Many Attend Opening Of New Hospital Wing

The open house and formal opening of the new wing of Artesia Memorial Hospital last Thursday afternoon and evening was attended by about 500 persons, who were escorted by women of the city who served as guides.

The wing was resplendent with flowers from well wishers to the Sisters Adorers of the Most Precious Blood, who operate the hospital, and as congratulations on the completion of the new addition to the municipally-owned hospital.

The Sisters expressed thanks to all who contributed towards the finishing of the wing and for furnishings, to those who were guides, and the women who were guides and who served cake, coffee and ice cream during the open house.

They likewise extended thanks to Mayor Oren C. Roberts and B. G. Robinson, general contractor, for their assistance.

Artesia CAP Squadron To Sponsor Air Show At Municipal Port Sunday

Plans are being completed for an air show at the municipal airport all day Sunday, sponsored by the Artesia squadron of the Civil Air Patrol, which is expected to attract light planes from a number of cities in this area.

Four events are planned for the day, with cash prizes to third place in each, the purse for which will be made up from entrance fees. Pilots entering need not be members of the CAP.

Perhaps the most fun from both a spectator and participant standpoint will be the shirttail race, which will start at 2 o'clock, with a pilot and a girl in each plane team taking part. Two planes will fly at a time, with each team being timed separately.

Two lines 100 feet apart will be indicated on the runway being used, the nearer as a plane approaches being designated as the slack line and the farther, the plane line.

The girl in each plane will be wearing slacks over shorts. The plane will take off, circle the field, and approach the two lines. The pilot must bring his plane to rest beyond the second, or plane line. If he lands short, he must taxi over the line, but time against him starts the instant the plane lands. He may not taxi back.

From the plane line and stops or is taxied, the girl gets out, runs back to the slack line, takes off her slacks and then runs back to the plane. The instant it is airborne, timing stops. On the next round, the girl runs back and puts on her slacks and returns to the plane. When the plane lands the third time, the girl again runs back and removes her slacks. Then she waves them over her head, at which time the timing stops.

When the stunt was pulled at the last air show here, the shirttail race provided considerable fun, as well as comedy.

The short-field take-off contest is to be at 11 o'clock in the morning, with each contestant pilot attempting to get into the air from a standing start. Over-powered planes, such as crop dusters, will be prohibited from the contest.

The other two contests, spot-landing and bombing, will be carried on throughout the day from 9 to 4 o'clock.

In the spot-landing contest, a conventional approach from 800 feet is to be made. The plane landing nearest to but beyond a designated spot line will be judged the winner. Measurement will be from the place the main gear touches down (continued last page this section)

Council Votes To Remove Control Of Rents Here

At a special Tuesday night meeting, held in the assembly room of the city hall, the Artesia City Council, by unanimous vote of members present, voted to petition Gov. Thomas J. Mabry and the Federal Housing Administration to de-control rents in the city of Artesia.

Mayor Oren C. Roberts had previously called attention of local landlords and rents to the report of the special session. A recently circulated petition of 63 signers, urging lifting of the controls, had been presented to the council.

The mayor suggested last week that final action on the matter should be delayed until the Tuesday special meeting so that everyone interested could be given an opportunity to express his opinions and views on the measure. He also pointed out that it would have been shown that there were sufficient rental units available to indicate (Continued last page, this section)

After being sought by officers at Carlsbad for nearly a year, Bradley was booked last Thursday after he had been overtaken on Highway 285 about 15 miles north of Carlsbad by state and sheriff's officers.

Lon Watkins, assistant district attorney, said pictures found in the possession of Bradley at the time of his apprehension were exceedingly revolting.

About three miles north, Lewis said, they sighted a car approximately a mile ahead that was traveling at a high rate of speed. They overtook the car 12 miles farther on and arrested Bradley.

Lewis said that a pair of field glasses and a stack of vulgar pictures and vulgar comic books were found in the car.

Two months or more ago the sheriff's office received a report that a man had shown obscene pictures to two small girls in Otis and the incident was reported to Artesia police.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellinger and daughters left for Enid Wednesday of last week and returned Friday.

C. O. Moutray, 46, of east of Artesia was electrocuted about 2:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, when he came in contact with a high-tension electric line on the Jack Sweet farm about 12 miles southeast of Hagerman while working on a water well rig.

Constable Joe Mann of Hagerman said Mr. Moutray was working for Vic Parker, Hagerman farmer, when the accident happened.

No one was with him at the time of the accident, except Mrs. Moutray, who was burned by electricity when she attempted to rescue her husband from the drill rig. She received treatment at Artesia Memorial Hospital.

An inquest was held Wednesday before Justice of the Peace Harry Puryear at the Hagerman town hall, which Mrs. Moutray was able to attend. A coroner's jury returned a verdict of death by electrocution.

Kiwanis Presents Registered Pigs To F.F.A. Boys

W. W. Ports, president of the Artesia Kiwanis Club, announced at the weekly luncheon last Thursday that at a Future Farmers of America supper at Cottonwood School the week prior, the club awarded four registered, pedigreed Duroc pigs to as many F.F.A. boys.

Present with President Ports for the presentation was Paul Dillard, lieutenant governor of this Kiwanis district.

The four boys who received the pigs were selected from among youths who had written letters on F.F.A. work, with County Agent Dallas Rierson and Tom Hymen, chairman of the Kiwanis agriculture committee, in the group which judged the winning letters.

The boys accepted the pigs with a signed understanding that they will breed them only with pedigreed stock and that at the end of a year will return a pig each to the Kiwanis Club to be given to other boys, setting up a permanent rotation program for future Kiwanis agriculture committees.

County Agent Rierson purchased the pigs for the club by bid from New Mexico A. & M. College at Las Cruces.

One-year attendance buttons were awarded Rev. Ralph O'Dell, Doyle Hankins, J. B. Mulcock and Robert McQuay.

Justin Newman presented his version of an article from an oil journal, "Oil Findings Today," in lieu of inability of Buret Mills of Lubbock, Texas, Oklahoma-Texas Kiwanis interclub relations chairman, to be at the meeting as planned. Newman's version of the magazine article was both enlightening and humorous, in explaining the necessary steps taken and number of oil specialists involved, in the locating and drilling of a wildcat oil well today.

Dallas Golden of the Artesia Fire Department was a guest of the club.

Annual Cancer Drive Is To Start Friday

The annual North Eddy County drive for funds for the American Cancer Society will be kicked off at a breakfast at the Artesia Hotel dining room at 9 o'clock Friday morning, when teams will be assigned to various districts in the city.

The quota for Eddy County has been set for $3000, without special assignments made to the northern and southern parts of the county, it was announced at a preliminary meeting Tuesday by Ralph F. Lennon, manager of the Artesia Hotel, who is chairman for North Eddy County.

Lennon said hotel managers in the various communities of New Mexico have been named chairmen for this year's cancer drive.

However, the Artesia Woman's Club under the leadership of Mrs. H. R. Paton, new president, is to take an active lead in the local campaign, with Mrs. Paton as sub-chairman under Lennon.

Working with Mrs. Paton in organizing the campaign is Mrs. Fred Cole, local chairman in the National Federation of Women's Clubs' project, "Building a Better Community."

Counter coin containers have been placed in many of the local business houses, into which coins or bills may be dropped to assist the American Cancer Society in its fight against the dread disease, which is said to kill one out of eight persons.

The campaign slogan this year is: "Cancer Can Strike Anyone, but

You Can Strike Back." And the general chairman pointed out that one of the best ways to fight back is to contribute generously to the campaign, the funds from which are to be used in prevention through education, research and cure.

Although members of the Woman's club will stage an active campaign under the leadership of Mrs. Paton and Mrs. Cole, it is anticipated that many persons wishing to contribute will be overlooked. Such persons may mail checks made out to and addressed to Cancer, Artesia, and they will be delivered to the committee.

Although the campaign in some states was staged last month, the committees in New Mexico are putting it on this month, with hotel managers in charge. The quota for the state this year is $30,000.

Lennon said it is hoped the local drive can be put over in one big push this week end and asked that local citizens be prepared to make their contributions when workers call, so as to help them avoid having to call back or to extend the drive over a longer period.

A large gifts campaign is now underway, preceding the general canvassing, which will start after the breakfast Friday morning.

Lennon announced that a traveling exhibit, which showed at Second and Main Streets last week end, donated 10 per cent of the receipts to the local cancer fund.

The breakfast tomorrow morning will be with the compliments of the Artesia Hotel.

Work Of Vocational Ag Department Is Reviewed At F.F.A. Banquet

At a regularly conducted meeting of the Artesia chapter of the Future Farmers of America in the high school cafeteria Tuesday evening, the principal "business" was a parent-son banquet, attended by 53 parents and other adults and 20 members of the F.F.A.

With Aubrey Kincaid, president, presiding, the boys opened their meeting in usual ritualistic form, after which Dickie Shoemaker welcomed the guests and W. T. (Doc) Haldeman responded for the parents.

After the banquet dinner, which was next, a number of the F.F.A. boys gave short talks on their work.

Eugene Fleming talked on shop and classroom work for vocational agriculture students and announced the chapter of the F.F.A. is to have a hay ride Friday night.

Contests in which the chapter has taken part during the last year were recounted by Don Kincaid, who showed banners won in the recent district first in farm mechanics and first in crop judging. Artesia teams placed in some of the other contests, he said. The boys placed ninth in a contest at Eastern New Mexico College, Portales, and won a number of places in the state contest at New Mexico A. & M. College, he said.

Norman Prude spoke briefly on field trips and the fact the boys learn much by actual doing on such trips.

The supervised farming program was explained by Raymond Pearson, who said members of the chapter at this time own 1052 head of livestock and 380 chickens and turkeys.

Pearson gave much credit for the success of the vocational agriculture class and the F.F.A. chapter the last year, the first in Artesia in a number of years, to their instructor and leader, John Short.

Jeff Loyd, Wade Green and Hunter Zumbalt explained their individual supervised farming programs, in which each showed considerable progress and success towards building up flocks or herds and raising crops and in increasing their financial resources.

Their instructor spoke briefly on the "Importance of a Vocational Agriculture Department," in which he pointed out that it provides a long-time program for farm and ranch boys of the community in preparing them for a vocation.

Short said it gives them practical education on field trips, prepares the boys for the business of farming or ranching, helps the community through the boys' program of buying and bringing in registered livestock and reflects into the homes by encouraging the boys to beautify their premises and to make repairs around the home.

Announcement of officers for the coming school year, named at a recent election, was made.

They are: President, Wade Green; vice president, Hunter Zumbalt; treasurer, Albert Bach; secretary, Don Kincaid; sentinel, Raymond Pearson; reporter, Dickie Shoemaker.

At the conclusion of the program and prior to the F.F.A. closing ceremony, President Kincaid expressed the thanks of the boys to Short for his efforts the last year. He said he had made them work hard, but that they respect him for it.

After the program, many of the guests visited the vocational agriculture shop, where they saw some of the results of shop work done by the boys the last year.

Education Standards

SOME YEARS AGO we endeavored to set up certain standards for educators with the thought and intention, of course, of improving education as well as the qualifications of those instructing our boys and girls.

There was a day and a time when a college degree was all that was required to secure a good teaching job in a high school. Today that degree is of little value unless the individual having it has had a certain amount of instruction in education. The fact that he or she is qualified and has a degree in their subject isn't sufficient.

And so we have reached the point today where it almost requires a master's degree to be a teacher in high school and a doctor of philosophy degree to teach in college.

And as these requirements are being stepped up and as pressure is being applied to require teachers to obtain these degrees we seem to be forgetting altogether the value of experience.

Yet we all know that experience is still the best teacher. And in our program of more and better degrees we seem to be forgetting to give any value whatsoever to experience. We are ignoring experience.

Certainly degrees in advanced work are a fine thing. Most of us agree that they perhaps raise our standards and yet if we accept degrees in place of experience—we don't believe that we have our values straight.

It begins to appear to us that we are going to have to backtrack a little; see that we are ignoring experience; give it the place it should have; and readjust these so-called requirements to include some experience or at least give credit for experience.

We aren't doing that today. We have gone all out for degrees and we have forgotten the value of experience.

We know some individuals, who only have ordinary college degrees—some of them may have masters' degrees—and they are doing a much better job than some others are performing with doctors' degrees. They are doing a better job because their years of experience have given them more than another year of college work required to secure the doctor's degree can give. The fact of the matter is that they have learned and acquired more in the 10, 15 and in some instances 25 to 30 years of teaching and experience than they could ever acquire in the extra year or two years of college work.

If we were employing an instructor we would certainly prefer a man or woman with a master's degree and 25 years of experience to an inexperienced individual, who had a doctor's degree. We would prefer them because we are convinced that they would do a better job.

College degrees are fine things. And we are for education but we also are firmly convinced that experience is still the best teacher and that all of the college instruction in the world won't replace experience.

And so it begins to appear to us that we had better do a little revising of our standards; we had better include in them the matter of experience; give credit for this experience and use those, who have acquired far more knowledge by their long years of experience than they could ever secure by adding another degree or two to their names.

Certainly even the schools or colleges will take the individual with the most experience when the degrees are equal but we all know from experience that the even a college degree can't take the place of years of work and study in a particular field.

And since most of us do realize that we have ignored this all important factor of experience in our standards for teachers and instructors, it appears the only wise thing to do is backtrack a little and give it the all consideration it should receive.—O.E.P.

Why Democracy Works

A 16-YEAR-OLD BOY is our guest editorial writer today. He is Everett O'Bannon, Jr., Artesia High School junior and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett (Bob) O'Bannon of the Cottonwood community.

His essay, "Why Democracy Works," which took first in an essay contest sponsored by the Artesia Elks Lodge and rated fourth in the state contest, we believe worthy of any editorial column. We are happy to make him our guest and are publishing his essay in full.—A.L.B.

Democracy is based upon the right of the people to govern themselves as free men. America's government was founded upon principles which gave the citizens not only control of their government, but also a means of "checks and balances" to assure them that there would be no great power assumed by their leaders or representatives in the government. This latter protection is clearly defined in the Constitution and especially in the Bill of Rights, which contains many clauses restricting the powers of the government and emphasizing the rights of the citizens.

Our democracy is different from other governments and it is the first of its type in that its powers cannot extend into certain institutions and human relations. A person can rise as high as his merit will allow him, without restriction from governmental decrees, and he is at liberty to do as he pleases as long as he does not violate the right of others to do as they desire.

There are certain inalienable rights endowed by our Creator which the government has been forbidden to violate. Among these are freedom of worship and religion, of speech, of the press, of the right to assemble and freedom from want and fear. These are the natural heritage of all human beings and hence cannot be considered as derived from the government, the latter being able merely to reinforce and protect that which has already been granted.

However, even with all these ideas realized, democracy could not work unless there were attached also to this liberty a sense of responsibility. One can derive nothing from the mere realization that he is at liberty to do as he chooses. He must use this opportunity to accomplish the best that he can, being thankful that there is no totalitarian power to restrict his progress. The people are too much inclined at times to rely upon the government instead of their own individual abilities, to provide them with personal securities.

A keystone to the success of democracy is the spirit and vigor that is produced by its achievements. The basic necessity to the co-operation and contentment of a people lies in their happiness. A vigorous, healthy attitude inspired by the realization that we are at liberty to accomplish what ends we desire is one of the greatest steps to success that an individual can utilize.

With subversive powers tending to inspire the world with hatred and greed, democracy is the best weapon against those totalitarian forces that would create a chaos unimaginable in our environments of life. Surely, the triumph which will rightfully belong to our democracy will be proof enough that it works well!—Everett O'Bannon, Jr.

Courteous Parking

WE HAVE HEARD IT SAID that many ordinarily courteous people become discourteous demons the minute they slide under the wheel of a car. And we have found it so.

We likewise have found that some drivers, when they slide from under a wheel in the more congested areas just outside the parking meter area, continue to be discourteous. And perhaps they do not realize it.

We have seen any number of drivers park their vehicles in spaces ample for two cars square in the middle. Others, who park in areas restricted to the use of a certain group have been seen to do the same thing, or to park at a needless angle, which, in either case, precludes someone from having a parking space.

The courtesy one shows when he is a pedestrian should maintain when he becomes a driver and should still maintain when he parks and leaves his car.—A.L.B.

Why Do We Do It?

SOMEONE HAS SAID that they question whether anyone wins happiness by creating unhappiness for others.

That sounds to us like pretty good logic and we often wonder why we spend so much time going around creating unhappiness for others when we probably could help increase their happiness or at least we could avoid causing them trouble, which causes unhappiness.

All one needs to do is glance over the daily paper to see how many people are engaged in making others unhappy. We seem at times to take special delight in causing trouble for others. In most instances this is unnecessary trouble—trouble that doesn't bring happiness to us and yet it creates unhappiness.

We hurt people when there is no occasion or reason for doing it. We create situations which shouldn't be created and we seemingly think that we will find happiness by making others unhappy.

Perhaps this is true in some instances but it is always true. We guess there are those individuals, who enjoy hurting others but they are the exception instead of the rule. And oftentimes the time and effort we employ and use making others unhappy could be employed in bringing them happiness.

We hurt people with our idle gossip and with ugly rumors—rumors, which should never have been started and which should never have been repeated. We frequently let a little authority go to our heads and we presume to use it to make others unhappy.

Frequently we are so stubborn and so bull-headed we will do things merely because we want to have our own way or because we feel that our pride demands that we do this. We do a lot of things without cause and without reason which bring unhappiness to others. Most of these things could be left undone.

There is always too much unhappiness in this world from situations and conditions that cannot be avoided or eliminated for us to go about deliberately and intentionally creating unhappiness for others.

A little change in our attitudes and our conduct and we would find we could create just as much happiness as the unhappiness we now create. We question whether anyone gains happiness by making others unhappy.—O.E.P.

Well, it looks as though Artesia has about breezed through another spring. However, one must admit the weather is not all that's windy here.

Some people who never saw a corn field can dish it off the cob.

It isn't the noise of the baby's crying at night—it's the upkeep.

'Loves Of Carmen' Is Fiery Romance In Vivid Color

Rita Hayworth, attired in colorful gypsy dress and with her long, flaming hair tumbling down to her shoulders—proud, wild and devilishly beautiful—not only plays Carmen but IS Carmen in Columbia's "The Loves Of Carmen." Technicolor drama which will show Tuesday through Thursday at the Land-Sun Theater. Flaunting her looks and wearing a bold smile, dancing to the barbaric strains of the flamenco dance, living and loving to the hilt, Rita puts on quite a show in the film which is musically unrelated to the opera.

As the fiery gypsy whom many men desired, but few had tamed, Rita is co-starred with Glenn Ford. Ford enacts the proud and handsome young soldier who became enamored of Miss Hayworth. From Prosper Merimee's world-renowned story of "Carmen," Helen Deitch has fashioned a screenplay that teems with vivid screen entertainment. Caught up in the tight grip of his overpowering emotion for the beautiful gypsy, Ford sacrifices his honor and career.

He kills his colonel in a sword fight, eliminates the leader of the gypsy smugglers with a flash of his deadly knife and becomes Spain's most notorious bandit. All for love of Carmen—who, fickle beauty—soon turns to a new favorite. The crushing climax is calculated to leave the audience limp as the two lovers meet in the last sequence, full of recriminations, even under the very guns of the local gendarmier.

A veritable feast of sights and sounds, ranging from the stirring physical action and abandoned dancing to the gorgeous tints of the Technicolor camera is in store for viewers of "The Loves Of Carmen."

Have An Herb Window Box

By ALICE DENHOFF SINCE the delights of home-grown herbs enhance almost all dishes, tuck a few herb seeds into a garden corner this Spring, or, as we have advocated before, get busy with an herb window box (lots of fun for city apartment dwellers). Among the herbs that thrive in the home garden are mint, thyme, sage, marjoram, summer savory and sweet basil. Each adds its distinctive piquancy to dishes. Get the knack of herb seasoning in tested recipes, then branch out and "spice" other dishes to suit yourself. But do be sparing, better too little than too much. ## Annual Junior-Senior Banquet Is Held Friday Night At Vets Building

The annual Artesia High School junior-senior banquet and prom was held Friday evening in the Veterans Memorial Building.

The theme used was "Winter Wonderland." The ballroom was decorated with a blue canopy over the top and evergreen trees sprinkled with snow were on two sides of the room. On one side was a sparkling ski jump, with a figure of a skier coming down. On the stage was a snow-covered mountain scene which was painted by Sue Sudderth and Kenneth Malone. The remainder of the stage resembled a forest.

One side of the room represented a ski lodge. Hanging on the walls were ice skate, skis and a toboggan.

The lighting effect was blue. At the entrance of the room was a polar bar, where soft drinks were served during the evening.

The placecards and programs were of crystal blue paper with silver lettering. Nutcups were like snow balls on red toboggans and the favors were little metal ski men.

In the center of the tables, roses and honeysuckle were used and white candles dipped in blue, gave a sparkling effect.

The program consisted of Carl Scott as "ski master," who gave the welcome and the reply given by Tommy Goodwin, "steerman." Jo Margaret Gore, as "zig zag," gave a violin solo, "Intermezzo," accompanied by Augusta Spratt. "Flying Leap" was the toast to the seniors by Arlene Owens. "Breaking" was the response by Doris Williams. "Push Off," was a short talk by T. Stovall, principal. The juniors sang to the seniors, "We Hate to Lose You," followed by the "Ice Follies," given by the sophomore waitresses who were dressed in white and blue satin skaters' costumes. The girls were Jeannette Stack, Ellonia Callahan, Ola May Davis, Jo Ann Short, Nora Roberts, Linda Boyer, Jean Green, Sarah Alexander, Anna Marie Dunn, Loretta Wells, Rosie and Edith Houghtaling.

They composed their own dance steps to the "Skater's Waltz," under the direction of Mrs. Flora Powell, who was the teacher-sponsor in charge of the entertainment plans of the banquet and prom.

After the banquet, the "Four Professors" from Carlsbad furnished the music for dancing. The grand march was led by Carl Scott and Helen Beatty.

The doormen were Don Kincaid and Bobby Morgan.

The guest list was 236 and 208 attended.

The banquet was served by the school cafeteria management, under the supervision of Mrs. Wilson.

Invitations have been mailed to parents of band members of Central Park and Artesia Junior-Senior High Schools. Each family is requested to bring a covered-dish and the Band Aides are serving the meat, bread and drinks.

Special guests will include Tom J. Mayfield, superintendent of school; T. Stovall, W. G. Short, C. A. Stalcup and R. M. Stinnett, principals, respectively, of the high school, Central and North Side School and H. O. Miller.

The Band Aides plan to serve approximately 200 and hope a large crowd will attend.

Mothers Honored At Presbyterian Banquet By Men

Men of the First Presbyterian Church honored mothers at a mother-daughter banquet in the basement of the Masonic Temple last Thursday evening, which was attended by nearly 150 persons.

With Jack Knorr as master of ceremonies, a program varying from the sublime to the ridiculous was presented. The ridiculous consisted of various stunts staged by the men who were serving as cooks, kitchen help and waiters, who broke in at any time to provide laughs.

The mothers and other guests were welcomed by Fritz Crawford, to which Mrs. Rex Wheatley responded and gave credit to the fathers as well as the mothers in making homes successful.

Special numbers on the program were musical saw solos by Mrs. Horace Perkins, accompanied by Russell Floore; bagpipe solos by R. F. McQuay, wearing kilts and barbershop harmony by a quartet composed of V. F. Lowery, Albert Linell, Howard Haynes and Glenn Caskey.

Linell also led in the singing of old, familiar songs. J. L. Briscoe and William Linell were the chief cooks, preparing a splendid banquet dinner.

Hedy Adkins And Douglas Page Are Wedded Saturday

Hedy Adkins and Douglas Page were married in a double ring ceremony at 7 o'clock Saturday evening at the parsonage of the First Baptist Church, with Rev. S. M. Morgan, pastor, officiating.

The bride wore a dusty rose dress. For the old tradition, she borrowed a diamond necklace belonging to Miss Thelma Hayhurst; her dress was new; for something blue, she wore garters and for something old, she carried a locket belonging to her mother, which was a gift to her on her wedding day from her husband.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Huffman were the attendants.

Other guests attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Jim Gunnels, parents of the bridegroom; Mozelle Standard and Dewey Loyd.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Minnie Teague. Mrs. Page is employed at the Palace Drug Store.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Gunnels. He is employed by the New Mexico Asphalt & Refining Company.

E.N.M.C. Dean Is Rotary Club Speaker Here. Dr. Martin Cole, dean at Eastern New Mexico College, Portales, pointed out Tuesday noon at a meeting of the Artesia Rotary Club that "Building a Community," the subject of his talk, is not merely in the material things, but is reflected in the essential humility of service.

Because of Dr. Cole's reputation as a forceful speaker, Rotary members had invited a number of members of the other service clubs as guests to hear him.

Pointing out that he has been a Lion and a Kiwanian and is now a Rotarian, Dr. Cole said that any club is stronger when it does not lose sight of things other than those within the club and takes part in projects for the community as individuals. The spirit thus developed is a significant thing, he said.

Dr. Cole said he believes the building of communities in which there is spirit, vision, faith and a positive approach is the beginning of world peace. And he defined peace as "not just a lack of war, but a state of mind."

The speaker was the guest of and was introduced by T. Stovall, principal of Artesia High School, where Dr. Cole had spoken earlier Tuesday morning at a special assembly for juniors and seniors.

Dr. N. M. Borthwick, who was introduced a week ago as the club's "baby Rotarian" was officially welcomed and instructed in a short talk by Chuck Aston.

Oscar Bayer received his commercial pilot license Wednesday of last week. He took his training under the GI Bill. He did not have quite enough eligible time to complete his course, so he continued on his own expense and time.

Those who took written examinations during the CAA inspector's visit last week were Gene Sherwood, Bob Collins, Burle Hazel, Bob Ehle and Orville Luttrell.

Ted Heidel and Bill Morgan flew to Dallas Monday of last week. They remained overnight and returned the next morning.

Hugh and Jim B. Moutray flew to Kansas City Saturday of last week.

Paul Coffin and his mother were flown to McPherson, Kans., Sunday morning.

The CAP air show, which is to be held Sunday, is the main item of interest to all pilots, both student and otherwise.

The latest civil air regulations require 10 hours of night flying in order to receive a commercial pilot license. Therefore, starting Wednesday, anyone who desires may do so on that night.

Rogers' Counting Winds Up With Startling Figures

One ton of delinted cotton seed contains 4,520,000 seeds, according to Charles Rogers, manager of the Artesia Farmers Gin Company, who did not disclose whether he

PARENTS SEEK SIGHT FOR TWINS

BLIND SINCE BIRTH, seven-months-old Kenny (left) and Denny arrive with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Hoffman, at Teterboro Airport, N. J., from New Orleans. The tots will be examined at Presbyterian Medical Center, in New York, to determine if an operation will restore their sight. Hoffman's fellow-telephone workers raised $1,156 for the trip. Two ex-Army fliers flew them East gratis. (International) had done the counting himself or not.

However, Rogers, starting from that point, did a bit of figuring, arriving at some startling statistics in connection with Secretary of Agriculture Brannon's new farm plan.

Rogers said his company delinted 836.75 tons of cotton seed this year for planting purposes.

This would amount to 3,782,110,100 seeds, which is planted in a single row 12 inches apart would reach 716,308.71 miles.

It would take a tractor cultivator running four miles an hour 179,077 hours to cultivate this one row of cotton one time, which at 12 hours a day would require 14,923 days. Figuring 312 working days a year, this would amount to 47.8 years.

At 20 bolls to the stock, this row of cotton would produce 3,782,110,100 pounds of cotton. In order to pick the crop in one day, at 300 pounds per picker, 12,607,033 pickers would be required.

Then figuring 1,000 pounds of seed cotton per bale, the cotton would make 2,701,507 bales of lint. One gin ginning 100 bales a day would require 27,015 days for the job, according to Rogers. And again figuring 312 working days a year, this stint would take 86 years seven months.

Rogers concluded, "If Secretary Brannon's new farm plan should become law, it would cost Uncle Sam, or rather the taxpayers, not less than $135,075,350 in subsidies to the farmers from this one row of cotton."

Forehand Gives Arguments For Price Support

With all the discussion going on about supporting farm prices—at what level? What commodities? And how?—some people are asking, "Why support farm prices, at all?" As background to these questions, Ray Forehand, chairman of the Eddy County Agricultural Conservation Committee, makes the following observations:

The country's welfare is best served when there is an abundance of food. But it is impossible with the hazards of weather, disease and insects to produce just exactly the right amount of food. To make sure there is plenty, farmers have to take chances on producing too much—without price supports—the farmer suffers. Prices go down and often he has to produce at a loss. Price supports are needed to protect farmers from the wide fluctuations in price that result from shifts in yields and demands.

Farmers as separate operators of nearly six million farms—each an independent production unit—are defenseless in protecting themselves from the effects of surpluses. Price support sare needed to protect farmers from the wide fluctuations in price that result from shifts in yields and demands.

Price supports help to stabilize production as well as price. Extreme price fluctuations lead to extreme production shifts. Many are forced to increase production of certain commodities in a vain effort to meet fixed costs. If there is a material shift to other commodities, it only widens the distress front.

Price supports mean a more stable farm income. This is important, not only to the farm family, but to the businessman on Main Street. The farmer is better able to pay his bills and to buy the things which improve farm living standards. The resulting stability means more permanent tenure for the farmer and a greater stability for the community.

With a more stable income, the farmer has more incentive and is better able to farm for the future as well as the present. He is better able to carry out a year-after-year consistent soil and water conservation program. He isn't forced to interrupt his conservation efforts every time there are price slumps thus wiping out the progress already made by inability to keep up the work previously started.

In Forehand's opinion, consumers are the main beneficiaries of price supports because they result in more stable production and a greater total of continuing production at lower and more stable prices. In the long run reduced ability of the soil to produce must be reflected in higher prices to consumers.

Farm Committee System Faces Crucial Test

The challenge to farm programs, which have taken nearly a half century to establish, was discussed recently by Alvin V. McCormack, director, Agricultural Conservation Programs Branch of the U. S. Department of Agriculture and William W. Chandler of the Office of the secretary of agriculture.

Talking with Texas farmers, agricultural agency representatives, elected farmer committeemen and representatives of civic and service organizations, the speakers stressed the importance of being prepared for the changes which seem definitely to be shaping up. With wheat bins, corn cribs and cotton warehouses full and the threat of price depressing surpluses, the structure of price support programs may be tested to the utmost, they pointed out. "Will they stand and is the organization of elected committeemen equal to the job of administering these programs when it comes to setting up acreage allotments and handling marketing quotas?" were questions raised by the department officials.

The speakers emphasized that the responsibility rests upon the elected farmer committees.

As McCormack expressed it, "The country can be thankful that we have the committee system to meet the challenge of these times."

He pointed out the real problem which farmer committeemen must meet is just ahead. The goal of the farm program is "an equitable income for farmers, prosperity for the country, and a continued strengthening of our soil resources through soil and water conservation—and at the same time maintain a balanced abundance."

Girl Scout Notes

Most troops received their camp folders this week, telling the Girl Scouts what to bring to camp and something about the camp program. If a girl lost hers, here is the list of things to bring to camp, leaders said:

"Bring what you'll need so you won't have to borrow and leave at home what you'll wish you hadn't brought first of all: Bring your Girl Scout uniform, sleeping bag and comforter or four wool blankets or two double blankets and comforter, cotton blanket sheets and pillow as desired, outing flannel pajamas and bedsocks, bathrobe, raincoat, rubber boots or galoshes, jeans or slacks, T-shirts or warm cotton shirts, pair of shorts, warm sweater or jacket, six pair of socks, cotton underwear, two pairs of low-heeled shoes, flashlight and batteries, drinking cup and wash basin, wash cloths and bath towels and toilet articles including laundry soap.

"All articles must be marked with owner's name. Bedroll must be wrapped in a poncho or piece of canvas and roped securely."

Camp sessions are from June 14 to 23, June 28 to July 5, July 5 to July 12, July 19 to Aug. 2 and Aug. 2 to Aug. 16. It is hoped that Artesia girls will attend the first two sessions. Camp fee is $15 per week for registered Girl Scouts of the Southeast area, $17.50 per week for registered Girl Scouts outside of the area and $20 for non-Scouts.

The annual Girl Scout Association meeting for all registered adults in Girl Scouting will be at 7 o'clock Monday night, May 23, at the home of Mrs. Raymond Bartlett, with a surprise program on camping. Each person is to bring a "nosebag" lunch and a drink will be furnished.

Troop 2 girls are finishing work on their badges and will receive several at their next meeting.

Troop 8 played "Gossip" and "Rise Up Sugar Rise" after the business session Tuesday of last week. Mrs. Herman Fuchs, troop leader, served poppicles and the meeting closed with "Taps."

Troop 10 hiked to the home of Margy Herbert for a wienie roast, pop and potato chips. The girls jumped rope and played games and received their camp folders. This was the troop's last meeting for the school year.

Troop 11 met with Mrs. Arthur Payton, who told the group about schools, churches, stores and climate in Italy, where she was born just 20 miles out of Florence. Later the girls hiked to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Lamb for a cook-out.

Troop 14 hiked to the Artesia Roping Club corral, where they took pictures of horses and other things of interest.

Troop 16 played jacks and "Keep Away". They were served cookies by their troop leader. The girls took home the towels they have hemmed and their sewing boxes and will not meet again this school year.

Don't forget to listen to the Girl Scout radio program at 10:30 o'clock Saturday morning for details on camping.

How To Stop Worrying

National Guard Fires Sunday On Range At Roswell

Members of the local National Guard, Battery C, of the 697th Anti-Aircraft Automatic Weapons Battalion, participated in range firing Sunday at the New Mexico Military Institute rifle range at Roswell. The 25 men and three officers left Artesia at 5 o'clock Sunday morning by convoy and returned that evening.

Practice firing was conducted on the range in conjunction with some members of Battery A of Roswell. After the preliminary practice firing was completed, 13 men fired for record with the high score of the day being rung up by Pfc. Ramon D. Woodside of Artesia.

Inasmuch as all men did not finish the course, it is planned to have another day of firing which will be held at Carlsbad, Sunday, May 29. At that time, all firing is to be completed.

The weapon used for the firing Sunday was the U. S. rifle caliber .30 MI, which is the basic weapon of the Army and particularly the Infantry.

Firing of the 40-MM anti-aircraft guns, with which this battery is armed, will be conducted at summer camp when all New Mexico

National Guard units will participate in 15 days of training at Fort Bliss, Texas.

Summer Recreation And Music Program To Start On June 6

The annual summer recreation and music program sponsored by the schools in Artesia will start Monday, June 6 and run 10 weeks, with sessions Monday through Friday of each week. It was announced by Tom Mayfield, superintendent of schools.

The recreation program will be in charge of Miss Mary Lou Hamilton for the girls and Reece Smith for the boys.

Russell Lewis, Jr., instrumental music instructor and band director, will be in charge of the music division of the program.

Simple, Tasty Meat Dishes

By ALICE DENHOFF

THE best foods of all are the simple foods, the foods that are served often because they are healthful, satisfying and tasty.

High in this category come such meaty marvels as a good pot roast and Swiss steak, braised meats from thrifty cuts. The trouble with such dishes is that too many cooks go on serving them in the same old uninspired way, when they might be concocting exciting new versions of the old stand-bys. Such flavoring twists as herbs sprinkled into the cooking liquid, a handful of mixed vegetables strewn over and around the meat, a new and different gravy ingredient such as sour cream, canned onion soup or mushroom soup, all help to give a new sparkle to tried and true favorites.

Swiss Steak
Most cooks think of Swiss steak as a dish of round steak cooked with tomatoes. Actually, this braised meat dish can be prepared in a number of attractive ways in order to create a new and subtle flavor, which, after all, is the essence of any dish. If your menfolk like the flavor of dill—and most of them seem to—here's a good round steak and dill dish, grand for hearty eaters. Have 2 lb. round steak cut 1/2 inch thick. Wipe steak with damp cloth. Combine 3 c. soft bread crumbs, 1/2 tsp. salt, 1/4 c. each chopped onion and chopped dill pickle, 1/2 c. dill pickle juice and 1/2 tsp. melted butter. Spread this stuffing over the round steak. Roll up, fasten with skewers and cord. Place on rack in baking pan and lay 3 strips of bacon over the top lengthwise to baste the meat roll. Bake at 325 F. for an hour.

Note that this meat roll is not braised but baked in an uncovered pan. Although round steak usually is braised, in this case the bacon keeps the meat moist. If bacon is omitted, steak should be cooked in a covered pan with a small amount of added water.

Beef goulash can be just the same old stew or it can be made into something special when mysteriously seasoned with a bit of caraway seed and marjoram. To serve 6, have 2 lb. of beef stew meat cut into small cubes. Chop 2 medium onions and brown in 2 tbs. lard, then add the meat, sear well. Add one c. water, 1/4 tsp. caraway seed, 1/2 tsp. marjoram, one clove garlic and 1 1/2 tsp. salt. Add enough paprika to give the meat a good red color. Cover, and simmer for 2 hours, or until tender. Add more water if necessary. If desired, add halves of medium-sized potatoes 1/2 hour before done.

Twine-Tying Baler Speeds Hay Harvest Made "Haylift" Work Possible in West

Over the vast areas of the plains states where 1948's unprecedented snows caused extensive suffering of both livestock and human beings, machines like the one shown above are beginning to be more appreciated.

Not in the actual haylift operations, wherein grain for starving cattle and food for humans were dropped from airplanes, but in the preliminary phase of harvesting, without which the haylift would have been impossible.

The machine shown here turned out up to 7 bales a minute during the haying season of last year, adding this tremendous output to the stockpiles of grain from which the haylift drew its supplies.

Thus the machine helped to provide the thousands of "bombs" of baled hay with which fliers saved the lives of starving cattle in a great rescue operation.

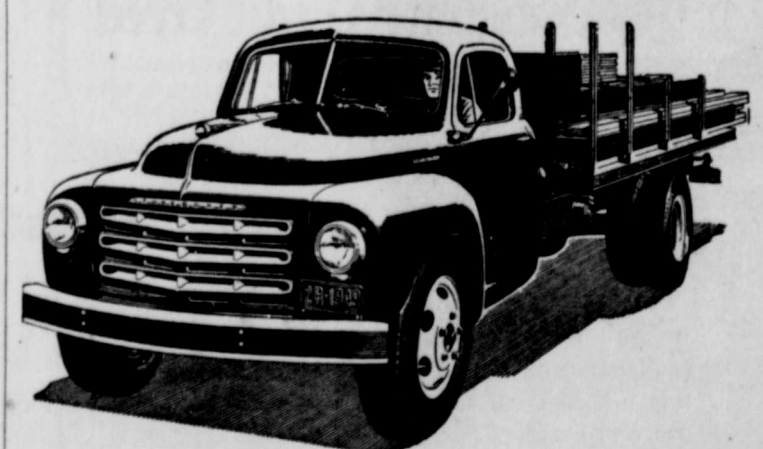

Just a few years ago operation haylift would have been impossible. It was not until this machine was introduced in the early 1940's that farmers could put their hay into twine-tied packages automatically.

ONE-MAN HAYING

The Minneapolis-Moline Bale-O-Matic is a new, better and lower cost way to perform one of the most important operations on the farm. It changes the hay harvest from a crew operation to a one-man operation, saves time and man-power, preserves more of the food value of the crop.

The Bale-O-Matic picks up green or cured hay or straw from windrow or swath, compresses it into uniform slices and ties it tightly with wire into compact, solid bales of uniform size and weight... even keeps an accurate count of bales for you. Baling hay the MM way saves valuable storage space, makes hay easier to handle and easier to feed.

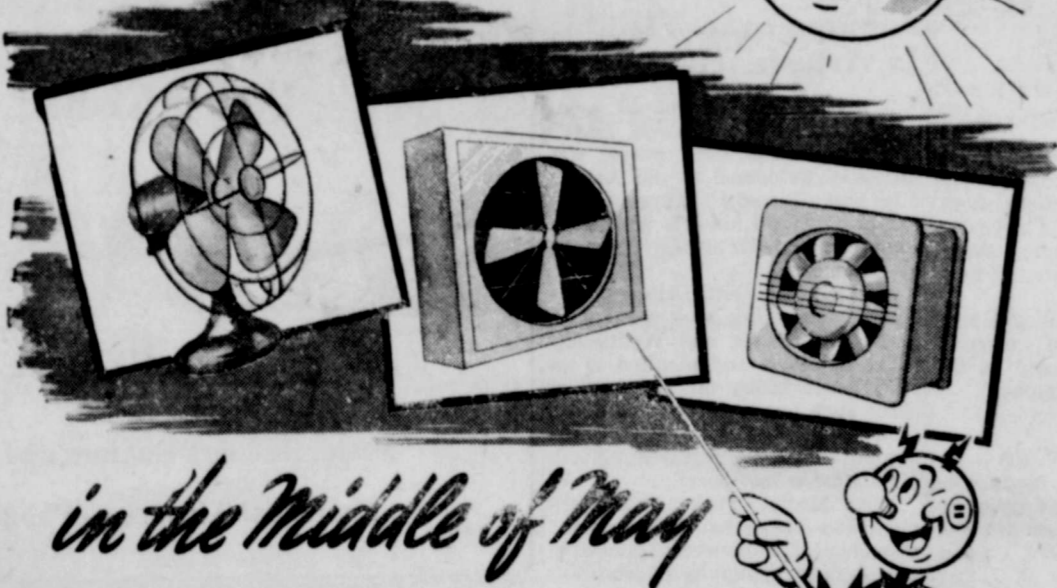

Large diameter Timken-bearing equipped single or dual wheels assure light draft. See us for complete facts.

Contract Let For National Guard Gun Shed Here

A contract for construction of a gun shed for the Artesia unit of the New Mexico National Guard on the army grounds on West Centre Avenue has been let to George A. Rutherford of Albuquerque who planned to start construction today.

Chuck Brown, local contractor, is to be in charge of the work. Capt. William C. White, unit commander, announced.

The gun shed building is to be of concrete block construction with a concrete floor, 52x125 feet and will have two small rooms at one end. It will house the large anti-aircraft guns and equipment assigned to the unit.

Plans are to construct the main armory building at a future date at a cost of about $300,000.

Myers Company To Sponsor Food Expert Program On Tuesday

Miss Myra Tankersley, well-known authority and home economist for the International Harvester Company will conduct a series of frozen food demonstrations in the Artesia Masonic Temple at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, May 24. The demonstration will be presented by The Myers Company, Inc., of Artesia.

Officials of the firm extend a cordial invitation to residents of the community to attend the exhibition, which has been well received in other localities. There will be no admission charge.

Truett Urges Co-Operation On Rural Service

J. L. Truett, Artesia postmaster, asks for more co-operation from rural route mail patrons of the local post office. In a statement issued this week, he calls attention to the following facts in the interest of a better rural service for the community:

The Post Office Department has caused recent annual inspection to be made of rural route roads and mail boxes. It has been noted that some patrons do not have properly constructed regulation boxes, and do not have their names on the boxes. Notices have been left in such boxes calling attention to needed corrections necessary to be made immediately.

Good, regulation rural route mail boxes properly and conveniently arranged, not only aid in a more safe and satisfactory delivery of mail, but add much to the appearance of a rural residence.

It is believed that rural patrons will co-operate with the postmaster and rural carrier in giving this matter publicity sufficient to making the rural district of Artesia one of the most attractive and best arranged routes in the Pecos Valley.

"When we see a neighbor is neglecting his rural mail box whereby a little attention would add to a better appearance," the postmaster said, "we will call it to his attention, feeling assured our suggestions will be appreciated sufficiently to obtain results necessary for a better rural service. Only co-operation with each other and a little effort can get the job done."

Small Building At Williams Lumber Damaged By Fire

A small building at the Williams Lumber Company mill and yard west of Artesia on the Hope highway was partially destroyed by fire about 8:30 o'clock Sunday night from an undetermined cause.

An attempt was made by Artesia firemen to extinguish the fire by means of the small booster stream, but a high wind kept them from making headway, so a line was run to a tank about 200 yards to the west and the fire was quickly controlled by means of pumper pressure and a large hose.

Firemen were called Sunday morning and again that afternoon to extinguish fires in a trash pile at 10th and Washington.

The Loving team has won five straight games this season, while the Eagles have played four and lost one.

Good-Willers From Albuquerque Visit In Artesia Tuesday

A delegation of about 40 good-willers from Albuquerque, traveling in two chartered buses, was officially welcomed at the Artesia city hall Tuesday afternoon by Mayor Oren C. Roberts and J. D. Smith, president of the Chamber of Commerce.

The trippers left Albuquerque Tuesday morning and spent that night in Carlsbad and Wednesday night in Clovis and planned to return home today on the first of three such good-will trips to South New Mexico this summer. Three similar trips were made into North New Mexico last year.

With Merle Tucker, assistant chairman of the Albuquerque Chamber of Commerce trade area development committee, who was in charge of the trip, Al Buck, a Duke City commissioner; Ralph Jones, president of the chamber there; Burt Hoffman, head coach at the University of New Mexico; Leon Harms, manager of the New

Finke Is Re-Elected On Board Of State Philatelist Society

C. Gottfried Finke and Mr. and Mrs. Warren Neill attended a meeting of the New Mexico and Albuquerque Philatelist Societies in Albuquerque Friday through Sunday, at which Finke was re-elected to the board of directors of the state society and took second and third awards on two stamp frames he had entered.

They reported a feature of the show was displays of the St. Louis Bears postmaster provincial and Cardinal Spellman collections.

The Artesia people said that at the convention banquet, Harry Weiss of Philatelic Gossip Magazine, Holton, Kan., demonstrated methods of expertizing stamps and had with him equipment valued at more than $175,000.

Mrs. E. L. Martin Visits Safety Driving Class

By Jim Kelly
—Artesia Hi Beacon
Mrs. E. L. Martin, state instructor, visited the drivers' education class of Artesia High School. Mrs. Martin brought with her many physical testing devices to find if any students had defects, such as color blindness, eyesight and so forth. Mrs. Martin gave a brief talk on the safety driving and training program in New Mexico. Artesia is one of 20 schools in the state that has safety driving. It is hoped by next year there will be at least 60 schools in the program, as Arizona has a 100 per cent record for their state. Of the 20 schools in the state, those with the best programs visited are: Albuquerque, Artesia, Carlsbad, Deming and Melrose. Among the many physical testing devices Mrs. Martin brought with her are: Reaction time, field of vision, steadiness, glare machine, visual acuity, color vision and braking time machine. Mrs. Martin's visit was enjoyed by all of the student and they are looking forward to seeing her next year or sooner if possible. Before leaving, she made the following statement: "I have tested many schools, but this is one of the nicest groups I have ever tested." The safety driving class has made many improvements in their driving, although the class is made up mostly of seniors who had their driver's licenses before taking the course.

A shilling a week is provided to feed cats which catch rodents in British government offices.

Tucumcari Newsman Asks Fairness In Reporting Of Great Southwest

(Since the release of a recent issue of Life Magazine, in which the "rugged West" was portrayed in a picture story, many New Mexicans have registered displeasure that the story gave a distorted picture. Dick Hindley, publisher of The Tucumcari News, wrote the editors of Life through his editorial columns what is perhaps the outstanding protest made, as he made a plea for fairness in reporting. The editorial:

"The new issue of Life magazine, which went on sale at the news stands today, contains a section on the Southwest, particularly New Mexico and Arizona.

The illustrations are exceptionally fine. But the story they tell, along with the accompanying text, is not so good, in our opinion, inasmuch as they do not give a complete picture of our great Southwest.

The illustrations show sand, rock formations, mountains, cactus, art, architecture, dude ranches, resorts etc., but we looked in vain for fields of golden grain or snow-white cotton, towering grain elevators or oil derricks, irrigation canals or sleek cattle or sheep in pastures or feed lots.

One would think from reading Life magazine that there was no way for a person to make a living in New Mexico or Arizona unless he were an artist or writer or ran a dude ranch or some other tourist attraction.

In Eastern New Mexico, alone, are such fine towns as Tucumcari, Clovis, Portales, Roswell, Carlsbad, Artesia and Hobbs and in Western New Mexico and Arizona we find the thriving cities of Albuquerque, Santa Fe, Silver City, Gallup, Las Cruces, Phoenix and Tucson, to mention only a few.

A Life magazine reader may wonder what supports these wide-awake, progressive cities, most of which have doubled in population in the last 10 years.

There must be something besides cactus and desert and mountains, the thoughtful reader will say. And there is.

New Mexico ranks among the top states in the value of its livestock industry. In the first week in March a million dollars worth of cattle were sold at the Clovis livestock rings, and on one day Clovis had the largest volume of any cattle market in the nation, not excluding Chicago or Kansas City. Besides ranching and dry land farming, New Mexico also has the thousands of acres of fine, irrigated farm land around Tucumcari, Portales, Roswell, Artesia, Las Cruces, Lovington, Hobbs and other places. Life does mention New Mexico's enormous resources, but says nothing about the industries which are developing these resources. It does not mention the fact that Carlsbad ships out so much potash that the Santa Fe railroad carries more freight originating at Carlsbad than at any other point on its system, not excluding Chicago.

In fact Life story carries large headline that say: "The Arid Land Is Beautiful and Empty."

"Art, Sculpture Are Major Products."

Is it necessary to go on? We believe those writers who come to New Mexico and write only of the state's glamour are doing a great injustice to the people of this state and to those people who may want to come here for their health's sake, but who also must earn a living for themselves and their families. For there are untold numbers who find relief here from various kinds of afflictions and lead a happy, normal life which they could not do in any other region.

No, New Mexico and Arizona are not all empty, arid land; art and sculpture, though we welcome artists and are proud of their contributions, are not our major products.

Our ranges may not have the lush grass found in the East and Midwest, but they do produce thousands and thousands of cattle and furnish a big share of the nation's supply of meat and wool.

We believe Life magazine owes an apology to the people of New Mexico and Arizona and to the people who may be looking for a healthful climate in which to live and earn a living.

The writer of this editorial was born in Ohio and lived there for many years. He knows that in the Central and Eastern states, a man is lucky if he can buy a farm and pay for it in a lifetime.

But, during the 13 years I have lived in New Mexico, I have seen many farmers buy and pay for good farms in one to three years. And they do not have to work as hard as farmers in the East because they usually raise only one major crop, such as wheat or cotton, while the Eastern farmer is tied to his land by a diversified program.

This writer has traveled in all but three states in the United States and is convinced that there are few other states which offer as great an economic opportunity as New Mexico—either to a young man just starting out in farming or business, or to capital looking for resources to develop.

I am enclosing with a copy of this letter, one of our recent Tucumcari Chamber of Commerce folders and I believe that after reading it you will agree that New Mexico is not all an arid waste.

Yes, we feel that Life owes a big apology for the distorted picture it has given of our great Southwest.

While custom decrees that a child is known by the surname of his father, there is no law in the United States preventing a person from taking any name he wishes.

In the South Sea Islands, a teaspoonful of salt can be traded for a peck of potatoes.

Teachers' Plans For Summer

Mrs. Howarth—Going to school at Albuquerque.

Mr. Lewis—Work here at school, then maybe go to the coast.

Miss Magatagan—Stay around home and take short trips.

Miss McCaw—Go to Texas Tech for a while and then to Ruidoso.

Committeemen To Set Allotments On Crop Acreage

If acreage allotments and marketing quotas become necessary next year for cotton or wheat, the individual farm allotments will be set by the local farmer-committees, according to W. Leslie Martin of Artesia, chairman of the New Mexico Production and Marketing Administration Committee. This is a vital point in the nation's agricultural program, the chairman emphasizes.

He points out that when farmers are producing more of a commodity than can be marketed and ample reserves have been built up, they know that adjustments should be made. But as individual farmers they are helpless in making the necessary adjustments. Each farm has been laid out to grow particular crops. Machinery has been accumulated to grow these crops. On most farms it is not possible for the farmer to shift his entire farm from one crop to another.

Farmers are aware of this but without a farm program which provides a means for unified action there is no means for assuring desired results. Under the program the acreage that is needed to assure abundance without wasteful surpluses is divided equitably among the farmers of a community, a county and the country as a whole.

"And no one is better able to set up the individual allotments for a farm," the chairman says, "than the elected committeemen. They are farmers. They know the problems confronting their neighbors. They are elected each year. The farmers affected by the allotments they set are the ones who elect them."

"And no one can impose marketing quotas upon farmers. The law requires that two-thirds of the farmers voting in an announced referendum must approve marketing quotas before they can be put into effect."

SPEED DEMON (From Artesia Hi Beacon)

When you were a little boy, you liked to race, didn't you? And you usually were the "fastest." At the tender age of seven you wanted to be a fireman. The idea of streaking through the streets on a fire engine with the sirens screaming completely fascinated you. Next, you wanted to become an airplane pilot. That's real speed.

You're a big boy now. You no longer run foot races. You're not a fireman and you haven't a pilot's license. But you do have a license to drive a car. That speed urge, never having been worked out of your system, still grips you.

It's useless to ask you to make a trip to a hospital and see what it takes to get the speed urge out of some people. You wouldn't go. It's silly to try to tell you that you might kill yourself or your best girl. You wouldn't listen.

But you must accept facts as presented by the American Junior Red Cross Journal. These are the facts:

"Motor-vehicle accidents take the lives of approximately 6000 high school and college age youths annually, injuring approximately 270,000 more. Speeding is a contributing factor in one out of every three fat-1 accidents."

Look, Speedy—all I really want to say is "Give death a holiday. Curb your urge to be a fireman when you're driving Dad's car. Slow down before you blow out."

Mabry Proclaims 'Soil Conservation Week' In State

The week of May 22 has been proclaimed as "Soil Conservation Week" in New Mexico by Gov. Thomas J. Mabry, with the suggestion that various organizations and groups join in activities stressing the importance of conservation, it was announced by G. L. Beene, district conservationist.

The week's observance will start with "Soil and Souls Sunday" which will be observed throughout the nation Sunday, May 22.

In his proclamation Gov. Mabry said: "In recent years it has become the custom of several organizations to sponsor a national program of conservation and better management of our land resources.

"In New Mexico this movement is being sponsored by Friends of the Land. This is a very worthwhile movement, since the proper utilization of our land resources can only be brought about by the application of approved conservation methods.

"It is my pleasure to call public attention to 'Conservation Week' in New Mexico, which this year has been set for May 22 through May 28, with special observance on Sunday, May 22.

"Religious, fraternal, patriotic, educational and civic organizations are invited to join in carrying out the purpose of this week."

Look at this diagram, folks! It shows why you get more good-eating for your money when you buy Safeway's trimmed-before-weighing meats. Note that you pay only for the portion that properly belongs on each cut—not for excess bone, waste, or fat. We prepare other cuts in similar fashion—each according to its special requirements. When checking meat value, it pays to compare trimming as well as price. Safeway's price is always on the trimmed cut.

Winter Wonderland Is Setting For Junior-Senior Banquet-Prom

By Janet Ployhar
—Artesia Hi Beacon

Climaxing the year for the Juniors was the Junior-Senior prom held Friday night, May 13 at the Veterans building.

The building was decorated to fit the name of the theme "Winter Wonderland." The banquet was served by 12 Sophomore girls dressed in white and blue satin skaters' costumes. The tables had little red sleighs with snow covered nut cups on top and the favors were little men on skis.

The 12 serving girls were Jeanette Stack, Ellonia Callehand, Ola May Davis, Jo Ann Short, Nora Roberts, Linda Boyle, Jean Green, Sara Alexander, Anna Marie Dunn, Loretta Wells, Rosia and Edith Houghtaling. They composed their own dance step to the "Skater's Waltz" under the direction of Mrs. Flora Powell, who is the teacher-sponsor in charge of the entertainment phase of the banquet and prom.

The master of ceremonies was

Carl Scott. Tommy Goodwin represented the Senior class. Fay Teel said grace. Jo Margaret Gore gave a violin solo, "Intermezzo," accompanied by Augusta Spratt. Arlene Owens gave a toast to the Seniors and Doris Williams gave the response.

The music for the dance was by the "Four Professors."

Forty-Niners Give Class Day Program

By Jimmy McCutcheon
—Artesia Hi Beacon

The last assembly of the year was presented by the Senior class with their Senior Class Day exercises, Wednesday, May 18, in the high school auditorium.

Helen Beaty, the editor of the 1949 Bulldog crowned the Annual King and Queen. The Junior and Senior class favorites were the honor courts.

The class of '49 followed the same plan as the Senior classes before them, they had the class will, the prophecy, the history and the giftatory.

The class will was presented by Deke DeMars. The prophecy was read by Barbara Harral. Some examples of the prophecy were that Doris Williams has quite a swell night club job at Nogales, while Sylvia Amstutz is a world famous artist. Danny Fuller has taken Mickey Rooney's job in Hollywood.

The history of the class was read by Clayton Fike. Jack Rains, Dan Booker and Nan Robinson presented the gifts as follows: To Adrienne we give this thin dime, in hopes it will furnish her a good time. For this is the bus fare to the Institute, for she knows a cadet who is very cute.

To Helen, the canary of our class, who is full of spice and sass, we give this atomizer, small, to keep her voice right on the ball.

The Senior class song was to the tune of "Cruising Down the River." It was sung at the close of the program. The song was made up by a group of Seniors on the bus coming back from the Senior trip.

The stage was decorated in the class colors, which are red and white. It was planned by Sylvia Amstutz and Ramon Woodside. All Seniors were seated on the stage.

Queen Nona, King Don Crowned on Class Day

By Shirley Young
—Artesia Hi Beacon

Nona Glasscock and Don Bartlett were crowned Annual Queen and King, at the traditional Class Day exercises which were held during the last assembly, May 18. The editor of the annual, Helen Beaty, officiated at the coronation.

Nona crown was fashioned of red and white carnations, which are the class flowers. Don's crown was of gold, set with jewels. They were crowned while kneeling before a small candlelit altar, in the center of the stage. King Don and Queen Nona were preceded to the stage by the class favorite, Jack Rains and Barbara Harral, who lead the procession and carried the crowns. Following Jack and Barbara, were the Junior favorite, Kenneth Malone and Pan Horner; Sophomore favorites, Don Kincaid and Loretta Wells; Freshman favorites, Hunt Zumwalt and Shirley Thorpe; Eighth, Doyle Cole and Jean Coll; Seventh, Louis Campenella and Eileen Marshall. The king and queen and the class favorites were chosen by the students last semester.

Thirty per cent of adult Americans in 1940 had not completed grade school.
