ATTENTION MOTORISTS!

IT IS NOW TIME FOR THAT SPRING TUNE-UP AND ADJUSTMENT FOR WARM WEATHER OPERATION

Be Sure That the Following Operations Are Performed:

- 1. Test COMPRESSION, cylinder should be equal in pressure pounds per square inch, within a range of 10 pounds.
2. Clean and re-gap SPARK PLUGS (they wear the same as tires).
3. Remove CARBURETOR and completely disassemble, clean parts, then reassemble and make adjustments.
4. Remove, disassemble and clean DISTRIBUTOR, replace worn parts, reassemble and adjust, place on "Sun" distributor tester for complete check-up, adjust timing to match Octane rating of gasoline being used. (Improper timing means wasted gasoline and power).
5. Clean and adjust automatic choke for the warmer days ahead.
6. Set VOLTAGE REGULATOR, too much voltage causes battery water to boil out. A dry battery means $$$ out of your pocket. We refill batteries with pure distilled water. Remove cables from battery and clean off that green corrosion. It costs money to leave it there.
7. Free up HEAT RISER. This item heats gasoline vapor for better combustion when operative. Twenty per cent are found to be stuck and ineffective.
8. Tighten the following: Cylinder head bolts, manifold, generator, all wiring connections under hood, exhaust pipe to manifold, all water hose connections and adjust fan belt tension.
9. Adjust VALVES on all valve-in-head engines.
10. Now don't forget that important OIL BATH AIR CLEANER. That's the big round dirt catcher on top of the carburetor and most people neglect it because it gets very, very nasty inside and out. It should be removed and thoroughly cleaned periodically.

The above operations can be ably administered by Warren Carter, Service Manager, at Cox Motor Company, where adequate tools and equipment are furnished for trained mechanics.

Various Phases Of Agriculture All One Program

"Price supports, production adjustments, when they are needed, and conservation are all part of one program," said Alvin V. McCormack, director of the Agricultural Conservation Program Branch Production and Marketing Administration, at recent meetings of committeemen. "One of the greatest values of the farm program is its flexibility—it can be used to help farmers make needed adjustments to fit the requirements of the country for farm products. We have just been through a period of upward adjustments. Farmers shifted during the war to crops badly needed—now it may be necessary to shift some of the land from these crops to other uses."

Price supports are helping farmers to make these shifts, but McCormack pointed out that prices should only be supported for the quantities of farm products actually needed. Price supports without production adjustments to fit demand could result in burdensome surpluses.

Acres allotments and marketing quotas, when needed, can be used by farmers to keep from producing more than is required.

Many people believe that when acreage allotments are used farmers should plant within all of them to be eligible for price support. For a farmer to shift from one crop to another which is in plentiful supply, could result in over-production, which would hurt the other farmers who usually grow that crop, build up surpluses and cost the government too much money for price support.

This leads to the thought that the land not used for the allotment crops should, in the interest of both farmers and the nation, be put into the production of crops in short supply and especially to conserving uses. Grass and hay which will help build up our depleted livestock numbers, as well as take care of the land are the best things for farmers to turn to. Much land not needed for crops should be in permanent cover or trees.

Commissioner Announces Study Of Conservation

State Land Commissioner Guy Shepard has announced that his office has begun a study of conservation measures which will be beneficial to the people of New Mexico over the years and which may be put into effect under the state's new oil and gas conservation law.

"It is part of the duties of the land commissioner to make an effort to avoid waste of the state's natural resources; to see that none of our oil and gas, timber or public lands is wasted," said Shepard, "and I shall study diligently to determine what steps are possible under the new oil and gas conservation law to avoid waste of our natural resources."

"At this time, my office is studying the gas situation in New Mexico to determine whether we should take early steps to stop the waste of gas and the tremendous energy that is wasted with it each day in our oil fields where gas is run off into the air by the millions of feet and from which the taxpayers derive no benefit whatever.

"It seems to me that the gas which is now wasted should be put to use and made to bring income for the school children of New Mexico," concluded Shepard.

Farmers Intend To Plant Less Grain Acreage

Except for wheat, U.S. farmers intend to plant less feed grains this year, according to reports from the Bureau of Agriculture Economics. Indications are that farmers intend to plant 2 per cent less corn than in 1948. Oat planting will be about the same, but barley acreage may be down about 11 per cent. Sorghum acreage will be down 12 per cent, beans 7 per cent and peanuts down 18 per cent. Yields in 1949 will probably not be higher than that of last year, if weather and other factors that affect yields are average. The nation may have another billion bushel wheat crop and if corn crop yields are average there may be a three billion bushel corn crop. However, because of the drop in livestock numbers and last year's bumper crops, feed supplies this year should be adequate in spite of the less acreage planted, explains J. Z. Rowe, state extension economist in marketing. Livestock raisers should be able to obtain ample feed supplies at

Dry Crib Corn

Farmers with corn in the crib are beginning to have a few questions in their minds. Some of the corn may be quite high in moisture content and warmer weather will add to the problems of handling the corn. W. H. Sheldon, agricultural engineer at Michigan state college, says that wet corn will keep indefinitely while frozen. The problem is what to do with the wet corn that is still in the crib when warmer weather returns. One solution is to feed it out before the weather warms up. However, in many cases large quantities may be on hand and cannot be used rapidly. Experiments in Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Iowa, have shown that heated air can be used to dry wet corn. Blowing unheated air through the crib with a hay drier fan will not take out very much water, but it will keep the corn as cool as the air and greatly retard mold growth.

Fruit Jars Usable In Fumigant Spray

If the garden plot is small, J. C. Ford, Auburn Polytechnic Institute extension service garden specialist says, the correct amount of fumigant per row can best be applied by using a fruit jar. A 10- or 20-penny nail hole should be made near one margin of the jar lid through which to pour the liquid. A somewhat smaller air hole is necessary near the opposite side of the lid.

lower prices and cash grain farmers will probably receive lower prices for their products. The total supply of feeds will depend not only on the acreage planted, but also on the yields of that acreage, Rowe said. Naturally, if yields are below average, somewhat higher prices for feed grains may be expected for the next season.

Price Supports Benefit Farmer And Consumer

Farm price supports benefit consumers as well as farmers, says Roy Forehand, chairman of the Eddy County Agricultural Conservation Committee. He lists three essential points to support his contention. Price supports generally are more than 90 per cent of parity—10 per cent below an "even break." With the assurance of price supports, a farmer can continue to produce abundantly. And abundance, not scarcity, tends to keep prices from going too high. The protection of price supports make possible a soil and water conservation program that helps to guard against erosion, depletion and waste of soil and water, assuring sustained production.

The concentration of population in cities is possible only as farmers are able to produce food in excess of their own needs and the needs of their families, he explains. Conservation helps make possible the continued production of food in excess of the farmer's own needs. Extremely low prices first stimulate increased production as farmers struggle to meet fixed costs, but this continues, he points out, only until the farmer goes broke. Then the consumer in the city loses both the production of the farm and the farmer as a purchaser of the goods which city people have to sell. On the not infrequent tendency to blame farmers for high consumer prices, the chairman points out that this is often an easy method of answering a complicated question. Actually, he explains, if a farmer gave away his wheat, a 16-cent loaf of bread still would cost the consumer 14 cents.

Pigs Confined Away From Pasture May Develop Anemia

Pigs that are farrowed in late winter or early spring and are confined inside and away from pasture, soil or feed other than their mother's milk, often get nutritional anemia. Sow's milk, or all milk for that matter, is very low in copper and iron and there is not enough of these two minerals in the milk to supply the small pigs' needs. Investigations have proved that it is impossible to increase the amount in the sow's milk by any method of feeding or caring for the sows. Fortunately, anemia in baby pigs can be prevented very easily as there are several ways of supplying these two minerals to the young suckling pigs. A small amount of work, like throwing in a shovelful of clean soil into each pen or swabbing the sow's udder with a copperous solution, will help keep pigs free from this nutritional disease.

Wisconsin Grower Wins Barley Test Contest Conducted In Seven-State Area

Vernon H. Moore, of Rock county, Wisconsin, was named winner of the 1948 malting barley contest conducted in seven midwest states by the Midwest Barley Improvement Association. As an award for his accomplishment, Moore received $1,000 in cash, a handsome trophy, and a special ribbon of honor, as well as an all-expense trip to Minneapolis.

Vernon H. Moore (left) of Clinton, Wisconsin, winner of the 1948 malting barley contest conducted in seven midwest states by the Midwest Barley Improvement Association, receives his awards from Herbert H. Ladish, treasurer of the association, in ceremonies held in Minneapolis.

In addition to the regional award, Moore received the first Wisconsin state prize of $500, a county prize of $25, and state and county trophies. In the final judging, Moore's Barley competed with samples from more than 125 carloads of the grain grown by contestants in the seven-state area. The prize-winning barley was of the Kindred variety, and was grown on 60 acres of Moore's 186 acre farm.

The prize-winning barley was selected by a committee of judges which included representatives of the U. S. department of agriculture. Each farmer taking part in the competition was required to enter a full carload of barley, or to join with not more than four other barley growers in making up a carload shipment. Only varieties of barley approved for malting purposes in each of the seven states was accepted in the competition. Samples from contest cars were used as the basis for judging the grain. Sons or daughters of cash prize-winners who assisted in growing the crop and who were between the ages of 12 and 21, received special farm youth award prizes equal to 10 per cent of the cash prizes won by the parent.

Soil Conservation For 4-H Planned In New Mexico

When Miles Standish came to America the topsoil averaged about nine inches in depth. Today the national average is six inches. Moreover, nature must work 300 to 1000 years to rebuild each lost inch. In an effort to help save the hundreds of millions of productive acres endangered by erosion and gullying, New Mexico will continue to conduct the national 4-H soil conservation program in 1949. During the last year, more than 300 New Mexico 4-H'ers participated in the nationwide project, reports Travis Hughs, associate state 4-H Club leader.

These 4-H members learn successfully to conserve soil and prevent wastage and deterioration. Because of its wide scope, parents cooperate in a farm-family soil conservation plan.

Some of the activities are to establish a farm nursery, sow fall cover crops, test for limestone, phosphate or potash, construct checks in gullies, sow grass, plant windbreaks, build dams to hold water for livestock. Soil conservationists and county agents give technical assistance. The Co-operative Extension Service directs the program.

Although individual awards cannot be given all 4-H youth for their work in the project, what they accomplish is recognized as a vital contribution to the country's future. However, to those with outstanding records, awards will be gold-filled medals of honor for county winners, $50 U.S. Savings Bonds to six top-ranking members in the state, all-expense trips to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago for 16 selected state winners and eight $300 scholarships. The state winner in the 1948 soil conservation contest was Earl Joe Sullivan of Guadalupe County.

Heifers Need Salt, Minerals, Fresh Water, Agent Says

Dairymen who are raising their own replacement heifers should provide them with plenty of salt, minerals and fresh water, says County Agent Dallas Rierson. Calves should have free access to salt, the county agent explains. Besides this, they should have about 1 per cent salt in the grain mixture they receive. Growing calves, particularly those which are fed skim milk and legume hays, seldom suffer from a shortage of minerals. But as a precaution, equal parts of salt and steamed bone meal, should be kept before them. This in addition to having free access to plain salt. Calves should have plenty of fresh, clean water after they are three weeks of age, Rierson adds. Failure to provide water may result in less efficient growth.

THIS IS AMERICA

This is freedom—many religions, many races, living in harmony together. For freedom is more than a way of life. It is a state of spirit—and our richest asset.

Under freedom of religion, Americans attend more churches than any other nation. Under freedom of speech, we have more newspapers, more radio stations than any country in the world. Under freedom of opportunity, our children attend more schools, have more chances to succeed in life.

We are only 7% of the world's people, living on 6% of the world's land. Yet we in America have the highest standard of living the world has ever known.

Under freedom of enterprise—you may call it Democracy, or Capitalism—we make just about one-third of the world's goods, mostly for our own use. We drive three-fourths of the world's autos, use about half the world's electricity. Our homes are unrivaled for comfort and labor-saving devices. We eat more meat, buy more clothes, see more shows, own more insurance. We even save more money.

Yes, freedom pays—in the coin of tolerance and understanding, and in the coin of progress and prosperity.

Public Health Department To Distribute DDT

The State Department of Public Health in anticipation of the coming fly season has made available to the local health departments, 20 gallon drums of DDT concentrate of 55 gallons each. This represents 1100 gallons of concentrated DDT which when diluted to a 5 per cent solution will make about 6600 gallons or on an average about 213 gallons per county. This is the largest amount of DDT the State Department of Public Health has ever been able to make available to the local health units.

The DDT will be used to stimulate and encourage more cities and towns to adopt DDT programs for the control of flies.

Flies are not only filthy nuisances but are also carriers of diseases, such as dysentery and typhoid fever, the department pointed out. The best time to start a DDT program is at the onset of the fly-breeding season, not after it has started and the pests are everywhere.

Prior to using DDT, a spring clean-up campaign should be initiated, the department said. All trash and rubbish should be removed, corrals should be cleaned, pit privies should be eliminated or made sanitary, and all other potential sources of fly breeding should be eliminated. Good garbage collection and final disposal methods should be employed to remove this source of fly breeding and multiplication.

Flies are a serious menace to the public health and as such must be controlled, the department continued. It makes little difference to a fly after it leaves a pit privy or a pile of manure whether it lights on one person's pie or cake or someone else's. Flies can and should be controlled. It is to be hoped that more municipalities in the state will adopt a fly control program this summer for the protection of the public health. The time to plan for it is now, the department stressed.

NEWS VIEWS

By MERV WORLEY

Congress just banged out a bill to let 48 Basque shepherders in Nevada stay there and become citizens without any argument. The Basques come from the Spanish Pyrenees, and they seem to be about the only people in the world who enjoy being around sheep. To be a sheep chaperon you have to like solitude, sheep and your own cooking. That's a tougher set of qualifications than atom bomb researchers need. Native Americans easily become squirrel bait after a short hitch with the woolly flocks, but not the Basque boys. They're mighty useful citizens. Apparently Congressmen enjoy lamb chops.

Have you noticed the increasing number of people going around with their right hand bandaged? It is nothing to be alarmed about—just farmers who have worn blisters on their fingers scratching up cotton seeds, trying to find one that is sprouted.

Jim Blevins says the most sensible thing to do is to go fishing for a week after you finish planting. When you get back, you either have a stand or it is time to plant over. However, I noticed Jim's hands are just as blistered as anyone else's.

The Czechoslovakian government just announced that all bums and transients "who avoid work" will have to start working. It seems they don't want any bum Czechs.

Unpaid assessments and deferred assessments shall bear interest from the date the work is completed and accepted at the rate of 8% per annum. The failure of any property owner to pay the amount of such assessment against his property in full, in cash, within thirty (30) days after completion and acceptance of said work, shall be considered as an election by said property owner to pay said assessments in five equal installments, as above provided, with 8% interest thereon.

Plans For 4-H Demonstrations Are Under Way

Plans for the 1949 national 4-H dairy foods demonstration program are under way in New Mexico, according to Travis Hughs, associate state 4-H Club leader. It is the only nationally-sponsored 4-H Club program devoted entirely to demonstrations. Members enrolled in a 4-H foods project may participate. Last year New Mexico named 44 county medal winners. State honors for individuals went to Joy Ann Flowers of Albuquerque, whose demonstration, "Making a Butter Cake," was given five times. Johnnie Lou Bagwell and Lois McKinley of Melrose won the team award with their demonstration, "Making Cottage Cheese and Its Use," which they presented five times to audiences of 220 persons. Based on a survey of 41 states conducting the 1948 program, an average of 32 people attended the 3758 dairy foods demonstrations given by 4-H'ers.

"The program seeks to show the value of dairy products to general health. Uses of dairy foods and skill in preparing tasty dishes are demonstrated," Miss Hughs says. "Subjects relate to the preparation, manufacture, or use of dairy products including fresh or evaporated milk, malted milk and ice cream."

Eight new awards based on demonstration records and general achievement are offered this year. They are trips to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, Nov. 27 to Dec. 1. Each county winner will receive a gold-filled medal, while individual and team champions in each state will get 17-jewel gold watches.

clothing program and hopes to top that figure this year. "The economy of home sewing plus a plentiful supply of intriguing designs and fabrics will attract many more 4-H'ers," says Miss Hughs. "Not only are members taught to make new garments for a carefully-planned wardrobe, but they also learn to mend, alter and remake old ones. Many of the girls sew for the family as well as for themselves. They become adept at making hats, bags and other accessories. Demonstration of sewing skills is encouraged by their local 4-H Club leaders."

The 12 national 4-H scholarship awards for clothing achievement have been increased from $200 to $300. State winners will receive all expense-paid trips to the 1949 National 4-H Club Congress and gold-filled medals of honor will be given to county winners. The Co-operative Extension Service supervises the program.

New Mexico named the following county medal winners last year: Louise Turner, Bernalillo; Delores Bombach, Dona Ana; Pearl Bailey, Guadalupe; March Townsend, San Juan; Corrine Roybal, San Miguel; Elsie Ortiz, Santa Fe; Wanda Proctor, Valencia and Nina McCormack, Roosevelt, who also won the state award.

Clothing Program For 4-H Shows Annual Increase

More than a third of the 8013 4-H Club members in New Mexico are expected to participate in the 1949 national 4-H clothing achievement program, according to Travis Hughs, acting state 4-H Club leader. New Mexico reported 2922 members enrolled in the 1948

SPECTACULAR DEATH OF PILOT

BEFORE THE HORRIFIED EYES OF thousands of spectators at an air show in Jackson, Miss., a tiny plane flown by Billy Fischer, national champion small craft pilot (top), loses a wing plummeting earthward (center), the 463-pound ship hits the ground. At bottom, field employees run to the burning mass of wreckage in an attempt to save Fischer. Flames drove them off and the pilot perished. (International Soundphoto)

W. S. Carpenter of Hobbs, has won the New Mexico 205-day milk and butterfat championship for Jerseys, according to an announcement from headquarters of the American Jersey Cattle Club in Columbus, Ohio.

In winning this high honor, the cow produced 8524 pounds of milk and 506 pounds of butterfat in 305 days beginning 22 months of age.

This record exceeded by more than two and a half times the butterfat production of the average dairy cow in the U.S. In addition, she also earned the club's silver medal award.

Good Equipment Makes Home Sewing Easier

"Home sewing is what you make it," says Miss Wynona Swepton, Eddy County home demonstration agent. "The right equipment and supplies will save labor, patience, and time. Good tools are as essential for a neatly-made dress as a good oven for a perfect cake."

"With the recent awakening to the values of home sewing, there has been an increase in gadgets for the use of the home sewer. Before putting faith and money in a supply of the latest inventions, it may be well to see that you have good quality in the essential tools."

According to Miss Swepton, these essentials are: A sewing machine in good stitching condition, an ironing board and iron for pressing as one sews (see Extension Circular 194, "Let's Press Clothes"), shears for cutting and scissors for hand work, sharp-pointed pins; needles suited to the job, a thimble that really fits the middle finger, a tape measure numbered from opposite ends, a yardstick or 18-inch ruler, a razor blade for ripping, thread to match the color of the fabric and dressmakers' chalk in assorted colors.

And, she says, it's nice to have these necessary items: A pin cushion with an elastic band to fit the wrist, pinking shears, a zipper foot, a hem gauge with slide, a transparent ruler, a pressing mat and sponge and dressmakers' tracing paper, tracing wheel and colored chalk pencils.

A definite place to keep all small tools and equipment adds to the ease and pleasure of sewing. Attractive ones may be purchased or one may use a strong cardboard or tin box on hand. Specifications for constructing a sewing cabinet may be obtained from the Extension Service.

"Regardless of the amount of home sewing to be done, have the right tools with which to work and let those tools work for you," advises Miss Swepton. "Plan the work to be done and be accurate in every step of it. Then it will be possible for you to say that you make your own clothes and love it!"

Paint Is Poor Diet For Livestock, So Don't Leave Around

Crude oil and paint make a poor diet for livestock, so don't leave them around where animals can get them, advises County Agent Dallas Rierson.

Unfortunately, cows will eat almost anything, Rierson says. He urges livestock owners to be especially careful with oil and paint on farms.

Calves sometimes lick paint flakes from sides of pens or sheds and suffer from poisoning as a result, Rierson explains. Keep calves away from old sheds, if there is danger of this happening. Taken internally, oil and paint cause violent bloating and often severe pneumonia in cattle.

Rierson also cautions against too liberal use of oil on animals' skins. Too much crude oil causes the skin to crack. Owners may note the cracked conditions, think the skin is chapped and apply more oil. The severity of the skin condition increases under such treatment.

Put Dollars To Work In Savings Bonds, Says County Agent

It's better to keep extra money in U.S. Savings Bonds than to have it lying idle in a bank, earning no returns, says County Agent Dallas Rierson. "One dollar now will buy only 30 to 50 per cent as much foundation livestock, building, materials, machinery or land as it would in 1939," Rierson points out. "Many farmers are waiting for those prices to come down before buying."

"Instead of leaving the money idle and not working, while waiting for lower prices, put your money to work by investing in U.S. Savings Bonds in the 'Opportunity Drive' May 16 to June 20."
