Artesian's Relatives Killed In Texas, But Fourth Quiet Here

Artesia was extremely quiet over the Fourth of July week end, with a large percentage of the citizens out of town, many of them in the mountains or on visits to other communities.

The tranquility was broken, however, by an accident on the Hope highway 10 miles west of Artesia, in which a little Artesia girl was injured and a traffic accident near Levelland, Texas, in which three relatives of an Artesia woman were killed.

Police reported that otherwise they found everything quiet and that arrests were at a minimum. Few youngsters broke the ordinance prohibiting fireworks and firecrackers.

The mother and a sister and a brother of Mrs. Jack Burrows of 2202 West Dallas Avenue were killed instantly about 2:30 o'clock the afternoon of the Fourth three miles south of Levelland on the Brownfield-Levelland highway, when a pick-up in which they were riding collided with a heavy trailer truck.

They were Mrs. P. L. Ray, about 63, who lived five miles south of Levelland, her son, Joseph R. Ray, about 40, unmarried, who lived with his mother and Miss Mary Jo Ray, about 25, of Dallas, Texas.

An Associated Press account of the accident said: The family was taking Miss Ray to Lubbock. There she was to board a bus to Dallas, where she has been employed.

The Ray car was in collision with a heavy trailer truck owned by the Frontier Chemical Company of Denver City, driven by Leon W. Parks, 29, of Seagraves, Parks was injured slightly.

Rain was falling at the time, causing the rear of the heavy truck to whip from side to side of the road, investigating officers said.

The Ray pick-up was demolished. Mr. and Mrs. Burrows left Tuesday morning for Levelland, where it was understood funeral services would be conducted.

Besides the daughter here, Mrs. Ray is survived by two other daughters and two sons. De Etta Hefley, 4-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Hefley of Artesia, was painfully but not seriously injured the morning of the Fourth of July when she turned the handle on a rear door of the family automobile west of Artesia, while on the way to Cloudcroft to attend a rodeo.

In the rear seat with De Etta was her older sister, June Hefley, 8, who cried to her father that the younger girl had fallen out. She had clung to the door, when it was jerked open and was dragged for a considerable distance before she let go.

Hefley, running back, found her badly cut and bruised and with road burns, where she had slid over the pavement.

Examination at Artesia Memorial Hospital, where she was rushed, disclosed no broken bones and apparently no internal injuries. However, stitches had to be taken to close some lacerations. She was released from the hospital that night.

With Hefley and his two daughters on the trip was Paul Stroup. Dozens of people from the Artesia community attended the rodeo at Cloudcroft, while other dozens went to Ruidoso to attend the horse races and enjoy the cool mountains. Both places were crowded to overflowing, it was reported.

Improvement Of First Street Is To Be Discussed

A definite plan for the improving of First Street, on which the city and the Chamber of Commerce have been working, will be discussed at a special meeting of the City Council at 7:30 o'clock Friday night, it was announced by Mayor Oren C. Roberts.

Young Men Are Invited To Apply For Police Work

In a move to set up a file of young men who wish to become police officers, Police Chief Earl D. Westfall this week issued an invitation for them to make application.

Qualifications are that they be 21 to 30 years old, weigh no less than 165 pounds, are at least five feet eight inches tall, have good character and desire to make police work a career.

The chief said that any young men so qualified and wishing to do so may leave their applications with the desk sergeant at police headquarters in the basement of the city hall.

W. P. Luck, NuMex Official, Dies In Texas Saturday

Walter P. Luck of Fort Worth, Texas, vice president and general counsel and originator of the present organization of the New Mexico Asphalt & Refining Company of Artesia, died in a Fort Worth hospital Saturday after a long illness.

He underwent an operation last August for the removal of a brain tumor, from which he never recovered.

Funeral services were from a funeral home in Fort Worth at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon and burial was in Woodbine Cemetery there.

Among the pallbearers were C. L. Withers, vice president and general manager of the company and E. W. Allen, secretary-treasurer, both of Artesia. They were accompanied by Mrs. Withers and Herb Termain, company pilot, who flew them to Fort Worth in the company Cessna.

Mr. Luck is survived by his widow, two brothers and a sister. In 1940, when the company operating the local refinery was reorganized and the present company was formed, Mr. Luck was instrumental in the move. He was joined in the formation of the company by A. R. Matthews, president.

Although Mr. Luck never made his home at Artesia, he was here frequently until a year ago when illness prevented and he was well known here.

He was a veteran of World War I, in which he served in the Navy.

Effort Made For Federal Cotton Crop Insurance

An effort is being made by the Pecos Valley Farmers Association, of which gin associations of Eddy and Chaves Counties are working members, towards having Eddy County approved for federal cotton crop insurance, it was announced this week by Louis Bagwell of Roswell, who is employed full time in the field by the association.

The efforts of the association have had the endorsement and approval of gin groups, bankers, cotton farmers and others, Bagwell said.

According to Bagwell, many farmers in Eddy County have requested that the program, which has been in operation in Chaves County the last two years on an experimental basis, be extended to this county.

Artesia Trade Day Wednesday

Artesia Trade Day Wednesday

Artesia is building for something worthwhile in both inter-scholastic and intra-mural athletics but this letter will deal primarily with football. We want to build towards success in football and the plan is not to wait years for results.

We do not expect to win any championships next season, but we do expect to achieve considerable success and if you and every other boy on the squad has the intestinal fortitude and the willingness to make sacrifices, which every football player should expect to make, we might come mighty close to winning a championship. It is simply up to you and the other members of the squad.

I have heard several predictions on the part of citizens that we will have a great season this coming fall. Whether these predictions are warranted or not depends entirely upon the question of what is the basis upon which they are made.

If it is the belief that with a new coach, some new formations and some tricky plays we are going to experience a tremendous improvement over last year, we will be doomed to disappointment. If, however, these predictions are based upon a determination on the part of the players to play harder and smarter football, to study the game more thoroughly, to keep in perfect physical condition, to train faithfully for physical fitness, as well as morale, tackle better, block better, run harder and faster, to keep going from whistle to whistle and to take full advantage of every bit of help and information which the coaches give you, then the outlook is bright indeed, because we have the boys as far as natural physical and mechanical ability are concerned.

The thing that concerns me most is the question of morale—collective and individual. If you think you are going to be kicked around by the players on all the teams we meet—well, no doubt that will be what will happen and this feeling will persist in whatever you do as long as you live. If you permit this inferiority complex to hold you and you just can't get rid of it, then you had better quit football, in fact, drop all competitive sports and let the aggressive boys with the proper morale play the game of football and life.

It is difficult to distinguish between morale, aggressiveness and confidence, because they are much (Continued last page, this section)

Coach Tinson Tells Candidates For Grid Team What He Expects Of Them

Jack Tinson, new head football coach of Artesia High School, has issued an open letter to possible candidates for the team this fall, in which he enumerated a number of points of interest to the citizens of the community as well as to the boys, some of whom had their first meeting with him Tuesday evening at the school library. Coach Tinson's letter:

Maxwell House Near Dayton Is Lost On Fourth

Fire from an unknown cause destroyed the four-room Lee Maxwell home a mile south and a mile east of Dayton and all household possessions, and the family dog about 6:30 o'clock the night of the Fourth of July, while Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell and their daughter and son, 12 and 8 years old, were in Roswell.

Neighbors who saw the blaze were unable to save anything and hesitated approaching too close, because of a butane tank, which they feared might explode.

When Mr. and Mrs. Maxwell and children returned home about midnight, their home was smoldering ruins.

It was understood Maxwell carried no insurance but that he will do his best to rebuild. In the meantime, he has borrowed a trailer for a temporary home.

Friends pointed out that the family needs clothing, cash and household goods and a movement has been started to come to their assistance. The friends said any assistance given to the Maxwell family will be appreciated.

Final Report Of Cancer Campaign Shows $921 Total

Ralph F. Lennon, general chairman for the recent drive here of the American Cancer Association, has made a final report to Mrs. H. R. Paton, president of the Artesia Woman's Club, in which he disclosed a total of $921.15 was realized here through efforts of the Woman's Club and by other means.

The chairman said it may be assumed considerable direct contributions were made from the North Eddy County area to the state organization, which probably would credit the local drive with more than $1000, the original goal set for North Eddy County.

He reported the Artesia Woman's Club members collected $616, counter cans netted $109.15 and direct contributions to the local organization were $198, for the total of $921.15.

As chairman of the local drive, Lennon expressed his deep appreciation to the Artesia Woman's Club for the fine co-operation and splendid work by the members.

He said he feels an excellent job has been done.

Cox Announces Committees Of Rotary Tuesday

Standing committees of the Artesia Rotary Club for the 1948-49 club year were announced Tuesday night at a ladies' night banquet in the basement of the Masonic Temple, at which Thad Cox succeeded Boone Barnett as president and presided for the first time.

Air Hearing To Be Held At Austin, Monday, July 18

The Civil Aeronautics Authority has ordered a hearing in Austin, Texas, Monday, July 18, on the Pioneer Air Lines certificate case. Artesia is vitally interested in this hearing because the Amarillo-El Paso segment of Pioneer Air Lines is to be eliminated Nov. 14, if the board's decision is not reversed. The Chamber of Commerce has prepared its brief and mailed copies to all interested parties, as well as to Trial Examiner James W. Werner, who will hear the case.

The secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce will represent the city of Artesia at this hearing and present the case seeking to get this order reversed.

Artesia Firemen Answer 98 Calls During Fiscal Year Ending June 30

During the fiscal year from July 1, 1948, through June 30, Artesia firemen answered a total of 98 calls of all types, as compared with 73 calls for the 1947-48 fiscal year, according to a check sheet kept by Dallas Golden, department secretary.

Of the total calls answered the last year, 87 were in response to fire alarms, of which 65 were in the city and 22 were outside the city limits. The remaining 11 calls were for the emergency squad with the department rescuator.

Twenty of the fire alarms were the result of trash, grass, electric and similar fires. The peak month was last October, with 13 calls and February was second with 11.

The fiscal year passed without a disastrous fire, Secretary Golden's account estimates showing the total loss for 1948-49 to be $15,158 within the city. By comparison, a fire at the New Mexico Asphalt & Refining Company plant on Jan. 19, 1948, was estimated to have done about $100,000 damage. And a week later baled cotton valued at about $100,000 was lost in a fire at the Espuella gin of the Artesia Alfalfa Growers Association. No estimate of the total fire loss for that fiscal year was made.

In releasing the figures of the estimated fire loss for the 1948-49 fiscal year, Secretary Golden said some of the data came from insurance adjustments, while some were estimated. In a number of cases, no accurate check could be obtained. He said the total of $15,158 represents no fire losses on calls outside of the city.

The department secretary said that it will be appreciated in the future, by way of keeping the records straight and reasonably accurate, if persons having had fires will call the fire station and report the amount of loss, either estimated or as figured by the fire underwriters.

Margin notes disclose that the "smelliest" of all fires to which firement responded were at Irbey Drug, when some fried chickens were fried too much, causing an alarm, and at Carter's Cafe, when a roast turned out to be overdone.

And firemen, who refer to a fire at which water is thrown as a "wet fire" and one at which no water is needed as a "dry fire," declared the driest of the year was last Thursday at Doc Loucks', when smoke from insulation in a generator, which was being burned out purposely, attracted attention and firemen were called. They said this also listed high on the "smelliest" list.

Entries are also kept on the amount of hose laid at every fire and Secretary Golden reported that the total for 1948-1949 was 4525 feet.

In four of the 11 cases on which the emergency squad was called with the rescuator, firemen were credited with saving lives. The percentage was not as large as the year prior, when the saving of three lives was accredited to the emergency squad's efforts out of four rescuator runs. However, as more people learn that there is a rescuator with a trained squad available at any time, day or night, the use of the apparatus is requested in a greater number of cases, many of them helpless. Girl Scouts Are Attending Camp In Sacramentos

Ten Artesia Girl Scouts returned home Tuesday from Camp Mary White in the Sacramento Mountains while seven more local girls were taken that day to the camp for a week.

Meanwhile the area camp committee announced Camp Mary White will be run through the week of July 12-19, when it was previously announced it would be closed and for which period registrations are still being taken. The committee said the camp will close for the season July 26, unless Girl Scout registration is sufficient to make it practical to remain open longer.

The Girl Scouts who returned home Tuesday from the camp were Kathryn Ann Downey, Mabel Louise Kinney, Lois Janet Howard, Gretchen Lee Petty, Sallie Jane Scott, Barbara Ann Sessum, Marianne Solt, Deanne Kay Stout, Mary Margaret Whitson and Patricia Ann Henderson.

Those who went to the camp Tuesday for a week were Donna Ruth McNallen, Mariana Solt, Charlene Morgan, Willie Lee McKinney, Bettie Mae Powell and Alice and Doris Gail.

Miss Anna Hackett, director of the camp, this week explained to parents of Girl Scouts in the area that Girl Scouting is an outdoor program and nothing quite equals the fun and adventure of camping as much as at the established Girl Scout Camp Mary White. The entire day is filled with new and interesting activities carried on by the girls under the supervision of good counselors.

One of the outstanding activities in Camp Mary White is horseback riding along the beautiful wooded trails to many interesting secluded spots, such as Hidden Springs, Turkey, the "Haunted House" and many others.

Cooking out of doors in the unit kitchens is lots of fun, Miss Hackett said. In this activity, the girls learn to build fires, to cook many palatable foods, to serve foods and to wash dishes correctly. It is really fun doing these things in an organized way and supervised by counselors who can really make the work interesting by their suggestions that they have to lend.

Second Dusting Of City On Sunday Is Successful

The city of Artesia was dusted from the air early Sunday morning in the second such operation, which has proven much more successful than the previous dusting.

The community was practically devoid of mosquitoes over the week end and few flies were reported.

Members of the 20-30 Club, which sponsored both dusting operations, said conditions were much more favorable for the second dusting and since, giving the chemical an opportunity to get in its work and to have a lasting effect.

The first dusting was done on June 17, the afternoon of which day a wind blew in thousands of mosquitoes, which were quite annoying that night. Many of them were killed by the dust during the night and the next day, but the second evening, a downpour washed away the dust, putting an end to the good it did.

The dusting was done by A. H. (Sag) Hazel, Herb Termain and Bob Collins, flying Hazel Flying Service Piper Cubs especially equipped for dusting operations. The services of the pilots and the use of the planes was donated.

The pilots said the weather was ideal early Sunday morning for dusting, with very little wind, allowing the dust to settle where intended.

And the weather through Wednesday was such that the dust remained and continued to fight insects. As the days continue, however, necessary lawn watering will wash away the dust.

Members of the 20-30 Club said it is possible the program of dusting will continue through the summer, provided sufficient funds are donated. There is some money remaining after the two dusting operations but more will be required before it can be done a third time.

Mr. and Mrs. Castleberry had gone to the park to spend the Fourth of July week end.

Trade Day Gifts To Be Given Here Next Wednesday

The July Artesia Trade Day will be held Wednesday of next week, with gifts from co-operating merchants to be given away at 2 o'clock in the afternoon at the corner of Second and Main Streets.

There will only be six awards given, ranging in value from $30 to $100. This will make the presentation of short duration, so the merchants can get back to their places of business.

At the close of the awarding of gifts, a grade "A" Holstein calf will be auctioned to the highest bidder. The proceeds of the auction will be given to the local Future Farmers of America chapter. The calf will be approximately 4 months old and will probably weigh about 350 pounds. The calf's name is "Beauteria" and was purchased and is being fed by F. L. Wilson Feed & Farm Supplies.

SANDERS IS AWARDED CONTRACT AT TAHOKA

Sam Sanders has been awarded a $200,000 contract for curb, gutter and paving at Tahoka, Texas.

He is to start work the middle of July and complete the work in four months.

A homer by Carle tied the score, after which Lugo got on base with a drive through second and then Ollie brought in the winning run.

We Save America First?

THEY HAVE BEEN and will continue to be a lot of talk and discussion about the future of business—a casual mention of a possible depression until we level off and get somewhere back to the normal we knew before the war. Some of us, perhaps, are a little tired and weary of some of the comment we are hearing on two radio announcers and commentators harped on this topic and this subject rather frequently and regularly now for some weeks. Without a doubt their intentions are splendid. In making to sell Americans on the idea there is to be a fear and that fear can cause us trouble as it did back in 1928.

They are trying to sell Americans on America. They are endeavoring to point out that we as a nation are still capable and able financially to solve our business problems. They perhaps are trying to needle our nation into realizing this and to take any steps and action necessary to insure being done.

nothing. They want free publicity, they want free advertising and they want to dictate just how this will be granted or given to them.

They spend their money in other ways advertising than in purchasing newspaper space, but they expect to use the paper and for the paper to do everything it can for them and everything they can get the paper to do for them.

Every community, we say, has them. But this newspaper and every other newspaper published in this nation of ours is possible because of the merchants and business people in that community not only believe in newspaper advertising but they buy and use it.

And there are many of them in this community who not only find the newspaper does an outstanding job for them but they never ask or expect or even seek anything in return. They figure their investment in newspaper advertising has paid dividends; it has given them the results they sought and they have received the service they desired.

And these individuals, of course, make it possible for this community to have a newspaper. Without these folks the paper couldn't exist, could not operate, couldn't have employees, maintain its payroll and contribute to the community.

And the newspaper is appreciative and grateful to these individuals and these business firms. But most newspapers have their experience with those who contribute little if anything to support of the paper and making the paper's existence in that community possible, yet they always expect the paper to do everything they want it to do and to be more than generous to them.

But newspapers are only possible because there are those who back and support the paper, not because of the free riders.—O.E.P.

Our Neighbor Speaks

WE WERE GREATLY PLEASED when we read in the Artesia Advocate last week that they would issue a semi-weekly in September. Fine, that means that Artesia is growing. The Advocate has served the city of Artesia and surrounding country a long time as a weekly and done it well. But the time has now arrived when the local newspaper must keep up with the growth and advancement of the community and a semi-weekly is the answer. We will be watching for the new edition. Congratulations to Publisher Priestley and The Advocate staff.—W. E. Rood in The Penasco Valley News, Hope.

Makes Us Feel Good

YOU NEVER MISS THE WATER until the well runs dry. And few things in life are appreciated until we are deprived of them.

So it is with The Advocate. We are cussed and discussed and taken by the average individual in his stride. Some people claim they hardly read the newspaper and that they can get along without it. But just let us be an hour late in coming off the press. Then it's something else again.

We were a little late last week, not so late that we missed the afternoon mail delivery, so those who depend on the letter carriers were not particularly concerned and we did not hear from them.

But those who make weekly purchases of The Advocate at the office or at any of the newsstands surely raised Cain for an hour or so. The phone in The Advocate office was constantly jingling as people called to inquire why they couldn't find a copy. And employees of several of the newsstands called, telling us that the customers were becoming impatient.

Sort of a backhanded compliment!—A.L.B.

Then Don't Expect It

HAD YOU EVER NOTICED that nine times out of 10, the individual who is willing to do a favor for you, extend a courtesy to you or say a kind word about you or your business, is the individual you have taken the trouble to aid and help when the opportunity presents itself?

That is usually true. Every now and then we all encounter those unappreciative and ungrateful people who seem to think that everyone owes them consideration but they never owe anyone anything.

But the average person is grateful for favors and consideration extended to him or her and they return these when the opportunity presents itself.

Most of us, sooner or later need some help or some co-operation. It may be in business matters; it may be with our personal affairs; or it can be with some community projects. But we are all more or less dependent on the other fellow. We are dependent on our community and our fellowman.

Now and then we need their help and their co-operation. Sometimes we find we are not in a position to request it or to ask for it because we haven't been very co-operative ourselves. We have not only been inconsiderate of others but we perhaps have been a little unfair, unjust and at times right down dishonest in our actions.

And as a result, we aren't in a position to ask or to receive any co-operation. And we are just a little surprised that we can't secure or aren't given this co-operation. Of perhaps we say we can't explain why this individual or that individual feels as they do. We clear ourselves by explaining we haven't done a thing to make them think this way.

But when we make this statement, we aren't being honest. And if we will take time out and take a little inventory of the situation, we can readily see that we have not only failed to co-operate, we haven't even been honest and fair about a number of things.

And as a result, of course, we haven't given any co-operation and we are not in a position to request or expect any co-operation from the other fellow.

If we expect co-operation from others, then it is necessary that we first extend a little co-operation to the other fellow.—O.E.P.

A lot of the better things come to people who wait—on themselves.

Artesia Girl, Carlsbad Boy Get Scholarships

Selected from a large group of outstanding applicants, Gwendolyn Williams of Artesia and Joel Welch of Carlsbad have been awarded the two college scholarships given each year by International Minerals & Chemical Corporation. The awards were announced by G. T. Harley, chairman of the scholarship committee and manager of the potash division at Carlsbad.

Miss Williams is the daughter of Mrs. Leota Williams, an instructor in the Artesia schools and is a graduate of Artesia High School. She will receive the scholarship which is awarded each year to an Eddy County high school graduate whose parents are not connected with International.

Joel Welch is the son of Dudley P. Welch, foreman in the shipping department at International. One of the two awards each year is given to an employe or the son or daughter of an employe of International.

These awards are made on the basis of superior scholastic performance, high character, leadership ability and general citizenship. While the parents of the applicants may be gainfully employed, relative usefulness of the financial assistance which goes with the award is considered.

Because of the large number of applicants and the exceptionally high calibre of many of them, the committee was able to make the awards only after exhaustive study of their qualifications. In addition to consideration of the high school records and references of the applicants, the committee sought the assistance of the counseling and testing service of the University of New Mexico. Percentile rankings of the applicants in the tests given to all high school seniors in the state by the university were made available and were taken into consideration by the committee.

Members of the committee, other than Harley, are I P Murphy, superintendent of Carlsbad schools; R. N. Thomas, Eddy County superintendent of schools; Emery Carper, Artesia oil operator, who represents the service clubs of the county and Neil McKim, representing the personnel at International.

The scholarships provide $600 annually to each of the winners. This benefit is continued throughout a four-year college course, provided the awardee maintains a ranking in the top third at the college attended and continues to receive the recommendation of the faculty. The winners may attend any accredited institution in New Mexico which offers a bachelor's degree and may select any major course he or she desires.

Miss Williams plans to attend the University of New Mexico and major in speech, looking toward a career in radio. She was the Artesia entry in the statewide speech contest held this spring by the University of New Mexico and had leading roles in both the Junior Society, was assistant editor of the school and senior plays at her school. She is a member of the National Honor Society and has taken a prominent part in all school activities.

Welch expects to major in agricultural service or dairy husbandry and has selected New Mexico

Adjustments In Crop Acreage Is Seen For 1950

More protein and less starch is the food production pattern shaping up in the U.S. Department of Agriculture crop adjustment program for 1950, according to W. Leslie Martin of Artesia, chairman of the New Mexico Production and Marketing Administration Committee.

He points out that with huge crops of wheat and corn in prospect for 1949 and with the warehouses filled with cotton, there is a need to shift 30 million acres from the production of these and similar crops. If this acreage is used for the production of barley, oats or grain sorghums, or commercial vegetables, it will only add to the surpluses in these crops. To avoid trouble, about the only use for most of this land is to put it into grass and legumes.

This will mean putting some of the land that was plowed out of grass back into grass. Sod was broken to meet demands of war and postwar famine conditions in Europe but now there is a need to get some of this land back into sod. More grass and legumes are needed in corn and cotton rotations.

There is a need for increased production of livestock products but the bins and cribs and warehouses are full of corn, cotton and wheat. This obviously should indicate the adjustment in farming that is needed. But to accomplish such an adjustment in an orderly and equitable manner, the chairman points out, it may be necessary to have such things as acreage allotments and marketing quotas. Then, through the Agricultural Conservation Program assistance is provided to aid farmers in making the shift from the cash, one-season-return crops to the slower return type of livestock farming.

Pawtucket, R. I. (AFPS)—Police reported the story of a 10-year-old grammar school boy who came home for lunch, munched his sandwiches and topped the feast with a glass of liquid poured from a "ginger ale" bottle. Good Buy - all around FRIENDS gather, look over that long Fireball life as you have here.

They size up the broad windshield and narrow corner posts—and don't have to be told how these things step up "see-power."

They appraise the smart styling, the roomy interiors, the usability of luggage space—and agree you've made a buy.

But don't stop, please, with letting them look. Invite them in and introduce them to some of the special pleasures you'll know as a Buick owner.

Show them, for instance, how completely different Dynaflo Drive† is, with every mile cushioned by flowing oil and none of the rigid harshness of direct-drive cars.

Let them sample the matchless Buick ride, with all four wheels cradled on soft, coil springs and low-pressure tires made still easier-riding by extra-wide rims.

†Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on SUPER models.

Point out how solid this Buick feels. That's what you get from husky frames, low-swung weight, and power delivered through a torque-tube instead of the rear springs.

For the truth is, this Buick's a bargain on much, much more than you can see.

It's a big buy on the solid goodness a demonstration quickly makes plain. On increasingly favorable delivery dates. On attractive price. On the kind of "deal" your Buick dealer makes.

That's why we keep saying "Better see your Buick dealer—and get that order in promptly!"

BUICK alone has all these features

- Silk-smooth DYNAFLOW DRIVE* • FULL-VIEW VISION from enlarged glass area • SWING-EASY DOORS and easy access • "LIVING SPACE" INTERIORS with Deep-Cradle cushions • Buoyant-riding QUADRIFLEX COIL SPRINGING • Lively FIREBALL STRAIGHT-EIGHT POWER with SELF-SETTING VALVE LIFTERS plus HI-POISED ENGINE MOUNTINGS
- Low-pressure tires on SAFETY-RIDE RIMS • Cruiser-Line VENTIPORTS • DUREX BEARINGS, main and connecting rods • BODY BY FISHER

*Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on SUPER models.

When better automobiles are built BUICK will build them

Bugs In Cotton Are Showing Up, Says Ag Agent

Dallas Rierson, Eddy County extension agent, in sweeps made in North Eddy County cotton fields Wednesday, found that bugs are starting to show up and advised farmers to watch their fields closely.

By contrast with a week ago, when he found no bugs, he discovered that bollworms were showing up in numbers in nearly every cotton field checked.

Lygus and fleahoppers were found in some fields, but not in as great numbers as the bollworms. However, the county agent said, they are on the way and must be fought.

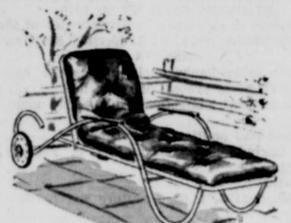

In advising farmers to keep a close watch on their fields, County Agent Rierson said that because of the presence of bollworms fields should be dusted with 10 per cent DDT and 40 per cent sulphur, which will kill all three of the pests.

He said 5 per cent of DDT will kill the lygus and fleahoppers, but is not strong enough to use on bollworms, so dust capable of killing them should be used. In so doing, he said, the lygus and fleahoppers will be kept in check.

The eighth-of-a-cent is the lowest revenue stamp sold; the half-cent is the lowest postage stamp.

New Mexico Boys Ranch Needs Pledges, Cash for Expansion Program

The Flying BF, New Mexico Boys Ranch, 17 miles south of Belen in Socorro County needs pledges and cash for a three-year expansion program.

The Boys Ranch is a concrete and practical approach to the reduction of juvenile delinquency through healthy life and training on a real ranch. Life on the almost 3,000 acres is now guiding 30 boys on the road to make it 100 boys—and to be good citizens. By 1952 they hope self-supporting.

Your Roswell neighbors are helping in the expansion. Bob Anderson of Malco is the general campaign chairman for Chaves County; Brig. Gen. Hugh Milton, N.M.M.I. is the steering committee chairman; Floyd Childress of the First National Bank is state vice chairman for the Southeastern district; Bill Deane is the chairman of the Special Gifts committee and F. Farmers' Share Of Food Dollar Lowest Since '43

Farmers recently have been getting less than half of each dollar spent by consumers for farm food products, for the first time since May 1943, the U.S. Department of Agriculture reported.

Farmers received only 49 cents out of each dollar spent for farm food products during April. This is the first time that the farmers' share has dropped below 50 cents since May, 1943. Preliminary estimates indicate it was about the same or fractionally lower in May. The farmers' share of the consumers' food dollar reached a peak of 55 cents several times between November, 1945, and January, 1948.

As compared with July, 1948, when the retail cost of a fixed quantity of food reached an all-time high, the retail price of a "market-basket" of foodstuffs had declined 8 per cent by April, 1949. The entire drop came out of the farm value, which shrunk 16 per cent. Marketing charges were at about the same level in April as they were last July; and only 4 per cent below the peak reached in May, 1948.

From April, 1948, to April, 1949, the farm value of the market basket went down 9 per cent, marketing charges went down 1 per cent and the retail cost went down 5 per cent. Retail prices of dairy products decreased 10 per cent; miscellaneous products, 12 per cent and meat products, 5 per cent.

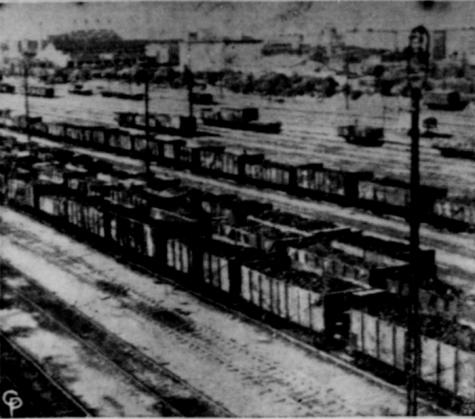

Dairy Income Prospects For U.S. Are Good

Heavy feeding and milk weather east of the Mississippi since last fall have enabled dairy farmers to get a record output per cow. Unless growing conditions turn out unusually bad, economists of the U.S. Department of Agriculture expect the output of milk to continue at much the same high rate the remainder of 1949. They think the total production may run well above last year and considerably more than before the war.

At the same time, folks in this country seem to be using only about the same amount of fluid milk and cream as last year, so more is going for the making of butter. Prices are running substantially lower than last year. Costs are down somewhat, too, but the economists figure cash receipts will fall more than costs. Net returns from dairy farming for the whole country seem likely to run less than last year. Of course, returns differ in different regions of the country. So far this year, prices for milk have run very much less than a year ago in the East North Central states, but very little less in the Pacific states.

With the price-support programs now in effect, wholesale prices of milk sold for manufacturing have been stable. Manufacturing outlets, however, usually return farmers somewhat lower average prices

STALLED BY NEW BERLIN BLOCKADE

LINES OF COAL CARS stand in a western Berlin rail yard after the U.S. and Britain suspended Anglo-American train service into western Berlin. The move stemmed from Russia's re-imposition of the blockade to the capital saying rail traffic would be halted until striking railroad workers end their walkout. The Reds attempted to hook engines to coal trains, but strikers jammed the switches. (International Radiophoto)

Near Record Crop Of Wheat Is In Nation's Prospect

The nation's wheat farmers are expected to pour nearly 1,337 million bushels of wheat into the world breadbasket when harvesting of the 1949 crop is completed this fall.

This second largest total production in history—only 2 per cent below the record 1947 crop—is forecast by the U.S. Department of Agriculture on the basis of conditions June 1. This is 15 million bushels more than estimated on May 1.

The increase is largely accredited to improved prospects in Nebraska, South Dakota, Iowa, Illinois, New York, Colorado, Idaho, Wyoming, Utah and Oregon.

Winter wheat production now indicated at 1037 million bushels, is being grown on a record acreage, but is 3 per cent below the record crop of 1947. It compares with the 1948 crop of 991 million bushels and the 1937-47 average of 726 million bushels.

More than 300 million bushels of spring wheat were in prospect as of June 1. Although only slightly more than the 1948 crop, this total exceeds the average by 13 per cent.

Harvest has started on the relatively small barley acreage. Yields are satisfactory so far and promising in the spring-sown area, indicating a total of 283 million bushels. Oats production from the larger than average acreage promises to approach 1.5 billion bushels. Rye will be harvested from the smallest acreage, except that of 1946, in 75 years, with an expected production of only 22 million bushels.

Hay yields are slightly above average and cutting of 101 million tons is indicated. Pastures are reported in well above average condition and uniformly good except in some dry areas in Florida, Montana and California.

Wife: "George, put down that paper. Ever since the baseball season started, we've had 11 people here for breakfast."

CPO: "Eleven?"

Wife: "Yes; you and me, and the Brooklyn Dodgers."

Teacher: "What tense is, 'I am beautiful'?"

Top-Kick, Jr.: "Past..."

He was perplexed over part of his GED test.

OIC: "Does that particular question bother you?"

Soldier: "No, sir, but the darned answer is giving me a lot of trouble."

Airman: "You have lived in this out-of-the-way place for thirty years? I can't see a thing around here that would keep you busy all that time."

Native: "Neither can I. That's why I live here."

The movie leads went into a seemingly endless clinch. As they pressed even closer together a childish voice stole the scene with: "Mama, is he putting the pollen on her now?"

Station staff, have found another alfalfa disease, a root and crown rot. They also have isolated the fungus, Fusarium spiani, which causes it.

New Disease Of Alfalfa Isolated In New Findings

Bacterial wilt has been considered the major disease of alfalfa in New Mexico for some time, but recent findings of Glenn State, associate agronomist and P. J. Leyendecker, plant pathologist, indicate that all the blame for diseased alfalfa should not be laid to wilt.

The two researchers, both of whom are members of the new Mexico A. & M. College Experiment Station staff, have found another alfalfa disease, a root and crown rot. They also have isolated the fungus, Fusarium spiani, which causes it.

The genus Fusarium is a common inhabitant of agricultural soils and causes damping off and wilts of many of the common field and vegetable crops. Some of the diseases caused by Fusarium species in New Mexico are cabbage yellows, chile wilt and Irish potato wilt.

Studies are now under way to determine the amount of inherent resistant which common alfalfa varieties and New Mexico Experiment station selections may possess.

What Makes Democracy Tick

Every Spring we have "Clean-up week" in our town and it sure gets the place up. Things like...

much the same system, only every week is "clean-up week." Through the Brewers' Self-Regulation Program, the Brewers and the tavern keepers co-operate in seeing to it that places selling beer and ale are kept clean and law-abiding (with no trash around).

From where I sit, that's real democracy at work—voluntarily co-operating and governing ourselves for the common good of everyone.

the same in many respects, they overlap and each is developed by the other. Confidence is the one great limit of a boy's ability because he rarely will do more than he thinks he can; and therefore, a team that is licked before it goes on the field, is licked beyond all doubt.

I want a fighting, aggressive football team playing heads-up, alert football. I do not mean that I want cheap threats, quarrelsomeness, ill temper or any ungentlemanly actions. The aggressive boy never waits for his opponent to make the first move, he takes the initiative and goes after his opponent with head tacking and blocking and respects respect he paid him. A team which usually has a lot of so-called "head back." It not only loses the game, but loses out in the smaller games.

I suppose to have an aggressive team if it only averages 100 pounds per boy? As far as weight, speed, mental intelligence and other mechanical requirements of the game are concerned, the Artesia team need not have to fear any opponent on the schedule. The question of intestinal fortitude, confidence, aggressiveness and football knowledge, is a matter which you will determine for yourselves and which these factors depend the success or failure of the season.

I am not looking for boys who will go out and die for Artesia, but I am looking for the boys who will go out and fight for the glory of Artesia High and themselves.

How about condition—if a boy is in the right physical condition, he cannot possess the above traits. His muscles are not hardened. He can't keep running if he has no endurance. He cannot be confident if he knows deep in his heart that he cannot do his job, because of physical limitations. All other things being equal, the success of a team is directly dependent upon the physical power and mental strength of its personnel. Only the best of condition can wear and tear of a football season. Boys out of condition are a negative asset to the team—obstacles as temporary obstacles to the successful development of a team until the law of the survival of the fittest enters in—and the fittest in spirit fall by the wayside.

A properly conditioned team is a team that I am certain that endurance, strength and stamina will be gained in a short strenuous training season. I like year-round systematic training, because it allows the individual fully as much rest as it does the work. It means to him health—vigor, vigorous, exhilarating insurance against disease, assurance of happiness, enjoyment of life. Maintaining health is like maintaining a car. It requires continuous, regular, not spasmodic or haphazard efforts, in the right direction.

Effort— (Continued from Page One) They cannot spend the entire day breaking the laws of physics and expect to be at his school when he returns to school for the next season. A football player must take care of himself continuously and if he fails to do so he is handicapping the team, the school, and himself.

Efforts at Artesia High School may be more intensive than has been in recent years. This does not mean that you will have sweeping reforms, innovations or revolutions; but it is a statement that we will follow the same policies as those of other high schools. Football has been consistent. You will not be surprised if you find that it is hard and not too much fun. It will be taken.

you will fall out with it and the sooner, the better.

We shall try not to make football monotonous, but when something is to be done, we will insist upon 100 per cent concentration upon the problem at hand to the exclusion of all other considerations, except your studies.

That brings up one more point: The boy who is mentally alert in the classroom will be mentally alert on the field. You can count on the coaches doing their part as well as they can. Let all of us down to the last student assistant manager begin now to build up a spirit that will not be satisfied with anything but success. If we all start right now with this idea in mind, a big year is ahead for us—let's have it! With best wishes for a happy, healthful and successful season. Sincerely, Coach Tinson.

Public Service Names Love To Personnel Post

EDGAR W. LOVE

The appointment of Edgar W. Love, formerly of Amarillo, Texas, as personnel and safety supervisor of the Pecos Valley division of the Southwestern Public Service Company, has been announced by Henry E. Samson, division manager. Love's headquarters will be in the Roswell offices of the company.

Love is a graduate of the University of Kansas, where he was awarded a bachelor of science degree in business and personnel management. Prior to his transfer to Roswell, he was employed in the system safety and personnel department of the Southwestern Public Service Company at Amarillo. Love served in the Marine Corps during the war and continues to hold a reserve commission as a first lieutenant.

Mrs. Love and their young son will move to Roswell as soon as the new resident has found a home for them.

Effort— (Continued from Page One) the like. In other words, Bagwell said, as long as a farmer carries on in a workmanship way he is covered. Likewise, he said, the insurance is in effect from the time the seed is placed in the ground until the lint cotton is hauled from the field.

The association field man said it is felt conditions are favorable for Eddy County getting the program in 1950. The efforts, he said, must go through the U. S. Department of Agriculture in Washington. And he added that all members of the New Mexico congressional delegation have been quite co-operative and are working to the end that Eddy County may be included.

Officers of the Pecos Valley Farmers Association: President, G. G. Armstrong, Roswell; vice president, J. P. White, Roswell; secretary-treasurer, Artie McAnally, Artesia and other directors, Draper Brantley, Carlsbad and Bill Langenegger, Hagerman.

A visit to Lady Dee Craft House will show some of the activities carried on in nature study. Girl Scouts are making a permanent collection in nature to be left at Camp Mary White for future reference. Attractive plaques, candle holders, belts, tie holders and other things are being made from the different woods found on the camp site.

In craft work, the girls are making reflector ovens, soap trays, decorative articles and many other useful things from tin cans. Tumbling and archery are two other favorite activities.

Aw Chute, I'm Blushin'

McAlester, Okla. (AFPS)—After a bit of redesigning recently, a stock of surplus Air Force parachutes were employed in the rescue of 150 women in distress at the Oklahoma State Penitentiary. Prison matrons had reported grave shortage of women's undergarments. So when Warden Clarence Burford heard of an Air Force sale, he dispatched an agent to purchase 300 nylon chutes—two for each of the women prisoners. Then the matron held sewing classes.

And now, although the women are wearing parachute unmentionables, nobody has bailed out yet.

WHICH CAME FIRST—THE EGG OR THE SPOON?

Providence, R. I. (AFPS)—This is no yoke, fellah! It's fact. Thirty-five years ago in a hotel at Gary, Ind., a young waiter stood before a diner. The waiter tapped and egg with a spoon and the contents splattered the diner.

"Why don't one of you guys invent an egg spoon that can crack an egg properly?" he yelled.

Now eight models and 7,000 eggs later, the waiter, Jesse Mars, thinks he is approaching the answer. His spoon has a knife-like blade that cracks eggs neatly and with dispatch.

KID-LOVING LANDLORD STARTS A NEW VOGUE

Gloversville, N. Y. (AFPS)—The "age of miracles" has not passed, at least in Gloversville.

Landlord Lew Brott recently advertised his five-room flat for rent this way: $70 for adults; $67.50 for adults and one child; $65 for adults and two children; $62.50 for adults and three children; and a flat $60 for a family with four children.

Brott explains his ad this way. "Alcoholic stains and cigaret burns do damage. Dirty little finger marks wipe off."

"You know, I've been having trouble sleeping lately?"
"How is that?"

"I don't know. I sleep pretty good at night, and in the early morning too, but in the afternoons I just twist and turn."

Son: "Pop, what is the person called who brings you in contact with the spirit world?"
Pa: "A bartender, son."

Daffynition of the Week—Lipstick is something that merely adds color and flavor to an old pastime.

New Selling System Aids Hog Producers

Price Agreed Upon Right in The Pen

Under a new system of selling hogs, buyers and salesmen at the markets agree on the price right in the pen before the hogs are weighed. Thus the old weight-schedule is being replaced by a new system of marketing. The buyer is given a chance to recognize quality and buy a premium for good hogs.

The quality of this Chester White sow and litter is apparent even to the casual observer; but under the old weight-schedule of selling hogs, breeders who produce such quality stock would receive nothing extra for the added time and care they had expended to bring their hogs to such a degree of excellence.

The reason advanced for increased interest in marketing is that the weight-schedule system fails to recognize the difference between hogs. It also fails to pay for true quality.

Under the old schedule-selling, salesmen and buyers at a market would agree in the morning how many hogs each buyer would get. A schedule of process was set up according to weight. "Hogs was hogs" and the scales determined the price.

But that system is gradually being abandoned. Under the old method, farmers judged probable market prices by estimating the weight of their hogs. A premium of 50 cents per hundredweight was considered unusual at the market although the real value of hogs of the same weight varies as much as $5 or $6 per animal. Such premiums offered poor pay to the expert producer who raises top quality hogs worth more money.

Insemination By Artificial Means Making Strides

Artificial insemination of dairy cattle, recognized as one of the greatest production-improvement aids ever developed for owners of both small and large herds, is now operating in every state. Nearly two and a half million cows are enrolled in artificial-breeding associations this year, the U.S. Department of Agriculture announced.

New Mexico has one artificial-breeding association at the present time with 700 cows enrolled for service.

A report issued by the Bureau of Dairy Industry shows that almost 2000 bulls are now giving service to 316,177 herds in 1263 artificial-breeding associations throughout the nation. The rapid growth of the program is shown by the increase over 1948 of 91,684 or 40.8 per cent, in number of herds and 668,833 or 38.4 per cent, in number of cows.

Wisconsin, with 420,966 cows enrolled for service is high state this year and has led all states for nine consecutive years. New York is second with 253,785. The next six in rank are: Pennsylvania, 195,090; Iowa, 176,646; Minnesota, 175,509; Ohio, 139,314; Illinois, 129,502 and Michigan, 120,550. Twelve other states have an enrollment of more than 25,000 cows.

Forehand Urges Grass Instead Of Surpluses

"Instead of piling up wasteful surpluses in cribs, bins, cellars or warehouses, why not store them in the soil?" asks Roy Forehand, chairman of the Eddy County Agricultural Conservation Committee, who points out crop reports now indicate that when the crops are harvested this fall there may be actual surpluses in a number of major crops.

And in most cases, the chairman said, there is no relief in turning to some other cash crop. Almost without exception shift of a few acres by many farmers will result in surpluses of the other crops.

As the chairman explains, most farmers can't afford it and it is not the national interest to leave the land idle, as it grows up to weeds and becomes a menace to the remainder of the farm land. About the only alternative is to seed the land to adapted grasses and legumes, thus building up the soil for future production. And the grass that holds the soil and builds up humus, at the same time can furnish feed for the livestock and livestock products which are still needed.

Forehand makes these observations in urging farmers to consider carefully the problems which may make adjustments necessary to keep agriculture "on an even keel." Too often, he explains, lower prices result in increased production of crops already in surplus in the effort to meet fixed costs. It results in a vicious circle of increased surpluses, lower prices and reduced income until the farmer is finally forced out. Production in line with consumer needs should be the goal instead of using soil fertility, seed, fertilizers, labor and equipment to turn out excess feed and fiber.

Through the Agricultural Conservation Program, the chairman explains, farmers may obtain assistance in seeding grasses and legumes and in obtaining lime, phosphate and potash to improve growing conditions for these conserving crops.

50 STRATOFREIGHTERS BEING MADE FOR THE AF

Seattle, Wash. (AFPS)—A fleet of 50 C-97A Stratofreighters is being constructed here for the Air Force.

The huge double-deck transport planes will have a total payload capacity of 2,270,000.

The Stratofreighter has been approved to operate with a gross weight of 148,000 pounds, an increase of 5,500 pounds over the former model, and will have a normal payload of 45,400 pounds. The first of the new series of cargo planes is now nearing completion.

National Study Of Traffic Is To Be Made In Duke City

Albuquerque is to be the guinea pig for an all-out national study of the many-sided problem of traffic. The effort will be unique in its broad, integrated coverage and use of modern fact-finding techniques as a means of solving immediate and long range traffic problems.

Specific recommendations are to be made for easing the flow of traffic and increasing safety. Some of the numerous field studies required are already under way, with the study proper beginning this summer. The work will be completed within a year.

Maximum Use Of Range Land Is Ultimate Aim

Maximum use of range land on a sustained yield basis is the aim of the grazing land management practice under the 1949 Agricultural Conservation Program, says Larry Emerson, ACP committeeman in charge of range conservation work for Eddy County.

Emerson said the program is set up to help ranchers get more from their range land, not less. Ranchers co-operating in the program believe that it is good business to reduce the number of livestock if too much of the feed on the range goes into maintaining numbers instead of putting on weight.

The experience of ranchers is supported by experimental results which show that when numbers of livestock are brought into balance with the amount of feed, the amount of meat produced is increased even though it may mean a reduction in numbers.

Emerson explained that "balance" means using the range so that it will continue to protect the soil from erosion and continue to produce palatable and nutritious feed year after year. In many instances this means leaving 50 per cent of the plant growth above the ground to go to seed and to store plant food in the roots for vigorous growth the next year.

The chairman explained that an understanding of range conditions and key species of grass makes it possible for experienced ACP committeemen and ranchers to determine a fair balance of stocking—the number of cattle or sheep that should be allowed to graze on a given area of range land for a given time.

Reseeding of range grasses, development of water holes for livestock, deferred grazing and other practices of the Agricultural Conservation Program all fit into the range improving and range maintaining effort, the chairman explained. Important byproducts are the protection of watersheds, increasing water supplies and checking flood damage.

All Counties Are Invited To Enter NM State Fair

An easy way for every county in the state to pick up at least $25 or as much as $100 was announced by Leon H. Harms, secretary-manager of the New Mexico State Fair.

To get in on this easy money, a county has only to enter the State Fair county booth competition. It is the only division of the fair that guarantees each exhibit at least $25 for merely entering. Top prize for the contest is $100, with five other places each receiving more than the $25 guarantee.

"While the prize money makes the contest worth entering," Harms said, "the advertising and promotion value to be received through the county exhibits being seen by hundreds of thousands of persons offers an added incentive."

Harms pointed out that each year most counties spend hundreds or even thousands of dollars in advertising their county as a desirable place to live or do business.

"Yet many of them pass up the opportunity to place their message before the largest audience in the state—the thousands of visitors to the state fair," he said. "The guarantee of $25 usually covers the expense involved in erecting an exhibit, therefore, the counties are being offered extremely valuable free publicity."

Last year only 17 counties entered exhibits, although there is sufficient room in the agricultural building to house booths from every one of the state's 32 counties. Eddy County's booth was judged best in the 1948 show.

grasshoppers and slightly higher amounts may be necessary late in the season when most of the grasshoppers are adults and vegetation is maturing. The amount should be carefully adjusted, as too much material increases the danger of residues, but too little may not prevent crop losses.

Directions For Using 'Hopper Poisons Given

Farmers using either of the new grasshopper insecticides, chlordane or toxaphene, are urged by County Agent Dallas Rierson to make correct use of them for best results.

They must be applied properly, at the right time and in the right places to be effective, says Rierson. Roadsides, canal banks, ditches, field margins or idle lands bordering cultivated fields should be sprayed or dusted before the young hoppers begin to move off the hatching grounds. Grasshoppers that damage row crops usually hatch in the field margins and timely spraying or dusting will destroy them before they move into the fields.

When 'hoppers overrun an entire alfalfa field, it is usually cheaper in the long run to cut the alfalfa and then use the chlordane or toxaphene to protect the next cutting, the county agent said. This avoids dangerous residues. Spray or dust the next crop when the vegetation is 6 to 10 inches high. Spraying seems to be a little more effective than dusting.

When sprays are used, one pound of chlordane or one and a half pounds of toxaphene will cover an acre. When using dusts, use one and a half pounds of chlordane or two pounds of toxaphene per acre. Slightly lower dosages are effective against newly hatched

BUTTON BUSINESS BOOMS

New York (AFPS)—The influx of the zipper and snap fasteners, as well as the safety pin, apparently hasn't hurt the button business in this country.

There are about 10 billion buttons manufactured annually in the United States. That's 70 buttons for each man, woman, and child in the nation.

The correspondent and her husband went to Cloudcroft recently to pick fruit. As they entered Mountain Park, they heard shots which sounded like shotguns. Said Mrs. Shields, "We went to E. E. Cadwallader's home to inquire where to go for the fruit. We noted on his porch a large elk head mounted. He told us his son, John, had killed the elk some time ago in the northern part of New Mexico. The antlers measured 54 inches. Cadwallader said they were close to record that had been killed, the antlers measuring 60 inches. As we entered the orchard, where he had directed us, there was an object hanging from a tree, painted in minimum. It was about the size of a six-inch stovepipe and approximately 15 inches long. Being very curious, we tried to find a name for it, to see just what it was. Not finding the name, we just walked a few feet away from it when it went off. Cadwallader told us later was a carbide gun, used for the protection of their orchards. He said his father had seen as many as 1500 wild pigeons in his orchards one time. What fruit they did not eat, they knocked off with their wings, because they flutter their wings as they eat. At the present time, there are a great many wild pigeons there. These guns were used before the war, but they were unable to get them until last month. They are automatic and can be set to go off as often as 15 times in five minutes. They are turned on at daybreak and turned off at dark. The water adjustment is set to drop into the carbide, which forms a gas and they shoot out the side of the gun, making a loud noise. They are harmless, but when it went off a few feet behind us, not expecting it, you can imagine our reactions."

Scientists are proposing the use of radioactive energy in preparing paper money. That won't make it harder to get, but it'll make a leaner for counterfeiters. Radioactive dyes are injected into silkworms. This amuses the silkworms so much they spin out radioactive silk and bits of silk are used in making our paper wampum. Cashiers can slide a money under a Geiger counter and if radioactivity is present the meter clicks. So if the treasury prints money that doesn't click with the meter it won't click with the thief. Don't worry about radioactive burns. Nobody'll have that much money.

Lassie, Appearing In 'Sun Comes Up,' Speaks Out

(MGM's famed Collie star, Lassie, appearing at the Landman Theater Sunday through Tuesday with Jeanette McDonald in "The Sun Comes Up," speaks—or barks—a few words about a film dog's life.)

By LASSIE
First, I want to go on record that I am definitely a boy dog. My face gets red every time I hear someone call me Lassie.

Lassie, indeed! I was born Pal. I'd like it to be known and am the father of numerous litters of puppies of whom I am paternally proud. One of my sons, you may recall, appeared with me in "Son of a Gun," another was my stand-in in "Bill of Home."

I suppose Rudd Weatherwax, my master and a fine fellow even though he does permit me to go through life pretending I'm a female, decided to change my name from Pal to Lassie when I was offered my first acting role by MGM in the story, "Lassie Come Home."

Well, with that off my mind I'll tell you a little about myself. I was born in North Hollywood on June 8 seven years ago. I'm not one of those stars ashamed of his age. In fact, last June the company "The Sun Comes Up," my latest picture, gave me a birthday party with a cake and seven candles on it. I got sore paws from signing photographs for everybody.

I got into the movies by a trick of my paw, I suppose. I'm told that for the first two years of my life I was an ordinary pooch, slightly unruly. I had the bad habit of chasing motorcycles and so the man who owned me took me to Mr. Weatherwax's Dog Training School.

My pal in "The Sun Comes Up," what a fine fellow he is. We had many a good time together between scenes in the Grand where we went on location. He's a real boy, that Claude. I could go on indefinitely about my life.

Wheat Champions

The wheat, which Victor Rasmussen is holding, is a sample of the crop from the 2,000 acres of land, which is owned jointly by these two men and their brother, who was too busy farming last year to get in the picture.

The Rasmussens' wheat, which they raised last winter of the Cache County with a test weight of 64 pounds per bushel, took first place in the 5th annual Philip W. Pillsbury contest for the best United States wheat raised in 1943. The grain was judged with 27 samples from 20 states when the judging was held in Minneapolis.

The Rasmussens rotate their 4,000-acre crop on 4,000 acres of un-irrigated land. They are the sons of P. Rasmussen, who won the national Pillsbury award in 1938.

Check May Answer The Drain Puzzle

Unirrigated land is slow in absorbing the organic matter of your soils before blamming the system. Many tile lines installed well when originally installed have become clogged because the water can't get through the soil. You open your soil and drainage when you grow deep-rooted legumes and put back straw, manure and manure.
