Chamber Resolution Calls Phone Service As 'Completely Inadequate'

A resolution describing telephone service in Artesia as "completely inadequate" has been passed by the board of directors of the Artesia Chamber of Commerce, it was announced today.

Both local and long distance service have grown "progressively worse," according to the resolution to the Mountain States Telephone Telegraph Company's district office in El Paso.

A letter of transmittal reminding telephone company officials that Artesia civic leaders did not protest the last rate increase for telephone service on the assumption that it would enable the company to improve service.

Complaints have been divided about equally between delays in completing long distance calls and indifferent local service, according to Bob Koonce, Chamber of Commerce manager.

"When several local calls must be made in succession," he added, "it is sometimes a matter of several minutes before the caller can re-establish contact with the operator after a call is completed. Quite often, both parties hang up and then, trying for another number, embarrassedly exchange such absurdities as, 'Oh you again?'" because the operator has failed to break connection."

A few businessmen have expressed the belief that understaffing of the operator force has combined with antiquated exchange equipment in creating the problem of poor service, Koonce said.

Bayer Elected 20-30 Sub-District Governor

Oscar Bayer, a past president of Artesia 20-30 Club, is the new governor of the sub-district that includes Artesia, Carlsbad, Clovis, Hobbs, Portales, and Roswell.

He was elected to the chief area office at the sub-district meeting held Aug. 5-6 in Roswell, takes office in September, has a one-year tenure.

Attending the convention from Artesia were Mr. and Mrs. Doug O'Bannon, Mr. and Mrs. Gail Ray, Ed Horn, and Mr. and Mrs. Bayer.

Talk of the convention was a part of the program of the club's regular supper meeting at 7:45 o'clock Monday night in Artesia Hotel. Chicken fried steak was the main dish.

Spraying project of the club will be in abeyance, it was announced, until results of prior work are known.

In conjunction with the project, the main talk was by Richard Swartz of the county health department, who said the average range of a fly was three miles; stock pens were chief sources of flies; and advised spraying of garbage cans.

Attendance at the meeting was 12. Guests were Sam Nichols and the main speaker.

New Switchboard At Exchange Is Put In Use Today

An additional section of switchboard was installed this week at the exchange of the Mountain States Telephone & Telegraph Company and was to be turned over for use today, it was announced by W. F. Hinde, local manager.

The new switchboard section brings to 10 the total number in use at the Artesia exchange, double the number in operation five years ago.

Hinde said use of the new board should increase the exchange's ability in the handling of local calls at least 20 per cent.

He said the company is also installing a number of intercity circuits this month and still more are on the agenda for 1951.

During the remainder of August, Hinde said, there will be put into operation one more Artesia-Roswell circuit, making a total of seven, and one more Artesia-Carlsbad circuit, making a total of three.

It is probable there also will be one more circuit to Hobbs. However, Hinde added, this will depend.

Board Prohibits Drinking In Gym At Public Dances

The Artesia Board of Education has passed a resolution prohibiting drinking on school premises when the use of a gymnasium is granted for a dance, according to Tom J. Mayfield, superintendent of schools and clerk of the board.

The resolution specifically names the Central School gymnasium, which at times is made available for public dances.

It reads: "The motion was made and passed that the Central School gym be granted for dances, provided the building and grounds are policed by at least three officials approved by the chief of police of Artesia and the drinking of liquors be prohibited so far as possible, according to the state law regulating this."

Superintendent Mayfield said officers on duty may be either regular police or other officers approved by the chief of police.

He pointed out a portion of the New Mexico statutes in regard to drinking in public places.

It reads: "It shall be unlawful to drink or consume alcoholic liquors or for any person who is the owner or proprietor to sell, serve, furnish or permit drinking or the consumption of alcoholic liquors in any public dance hall, pool room, bowling alley, street, state or federal building, or in any other public place except establishments having a license to dispense alcoholic liquors."

Story League Float Wins First, As 11,000 Watch

Winners in the float contest of the fourth annual V-J celebration, in the parade which yesterday opened the three-day fiesta, were Story League, first; Carper Drilling, second; and Epsilon Sigma Alpha, third.

Awards of $200, $150, and $100 respectively go to the top three. Others in order of rating were Elks and Does, Lions, and Cole Motor.

The parade was sponsored by Artesia Junior Chamber of Commerce while the United Veterans Club is sponsor of the entire celebration.

Judges were five Artesia business men. Identity of each was kept secret from the others and their names were not released after the contest was over.

Second of three rodeo performances, marking the second day of the fourth annual V-J celebration sponsored by the United Veterans Club, is slated to open at 8 o'clock at Artesia Municipal Park.

Don S. Bush, celebration publicity director, said the schedule would follow that of the initial performance.

This consisted of the grand entry, bareback riding, the Buss Carson troupe, calf roping, saddle bronco riding, steer wrestling, bull riding, and barrel race.

There were 150 entrants in the rodeo early Thursday. All entries were kept in a book at rodeo headquarters, located in the Veterans Memorial Building, and there was no list available for publication.

As was the case last night, the Western dance will be repeated at 9 o'clock in the Veterans Building, following the rodeo.

Rodeo headquarters was a-buzz with contestants and the air full of questions such as, "Where do I keep my horses?" "Do you have Sam Jones in the calf roping contest?" "How about the cutting horse contest?"

Bush, publicity director doubled in brass by typing office forms, in between times of handling a hundred last minute details, and being assistant to Mrs. Harry B. Gilmore who is rodeo headquarters secretary.

Staging the rodeo is Howard Brown of Dublin, Texas, who also put on the rodeo for last year's celebration.

"Inaugurating the celebration was the parade at 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon with its colorful floats, bands, flags, Artesia streets ablaze with color. There was bunting and rodeo banners all down Main and the typical western hat, bandana, levi, boots, and brilliant shirts were regulation attire.

Judge Roy Bean's court was going full blast at Fourth and Main, having moved west a half block.

Order of Parade
There was a constant barrage of instructions from loud-speaker equipped automobiles driving on downtown streets, and a flurry of excitement gripped the entire town as parade time approached.

Headed by a State Police car, two Artesia police squad cars and a sound truck, the parade proper started off with the massed colors of the member organizations of the United Veterans Club, sponsor of the big celebration.

Color bearers and color guards represented the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and Disabled American Veterans, as well as representing all branches of the armed forces of the United States.

All in full uniform, they swept past to the cadence of the Walker Air Force Band from Roswell, which marched immediately behind the massed flags.

Next came the Artesia unit of the National Guard riding in or on seven vehicles, including the mobile anti-aircraft guns.

Two cars were next in line, the first carrying members of the American Legion Auxiliary, the second, members of the Artesia Hairdressers Association.

Roberts Rides Beautiful Horse.
Mayor Oren C. Roberts, in full Western regalia and riding a beautiful horse, followed.

Again there were two cars, the first carrying Ed Mechem of Las Cruces, Republican candidate for governor, and his party. In the second were members of the United Spanish War Veterans.

And then came the first of the floats, which were split into two sections, divided by the 35 huge and colorful balloons, which created much amusement and which were carried, pulled, or pushed by 135 boys, each of whom received a free rodeo ticket.

The floats in the order in which they appeared in the parade:

Elks and Does, Carper Drilling Company, Lions Club, Girl Scouts, Artesia Junior Chamber of Commerce, Chuck wagon, Woodbine Plumbing, Cole Motor Company, Pilot Club, Epsilon Sigma Alpha, Story League, and Negro Civic Club.

After the second section of the floats came the Artesia High School band, under the direction of Russell Lewis.

Next were the mounted riders, who strung out for about four blocks, riding mostly two abreast. In all there were 164 mounts, horses, ponies, and mules. Leading the riders were 35 members of the Eddy County Sheriff's Posse, and at the end were Howard Brown, who is putting on the rodeo, and some of his special performers.

Also in the parade were two orchestras, Gene Henslee and his Western Band, who are playing for the celebration dances each of the three nights at the Veterans Memorial Building, and the Lee Bell Orchestra.

In addition there were dozens of commercial entries, cars, trucks, farm vehicles, and similar entries.

Sandwiched into the commercial entries was a truck from the State Department of Game and Fish, bearing many exhibits of mounted animals, birds, and fish. This exhibit was to be dismantled today and be shown at Evans Hardware through Saturday.

And bringing up the rear was Jack Knorr walking on seven-foot stilts, which added to his six feet, made him a 13-foot figure, as tall as the big balloons. He was representing radio station KSPV.

The line of march, originally to have gone east on Main and west on Richardson, was reversed at the last minute, in order to give commercial and amateur photographers a chance to take pictures on Main Street with the sun at their back, while the various entries and sections approached them.

Hobbs Forming Seventh State Jaycee Chapter

Temporary organization of the Hobbs Junior Chamber of Commerce was put into operation at a meeting held in the Harden Hotel in that town, attended by Jaycees from five cities.

Headlining the group of visitors was Tom Childers, Santa Fe, a vice president of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Next session of the Hobbs club is scheduled for 7:30 o'clock Monday night, Aug. 21.

When the Hobbs club receives its charter it will be the seventh Jaycee club in the state. Other clubs are those of Artesia, Albuquerque, Carlsbad, Las Cruces, Roswell, and Santa Fe. All except Las Cruces were represented at the preliminary meeting held at 8 o'clock Tuesday night, Aug. 8, in Hobbs' Harden Hotel.

Artesia was represented by Harry J. Nelson, president of the local club.

Named temporary chairman of the Hobbs club was Max Edwards, lawyer, Dartmouth graduate, and World War II veteran. Jack Turner, realtor, was named temporary secretary.

Carlsbad Man Presides

Attendance at the meeting totaled 50, including 22 from Hobbs, 12 from Carlsbad, seven from Roswell, three from Albuquerque, two each from Artesia and Santa Fe.

The session was lengthy, lasting four hours, and included sundry talks on the purpose and methods of the Jaycees. Coffee and doughnuts were served the audience.

Presiding was Dick Smith, Carlsbad, extension chairman. Speakers were:

Cliff Ryan, Carlsbad, president; Ralph Calloway, Carlsbad, state vice president in charge of extension; Lloyd Robinson, member of Carlsbad club since its founding.

Adair Gossett, Carlsbad, state president; Harry Nelson, Artesia, president; Paul Smyer, Albuquerque, president; Bill Davis, completing first year as member of Carlsbad club.

Tom Childers, Santa Fe, a past president of the state organization.

Vice President Childers arrived at the meeting three hours late due to a storm forcing him to turn back his plane when only 35 miles from Hobbs. He and Bob Nason, also of Santa Fe, flew back to Roswell, and were transported to Hobbs in an automobile supplied by Roy Veach of the Chaves county capital. Nason and Veach accompanied Childers to Hobbs.

Nelson, president of the Artesia club, told of the accomplishments of the local club. He explained the get out the vote project that resulted in 433 new registrants, and the primary election turnout.

He said the number of voters in that election was 16 per cent ahead of the vote in the last Presidential election and that 66 per cent of all eligible voters went to the polls.

In another part of his talk he told of the Jaycees sponsoring the parade for the V-J celebration; sending two boys to the Jaycee junior golf tournament at Santa Fe. Artesia membership is 52.

Training in Leadership

Putting on a Christmas party for children, sponsoring a golf tournament and staging the state talent pageant gave Carlsbad Jaycees valuable experience in leadership, Ryan said.

Calloway told how the club put action into a move for a municipal golf course, "something talked about for 10 years and nothing done before about it."

Working for community development "gives you the fight necessary to carry out projects to a finish," Robinson said. "It makes you better acquainted with the needs of your community."

Gossett told the audience that the New Mexico Jaycee organization was the second youngest in the nation, had six clubs, 1000 members.

In a later talk, illustrated with a portfolio, he gave the date of the founding of the national as 1915, said it now had 1800 clubs, 200,000 members, had clubs over the nation, in Alaska, Hawaii and in 23 other nations.

New Mexico's float entry in the national Jaycee convention parade in Chicago was rated by the Chicago Tribune as the "best float ever seen in any parade in Chicago," he said. There were 63 entries. The float was made in Carlsbad.

Membership in the Carlsbad club is 135.

Smyer, head of the 320-member club in Duke City, said that if the Hobbs organization was sincere in its work, members lives "would be richer, you'll be happier, because it's a lot of fun."

"An organized channel for energies" was his description of the way the Jaycees function. Davis said he had gained increasing interest in his club as he entered his second year of membership.

In a second talk Calloway told how Hereford, Texas, Jaycees boosted for a new hotel to be built in that town; of Roswell getting the job done on a new road; of concessions at the Carlsbad Elks rodeo* netting Carlsbad Jaycees $1250.

Childers, top flight official at the session, said: "We call ourselves young men of action and we really are. Our organization goes into the grass roots of America."

He said the Jaycee program encompassed the scope of community projects, said "there is hardly any community action the Jaycees undertake that isn't done and done well."

He stressed Americanism, economy and efficiency in public office, and the way the Jaycees constantly strive at that goal.

Cook's Cues

There's something extra special about golden-sweet-flavored Pecos Cantaloupes . . . something about the rich, juicy sweet flavor that makes them "tops" in melons. Can't pick 'em out? Either too green or too ripe? Well, here's my way. Press the small end where the stem was attached. It should be fairly soft, or sniff the melon (same place). You'll recognize the delicious ripe flavor instantly. You'll find Pecos melons at your Food Mart this week-end. Get a lot of them. They're super in salads, wonderful in desserts—and sumptuous eating any time.

Those scrumptious, tasty Kentucky Wonder Green Beans are reigning favorite in the clean cool vegetable displays of the Food Mart this week. Their delectable flavor doesn't need any dolling up. Just cook the crisp, tender green beans in hot salt water—with a bit of salt pork added—and the family will really go for 'em. Course if you DO want them fancy-like, fold cooked macaroni into hot cream of Mushroom Soup, top with Kentucky Wonder Beans (cooked of course) season with salt and pepper and sprinkle with Parmesan Cheese . . . HMMMMMMMM! They have that 'more-ish' flavor!

Peaches, peaches, peaches—luscious, tany, rosy-checked peaches. They're at their best now at the Food Marts, so make the most of them. Delicious in salads, shortcakes, pies—or in golden slices swimming in cream.

The preliminary hearings were called at the request of assistant district attorney.

The Elvert woman is specifically charged with stealing a lady's wrist watch, three slips, a purse, and other articles having value of more than $50 from Mrs. Bayless Irby from the Irby residence July 6.

Mullins is charged with having forged the payee's name in endorsement on a valid check for $78 from Cole Motor Company and cashing it at the Owl Bar.

County Commission Says La Huerta Bridge Will Require Bond Election

The Eddy County Board of Commissioners, at a meeting Monday, told members of the highway committee of the Carlsbad Chamber of Commerce that the county cannot build a new bridge across the Pecos River between Carlsbad and La Huerta, but that the only way to a new bridge could be obtained would be through a bond issue.

At the same time the members of the two groups discussed completion of the road from the Potash Company of America property to the site of the new Southwest Potash Company — a part of the oil-field-potash loop road now under construction.

The Carlsbad Current-Argus quotes Commission Chairman Joe Lusk as saying, "The only possible way to get it (the La Huerta bridge) is through a bond issue. That newspaper continues:

County Commissioner Bob James said, "We know the county can't build a bridge. . . . You fellows get a petition and bring it in here and we'll be glad to call an election."

Lusk said he believed signatures equivalent to 10 per cent of the number of votes cast in the last election would be necessary on a petition seeking a bond issue election.

County Commissioner W. T. (Doc) Haldeman said he had heard cost of a new bridge estimated at $400,000 by the state highway department. James estimated the cost at $246,000.

Present piers of the La Huerta bridge could be used for a new one, according to a state survey, Frank Kindel, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, said. He said this would amount to "a great saving." It appeared this might account for the difference between the estimates by Haldeman and James.

Haldeman said the county was entitled to an allotment of "urban funds" from the State Highway Department. He suggested possibility that if the bridge were in city limits, some of these funds could be used for a new bridge.

As a means of re-routing some traffic to go across Bataan Bridge farther south at Carlsbad and then to La Huerta, instead of across La Huerta bridge, commissioners disclosed possibility of constructing a road that would lead off from U. S. 62 and connect up with Orchard Lane. It was estimated this would be a distance of additional roads to the system. Lusk wondered if negotiations, under the certain conditions, might not take too long. Decision on how the remaining 4.5 miles would be allocated was postponed to a special meeting set for August 22.

Sargent Marler, In Japan, Expects To Go To Korea

Mr. and Mrs. Amos Marler of 406 Chisum received a letter Wednesday from their son, M-Sgt. Robert W. Marler, who is stationed at Fukuoka, Japan, who said the base is only 125 miles from the fighting in Korea, and that most of his outfit has been sent to Korea.

Only the men whose wives are with them have been kept at the base.

Sgt. Marler expects to be sent to Korea as soon as passage for his wife, Loraine, and son, Jimmy, 4, has been arranged to the United States.

Artesia Eagles Sponsor Gran Baile

A gran baile, with music by Beto Villa and his orchestra, will be held at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday night August 16 in Central School gymnasium, 404 South Fifth.

Villa is a specialist on the saxophone. His orchestra is noted in South Texas and his company includes two vocalists, Carmen and Laura, who have sung for recordings.

The orchestra will play mambo, waltzes, polkas, and boogie.

Sponsor of the subscription dance is the Artesia Eagles Baseball Club of which Gilbert Rivas is manager and Fred Lopez, president. Plans for the dance started three weeks ago.

Income Factor Reflected Before Korea Crisis

Reflecting conditions prior to the Korean fighting, the latest index of real income shows $1.05 in buying power for the typical consumer against each dollar that was his a year before, according to Investors Diversified Services.

The gain is accounted for by an increase in cash incomes of consumers rather than a reduction in living costs. Wages, salary and investment income are ahead of a year ago. Income from other sources, influenced largely by lower farmer incomes, is less than last year.

Before the buying wave touched off by fear of scarcities, consumers were benefitting by slightly lower food and clothing prices. Higher housing and miscellaneous costs, however, left the typical household budget virtually the same as a year ago.

E. E. Crabb, president of Investors Diversified Services, feels that the immediate danger to consumer real income lies in unrestrained "scare" buying. "Food supplies were never more plentiful," Crabb pointed out. "There is no present real shortage of consumer durable and semi-durable goods although demand has been high. This, coupled with panic buying, may tend to clear distribution outlets in some sections. Distributors at all levels will do well to restrain, so far as possible, buying for hoarding purposes, in order not to re-inflate price ceilings."

Goldstein, Lorang Are Inducted Into Rotary Tuesday

Irvin (Goldy) Goldstein and L. J. (Barney) Lorang were inducted into the Artesia Rotary Club Tuesday noon by Dr. D. M. Schneberg, a past president.

Dr. Schneberg told the "baby Rotarians" that the friendship and the sincerity of friends in the club mean the most to him, but that Rotary goes further than that in the four avenues of service on which the organization is founded.

At a meeting of the board of directors after the regular meeting, Dave Button was named chairman of the program committee for the coming year.

He is to have the assistance of A. R. Wood and A. L. Bert and the chairman of the four principal committees: Club service, T. Stovall; vocational service, Bill McGinty; community service, Rev. R. L. Willingham, and international service, Landis B. Feather.

How Hudson, with exclusive recessed floor, brings you the world's Best Ride

HUDSON
"Step-down" design, with its recessed floor, brings space between frame members, which is wasted in other cars, into Hudson's passenger compartment. This results in America's lowest center of gravity (and full road clearance) for a smoother, steadier, safer ride than is possible in any other car!

OTHER CARS
Floor is on top of the frame, so the vital space between frame members is not available for passenger use. This creates a higher center of gravity which results in less stability, less smoothness as you ride, particularly on curves, in cross winds and on rough roads.

YOU ARE especially invited to try a Hudson ride, to enjoy a new way of going not available elsewhere at any price!

Hudson's new way of building automobiles with exclusive recessed floor ("step-down" design) results in America's lowest center of gravity — which is the key to the steadiest road-hugging ride ever known!

Hudson's exclusive recessed floor also results in low-built, streamlined beauty. Right along with full road clearance, it brings you more head and seating room than in any other car!

And brilliant, high-compression engine performance, a traditional characteristic with Hudson, is another engineering triumph that makes riding in this great car the outstanding automotive experience of the year! Won't you try it soon?

The new, lower-priced Pacemaker brings you all of Hudson's great advantages for just a few dollars more than the lowest-priced cars!

Hudsons, with recessed floors, their great array of high-quality, long-life features, and advanced design, are among the leaders in resale value, as shown by Official Used Car Guide Books!

NEUTRALIZATION OF FORMOSA—A study of the map of the Far East, in the light of Communist methods of operation and the lessons of World War II, will show the importance of the decision to neutralize Formosa. Airfields on that island are only 400 miles from targets on Okinawa, a little farther from targets in the Philippines, and less than 800 miles from targets in Japan. Along with these points and Indo-China, Formosa might be in the first line of defense against Communist aggression in the Far East. If the Communists should seize Formosa now, they would not only break that line but also pave the way to conquest of the other points. Remembering the long years of costly, bloody island-hopping in World War II, it is easy to picture the hard road back that the forces of freedom would face.

Formosa is separated from the mainland of China by a strait from 90 to 200 miles wide. An island about 235 miles long and from 70 to 90 miles wide, it is about as large as Massachusetts and Connecticut combined and has a population of 7,000,000.

Fifteen Lettermen Returning to 1950 Football Squad

Coach Jack Tinson of Artesia High School will have 15 lettermen returning for the 1950 football squad that is to report at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, August 16 at the school's equipment room.

Uniforms will be issued at that time. Candidates are expected to do road work and conditioning the following day, then report for first practice at 8 o'clock Friday morning.

There will be five on the coaching staff, Reese Smith, Calvin Hall, Ray Hall, Leonard Wither, and Tinson. Calvin and Ray Hall are brothers, latter is junior high school coach. Wither is his assistant.

Returning lettermen: Bill Brown, Bobby Moran, Clarence Connor, ends; James Briscoe, Fred Hernandez, tackles; Sonny Garner, Jerald Johnson, Jimmie Juarez, guards; Buster Brown, Ivan Clay, centers.

Farm Near Artesia Grows Fine Onions

All that cotton and some onions, to paraphrase words of an old song, is the situation on the Bill

Jackson place, a few miles south-east of Artesia.

Jackson has 240 acres in cotton and in hay but he also has seven acres in onions. Five of the seven are in Spanish sweets, two in grano white.

"It looked like a good year for growing onions," was his comment on why he had such a crop, and the production backs him up. His Spanish sweets run 800 bushels to the acre, grano whites 450.

The sweet variety was on the production line last Tuesday as a crew of hands went through the job of getting the onions from the fields into the red mesh bags.

Right now it's New Mexico onions that are on the market but next month the Colorado crop will be coming to the front, the Artesia man says.

Jackson's Spanish sweets are the size of a pair of World War I hand grenades. He says the whites are smaller but bring a better price and these were harvested some time ago.

This is not the first time he has raised onions as he had a crop of the hamburger accessory back in 1945.

Anyone who grows onions, he says, must remember it takes plenty of water and that water must be applied regularly. "It doesn't do any good to plant and not give the onions a lot of water," he said. He advises watering at least weekly.

The crop was seeded last January.

Soil Saving Methods Produce Rich Pasture

Enthusiasm that other farmers show in long rows of cotton is tripled by the enthusiasm manifested by Doug O'Bannon in his 360 acres of pasture and his fine Herefords.

The O'Bannon place is 1 1/2 miles northwest of Artesia, near Cottonwood. Here Doug and his father, D. G. O'Bannon have 240 acres in cotton, 50 acres of alfalfa, and some of the best grass to be found in Eddy County.

Starting out with 110 acres in 1946, the pasture has now grown to 360 and is thick with fescue, rye, orchard and other kinds. Nitrates have been used, land leveled, and pasture watched as carefully as any other crop. Proportion of nitrate has been 100 pounds to the acre.

In some fields there is Johnson grass. "I used to fight it until I was blue in the face," O'Bannon said, "but now I like to see it."

Four-year old pasture land is constantly improving. The O'Bannon pasture has been the scene of of frequent interested visitors who want to learn how the job has been accomplished.

Soil conservation service methods are utilized on the place which has the benefit of three artesian wells and a water supply from Cottonwood Creek dam.

O'Bannon says it takes more water but results are better and work is easier.

Household Hint

When you buy a new chair, look not only for sturdy construction, but try it for size. Sit in a number of chairs to see that the seat is neither too long nor too short; that the arms are the right height; also the back—is it too straight, too curved, or just right?

Wonder if it might be worth while for some local organization to sponsor such a project. If so, we're behind that group 100 per cent.

It's time to stage another community-wide weed-cutting campaign, somewhat like we had last year. And if every property owner would see to it that his own premises and vacant lots are mowed, there would be no hat passing and the hiring of men and machines.

But it takes the co-operation of every individual. So get busy!

A few days ago a likely looking young chap came in and asked if he knew a certain fellow, whom he believed might live in Artesia. We told him that we had known him—had known him well—but that he had been killed in World War II, over Germany, we thought.

Our visitor went on to say that he had gone through training with the Artesia boy, but that they became separated in England. However, they met occasionally. And at the time of their last meeting, when both of them had only a mission or two more to make, they planned to get together after they returned to the United States.

But that was their last meeting. The visitor said he had heard by scudde but that the local boy was missing. He was extremely fond of him and wanted to find out something, somehow. But he couldn't remember the name of the town in New Mexico where his buddy had hailed from. All that had mattered in their training in various camps and at various air fields was that they were friends and had a job in common.

Then our visitor asked when the Artesia boy had been killed. "Was it ...?" and he named a date. So we went to our files and started looking from that date on. And in an issue several weeks after the date, we found the story of the death and the picture of Arlee Reno. He was killed in 1944 within two days of the date suggested by the visitor, it had been confirmed by the War Department.

The young man, from another part of the nation, was silent a moment his shoulders stooped. Then he said, "I have tried to find out. I finally managed to get to this part of the country. I have asked and asked. Now I have found that Artesia was his home."

After another silence, he pressed our hand and turned for the door. "Thanks," he said. "It took me six years, but now I know."

VA Sounds Word Of Warning On Housing Boom

In the face of today's record housing boom and era of easy mortgage financing, Veterans Administrator Carl R. Gray, Jr., has issued a word of caution to the 13 million World War II veterans who still are eligible for VA-guaranteed home loans under the GI Bill.

A pamphlet, which includes a letter signed by Administrator Gray and addressed "To the Home-Buying Veteran," has just come off the presses and is being distributed through all VA offices in New Mexico.

Intended as a guide for veterans who contemplate buying or building a home, the pamphlet points out some of the pitfalls and headaches which may be encountered and gives advice toward avoiding them.

First and foremost, it is emphasized that veterans should fully understand that a GI loan, like any other loan, must be repaid.

"The VA guarantee, which protects the lender against loss, encourages him to make the loan at a very low interest rate and with only a small or no down payment," Gray's letter states. "But if you fail to make the payments you agree to make, the VA must pay the loss to the lender, and the amount paid by VA must be repaid by you. Any compensation or pension to which you may be entitled could be withheld in whole or in part until such debt is satisfied."

The administrator also warned the veteran against taking on an obligation too heavy for him to carry. In addition to the monthly payments of interest and principal, he pointed out that the veteran home-owner also must meet the cost of real estate taxes, insurance, repairs, heat, light, water and other utilities. Advising strongly against rushing into what may prove to be an ill-advised purchase, Gray reminded veterans that they have until July 25, 1957, to use their right to a guaranteed loan.

Now that the postwar housing shortage is easing off, the administrator urged veterans to shop carefully before they buy, to make sure they will be satisfied with the quality and condition of the home and its equipment. While VA makes every effort to assure that the veteran pays only a reasonable price for the home, taking quality and condition into account, the agency cannot guarantee that he will be satisfied with his purchase, Gray added.

Veterans unfamiliar with home construction should seek the advice of a reliable person who knows construction, and competent advice should be obtained in connection with the signing of sales contracts and other documents, the letter warns. Before making a deposit on a home, they should make sure the paper they sign calls for a refund in the event the GI loan falls through.

The pamphlet contains a detailed check list of points to be considered in buying a home, including neighborhood, lot, construction and financing.

ENMU Purchases Steel Football Stadium Seats

An all-steel stadium has been purchased for the Eastern New Mexico University football field at Portales, announces President Floyd D. Golden.
The stadium, to be on the west side of the present football field, will be 27 seats high and 220 feet long, with a seating capacity of 4250, reports Golden.
The stadium may be enclosed on the back and sides to provide dressing rooms, classrooms, and dormitory space. A press booth on top will be located on the 50-yard line. All the framework is to be welded steel and President Golden predicts that the stadium will be ready for use by Oct. 1.

Bleachers now used in the gymnasium are being permanently located on the east side of the football field. These bleachers have a seating capacity of 2250 and are being set on concrete stringers. These additions to the football field will give a seating capacity of 6500.
Other work in connection with the athletic department, says Golden, is the purchase of telescope bleachers seating 3000. They are to be installed in the gymnasium by Sept. 1. When not in use, the bleachers may be pushed against the wall and will permit use of the entire floor space for health, recreation, and physical education classes.

Work is being completed on the gymnasium itself. The entire building is being bricked and additional space is being added in front to provide space for a lobby, ticket booths, concession stand, classrooms, offices, dressing rooms, and public restrooms.

Drownings Total 5 Per Cent of All Accidental Deaths

Drownings account for 5 per cent of all accidental deaths, according to a report from the National Safety Council. Nearly 50 per cent of drowning victims are rural people and a majority of all infant drowning occur on farms, the report states.
Recent studies by N.S.C. have shown that nearly 90 per cent of farm residents who drowned were non-swimmers and that the majority of all infant drownings happen in such places as irrigation ditches, stock watering tanks, reservoirs and even tubs and crocks. The studies also showed that the principal cause of drownings are lack of knowledge, insufficient skill, poor judgment and just plain carelessness.

The council recommends the following precautions to reduce the needless loss of life from water sports:

Don't swim alone. Never go into the water when tired, overheated or immediately after eating. If you're not feeling well, stay out of the water.

Avoid exerting yourself beyond your strength and never dive into strange water where the depth and condition of the bottom are unknown.

If you go swimming in a pond or lake, keep a boat or raft anchored nearby for emergencies.

Don't overload a boat. There may be seats for more people than the boat should carry.

Always step into the center of the boat—never jump; never stand up in a moving boat; never permit horseplay.

Old tubs, boilers, jars or other containers should not be left around the farmstead. It takes as little as two inches of water to drown an infant.

Protect stock watering tanks and irrigation reservoirs. If possible, fence them off or cover them. Cisterns and wells should be inspected periodically to make sure coverings are secure.

Don't swim in irrigation ditches—and don't permit others to do so on your property.

There are 45 per cent more tractors and 25 per cent more automobiles on U.S. farms now than when the war ended, according to a report from the Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

First of the Fine Cars in Value

YOU can see this man has made his mark in life, and while his heart's still young.

You can tell he likes action for his money—that he knows a fine car needn't be the most expensive to give the greatest value.

Yes, such are the things you know of any man, when you note that his car is a ROADMASTER.

Follow him on his spirited way as he pilots this lively motorcar through traffic. Even the lightweights are no match for this road-steady husky—not with the 152-horsepower straight-eight Fireball engine that purrs beneath its bonnet.

Maneuver beside him at the next stop light. Then just try to get away as smoothly, swiftly and silently as Dynaflo Drive gets his ROADMASTER going—and keeps it rolling without shifting, even automatically.

But don't waste time merely envying the man in this great car! Why not emulate him?

With all its outside room, interior luxury and exterior grace—with all its front-rank prestige, rare performance and matchless ride—a ROADMASTER can be yours for less than some smaller cars cost.

In fact, even if you had a fortune to spend, you couldn't make a more fortunate buy in the fine-car field.

So we suggest you try a few minutes behind the wheel. We're confident they will convince you that ROADMASTER has everything you could ever ask for in any motorcar—although your Buick dealer asks a good bit less for ROADMASTER than you might pay for other top-line cars.

Girls in 4-H Vie for Dairy Food Honors

June was dairy month, during which milk production hit its annual high, and according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture, this month may have set an all-time record.

Trying for a record, too, are 300 New Mexico 4-H girls who are thinking up new ways to use the abundant supply of milk. They are participating in the 1950 national 4-H dairy foods demonstration program and will vie for top honors in county as well as in state and national competition.

Under guidance of local club leaders and extension agents, the 4-H'ers work individually and in teams to show club members and other groups the latest methods of preparing tasty, nutritious dairy foods. Favorites in the summer-time menus for 4-H families are ice cream, milk drinks, frozen desserts, and cottage cheese dishes.

ance are provided. Gold medals are presented to county winners, while each state winner is given a handsome watch. A trip to the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago next November is in store for eight national champions. Joy Ann Flowers of Albuquerque was national winner last year. State winners were Marjorie Paiz, Rosada; Dolores Lewis, Melrose; and Jessie Swinford, St. Vrain. County medals were awarded to 44 club members.

The program is arranged by the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work and supervised by the Co-operative Extension Service.

The Light As We See It

WE WILL NEVER FORGET Nov. 11, 1918. And we will never forget Aug. 14, 1945. In a way they are supposed to have the same sort of significance as July 4, 1776—the end of something.

In 1776 we were through with royalty and taxation without representation. In 1918 we had made the world "safe for democracy." In 1945 we thought we had done the same thing again, in addition to putting an end to dictatorship, which is somewhat the same thing.

And now in 1950 we are at it again, in a struggle to preserve that form of government which all thinking men without greed should see is the best in the long run for the world—for all men.

But there are those so greedy that they would rule the world, having all power to do all things. It is not the Russian people or the people of the nations under the Soviet influence, but a mere handful—a minority—of men within Russia and in other countries throughout the world who seek this power. The common man within those countries has no say. He is not a member of the party, so he has no voice.

As we celebrate V-J Day, let us think for a moment of what the three dates stand for. Let us thank God that we have a United States. And let us ask God that our way of life may continue and that all men may be brought to see the light as we see it.—A.L.B.

Don't Pick Best

POLITICS DON'T ALWAYS PROVIDE or pick the best man or individual for a particular job. This is true not only in election but it is true in the making of appointments.

We have never learned or if we have learned we have never realized that we must insist the best qualified individuals seek the public office and that the best qualified men and women be given the appointments to the various jobs.

Unfortunately we have permitted politics to dominate too many things for the good of our city, county, state and nation. We seem to have forgotten we elect people to do particular jobs and to render service to the people. We forget this in demanding that those qualified and able individuals be named to office.

Too many times we find that some political group pays a political debt by providing a job for some individual with these appointments. The political leaders are not concerned as to whether the individual is qualified—that seemingly doesn't matter. These matters should be those in which the people have a voice but they don't.

And that is because that we have permitted politics to take over our public affairs and to dictate and to dominate them. You can rest assured if the clamor of citizens were loud enough that some of the appointments made would never be made.

And perhaps the day will come when we realize how much waste of time and money prevails in our public offices. Perhaps the day will come when we realize how much of our time certain employees on the public payrolls use for their personal interests, how little good they do and how inefficient they are.

All of this results from the fact that we have not demanded that the best qualified men and women be named or appointed to public office. Instead of this, as we pointed out, we have permitted politics to run these affairs and to run them not only to insure that the politicians remain in power and office but to take care of the political faith.

The bill of operating our government continues to grow because we as citizens, taxpayers, voters and the real owners of governmental affairs have failed to demand efficiency and economy in public office.—O.E.P.

Where's The Answer?

EVERY INDIVIDUAL has a perfect right to live his or her own life just as they have a perfect right to do as they please in their many activities.

And every person has a perfect right to perform the duties in connection with their job and their daily tasks as they desire.

Most of us go around telling other folks what they should do and how they should do it when we haven't any right to voice or express these opinions.

And those of us, who may be told what we could or should do, don't waste much time taking any of the things which have been said very seriously.

But there are certain fundamentals which successful people have followed for years. Many of them are following these principles today. They have attained success or a degree of success in their work and effort.

Most of us, employers and many good workers, are concerned over the failure of individuals to take pride in their work and to do the best job possible in our chosen field or profession.

Just why, no one is right sure. Recently we were discussing this situation with an individual, who has a good job and who is successful in his work. He came up the hard way; he learned what he knows by doing and he does a good job.

He was asked just why it takes three people today to try to do what one and the most two did a few years ago. He was asked why a more frequent check had to be made of what was supposed to be done and why such close supervision had to be kept over individuals.

He was asked why the attitude seems to be to get all we can get; be careless; refuse to do the things which need to be done; refuse to take care of machinery and equipment; and our willingness to let those operating the business spend all the money possible for replacements and new parts when it was not necessary or needed, not needed because care and attention would save all of this.

He said he only had one answer—"We do not take the pride in our work today we once took."

Maybe that is the answer. But we do know that all employers are looking for a few more employees, who are loyal, dependable, trustworthy and who are interested in doing their jobs the best they possibly can and who seek to improve themselves, and their service because in this way they are improving themselves, their chance of promotion and for recognition and an increase in salary.

Maybe a little more pride in our work is the answer.—O.E.P.

There is no use for us to be afraid of what the Russians might do to this country; let the Russians worry about what we might do to them.

OUR NOMINATION FOR THE 'BUM'S RUSH'

What Other Editors Are Saying

THAT STATE INSURANCE BUSINESS

State insurance buying has reached a volume that merits consideration of state-supported insurance or at least the buying of insurance on a competitive basis.

Purchases handled by the state purchasing agent during the last business year came to $432,000 and did not include many items, among them the big sum spent for insuring public schools.

Many states have found it profitable to build up an insurance fund to handle their own risks. Whether New Mexico has a volume of insurance to make such a venture desirable we do not know. But it is apparent that the business has become so big that it should be offered for competitive bidding.

The state has always purchased insurance with the assumption that it is the same price wherever it is bought. That is generally true of small policies and single bonds but falls down on volume business. Almost any insurance agent will tell you that he can shave the price if the purchase is big enough. The chances are that the state would save considerable if it would whack its insurance business into several big blocks and hand it out to the agents offering the best price.—Santa Fe New Mexican.

GALLUP TO GET NATURAL GAS

Granting of permission for construction of the pipeline from the San Juan gas fields to the California border, with provision for supplying gas to Gallup and Arizona points en route, puts the question of natural gas here on a realistic basis. The next problem to be faced will be the matter of proper connections with the pipeline and a local distribution system. Decision must be made whether this will be done through a franchise to a privately owned utility company or undertaken by the city itself.

Many people feel that owing to the already heavy indebtedness on the electric power venture, and other municipal obligations, it would be better to allow private capital to shoulder this burden with proper provision for later purchase if deemed desirable and with suitable regulation of rates. When the project was first broached, the Southern Union Gas Company applied for a franchise here, but decision was deferred by the town board. If and when the matter comes up again for consideration, it ought to be referred to the voters and taxpayers who will have to pay the bills and not settled in star chamber discussions.—Gallup Independent.

PROPOSAL FOR WORLD PEACE

Let us erect a tower in the center of United Nations grounds in New York City.

Call it the Tower of Religion, or Tower of Faith, Tower of Peace. Let it be in the exact center of our new world capital because religion must be central in human life.

Broadcast a continuous program, carefully planned and well directed, consisting of selections from all the sacred books of all participating nations with the characteristic sacred music of these nations. Let there be only necessary announcements; no comment, explanation, preaching, or propaganda of any kind.

With periodic news broadcasts—news of United Nations and its work, making that body alive to the public, simplifying its work and closing with some message of hope or inspiration . . .

Democracy and freedom come from Christ and His word. "Ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free."

"His word is truth."

Such a broadcast kept up continuously, picked up by other stations and rebroadcast to nations all over the world, each in its own tongue, would outflank the "hate propaganda" of Russia.—Glenwood (Ark.) Herald.

BETTER FOR EVERYBODY

Attorney General Joe L. Martinez did a public service recently when he called attention to the law requiring that all meetings of city governing bodies be open to the public.

It is a service to the governing agencies, too. We never heard of a city government launching an unwise or unpopular program that had been freely discussed in open sessions. On the other hand the people of Santa Fe and probably elsewhere, can cite a long list of blunders that were undertaken in secret sessions when the representatives of the public withdrew to themselves and forgot they were representatives of the public.

It's better all around when the meetings are held in public.—Santa Fe New Mexican.

TO BE EXPECTED

The charge from Secretary of State Acheson that Soviet Russia has violated its United Nations obligations is much too mild in the circumstances.

He could have added that the Soviet has violated all the obligations a civilized nation has toward decency, truth and regard for the rights of people and nations.

Returning to the UN security council for its month of leadership, the Soviet probably has involved things to such a point that whatever peace moves may have been inaugurated are in practical stalemata at this early point in the conference.

Naturally the Soviet has no peaceful intentions. It wants the Korean war to go on until the communists have control of all the peninsula, if that is possible, and currently it is encouraged in its intentions by the successes of the North Koreans.

Chamber Topics

Chamber Topics

(Bob Koonce, manager of the Artesia Chamber of Commerce, has agreed to write an informative and newsy column every week for The Advocate, which is introduced today. This column is to be run every Friday more or less about whatever comes into Manager Koonce's mind relative to the chamber and is to be in addition to more important news emanating from his office.)

By Bob Koonce

We will not attempt to throw everything in at one time but it is hoped that a chamber column will be a regular feature in The Advocate hereafter. The manager was instructed to arrange for publication of a section devoted to chamber doings when he first came to Artesia. He held off this long because Brownie Emerson has been covering all chamber activities closely. All we could afford to publicize, at any rate.

However, it appears that you will keep up with us better if we get everything into one place. Since a straight recount of chamber work would be as dull as a cotton chopper's hoe in a caliche patch, we intend to bring in unrelated items to stimulate our interest.

Such as this: A few farmers, including "Doc" Haldeman, have remarked upon the unusual weather. In August New Mexico Magazine is an article detailing rain-making experiments at Socorro School of Mines. One excerpt says " . . . if those directing seeding operations are not skilled, the result may be rain stopping. A further disastrous effect is that silver iodide particles will remain in the clouds or air until proper conditions exist for them to act as "triggers."

A layman's conclusion from this might be that, with various seeders of clouds at work west of us, they are drifting our way with what it takes to help rain. If such is the case, we all wait the day when they can call their shots for areas of need.

Also in that issue is an old ad plugging V-J Day here, bought by local businesses, text and layout by this writer and photos by Gable. Which is what we were getting around to all the time.

Publicity is by no means the only function of a chamber. However, as a preview we can tell you some of our plans. We will have an article in New Mexico Magazine in October; we plan an El Paso Times feature on the ball park the Eagles built with their own hands; some farm magazine will probably be interested in the local soil conservation pioneer, Russ Goodin. Assuming, of course, that these people will allow us to write them up. It will be good for us all, is our argument.

It is generally known by now that $40,000 is included in the county-road budget for the oil field-potash road. According to an earlier agreement, the road is to be worked until completion as a unit, all the way through. Length, from Highway 83 to juncture with pavement at P.C.A., is about 21 miles. New fields, we are informed by oil producers, will be directly served by the road.

Someone is going to hit the jackpot within a very few weeks. Merchants are giving everything from baskets of food to business brief cases as prizes in a "Trade in Artesia" contest which is under way right now. Total value of the prizes is $180 and growing all the time. See contest rules in this newspaper. The most you can possibly be out on the deal is a 3 cent stamp.

A Mr. Josey from Post, Texas, was here recently with a party of about ten people, on the first stop of a vacation. He declared his intention of tracing ancestors with the Artesia Joseys. Also, they all wanted to catch some fish. The manager showed them the bogs, Clark's Lake and Cottonwood Creek. This was just after so many locals had been having fabulous luck in the bogs.

Our Texas guests failed to catch many fish. We wish they had for undoubtedly some of their neighbors would have come over later, spent money in our restaurants and tourist courts, helping everyone. But others will come over from time to time.

Which is unfortunate. A chamber manager should somehow manage the time to research into local fishing and other recreational resources hereabouts, although he cannot. Purely in the interest of better information, you know.

There are more than 8000 known species of grasses.

Inside WASHINGTON

See Twice as Many Planes—But When?

Production Step-up Easier Before War II

Special to Central Press

WASHINGTON—Aircraft production will be ordered doubled under the accelerated defense program and the warplane builders will be criticized when they announce it will take eight months to turn the trick.

Critics will recall President Roosevelt's call for annual production of 50,000 warplanes when the United States got into World War II. They will point out that the industry expanded production from about 3,500 planes a year to the 50,000 figure in a little under two years.

These critics will forget that the Roosevelt order was accompanied by all-out emergency controls, which enabled the plane-builders to get materials and overcome other hurdles which will not be removed in the present instance.

Best inside information is that it will take the plane factories a year to triple production under existing conditions—and another year to triple it again.

A-BOMB BY PIGGY-BACK—The piggy-back rocket fired at Basus River, Fla., sets the stage for a new series of experiments which may culminate in atom bomb-carrying guided missiles which can pinpoint their targets across thousands of miles.

The double-header composed of a German V-2 with an American-made WAC Corporal in the nose reached an altitude of 10 miles, but traveled 63 miles out over the Atlantic before ditching itself.

The heavy V-2 carried the Corporal up 51,000 feet, then set off the smaller rocket. The WAC traveled 15 miles beyond the horizontal distance covered by the V-2.

Defense officials immediately pointed out that this first horizontal firing of the paired rockets could have covered a much greater distance.

They mentioned the possibility of piggy-back assemblies composed not of two, but of three or four rockets to gain greater distance.

Both at White Sands and at Point Mugu, the Armed Services are setting up devices to withstand thrusts up to 500,000 pounds and air blast facilities greater than any built before.

This would indicate that the services are working to increase both the speed and distance of the rockets. The first piggy-back rocket reached a speed estimated at 3,600 miles an hour.

GETTING ACQUAINTED—The State department has gone beyond cultivating members of Congress themselves in its efforts to make lawmakers understand the scope and nature of American foreign policy and its problems.

They are well into a program of giving special briefings to administrative assistants and secretaries from Capitol Hill. It's the same kind of fill-in department chiefs have been giving senators and representatives themselves at a series of evening smokers.

Assistant Secretary of State Jack McFall, who is responsible for liaison with Congress, wisely concluded that the administrative assistants to senators and the secretaries of representatives actually handle most of the department matters that cross a member's desk.

So the assistants have been given an inside look at the department. They are not only shown its functions physically, they are shown the kind of reports, intelligence and recommendations that go to the Secretary of State for the formulation of policy.

To date about 130 assistants have been briefed. McFall next will tackle the House secretaries.

Members of 4-H To Compete in Two Programs

New Mexico 4-H Club boys and girls will be competing for honors in two highly important national 4-H awards programs this year, according to L. S. Kurtz, state 4-H Club leader.

Awards in the meat animal program include gold-filled medals, gold watches, Chicago 4-H Club Congress trips and $300 college scholarships, on county, state, sectional levels, respectively. Thomas E. Wilson, meat packer and chairman of the National Committee on Boys and Girls Club Work, will sponsor the award for his 21st consecutive year.

The soil and water conservation program is now set up for two age groups—one for boys and girls 15 to 21 years old, and the other for those 10 to 14, inclusive. The older group is required to complete a more comprehensive project. Medals for county winners and gold watches and $25 Savings Bonds for state champions are provided. Sectional winners get Chicago Club Congress trips. National awards are $300 college scholarships.

Charles Franklin of Melrose, Roosevelt County, was last year's state champion in the meat animal program. Romolo Turrietta of Albuquerque won sectional and state honors in soil conservation.

Complete information on these programs may be obtained from county extension agents.

The Wool Front

By Bill Snyder
Extension Wool Marketing Specialist

New normal world wool demand indicates that there should be more sheep produced! The Office of Foreign Agricultural Relations forecast a world wool yield of 3 billion 890 million pounds in 1950. But the average annual production from 1936-40 was more than 40 million pounds above this figure.

Moreover, world population has increased and per capita purchasing power has gained considerably, so that we should be producing more wool, not less, to keep up with today's market.

Also, recent trends point towards a brisk turnover in foreign wools when Dominion auctions open again soon. And the outlook here is strong. During July, October wool futures rose nearly 10 per cent, December wool futures came up over 14 per cent, and May futures increased about 8 per cent. Present-day world wool scarcity plus anticipated war contracts have strengthened the future wool market. And only early end to the Korean crisis or the imposition of price controls would likely cause an appreciable drop in futures, now.

Early in August, Boston trade attention was directed to Albuquerque, where the wool warehouse reportedly would offer 2 and one fourth million pounds of wool. From late advises, about one-half million pounds has been shown and sold from 48 to 65 cents.

Texas original bag fine lots generally sold in the 70-to-75-cent range during last month. Though the late July COMMERCIAL BULLETIN reported sales of 400,000 pounds of graded fine staple wool at Sonora for 85 cents, or nearly $1.90, clean. Elsewhere in the West, some choice origina bag, bulk half blood lots sold up to $1.78, clean price Boston. But most territory areas have been largely cleaned up by this time.

Annual Sheep Tours To Be Aug. 30-31

Aug. 30-31 have been set as the dates for the second New Mexico sheep ranch tour, sponsored by the New Mexico Wool Growers Association and the Extension Service of the New Mexico A&M College. The first tour, which was held last year, was attended by several hundred ranchers from New Mexico and neighboring states.

This year's tour will again have its headquarters in Roswell and will start from there both mornings. An entirely different group of ranchers will be visited on the 1950 tour.

The program for August 30 calls for visits to ranches in the Flying H, Hope, and Picacho areas. The next day, touring ranchers will inspect several ranches in the Vaughn area, north of Roswell.

es of the traffic problem and to draw an entire new safety code which will strengthen all of our legislation pertaining to traffic safety. I am also asking this committee to make recommendations to be submitted to the next legislature.

Last year there were 245 persons killed in traffic accidents in our state. This was 9 fewer than were killed in 1948 and 15 fewer than were killed in 1946, but this number still is far too great and is a stigma on our record. New Mexico wants to be at the top in its safety program.

I am not trying to assess blame. The state itself must share in this blame. Highway safety is a matter that must have the co-operation of all governing bodies, as well as all organizations and individuals to be a success. We must achieve a better safety record.

By Thomas J. Mabry GOVERNOR

"There is so much good in the worst of us, and so much bad in the best of us, that it's hard to tell which one of us ought to reform the rest of us."

The traffic safety for the state of New Mexico, while considerably improved over the last three years, is still not good. Our record on the whole is better than that in five Western states, but it is not as good as in four of these states. This leaves us in the unenviable position of being between good and bad.

While authorities agree that it is not fair to compare the record of the Western states, which have a high proportion of tourist travel, with other areas, we still have great latitude for improvement.

The whole nation is alarmed at the tragic toll of lives taken each year in traffic accidents. To correct this condition, we must begin at home. This is one operation where, to achieve results, we must have improvement from the local level to the state level.

Shortly after I took office, I appointed a traffic safety co-ordinating committee which has worked with the President's Safety Conference, but even with several departments working on this job, we still have not achieved the results that we should. From figures compiled by the various departments which have to do with traffic safety in one form or another, we find that New Mexico ranks fifth among the states in the western group in the over-all highway safety program.

In 1946, the death rate per one hundred million highway miles traveled was 13.9. In 1949, the rate had dropped to 10.1, which was a decrease of 19.5 percent in three years. During the last year there have been improvements made in nearly all categories of safety operation, but the improvements have not been great enough.

We are strong on school safety and vehicle inspection. We are not strong on rural accident reporting. The law requires that every accident involving property damage of more than $25 shall be reported to the Driver's Licensing Division. This is not being done as it should be. We are not strong on disseminating information on traffic safety, although some departments are doing a good job and we need to strengthen our legislation.

In order to strengthen the entire program, I have named a new committee to study all phases

Cotton Fields Are Ripe For Insect Damage

Conditions in cotton fields the past few weeks have been very favorable for insect development. County Agent Dallas Rierson said. General showers and high temperatures have resulted in very humid conditions in the cotton fields, making them a regular incubator for bollworm eggs. This may cost the farmer money later on because bollworm and leafworm damage in the field is on the increase even now. Rierson reminded the cotton crop is to make systematic surveys of the cotton fields at least once, preferably twice, a week," the county agent advises. "This serves to keep the farmer posted on insect conditions and lets him know when to begin poison operations. Too often, cotton insect control is delayed until most of the cotton crop is destroyed before poison operations begin. On the other hand, poison that costs the farmer thousands of dollars is applied simply because some farmer "down the road" started poisoning. In either case, chances are that satisfactory results will not be obtained. "If the farmer knows the level of infestation of specific insects, proper control measures may be applied at the right time."
