McQuays Trek 6884 Miles on Trip Over 14 States and One Province

By HARRY SINGER

Traveling 6,884 miles in 14 states and British Columbia, the first face to face meeting with a "pen pal", and getting to sit in the governor's chair were some of the highlights of a trip recently completed by Mr. and Mrs. R. F. McQuay, Bobby 16, and Buddy 13, 813 South Fourth. Mr. McQuay is a carpenter and cabinet maker, and the trip was made in a trailer he had built. The meeting with his correspondence buddy took place in Vancouver, B. C. McQuay and William Mitchell who lives in Deep Cove, 10 miles east of Vancouver, first got acquainted in 1941. McQuay had written a letter to a national magazine, which Mitchell answered. From this, regular correspondence developed, as they found they had other interests in common.

For one thing both of them are Scotch as McQuay was quick to point out. One of the highlights for Mrs. McQuay was getting to sit in the governor's chair in Salt Lake City. The capitol at Salt Lake City was one of eight visited by the McQuays on their trip. One of the outstanding features of it is the Gold Room, which is a conference room laid out with brocade walls, gold tapestry and embroidery.

It has a conference table and a big armchair which is reserved for the governor and for celebrities. This was the chair that Mrs. McQuay got to sit in. While in the capitol they also took time to study the history of the Mormon Church, in which both are interested, although neither Mr. nor Mrs. McQuay are Mormons.

From the capitol's records they also got an idea on how the country had grown over the past few years.

Hear Organ Concert
While in Salt Lake City the McQuays also inspected the famous Tabernacle and heard a 40-minute concert performed on the pipe organ, which is a daily feature of the Tabernacle.

They said they were impressed by the acoustics of the place. While in Salt Lake City they took a swim in the Great Salt Lake. Even the rank beginners can go swimming in the Lake as it is almost impossible to drown in it, according to Mrs. McQuay.

During their swim they met a man floating around the lake dressed in swimming trunks with a towel draped around the top of his body and wearing a straw hat. Baron Bull Inn

He was an arthritic patient and he told them that he had kept (Continued on page 8)

Lions to Hold 1952 Conclave in Mexico City

Artesia is going to be represented at the Lions International convention in Mexico City next year. At their regular weekly luncheon at noon Wednesday in the Masonic Temple, members voted to send a delegate to the convention, even though the expense means a raise in the annual dues of members.

D. D. Archer, District 40-X governor, member of the local club, represented Artesia at the 1951 convention, held in Atlantic City, N. J.

James Megason, Safeway Stores manager, was presented as a new member of the Artesia club.

Guests were Kenneth Williams, Nelson Food Store butcher and Edson Jones from Waukegan, Ill., an uncle of Johnny Lanning.

Mrs. Johnny Lanning was selected as the Lions representative in the United Veterans Rodeo queen contest. The rodeo is slated for Sept. 13-15.

That membership in the Artesia Chapter of Future Farmers of America is increasing steadily each year, was a statement contained in a speech by Hunt Zumwalt, Artesia High School junior. He said the chapter membership now owns $65,000 worth of livestock and that the boys keep, own and pay for all projects.

Other business at the meeting consisted in talk on the Lions Club Turtle Derby, to be held Sept. 14-15 at Morris Field Stadium. A mimeographed circular, signed by Floyd Springer, derby chairman, lists rules and regulations, previously carried in stories in The Artesia Advocate.

Your Assistance Needed to Help This Six-Year-Old Artesia Girl

Hearts of Artesians and of other Eddy County residents have been touched by the plight of little Lula Belle Langford, 6, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Langford of Artesia. The child is to undergo an expensive heart operation next Tuesday, Aug. 28, in a Dallas hospital. Cost of the operation will be between $1200 and $1500. Your help is asked. Bring or mail your contribution to the Langford Fund to The Artesia Advocate, 316 West Main, Post Office Box 427, Artesia, New Mexico.

Fifteen Donors Respond First Day to Langford Fund Appeal

At check-in time on the Langford Fund, 9 a. m., yesterday, a total of $91 had been received by The Artesia Advocate and handed over to Mrs. James Boggs, 321 West Missouri, for deposit to the fund's credit in a local bank.

The fund is to pay the cost of an operation for Lula Belle Langford, 6, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. (Preacher) Langford of Artesia. The child has a malformed heart and on Tuesday, Aug. 28, is to undergo an operation in a Dallas hospital, Mrs. Boggs said.

The Langfords left Artesia at 4 p. m. Tuesday, Aug. 21. En route they will visit with grandparents of the child.

Mrs. Boggs explained how the idea of the fund started. She said the child must undergo the operation, estimated to cost between $1200 and $1500, despite the state of the Langford family finances.

She said she wanted to raise the sum within a fortnight. Mrs. Boggs came to Artesia from Carlsbad. Her husband is manager of an appliance concern. Mrs. Bud Boggs, 412 South Fourth, is working with Mrs. James Boggs in the movement. Bud is a cousin of James.

Both families are members of the Missionary Baptist Church, which has purchased a building location, but pending construction, holds services in the Odd Fellows Hall.

Langford has lived in Artesia 23 years. He deals in junk batteries and is known to many service station owners. Langford sometimes serves as a substitute preacher.

How Fund is Handled
In response to a call from Mrs. James Boggs, The Artesia Advocate consented to serve as a collection center for the fund. Contributions can be brought in or mailed in. If mailed, they should be addressed to Langford Fund, The Artesia Advocate, Post Office Box 427, Artesia, New Mexico.

Checks should be made payable to Langford Fund. Persons making contributions should list their full name and address at the time of making donations so an accurate record can be kept.

Each morning, Mrs. Boggs is to call at The Advocate, 316 West Main, and collect the money and list of donors. The money goes into a special fund account at a local bank. List of names of donors will be published in The Advocate and will also be supplied Radio Station KSPV.

The donations can be turned in at The Advocate to any employee. Brownie Emerson, news editor, receives all money turned in to him or other Advocate employees, keeps a record of contributors and then turns the money and list over to Mrs. Boggs.

First Givers
Actually the fund is $93, not $91, as a $2 contribution was received after check-in time from C. E. Fletcher, 405 West Washington. The donation of Fletcher will be (Continued on Page Eight)

Scout Official Gives Views on West Point Deal

Kiwanis yesterday heard Bill McCree, area Boy Scouts executive from Carlsbad expound on the West Point cheating scandal and the Communist Youth Rally in East Berlin.

McCree pointed out that criticisms of the action of the West Point cadets ordered dismissed, were unfair when placed side by side with the actions of public officials, engage in more serious activities, about which nothing is done.

He also compared the teachings of the Communist sponsored youth rally in East Berlin with the international Boy Scouts jamboree going on simultaneously in Western Europe.

The Communists were teaching hatred and mistrust, the Boy Scouts friendliness and fellowship.

Commenting further on weaknesses in our own democratic system, McCree cited figures released by J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI on the number of shoddy and illegal practices going on in the nation.

He also mentioned that right here in Eddy County there were six convicted for sex perversion in the last year.

McCree said the answer to all these problems was a stronger Boy Scouts movement.

Justin Newman and Paul Frost were appointed to the Kiwanis troop committee, Troop 82.

Guests of the club at yesterday's meeting were H. V. Kain, REA field representative from Abilene, Texas; Billy Ryan, Russell, Crawford, Clyde Holdridge, Aubrey Gregg, all of Roswell.

Yesterday's meeting was held at noon in the upstairs dining room of Cliff's Cafeteria.

Currents Take Detour, Kansas Gets Our Rain

Tropical moist air currents which usually hit New Mexico during June and July failed to get here this year.

That's what members of Precipitation Research Corporation learned at their recent meeting in Roswell, according to a story in the Roswell Daily Record.

Source of the information was Dr. Irving P. Krick of Denver who is chief meteorologist of the Water Resources Development Corporation of Denver, some of whose findings were the subject of a story in The Advocate of Aug. 14.

Dr. Krick went on to explain that the tropical currents which usually hit New Mexico during the summer months veered northward instead and that's how Kansas got its floods, while New Mexico (Continued on page three)

Rotary to Stage 'Ladies Night' Program Tuesday

A ladies night and intercity meeting will be held by Artesia Rotary Club at 7 p. m., Tuesday, Aug. 28, with Bill Duckworth of Clovis, district governor, as the main speaker.

Dr. C. P. Bunch will be in charge of the program. The night assembly will take the place of the regular weekly luncheon held on Tuesday noon at the Masonic Temple, which will be the location of the intercity meeting.

At the regular weekly luncheon at noon Tuesday, Aug. 21, the club heard E. B. Bullock of E. B. Bullock & Sons Feed Store, 105 South First, tell of "The Best Customer I Ever Had."

Bullock related how, on beginning business 40 years ago, with a scant capital of only $1000, stranger came into his store and ordered feed for his sheep. The amount of the sale on the first day of Bullock's venture, was $3400.

In another part of the program, a sextet of Explorer Post 295 boys told of their 120-mile canoe trip this summer on Ontario lakes. An advance and follow-up story of the excursion was the subject of stories at the times in The Artesia Advocate.

Amendment 2 Views Given By Educator

"Seldom in the history of New Mexico has a more important issue been presented to the voters than the proposed Constitutional Amendment 2," according to a release today from the executive secretary of the New Mexico Education Association, John P. Steiner.

He further says that under the present constitutional provisions, there is a seven member board, five appointed by the governor, with the governor and the state superintendent as ex-officio members.

Responsibility between superintendent and board is not fixed, and the term of the board is limited to the electoral term of the governor and superintendent. Therefore, long term planning and continuous administration, is impossible.

Since the superintendent is an elected officer and is a member of his own board, there is an over-emphasis on partisan politics.

Attendance Rising
The increase in the number of children entering schools in New Mexico, combined with continually reducing margins in raising necessary finances, make it necessary for all citizens to give serious attention to increasing the business efficiency, the continuity of policy and the provisions for long range planning in the State Department of Education.

Amendment 2 provides just that. It creates a 9-member state board of education, chosen, one each from the nine judicial district of New Mexico.

Each member must be a resident of his district and his term of office is terminated if he should move from the district. The powers of the board remain the same as that of the present one, with one important provision.

Under the proposed amendment, the board will have the power to appoint the state superintendent of public instruction and the appointee must have at least a master's degree and he must have experience in educational administration.

Manner of choosing the board will be determined by legislative act upon passage of the amendment.

Helm Funeral Rites to Be Held Saturday

Funeral services for Mrs. Clarence C. Helm, 80, a resident of Artesia since 1945, will be held after a short illness at 1:30 p. m., Wednesday, Aug. 22, in Artesia General Hospital, will be conducted at 3 p. m. tomorrow, Saturday, Aug. 25, in First Baptist Church, Rev. S. M. Morgan, pastor, will officiate. Burial will be in Woodbine cemetery.

Mrs. Helm was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Luthi. Her maiden name was Laura Elizabeth Luthi and she was born June 13, 1871, in Westfield, N. Y. She married Clarence C. Helm in 1900 at Salina, Kan.

The couple was the parents of four children, three of whom are living. They are two daughters, Mrs. T. L. Archer of Artesia and Mrs. Melvin Johnson of El Reno, Okla. and a son, Carson, Louisville, Ky. Mr. and Mrs. Helm came to Artesia six years ago from El Reno.

Other survivors are the husband, nine grandchildren, three great grandchildren and a brother, Edward S. Luthie of Seattle.

Pallbearers will be J. I. Exum, W. R. Wood, J. T. Haile, Dennis Nelson, Fred Cole and D. D. Archer; honorary pallbearers, T. E. Brown, T. J. Bratcher, Charley Ransbarger and J. C. Jesse.

Members of the United Veterans Club rodeo committee went to Tucumcari last Saturday to see the Elliott-Steiner rodeo production, sponsored in that city by the Sheriff's posse. Those who made the trip were Fred L. Jacobs, F. M. McGinty, Harold Naylor and Donald S. Bush.

Those who made the trip came back singing praises of the Elliott-Steiner rodeo which will be shown here under the auspices of the United Veterans club on Sept. 13-15 at the Artesia Municipal Stadium.

The members state the rodeo stock is so rough that only two bulls were ridden for the full length of time and only one barrel rider stayed on until the whistle blew.

Specialty Acts
From what these members of the rodeo committee saw at Tucumcari, Artesia is in for one of the finest shows ever presented in the Southwest. The arena carries some action every minute and the show is run like clockwork.

In addition to the salty stock that is the basic part of the rodeo, the specialty acts that come to Artesia will be among the most interesting ever seen here. Wild Bill Elliott will quite possibly form a posse of local youngsters and capture bank robbers in a comedy skit that is a sight to behold.

Steiner and Elliott hope to arrive in Artesia Sept. 8 and stay here for the week of Sept. 9.

Rodeo Queen
Arrangements have been made between the United Veterans club and Alpha Nu Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha to crown the rodeo queen on the first night of the rodeo, Sept. 13. Coronation ceremonies will be handled by Wild Bill Elliott from Hollywood.

In addition to crowning the queen, a box will be reserved for the queen and her attendants, so she may reign over the rodeo for all three nights.

Appropriate costuming and regal accoutrements will be furnished her majesty throughout the show.

At the same meeting, it was announced by Fred L. Jacobs, chairman of the rodeo committee, that the printing of the pictorial program for the rodeo had been commenced and should be available for distribution before Sept. 5. This program will be one of the finest brochures ever presented by the Artesia community.

Chairman Jacobs appointed Lowe Wickersham chairman of the committee to take care of vehicular parking at the rodeo.

Plans have been completed for the construction of the arena at the Artesia Municipal Park and for the care and maintenance of the sod now present there.

Nine Enter Race For Rodeo Queen

Country Club Chatter

By JACK FAUTLEROV

Construction on the swimming pool started a month ago, and last Tuesday final wiring and water hookups were being made in order to start filling the pool on Wednesday.

Chuck Brown is to be complimented on the speed and workman-like manner in which this pool has been finished. Although the diving boards and slide have not arrived at this time, they can be readily installed as soon as they get here.

The bottom of the pool has been poured in blue colored concrete. After the pool has held water for about three weeks, the water will be drained out and after the pool dries, the rest of the pool will be painted.

Water will be changed often since the pool will serve as a reservoir for the club irrigating system and all the water will be utilized.

Other names to the list of contributors who were honored by club members last Wednesday night are Pete Starr, Earl Allen, and Southern Union Gas Company. All the contributors were guests of honor at the stag affair Thank You Night.

Hundred Attend Feed
The Calcutta and Pre-Tournament Feed crowd exceeded 100 members and their guests. Everyone seemed to have a pretty lively time, and before the evening was over, the tournament favorites had been pretty well determined. The Championship Flight still has four of these favorites working toward the finals.

I have the inside information and I don't mind passing it on to you, Gentle Reader. The finals on Sunday will be a play-off between Bill and Bob. It wouldn't be fair to tell you if the Bill will be an Angley or a Bullock, nor to tell you if the Bob will be Bourland or a Bergman. Both Bills and both Bobs meet each other in the semi-finals, which will probably be played on Saturday afternoon. The winners will meet each other in the Finals, starting about 1:30 Sunday afternoon.

Final matches in all flights, both winner and consolation matches will be played at that time. Everyone, whether you are a member of the club or not, will be welcome to come out and follow the matches. Trophies will be presented to all winners on Sunday, after the matches.

Some of the winners have already been determined. The medalist trophy was won by Bob Bourland, with a low score of 71. Phil Kranz, Jr., won the driving contest with three drives in the middle of the fairway, averaging 228 yards per drive. The winner of the putting contest will be determined by a play-off between Bob Bourland and Stanley Sutton.

didn't get any rain to speak of. Usually currents from the Pacific and Caribbean come to Eastern New Mexico early in the year and help to produce rain.

With the failure of the currents to show, not only was there no natural rain, but also made it impossible to produce rain by cloud seeding, as there were no clouds.

Dr. Krick denounced as unscientific rumors that had been circulated that rain-making experiments had been responsible for the recent Kansas floods.

He gave three reasons as to why there could be no possible connection between experiments conducted by his group and the Kansas floods.

1.—No cloud seeding experiments were going on in New Mexico at the time of the Kansas floods, because there were no clouds to seed.

2.—If seeding had been going on, the silver iodide would have diffused long before it ever got to Kansas.

3.—There were no prevailing air currents which could have blown the silver iodide crystals to Kansas.

Rancher Is Booster
L. D. Merchant, Lincoln county rancher, urged continuance of the project even though it had not produced any startling results to date.

He said if people are willing to gamble on horses they ought to be willing to take a chance on this rainmaking business.

Members of the Precipitation Research Corporation, of which an Eddy County man, C. O. Moore, of Carlsbad, is president are vitally interested in the project as they paid a $17,500 "retainer" to Dr. Krick's organization.

The contract between Precipitation Research Corporation and Water Resources Development Corporation calls for $55,000 to be shelled out by the New Mexico organization if 17.6 inches or rainfall at 13 designated weather stations by Sept. 30.

The 13 stations are in the ten

School Bus Drivers To Gather Monday At Lakewood School

A note received by The Artesia Advocate yesterday, postmarked Aug. 22, and signed by C. H. Murdock tells of a school bus drivers' meeting at Lakewood school set for 10 a. m., Monday, Aug. 27.

Murdock, secretary-treasurer, does not define the group but presumably means all the school bus drivers in the Artesia section.

Each driver is to attend and bring his family and each family is to bring a basket lunch for the noon meal. Plans will be completed for a bus drivers' school to be conducted next month by Mrs. E. L. Martin of Albuquerque.

Civil Service Offers Air Navigation Jobs

Are you a navigation specialist parenthesis air parenthesis?

If so, Uncle Sam has a job for you. It pays $3825 to $6400 every 12 months, which is considerably more than you would make as a newspaperman.

The U. S. Civil Service secretary in Artesia, George F. King, announced that a new civil service examination for navigation specialist (air) would be given. Work would be with the naval hydrographic office, navy department and in other federal agencies in Washington, D. C., and vicinity.

No written tests will be given. Age limits 18 to 62, will be waived. Complete information can be obtained from Secretary King at the Artesia post office, 105 North Fifth.

Southeastern New Mexico counties in which Precipitation Research operates.

If 17.6 inches of rain fell in the area it would represent an increase of 7.3 inches, as the average rainfall is 10.3 inches.

An interesting sidelight to the meeting was that while it was in progress a smattering of rain fell in Roswell.

The meeting was held in the Chaves County court house on Aug. 15, and reported in the Roswell Daily Record of Aug. 16.

Explanation, says Austin J. Stuart, assistant postmaster, is that the fee went up sometime ago and perhaps it had been a long time since the patron had sent a registered letter.

Bollies on Run But Spiders Gain, County Agent Says

The bollies are retreating, red spiders are gathering strength and there's a sortie on by aphids, says Dallas Rierson, Carlsbad, Eddy County farm agent, in a report dated Aug. 18, received by The Artesia Advocate on Aug. 18.

Agent Rierson says: "Bollworms seem to be on the decrease at this time. However, some eggs and small worms are being found generally over the county. They warrant watching and when they start hatching, control measures should be taken. This should be about the last crop."

Red spiders are building up in several fields and are causing considerable damage. Some are dusting with sulphur and getting some control, but in fields that are heavily infested, you will probably need to use a 1 per cent parathion dust, or spray with one pint of 25 per cent parathion or TEPP.

Aphids are showing also in several fields, where they are appearing, dusting with 2-10-40 will give control for aphids as well as bollworms.

The U. S. Air Force was established Aug. 1, 1907, as the aeronautical division of the Army signal corps.

TEXAS BRED YELLOW FEVER DE VELOPS HORSE RESISTANCE TO MAN INTO SCIENCE TO BE SHOWN AT VETERANS RODEO

When the chute gages open on "Yellow Fever," a top bareback bronc in the Elliott-Steiner rodeo string, the cowboy whose spurs are in his shoulders will have to take a deep hold to last more than the first jump. "Yellow Fever" has lost the best of the top cowboys, and is typical of the broncs and bulls that "Wild Bill" Elliott and Tommy Steiner have scoured the Southwest for their strings of rough stock are the largest, roughest and best in the entire southwestern part of the country.

"Yellow Fever" has quite a record, and a unique background... one that particularly fits him for the job he holds in the rodeo world. He was foaled a few years back in the BRASADA, Maverick County, Texas, and until he was past four years old had never felt the touch of rope or human. A Maverick County rancher finally caught the big dun stud, and in the process of bringing him in, lost two cowboys and three horses to the hospital and glue factory.

Two years ago coming out of the chutes developed this horse's resistance to man to a free art. Tommy Steiner saw the horse lose his rider at several small shows before he approached the producer, and he had to pay the price of a top cutting horse before "Yellow Fever" became an Elliott-Steiner bronc. This is typical of the care in selection that resulted in the bucking stock you'll see at Artesia in the United Veterans Rodeo to be held on Sept. 13-15.

"Look out! Hell's Below!" When the announcer yells that statement over the loud speaker Sept. 13-15, keep your eyes on the big red horse that will come bellowing out of the chute! Hell's Below is the name of one of the top bareback broncs in the Elliott-Steiner string of rough stock that these two famous men, a Western movie star and one of the best known Texas rodeo producers, have gathered from all parts of the Southwest to entertain and thrill rodeo audiences. Hell's Below came from the cold ranges of Montana, and as much as is known of this outlaw's history indicates that he discouraged many a cowboy before "Wild Bill" Elliott and Tommy Steiner recognized his value as a bucking horse and added him to their string. This big sorrel goes up high and comes down stiff-legged and hard. Few riders have been able to ride him very far past the white line and those that did had stiff joints and aching muscles for days after their battle with Hell's Below!

sued a formal statement to the effect that "owner feels confident of winning both races. Has already wagered all the family 'jools' with the local bookies and is trying to place three of his four children on wagers. He claims his turtle, which he calls 'Fertile Myrtle, sired by Plugged Nickel, out of Slot Machine,' is 'full blood turtle stock' descended from 'Ally Baby,' the famous Arabian sire, and is the entry of the Bubble Gum Stables," of which Fauntleroy is owner. "Purchased three years ago at auction of two year olds at highest price ever paid for a turtle colt," says Jack. "Figure paid ranks into six digits but we are unable to give exact price as we don't know where to put the decimal point."

Artesia and Carlsbad Gridiron Feud Goes on Even Among Sailors

Cavemen and Bulldogs still battle—even when in the Navy. So writes Bobby Flynn, 1951 Artesia High School graduate, a boot at the naval training center in San Diego. In a letter to E. B. Emerson, news editor of The Artesia Advocate, the tar writes: "In Company 567 are two boys from Carlsbad and one boy from Artesia, and in Company 707, two from Artesia and two from Carlsbad. The Carlsbad boys are saying that the Cavemen will take the Bulldogs in football next season. The Artesia boys think different. Now what I wonder is what do the coaches think? "The Artesia boy is my buddy I talked into going in with me the first time. You may remember him, Kenneth Dixon, manager of the '51 Bulldog basketball team and a right guy. He is in his ninth week of training while I'm just in my third. "On the 15th we'll get to wear our white. Primary will be over and we'll get to go to the g-hunk (soda fountain). "I got recommended for airman school in Jacksonville, Fla. If I get it I will go there. Warty (Gibson) and I both qualified as swimmers in a swimming test. "I fought a round in a boxing

New Mexico Fair Horse Show Has Purse of $5000

The annual New Mexico Fair horse show at Albuquerque reflects a land where cattle still roam the range and where men go after them on horseback. It's not a show for the formal habit and flat saddle set. It is western through and through. Top animals from half a dozen Western states will be on exhibit here during the 1951 exposition, Sept. 29-Oct. 7. They'll represent more than 100 breeders. They'll be shooting at close to $5,000 in premiums offered. The two basic divisions of the show indicate its rangeland character. The tough, speedy Quarter Horse and the beautiful Palomino will compete in both halter and performance classes. The Quarter Horse show is an official show of the American Quarter Horse Association, conducted under its rules. The New Mexico Quarter Horse Association cooperates in its management. The Palomino show is the official show of the New Mexico Palomino Exhibitors Association and is run under regulations of the Palomino Horse Breeders of America. Judges in both shows will be approved by the national organizations. Champion stallions and champion mares will be named in halter classes. Performance class entries must have shown in halter classes, too. NMPEA will present trophies to champion Palomino stallion and mare and to first winners in performance classes. AQHA will give trophies to Quarter Horse champions and NMQA to first winners in performance. Purses of the Cutting Horse Contest, open to entries in either of the halter shows is $500, plus entry fees and a handsome trophy to first place given by the state horse associations. Other horse show activities include the Junior Show, performance classes for young riders under 17, scheduled Monday, Oct. 1, the Western Riding Show, sponsored by NMQA and open to both Quarter Horses and Palominos Saturday, Oct. 6, and an auction of Quarter Horse and Palomino colts of 1950 and 1951, set for Thursday, Oct. 4. Last year's State Fair horse show had entries by breeders from New Mexico, Texas, Arizona, Colorado and Oklahoma. Fair officials are counting on a larger and even more representative show this year. Entries for both Quarter Horse and Palomino divisions close Sept. 17. Details can be obtained from the State Fair premium book. For free copies write Leon H. Harms, Secretary-Manager, New Mexico State Fair, P. O. Box 1693, Albuquerque, N. M. Two experienced horsemen are in charge of the 1951 show. Jack Dean of Willard is superintendent, assisted by John Dickinson, of Albuquerque.

Quarter Horses To Be on Parade At State Fair

The Quarter Horse, wiry product of the western range, comes into his own each year at the New Mexico Fair in Albuquerque. One of the two chief divisions of the State Fair horse show is devoted to Quarter Horses. Finest animals of the breed from half a dozen western states compete in halter and performance classes. The horse show this year offers close to $5,000 in premiums. Fair dates are Sept. 29-Oct. 7. Last year the Quarter Horse division showed nearly 100 animals. New Mexico-owned horses won both halter class championships. Nugget McCue S, owned by J. W. Shoemaker, Watrous, was judged champion stallion; and Danger Girl, owned by Yvonne Starnes, Albuquerque, was champion mare. The Quarter Horse show is an official show of the American Quarter Horse Association, run under association rules by association-approved judges. The New Mexico Quarter Horse Association assists in direction. The New Mexico group will hold its annual membership meeting this year at a luncheon in Youth Hall on the state fair grounds October 1. William R. Thompson is president; Phillip G. Jensen is secretary. There are 11 halter classes for Quarter Horses. There are two reining classes in the performance division and Quarter Horses are also eligible for two open events, the clover leaf barrel race and cutting contest. They may also compete in the Quarter Horse Association's western riding show. Cutting horse contest eliminations are scheduled Friday, Oct. 5, at 10 a. m., with finals to be a feature event of the State Fair rodeo that night. The western riding show, in which riders take their mounts through an intricate course at three gaits, will be Saturday, Oct. 6, at 9 a. m. Horse and rider weave a pattern through a course marked by 10 barrels and two logs, starting at a walk and progressing to trot and lope. Competition is in three age classes for stallions and mares and one for geldings. This show is open to entries from both halter shows.

Coloradoan Due To Be Lobo Staff

With the close of the annual coaches' clinic and the annual high school all-star football game, preparations for the coming 1951 football season moved into high gear at the University of New Mexico. Coach Dudley DeGroot and Athletic Director Berl Huffman, both pleased with the all-star game performances of New Mexico boys slated to enter UNM this fall, have been taking stock of some highly touted out-of-staters who will be on hand when grid practice opens officially Sept. 1. They like what they see. One youngster who is expected to show well as practice progresses is Jack Craddock, 195-pound guard from Pueblo, Colo. Craddock comes to the Lobos with one year of junior college experience, picked up with Red Elder's Pueblo Junior College team. The husky six-footer was awarded honorable mention on last season's junior college All-American team. He will be a sophomore at UNM this year. Three Illinois Another lad who may give the veterans and locals a tough time in the battle for starting berths is Bill Kaiser, 22-year-old halfback from Peru, Illinois. Kaiser, 180-pound junior, also has junior college experience. He performed for two years at La Salle, Ill. Junior College for Coach John Strell. He, along with another promising entry, guard Don Pappini, captained the 1951 La Salle squad and Kaiser was also captain of the baseball team. He is the first athlete in the history of the school to be awarded six varsity letters. These boys and many other promising out-of-staters will join New Mexico's top high school talent plus a nucleus of veterans headed by Chuck Hill and Roger Cox to launch the Lobo career in the Skyline Conference.

Crop Dusting Brings Seven Pilots to Town

Seven out-of-town pilots are in Artesia for the crop dusting season, the Municipal Airport reports.

They are Fred Howard, Cecil Meadows, Mickey Wyson, Clyde Hambricht, Joe Wolsey, Ed Wilcoxson, and Buford Schulz. The latter has been in Artesia in former seasons.

Other major activity includes charter trips flown. One of these took McNeil, Menefee, and Funk of Cottonwood to El Paso.

Ray Bell of Santa Fe and Orville Luttrell of Alamogordo, game wardens, were in Artesia recently on a business trip. Luttrell flew the Artesia game warden on an ante-lope survey.

Mrs. U. M. Alexander and son were flown to Oklahoma City, Mrs. J. A. Ferguson and daughter to Ada, Okla., on Aug. 19.

Ramon Davidson, with two cadets from Lubbock Air Force Base, visited in Artesia over the week-end. Red took his friends for a ride in a Piper Cub.

H. C. Schimmel flew to Odessa and return on Aug. 19.

Mrs. Beulah Fortner spent the week-end at the airport visiting the Hazels.

W. E. Madden of Odessa visited the airport over the week-end.

Moutray Brothers of Seven Rivers were in Artesia Sunday in their new Super Cub 125.

Dr. Ralph Earhart and wife flew to Colorado Springs Sunday morning to visit friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Fuchs were in Artesia last week visiting friends and making final arrangements for their move to Albuquerque, where Mr. Fuchs is with the CARCO under contract to the Atomic Energy Commission.

Bollies on Run But Spiders Gain, County Agent Says

The bollies are retreating, red spiders are gathering strength and there's a sortie on by aphids, says Dallas Rierson, Carlsbad, Eddy County farm agent, in a report dated Aug. 18, received by The Artesia Advocate on Aug. 18.

Agent Rierson says: Bollworms seem to be on the decrease at this time. However, some eggs and small worms are being found generally over the county. They warrant watching and when they start hatching, control measures should be taken. This should be about the last crop.

Red spiders are building up in several fields and are causing considerable damage. Some are dusting with sulphur and getting some control, but in fields that are heavily infested, you will probably need to use a 1 per cent parathion dust, or spray with one pint of 25 per cent parathion or TEPP.

Aphids are showing also in several fields, where they are appearing, dusting with 2-10-40 will give control for aphids as well as bollworms.

The U. S. Air Force was established Aug. 1, 1907, as the aeronautical division of the Army signal corps.

Socorro Chosen for '52 Meeting Game Society

The annual convention of the Socorro Game Society, held in Clovis Aug. 17-18, was highly successful both in constructive accomplishment and in enjoyment. Representing the game and fish department were Game Warden Elliott S. Barstow, Assistant State Game Warden Fred A. Thompson from Santa Fe office and Fieldmen John Embrey, of Roswell, R. E. Taylor, of Portales, and Elmer C. Conchas Dam.

C. Bassett, of Deming, was elected president for the coming year. Hugh Woodward, L. J. Langley and L. L. Langley as first, second, and third vice-presidents. Sherman, also of Deming, was elected secretary and Roger Neil, of Albuquerque, was re-elected treasurer.

Several stockmen, representing the livestock industry, were present and their speeches and discussions brought about a much better understanding between their group and the sportsmen. The program for the conservation of our natural resources, which is of great concern to all of us, will be greatly strengthened by the promised cooperation of these two fine groups.

Convention speakers included: Roy Carpenter, formerly with Taylor Grazing Service and a Colorado rancher, who discussed the Stockmen's "Proposal for an Act."

Cliff Jackson, field representative for the National Wildlife Federation, Howard Dodgen, executive secretary of the Texas Game and Oyster Commission, and Game Warden Barker also presented featured addresses.

Many excellent resolutions affecting the department of conservation were passed and detailed reports of the more important of these will be given in a later issue. A split season for waterfowl has been suggested with the last season to start as late as possible.

The Clovis GPA, as hosts, outdrew themselves in providing wonderful entertainment topped with barbecue to end all barbecues.

Elephant Butte

Fred Thompson, director of the game and fish department, discloses the present situation and the department's efforts at Elephant Butte Reservoir.

Surveys will be continued and biological readings of oxygen, carbon dioxide, temperature and turbidity will be taken. Based on these records an attempt will be made to establish a trend as the water recedes in the lake.

In this way a critical water level can be established which will determine, as nearly as possible, just how low the water can go without loss occurring.

Fish are being salvaged by various means at the command of the department. Bass and catfish are to be used for brood stock at hatcheries.

The supply created in this manner will be used to replant Elephant Butte when its water is replenished. Fish over and above what is needed will be transplanted to other public waters.

The department wishes to thank several minnow dealers who have volunteered to assist in the salvage work. The U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service has offered their facilities to assist in the transportation of the fish to the Federal hatcheries.

The hearing on the drainage of Elephant Butte is to be reopened Sept. 3, when further consideration of conditions prevailing at that time will be undertaken.

Survey

E. M. Lang, game and fish department wildlife technician, District Warden T. J. Ramsey and District Ranger E. W. Wilton, of Forest Service, last week conducted a moonlight survey of the utilizing the waterholes of Antonio Creek. The animals using the creek almost exclusively due to the lack of water in the San Antonio Mountains.

The elk appeared in good shape and with a good calf crop. Whether the facts recorded will justify a season and, if so, its possible extent will be determined at the meeting of the game and fish commission on Aug. 27. The commission will also consider other possible seasons and game problems this pre-season meeting.

Turtle Derby as Fauntleroy Hog for Victory

Jack (Rainbow-Hue Shirt) Fauntleroy, tailwister of Artesia, is getting a lot of fun out of the turtle trot to be staged by club on Sept. 14-15 at Morris Field Stadium.

On Wednesday, following the club's regular weekly luncheon, Fauntleroy came into the Advocate, proudly bearing an entry form for his turtle, written in imitation of a horse race.

Jack has chosen fuschia and artichoke as his colors and has is-

TEXAS BRED YELLOW FEVER DEVELOPS HORSE RESISTANCE TO MAN INTO SCIENCE TO BE SHOWN AT VETERANS RODEO

When the chute gates open on "Yellow Fever," a top bareback bronc in the Elliott-Steiner rodeo string, the cowboy whose spurs are in his shoulders will have to take a deep hold to last more than the first jump. "Yellow Fever" has lost the best of the top cowboys, and is typical of the broncs and bulls that "Wild Bill" Elliott and Tommy Steiner have scoured the Southwest for. Their strings of rough stock are the largest, roughest and best in the entire southwestern part of the country.

"Yellow Fever" has quite a record, and a unique background... one that particularly fits him for the job he holds in the rodeo world. He was foaled a few years back in the BRASADA, Maverick County, Texas, and until he was past four years old had never felt the touch of rope or human. A Maverick County rancher finally caught the big dun stud, and in the process of bringing him in, lost two cowboys and three horses to the hospital and glue factory. Two more top ranch hands suffered broken bones and plenty of bruises before the boss decided to give the big yellow horse up as an outlaw, and "Yellow Fever" was mighty close to his Maker until a small rodeo producer happened by and offered the rancher ten dollars for the man-killer.

Two years at coming out of the chutes developed this horse's resistance to man to a free art. Tommy Steiner saw the horse lose his rider at several small shows before he approached the producer, and he had to pay the price of a top cutting horse before "Yellow Fever" became an Elliott-Steiner bronc. This is typical of the care in selection that resulted in the bucking stock you'll see at Artesia in the United Veterans Rodeo to be held on Sept. 13-15.

"Look out! Hell's Below!" When the announcer yells that statement over the loud speaker Sept. 13-15, keep your eyes on the big red horse that will come bellowing out of the chute! Hell's Below is the name of one of the top bareback broncs in the Elliott-Steiner string of rough stock that these two famous men, a Western movie star and one of the best known Texas rodeo producers, have gathered from all parts of the Southwest to entertain and thrill rodeo audiences.

Hell's Below came from the cold ranges of Montana, and as much as is known of this outlaw's history indicates that he discouraged many a cowboy before "Wild Bill" Elliott and Tommy Steiner recognized his value as a bucking horse and added him to their string. This big sorrel goes up high and comes down stiff-legged and hard. Few riders have been able to ride him very far past the white line and those that did had stiff joints and aching muscles for days after their battle with Hell's Below!

Artesia and Carlsbad Gridiron Feud Goes on Even Among Sailors

Cavemen and Bulldogs still battle—even when in the Navy.

So writes Bobby Flynn, 1951 Artesia High School graduate, a boot at the naval training center in San Diego. In a letter to E. B. Emerson, news editor of The Artesia Advocate, the tar writes:

"In Company 567 are two boys from Carlsbad and one boy from Artesia, and in Company 707, two from Artesia and two from Carlsbad.

"The Carlsbad boys are saying that the Cavemen will take the Bulldogs in football next season. The Artesia boys think different. Now what I wonder is what do the coaches think?"

"The Artesia boy is my buddy I talked into going in with me the first time. You may remember him, Kenneth Dixon, manager of the '51 Bulldog basketball team and a right guy. He is in his ninth week of training while I'm just in my third.

"On the 15th we'll get to wear our white. Primary will be over and we'll get to go to the ghe-dunk (soda fountain).

"I got recommended for airman school in Jacksonville, Fla. If I get it I will go there. Warty (Gibson) and I both qualified as swimmers in a swimming test.

"I fought a round in a boxing

New Mexico Fair Horse Show Has Purse of $5000

The annual New Mexico Fair horse show at Albuquerque reflects a land where cattle still roam the range and where men go after them on horseback.

It's not a show for the formal habit and flat saddle set. It is western through and through.

Top animals from half a dozen Western states will be on exhibit here during the 1951 exposition, Sept. 29-Oct. 7. They'll represent more than 100 breeders. They'll be shooting at close to $5,000 in premiums offered.

The two basic divisions of the show indicate its rangeland character. The tough, speedy Quarter Horse and the beautiful Palomino will compete in both halter and performance classes.

The Quarter Horse show is an official show of the American Quarter Horse Association, conducted under its rules. The New Mexico Quarter Horse Association cooperates in its management.

The Palomino show is the official show of the New Mexico Palomino Exhibitors Association and is run under regulations of the Palomino Horse Breeders of America.

Judges in both shows will have been approved by the national organizations. Champion stallions and champion mares will be named in halter classes. Performance class entries must have shown in halter classes, too.

NMPEA will present trophies to champion Palomino stallion and mare and to first winners in performance classes. AQHA will give trophies to Quarter Horse champions and NMQHA to first winners in performance.

$500 Purse

Purse for the Cutting Horse Contest, open to entries in either of the halter shows is $500, plus entry fees and a handsome trophy to first place given by the state horse associations.

Other horse show activities include the Junior Show, performance classes for young riders under 17, scheduled Monday, Oct. 1, the Western Riding Show, sponsored by NMQHA and open to both Quarter Horses and Palominos Saturday, Oct. 6, and an auction of Quarter Horse and Palomino colts of 1950 and 1951, set for Thursday, Oct. 4.

Last year's State Fair horse show had entries by breeders from New Mexico, Texas, Arizona, Colorado and Oklahoma. Fair officials are counting on a larger and even more representative show this year.

Entries for both Quarter Horse and Palomino divisions close Sept. 17. Details can be obtained from the State Fair premium book. For free copies write Leon H. Harms,

Secretary-Manager, New Mexico State Fair, P. O. Box 1693, Albuquerque, N. M.

Two experienced horsemen are in charge of the 1951 show. Jack Dean of Willard is superintendent, assisted by John Dickinson, of Albuquerque.

Quarter Horses To Be on Parade At State Fair

The Quarter Horse, wiry product of the western range, comes into his own each year at the New Mexico Fair in Albuquerque.

One of the two chief divisions of the State Fair horse show is devoted to Quarter Horses. Finest animals of the breed from half a dozen western states compete in halter and performance classes.

The horse show this year offers close to $5,000 in premiums. Fair dates are Sept. 29-Oct. 7.

Last year the Quarter Horse division showed nearly 100 animals. New Mexico-owned horses won both halter class championships. Nugget McCue S, owned by J. W. Shoemaker, Watrous, was judged champion stallion; and Danger Girl, owned by Yvonne Starnes, Albuquerque, was champion mare.

The Quarter Horse show is an official show of the American Quarter Horse Association, run under association rules by association-approved judges. The New Mexico Quarter Horse Association assists in direction.

The New Mexico group will hold its annual membership meeting this year at a luncheon in Youth Hall on the state fair grounds October 1. William R. Thompson is president; Parley G. Jensen is secretary.

There are 11 halter classes for Quarter Horses. There are two reining classes in the performance division and Quarter Horses are also eligible for two open events, the clover leaf barrel race and cutting contest. They may also compete in the Quarter Horse Association's western riding show.

Cutting horse contest eliminations are scheduled Friday, Oct. 5, at 10 a. m., with finals to be a feature event of the State Fair rodeo that night.

The western riding show, in which riders take their mounts through an intricate course at three gaits, will be Saturday, Oct. 6, at 9 a. m.

Horse and rider weave a pattern through a course marked by 10 barrels and two logs, starting at a walk and progressing to trot and lope.

Competition is in three age classes for stallions and mares and one for geldings. This show is open to entries from both halter shows.

Coloradoan Due To Be Lobo Staff

With the close of the annual coaches' clinic and the annual high school all-star football game, preparations for the coming 1951 football season moved into high gear at the University of New Mexico.

Coach Dudley DeGroot and Athletic Director Berl Huffman, both pleased with the all-star game performances of New Mexico boys slated to enter UNM this fall, have been taking stock of some highly touted out-of-staters who will be on hand when grid practice opens officially Sept. 1.

They like what they see.

One youngster who is expected to show well as practice progresses is Jack Craddock, 195-pound guard from Pueblo, Colo. Craddock comes to the Lobos with one year of junior college experience, picked up with Red Elder's Pueblo Junior College team.

The husky six-footer was awarded honorable mention on last season's junior college All-American team. He will be a sophomore at UNM this year.

Three Illini

Another lad who may give the veterans and locals a tough time in the battle for starting berths is Bill Kaiser, 22-year-old halfback from Peru, Illinois.

Kaiser, 180-pound junior, also has junior college experience. He performed for two years at La Salle, Ill., Junior College for Coach John Strell.

He, along with another promising entry, guard Don Pappini, captained the 1951 La Salle squad and Kaiser was also captain of the baseball team. He is the first athlete in the history of the school to be awarded six varsity letters.

These boys and many other promising out-of-staters will join New Mexico's top high school talent plus a nucleus of veterans headed by Chuck Hill and Roger Cox to launch the Lobo career in the Skyline Conference.

One unusual feature of the game was that Mop Brown who ordinarily does the catching for the Drillers was assigned to pitching chores.

The Drillers acquired two men and let go of three in this week's player transactions.

Added to the Driller roster were two pitchers — Johnny Graham, Abilene, Texas, and Ray Moss, Provo, La.

Eddie Skarbacz was traded to Roswell, while Milton Marshall went to Shreveport.

Lefty Freshour was released outright.

Drillers Face Roaring Rockets

The fourth place Roswell Rockers and the seventh place Artesia Drillers battle it out in a game slated for tonight in Municipal Park.

Last place Sweetwater furnishes the opposition on the road Saturday and Sunday, while the Vernon Dusters, currently in fifth place, play host to the Drillers on Monday, Aug. 27, and Tuesday, Aug. 28.

Artesia went down—one, two, three, four—this week as the opposition overpowered them.

First to get a crack at the Drillers were the league leading San Angelo Colts, who knocked off the Drillers 9-6 and 13-0 in a double header Monday.

In the first game four runs, off two hits and three errors, in the third inning gave San Angelo a 6-1 lead.

Artesia had its big frame in the fifth inning when San Antonio Pitcher Mario Saldano lost control and allowed one hit and walked five men. The fiasco netted Artesia four tallies.

Fatal First
Four runs in the first inning proved the Drillers undoing in their battle with the Roswell Rockers Tuesday night.

Artesia was held to eight hits, while the Rockers picked up 14 hits to win the game 14-3.

Roswell again downed the Drillers Wednesday by a score of 12 to 1. Artesia's sole run came on a home run by Manager Stubby Greer.

Introduced by: I. M. Smalley, Waldo Spices
A JOINT RESOLUTION PROPOSING AN AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF NEW MEXICO ADDING A NEW ARTICLE TO BE NUMBERED ARTICLE 25 PROVIDING FOR THE NON-PARTISAN SELECTION OF JUDGES.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF NEW MEXICO:

Section 1. That it is hereby proposed to amend the Constitution of the State of New Mexico by adding thereto a new article to be numbered Article 25 to read as follows, to-wit:

"NONPARTISAN SELECTION OF JUDGES"

"Section 1. Courts subject to plan-appointments to fill vacancies. Whenever a vacancy shall occur in the office of judge (and the word judge is used to include the word justice in this article) of the Supreme Court or of any District Court, the governor shall fill such vacancy by appointing one of three persons possessing the qualifications for such office, who shall be nominated and whose names shall be submitted to the governor by a nonpartisan judicial nominating commission established and organized as hereinafter provided.

"Section 2. Tenure of judges.—Declarations of candidacy—form of judicial ballot—rejection and retention. Each judge appointed pursuant to the provisions of this article shall hold office for a term ending December 31st following the next general election for representatives in Congress after the expiration of twelve months in the office. Any judge holding office, or elected thereto, at the time the provisions of this article become applicable to such office shall, unless removed for cause, remain in office for the term to which he would have been entitled had the provisions of this article not become applicable to his office. Not less than sixty days prior to the holding of the general election for representatives in Congress next preceding the expiration of his term of office, any judge whose office is subject to the provisions of this article may file in the office of the secretary of state a declaration of candidacy for election to succeed himself. If a declaration is not so filed by any judge, the vacancy resulting from the expiration of his term of office shall be filled by appointment as herein provided. If such a declaration is filed, his name shall be submitted at said next general election to the voters eligible to vote within the geographic jurisdictional limit of his court, on the regular ballot, containing the names of candidates for Congress, but without party designation, and in the following manner: 'Shall Judge (Here the name of the judge shall be inserted) of the (Here the title of the Court shall be inserted) Court be retained in office? Yes  No  (Place cross in one square) If a majority of those voting on the question vote against retaining him in office, and if the total number of votes cast on the question shall be at least fifty per cent (50%) of the total number of legal voters voting at the election, then upon the expiration of his term of office, a vacancy shall exist which shall be filled by appointment as provided in Section 1; otherwise, said judge shall, unless removed for cause, remain in office for the number of years after December 31st following such election as is provided for the full term of such office, and at the expiration of each such term shall be eligible for retention in office by election in the manner here prescribed.

"Section 3. Certification of names upon declarations—law applicable to elections. Whenever a declaration of candidacy for election to succeed himself is filed by any judge under the provisions of this article, the secretary of state shall not less than thirty days before the election certify the name of said judge and the official title of his office to the county clerks of all counties wherein the question of retention of such judge in office is to be submitted to the voters, and such question shall be incorporated in the general election ballot in the form hereinabove set out; provided, however, the legislature is empowered to provide a special procedure for the submission of such question. Such election and the results thereof shall be conducted and determined under general election laws in effect at the time of such election or under such specific procedure as may be provided by the legislature for the election of judges under this article. Jurisdiction is hereby conferred upon the district courts to determine all questions concerning the legality and legal results of such elections and the right of appeal to the Supreme Court is hereby granted to all interested parties in such litigation, the procedure for such litigation and for appeals therefrom to be provided by rule of the Supreme Court.

"Section 4. Nonpartisan judicial nominating commissions — number, qualification, selection, and terms of members — majority rule — reimbursement of expenses — rules of Supreme Court. Nonpartisan judicial nominating commissions whose duty it shall be to nominate and submit to the governor names of persons for appointment as provided by this article are hereby established and shall be organized on the following basis: For vacancies in the office of judge of the Supreme Court there shall be one such commission, to be known as 'The Supreme Court Judicial Nominating Commission'; for vacancies in the office of judge of any district court there shall be one such commission, to be known as 'The Judicial District Judicial Nominating Commission', for each judicial district. The Supreme Court Judicial Nominating Commission shall, until otherwise provided by law, consist of the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, who shall act as chairman and the Board of Bar Commissioners of the State Bar of New Mexico. Each judicial district shall consist of five members, one of whom shall be the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court who shall act as Chairman; the members of the bar of this state residing in each judicial district shall under the rules to be promulgated by the Supreme Court, select two of their number to serve as members of said judicial district judicial nominating commission but no more than one shall reside in the same county if there be members of the bar in more than one county in the judicial district; the Supreme Court shall appoint one citizen and the governor shall appoint one citizen, not members of the bar, from among the residents of said judicial district to serve as members of said judicial district nominating commission, and said citizens shall be residents of different counties in the judicial district. No member of any such commission shall hold any public office other than chief justice of the Supreme Court or member of the Board of Bar Commissioners of the State Bar, and no member shall hold any official position in a political party. Every such judicial nominating commission shall act only by a concurrence of a majority of its members. The members of such commissions shall receive no salary or other compensation for their services as such, but they shall receive their necessary traveling and other expenses incurred while actually engaged in the discharge of their official duties.

"Each judicial district nominating commission shall be selected and constituted in each judicial district immediately after a vacancy occurs in the office of judge therein and its powers, duties and functions and the terms of its members shall end as soon as it has submitted its nominations to the governor. All judicial nominating commissions shall be administered under such rules as the Supreme Court shall promulgate. No person other than a resident member of the bar of New Mexico, in good standing, shall ever be qualified to serve on the Supreme Court Judicial Nominating Commission but the legislature is empowered to provide for the number and terms of office of the members, and the manner of their selection by nonpartisan election; provided, however, each judicial district in the state shall be given equal representation on such commission.

"Section 5. Payment of expenses.—All expenses incurred in administering this article, when approved by the Supreme Court, shall be paid out of the state treasury. The Supreme Court shall certify such expense to the state auditor, who shall draw his warrant therefor payable out of the general fund.

"Section 6. Prohibition of political activity by judges. No judge of any court of record in this state appointed to or retained in office in the manner prescribed in this article shall directly or indirectly make any contribution to or be a member of any political party or organization, or take part in any political campaign; provided, however, a judge who is a candidate for retention in office shall have the right to personally defend his character, his qualifications and his prior official actions.

"Section 7. Self-enforcement. All of the provisions of this article shall be self-enforcing."

Section 2. In the event of the passage and approval of this resolution proposing the foregoing amendment, the same shall be submitted to the people at the general election to be held in November, 1952, or at any special election called previous to the general election.

WITNESS my hand and the Great Seal of the State of New Mexico on this 9th day of August, 1951.

Hayward, Power Principals in Frontier Film

"Rawhide" adds powerful star appeal and performance, from Tyrone Power, Susan Hayward and several others: an original story approach and biting dialogue; and suspenseful, colorful direction to the general lines of the outdoor drama to achieve excitement and romance of a high order. The new Twentieth Century-Fox film, which arrives Sunday at the Landsun Theatre, tells a continuously mounting story of what befalls a frontier outpost when it is left unguarded except for a man, woman and child and falls prey to a gang of outlaws and killers.

The setting of Rawhide station, lonely and cut off from help, is the scene of charged and suspenseful adventure in the new film. Tyrone Power is seen to fine effect as the fortified young man left to cope with a problem an experienced ranger might find unsurpassable. Susan Hayward, seemingly more beautiful and talented with every picture, gives a splendid account of herself as the young lovely who chances on a desperate situation.

(Continued from Page 1) head wadm, when the McQuays asked him about it. In British Columbia, they took a boat trip to Wigwam Inn with a friend of the Mitchells. The inn is located at Barad Inlet, 22 miles from Vancouver. Wigwam Inn has an interesting history as the McQuays discovered. It was built shortly before World War I by Baron von Liebenbraun as a hunting lodge for Kaiser Wilhelm. When war broke out in 1914, the Baron fled to the United States and was interned in this country when the United States went to war with Germany in 1917. After the war the lodge was sold to a Canadian company which used it as a summer hotel. It was not a profitable venture so it was closed up for a year and later sold to the Inland Navigation Company, an American company. This company has since been running two boats a day between there and Vancouver. The inn is made of wooden pillars, cut out of one log and has a single roof. While in the vicinity of Wigwam Inn the McQuays also viewed the String of Pearls Falls. Destroyer Cemetery In the Vancouver area, opposite Deep Cove, they inspected a graveyard for junked ships. Before World War II old destroyers had been taken up there to be junked. Destroyers, however, were not the only vessels which met their final burial up there, as the McQuays saw the remains of a junked yacht. The navigators who took the party on their two boat trips to the graveyard and to Wigwam Inn were also a source of interest as one of them was a retired wheatman, while the other was a retired merchant marine captain. English Tea Other activities of the McQuays in the Vancouver vicinity were attending their first English tea, which features biscuits, fruit cake, and fruit bread, and was held at 10 in the evening, and going shopping. Mrs. McQuay purchased a cheap tea set, and observed that prices of woollens and English china were lower than in the United States. However, if you are a cigarette smoker, you had better switch to smoking, roll your own, or quit smoking altogether, as cigarettes are 42 cents per pack. Geyser Still Shoots On the U. S. part of their trip one of the highlights was touring Yellowstone National Park where they arrived just in time to see "Old Faithful" erupting. The geyser goes off every 65 minutes and the McQuays just hit it right. The geyser which has searchlights playing on it at night was an impressive sight, as were the mud pots, according to Mrs. McQuay. While in Yellowstone and nearby Grand Teton National Park, they also saw snow covered mountains and various kinds of wild life. This was more interesting to them after they had heard lectures on wild life given by park officials. Among wild life encountered were bears with cubs, cow moose and a moose calf, male and female elk, an elk calf, and pelicans. The McQuays had been warned about not feeding the bears, as are all visitors, but they saw some people do it, anyhow. The warning might prove more convincing if, like a party the McQuays encountered on their trip to the park, they had been run out of their trailer camp by a bear. New Mexicans Scarce They saw cars at Yellowstone from every state in the Union, plus Hawaii, Puerto Rico, and Alaska. However, Mr. McQuay remarked there were few cars from New Mexico; he estimated he met only six cars from this state on his entire trip. Only bad things about the trip to Yellowstone was that the road approaching the park from the south is under construction and hence not in too good a shape. Salt Lake City, Vancouver, and Yellowstone were the most interesting points traversed by the McQuays. These were especially interesting because they were connected with Mormon history, of which they are astute students. However, there were other points on their trip to rival them in interest. Visit Rogers Memorial One of these was Claremore, Okla., hometown of Will Rogers, where a memorial has been built on a hill where Rogers had intended to build a home for himself prior to his fatal plane crash. The memorial, which is a museum like building was erected by the community and the state, contains saddles and trinkets used by Rogers during his life time. The building also contains the last telegram that Rogers sent from Fairbanks prior to the crash, and a battered typewriter which he had used. Nearby stands a statue of Will Rogers riding a horse. Also on the museum grounds are the tombs of Rogers and his wife. See Miracle Town The McQuays also stopped off in Tulsa, "oil capitol of the world" and saw oil wells right in the middle of town. Modern zoning ordinances prohibit further setting up of oil wells in the business and residential sections, but these are remnants of the old "oil boom" days. Oklahoma proved to be the hottest spot, meteorologically speaking, while Yellowstone had been the coldest. At Lincoln's Tomb Another mid-western state on the McQuay's travel agenda was Illinois. Here the party stopped off at Springfield and saw Lincoln's home and tomb. They also inspected the old courthouse which had served as the state capitol. An interesting feature of this is that the building has a story added to it at the bottom. The added bottom layer is made of sandstone, while the rest of the building is limestone. While in Springfield the boys, Buddy and Bobby, took a hike from Springfield to New Salem, a distance of 20 miles. This hike sponsored by the Boy Scouts parallels the route Abraham Lincoln walked to borrow books, while studying law. Lincoln lived in New Salem for six years prior to moving to Springfield. Few boys from New Mexico have ever gone on this hike, according to Mrs. McQuay. Family Reunion The party also stopped off in North City to visit Mr. McQuay's parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. H. McQuay. It was the first time since 1930 that R. H. McQuay had been to North City and the first time that the kids had seen their grandparents since 1941. In honor of the occasion a family reunion was held. From North City the party moved on to Cairo, Ill., where they crossed the Mississippi at the junction with the Ohio River, and then went on to Springfield, Mo. Other points in Missouri where stopovers were made were Macon, St. Louis, and Hannibal. Macon had been the McQuay home-town before coming to Artesia and they wanted to see how the place had changed in the last 13 years. At Nebraska City they saw no evidence of the recent floods, although they did see some at St. Louis. Corn Crop Ruined Chief of these were the battered corn crop which had been killed off by the floods, although the waters had gone down by the time the McQuays hit St. Louis. They visited the Forest Park zoo where son, Buddy, was especially impressed by the horned toads. Mrs. McQuay had two complaints against St. Louis—it was too damp and too crowded. From St. Louis they went to Hannibal where they explored Mark Twain's home and also visited the nearby Island where the adventures of Tom Sawyer took place. In the home they saw one of the first typewriters ever produced which had been given to Mark Twain by one of his friends. The carriage of the typewriter is twice as big as that of a standard typewriter of today. While in the Pacific Northwest they passed through Spokane, Wash., and Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, over a winding mountain road along a lake front. They also inspected the capitol at Boise, which was specially interesting to the boys. Tallest Smokestack Stopovers were also made at Pendleton and Umatilla in Idaho. The party took a ferry ride to get from one town to the other. While in the area they also saw a hydro-electric plant under construction. While in the mountain states they traversed Missoula and Butte, Mont. Here they saw the tallest smoke stack in the world which belongs to a copper mine at Anaconda, 12 miles away. Passing through Wyoming below Lander they met a fellow Artesian, Paul Parry, 821 South Roselawn, who was on his way to Riverton, Wyo., to do some fishing. They held up traffic for some time while they exchanged greetings. The boys took time to attend in Tulsa, "oil capitol of the world" and saw oil wells right in the middle of town. Modern zoning ordinances prohibit further setting up of oil wells in the business and residential sections, but these are remnants of the old "oil boom" days. Oklahoma proved to be the hottest spot, meteorologically speaking, while Yellowstone had been the coldest. At Lincoln's Tomb Another mid-western state on the McQuay's travel agenda was Illinois. BENDIX WINNER AT AIR RACES

BENDIX TROPHY RACE winner at National Air Races in Detroit, Col. Keith K. Compton, St. Joseph, Mo., is congratulated by M. P. Ferguson, Bendix president, on receiving trophy. Compton scored a record 555 mph in the 1.9195-mile jet race from Muroc Dry Lake, Cal., in his F-86, traveling distance in three hours, 26 minutes. (International) gag for their activities in the recent bond drive. German Band However, it was not all business for the 2,500 delegates and guests from all 48 states, plus Hawaii, Alaska, and the District of Columbia. They were treated to a giant picnic which featured pig knuckles, sauerkraut, all kinds of cheese, olives, onions, sausages, coffee, and black German rye bread. The picnic, which was attended by 1,500 of the delegates, and had to be held indoors on account of rain, featured music by a German band. Also held indoors was a parade led by an 86-piece band from the Fifth Army. This was held in the city arena and auditorium which extend over two city blocks in Milwaukee. A projected baseball game with the Brewers was rained out. Pistol Match A quartet of disabled veterans put on a pistol shooting demonstration which featured cutting a playing card sitting edgewise on a table in two. This feat was duplicated several times and took only one shot each time. The DAV pistol team also managed to cut a chaplain's calling card in two, but needed two shots to do it. An interesting sidelight to the pistol shooting contest was that the team was engaged in it beat the Milwaukee County Sheriff's Department the next day. Plenty of Gifts Delegates to the convention also got a large array of gifts, including a convention badge, a mechanical pencil put out by disabled veterans, a coupon book good for theatres and other places of amusement, and boat trips on Lake Michigan. They also received free parking tickets and complimentary tickets to baseball games, and a copy of the organization's monthly magazine, The Disabled American Veteran.

The convention also went about the business of electing officers with Ewing W. Mays, Little Rock, Ark., being made national commander. Floyd Ming, Bakersfield, Calif., was named first senior commander; Leo Wheeler, Utica, N. Y., first junior vice-commander; Fuller from Vermont, second junior vice-commander; Leo Velsor, West Allis, Wis., third junior vice-commander.

Sylvester Hoffman, from California, was elected judge advocate, while Rev. Edward Elson, Washington, D. C., was named chaplain. All men elected except for the chaplain and the third junior vice-commander are veterans of World War II.

Only two things marred the convention, which was attended by veterans confined to wheel chairs and also some blind vets. One of these was the weather—it was cold and damp all during the convention. The other was the untimely death of Quentis E. Camp, assistant director of claims who was found in his room on the second day of the convention. He was buried on Aug. 17 in Arlington National Cemetery in Washington, D. C.

The convention was held Aug. 12-18. Mr. and Mrs. Jones returned to Artesia Monday, Aug. 20, after passing through a heavy rain between Dexter and Hagerman.

The list totals 15 donors, not including C. E. Fletcher.

Carlsbad Helping The Aug. 21 issue of The Daily Current-Argus, Carlsbad, contains the following story: The Little Girl—

Well, Carlsbad folks have donated $25 for little Lulu Belle Langford, 8-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. (Preacher) Langford of Artesia, who has a malformed heart and must undergo an expensive operation despite over-burdened family finances. Mrs. Albert Mosley of Box 702, Hall Addition, is taking up a collection to help the little girl, who was scheduled to leave Artesia today for Dallas, where next week she is to undergo a heart operation.

Mrs. Mosley reports that contributions have been received from Hubert Fancher, who works for the PCA and from the Phebean Class of the First Baptist Church. A card from Mrs. O. L. Lane, 113 North Lake, of the class said: "Please accept this small gift to help little Lulu Belle. We will be praying, if it is God's will, the little girl's operation will be successful and she will enjoy perfect health again." Lulu Belle's father also is suffering from heart trouble.

Lions to Hold— (Continued from Page One) more turtles in the turtle trot. Lions are scouring the area seeking turtles. Lennon said he wanted especially to call attention again to "Boy Scouts and other boys are urged to form parties to hunt turtles and bring or send them to the Lions Club. The Lions will pay 25 cents for each turtle.

Turtle "barns" have been set up at 105 West Richardson. Entrance fee in the derby is for each race when owner furnishes his own turtle. Where no supplies by the club, the fee is $2.50 for the first race, $2 for second, if entrant uses the club's turtle. The Lions Club reserves the right to keep all turtles entered in the first race for the second race after which time owner may take their turtles if they desire; if they remain the property of the Lions Club. "The club will pay 25 cents for each turtle sent in or brought. Turtles must be land turtles and all turtles sent in must be in prepaid." Proceeds of the derby go to the club's projects.

Novel Cafeteria—

The party went home via Columbia River Drive through Idaho viewing the Columbia Falls en route, and stopped at Salt Lake City, where they swam in the Great Salt Lake. Boulder Dam was toured en route to round out the itinerary. The party left Artesia Aug. 19 and returned Aug. 19.

High School Band To Issue Uniforms Today at School

Climaxing three weeks of practice, uniforms will be issued during the regular session starting at 8 a. m. to noon today at the school band room. Deal is to get the uniforms ready early for the band's appearance at football games this season making alterations and repairs uniforms when needed. Ben Stevens, director, said there were 60 turning out for the uniforms including seven beginners of the whole band, half are high school juniors high. Bobby McQuay has been chosen as 1951 drum major.

Armed New Mexican Heroic Cross Worker in Korean War

Tomlin, formerly on the New Mexico Rehabilitation Service at Santa Fe, and one of the state's best-known demonstrators of the fact that a physical handicap need not cramp anyone, got a half-page write-up in the Denver Post.

"They are in almost every type of job in our plant," says Personnel Manager, Peter Wacks, "because our company has been employing what the general public and the medical authorities classify as physically handicapped for years. We consider the ability of the worker, not the disability."

Air Force ROTC Work Expanded At University

An Air Force ROTC staff of 17 officers and airmen will greet the upwards of 600 students enrolled in the University of New Mexico AF unit at registration time Sept. 13-14 in Albuquerque.

Col. John L. Parker, ROTC unit commander on the campus, said that the increased staff has been necessary in order to offer courses that will attract students from all nine standard colleges on the University campus.

He said that the one option in communications, which has been designed for engineers alone, has been broadened to take in courses in administration and logistics, general technical, and flight operations.

Several staff members are already on the job and others are finishing up specialized courses at Maxwell Air Force Base in Alabama.

The stepped-up Air Force program at the University has called for a larger building with more offices, classrooms, and space for technical equipment.

Colonel Parker said that all young men accepted by the UNM Air Force unit could expect to be able to finish all four years of college work if they remain in good standing with the University and military authorities.

With the new set-up, he said that the University is expected to graduate a minimum of 200 com-

Texas Western Co-Ed Training As Bull Fighter

"Ole, Huera!" This cry, directed at pretty 21-year-old Patricia McCormick, is roughly equivalent to "nice going, Blondie." It was voiced by Mexican bullfight aficionados Sunday (Aug. 12) as Pat made her debut as a bullfighter in the Plaza de Toros at Juarez, Mexico.

Her appearance was the climax of many hours of working with cape and sword in the hot summer sun. But, in Pat's words, "it's the beginning of a career I've been dreaming of for many years... to be a matadora, a lady bull-fighter."

And it looks like a successful career is in store for the shapely young lady. Mexican fans, as hard to please as they come, loved her.

Pat was not required to kill a bull Sunday. Her work consisted of passing the bull with a cape. She was knocked off her feet twice by a bull which hooked at her legs instead of following the cape.

This served only to make her mad instead of frightened. Her trainer, Alejandro del Hierro, made her quit after the second spill because he feared her anger would make her too reckless.

"Afraid" no," Pat said, "but it sure made me mad getting dumped twice my first fight."

At present, Pat is an art major at Texas Western College at El Paso, Texas. The location of the school, directly across the Rio Grande from Juarez, makes it handy for her to indulge in her passion for the fiesta of the brave bulls.

Following graduation from Texas Western next year, Pat plans to study the art of bullfighting at a ranch in the interior of Mexico. She hopes to gain enough experience there to enable her to become a full-fledged killer of brave bulls.

Commenting on the oddity of an American girl becoming a matadora, Pat said, "I've had the ambition ever since I saw my first bull-fight in Mexico City at the age of seven." "And," she added, "I'm in dead earnest."

Life Insurance Payments in State Up By 43 Per Cent

New Mexico families received $1,514,000 in life insurance death benefits in the first half of this year, compared with $1,057,000 in the corresponding period of last year, an increase of 43 per cent, it was reported today by the Institute of Life Insurance.

This year's payments are 307 per cent greater than those in the corresponding period ten years ago, when the six-month total was $372,000.

The number of policies paid off because of death in the first six months of 1951 was 705, which compared with 593 in the first half of 1950 and 324 in the first half of 1941.

Robbs Farmer Owner of Pair Prize Jerseys

Two registered Jersey cows in the herd of W. S. Carpenter, Robbs, have earned special certificates in recognition of their standing production records on register of merit test, according to an announcement from the American Jersey Cattle Club, Columbus, Ohio.

Double Sir Miss CMI won the Mexico 305-day milk and butter championship for junior 3-year-old Jersey cows. She produced 9,934 pounds of milk and 563 pounds of butterfat in 305 days on twice daily milking.

The new champion's production over two and one-half times that of the "average" dairy cow in the United States. She also earned club's silver medal certificate, medal of merit certificate and Design Oxford Chicken. Her record was 12,307 pounds (more than 6,000 quarts) of milk and 754 pounds of butterfat in 305 days at the age of eight years.

The average butterfat production of this cow is more than three times that of the "average" dairy cow in the United States. The tests of these animals were verified by officials of the New Mexico College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts and by the American Jersey Cattle Club. The program is designed to enable Jersey breeders to determine their most profitable and efficient cows.

Oil Companies Order 600,000 Copies of Insert

Although Oil Progress Week is more than two months away, 600,000 copies of an envelope enclosure entitled "The Big Job Ahead" already have been ordered by oil companies throughout the country for distribution to customers in advance of the Oct. 14-20 observance.

Total distribution is expected to exceed four million copies. The purpose of the leaflet is to invite attention to the tremendous task faced by oil men today to keep up with rapidly increasing civilian and military demand.

After showing how and why America is using 75 per cent more oil than it did ten years ago, "The "Big Job Ahead" outlines just a few of the steps which thousands of competitive companies are taking to obtain the steel, manpower and capital needed to find the oil with which to fill this unprecedented demand. Printed in two colors, the leaflet was produced by the Oil Industry Information Committee and is being supplied to oil companies and other interested parties at cost, $2.50 per thousand, plus shipping charges.

New $90,000 Building Added For Fair in Lea

Work is being rushed on the new $90,000 exhibit building for the Lea County Fair in an effort to have it ready for use in the 1951 fair which is scheduled for Sept. 25-27. Dates have been twice deferred because of delays in construction. The August issue of The New Mexico Stockman, Albuquerque.

The building is 75x150 feet and will supplement the large cattle show building of the Lea County Hereford Association and some temporary structures used in former county fairs.

Fair dates are scheduled so that junior cattle, sheep, and hog owners can bring their winners from the Lovington exposition to the state fair in Albuquerque.

Novel Ranch

Same issue of the Stockman also has a story on the Philmont Scout Ranch near Cimarron, scene of a recent sports tourney in which Artesia boys competed.

There are two major operations on the Philmont—Herefords and boys. Until 1942 the Philmont was a huge, successful ranching operation. In that year, owner Waite Phillips donated the 127,000 acre property to the Boy Scouts of America to be used for training the Boy Scouts in outdoor and ranch life. In 1950 some 4,000 boys went through the training program. This year more than 7,000 boys are expected. In making the gift, Phillips turned the ranch over to the scouts look, stock and barrel. While the sheep herd and some of the fine Palomino horses have been sold, Hereford herds, both registered and commercial, have been retained and a program of breeding up the quality has been instituted. Some of the unusual features of the Philmont today are the some 300 saddle horses and more than 300 burros (undoubtedly the largest accumulation of "mountain canaries" in the world). The horses and burros are used by the Boy Scouts on their hiking and camping trips. They also have a herd of 50 buffalo and numerous antelope, deer, elk and genuine long horn cattle. Under items in the magazine pertaining to southeastern New Mexico:

Eleven Hereford cows and one bull were sold to Finn Watson, Hobbs, by Carl Lewis of Artesia. Julius J. Terry of Artesia is one of 20 new county committeemen authorized to rule on Farm Home Administration loans. A complete story on this topic was published earlier in The Artesia Advocate.

The In Memoriam page contains obituaries of J. Will Taylor, Lea County rancher who operated near Maljamar and who died July 14 in a Lovington hospital. He was 76 years old. A story on the funeral services was published in The Advocate at that time.

On the same page a story about Broiler Riley, early day rancher, who died in Roswell in July. Mr. Riley grew up in Hope. He was the owner of the old Mennecke ranch west of Roswell and of a ranch in the Guadalupe.

"I got the story on
50,000 Miles-No Wear and changed to New Conoco Super Motor Oil" says W. A. Riley, Jr.

Traveling Salesman
Fort Worth, Texas

"I do a lot of intermittent and long-trip driving," says Mr. Riley. "I never cease to be amazed at how clean new Conoco Super drains out of my engine."

"50,000 Miles-No Wear!" Proved Here:

After a punishing 50,000-mile road test, with proper drains and regular care, engines lubricated with new Conoco Super Motor Oil showed no wear of any consequence; in fact, an average of less than one one-thousandth inch on cylinders and crankshafts. AND gasoline mileage for the last 5,000 miles was actually 99.77% as good as for the first 5,000!

GARAGE MAN
"Believe me, this '50,000 Miles-No Wear' story is all you say it is," writes Harry W. Brown, Garage Man, Okaloosa, Kansas. "With cars using Conoco Super—I find engines cleaner, easier to work on, and show less wear."

MINE OPERATOR
"After using many advertised brands, we have standardized on Conoco Super," writes Sherman L. Snyder, Mine Operator, Helena, Mont. "We find that we get better mileage, and operating costs on our cars and trucks are much less."

Uniform Signals

IF THERE IS a change that is really needed over this nation to help make it possible for the tourist to observe traffic rules and regulations, it is the adoption and the installation of uniform signal lights in the various cities of our nation.

It is not so surprising to find many violating signal lights but rather surprising there are not more violations today than there is. It is rather surprising that as many of these signal lights are seen and observed as there is today.

But there are three to four different kinds and types of signal lights being used over the nation—maybe there are more. Strangers in the various cities never are right sure where to look or to watch for these signal lights. Sometimes they are on the right hand side of the street; sometimes they are hanging from the middle of the street; other times they are on the left side of the street and at times they are hanging on either the left or the right sides of the street.

Somewhere along the line, we should have adopted a uniform system for our nation so that the signal lights could and would be in the same place—that is on the side or hanging from the center of the street. If we had done this then, the average driver would know where to look and to watch for these lights.

But we have failed to do that and, of course, it would be a rather expensive matter to do it today. However, somewhere back a long time ago we should have adopted a uniform system and at least if they were all installed in the same manner the average driver would know where to look for them.

It is true, of course, that we also have installed signal lights in many places where they are not needed and of little value. It is also true that many are not interested in observing signal lights if they can escape or avoid doing so. However, the average driver desires and wants to observe the traffic regulations.

But in many instances they don't and it isn't their fault and it isn't intentional.

We don't know there is a great deal that can or will be done about it now except that if a uniform system were adopted the various cities could at least follow the common system if and when they change or replace signal lights now installed.

One Great Need

WE RECENTLY HEARD a citizen declare that he admired an individual very much because of that individual's personal integrity and his devotion to his ideals.

When we heard that remark, we couldn't keep from thinking that this individual had hit upon the very thing we have lost as individuals and as citizens. He touched on the very thing which we need in this day and time of corrupt government practices and this time when our philosophy seems to be to get all we can get for ourselves and to heck with the other fellow.

There is no question but what much of the personal integrity we once possessed as individuals has been lost and cast aside. We have decided it isn't needed or necessary. There are times when it appears we are convinced it only gets in the way of us doing something we want to do and so we have forgotten it.

There are those few individuals—sort of rare today—who have retained their personal integrity and they continue to retain it because they still believe it is one of the important things in the lives of all individuals. It will probably be because of these people if we are ever able to restore it into the lives of the majority of our citizens.

The same is true about our devotion to our ideals and our principles. We have forgotten that devotion or we soon can forget it if and providing it prevents us from doing something we want to do or from securing something we have decided we want.

We can soon forget some of the principles we have adopted for our life if that becomes necessary to accomplish a given purpose or a given goal whether that goal or purpose is to secure more power in politics; improving our personal position or increasing our wealth.

As a result, of course, we have reached the point where many of the things we once held as good and sacred have been cast aside and been forgotten.

We have reached the point where we are extremely skeptical of most individuals and even of programs and of proposed projects because we have lost confidence in the individuals proposing these undertakings. We are always asking what is behind the movement; what is the object and the purpose; what does the individual proposing them expect to get out of them.

We question the actions and the conduct, the recommendations and the suggestions of all politicians. We are about convinced they are never concerned about the welfare of the public and are always suspicious of the office holder.

We have lost any confidence we might have in them as public officials and as office holders knowing full well that the general program today of professional politicians is to get all they can get for themselves and for their party members and friends.

And unfortunately when we follow through on definite movements and watch and observe these movements we find too often that our suspicions are well founded and that the pattern falls right into place eventually.

Our willingness to forget our personal integrity and our ideals and our willingness seemingly to use anyone and everyone to promote our own personal interests for personal gain has been responsible for the lack of confidence on the part of the public in our branches of government as well as the individuals who conduct our governmental affairs.

There has been too many things which have smacked of corruption and rottenness in public office in low and high places during the past few years to even encourage the average individual to believe the average political office holder is honest.

There are exceptions, of course, but they are in the minority.

But only by regaining our own personal integrity and

BUSY MAN

American retailing always cooperates in worthwhile civic and other endeavors, and often takes the lead. And when some good cause that needs promoting comes along, it is in a position to take part on a national scale.

Officials of the Treasury Department and a committee from a retailing association which has some 7000 member stores recently met to discuss the Defense Bond Campaign which will be launched on Sept. 3 to extend through Oct. 27.

Following the meeting, the association announced that it is asking all its members to cooperate to help make the campaign a success.

It is expected that store participation in the drive will parallel a similar program which met with outstanding success during the last World War, when retailers were credited with selling a high percentage of the total bonds sold.

This particular association includes chains and independents, big stores and relatively small stores. The stores compete hard for the consumer's business—but they all pull together in causes that benefit the whole nation and everyone in it. They deal directly with millions of people every day, and so they are in a particularly fine position to "sell" a worthwhile idea.

The retailer is a busy man these days. He's doing his best to hold prices down in the face of all the inflationary pressures. He is burdened with a mass of complex red-tape that is an inevitable part of the price and other economic controls. He faces the problem of consumer resistance to high prices coupled with rising overhead costs which are beyond his control. His profit percentage is nowhere near as large as most people think. He's doing his job—Industrial News Review.

"It is agreeable to observe at this late date—34 years after the tragic establishment of Communism in Russia—that the United States government is fully and amply clothed with constitutional powers to protect itself at all times . . . against the threat of imported anarchy and revolution. The power of the government to defend itself—and the people—against violence and terrorism in no way conflicts with the protections of free speech and free press guaranteed to law-abiding citizens under the Bill of Rights."—Elmer, N. J., Times.

helping those serving us to regain theirs, can we restore confidence in our government and its officials.

That is going to be necessary if we ever restore our government to the place where it serves the people instead of only serving those who manage it for us.

TELLING QUESTIONS

It is commonly said that the military forces must be given all the money and materials they need, and that government economy must be confined to non-defense spending. However, the military people have an obligation to buy wisely, in no greater amounts than is necessary, and to make every dollar do full duty.

The other day Congressman John Phillips of California asked a number of very telling questions. He said, "Was it necessary for the Army to buy 68,000,000 can openers, for 1,500,000 men? Or 4,636,000 web belts? Or 6,000,000 cans of paint, in quarts and gallons, a full year requirement, and then demand delivery in 6 days? Or 11,753,000 pairs of combat boots, in a rush? Or buy 1,917,000 pounds of black pepper in nine months? Or was it necessary for the Quartermaster to buy 5,000,000 pounds of oleo at 25 cents just when the Department of Agriculture was selling 5,500,000 pounds of butter to Italy for 15 cents? This is the scare buying with which the Administration charges the public, and it is a cause of inflation. Witness the jump in price of the boots just mentioned, from $7.82 to $16.00 as a result of this absurd buying."

The American people are determined that we shall be powerfully protected with military force at home and elsewhere, and they are prepared to pay the bill. At best, that bill will be staggering. But if the money is spent hastily, and demand is allowed to unnecessarily outrun the supply, the bill could be actually ruinous both to the economy and the national security, by causing new and ever-greater waves of inflation.

We must have the strictest kind of economy in non-defense spending. And we must also see that the defense dollar is spent in the right way.—Industrial News Review.

Press Photographers 'Shoot' Parade and Join It, Too

The old days when press photographers clung to telephone poles in order to "shoot" a parade are over—at least, in Detroit. When local and out-of-town lensmen gathered to take pictures of Detroit's big parade, climaxing the city's 250th Anniversary celebration, they were pleasantly surprised by two, gaily-decorated tractor-trailer units, with platforms erected for their convenience. The two units, one of which is shown above, attracted as much attention from the crowd of 1,000,000 as did the regular floats in the parade. It was the idea of the Detroit Press Photographers Association.

Home on the Range

By WILL ROBINSON

For the first time in half a century, this writer has had a real thrill in reading the truth about "Billy the Kid," this time written by another editor of the senior grade, namely, Clyde Ely of the Silver City Press.

The job of "Debunking Billy the Kid" was one of the first big undertakings by this writer. Not a single newspaper in the state, barring none, had the courage to express similar views if they had them. Most publishers quailed before the threats that were often peddled around when this writer told the truth about the outlaw and urged that people stop considering him as a sort of Robin Hood, in place of the murderer and worse that he was.

When the "pageant" idea was hatched the truth was told again several times, but it made no difference and the spectacle took form and is repeated each year. As usual this typer was ignored.

Now comes along Publisher Clyde Ely and tells some of the wholesome truth about the cutthroat. It was certainly sweet reading to this writing person. Here it is.

"Silver City offers quite claim deed to Lincoln for Billy the Kid, early day juvenile delinquent.

"Far be it from wanting to throw cold water on Lincoln's glorification of Billy the Kid—William Bonney—pageant, which is said to have drawn quite a crowd to the place where the former Silver City renegade killed two police officers and went on the loose.

"Silver City has never cared particularly to recall memories of the pee-wee outlaw, who, after all, wasn't much to look at and is credited by those who knew him in his early life as being just an ordinary country boy, cared for by a kindly foster mother who stayed up most of the night to wash his clothes when he first went on the lam. His mother, separated from the Kid's father, died when he was in his teens.

"Like most of the early outlaws, says Com Whitehill, who knew most of them in and around these diggings, the undersized Billy was afraid and managed, until that fateful night he was killed by Pat Garrett, to shoot first. It was his plan to survive, shoot first . . . But Pat caught him in a bedroom at night and the old technique failed. "Quien es?" said Billy and died.

"As a matter of fact, the first man that Billy killed was a Chinaman in Arizona. He left Silver City because he got mixed up in the theft of a bag of clothing. He hadn't himself stolen the bag but he took it from his hiding place for a divvy with the thief.

"Silver City never produced a more unlovely character or one less worthy of any kind of emulation by the young. He was a murderer and a thief. He had no redeeming qualities that any one remembers and his sage is one of crime and perversion."

Why Lincoln, or any other community, should base a pageant on any such a notoriously bad character is puzzling. The hero should have been Garrett, who rid the state of a criminal and upheld law at great personal risk.

"It must be admitted, of course, that some of the more than 20 men killed by the Kid were outlaws, too. In any case Lincoln can have Billy the Kid for what he is worth to the town in dollar day publicity.

New Mexico Girls Show Way to Make Smart Clothing

Simplicity and smartness were featured in the dress revue of the recent annual state 4-H club encampment at New Mexico A. & M. College. The 41 participants in the revue were all county winners who modeled dresses they had made themselves.

A smart tailored suit of navy blue wool, with simple lines, won top honors for Kathleen McCormack of Portales in the senior division of the revue.

A tuxedo-type collar and a single self-covered button at the waistline gave a dignified touch to the coat, and the plain, pencil-line skirt added extra smartness.

Her accessories—bag, hat, and shoes—were navy blue, and her blouse was soft pink. Material in the suit cost $21.62.

The second-place winner in the senior division, Madeline Cross of Albuquerque, wore a dotted Swiss dress, white with navy dots. The dress featured a tucked blouse and a full skirt. Accessories consisted of a white picture hat, gloves, and navy blue shoes and bag. Total cost of material in Madeline's dress: $5.59.

In the junior division, Janet Elliott of Mesilla Park took first place with a cotton broadcloth school dress of aqua and pink. Outstanding features of her dress were a gored skirt and stitched, pointed cuffs and collar. Cost of Janet's dress: $2.46.

The second-place junior winner, Pauline Baca of Belen, modeled a red dotted Swiss dress featuring a gathered skirt and white pearl-button trim. Cost: $41.10.

The dress revue was the climax of the series of 4-H contests at the encampment. The revue was held in the ballroom of Milton Hall on the A. & M. campus. The girls modeled before a backdrop of corduroy of rich full colors.

MARCH OF EVENTS

Player Testimony to Hill | Athletes to Get Innings
Baseball Reserve Clause | In House Monopoly Probe

WASHINGTON—A salvo of opposition to baseball's "reserve" clause will be detonated when the players get their innings in the House investigation of the game's monopoly aspects. The clause binds an athlete to one club, and has given rise to cries of "peonage," though it has been stoutly defended by clubowners and league officials.

The players, who are to testify after the season ends, are expected to tell the committee that some kind of a binding arrangement is necessary but that the reserve clause in its present form is grossly unfair. Phil Rizzuto, New York Yankee shortstop and player representative of the major league grievance committee, will lead off for the diamond luminaries in the congressional probe.

Whatever comes out of the hearing in the way of new legislation will apply not only to baseball but to all other professional sports using the reserve clause, or a similar contract option clause.

● TAXES—The outlook in Congress now is for a substantially smaller tax increase than the $72 billion boost voted by the House. Despite the administration's insistence upon $10 billion in tax levies, chances are that the Senate will approve only a $6 billion tax rise.

The individual taxpayer may benefit most from this scaling down of the tax hike. Influential senators say they will not approve the full House-voted boosts in personal and corporation income taxes. On the other hand, the Senate may go beyond the House-passed increases in excise taxes on consumer goods. This, of course, will increase the cost of the products to the consumer.

In any event, no new tax bill will be enacted before September. The individual tax increases, therefore, can not be placed in effect before Oct. 1, and it is more likely they will become effective Jan. 1.

● LIVING COSTS—Government officials believe the cost of living will continue the present "sidewise movement" for the next two to four months, and then will start soaring again under the impact of increased public purchasing power resulting from the rearmament program.

The experts point out that another major factor in the picture will be the reduced stocks of automobiles, refrigerators, and other things as a result of government cutbacks in materials for production of civilian durable goods.

With the supply reduced, demand will be increased by added purchasing power, and the stage will be set for a new onset of inflation. Meanwhile, the nation's economy should enjoy a relatively stable "soft spot," that is, a temporary period in which supply and demand will be in balance.

Main reason for this is that people overbought in the "scarcity" spree last year, and it will take a little time before normal demand is restored.

● APATHY—One of the most reliable gauges of public feeling about defense—the rate of blood contributions—indicates that the American public was getting extremely apathetic about the Korean war even before the Kaesong armistice negotiations.

About 200,000 contributors to the blood stockpile per month are needed to meet the national quotas which the Defense department has given the Red Cross. Actual numbers of stockpile contributions since last March are: March, 70,000; April, 54,000; May, 60,000; June, 50,000; July, approximately 40,000.

The slight jump in contributions in May was caused by the big enemy offensive at the end of April, but the Communist successes were too short-lived to change the general downward trend.

To meet the situation, the Defense department hired one of New York's smartest press agents, Paul Gaynor, to map a giant publicity campaign.

The stockpile quotas for fiscal 1952 require 230,000 contributors per month above current needs. Gaynor would have to multiply the current rate about five times—without the stimulus of war loaned should Korean hostilities end.

demonstration of how a teen-ager can be smartly but inexpensively dressed by a careful choice of patterns and materials and by excellent workmanship," says Rhea Boyley, extension clothing specialist at New Mexico A. & M. College.

CONGRESSIONAL investigating committees have become used to evasive witnesses maintaining, "I refuse to answer on the grounds that it might incriminate me," but one radio writer on the stand came up with a new one. Abel Green, of Variety, reports that this witness pondered over a question momentarily, then had a long whispered consultation with his lawyer, and finally answered, "My counsel has just given me some advice I don't understand."

Absent-minded Professor Doppelburger pulled a prize one just before the Independence Day weekend. He drove to town for supplies, forgot that he had parked his car in the Radio City garage, took his usual commuters' train home, and phoned his wife to bawl the daylight out of her for not meeting him at the station.

"You drove the car to New York this morning. Remember?" she pointed out sweetly.

"Astounding," said Professor Doppelburger. "I must be careful never to be so forgetful again." He thereupon went up to the ticket window and bought a round-trip ticket to New York.

Lobo Press To Issue Four Books This Fall

The University of New Mexico Press at Albuquerque will have four brand new books ready for the fall sale.

The books, all with the familiar southwestern settings and two of them written by New Mexico authors, include "Born to Battle," S. Omar Barker; "No Dudes, Few Women," Elizabeth Ward; "Savage Son," Oren Arnold; and "Slash Ranch Hounds," by G. W. (Dub) Evans.

S. Omar Barker, whose "Born to Battle" will be released Sept. 15, is a brother of New Mexico's game warden, Elliott Barker, who wrote the ever-popular "When the Dogs Bark Freed."

Turning from his poetry and writing of a different nature, Omar Barker has brought out 14 fictionalized short stories about the hooped, horned and clawed animals of the West.

Elizabeth Ward, whose "No Dudes, Few Women" will hit the bookshelves Oct. 1, follows in the IN THE PROBATE COURT OF EDDY COUNTY, STATE OF NEW MEXICO.
