City Approves $256,000 Defense Housing Projects

On FBI Big Ten

Closing of Third Street to Be Aired Sept. 24

ADDED TO FBI'S list of "Ten Most Wanted" criminals is the name of Nick George (Little Nick) Montos, leader of a trio of armed hoodlums who beat a 74-year-old man and his 65-year-old sister and robbed them of $1,000 near Alma, Georgia. The crime career of Montos, 35, began in 1930 with an arrest in Tampa, Fla., when he was a wayward child. (International)

Defense housing construction valued at $256,000 was started in Artesia this week by American Builders, Inc., of Albuquerque, and Casa Bonita, Inc., both of Albuquerque following issuance of building permits at city hall.

Casa Bonita was authorized to build $166,000 worth of defense housing units. The firm is to construct 20 duplex rental units in the Rice addition on Eleventh, Tenth, and Bullock streets. American Builders was given permits for $90,000 worth of two and three-bedroom defense sale units, all to be built on Sears avenue.

New permits issued to the two Albuquerque house-building firms boosted Artesia's total building permits to $796,887 for 1952. Prior to this week's applications for permits, $540,687 had been authorized by the city, much of it for project housing.

Seventeen of the 20 duplex units to be built by Casa Bonita will be two-bedroom units on each side of the duplex. The other three will be three-bedroom.

Gholson, Byars, Carder, and Eden are contractors for the project, according to Edward H. Snow, president of Casa Bonita. The contractors recently finished a project in Alamogordo.

All duplexes will have two-car garages, according to specifications attached to building permits. Slab concrete floors and flat roof construction will be included in the new units.

Rent Brackets—The two-bedroom houses will have a total of 1,600 square feet, and the three-bedroom 1,800 square feet. They are designed to rent in the $76-$86 price range, include range, refrigerator, and other appliances.

American Builders' $90,000 worth of building permits is for 19 houses, all on Sears avenue. All will be sale units.

Seven of the 19 units will be three-bedroom houses of frame and stucco construction, all with garages. Floor plans call for 928 square feet.

Twelve two-bedroom units will also include 928 square feet, but will have no garage. Frame and stucco construction will also be used, with concrete floor, sheet rock interior, and built-up roof.

The 19 units approved this week for construction by American Builders are the first of 72 houses scheduled for construction here by the firm. Fred Sproule, president of the firm, said they will be completed "as soon as possible."

Mountain States Outlines $86,000 Phone Improvement for Artesia, Defers Dial Plan

Installation of an $86,000 telephone improvement program for Artesia was detailed in a letter this week from C. F. Halverson district manager for Mountain States Telephone and Telegraph Co., to Ralph Hayes, president of Artesia Chamber of Commerce.

Halverson also pointed out Artesia is not yet ready for dial telephone service. "You and your directors agreed with me," he wrote Hayes, "that it is our obligation to subscribers to connect one telephone to another with reasonable speed and accuracy and we feel that this may be accomplished by either manual or mechanical means, whichever is the most economical, as long as good telephone service is furnished."

The district manager added, "In other words, it developed that you and the Chamber of Commerce are interested in good dependable telephone service for Artesia and are not particularly concerned as to whether or not it is provided by manual or dial operation."

He further added, "As explained, we have generally found it to be uneconomical to install dial equipment if the manual equipment is adequate or can be made adequate. It follows that the most practicable time to convert to dial operation is when the load has increased to the capacity of the manual equipment and thus we are faced with the alternative of installing dial or an entirely new manual office, or with making major expenditures to increase the capacity of the existing office."

Present conditions in Artesia do not justify the installation of dial equipment; however, when the point is reached it is economically sound to limit further expansion of our manual system, we will give consideration to the converting of Artesia to dial service."

Oilers Trample Drillers 4-0 In Third Game

Odessa was nearly assured of easily knocking Artesia from Shaughnessy playoff honors in post-season Longhorn league play with a 4-0 win over the Drillers in a game Thursday night at Driller Park.

It was Odessa's third straight win over Artesia in the playoff series, with the Oilers taking 7-2 and 7-6 wins, captured at Odessa Tuesday and Wednesday, into the game last night.

The two teams will return Saturday night in a game at 7:30 at Driller Park. Should Odessa win, the Oilers will have won the four games required over Artesia and Artesia win, the series will be continued until one or the other has four victories. If Artesia wins tomorrow night, one or two games will be played in Odessa.

Odessa scored two in the first, one in the second, and another in the eighth in shutting out the Drillers last night. In the first, Lefty Loyko, Pepper Martin, Bill Cearley, and Charlie Weber, all hit singles to tally the two.

Felix Castro scored in the second after knocking a double and coming in on Loyko's single. The final tally was chalked in the eighth when Marion Treadaway, leftfielder, knocked a single, stole second and third, and chased home on Felix Castro's single.

Artesia had the bases loaded in the first inning, when Vince Sarubbi, Paul Halter and Joe Bauman all waited for a hard hit, but died on base.

An election of officers to fill three vacancies will be held.

Barn Dance Fracas Turns Into Complicated Court Procedure

Trial of five youths and possibly more for a fracas at the Rancho Valley barn dance two weeks ago took complicated turns at preliminary hearings in Justice of Peace J. D. Josey's court in Artesia.

The fracas had resulted in one youth being forcibly subdued by police who were forced to use a blackjack, plus slashing of a state police car's tire, tires on a car belonging to a constable, and tearing out of engine wires from the state police car and a city police car.

C. J. Gray, 19, was granted a change of venue from Artesia justice of peace court to another court by Judge Josey, who denied allegations he was "interested in the outcome of the case." The hearing will probably be held in Artesia but before a different judge.

Gray is charged with allegedly disturbing the peace and disorderly conduct, and resisting an officer.

Sam Bowman, 23, pled not guilty before Tuesday's court session on charges of injuring and destroying state property. Bowman is specifically charged with allegedly sticking a knife into a tire on a state police car driven by State Patrolman Arnold J. Smith and a tire on a car driven by R. W. Smith, Artesia precinct constable.

Mutual Concert Member Drive to Close Tomorrow

Drive for members in the Artesia Mutual Concert association will close promptly at noon Saturday, Mrs. C. R. Blocker, president, and Russell Floore, vice-president and membership chairman, announced Thursday.

Capacity membership of about 850 is almost certain to be reached. Floore disclosed. Membership is limited by capacity of Artesia auditoriums, he pointed out.

Three and perhaps four outstanding musical entertainment events will be brought to Artesia by the Mutual Concert association this year, Mrs. Blocker noted.

The world-famous Columbus Boy Choir is almost certain to be scheduled as the highlight attraction of the series, Floore said. The group of 26 trained boy singers will tour this area in late February. They travel in a specially designed bus with desks for class work and a lunch counter. Five adults, including Herbert Huffman, director, plus three teachers (Continued on Page Six)

Valley Has Enough Water If Illegal Use Stopped, Attorney Says

There is enough water in the underground artesian and shallow water basins to supply Pecos Valley needs if conservation is used and illegal use of water stopped, John Russell, attorney for the Pecos Valley Artesian Conservancy District, said in Artesia Wednesday.

Readings on gauge wells by the district show artesian water levels in the Artesia area have dropped 70 feet in seven years, while shallow water levels have dropped 21 feet in seven years, Russell declared.

"We do not intend to paint a black picture, or to give out private opinions," Russell said. "We cite the figures as to water table levels, and let them speak for themselves."

He made his statement in an address before Artesia Lions club Wednesday noon.

DAR Reviews Reviews History Of Constitution

The Mary Griggs chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, met with Mrs. Harold Kersey, Sept. 8, at 6:30 p. m. with a covered dish dinner.

Mrs. R. L. Collins, regent, presided over the business meeting at 7:30 p. m.

F. L. Green of the Artesia high school faculty, gave the program on "The Constitution." The American constitution is the firm foundation upon which the whole structure of American liberty was erected, and is the supreme law of the land, he said. September 17 is a memorable patriotic anniversary, for on that day in 1787 the constitution of the United States of America was signed. It was written by "we the people, for we the people," Green noted. Only 30 of the 56 men who wrote it had enough nerve to sign it. Green said, "We who love America must be willing to sacrifice for it. There are many greedy people of the world who think that they can take over our constitution and give our people a better way of life." Our voting privilege entails the obligations to vote, and as intelligently as possible. The number of those that go to the polls is only a percentage of those who could vote.

The apathy of many citizens of intelligence and character and their failure to vote often results in political conditions that come from the greater activity of the more vicious elements. It is our duty and privilege to vote and we should be proud to do so. Only 47 per cent of school teachers, 52 per cent of ministers, 38 per cent of farmers, and 49 per cent of lawyers vote. We can't keep our constitution without doing something to keep it.

State conference will be in Hobbs, Oct. 2, 3, and 4. Several members are planning to attend.

Those present were Meses. J. D. Josey, Hugh Kiddy, Cecil Waldrep, John Cochran, James Welch, Jack Knorr, Berniece Vallejo, Kersey, Miss Alma Sue Felix, R. L. Collins, and two guests, Mrs. Dell Smith, and Mrs. W. I. Trembley, Jr.

Mrs. Kersey was assisted by Mrs. Jack Knorr and Mrs. Berniece Vallejo.

Over 150 Parents Attend First Meeting of Central School PTA

One hundred fifty parents and teachers attended the opening meeting of Central school Parent-Teachers' association held Wednesday evening at the school. During the business meeting conducted by the president, Mrs. C. S. Powell, the year's budget was adopted, projects for the year were voted upon, and attendance plans made.

The project committee was named as follows: Mrs. F. White, chairman; Mrs. G. P. Miller, Mrs. V. F. Lowery, and Mrs. Ben Caudie. Hospitality committee chairman, Mrs. Wayne Adkins, named her committee members: Meses. Tommy Thompson, Ormond Loving, James Powell, J. T. Haile, and Mrs. Raymond Cavin.

Mrs. Pete Starr, program chairman, announced the next meeting will be in the evening so that all parents may attend the program on "Know Your School." The January meeting will be "Father's Night" and plans are being made to have an out-of-town speaker.

C. O. Stalcup, principal, introduced all teachers, and Mrs. Wayne Adkins gave a welcoming speech. The president was called upon to speak about the policies of PTA. She read and discussed the objects, as set up by the national organization.

They are, in brief:

- To promote the welfare of children and youth in home, school, church, and community.
- To raise the standards of home life.
- To secure adequate laws for the care and protection of children.
- To bring into closer relation the home and the school.
- To develop between educators and the public such united efforts as will secure for every child the highest advantages in physical, mental, and spiritual education.

Kiwanis Plans for Kids' Day Parade, Field Events Sept. 27

Plans for annual Artesia Kids' Day were outlined in detail during a discussion at the organization's meeting held Thursday at the home of Mrs. William Dando, district lieutenant governor of the Artesia division.

The Kids' Day will be held on Sept. 27, with a parade starting at 9 a. m. High school bands in addition to other youth organizations will take part.

Prizes will be awarded for the most original and girls' costumes, and for decorated bicycles.

The parade will start at the Landsun theater at 9 a. m.

Events at Morris Field will include a toe-sack race, 50 and 100 yard dashes, tug-of-war, three-legged race for pre-school and youngsters, and a bicycle barrel race for Junior and Senior high school students.

In a brief address, Doctor Dando discussed club events scheduled for the near future at Ruidoso and El Paso, then talked on Kiwanis purposes and ideals.

He recounted Kiwanis growth throughout the world and stated that the magazine is the best published of its type. He outlined the Kids' Day program for Carlsbad, giving the Artesia club some ideas.

He urged all Artesia Kiwanians to attend the district convention Oct. 8 through 11 at El Paso.

Doctor Dando said Carlsbad Kiwanians had recently bought two Artesia Kiwanis-sponsored gifts to start a similar 4-H project in Carlsbad.

Program chairman Mill Looee announced he had secured a film on water conservation which will be shown in Artesia Oct. 2 by members of the state engineer's staff at Santa Fe. Tentative time and place is 7 p. m. at Presbyterian Parish Hall.

"Now is the Time When Gratitude Means Something." This slogan has been selected as the theme for the Disabled American Veterans Forget-Me-Not Day to be held in Artesia on Saturday, Oct. 4. John Simons, Jr., publicity chairman, Donald S. Simons Chapter No. 19, DAV, announced today.

"We of the DAV feel this slogan sums the up reasons and aims of our campaign in words that will inspire every citizen," said Simons. The DAV has been dedicated to helping them.

"To wear one of these flowers on Forget-Me-Not Day is an indication that the citizen has not forgotten the men and women who came back with war-time handicaps and injuries. It is to express gratitude in a concrete way."

Chairman Simons said that all funds raised during the campaign would be used to aid disabled veterans in this area. He pointed out that the local chapter also helps

Oil-Cement Day's biggest value for light-traffic streets

Oil-Cement makes taxpayers' dollars go farther because about 90 per cent of the required material is usual native soil on the site. It's easy to transform high-maintenance cost streets into strong pavement good for years of all-weather service with soil-cement.

Soil-cement's superior value and durability for light-traffic streets are thoroughly established. Thousands of miles of such paving are now in service in the United States.

THE ARTESIA ADVOCATE SPORTS

Artesia Heavily Favored to Take Colt Game Here Tonight

Artesia's Bulldogs are heavily favored to take tonight's football contest away from ambitious but inexperienced New Mexico Military Institute Colts.

Game time is 7:30 p. m. at Morris Field.

Coach Cal Hall said late Thursday afternoon that up to practice time no serious injuries had been sustained by Bulldog starters, and the starting lineup will be the same as last week.

While NMMI's Colts have been working desperately hard over the last 11 weeks to make up for a late practice start, inexperience and lack of letterman strength is figured to give Artesia the nod.

NMMI began practicing Sept. 2 with four returning lettermen and 80 men including returnees and aspirants.

Capt. Ferris Bynum, Colt coach, has trained his green Cadets to a single-wing formation, giving Artesians a chance tonight for a vivid comparison of the two attacks.

NMMI's defensive strength is an unknown factor, and how tonight's game will stand as a football demonstration was anybody's guess Thursday afternoon.

Artesia's mid-August training start plus 11 returning lettermen plus an early win over St. Michael's of Santa Fe last week outweighs Colt potential.

Artesia's starting line-up:
No. Player-Wt. Pos.
15 Bill Brown, 180 RE
39 Tommy Evans, 185 RT
23 Jay Mitchell, 168 RT
16 L. Campanella, 150 RG
20 Don Golden, 180 C
14 Barry Hager, 140 LG
12 Jimmy Dew, 165 LG
25 Roy Johnson, 188 LE
36 Howard Price, 145 LT
13 Doug Whitefield, 150 RH
30 Bobby Loyd, 150 LH
21 Yumpy Barker, 165 QB
28 Larry Beadle, 178 FB

Artesia operates off the T-formation this year rather than last year's modified split-T.

Concessions at the football game are operation by Junior class members as a fund-raising project. Programs are distributed free through Artesia business firms and the Pep club.

Fans were again advised to bring only tickets for tonight's game, rather than entire books containing reserved tickets for all season games.

Game Letter Game Law Violator Extradited

The first case of a game law violator being extradited from New Mexico was successfully terminated in Arizona recently by members of that state's game rangers.

James Virgil Sanders of Tularosa pled guilty to charges of illegal possession and transportation of deer meat out of season, paid $200 in fines and received a suspended 60-day jail sentence.

On Jan. 3, 1952, Arizona Game Ranger Ralph Morrow of Portal learned that Sanders, then living in Fairbanks, Ariz., had illegal deer meat in his possession but before a warrant could be obtained, Sanders had returned to his home in Tularosa.

After prompt action by the Arizona authorities, Sanders was arrested on a fugitive warrant in Tularosa and placed under $500.00 bond.

Later, extradition papers were drawn up and signed by Governor Howard Pyle of Arizona and Edwin L. Mechem of New Mexico.

On July 15, 1952, Sanders was taken into custody by Game Ranger Morrow and Walter Bennett, assistant chief of Arizona's law enforcement division of the game and fish commission.

Returned to Tombstone, Ariz., Sanders appeared before J. P. John Sebring for the third time as a game law violator.

In September, 1951, Sanders was arrested and fined $175.00 for illegal possession of quail and on Jan. 1, 1952, he appeared in Justice Sebring's court again, this time for illegal purchase of a resident hunting license, and paid another $75.00 in fines.

Governor Mechem, Sheriff Ray Prather of Alamogordo, and members of the New Mexico state game department were highly commended by the Arizona authorities for their cooperation in the case.

Recently, one district warden, while making his rounds, was informed by several anglers that one of our finest streams in the northern part of the state had been fished-out and that in all probability, the waters couldn't support any additional plantings, but the unsuccessful fishermen persisted.

Patrolling the stream about sundown, the warden noted one angler who had arrived on the scene after the crowd had gone home. This fellow waded into the water, tried a few lures and then matched

Bulldog Parents Club Outlines Member Plan, Spending of Money to Aid High School Athletes

Bulldog Parents club today issued an open letter to the public describing activities and use of funds raised by the club in behalf of Artesia Senior high school athletes.

The letter, issued through Mrs. George Beadle, publicity chairman, is as follows:

In line with preparations for the annual membership drive of the Bulldog Parents' club, much discussion has arisen relative to advising the public of the need for the drive to raise money.

Many times in the past, members of the organization have been called upon to explain to subscribers to what use the money so obtained will be put.

Immediately preceding last year's drive the Advocate and radio station KSPV gave space and time to an article very similar to this one, in which the aims of the organization and the use of its funds were outlined. However, this being a new year, we feel it expedient to set down again these and other pertinent facts.

Fund-Raising—
First, we deal with means by which money is obtained.

The primary source of revenue has been, and will doubtless continue to be, the sale of membership stickers. These are sold to the general public at a minimum of $2 per family. As has been pointed out in the past, donors are not "limited" to this amount; larger sums are just as acceptable.

It might be well at this time to define what we mean by "membership." Persons quite often remark upon being approached during the drive that they do not have a boy on the football team. Membership is not confined to such persons; although in the past they have made up the entire list of "active" members. Attendance at meetings and participation in activities is not restricted to parents but is predicated upon "interest in athletics and a desire to help achieve the objectives" of the Parents' club.

Car Stickers—
This year, as last year, the club will distribute Bulldog stickers for cars or show windows as indication that individuals or firms have paid dues in the Bulldog Parents club and as such are entitled to all privileges of membership.

One of his dry flies with the swarms that had come out in the early evening.

While our fieldman watched, the fly fisherman proceeded to catch 13 trout during a clocked half-hour. The fish ranged from eight to 14 inches in length.

Yet, those other anglers who had failed to catch any fish were firmly convinced that the stream was "fished-out."

In mid-season, when fishing pressure is at its greatest, the fish are bound to become more wary and wise, thus, harder to catch. On most waters, fishermen, at least the week-end fishermen, cannot hope to meet success encountered on opening day. They will have to work harder, with more patience, caution and skill than before.

They will do well to remember that in midsummer trout usually breakfast early and dine late and are not much given to piecemealing between times.

But the fish are there! No one can tell us that the Brazos, for one, is "fished-out."

Many persons are familiar with the large white buttons bearing the imprint of a ferocious Bulldog's head and letters reading, "Licensed Bulldog Backer—Issued by Bulldogs Parents' Club," with the orange and black satin ribbons attached. This is a second means of raising funds. Wearers of these buttons to out of town games are literally telling the world, "I'm for the Bulldogs, couldn't be prouder," thus eliminating from the viewers' mind any doubts as to whom the button wearer is for and where he is from. These buttons will be available at all home games at a reduction in price from last year's 75 cents due to the fact that we have cleared our investment in last year's sales and are after the profit now.

A third means of revenue is the Bulldog car plates, of which about thirty are available this year. One dollar has been the price for the plates and will continue to be, as they were donated to the club by the high school.

Pillows Sold—
Then, there are the pillows which are on sale at all home games for 15 cents each or the bargain price of two for a quarter. Due to a loss of many pillows last year from mice and persons accidentally taking them home, this will not be a very great source of income unless the present supply is augmented in some way.

The teen-ages dances supply the final source. These are not as lucrative as they are an investment in wholesome entertainment for our youth.

The question, then, is: "What do we do with all this money?"

We buy those orange sweaters that our boys wear to out of town games, together with the large "A" and the bulldog that makes them distinctive. This represents a financial outlay of around $5 a sweater. Each year graduating lettermen are awarded such a sweater, necessitating replacement of the following year.

At the football and basketball banquet last year, the entire squad of each sport were presented with silver footballs. This has been a practice for the club since its inception, although previously limited to lettermen. If our boys are state champions this year it is the Parents' club's hope to present them with gold footballs, which, of course, will require much more money.

In the past we have supplemented the schools purchase of football equipment by the purchase of such equipment as helmets and shoulder pads.

This year we have already ordered a whirlpool therapy tank for use in the treatment of sprains, bruises, sore muscles, and many other such ailments common to athletes. Its arrival is due about the middle of next week and will represent a financial involvement of $295 or more, depending upon freight charges and contingencies.

Small Expenditures—
There are numerous small expenditures too varied to mention but we would like to point out that the annual banquet is seldom a money-raising affair and if it carries itself is considered a successful undertaking.

With the hope that this may clarify our position relative to the procurement and dispersal of funds and thereby smooth the way for future money-raising projects, this letter is respectfully submitted.

Rubber Roads Gain Favor With Midwest Drivers

Western motorists may soon ride on roads to match their rubber-tired automobiles—rubber roads.

Such roads are now a reality to mid-western motorists who drive on Chicago's rubber-cushioned Michigan avenue bridge and rubber asphalt surfaced expressway.

Both the tiny rubber cushions used on the bridge and the rubber asphalt are developments of The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company, according to a report released this week through the office of Dent W. Sanford, vice-president of Goodyear-California.

Working with Goodyear on the rubber-for-roads project is the Berry Asphalt Company of Chicago, under whose direction the Chicago installations were made recently.

The rubber-cushioned bridge surface absorbs a terrific impact of some 50,000 vehicles traveling over it every 24 hours, according to H. A. Endres, assistant manager of Goodyear research. Bridge vibrations are reduced to a minimum, thus prolonging the travel-life of the surface.

The report also quoted Harold Pullar, president of Berry Asphalt, as saying, "Use of pelletized rubber permits immediate of the roadway after installation. Another benefit is that the rubber and its required asphalt for adhesion weighs only about one-tenth as much as standard surfaces."

Drillers Drop First Two Playoff Games at Odessa

Artesia Drillers dropped the first two games against Odessa in Longhorn league opening playoff games Tuesday and Wednesday nights in Odessa.

Artesia dropped the first one 7-2 Tuesday night, the second 7-6 Wednesday before both clubs travelled to Artesia for the third game Thursday night.

In Tuesday's 7-2 victory, Oiler's pitched Carlos Villareal against Drillers. Villareal spaced seven hits across the route giving up more than one hit per inning only in the seventh.

Mike Rodriguez was hit 15 times, including a third-inning homer by Bill Cearley, Oiler rightfielder, with none aboard.

Artesia scored one in the top of the second on three Oiler errors and John Alonzo's single, but Odessa shoved ahead in the same stanza with two runs on singles by Cearley and Felix Castro, plus two walks.

Rodriguez was allowed to go all the way for Artesia Tuesday night. He was hit 15 times for Odessa's seven runs and walked three while striking out five.

Villareal walked two, struck out two, in addition to providing only seven hits.

Cearley's homer in the third gave Odessa a 3-1 lead. Artesia managed one in the fifth but was countered by a pair for the Oilers in the sixth, and another duo in the eighth.

Credited with errors for Artesia were Jim Ackers and Rodriguez, while Weber committed two and Martin, Villareal, and Cearley added single errors against Odessa.

Wednesday night in taking a 7-6 win Odessa used Evelio Ortega to hold the Drillers to six hits, but those included two homers to Paul Halter and Rudy Briner.

Driller Mgr. Earl Perry used Len Ruyle, Rooster Mills, and Mike Rodriguez on the mound in an attempt to change Artesia's fortunes. Mills took the loss. Odessa collected 11 hits altogether from the trio.

Compromise Is Offered on Debt

A pesky $8,000 city debt to the U. S. government which has been unpaid since 1948 and has been gathering "interest" since again came before city council when it met Wednesday night.

Councilmen voted to offer the U. S. a $3,500 compromise settlement on the debt.

It was incurred in 1947 when the city voted to go ahead with street paving program with federal aid. Under the "provision order" method, an engineer engaged to lay out the $200,000 program, the government advanced the $8,000 engineering fee. The program was subsequently abandoned by citizens in a mass meeting and the $8,000 was never repaid by the city to repay the government.

Maurice Sanchez, U. S. attorney for New Mexico, recently informed the city a suit would be filed by the loan were not repaid.

Colorado is known as the "state of rivers" because more rivers rise in Colorado than in any other state.

ALL makes of cars compete in stock-car races. And in these grueling tests of stamina, safety and performance, only results count. That's why, when you look at the stock-car record, you know which car is best.

To date this year, Hudsons have won 35 out of 39 stock-car races—an all-time record!

How does this help you choose your family car? Well, consider this:

- It proves that Hudson's exclusive "step-down" design (with America's lowest center of gravity) gives you road-hugging stability and sureness of handling no other car can match!
- It proves that Hudson's Monobilt body-and-frame* is the safest, most durable automobile construction known!
- It proves that Hudson's high-compression engines deliver tremendous power, that Hudsons have the stamina to take punishment equal to 50,000 miles of ordinary driving in tests where other cars fail.
- All these important qualities are yours in a Hudson... for your pleasure, for your pride, for your protection. There's sleek, streamlined beauty, too, and you don't have to look at the record to see that.
- Stop in and try a Hudson, or give us a phone call and we'll pick you up at your door. You've got a real thrill in store.

Range Ecologist Hired By State Beef, Sheep Men

Vernon B. Bostick, range ecologist of Albuquerque, has been retained by the New Mexico Cattle Growers' and New Mexico Wool Growers' associations, according to a joint announcement issued by Ed Heringa, Clayton and Floyd W. Lee, San Mateo, presidents of the two organizations.

"The livestock industry has long recognized the importance of a sound and practical scientific approach to range management and conservation problems in New Mexico and we feel fortunate in securing the services of one of the most highly qualified range management authorities in the southwest," Heringa said.

Born in Weston, Colo., Bostick graduated from Colorado State Agricultural college with a B.S. degree in 1935, majoring in range management. He served as instructor in forestry and range management at Washington State college in 1936-1937. Serving with the U. S. forest service for 15 years, Bostick was a forest ranger for five years, did research on range conditions and trends for four years and for two years headed research and deer-livestock forage relationship studies.

"Bostick resigned from the forest service two years ago to become a practicing range consultant and in order to have a free hand in important range research studies," Heringa said.

Declaring it to be the first step in a concerted program to improve and develop range conditions throughout the state, Floyd W. Lee said: "The livestock industry is now in position to analyze and make constructive recommendations to various government departments of government owned lands in New Mexico. We have attempted to make such recommendations in the past from a practical livestock producer viewpoint, but have not received recognition in some circles.

because we have lacked adequate scientific research data."

Pointing out that members of the two livestock associations own or use more than 90 per cent of all lands in New Mexico, Heringa stated the industry was in the logical and practical position of heading up range conservation practices in the state.

Church Services Are Started in Cottonwood

Regular religious services now being held in Cottonwood community at the school are off to a good start. Services under the auspices of the First Baptist church of Artesia with Rev. V. E. Boyd in charge were held for the second time last Sunday.

No regular services have been held in the community for several months until now. Forty-three attended Sunday school services last Sunday where the first Sunday only 20 had attended. There were three in the nursery and six in the primary under the leadership of Miss Patricia Clark and Margaret Henderson of Artesia. Mrs. Fred Thorpe of Artesia had nine beginners; Mrs. Frank Cantrell of Cottonwood led the class of eight juniors; Mrs. V. E. Boyd had 11 intermediates; and Fred Thorpe led the adult class of five.

Reverend Boyd has been doing the preaching. He will be absent Sunday, and Fred Thorpe will preach at that time.

It was announced the collections would be kept in fund for the Cottonwood church to use as they see fit when they organize in the near future. The public is invited to attend each Sunday at 9:45 for Sunday school and 11 a. m. for preaching services.

Court Injunctions—

In answer to a question, the attorney said that instead of filing misdemeanor suits in district court for water waste, his office now tends to seek a court injunction prohibiting waste. If the injunction is disobeyed, the defendant is cited for contempt of court, which carries a jail sentence.

"We had one case a little while ago," he noted, "where paying a $500 fine would have been all right for the farmer—he could spare that because he would still have his cotton, too. He was cited for contempt, however, and sentenced to 30 days in jail."

John Daugherty, Junior high school instructor and swimming pool operator, applied for a contract to again operate the pool next summer. He was commended for an excellent job of pool operation, but decision was delayed.

A brief note on color problems in connection with operation of the pool was introduced by Mayor Briscoe, who suggested councilmen consider the question so that Daugherty might be instructed as to city policy.

F. F. "Doc" Elvin appeared before the council to explain a bill he had presented at last council meeting. The itemized statement for $765 was approved by the city. It showed 86 3/4 hours for book work, 27 hours of driving time, 30 hours for re-heck, and 1,310 miles of driving, plus 60 hours of overtime typing.

Hot Tamales—

Freeman Griffin, who now operates a North Side hot tamale store, was granted permission to operate a hot tamale wagon on city streets.

Petitions from residents of Artesia's southwest sector to close Eleventh street from Bullock to Centre and both ends of Mann avenue were dismissed after an agreement was reached over oiling streets.

Residents protested heavy dust rolling from Eleventh street, and volunteered to pay for oil and its application if the city would grade the street. City council agreed to have the street graded and blocked temporarily while oil settled.

Councilman George Ferriman asked that he be allowed to be a citizen for a few minutes while asking a joint Chamber of Commerce-city council meeting over closing of North Third street from Main to Texas. Meeting time was set for 7 p. m., Sept. 24, the next council meeting.

Bond Ordinance—

Mark Lucas, representing bond firm of Lucas, Eisen, and Wackerle of St. Louis, appeared before the council to discuss an ordinance which will place in effect the council's earlier decision to issue $135,000 worth of water and sewer bonds for reconstruction of the city disposal plant.

Councilmen decided to operate the Roselawn well against pressure in the city's water system for a day or two to see if the well would still be producing sand. Following repair of the well an output of 630 gallons per minute was reported, compared to about 200 before the well broke down.

Josey reported completion of a 24 1/2 block street sealing project on downtown area streets at a cost of $8,962.69. He pointed out patching and finishing work remains to be done on the streets.

A motion was passed unanimously to bring the Hermosa school property into the city.

New Police Car—

Councilman Rowley recommended bids be called on a new police car to replace car 12, which now has about 59,000 miles on it.

Permission was granted the fire department to purchase two Scott air packs at a cost of $471.50.

Discussion on plumbing codes proposed before the council again came up. Contractor Mill Losee pointed out "someone is under the impression we have to adopt the state code" and said there is no reason why the city should not adopt its own code.

He granted a National Uniform Plumbing Code introduced by him a month ago "may not be national scheduled for a year, to be completed by Dec. 27, 1952. Plans include relocation of the present switchboard into a building rented by MST&T since last October and gross addition of about $48,400. This will bring the Artesia central office to 17 positions.

Three new circuits to Midland, Texas, to be completed Nov. 22, 1952, at a cost of $15,400 in Artesia, bring the total circuits to Midland to seven.

New Roswell Lines—

Five new toll circuits to Roswell to be completed Nov. 1, 1952, at a cost of $13,800 in Artesia, bringing to 12 the number of Roswell-Artesia circuits.

Halverson pointed out completion dates are of course dependent on factors over which the company has no control, such as work stoppages.

Halverson also pointed out disparity between interstate toll rates, pointing out it has been eliminated or decreased in many cases by reduction of interstate toll rates, effective in May.

He also noted that from 1940 to 1950 Artesia's population increased from 4,071 to 8,244, a gain of 103 per cent, while telephones increased from 745 to 2,817, or 278 per cent.

Since 1947 approximately $400,000 has been spent in Artesia to expand local and toll facilities, Halverson observed.

Judge Josey. Bond was set at $2,000.

Harold Ivans, 18, pled guilty to charges of tampering with a motor or other device. Bond was set at $1,500, and he was bound over to district court. He was released on his own recognizance. He was charged with allegedly pulling wires from the motor of the State Police car driven by Patrolman Smith when the car was parked at the hospital.

Believed Implicated—

Three juveniles believed to be implicated in pulling wires off the State Police car were investigated by Asst. Dist. Atty. Richard H. Robinson Tuesday.

Robinson said the youths asked, and will probably be given, a lie detector test. All three denied they had seen or had anything to do with pulling the wires off the State Police car motor.

LAKE ARTHUR

MRS. RAY PATE, Correspondent

The opening of the early fall social season was highlighted Friday evening with an old-fashioned ice cream social held on the lawn at the school. The old faculty members and members of the school board honored the new faculty members and parents at community night.

Everyone was escorted through the newly decorated building. There have been many improvements made during the summer months. Each teacher was in her room to welcome the guests. Progress of pupils made during first week of school was on display.

The lawn was well-lighted. Supervised games for children of all ages was directed by different faculty members. Various games, such as dominoes, 42 bridge, canasta, casino were enjoyed by those wishing to participate, and others just visited.

This marked the first lawn party of this type to be held here. Most of the credit for the evening's success is due to Superintendent and Mrs. B. E. Cross, who supervised the affair.

Ice cream, cookies, pops and coffee were served to the several hundred guests present by the hosts.

Mrs. Martin T. Kennedy, Baptist minister's wife, was honored Friday evening with a stork shower in the lovely home of Mrs. Emma Lee Flowers with Mmes. Norman Shands, H. H. Needham, Harold Faulk and A. K. Ripley as co-hostesses.

A clever contest was won by Mrs. Bill Opfer for being best artist. She was presented a prize.

The entertaining rooms were decorated with many beautiful flowers from the hostesses garden.

Each plate contained a postal plastic basket filled with mints as favors. The dining table was covered with a hand-crocheted table. The many gifts were opened and displayed. The hostesses presented the honoree with a white bassinet.

Ice cream, angle food cake, and punch were served to Mmes. Bruce Evans, Garland Duncan, Mac Reynolds, B. E. Cross, May McDonald, J. K. Funk, W. F. Whately, J. H. Brittain, Cecil Parker, Andy Brewton, Harold Nedham, E. D. Cox, William O. Opfer, John Haven, V. J. Burke, John Havener, Jr., May Gromo, Paul Robinson, Ray Pate, Thomas Arthur Crook, Ada Foster, and Harry, Cumpsten, and Misses Josephine Klier, Janice Ridiey, Audrey Boatright, and Barbara Rames.

Those sending gifts were Mmes. Clyde Nihart, John Kintz, Bob Needham, W. W. Hart, Millicent Mershon, Ira Pirtle, Lynn Chumbley, E. H. Hills, Marguerite Murphy, and Redmond Pate.

Vera May Smith, daughter of Mrs. Edna Smith of Portales spent last week-end visiting old friends in Lake Arthur and Artesia. She was a guest of Mrs. Eva Crook.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Crook and Mrs. Eva Crook spent several days last week in Tucumcari visiting Crook's sister, Mrs. Virgie Metzger and niece and family, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Crow.

Phyllis Nelson of Albuquerque spent last week-end visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nelson and family.

Bill Opfer and daughter, Carolyn, have gone to Missouri to visit his mother last week. A brother who has been stationed in Japan with armed forces was to meet him there.

Mrs. Joan Grassie and Mrs. Ada Foster, and Misses Kay and Joyce Foster and Barbara Funk spent last Sunday at Cloudford.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Robinson and family attended the wedding of Mrs. Robinson's niece, Miss Wavis Scoggin, to William Tuford at Kenna.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Carl Scoggin, formerly of Hope. She graduated from Eastern New Mexico university, Portales, and has taught for the last several years at Silver City.

The bridegroom is a civil engineer in Washington, D. C., where the couple will make their home after an extended honeymoon.

Miss Shirley Thomas, who is employed at Holloman Air Force Base, arrived Saturday for a visit in the Paul Robinson home. She returned Monday.

Miss Barbara Ramer of Cheyenne, Wyo., arrived last Saturday and moved into Mrs. Emma Lee Flowers apartment. She taught at Sunrise, Yyo, school last year, and is the English and commercial instructor here this year.

Mrs. Murphy Hayhurst of Artesia and Mrs. Mary Baynes of Amarillo visited in Lake Arthur Monday.

Mrs. F. F. Thomasson of Waterford, Calif., visited her son, Loy and family last week. She also visited her granddaughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Evel Finch at Dexter. Freedom of Information

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS reports this week "government officials—federal, state, and local—still bottle up matters of public interest despite a persistent nation-wide fight by newspapers and the radio for the people's right to know." "Some progress is being made, through law and by vigilant editors, against this secrecy in government," the AP states. A lengthy news dispatch by the wire association cites repeated instances of secret sessions and withholding of news by officials, most of them low in the particular hierarchy they occupy.

It should be pointed out that the right to know details of governmental operations is not for the newspapers—it is for the people, the taxpaying public which supports government to run its affairs. Newsmen most often run into public affairs and into censorship in their line of business.

As we have previously pointed out, we are very fortunate in Artesia to have almost unlimited access to meetings of governmental and administrative units. Many channels of news are not continually used, but we know they are open when we need them.

What forms may censorship in the local community take? The AP cites these examples:

An Oregon school board scheduled a meeting for one location, then met secretly at another to avoid newsmen who wanted to report the board's activities.

At Waco, Texas, two civilian buses carrying civilians and military men on leave crashed recently, killing 28 passengers. "Whose loved ones had perished—or escaped," the AP asks. No one knew for a long time because the Air Force sent two civilian identification experts to the scene. They banned newsmen until a Waco editor phoned Washington and found the ban lifted within an hour.

In Greensboro, N. C., a special municipal judge hearing a case involving a prominent lottery operator banned newspapermen on the ground it was "none of their business." The Associated Press reported this. Prodded by editorials, the judge furnished a complete transcript.

The village board at Fairfield, Idaho, directed its clerk not to make public minutes of one meeting until they had been approved. The press complained and board meetings were opened to the public and the press.

The San Diego (Calif.) Union tested withholding of news by the city-county health department after being told by the department state law prohibited release of information on causes of death for publication. The Union made an issue of it, checked and found there was no such law.

Some states have moved to protect the public and its press in the matter of governmental—especially administrative—secrecy. Still too often there are loopholes which permit "executive" (secret) sessions.

The AP reports that in New Mexico there is a state law providing council, school board, and other meetings shall be public, "but there still are executive sessions and a trend to announce decisions in handout form," the wire service reports.

New Mexico also has laws providing penalties against city, county, school, town, and state officers for withholding records; prohibiting courts from holding other than open and public meetings; and opening sessions of the legislature to the public.

We believe it would be to the public's advantage to have this state's freedom of information laws strengthened by specific legislation barring executive sessions, with penalties provided.

Can You Go Vote?

THOSE WHO ARE QUALIFIED to register and have not done so, can do so any time prior to October 6, 30 days before the general election on November 3.

These same individuals of course had time to qualify before the primary election and most of them were eligible to register and to go to ballot.

But many of those who were qualified or who did qualify to vote then failed to go to the polls in the primary election and cast their vote.

And those who are not registered now and who want to go qualify might just as well not do so if they do not plan to go to vote.

And those who are not registered now and who want to go qualify might just as well not do so if they do not plan to go to vote. There is little need to be eligible to vote if we are not going to make the most of that privilege and that opportunity.

If we are not registered we can't vote. It is possible, of course, if we are registered we may take the opportunity to go and cast our ballot. We can't vote if we are not registered.

But many times the fact has been stressed in this nation of ours that if we were not granted the right to ballot we would be clamoring for that privilege. We not only have the right to go to vote but we have the right to go vote our own convictions and as we please.

If we did not enjoy that privilege we would do most anything to acquire it but now that we have it we seemingly do not even think enough of that right to bother to use it.

The day and time may come, however, if our present indifference toward our elections continues, when we may not be able to go and vote. We have lost a good many of the rights and privileges we use to have and we will lose more of them if we do not use them.

But there is plenty of time now for every individual, who is eligible to register and who has not done so, to prepare themselves so they can vote in the general election.

You can either go to the polls and help elect those you want named to office or you can stay at home and help elect those you do not want named to public office.

Go register now if you want to be able to vote on November 3.

STATE DEMOCRATS GET SET

The primary election contest over the Democratic gubernatorial nomination has been dropped by Lake Frazier of Roswell, and the Democrats are closing ranks for the state campaign.

It is significant that Everett Grantham rushed immediately to Roswell to thank Frazier for dropping the contest, that the two got together over coffee at the residence of Frazier who had announced full support of the Democratic ticket, in withdrawing the contest.

It was the Democratic defection on the East Side that, with Bernalillo County's big majority for Edwin Mechem in the 1950 election, that turned the Democrats out of the Governor's office for the first time in 20 years.

The contest, and the nomination of Dwight D. Eisenhower for president by the Republicans, was causing the Democrats worry over their chances for carrying the state this year.

Now that he has a clear field, the campaign strategy of the Democrats is taking shape. Mr. Grantham recognizes the danger to the state ticket in the popularity of Eisenhower, saying, "We must have a ticket which can beat the Eisenhower ticket," and adds that "Gov. Adlai Stevenson has a warm, personal appeal which cannot be ignored."

The strategy obviously will be to build up Stevenson in the state, and to tear down Gov. Mechem's record.

It promises to be an interesting state campaign.—Albuquerque Journal.

LOUSY DRIVERS

New Mexico drivers are lousy. And the indisputable proof of that statement is one glance at the fatality toll figures between New Mexico and its neighboring state of Colorado.

New Mexico, with less than half the population of Colorado, has almost twice the number of deaths on the highway so far this year.

Neither can San Juan county residents look the other way and blame Santa Fe, Albuquerque or some other place for the high toll. Just one or two trips between Farmington and Aztec will make a sane driver wonder why several persons aren't killed there each day.

Partly, of course, the blame lies with lax inspection and driving test laws and part with narrow crowded highways and other deplorable conditions.

But in the final analysis, the largest share of the blame falls squarely on the "nut that holds the steering wheel." There are far too many of them in New Mexico.—San Juan Valley Sun.

THEY GO TOO FAR

New Mexico's Little Hoover Commission once again has come forth with an eminently sensible recommendation in a preliminary report declaring that New Mexico's small colleges should be kept in existence.

Some opponents of the smaller schools have contended that the state wastes much money in supporting more than two or three institutions of higher learning.

This, it strikes us, is superficial analysis. The trend of higher education already has gone too far toward the huge and impersonal universities where students may become lost in the mass.

There is a place, and an important place, for the schools small enough for personal contact between faculty and student. The presence of the smaller colleges adds much to the communities in which they are located.

The scattered schools offer many students the opportunity to attend college when they perhaps could not afford to go to a distant city. It gives the prospective student a wider choice, and it helps New Mexico to maintain the delightful diversity of its culture.

The super-efficiency experts go too far when they plumb for centralization of our higher educational institutions.—Las Vegas Optic.

State Highways Need Improvement Survey Proves

"New Mexico should spend substantially higher sums if it is to bring its highway system up to desirable higher standards."

Dr. Julian S. Duncan, university department of economics head, wrote this in the preface of a study of the university's division of government research called, "Highway Finance in New Mexico."

The 31 page study was written by Doctor Duncan, Dr. Katherine Nutt who received her doctorate here in history a year ago, and Harold O. Staus, who received his master's degree here in June.

The study covers almost every aspect of the highway problem. Much is devoted to explaining how New Mexico highways are financed and the sources for further revenue.

How adequate is our highway system? What about truck damage? What is the role of federal, state and local agencies in financing our highways?

Questions Answered—All these questions are asked and answered in the study.

In the past 10 years traffic on New Mexico highways has increased 98 per cent. Our major highways can handle 40 mile-per-hour travel and below adequately. They will not accommodate the increased volumes of traffic at today's higher speeds.

"Demands upon New Mexico's highways may be expected to increase still more," the study says. On the basis of research it is assumed that roads carrying more than 5,000 vehicles a day should be four lanes.

Because of our increase the study says, "It is possible that highway 66 in its entire length across the state of New Mexico will need to be made four lanes within 15 years."

The extraordinary traffic accident rate in the state is discussed in the study which recommends improved design of highways and traffic safety education.

"An improvement in New Mexico's highway safety record will tend to increase the number of tourists who visit the state. But these highways cost money."

The study points out that increased highway expenditures per mile and increased gasoline tax per gallon does not necessarily result in an increased cost to the motorist.

"The decrease in gasoline consumption, repairs and liability insurance may outweigh the increase in the per gallon tax."

It says, however, that the New Mexico gas tax is higher than the national average and higher than most of the mountain states.

The study recommends decreasing the miles in the county road system.

Overloaded Trucks—

There is evidence showing that overloaded trucks and trucking combinations cause excessive damage to highways, the study reports. What is the fair share of highway costs these trucks should pay?

This point is too complicated to be settled without a great deal of research. There are a number of opinions on it. Many states believe overloading does not damage the highways.

The study says, however, New Mexico cannot finance an adequate highway system unless overloading is controlled. It says the trucking industry should put forth a maximum effort within the industry to curtail overloading.

31st Study—

This study was the 31st of the university's division of research, headed by Dr. Frederick C. Irion, assistant professor of government.

The division confines its studies to contemporary subjects of importance to the people of the state, and completed studies are available to interested citizens.

Half Million Lives Are Saved From Accidents

Death and taxes may be inevitable—but the experts are beating the former.

Since 1913, the year of the formal organization of the safety movement, about 500,000 persons have been saved from accidental deaths.

From 1900 until 1913 an average of nearly 75,000 persons were killed in accidents each year—a rate of 85 deaths per 100,000 population. The toll would have reached 84,000 persons in 1914 if this rate had continued, but it was reduced to 79 and the death toll to 77,000—a saving of about 7,000 lives. Similar comparisons based on rates for succeeding years show that about half a million lives were saved by 1951.

Despite these accomplishments, "Accident Facts," the National Safety Council's statistical year-book, just off the press, shows that one home in every five is touched by a serious accident each year.

Weather To Affect Democratic Chances? | A Bumper Corn Crop Lowers Farm Prices

Special to Central Press

WASHINGTON—Gov. Adlai Stevenson and his advisers hope the weather will be the Democrats' best ally in the party's bid to remain in power. They believe the weather will have a great deal to do with the all-important midwest farm vote, which elected Harry Truman in 1948. If midwest weather is good, it will mean a bumper corn crop, with storage trouble and lower prices for corn, hogs and cattle.

Traditionally, when farmers are worried about prices, they stray along with the Democrats. GOP leaders charge that this is because the Democrats "outpromised" the Republicans.

Political experts point out that the closest contests in the 1948 election were in the farm states of Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Iowa—and the farm vote swung victory to Mr. Truman.

SPRINGFIELD HEADQUARTERS—There are several reasons why Governor Stevenson decided to maintain his campaign headquarters in Springfield, Ill., instead of Washington, besides the announced reason that he wants to keep near his duties as governor.

In contrast with the Republican decision to go "closer to things" by placing the GOP headquarters in Washington, the Democrats want to keep as far from the nation's capital. The reason? They don't want to be connected too much with the administration.

By remaining away from Washington, the Democrats believe they can offset the GOP "Time for a change" arguments. After all, Springfield is quite a change from Washington.

A second reason Stevenson picked Springfield is its geographic location. In the Illinois capital, he is virtually in the heart of the nation and easily accessible to Democratic leaders from all sections of the country.

SOLID SOUTH—Political observers say the Republican high command has written off the south, except for Texas, as certain to be Democratic as usual in 1952.

Headquarters of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, however, have detailed obligations to their supporters in Dixie and that's the reason for the decision to make a two-and-one-half day tour of the south.

The arrangement is designed to retain the support of the pro-Republican in future party councils and take little from the territory reserved for more intensive oratory in the north, east and west.

KEAUFER FUTURE—Not only did Senator Estes Keauffer lose in his bid for the Democratic presidential nomination, but he has seriously damaged his political standing in his home state of Tennessee. Keauffer antagonized many of his most ardent backers by his support of Gov. Gordon Browning for a third term as state chief executive in the recent primary which marked the defeat of veteran Senator Kenneth McKellar.

Politicos say that the endorsement of Browning may cost Keauffer substantial labor support when he comes up for re-election to the Senate in 1954.

Browning was opposed by labor because of his use of troops in certain labor disputes in the state and Keauffer's explanation that he backed Browning because of the governor's work for him at the Chicago convention may not offset the union resentment.

JAPAN'S SQUABBLE—As minor as the incident may seem, the British-Japanese squabble over the arrest of two Japanese sailors jailed by the Japanese is being watched carefully by foreign policy officials in Washington.

Washington officials are said to agree with the British that the Japanese should not have taken jurisdiction in the case, but they are hesitant to say so publicly because of possible repercussions.

It is felt here that the issue is so great in Japan that the present Japanese government might fall at the next election if the decision in the case is reversed. Also—with the Communists just waiting an opportunity to seize what power they can in Japan, the United States is not willing to risk the downfall of a Japanese administration favorable to the West.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

NOWADAYS, sex hygiene is taught in elementary schools all over the country. When Sam Levenson was a kid, however, he believed his mother's story that babies were brought by the stork until he was 12. Then, he says, came the day of enlightenment. His pal Benny's mother was about to produce a new heir, and Benny told the startled Sam the real facts of life. Sam ran home and repeated the story to his mother for ratification. Her reaction was prompt and characteristic. She whacked him sharply and commanded, "Don't you play with Benny no more!"

Sam also tells about one of his brothers who became the strong man of the neighborhood. He tore so many telephone books in half that a man from the phone company complained, "If you tear up more books, we won't give you a phone if you ever order one." The brother once bared his chest and boasted to his father, "Go ahead and hit me as hard as you can. I won't even feel it." The father scowled, "I'll hit you when I want, not when you want." New Mexico Key State In Regional SCS

Albuquerque are directed to the federal soil-saving agencies in four states — New Mexico, Colorado, Utah, and Arizona.

The soil conservation service is one of the few federal agencies which works through a regional office setup. There are seven regional offices in the country like the one in Albuquerque. Regional offices were established soon after the soil conservation agency was set up.

The soil conservation service has operated on the theory that the people who are going to fight erosion should be out on the land with the problems. Most of the people who work with SCS aren't stationed in the regional offices or at the Washington headquarters. Instead, they're out in the field in district work unit offices where they can give help to the farmers who need it and need it now if the soil conservation program is to assure the country a continuing supply of food and fiber.

Directing the Albuquerque regional office and conservation activities in region 6 is Cyril Luker, who started his conservation career at Amarillo during the "dust bowl" period of the early thirties. This regional office is an important cog in the national conservation program.

Not Duplicated—Administrative functions of the regional office are not duplicated in either the state or district offices of SCS.

Spearheading the regional setup is a group of specialists who serve in the technical fields in getting the latest information on soil and water conservation and then seeing that it gets to the men in the field who are working with the farmers and ranchers.

Every man who works in a SCS work unit office is a trained technician. He may be an engineer, an agronomist or a soil scientist. But the job's too big for a man in the field to be a specialist. He has to be well grounded in all of these subjects. That's where these regional specialists—they're called division chiefs—come in. They get the best available information, decide what should be done with it, and then pass it along to the field men. These technical divisions include range, agronomy, engineering, soils, forestry and biology.

More Divisions—Then there are the nursery and cartographic divisions and the drainage and earth testing section which render highly important service to the SCS field men and the farmers and ranchers they serve.

The nursery division maintains two nurseries, one at Albuquerque and the other at Tucson, to provide the best types of plant materials needed for soil and water conservation in the four states of the region.

Grasses and legumes are needed for establishing an erosion-resistant ground cover on depleted range lands and on land unsuited for cultivation and which should be returned to grass for forage. Trees and shrubs are needed for windbreak plantings to check wind erosion, to provide habitats, food and cover for wildlife, and for streambank and gully plantings to check erosion.

The nursery division assembles various types of promising plant materials, such as grasses, legumes, trees, shrubs and vines. These are called plant accessions and are obtained from many sources. These include native species, strains from various geographic locations, and many new species and strains from foreign countries.

These plant accessions first are tested in short rows or small plots at the two nurseries. They are studied for erosion control characteristics, forage production, disease resistance, and seed production. The outstanding strains then are increased sufficiently to furnish seed or plants for further tests in various problem areas of the region. Nurserymen work closely with field technicians assisting soil conservation districts in the establishment and evaluation of these field trial plantings. These plantings give farmers and ranchers cooperating with districts a chance to observe results under local conditions.

The nurseries also test methods of seeding and planting to obtain the best establishment. Techniques of seedbed preparation and seeding are worked out and equipment is adapted or fabricated for special uses.

After plants have gone through the final tests in the field, those proven to have a definite use in conservation work are further increased at the nurseries. Seeds and plants from these larger plantings are made available to soil conservation districts in incentive amounts for planting by district cooperators in limited areas or for seed production.

Once these plant materials become available commercially, production ceases at the SCS nurseries except for the maintenance of foundation seed plots. The two nurseries produce around 500,000 trees and shrubs annually, and about 50,000 pounds of seed on the average.

The cartographic division of the graphic laboratory, blueprint facilities and other reproduction regional office maintains a photo-equipment.

This division contracts for all aerial photography in accordance with the needs of the soil conservation districts, compiles, procures and prints all maps used in connection with conservation operations in the region; compiles all aerial mosaics for use in ranch conservation planning; and compiles and prints all soil conservation district agreement maps showing farm and ranch plans and conservation surveys.

Operation of the cartographic division requires special equipment and specially trained technicians. This means that, by handling this work at a central location, with mass production, costs of materials needed to help farmers and ranchers with their conservation programs are reduced greatly.

The regional drainage and earth testing section also performs many duties to facilitate the soil and water conservation program. Since drainage is an expensive and complicated practice it is necessary to make extensive studies and detailed recommendations for such work in this region. Direct assistance in laying out and conducting investigations and formulating drainage plans is provided.

This section also provides laboratory earth testing services in connection with the construction of dams, stock ponds, and sealing reservoirs. The importance of testing soils for construction purposes cannot be over-emphasized. All structures are expensive and the failure of a dam, large or small, or excessive seepage from a reservoir can result in considerable financial loss through property damage, crop loss, and in other ways.

Director Luker cites the successful businesses which long have operated on regional plans and declares that it is not only economical but more efficient than it would be to operate in the 48 states where many functions would be duplicated at greater cost.

Artesia Girl Serves on College's Strategy to Help Homesick Frosh

A 4-F strategy to mitigate potential homesickness of incoming freshmen is getting the enthusiastic support of New Mexico Western college sophomores. Organized as the First Friends for Freshmen, committee of sophomores is now putting out the welcome mat for freshmen. Members of the committee are busy writing letters to prospective freshmen and planning how to help them during the opening days of school. The plan is similar to the Big Brother and Sister organizations at other schools, but members of last year's freshmen class thought this one up themselves, including the name. "I remember how lost I felt during my first days on the campus," said one erstwhile freshman. "Everything was strange and different, and I didn't seem to belong anywhere. So I'd like to help others get over the awful stage." "We can give them plenty of trouble during initiation week," said a male member of the committee. "But when they first hit the campus, it's friendship with a capital F. They need it." The committee that got the friendship ball rolling last spring was headed by Burwell Barnes, Roswell, and composed of Betty Bynum and Charles Stephens, Silver City; Dorothy Matthews, Vanadium; Yvonne Yeager, Artesia; and Dudley Skyes Roswell. The enlarged 4-F committee also includes Nathalia Hawk, Patsy Roseberry, Jacqueline Dale, and Bill Gray, Hurley; Mary Ann Kelley, Corinne Barto, Yvonne Hodges, and Joan Grinstead, Santa Rita; Joanne McPhearson, Silver City; Rachael Madrid, Deming; Nora Sanchez, Grants; Loyd Nicholson, Omega; Donald Glannagan, Mitchell, S. C. Dr. Robert Brooks is sponsor of the group as well as of the sophomore class. Dr. Nanette Ashby, dean of women, is advising the committee.

State's Upward Business Trend Puzzles Expert

For no apparent sound reason New Mexico's business activity continues to spiral upward. Prof. Alan D. Carey, writing in the latest issue of New Mexico Business, monthly publication of the UNM bureau of business research, still doubts the validity of certain figures denoting the upward trend. Carey does not try to explain them away; still he places a question mark on the manner in which the sales tax is recorded. Some accounting for the upward spiral may come from the rather terrific inflation that has hit not only New Mexico but the entire nation, Carey asserts. The cost of living index has risen less than 2 per cent during the past year according to the Consumer's Price Index. Carey says that the 12 per cent gain in bank deposits must undoubtedly reflect a real increase in the volume of money in circulation. This would hold, he thinks, although it is true that not all checks written are in payment for goods and services at retail. Seven Per Cent Gain—The New Mexico employment security commission reported that a total of 32,500 persons were employed in May of 1952 in the retail industry in the state. For what it may mean, this figure represents a gain of 2,100 persons over May of 1951—a gain of nearly 7 per cent. Using the state employment security figures again, Carey found that 800 more persons in manufacturing and 5,700 more in non-manufacturing industries were on the employment rolls in May of this year over the same month last year. Of all major groups only the finance, insurance and real estate lists fails to show gains in number of employees from May 1951 to May of this year. Building permits which hit a low last February have since been on the upswing, Carey reports. Until better and more reliable measures of profits and loss for retail sales in New Mexico come along, Carey is willing to string along with the best indicators he has. Retail Gains—The 31 New Mexico counties showed an 11 per cent gain in retail sales from May of last year to May of 1952. Counties with plus signs were: San Juan 135 per cent, Dona Ana 87, Lea 75, Catron 63, Otero 58, Roosevelt 40, Guadalupe 31, Taos 30, Curry and Colfax 29 each, Eddy and Valencia 26 each, Grant and Bernalillo 25 each, Santa Fe and San Miguel 24 each, Quay and Chaves 15 each, Hidalgo 14, Torrance and Lincoln 8 each, Mora and Socorro 7 each, Sierra 6 and Luna 5. Counties showing losses in retail sales for the year were: Rio Arriba and Hardin 32 each, Sandoval 16, Union 6, McKinley 3 and De Baca 1 per cent.
