 to 55 pounds of Laino clover seed to the acre, and in Oregon the machine sucked up 150 to 250 pounds of subterranean clover to the acre — double the yield that was threshed out.

Two Methods Are Used In Support Of Cereal Prices

The government is supporting the prices of wheat, barley, oats, flaxseed, dry beans, and grain sorghums this year through purchase agreements or loans. A farmer chooses which of the two methods he wishes to use.

If the farmer chooses the purchase agreement, he pays a fee of $1.50 at the time he takes out the purchase agreement. Later, if he actually sells his grain to the government, he may have to pay an additional fee. Under the purchase agreement, the farmer can sell all or part of his cereal crops to the government during a designated 30-day period.

The loans may mature at a set date, or they may mature earlier if the Commodity Credit Corporation finds it necessary to call the loans.

They are handled in the same way they have been in the past. The grain may be stored either on the farm or in a licensed warehouse.

There are some advantages in both plans. Under the purchase agreement, the farmer is assured of the support price for his grain and he retains control of his crop so that he can sell it at any time without going through any time-consuming procedure. Under the loan the farmer can get some money promptly, and he still retains some control over his crop so that, if its price increases, he can get the benefit.

Full information about both methods can be obtained from the county agricultural conservation committees.

The word, tornado, originally was applied to a violent squall blowing out from the front of a thunderstorm on Africa's Gold Coast.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

How to Tell You're Getting Old

Doc Walters gave me this formula: It's a sure-fire sign you're getting old when you resent other people having a good time.

And the Doc means it hasn't much to do with age. There are old folks in our town who get a big kick out of seeing other people enjoy themselves—seems to keep them young in spirit, with a twinkle in their eyes!

And there are some others who resent the young folks going fishing; who feel that community games and dances are just a waste of time; or who criticize temperate people for enjoying a mellow glass of beer with friends.

They're often well-intentioned folks, too. But from where I sit, the minute we criticize our neighbors for enjoying wholesome pleasures—like a game of horseshoes, a glass of beer, or an afternoon's fishing—it's a sure sign we're growing old (in spirit anyway) no matter what our age is.

PONTIAC
A fine car made finer

Lasts long... and lasts well!

The records prove that no car lasts longer than a Pontiac—but this is only half the story! For Pontiac continues, throughout the years, to render fine performance—to give its owner the same thrill he felt when he first took the wheel. Owners who have driven their Pontiacs for five, seven, and even ten years will testify that their cars still give complete satisfaction in every way. For Pontiac is a GOOD car—designed and built to stay on the job. This is a basic Pontiac virtue—and is true of Pontiac year after year. So regardless of when you expect to get your next car, get a Pontiac. It will not only last long—it will last well!

DUE TO OUR UNFILLED ORDERS ON HAND, you may experience some delay in getting a new Pontiac. Place your order now to avoid further delay. In the meantime, let us keep your present car operating at top efficiency.

Use Of Selective Breeding Tends To Improve Herd

The process of making maximum use of the best bulls is called selective breeding. That is, select from the cow herd those individuals that consistently produce heavier and better calves. Experiments at the New Mexico A. & M. College ranch prove that cows can be classified on a production basis by comparing their first calves. A cow whose first calf is good will continue to produce good calves. In fact, the best classification for older cows is through their calves. The number of top cows to pick is determined by the number of heifer replacements needed, allowing for a normal calf crop with 50 per cent male calves. This bunch of cows should be run separately. At breeding time, the best bulls should be put with these cows. Nearly all their heifer calves should be the best and should be kept for replacements. This system produces faster improvement by concentrating the best characteristics of all cattle into the herd from which to select replacement heifers. Turning the required number of bulls in to the cow herd without selection tends to produce the average, as the best bulls may get with the poorest cows and vice versa. This means wasting the potential ability of the best bulls to improve the herd. The first cut, or selection, of the cow herd is not final. Make year-to-year changes. If a cow in the best herd produces a poor calf, put that cow in the poorer herd. Likewise, if a cow in the poorer herd consistently produces a good calf, move her into the better herd. This system of selective breeding can be carried on by anyone who uses two or more males. Any rancher with facilities for handling two or more herds can carry on such a program with little, if any, additional expense. Finally, the cowman who can produce the most beef per unit in an economical manner is the rancher who will survive under adverse marketing conditions. Now, while prices are good, is the time to get the herd in shape for such conditions.

Grain Shipments Will Not Match Those Last Year

This government intends to do its utmost to ship grain where it is needed, Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson recently said, but it is now evident as much grain cannot be shipped this year as last. Although the wheat crop set a new record, the total U.S. grain supply this year will be reduced by more than last year's grain exports of more than 563 million bushels.

"We take deep satisfaction in the effect of the food we have sent and are still sending," the secretary said. "In terms of human life, the meaning of our food shipments is beyond measure. . . . "We have made our record shipments in spite of many problems and with calculated risk. We have had to worry about the transportation shortage. We have had to make new international arrangements to finance the shipments.

"And we have been careful to prevent undue disruption of

Rev. Paul F. Baugher of Colorado is conducting special revival services at the Assembly of God Church at Fourth and Chisum Avenue at 7:30 o'clock each evening, with increasing interest being shown as the series progresses.

Rev. A. E. Kelly, pastor of the church, has extended an invitation to everyone to attend the nightly services and to hear the messages brought by Rev. Baugher.

our own economy — not only in self-protection but also for the sake of the world economy—because world recovery is inseparably linked with a healthy state of economic affairs in the United States.

"While industry has been reverting to peacetime conditions, agriculture has been forced by world events to postpone that shift in order to meet the food emergencies. In fact, agriculture's production pattern is perhaps even farther from peacetime requirements than it was at the end of the war.

"It is not too soon to lay plans to convert our farm plant to a peacetime basis. . . . But little can be done to establish a peacetime pattern as long as the world food emergency continues."

Pep Club Sells More Than Thousand Dollars Worth Season Tickets

A total of $1154 was the final tally for the season's football ticket sale by the Girls' Pep Club, according to a report from Miss Alma Sue Felix, who sponsors the organization.

Wanda Knowles, a member of the sophomore class, alone sold $262.80 worth of tickets. Others who ranked high were Carol Hensley, with a sales record of $187.20; Elmira Terry, with $99.60 to her credit, and Jo Ann Johnson, who turned in $85.20.

In addition to the season ticket sales, the Pep Club took in during the week $119.75 for single admissions.

Fruit Trees Need Little Care Now To Do Their Best

Those who have fruit trees should think a little about their care now. The spring and summer fruits are gone, but the trees still need attention. If old trees have produced a good crop, they deserve a rest and some careful attention. On the other hand, young trees that have not produced a crop as yet need encouragement.

The early-bearing trees that have given up their fruit should be gone over carefully. Remove any old, dried, or diseased fruit left on the tree. Pick all such fruit from underneath the tree. Cut out or prune any badly split or broken branches. Rake up all leaves and twigs around the tree and destroy them. This will remove the basic source of insects and disease that will bother next spring.

If one was a little close with the fertilizer last fall and this spring, it is not too late to loosen and give them some now, especially nitrogen. One to two pounds of complete fertilizer for each year's age of the tree is a good rule to follow. If there is tall grass growing around the tree it should be cut or worked into the soil. If the tree is in the lawn, put the grass clippings around and under it, to conserve moisture.

Fruit trees need to be kept in good condition. Watch out for insects and disease damage and spray or dust as the case may require. During periods of dry weather be sure that grass and weeds are kept down in order to conserve as much water as possible. Irrigate the trees by slow sprinkling or by furrow or surface irrigation. The last is easy to do if the hose will reach the tree. Make small trenches around and under the tree and let the water slowly run into these. It will soak down into the soil where it does the most good. Do not give frequent light applications by water. Trees do best if they are watered every week or 10 days.

Remember that a tree is still a plant and requires the same care and attention. When growing in a lawn or border planting around the home the tree must be cared for in order to compete with the other plants.
