State Tax Commission Approves $231,254 Budget to Operate City During 1952-53 Fiscal Year

Salaries Account for Over Half of Budget Total

A City of Artesia budget totaling $231,254 was approved by the state tax commission secretary Manuel R. Baca Tuesday in conference with the city council. Two minor increases in budgetary items were the only changes made during the hearing. No citizens appeared to protest any budget items, and the proposed budget was quietly adopted during a 9-minute session.

Chief item on the new budget, which will operate the city from July 1 of this year to June 30, 1953, is a $120,630 salary budget which includes an across-the-board 5 per cent increase to city employees. Average monthly increase allowed is $52 per month to each employee. Salaries last year cost the city $106,000.

Total Expenses—

Total expenses in the general fund, including salaries, amount to $215,330 was approved by Baca. Among larger general fund expense items are $10,000 for parking meters newly purchased this year by the city; $10,500 for public health, sanitation, and Artesia General hospital; $6,000 for police department; $17,500 for streets.

Insurance and bonds will cost the city about $6,000 under the new budget, and provision for street lighting also totals $6,000. Allotted for recreational facilities is $5,000. The city's emergency fund totals $10,000, and $6,500 has been allowed for hospital equipment.

Total expenses amount to $75,000, and total equipment cost amounts to $19,000.

The new general fund budget is an increase of $40,000 over the budgeted amount for that fund in 1951-52, and is an increase of $44,000 over the amount actually spent in the last fiscal year.

Chief sources of revenue expected by the city include $19,000 from occupation tax and licenses; $15,000 from liquor licenses; $2,500 from driver licenses; $2,000 from building permits; $2,000 from Eddy county, and $20,000 from parking meters.

The city will also realize an anticipated $5,500 from sewer tax; $18,000 police fines; $2,000 airport revenue; $62,830 utilities; $31,000 gas tax, and $15,000 balance available.

Total credits—income—will amount to $199,330. Current taxes added $16,000, giving the city an estimated income of $215,330. In the budget's other special (Continued on Page Six)

City's Bonded Indebtedness Totals $472,000

Bonded indebtedness of the City of Artesia now amounts to $156,000 in general obligation bonds and $336,000 in revenue bonds, according to figures given the state tax commission Tuesday by the city.

General bonds dated June 1, 1948, now amount to $66,000 with $30,000 having been retired from the issue of $90,000. Interest rate is 4 per cent, interest requirements are $924, and sinking fund requirements total $4,000.

On other general obligation bonds, the city is paying $4,000 annually from 1947 to 1956, and $5,000 annually from 1957 through 1966. This is redeemable on or after June 1, 1956.

Revenue bond issues of $150,000 issued March 1, 1946 now amount to $112,000, with $38,000 having been retired. Of the amount still out on this issue, $7,000 is drawing 1.75 per cent interest and $104,000 is drawing 2.5 per cent interest.

Water and sewer revenue bonds issued Jan. 1, 1948, amounted to $120,000. Of this, $17,000 has been retired, and $20,000 is being paid at 3.5 per cent interest, while $71,000 draws 3.50 per cent.

A revenue bond issue of $125,000 issued Jan. 1, 1950, has had $4,000 retirement paid on it, with $47,000 drawing 3.25 per cent interest and $74,000 carrying 3.50 per cent interest.

Interest requirements on the revenue bonds amount to $10,395, and sinking fund requirements amount to $16,000.

ARRIVES FOR KEFAUVER DRIVE

GAEL SULLIVAN, manager of Senator Estes Kefauver's bid for the Democratic presidential nomination, is crowned with a coonskin cap as he arrives in Chicago to prepare for the Democratic convention, which opens July 21. Crowning him is 4-year-old Sandra Lipsen, held up by Bradley Eben, Kefauver's Illinois manager.

Artesia Made Center of New SCS District

Artesia will be the center of soil conservation work in southeast New Mexico under a realignment of SCS work in New Mexico, according to R. A. Young, state conservationist with offices at Albuquerque.

The city will be at the center of one of six areas newly created "to reduce overhead expenses and to increase the number of people and amount of money for applying soil and water conservation practices on the land," Young explained.

G. L. Beene, now head of the Central valley, Penasco valley, Carlsbad, and Lea county districts, will be area conservationist with headquarters at Artesia, Young stated.

Beene could not be contacted on Thursday when announcement of the new organization was made to the press, but it is believed the area under his supervision with headquarters at Artesia will extend northward into Chaves county and westward.

Other New Areas—
Other new work areas created by the state SCS office are as follows:

Area No. 1 includes approximately the northwest quarter of the state. Joe H. Christy will be area conservationist with headquarters in Albuquerque.

Area No. 2 includes the north-central portion of the state. Glenn H. Burrows will be area conservationist with headquarters in Santa Fe.

Area No. 3 includes the southwest portion of the state. Frank H. Hedges will be area conservationist with headquarters at Las Cruces.

Area No. 4 includes the northeast portion of the state. C. A. Henderson will be area conservationist with headquarters at Raton.

Area No. 5 includes the east-central portion of the state. Herb M. Cavett will be area conservationist with headquarters at Clovis.

Young said that the realignment of the SCS set-up is made possible because of the continuing increase in the number of soil conservation districts and the corresponding increase in land areas in these districts. There now are 60 districts in New Mexico which include 73 per cent of the state's area.

An average of eight soil conservation districts is included in each SCS work area, depending upon the size and intensity of work, the state conservationist pointed out. The number of SCS technicians assigned to each area varies accordingly. (Continued on Page Six)

City's Property Valuation Climbs By Half-Million

Value of assessed valuation of property in Artesia has risen about half a million dollars in the last year, according to figures released before the state tax commission on Tuesday at city budget hearings.

Assessed property valuation in 1951 was $6,965,102, according to reports. This rose to $7,527,342 in 1952.

This is an increase of about $562,240, the City of Artesia reports.

Lowly Vernon Rises Up to Lick Artesia 5-0

Cellar-dwelling Vernon Dusters rose up to smite third place Artesia by 5-0 in a none too exciting Longhorn league baseball game before a sparse crowd of 610 Thursday evening.

The two teams will return tonight at 7:30 in Driller Park. Artesia will then meet Sweetwater in two games scheduled for Saturday and Sunday before shoving off to Odessa for a pair of games with the league leaders.

Vernon first scored last night in the third inning when Art Neal walked and scored on Eddy Bucynski's single after advancing on a pair of fielder's choices.

The Dusters chalked up a brace of runs in the fourth when George Hayes advanced on an error, Joe Niedson walked, and Golden Gholsion singled to load the bases.

Vernon tackled the fifth with a will but was able to shove only one run across when Salvador Lupo got on by a safety, advanced on an error, and came home on Joe Niedson's single.

Vernon drew the curtain in the eighth with a final safety as George Taves tagged a single, came home on errors and fielder's choice.

Ranchhands' Rodeo Plans Move Into High Gear; Gala Opening Day August 14 to Have Parade

Flash Floods Again Pour Into Lakewood Area

For the second time within 11 days, North fork of Seven Rivers flooded into Lakewood early Thursday morning, stopping traffic and carrying off priceless top soil.

A flash flood began tumbling across a newly paved road near the railroad into the community between 4:30 and 5:15 a. m., according to Lakewood residents. Water continued pouring across the railroad and highway area through the morning.

Water rose higher in Thursday morning's flood than it had a week ago last Tuesday morning, on July 8, when it ran about 12 inches high across the road in two places. Traffic was slowed but not stopped in the earlier flood.

Water hit an estimate 28 inches in some places Thursday morning. Two dips in the road, separated by only about 75 yards, were running swiftest. Residents of the Lakewood area were bitterly protesting engineering of the road, which allows water to flow over the road rather than through culverts beneath it.

Water was heavily muddy in both flash floods, but much more so Thursday morning. Spectators speculated that heavy rainfall in the mountains to the west plus rising tributaries had contributed to the flash flood which boiled across cotton and alfalfa planted in the rich farming area around Lakewood.

Trains were reported slowed but not stopped by the tumbling water, which sliced at the railroad embankment supporting tracks. Work crews were on the scene early to bolster the embankment.

As a further opening day attraction a hot-rod race sponsored by Artesia veterans club will be held at 2 p. m. in the afternoon. At 5 p. m. August 14 Epsilon Sigma Alpha sorority will begin serving a chuck wagon supper, priced at $1 per plate for choice beef with ample barbecue sauce, as well as ample salad, and soft drinks and coffee.

Opening performance of the rodeo will start at 7:30 in the roping arena west of Artesia, Chipman said.

Prospective Hope Water Users Surveyed

A survey among Hope water users was conducted Tuesday by Gilbert McAllister of the FHA office at Carlsbad to determine prospective users of a proposed town domestic and farm water well.

According to regulations, 70 per cent of the water from the well proposed by Hope's petticoat administration must go to farmers or ranchers and be used in watering stock, gardens, and yards.

McAllister was conducted on the tour by Ezra Teel of Hope, who has already donated $100 to the water well fund.

Hope's all-woman government, headed by Mayor Ethel Altman, has turned to solution of its pressing water problem as the most acute hindrance to growth and prosperity now facing the group.

Representatives of the town's government have even appeared in Washington, D. C. before congressmen to buy back land which had been declared submarginal during depression days.

Turtle Tinkering Seeks Speed

Artesians began tinkering with slow moving turtles in earnest this week in an effort to find what might make the slow moving reptiles move fast enough to win a first prize estimated at over $250 when the Lions second annual Turtle Derby begins next Friday.

Anything within reason that could possibly coax speed from the critters was sure to pay off. Prizes are awarded on a percentage basis, with the winner getting 25 per cent of the Lions' total daily take, the runner-up getting 15 per cent, and third place 10 per cent.

Last year the 25 per cent first prize given each day in the grand prize race amounted to $250, and Lions are assured that the "take" at the race will total even more this year, allowing bigger prizes.

One Artesian was reported tinkering with a device to be painlessly mounted on his turtle's back. The device is intended to dangle a delicate morsel of food before the reptile's nose, thereby encouraging greater speed.

The only catch—finding a food that will tantalize a turtle into breaking the legendary speed assigned to the species.

Lions prepared today to construct a large turtle pen next to the Lansdown theater for publicity purposes. About 50 of the 1,100 turtles purchased by Lions club will be displayed, so interested Artesians may pick out their favorites and incidentally get a spief about entering the Turtle Derby next Friday.

Post time for the first derby race has been set for 2:30 p. m. next

Library May Move to New Basement Quarters August 4

Movement for larger library space was activated by Mayor J. L. Briscoe shortly after he took office this year. While building plans were discussed, it was decided that the library will be temporarily housed in City Hall basement pending more detailed study of future expansion. Such a study is being considered by the library board, headed by Mrs. S. P. Yates.

Board Recommends—
The library board has recommended to the city council that the library be allowed to eventually occupy the entire city hall building. (Continued on Page Six)

Written Entries In Kids' Summer Book Quiz Urged

More written entries in the summer book quiz contest sponsored by the American Association of University Women in Artesia were urged this week by Mrs. V. P. Sheldon, publicity chairman of the group.

The quiz contest calls for children to read as many books as possible, then put their ideas about the book on paper. The ideas may be expressed in the form of the letter. The letters should be sent to "Quiz Master, Artesia Public Library, Artesia, N. M."

Eligible in the book quiz contest is every boy and girl from the first through the sixth grade.

Contestants are reading now from a list of interesting, illustrated books. The list is at Artesia Public Library and provides a choice of books to interest every child. Entrants may select as many books as they wish.

A large chart on which has been written the names of every book on the list is hanging in the library. Each time a child takes a book out, he or she will write the name and the grade of school beside the title of the book.

Mrs. Donald Knorr, librarian, reports many children are reading from the book list, but that more must write their ideas about their books down on paper so that they may be judged for the book quiz contest.

The written letter should tell what the child likes or doesn't like about the book. Mother or Dad can help their youngsters in writing these letters.

Children can read as many books as they wish and write a letter about each one for the contest.

Books to be read are divided into three groups. One is for first and

New Deputy Is Named By High

Orville Lusk, formerly an employee of Owen Haynes Drilling Co. in Artesia, has been appointed as deputy sheriff for Artesia by Sheriff W. L. High. Lusk will replace Ralph W. Smith, who was fired two weeks ago.

Lusk, a tool dresser, was at one time employed on the Artesia police force, but resigned. He will work with Mark Walters, senior deputy assigned to the Artesia and North Eddy county area.

Lusk is a veteran and well known throughout the area. He received police training while in the armed forces.

Smith has claimed he was fired "without reason" by Sheriff High, and unverified rumors indicated that High was attempting to end dissent between the Artesia police force and other law enforcement officers.

Smith has placed in circulation a number of petitions asking that he receive an appointment from county commissioners as constable for the Artesia precinct. The commissioners' court, however, has not acted on the petitions.

Judge Bans Night Parking at Fifth, Main Corner

Police Judge John Ellicott has issued a warning that parking in the alleys and drive around Pior Rubber Co. in the 400 block on W. Main street are unlawful and violators will be fined.

Police have been ticketing cars who park in the business' drives and alleys at night, Judge Ellicott said. However, violators have not been fined to date.

"It is important that we keep this corner clear of cars, and we will begin prosecuting violators," the judge declared.

Municipal Band Issues Call for More Players

A call for prospective members of Artesia Municipal band was issued today by Waldo W. Ports, president of the organization and summer director of the band.

Ports said the band will welcome "anyone in Artesia or surrounding community who plays a band instrument." The band practices at 8 p. m. every Thursday night in the Junior high school band building at Artesia.

It was organized in 1951 after being inactive for several years. Officers, in addition to Ports, are Glenn Caskey, secretary and treasurer, and Ben Stevens, director.

Board of directors, chosen at the organizational meeting in August, 1951, include Tony King, Kirk Yeager, Leland Bourland, Waldo Ports, Glenn Caskey, and Ben Stevens.

The band has played several times at Driller park during baseball games.

Personnel of the band includes: cornets—Leland Bourland, Tommy Myers, Donald Schulz, Bob Barrett, David Dillard; clarinets—Tony King, Betty Jo Kaiser, Mrs. Charley McCasland, Duane Robinson, Jean Smith, Buddy McQuay, Jack Williams.

Saxophones—Tony King, Tony Scanton, Bobby McQuay, C. C. Corvell, Bell Lyra, Mrs. Tony King; alto horns—Bill Yeager, Mrs. W. E. Proffitt; baritone—Glen Caskey; trombones—Lloyd Bell, Dwight Robinson; basses—Kirk Yeager, Glen Rogers; bass drum—Chester Smith.

Artesia Scout Is Chosen For Trip In Wilds

Vernon Crow of Artesia will be one of 22 advanced Boy Scouts from southeastern New Mexico to make a trip into the Canadian wilds on a 10-day excursion scheduled to leave Artesia July 23.

Yorel Harris, of Carlsbad, area Scout executive, will lead the boys, who are all members of Explorer Scouts posts in southwestern New Mexico. Most of the boys, including 16-year-old Crow, are of Eagle Scout rank, and must pass rigid qualifications before being selected for the trip.

Leaving Artesia, the group will head for Dodge City, Kans., for a tour of historic sites there, then travel into Nebraska, the Black Hills of South Dakota, the Twin Cities of Minnesota, and then northward.

The group will headquarter at Moose Lake base camp, 24 miles north of Ely, Minn., on the U.S.-Canadian border. From there the boys will foray out into the wilderness.

Harris, who has made the trip five times before, reports unexcelled fishing in the wilderness area. Bountiful wildlife—bear, moose, etc.—will afford Scouts making the trip plenty of chance for study—and adventure.

The outing Harris pointed out, is designed to test and advance the chosen Scout's knowledge of Scout lore in regard to the outdoors.

"We'll see no civilization for 10 days," the field executive stated. Boys from Southeastern New Mexico will be split into two parties of 12 each, including 11 Scouts and one leader. Five other parties from across the United States will be making the same (Continued on Page Six)

Mrs. Don Payne Honored With Baby Shower

Mrs. Don Payne was honored with a baby shower at 3 o'clock on Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Marvin Holley with Faye Teel as co-hostess.

Small marigolds and baby carnations were arranged in vases shaped like a baby buggy and a stork.

The centerpiece on the gift table was a blue and white umbrella, from which steamed a shower of "raindrops" (icicles from last year's Christmas tree). Under the umbrella was a group of miniature baby dolls. The table was covered with a cloth picturing storks and babies. Favors were miniature parasols.

A game was played, and then Mrs. Payne's many gifts were displayed to those present.

Refreshments of pink and white cookies, nuts, mints and soft drinks were served.

Those present were Mmes. Alfred Letcher, T. J. Bratcher, Randolph Box, Iva Jones, Jim Furlow, O. Bratcher, Don Payne, and Marvin Holley, and Misses Wanda McDonald, Mary Lois West, and Faye Teel.

Those sending gifts were Mmes. Bill Smith, G. E. Kaiser, Geneva Goodner, Leonard Parrish, Houston Teel, C. O. McDonald, and Misses Virginia Jones and Dorothy Jones.

Surprise Stork Shower Held For Mrs. Box

Mrs. Randolph Box was honored with a surprise stork shower Tuesday evening at her home, 303 Hermoda drive, with Mrs. Robert Dudley Furlow as hostess.

Peggy Parrish presided at the guest book.

The evening was spent in playing games.

The gifts were placed in a bassinet with a miniature stork overlooking the bassinet.

The refreshment table was centered with a bouquet of daisies. Refreshments of cake decorated with booties, candy, and cold drinks were served.

Those present were Mmes. James Parrish, Robert D. Furlow and Mike, James A. Furlow, T. L. Ditto, Oscar Brasher, Ralph Ashley, Don Payne, Dick Gill, F. M. Parrish and children, Jimmy and Ronnie, J. R. Houghtaling, Nola Box, LaRue Bishop, Robert Bishop, C. Tow, V. A. Lane, John Simons, Jr., Bertie Krueged and Wallace Box and Peggy Parrish.

Those sending gifts were Mmes. Dick Ray, Robinson, Ivy Jones, A. Hardin, Otha Howard, Homer Allred, C. A. Parrish, Mosely and Fauntleroy, and Ginger Jones and Jerry and Susie Houghtaling, Miss Nita Joy O'Hagen, Mrs. Juanita Bratcher, Mrs. Pryor and Mrs. Geiser.

Auxiliary Past Presidents Work On Tray Favors

The Past Presidents Parley, American Legion Auxiliary met at the home of Mrs. H. R. Paton on Monday for a regular luncheon at 12:30 with Mrs. Francis Painter as co-hostess.

A centerpiece of white daisies decorated the dining table with a profusion of flowers throughout the home.

Mrs. H. B. Gilmore, president, conducted the business meeting. Members worked on 175 tray favors for the patients at Fort Bayard hospital. Dolls have been dressed, and more gifts will be made for the Christmas gift shop at the hospital.

Those present were Mmes. F. E. Painter, Raymond Bartlett, H. R. Paton, Lee Francis, Gertrude Jacobs, P. V. Morris, J. L. Briscoe, Albert Richards, D. M. Walter, C. R. Baldwin, Earl Darst, H. B. Gilmore, and Charles Dungan, members, and Mrs. John A. Mathis, Jr., a guest.

Conservation of New Mexico Resources To Be Studied By College Workshop

"Know your New Mexico—its resources, its people, its future." This is the theme and the purpose of a conservation workshop which will open Monday, June 9, at New Mexico Western college. Registration will be Monday at Light hall and the first session will start Tuesday at 8 a. m.

The workshop was organized by the college six years ago to prepare teachers for bringing the message of conservation to their students and their communities. Specialists in various fields are brought in to show how to solve the problems of conserving the natural resources of New Mexico and improving the social and economic conditions in the state. Each teacher leaves the course with ideas, information and well-organized material to be put to immediate use in teaching conservation in her own school.

Classroom work will be supplemented by field trips into the forests and surrounding areas to show "on-the-ground" application of work being done in the development and wise use of New Mexico's natural resources. Visual aids will be used extensively to illustrate work being done in various fields.

This year's workshop will be under the direction of Mrs. Mabel Kaupas, New Mexico Western college; Mrs. Ruth Bush Jones, U. S. forest service; and Tom Wiley, state superintendent of public instruction.

Guest lecturers will include specialists from federal and state agencies concerned with conservation. The local office of the U. S. forest service has been very helpful and cooperative in working with the group in past years, college officials said.

W. L. Hansen of the forest service will lecture June 11 on the history of the conservation movement in the United States. On June 16, Dr. Eugene Callaghan of the New Mexico state bureau of mines will discuss the mineral resources of New Mexico. Robert M. Heron, geologist, U. S. geological survey, will discuss the geology of this area in a lecture June 17. Other lecturers are scheduled in the eight-week course.

The course carries college credit applicable to science, social science and educational requirements and toward teacher certification.

Talk on Mexican Oil Presented Before Kiwanis

Oil hunting on the west coast of Mexico was outlined in a talk given before Artesia Kiwanis club Thursday noon by Waldo Ports, Artesia geologist.

Complete report expected on the Kiwanis-sponsored softball game held last Friday evening was not available at Thursday's meeting, officers reported.

Ports recalled he had lived in the state of Sonora and in Baja California in Mexico while working with geologists in search of oil.

Numerous leads in Mexico on oil were reported, Ports said, and were tracked down by his firm, especially those of oil found in water wells dug by natives. In one area formations necessary to oil were found, he noted, but faults and folds of the formations eliminated possibility of the mineral.

Rich mineral deposits to be found in Western Mexico were described briefly by Ports, who noted that extreme richness of soil in fertile river valleys. The speaker said huge harvests of nearly any crop could be counted on. However, he added, when government confiscated large land grants and distributed them among peons, the harvests stopped because peons did not know how to use the land.

After tracing and investigating several geological formations in lower California, Ports and his party turned back to the U. S. because of very bad roads in areas they were prospecting. There were indications in Lower California that may in the future lead to oil, according to Ports.

A short board of directors meeting was held at the close of the regular Kiwanis meeting.

Swimming Class In Life Saving Is Organized

The rain last week and subsequent cool weather was a welcome relief from the heat for everyone except the swimmers at the city pool. By Friday classes were almost back to normal and 90 boys and girls enjoyed the pool.

Another life-saving and water safety class has been organized with eight people registered. They are Paulina Laughlin, Charles Blakeley, Ginger Carder, Howard Price, who will be in the senior course, and Jimmy Stewart, James Syferd, Don Cullins, and Garleen Stewart will take the junior course.

Coach Reese Smith will be gone for two weeks to go to the Army Reserve training camp at Fort Bliss.

During Smith's absence, Lila Nut will take over his swimming classes. Mrs. Nut teaches girls' physical education and English at the high school during the regular school year and is a qualified water safety instructor.

Howard Price has been life-guarding in the absence of John

Green who went to Chicago to attend the Republican convention. The swimming schedule has been changed to meet the needs of overcrowded classes. It is as follows: Life-saving and advanced swimming, 9-9:45; intermediate swimmers (deep water), 9-45-10:30; Almost ready for deep water, 10:30-11:00; those who can float and swim a little, 11:00-11:30 beginners.

These classes are open to adults as well as children.

Precautions Against Spread of Polio Are Urged By National Foundation

Branches of the federal government are cooperating with the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis in assuring widespread distribution of 35 million copies of the 1952 "Polio Pledge" for parents prepared by the March of Dimes organization.

Earl James McGrath, United States commissioner of education, as well as the United States post office department, have endorsed this annual project to alert American children and parents to safeguards which may lessen the possibility of contracting paralytic polio.

McGrath, endorsing the pledge's distribution through all the schools of the nation said, "The 1952 message about polio precautions entitled 'Polio Pledge,' has been made available to all the schools in the country. I recommend that administrators and teachers give all possible help to the national foundation and its chapters in this school and community health program."

Over Six Million Families Served By Extension

About 6 1/2 million families, both rural and urban, received educational help from the cooperative extension service of the nation's land-grant colleges and the U. S. department of agriculture last year, according to H. L. Hildwein, associate extension director at New Mexico A&M college.

Information on farming, gardening, homemaking and improved rural living went out over the air, in news releases, in booklets and letters, and by direct word-of-mouth advice from county extension agents in the 48 states, Alaska, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico.

Extension contributed in defense mobilization in helping farmers to increase production by getting the greatest possible efficiency from labor, equipment, livestock, feed, and each acre of land. As a result of extension teachings, about 3 million farm families improved their agricultural practices and probably their income and enjoyment of life, as well, Hildwein says.

Enrollment in the extension 4-H club program was higher than ever before, totaling nearly 2 million boys and girls. In food production projects alone, the 4-H'ers raised over 60,000 acres of garden truck, grain and corn. They raised about a million head of livestock—dairy cattle, sheep, beef cattle, and hogs—and about 9 million chickens and turkeys.

Extension work is a cooperative project of the U. S. department of agriculture, state college of agriculture, county and local governments, and local civic and business organizations. During the year, the program was carried on by about 12,500 professional agricultural and home economics extension workers. They made 20,567,150 personal contacts, including farm and home visits, office conferences, and telephone calls.

They and volunteer local leaders held nearly 2 1/2 million meetings, with a total attendance of 74,634,000—an all-time high. Extension workers cooperated with newspapers and farm magazines in providing nearly a million articles on agriculture and homemaking for millions of rural and urban readers. They broadcast more than 140,000 radio programs. They distributed more than 21,000,000 copies of bulletins and leaflets. In carrying on their work, they had the assistance of more than a million farmers, rural women, and older boys and girls who served as volunteer, unpaid local leaders.

The pledge, in poster form, will be displayed through October 31 in the nation's 44,500 post offices.

This March of Dimes project to safeguard children from the menace of polio was inaugurated in 1945 with a printing of 520,000 copies entitled, "When Polio Strikes."

Two years later, in 1947, more than 29 million leaflets called "A Message to Parents," were distributed through the schools in both an English and a Spanish edition.

In 1951, so popular was the project, that the original printing was exhausted. Recorders from schools both in the United States and Puerto Rico boosted the total to 32,500,000. This growth has paralleled not only the population growth of public, private and parochial schools, but the increasing recognition of the publication's value by administrators and teachers.

Abbreviated Pledge—Here, in abbreviated form, are the essential precautions listed in the 1952 "Polio Pledge":

(1)—Avoid fatigue from work or play.
 (2)—Don't get chilled. Don't swim too long in cold water nor sit around in wet clothes.

 (3)—Don't mix unnecessarily with new groups. Don't take children out of camp where there is good health supervision.
 (4)—Watch closely for signs of illness... headaches, fever, sore muscles, stiff neck or back, trouble in breathing or swallowing.
 (5)—Put a sick person to bed at once, away from others, and call your doctor. Follow his advice.
 (6)—Contact your local March of Dimes chapter for whatever assistance or financial help you may need.

Thieves Take $20, Three Guns From Business

Police today are seeking one or more persons who had enough knowledge about floor plan of an Artesia business to go immediately to the cash drawer and selected stock.

J. A. Fairey, owner of Fairey Trading Post at 511 N. First, early Tuesday reported the theft of about $20 in change, three pistols, plus a shirt, a billfold, and three rings of minor value.

Fairey and police found thieves had first attempted to raise a window on the southeast side of the building, breaking a window bar in the try, but failed to gain entry. An attempt to punch a hole through a sheetrock portion of the building was successful, but did not give access.

Successful on the third try when using a small pry bar to open the south door in the building, thieves went directly to a desk drawer where the cash was kept.

Also stolen were three hand guns—a Colts Woodsman .22 automatic pistol and holster; a Colts Sport King .22 automatic pistol and holster and a .32 S&W revolver with 5-inch barrel.

Also taken were a western shirt and three inexpensive Air Corps rings, as well as a billfold.

funds, $3,000 is allotted for fire equipment other than fire trucks and $1,000 for equipment repairs. Credits to the fire fund in fire allotments are $4,000.

Requirements for the interest fund are $924, to be met by current taxes. The sinking fund requires $4,000 and will be met by current taxes of $4,000. Paving fund requirements amount to $7,000 and will also be paid from the one mill paving tax.

Harris declared he has sought qualified men with physical stamina who can make the trip with the Scouts as leaders, but because of lack of time on the part of most men, has not been able to find leaders.

conclusion of the particular heat.

For Grand Prize—

The first 10 turtles crossing the line in each heat will be set aside to run in the grand prize final heat both days, with an estimated 50 or 60 competing in the last race each day for the grand prize money, which will total about $500 each day Friday and Saturday.

The racing begins when turtles entered are released from a large pen at the center of the circle giving all an equal start with no handicaps permitted. The first turtle to cross the outside line of the ring—100 feet in radius and 200 feet in diameter—wins the race.

No turtles who measure less than 2 1/2 inches across the under-shell will be permitted to enter, but there is no maximum size limit set by the Lions club.

Turtles Registered—

Each turtle will be registered when it is entered, and a number painted on its back by racing officials.

Entries from across North Eddy County as well as Roswell and Carlsbad are expected for the two-day racing event. Tickets are now on sale by Lions club members.

ing to the work load, Young said.

Changes in the SCS set-up in New Mexico are a part of a nationwide reorganization, Young said. Previously, the state has been divided into 18 SCS work groups with a district conservationist in charge of each. Under the new plan there will be only six work areas with an area conservationist in charge of each, the position of district conservationist having been eliminated.

Unit Conservationist—

As in the past, a unit conservationist will be assigned to work with each soil conservation district. One conservationist may work with two or more small districts, while two or more may be assigned to the larger districts, Young pointed out. The unit conservationist will also be charged with SCS responsibilities in connection with the agricultural conservation program administered by the PMA.

The work areas have been designated according to the types of agriculture, geographic location, distances, and accessibility during the winter, the state conservationist said. The area conservationist will be the administrator supervisor of all SCS work units in the areas.

Artesian to Take Part in Opera

Leroy Jacobs of Artesia will take to Eastern New Mexico university dramatics as narrator in the Opera Drama workshop production of "Down in the Valley," slated for next Monday and Tuesday, July 21 and 22.

Composed by Kurt Weill, "Down in the Valley," is considered among the top new folk operas, according to Robert E. Page, musical director, and Dr. Clifford Hammar, stage director and assistant professor in drama.

The per capita share of the interest on 1949 national debt was $36.33.

Three Educators Leave City for El Rito Meeting

Three Artesia educators will be among teachers and supervisors from across New Mexico slated to meet Monday through Wednesday at El Rito Normal school north of Santa Fe.

Vernon Mills, Artesia elementary supervisor, will direct the three-day workshop on teacher education and certification, a meeting designed to discuss progress and advancement of the program.

T. Stovall, high school principal, will lead one group discussion in the workshop, and John Dougherty, junior high school instructor, will also take part in the session.

Central Valley Directors to Meet Tax Board

Members of the board of trustees of Central Valley Electric Co-Op, Artesia, left the city Thursday to appear before the state tax commission in Santa Fe in a session beginning Friday.

Accompanying Paul Frost, manager of Central Valley, were Directors Bill Langenegger, H. L. Green, George O. Teel, and Attorney W. M. Siegenthaler.

The group expects to return on Sunday or Monday to Artesia.

U. S. mills used 14 per cent less apparel wool and 49 per cent less carpet wool in 1951 than in 1950. Main factors in the decline were a drop in demand for wool for civilian goods, large inventories compared with sales, a decline in retail sales, a decline in retail sales, and increased substitution of other materials for wool.

The number of sheep and lambs on feed for market in the U. S. Jan. 1, was 15 per cent larger last year. The number is estimated at 3,884,000 head, or 802,000 more than last year. This is the first year since 1945 that there has been an increase over the previous year. While the number is the largest since 1949, it is still one of the lowest in the past 20 years.

How Much Water Do We Have?

THE SERIOUS WATER situation at Carlsbad, where ground water levels have dropped as much as 23 feet, is an indication of a perennial problem which confronts every city throughout the Southwest—including Artesia.

There is not yet what can be called a "crisis" in southern New Mexico's water situation. But geologists familiar with the structure of the Roswell artesian basin, which furnishes domestic water to the municipalities of Roswell and Artesia as well as area farms, point out that we cannot forever take more water out of the ground than is put into it.

Some old-timers persist in stories of a great underground river which replenishes the Roswell artesian basin and other ground water supplies in the area. With all respect to the men who have farmed and pumped the area for years, such a theory is not born out in fact, the geologists declare.

Experts familiar with underground structure of the basin have become frankly alarmed over the situation which confronts water users dependent on pumping from the ground. Because users can now draw enough water from the ground to meet their needs, public reaction toward the geologists' views have been something less than receptive or interested.

Artesia and Roswell do not now have a water crisis or shortage, nor does Carlsbad. The three cities however do face a continuing threat to future growth and prosperity in the lack of enough water to meet the amount of water we demand.

There is water wastage on farms, and there is as much in cities—neither farmers nor city dwellers can point to the other as solely responsible. Such an argument is absurd—while it might wage hot and heavy, the water table is dropping continually.

Roswell, Carlsbad, and Artesia are in the same fix in regard to water. We think the three cities together would make a rather potent and vocal combination toward getting a thorough-going water conservation program set up, at least in the Pecos valley.

There are some misguided civic boosters in all three cities who protest such an idea because it would seemingly be "poor publicity" for the Pecos valley. But there is a way to get the work of water conservation and water supply done in a positive way we believe, that would attract people to the valley.

New Mexico's annual rainfall over the entire state is only about 15 inches a year—actually it is 8 to 9 inches a year in the Pecos valley on the average, since the state's average is boosted by the 30 or more inches a year that falls in the higher mountains. Those mountain areas are a small part of the state.

Unless we get together, frankly face our water problem, and work toward a solution for our common benefit, we will find ourselves in so serious a situation we cannot pull out. If water tables drop much lower we face one of two consequences, or both: Water will sink too deep to be economically pumped for farming, which provides much of our revenue; or dropping water tables will admit salt water into the fresh water basin, a disastrous consequence for farmers and domestic users alike.

Rodeo Queen Contest

A CONTEST TO choose a queen who will reign over the Ranchhands' Rodeo scheduled for Artesia Aug. 14 through 16 sponsored by Artesia Roping Club has been undertaken by Alpha Nu chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha sorority.

Key requirement for candidates call for them to display their riding ability before a group of expert judges. A girl who fails that contest cannot compete among the entrants in queen contest. Girls who do compete will be chosen on a penny-a-vote basis.

No ambitious enterprise is complete without a queen, however much certain old fogies say the idea is overdone. Artesia has its full share of lovely young women, but can lay claim to more than its share of those young ladies whose beauty is sometimes shadowed by their ability in the saddle.

We hope many, many of these young ladies in the 16 to 24 age bracket will enter the queen contest, and that the enthusiasm of their backers will greatly enrich the coffers of ESA's Alpha Nu chapter, which does so much good work in the community.

Girls entering the contest should submit a 5 by 7 portrait with their entry to Mrs. G. K. Lynch at 1107 Mann avenue. Riding tests will be arranged and the contestants notified of time for the test. Deadline to apply is July 27, and the contest formally opens July 28.

Teaching About Communism

CAN YOU TEACH about Communism without teaching students to be Communists? The National Education association thinks so, and has voted unanimously in endorsing proposals to teach the history and nature of communism in American schools. The association, less it be absorbed in present day witch-hunting, amends its move to note that it does not recommend the advocacy of communism in schools, nor employment of Communists as teachers.

The NEA has acted with courage and foresight, we play, as well as horse sense. For how can our young people help the fight against Communism if they do not know is, how it works, or what it seeks to do?

WILL HE CO-OPERATE?

What Other Editors Are Saying

WHY THE MONKEY BUSINESS?

It there was nothing wrong with the votes at Anapra why were the ballots destroyed?

If those handling the election in this precinct had been properly instructed why were the ballots burned?

And if they were not properly instructed why were they in charge of the precinct?

People who have handled elections know that ballots are not to be destroyed. And if they haven't handled elections they at least should want definite instructions to follow.

If they have been doing this for a good many years—it was indicated they had—why wasn't this learned before and the situation corrected?

We would say off hand it is time to place an election machine at Anapra for the election in November. Can we count on one being there?

We also feel that election machines should be used on the east side of Las Cruces at the voting precincts.

The only reason we have heard as to why machines were not used was because those voting there did not know how to use a voting machine.

There was ample opportunity provided for folks to learn to use the machines. The majority of those who voted in that primary election never saw a voting machine before, besides having never used one.

The explanation was given prior to the time the individual went to the machine to cast a vote.

We see no reason for anything to occur in our county during elections. Maybe nothing has or did happen. Maybe all the counts were correct. But why are there indications there has been skull-duggery?

One of the oldest tricks in New Mexico elections is the placing of tally sheets, ballots, poll books and other material in ballot boxes and locking the boxes. Why does this happen? Everyone knows the election returns are to be available immediately after the count. They can't be when they are locked in the box and it takes a judge's order to open the box.

When the county commissioners leased the 15 voting machines it was indicated these would be used in 15 voting precincts. Let's get the necessary machines and eliminate the appearance of "monkey-business," whether there has been any or not.—Las Cruces Sun-News.

CHANGE OF HEART

It is extremely refreshing to find Sen. Clint Anderson among those who believe that in some instances at least paternalism in government has seen its day.

The senator was defeated in an effort to cut $100 million off the bill that furnishes subsidy for American farmers. The farm bloc in the Senate managed to turn out a majority of 35 favoring the larger sum to the 23 who opposed it.

Anderson, who has been a "dealer" ever since he has been in the Senate, and who was one-time secretary of agriculture, voiced the sentiment of the people, and majority of farmers when he declared against subsidies, declaring that "it is much better for him (the farmer) to get it in the markets than to depend upon these little handouts." He referred, of course, to the payments to farmers which were begun back in depression days to try to restore the buying power of the farming business.

Farmers themselves have become tired of being classed as poor relations of the American society, and would much rather have open markets than to continue to operate under the hard times program that has been extended for several years into the most prosperous era in American history.

Therefore, it is gratifying that the senator has turned toward support of a domestic economy that is based upon good sense and good business practice. Perhaps his change of heart comes about because he saw the futility and the stupidity of the program at its worst while he was secretary of agriculture.—Roswell Record.

PORTALES PAVING

Paving for Portales this year seems to be a dead issue, and without ever getting a fair trial.

The city council authorized a contracting company to see what it could do with a house-to-house sales job for paving, an approach which resulted in the paving over more than 100 blocks at Lovington.

But the company didn't follow through. They apparently didn't make any personal calls on property owners. The efforts they made by mail were without results mainly because there was no follow through or explanation.

It is already too late to set up such a project and get it completed before cold weather.

As an alternative, the city might set up block by block curb and gutter programs; as the property owners requested them. Such a program, properly engineered, would do a great deal to solve the city's drainage problem.

The city's streets continue to be of primary concern, but it looks as if by chance to improve them permanently will go by default.—Portales Daily News.

GI College Men Advised on Moving-Up Rules

Veterans training under the GI Bill are reminded by the veterans administration of steps they must take in order to move up from their present courses to courses at the next higher level.

First, said VA, they must apply for the advanced training either before they complete their current course, or within 30 days following its completion.

And second, they must go ahead with their additional training either within 30 days after finishing their present courses, or on the first day that enrollment of students in their new course is permitted—whichever is later.

The normal summer vacation period doesn't count as a period of interruption for veteran-students in colleges and other schools or organized on a term, quarter or semester basis. A veteran, for example, who receives his AB degree in June, and who applies for graduate training in time, need not start his advanced course until the fall semester.

Apply To All—

VA said its rules apply to nearly all veterans in training under the GI Bill: those discharged on or before July 25, 1947, who started their courses on or before the July 25, 1951 cut-off date, and who have been in training since, except for certain reasons beyond their control.

More than 30,000 disabled veterans who have to wear orthopedic braces because of disabilities suffered in service may now get emergency repairs to those braces without prior Veterans Administration approval, VA has announced.

These veterans are suffering from a variety of disabilities including paralysis of arms and legs from spinal cord injuries, gun shot wounds, unended fractures, and polio.

VA regional offices already have begun to issue a new "Prosthetic Service Card—Orthopedic Braces" to each eligible veteran entitling him to this new service.

Prompt Service—

By using this card, a veteran will get prompt service from commercial concerns or the veterans administration when he needs emergency or major repairs to his brace.

The veteran, upon presentation of the prosthetic service card at any commercial brace or repair shop, may receive emergency repairs up to a limit of $15 for each brace.

The card will also establish on-the-spot eligibility for major repairs or emergency replacement of orthopedic braces at any of the 30 VA orthopedic shops located throughout the country.

Heretofore, veterans had to obtain prior approval from VA before emergency repairs to braces could be authorized.

Amputee veterans already are receiving this type of emergency repair service for prosthetic arms and legs from commercial concerns.

Insect Pest Reporting Is Started By U.S.

An insect pest reporting service has been recently established in New Mexico by the U. S. bureau of entomology and plant quarantine, according to Mike Swoboda, extension entomologist at New Mexico A&M college.

Forty states are already participating in the service, which is designed to inform farmers, ranchers, and representatives of agricultural industries about insect infestations and possible outbreaks, Swoboda says. County extension agents report local insect conditions to the state entomologist, who analyzes the information and forwards it to Washington, D. C., where it is incorporated in a nationwide report.

"Insect outbreaks that are promptly discovered and reported may often be controlled before damage becomes widespread," the extension entomologist explains. In the same way, newly-introduced insects that are noted and reported before they become well established usually can be localized and, in many cases, wiped out entirely.

"Farmers can play their part in this important program by promptly reporting insect conditions to their county agents."

Swoboda also points out that in case of war, the insect pest reporting service would prove valuable in protection against germ warfare, as many plant and animal diseases are spread only by insects.

Livestock pests cost the nation an annual loss of about a half billion dollars in wasted feed, damaged hides, and both lowered quality and reduced output of meat, milk, eggs, wool, and leather.

More than one million cows are on test in dairy herd improvement associations in the U. S.

YOU'RE TELLING ME

By WILLIAM RITT
Central Press Writer

A STUNT MAN set a world record in Texas by making 124 jumps in less than 24 hours. All he proved—as far as we can figure—is that what goes up must come down.

Only report we'd like from that North American nudist convention in Michigan is this—how're the mosquitoes biting this year?

With nearly all reports in an eastern city seem to have led with Fourth of July arrests—650. Fireworks or fire water?

A Detroit suburb, we read, is having quite a sea serpent scare.

Zadok Dumkopf says it to him there were more delegates at that Chicago convention than there were steers in the nearby stockyards.

An elder statesman is a reticent politician who makes a long and careful speech, full of advice. When the delegates go right ahead as though they hadn't heard word he said.

By MEL HEIMER

NEW YORK—As a man with a grandpa whose name was Sarah Jane Ludington who provided him with the soupçon of Scotch blood of which he is proudest of all, and as a who has known many Scots and absorbed some of their wonderful ways, I am astonished over over again at the number of persons in New York who deposit money in banks and then, apparently forget all about it.

Occasionally, I have discovered an odd penny tucked away in a watch pocket or the of a trouser, but to file $10,000 or so away in a savings institution and then never go near the bank again is, to me, incomprehensible. I am at my bank constantly, worrying it like a dog with bone, occasionally depositing and more frequent withdrawing—for that is, I guess, the pattern of life in our times—and I never forget for a moment that I have stashed there.

However, banks in and around Manhattan now are engaged in annual campaigns to find out what has become of persons who have done just that—banked their dough and abandoned it—and I started to learn, the other day, just how sizeable some of these dormant accounts are. There is, for instance, the account of Arthur Prijatel, last known to have lived at 317 Bleecker street in the heart of Greenwich Village.

Mr. Prijatel, some 15 years ago, when the city was rising like a phoenix from the ashes of the depression and plunging bravely ahead toward the world of tomorrow, when there would be no more banked $8,617 in the Emigrant Industrial Savings bank here. I assume Mr. Prijatel's financial activities were honest, because he legging long since had disappeared and as everyone knows, books do not make anywhere near that kind of dough, and I wonder if Mr. Prijatel managed to latch on to $8,617 in the Middle Thirties when he was having a rather difficult time, at that period, getting through my Thursday night poker games, which were nickel-and-dime ante.

However, latch on to it he did, and then he dumped it into Emigrant Industrial. And never came back. Obviously he has been lashed from the face of the earth, but I would give a tooth or two which I have none too many, to see Mr. Prijatel's story through to logical conclusion. Did he end up under a white cross on Iwo Jima? Is he slopping through the Bowery these days, drinking Sneyke and letting apprentice barbers shave him for the practice? Did he become vice president?

YOU MAY BE INTERESTED TO KNOW—I was—that we have here in New York state an abandoned property law which provides that banks must turn over to the state controller the money in dormant accounts that have lain dormant, completely, for 15 years. The banks first must advertise in newspapers to seek the whereabouts of the missing depositors and even after they give the state the look, the depositor later can turn up and put the arm on the state for its swag.

Some of the depositors, obviously, vanished into the steaming spot of Europe at the turn of the Forties and were wiped out by well-placed Allied bomb or a carefully regulated gas chamber at Dachau. The Bowery, for instance, has an account of more than thousand bucks credited to a woman who went to Warsaw just before Festung Europa went afire and who has been gone since. I would like to like to book on her ever returning to pick up the grand.

THE BOWERY ACCOUNTS OF THIS KIND total more than $40,000, representing nearly 2,000 depositors, and the Emigrant Industrial has more than 1,500 accounts containing more than $22,000. The East River Savings bank has 1,700 accounts worth more than $3,000, and so on and so on. It makes for a tidy parcel of funds, all all, and I would just like to lay my hands on, say, six or eight of these accounts, because I have something going at Arlington Park tomorrow that I guarantee could more than double the loot, at 7-10.

Funny thing; sometimes the banks, after knocking themselves out trying to ferret out these reluctant depositors, achieve success—promptly are asked indignantly by the missing one just what the devil all the fuss is about. "Can't a guy put some cash in the bank without being pestered by you people every 10 years?" is the way these souls state their cases. I repeat, this is an attitude that asks us to be continually. I am always available and friendly when the bank is trying to find me, except if my checking account is overdrawn, of course, in which case I never heard of the Chase National. Can a guy maintain a checking account without being pestered those people every 10 days?
