Medalist Bullock Takes 20 Holes To Stay In Race

In the second rounds of play in the 1949 city golf tournament Sunday, going into the semi-finals, Bill Bullock, medalist, defeated Bob Bergman 1-up on the 20th hole, in the most hotly contested game of the tourney to date. Bob Bourland, defending champion, won over John Short 5-4 to reach the semi-finals. Bullock will next play A. W. Herral, the 1948 runner-up, who on Sunday defeated Jack Fauntleroy 3-1. Bourland's semi-final opponent has not been determined as Harry Jones and Cliff Loyd, matched in the quarter-finals, did not play Sunday. They must play off their match no later than Saturday and the winner will meet Bourland, while the loser will play Short in the semi-finals for consolation of the championship flight. Fauntleroy and Bergman will play the other semi-final game for consolation. Results of the first-flight quarter-finals: Floyd Springer over Doyle Hankins, 1-up on the 18th; Charles Murphy over Fritz Crawford, 4-3; Bill Angley over Luther E. Sharpe, 1-up; C. A. Baker over Stanley Sutton, 2-up. Springer will meet Murphy and Angley will meet Baker in the first-flight semi-finals and Hankins will meet Crawford and Sharp will meet Sutton in the semi-finals for consolation in the flight. Charts at the Artesia Country Club show three of four quarter-final games played in the second flight, two each in the third and fourth flights and none in the fifth. According to the charts, the results of those games were: Second flight: Same Laughlin over Curtis Bolton, 3-1; Tom Mayfield over Jack Holcomb 1-up on the 19th; Jim Miller over Ed Ward, 3-3.

Blast In Police Car On Friday Tosses Cops Out

Three of the Artesia cops nearly needed some cops or somebody else to take care of them Friday afternoon, when they were blown out of one of the patrol cars from a gas explosion. Chief Earl D. Westfall and Patrolman M. E. Smith and "Dutch" Akard found themselves blown out of the patrol car near the disposal plant, all dazed and singed, but none seriously injured. When they recovered and realized there had been some sort of explosion, they discovered several fires in the interior of the car, which they extinguished by throwing dirt on the blazes. It was later determined that in the installation of the radio-telephone in the car, a long bolt when screwed down had punctured the gasoline tank, allowing fumes to escape. It is believed the car filled with the fumes, which the officers had been smelling and that a spark from the radio or some part of the electric system had touched it off. There was no fire in or at the gasoline tank. Chief Westfall said the same car was used on the hunt in the Sacramento Mountains Tuesday night of last week, when gas fumes were smelled and that had there been a similar explosion while they were driving at a considerable speed on the mountain roads, a bad accident might have resulted. Or even worse than that, the explosion might have happened several hours earlier on Friday while the editor was riding with the chief!

Rev. McGuffin said a pastor cannot be minister to 500 or 600 people, that he must have leadership and that in the program being carried on that leadership is being developed.

Fully Prepared In airplane lingo the term "fasten your safety belt" means just one thing. But, to a portly man traveling from Denver to Kansas City, it meant another. On the take-off, the hostess told the passengers to "fasten your safety belts." But the heavy-set man didn't move. The next time she spoke directly to him, "please, fasten your safety belt." "Don't have to," he replied. "Wearing suspenders." A Short Short Customer: "Have you a book entitled 'Man, the Master of the House'?" They say she got her looks from her mother—who owns a beauty parlor. Our lips were close It had been fast My heart held doubts About your past. I held you off And gave you up You lip-stick stained White coffee cup!

Dangerous Falls May Be Prevented

One out of every 100 farm men is injured from some form of dis-easing accident while only three out of every 100 women were so injured in 1948, says Miss Veda...

"But that doesn't mean the rate for women's accidents cannot rise," she continues. "We all know better than to climb on a rickety chair to get a vase from the top shelf..."

Most of them could be prevented if folks didn't take chances. "If you have stairways, inspect them first," Miss Strong says.

Your trip to California in Santa Fe Chair Cars costs less than by automobile...

It's hard to believe (till you figure it out for yourself)

Even when you divide the cost among two people—the cost is still less per person via Santa Fe chair car.

Remember too, you can enjoy famous Fred Harvey meals when you travel Santa Fe.

Just add up the cost of driving your car to California—gas, oil, depreciation and night's lodgings (to say nothing of wear and tear on yourself)—and you'll see for yourself!

And that isn't all! After arriving in Los Angeles, you can travel to San Diego on your round-trip ticket via Santa Fe at no extra cost! Just tell the ticket agent you want it that way.

You'll like traveling in Santa Fe chair cars, too! Carefree clothing is the popular way to dress, and you have comfortable dressing rooms to freshen up whenever you please so that you can enjoy every minute of your trip along the scenic route to California.

Loan Program For Storage Has Been Broadened

Loans to farmers under the government's storage construction program may now be made on "immovable" storage, Roy Forehand, chairman of the Eddy County Agricultural Conservation Committee, said. Such loans will be made to finance new construction or additions to existing immovable facilities. An "immovable" facility, according to Forehand, means one which is so permanent that it cannot be removed without demolishing it. Each loan on immovable storage must be approved by the State Production and Marketing Administration Committee before a storage loan commitment is issued, Forehand said. The committee will review the application before any title search is started.

Loans to farmers for the construction of farm storage facilities are available to any tenant, landlord, including one who rents his land on a cash-rental basis; owner-operator or partnership of producers having an interest in the production and storage of corn, wheat, rye, oats, barley, grain sorghums, soybeans, flaxseed, rice, dry edible beans, dry peas and peanuts. In the case of loans to tenants, the property on which the immovable storage is to be located must be under an assignable long-term lease which will run for at least 10 years beyond maturity of the loan. The lease must also permit the construction or else the owner of the land must give his written consent to the construction. Loans under the government's farm storage program will be available in all areas through June 30, 1950. Producers are encouraged to obtain their loans from approved lending agencies. Direct loans will be made by the Commodity Credit Corporation only if the applicant cannot or does not wish to obtain credit from other sources. The loans will be for terms up to five years, payable in annual installments. The interest rate is 4 per cent. The maximum amount of loans shall be 45 cents per bushel of the rated capacity of the storage facility, or 85 per cent of the cost, whichever is the smaller. Each loan on immovable storage must be secured by a first mortgage or deed of trust or, in certain cases, by a second mortgage. No second mortgages, however, will be accepted on immovable storage structures not located on farms. The cost of title search and recording of documents will be borne by the borrower. Full details concerning these loans and application forms may be obtained from the county committee. ACP Provides Many Practices Of Conservation

Rather than any prescribed program to be followed alike by all co-operators, the Agricultural Conservation Program provides assistance on a number of practices which will fit into the conservation needs of individual farmers. Farmers of Eddy County, therefore, need not wait until the 1950 Agricultural Conservation Program is announced before planning their own conservation programs for next year, says Roy Forehand, chairman of the county committee. He points out that many farmers are already planning the conservation work they will carry out next year.

As the chairman explains, each farmer knows the conservation problems on his farm. If too much of the topsoil is being washed off the slopes or if yields are going down on a particular piece of land, he can plan his practices now as well as next winter to correct the difficulties. Forehand advises each farmer to check his farm carefully for signs of erosion and deterioration and then to plan to use the Agricultural Conservation Program accordingly. As the chairman puts it, "The program has been effective in getting better conservation practices introduced and carried out on a majority of the farms in the county, there still is room for improvement. The farmer can use the program most effectively if he plans his conservation practices to meet the most important needs of his farm. All of the conservation practices approved for Eddy County may be needed on a particular farm, but the ones most needed should be used first."

Adding Sunshine to the Sunshine State

Mr. G. Ward Fenley, who would be a columnist than a professor at the University of New Mexico, both of which he is, for several years has been having fun reading the newspapers of New Mexico, looking for typographical howlers, wasscracks, off-the-cuff ooms and editorial blarbs and wearing them into a weekly effort which he has uncolorfully dubbed "The New Mexico Weekly Newsletter." After threatening Doc Fenley a number of times that The Advocate would sometime join his growing family of free subscribers, here we go. After all, The Advocate is getting ready to publish twice a week and we have to have something with which to fill space. Seriously, we believe our readers will enjoy this column, especially after several weeks, in which they will pick up the continuity of some of his remarks, which we are entitled to call "Adding Sunshine to the Sunshine State."—A.L.E.

By G. WARD FENLEY
Everything in New Mexico is according to New Mexico journalists, great, spectacular, colorful and picturesque. Djever glance through one week of Land of Enchantment publications looking for their musical extravaganzas?

The Carlsbad Current-Argus had an article saying it was improper to simply say: "The Southwest." The vogue nowadays is to use a descriptive, qualifying adjective that cannot be cut off from the noun. The spectacular southwest, the colorful southwest, the great southwest, the picturesque southwest.

That's what The Raton Range had in mind when a careful of Amerrillans rode shivering into Raton last week. The editor explained that it was simply a typical, hot, summer day for Raton.

That's what "L. B." in the Silver City Enterprise was talking about when he grew eloquent: "Here we have wealth inexhaustible, our days are packed with sunshine, our nights are full of the cool air from the pines, cedars and pines in the mountains, our windows provide us pleasant sleep in summer's hottest weather."

That's what made Arletta Coleman wonder if a telephone operator were not dreaming of cool, comfortable, hospitable Hot Springs, New Mexico—when a long distance call was inadvertently routed to our Hot Springs instead of Hot Springs, Arkansas.

Faith Restored in Chambers of Commerce
Ralph Blagden (Las Vegas Optic) says that he is full to the brim on Chamber of Commerce blarbs that had St. Louis and New York as model places to spend summers. "Anyone," writes Ralph, "who has ever been to either of the spots in August is compelled to spit out ashes and burning embers, or have his tonails cauterized."

At present, in cool Santa Fe, Ralph says he is suffering from a guilt complex and threatening to dress himself in sackcloth and ashes every time he thinks of those poor deluded souls back in St. Louis and New York.

On the Other Side of the Fence
Albert Cross of Roswell, on the other hand, has not imbibed freely of the Pecos River fluid. He says he is sick and sore of hearing natives of New Mexico vow and declare that "such and such never happens here."

"It never gets cold in New Mexico," a native told Albert.
Last winter, wrote Albert, it got down to 15 below.
"It rarely ever snow here," a New Mexican told Albert.
"That was feet of white stuff, last winter," says Albert, "wasn't ours meal."

"It never rains in New Mexico." "No comment," says Albert, after recent waterpouts.
And last week, for the Roswell-Big Spring game, baseball fans showed up with overcoats on—in the waning of July—and in Roswell.

"Our conclusion," concluded Albert, "is that anything can happen in New Mexico's weather—and usually does."
Effects of the Warm Weather
A guy named Anonymous wrote one of these "wub-I-was-some-where-else" poems:
"I wish I were beneath a tree
Or sailin' in a boat,
With all the bills I have to pay —paid
I wish I were beside a sea
Or sailin' in a boat,
With all the things I have to write —wrote.
I wish I were on yonder hill
A-baskin' in the sun,
With all the work I have to do —done."

Initiated
It is getting to the point where, like Texas, if something is not big enough—it will be in a few seconds—if you'll just wait around in New Mexico.

Will Harrison boasted last week: "Iowa had the wingless chicken; Ringling Brothers had a two-headed calf; New Mexico had a lawsuit without a plaintiff." He was writing about the famous primary referendum petitions validity suit.

Jim Elliott of The Raton Range reports an epidemic of catnappers. Someone catnapped his kitten, "Snoopy." Jim identified him for searchers by saying that if Snoopy were called he would (1) come to you; (2) stand still and pretend he doesn't hear you; (3) shin up a tree or (4) run like the dickens.

And in Conclusion
That's all this week except to tell you that Paul McEvoy's Roswell got the jump on Jack Sittin's Carlsbad population figures when Mrs. George Gonzales gave birth to twin girls last week—her fifth child in 27 months. That's the way we do things in New Mexico—big time.

Sunstroke And Heatstroke Go With Summer

Heat sickness and sunstroke are responsible for the loss of many lives each summer, commented County Agent Dallas Rierson. With high temperatures during the rush of harvesting, it is easy to be overcome by several forms of heat illness.

Sunstroke results from prolonged exposure to the rays of the sun. Heatstroke may result from excessive heat without exposure to the sun. The effects are the same in both cases and may in some instances prove fatal. Some of the symptoms that may appear are hot and dry skin, face red and flushed, high temperature, intense headache, breathing hard and loud, pupils enlarged but of equal size and unconsciousness may follow in severe cases.

The National Safety Council recommends the following suggestions for treatment when an individual is stricken with sunstroke or heatstroke, Rierson says:
Move to a cool shady place, strip to the underclothing, lay on back with head and shoulders raised.
Apply ice or cold cloths to head, cool the body gradually with a cool bath or wrap the person in a sheet, and sprinkle with cool water. Gently rub limbs toward the heart.

After treating for several minutes, stop and observe patient. If skin becomes hot again, resume treatment.
If conscious, give cool drinks, not ice cold. Do not give stimulants.
Get the patient to a physician or hospital as soon as possible. Continue treatment en route.

The symptoms of heat exhaustion are quite different than those of sunstroke or heatstroke. With heat exhaustion, the skin of the patient is cold and clammy. A simple rule may serve as a guide and avoid confusion regarding treatment. Briefly, it is this: If the patient is cold, keep him in reclined position, give him salt and make him warm; if he is hot, raise his head and shoulders and make him cool.

CRASH SURVIVAL MAY BE A CINCH IN THE FUTURE
Buffalo, N. Y. (AFPS)—In the not too distant future air and auto passengers may travel in complete safety, confident they will survive any crash which may occur.
It's simply a matter of proper design, says the Cornell Aeronautical Laboratory.
"We know that the human body is capable of taking tremendous jolts provided there is uniform distribution of the shock of impact," said Edward Dye, head of the laboratory's development division.

"Crash resistance in airplanes or autos," he said, "is a matter of engineering a cockpit or compartment. And what we've been trying to do for two years is isolate the basic engineering principles involved in this."

The three principles discovered by the laboratory are: Design an auto or airplane cockpit that will not let the body move very far forward in a crash; see that there are no projections to cause concentration of force, and absorb part of the shock energy with light metal sheets and some spongy substance.

'Blonde From Bashful Bend' Stars Grable

Latest in the long line of well-balanced screen menus from Twentieth Century-Fox is the new Technicolor comedy, "The Beautiful Blonde from Bashful Bend," which stars the nation's number one feminine star, Betty Grable, in the title role and opens Tuesday at the Landsun Theater. Written, directed and produced by Preston Sturges, this unusual picture has been acclaimed by reviewers as one of the most hilarious comedies ever produced in Hollywood.

Mixing elements of a musical, a western and a comedy in generous portions, the film casts Betty as a temperamental, trigger-happy heroine who gets herself in and out of trouble of all kinds with the greatest of ease. Betty "sells" two songs in the patented Grable manner and displays those famed Grable gams in gorgeous outfits especially created for the picture. Cast as a cafe entertainer who, because of her proficiency with her six-shooters, has to switch her identity to that of an innocent school teacher, Betty manages to elude the long arm of the law. But the guise of the school-marm does not last and Betty ends up in the thick of one of the most suspenseful—and hilarious—gunfights ever brought to the screen. The cast of "The Beautiful Blonde from Bashful Bend" is headed by Cesar Romero, Rudy Vallee and Olga San Juan and includes Sterling Holloway, Hugh Herbert, El Brendel, Porter Hall and Pati Behrs. The screen play is based on a story by Earl Felton.

work and business management work, he returned to New Mexico and bought one of the finest farms in the Pecos Valley. He is and has been a successful cotton and vegetable grower.

Loco Hills News

(Mrs. Earl Smith)

Mrs. Alvin Bland has received word of the marriage of her sister, Miss Iva Belle Arnold, formerly of Loco Hills, but now of Indianapolis, Ind., to James Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Allen of Indianapolis. The wedding was late June.

Three adults, two children and a baby were miraculously saved from death when a car driven by Mrs. George James of Maljamar left the highway about nine miles west of Loco Hills Monday afternoon of last week, during a sudden rain squall. The car skidded and turned over twice and landed upright in a ravine near a bridge. Cordell Smith, 11, was left in the car. Mrs. George James and baby; Mrs. Floyd Doughty and son, Loyd and Mrs. Earl Smith were thrown under the car. They were all able to get out and were taken to Artesia to doctors by Mr. and Mrs. Norman Krouskop and son, who were passing and saw the wreck. The car was badly damaged in the back and rear glass were broken. Mrs. Doughty and Mrs. James were treated for severe cuts on their legs. All occupants were shaken, badly bruised and shocked and all have minor cuts, but otherwise are all right. The women were on their way to a pink and blue shower given for Mrs. Morris Doughty in Old Loco at the home of Mrs. Junior Wadkins.

Knorr, New GOP State Chairman, Has Local Ties

JOHN W. KNORR

John W. Knorr, Chaves County farmer, who recently was elected Republican state chairman, is closely connected with Artesia, for his wife is a former Artesia girl, his son, Jack Knorr, is an Artesia resident and he himself is a former Eddy County farm agent.

Mrs. Knorr is a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Brainard, prominent rural residents of southeast of Artesia. Mr. Brainard died last year and Mrs. Brainard several years ago.

The Republican chairman has been a resident of New Mexico since he was a boy, when, in 1906, he came to Farmington in San Juan County. After graduating from Farmington High School, he attended New Mexico A. & M. College, from which he graduated in 1913.

He was one of the first county agents in New Mexico and served in Eddy County. Later, in 1918-20, he was in charge of county agent work in New Mexico, covering the entire state.

we are supposed to be attracted in your car—and here's hoping that you will not need to use it.

A flashlight also is a must.

Two of this month's historical Items are certain to bring only a disinterested "Yeah?" from present-day students: In 1899 the

If your vacation includes boat-sink.

How can a loving and young front-

ever hope a real case to be hatching
When interrupted by such frequent

Referring to the verse above,
I possess a strange immunity.
Mosquitoes never bite and seldom approach me. Even in the depths of Wisconsin forests, the clouds of the pests (to others) open a path for me and then powerfully on my suffering companions.
Whether this is kindly consideration or ostracism, is a mystery—
but it's comfortable.

If you must use sun glasses, use good ones. Glasses of inferbest of such glasses should be used sparingly.

The alleged "weaker sex" is excessive speed have been lead-

Convict's Wounds Are Treated Here

—Gable Photo

Shown here is H. L. Clark of Hobbs, 28, being led from Artesia
Municipal Hospital Tuesday night
of last week, after being treated for gunshot wounds in his left arm, sustained when captured with E.
L. Deason of Alamogordo, 24, near Pinon, more than a week of liberty
after escaping from the New Mexico state penitentiary.

Escorting Clark is State Police Officer J. Ramsey, who is stationed at Hobbs. Three other officers are seen in the background.

Police Chief Earl D. Westfall and Patrolmen Manuel Rodriguez and
M. E. Smith of the Artesia Police Department were in on the man-hunt and established a road block block just beyond Mayhill, at the convergence of Cox and James Canyons, after being advised over the state police radio hook-up the convicts, who escaped from the penitentiary a week prior, had overpower Clarence Carrol, their guard, near Mesclaro, as he was returning them to Santa Fe from Gatesville, Texas, where they had been captured.

Thinking to avoid any road blocks, the men, who seemed to be quite familiar with the Sacramento Mountains, stayed off the main roads and went through Weed by way of Marcia. At Weed they purchased gasoline and then proceeded towards Pinon and shot their way through a road block.

As patrol cars were closing in on them, the escaped convicts abandoned the Soil Conservation Service car they had stolen and were captured a few minutes later in a swollen creek.

After their capture, they were brought to Artesia, where Clark's injured arm was treated at the hospital, before he and Deason were lodged in the city jail over night. They were returned to the penitentiary under heavy guard
Wednesday of last week.

GI Bill Helping Vets Buy Homes

More than a million and a half World War II veterans—4738 in New Mexico—have bought homes with the help of loan guaranties in the GI Bill, the Veterans Administration announced.

Noting that 27,412 new applications for home loan guaranties were received from lenders in June VA said that this number represented an increase of more than 40 per cent over the low point reached in the first three months of this year. The sharp upturn in new applications followed a steady decline for a year and a half from the 50,000-rate per month in the fall of 1947.

Gene A. Robens, manager of the VA regional office in Albuquerque, reported that a near-record 138 home loans were approved by the New Mexico office during June, despite continued tight 4 per cent mortgage money. The month's loan guaranties were the highest since August, 1947. The 4738 home loans approved represent a total value of more than $18,500,000.

The interest rate on GI home
loans cannot exceed 4 per cent and they may be made payable over a period up to 25 years. VA guarantees the lender against loss up to 50 per cent of the amount, with a maximum guarantee of $4000.
VA said that several factors apparently accounted for the upturn in home loans. One is the government secondary market for these loans, authorized last year, which has made additional funds available for GI lending. Another is the growing investment problem facing lending agencies whose deposits have been mounting rapidly in recent months. Also, recent declines in bond yields and interest rates have encouraged many lenders to view 4 per cent money with more favor, VA said.

Robens emphasized, however,
that New Mexico loan conditions differ somewhat from those nationally in that the national trend is predominantly toward GI loans at 4 per cent interest. In New Mexico
the vast majority of loans are FHA-GI combinations. This is apparently due, he said, to tightness of 4 per cent money in this area.

VA said the million and a half veteran home buyers have established a splendid record in meeting their mortgage obligations.
Latest figures show that default claims have had to be paid on only three out of every 1000 home loans guaranteed and that only about 18
of each 1000 are lagging in monthly payments. The majority of these will be "cured," VA said.

Total home loans approved amount to $8,457,000,000. To date more than 70,000 home loans have been paid in full.

The teacher was trying to popularize arithmetic by bringing home
the examples to the pupils.
Teacher: "Now, Junior, if you had $5 in one pocket and $7.50 in the other, what would you say you had?"
Junior: "The wrong pants."

CCC To Operate Program Of Wool Price Support

The Commodity Credit Corporation will operate a 1949 wool price support program, according to information received in the county ACA office.

When wool is sold to the Commodity Credit Corporation, definite procedures under the program apply to such sales.

Growers who have lots of wool of more than 3000 pounds must sell it to the CCC on a consignment basis. The wool is consigned through handlers acting as agents of the Commodity Credit Corporation or through secondary handlers as defined below and payment to growers is later made by the agents of the Commodity Credit Corporation.

Producers of small lots of wool have a choice between two general methods of marketing wool. Growers with lots of less than 3000 pounds may dispose of their wool either by selling or consigning it directly to a primary handler, a dealer or association who has a contract to purchase wool for the account of the Commodity Credit Corporation, or sell or consign their wool to a secondary handler, a local dealer or country buyer who may, without a contract with Commodity Credit Corporation, purchase wool in lots of no more than 3000 pounds for resale to the Commodity Credit Corporation or who may receive wool in any quantity on consignment from growers for sale to the Commodity Credit Corporation.

Names of approved handlers may be obtained from the county ACA office and the Wool Division, Livestock Branch, Production and Marketing Administration, Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., by any wool producer in the county who is interested in the wool price support program.

Administration Building Started For State Fair

Plans for a new $50,000 administration building at the New Mexico State Fair grounds in Albuquerque, have been completed, Leon H. Harms, secretary-manager, announced.

Construction will start in the near future and the building will be at least partially completed before the 1949 fair, Sept. 25-Oct. 2, Harms said. The new building will be built just inside the main west entrance to the grounds.

Included in the plans for the administration building will be a bank room for handling all money from entrance gates. The vault will be constructed as nearly burglar proof as possible and will permit greater efficiency in counting gate receipts, Harms said.

Architecture of the new structure will be in the typical Southwestern style to conform with the general appearance of other buildings on the multi-million-dollar plant. In addition to administrative offices and bank vault, the building will have a complete entry department and post office for convenience of exhibitors.

After completion of the new building, the present administration offices will be used for exhibit space.

 Despite all the sword rattling that has been going on lately, Arnold Toynbee, the famous historian, says he doesn't think there'll be a shooting war for generations. That is as cheerful as a shaft of sunshine in a cave. He is not optimistic enough to expect Russia to become a "good neighbor," but he says he doubts that they'd dare buck our production ability. But don't look for any sudden thaw in the cold war. Still, if the frigid fracas continues, it'll be up to the Western nations to prove how successful their way of life can be... and that might mean a better world for everyone. It's a great idea.

More Plentiful Seen for August

August is the month when markets offer the greatest variety and abundance in fresh vegetables and generally the best quality in these foods, marketing specialists of the U.S. Department of Agriculture say. This August they suggest to shopping housewives that they look for good buys in locally grown vegetables and tomatoes. Growing conditions this year have been especially favorable for tomatoes.

Another item to star on August shopping lists is apples. August is the peak month for many early apples, which are especially good for sauce pie. Other fresh fruits on the August abundant list are pears, plums and prunes, cantaloupes and peaches.

Along with the locally-grown plentiful vegetables and tomatoes, large commercial crops of cabbage, California lettuce and onions are expected. The cabbage supply is expected to be 20 per cent larger than average and 10 per cent above last year. Coastal areas of California are having their largest crop of lettuce on record. To go along with all these good salad makings, onions are expected to be plentiful. As for the protein foods for August menus, the specialists look for abundant supplies of eggs, chickens—broilers, fryers and hens—fish, fresh and frozen; peanut butter and processed dairy products, such as cheese, cottage cheese, evaporated milk and non-fat milk solids.

Outlook for Hogs In State Good

Although farmers in New Mexico produce very few hogs for market purposes, the consumption of imported pork and pork by-products within the state is relatively high. County Agent Dallas Rierson said. The largest pig crop in U.S. history, except for the two war years, is forecast for 1949. But this does not indicate that lower meat prices are just around the corner. Rierson points out. The most important factor in the demand for meat and meat prices is the amount of money in the hands of consumers. Another factor is the amount of meat available per capita. The population is now 10 per cent above the previous 10-year average. Therefore, pork supplies per capita will remain small until this year's large spring crop reaches the market.

The number of sows farrowed in New Mexico was 10,000 during the spring of 1949. This was 1000 less than the previous year and 2000 less than 1938-47 average. For the nation as a whole, the number of sows farrowed this spring was 15 per cent over last year and 4 per cent above the 1938-47 average. The average number of pigs saved per litter in New Mexico in 1949 was 6.4. This was the same as the U.S. average. In New Mexico this was 4 above last year and .8 over the 1938-47 average. This indicates that improved methods in management and breeding are being followed in New Mexico.

According to the intentions of farmers on fall breeding, there will be 13 per cent more sows kept for fall farrowing than last year. If these intentions are carried out, the fall pig crop will be 9 per cent larger than last year and the third largest on record. Factors encouraging farmers to increase hog production are the general favorable outlook for the 1949 corn crop, the carryover from the 1948 corn crop, favorable hog prices in relation to corn prices and a continued strong demand for meat.

BRITISH, FRENCH VISIT U.S. MILITARY SCHOOLS

Washington (AFPS)—Maj. Gen. H. J. Higgins, Director of the Army Dental Service of the British Army and Brig Gen. Rene Bertrand, Commanding General of the Ecole Superieure de Guerre of Paris, are visiting the United States.

Gen. Higgins attended a meeting of the Armed Services Field Medical Materiel Group at Brooke Army Medical Center, Fort Sam Houston, Texas. While in the United States, Gen. Bertrand is observing instructional and training methods in use at a number of military schools, including the National War College and the Industrial College of the Armed Forces in Washington., the Armed Forces Staff College in Norfolk, and the Command and General Staff College, Fort Leavenworth.

NO SALE Gunnison, Colo. (AFPS)—Millionaire Colorado rancher, Dan Thornton, who recently tried to buy a share of the world champion Cleveland Indians, says that he still has a desire to go into baseball, but Cleveland officials have shown no desire to sell.

state-federal supervision have often asked if the herd sire is a real factor in the spread of the disease. The answer is supplied by Dr. C. K. Mingle, Tuberculosis Eradication Division, Bureau of Animal Industry, U.S. Department of Agriculture:

"Although bulls occasionally become infected in the genital tract, they are not frequently responsible for the transmission of brucellosis. However, although the danger of bulls becoming infected carriers is remote, the fact that they are not always resistant emphasises the need for considering them as potential sources of infection."

With growing use of strain 19 vaccine in providing reasonable resistance to brucellosis in calves, it has been asked whether or not bull calves should be vaccinated along with the young heifers intended for herd replacements. Dr. Mingle replies that there is little or no need to vaccinate bull calves because of the normal resistance of bulls to the germs of brucellosis.
