Record Artesia Voter Turn Out Is Predicted; For Election

Record Number Of Voters Are Predicted

Artesia will cast the greatest number of votes every recorded in any election in the city today if vigorous get-out-the-vote campaigning and rising population totals are indications of voter interest.

Polls opened at 8 a. m. this morning and will remain open until 7 p. m. tonight. Election machines in five of six polls will speed returns in the city, making them available in one to 1 1/2 hours.

Absolutely no votes cast after 7 p. m. will be tabulated in today's election, a special ruling by Atty. Gen. Frank Martinez declared Monday. Artesians used to being in line when polls are closed and still allowed to cast their ballots may be disappointed if they continue that habit this year.

Only precinct 6-F, the Roselawn school, will use hand-marked ballots. Voters, now weary of months-long campaigning, have been offered every inducement to reach the polls today. Free rides are being offered by both political parties, and voters may also call the Chamber of Commerce at 192 to receive free transportation.

Artesia's National Guard unit will offer voters rides to the polls in two military trucks today, answering calls made to the Chamber of Commerce.

Two Contests—Today's election is highlighted by the Eisenhower-Stevenson and Mechem-Grantham contests. Although most local amateur observers were wary, Republican wins at the top levels, but Democratic strength in state offices below governor were predicted.

However, one veteran observer reported "the voters aren't saying so much this year, and anything can happen."

Cardboard replicas of the Liberty Bell with slogans urging voters to go to the polls have been hung on nearly every door knob in Artesia by members of local Boy Scout troops, who made their canvass across the city over the week-end.

An organization of block workers established through a Chamber of Commerce committee headed by Howard Whitson with Dr. C. P. Bunch and Atty. Neil Watson as members are expected to urge housewives in at least 775 residential blocks to vote today.

Employers Vote—Employers will be urging their workers to go to the polls, and law in the state provides employees can request as long as two hours to attend the polls.

All bars in the cities will be closed today as required by law, and both banks have closed in observance of election day.

Previous high vote cast in Artesia was in the Mabry-Lujan contest for governor in 1948, when 2,297 votes were cast, a 59 per cent (Continued on Page Six)

New Mountain Road Planned To Mayhill

Further construction on U. S. highway 83 through the Sacramento mountains to Cloudercroft will be pushed through 1953 if negotiations for right-of-way easements proceed smoothly, the Alamogordo News reported Friday.

Proposed new construction, expected to be undertaken next spring, would push the new highway through the mountains to near Mayhill, the newspaper stated.

Frank J. Horn, right-of-way engineer for the state highway department, conferred with Robert G. Walker, county commission chairman, in Alamogordo last week.

Bureau of public roads is ready for an early advertisement of bids from present construction for six miles to near Mayhill as soon as right-of-way easements can be secured, Walker stated.

Horn pointed out there have been changes in tentative construction plans on the new stretch of highway 83, made in the interest of construction economy and lower right-of-way expense.

Ownership of land on the new right-of-way has been established through abstract examinations and owners will be contacted in the near future by Horn, Walker, and one or more county commissioners, the News stated.

College Night Tentatively Set November 19

Personal conference rooms will be arranged so students, parents, and college representatives may confer. There are no commitments to attend involved in the conference.

Car-Semi-Trailer Collision Fatal To Midland Man

A head-on collision between a semi-trailer truck and an auto resulted in instant death for Fred A. Wycoff of Midland at 4 p. m. Saturday on U. S. 285 a mile north of Moutray Bros. farm.

The crash, investigated by Deputies Lloyd Blackney and L. C. Burkham of Carlsbad, occurred in the southbound lane of traffic.

Front of Wycoff's auto was completely demolished by force of impact. Lesser damage was done to the Hill Lines truck, driven by Oscar R. Ogg of Amarillo.

Officers reconstructing the crash quoted Ogg as saying he saw Wycoff's car on the wrong side of the road. Ogg said he swerved his machine into the southbound lane to allow the car to pass, but Wycoff's car moved back into the southbound lane.

Ogg sustained only a minor laceration on his forehead. Wycoff's body was removed to Paulin Funeral Home in Artesia, where it was prepared for burial in Midland.

Both cars were near the southbound lane after the crash, with the truck off the edge of the road, headed west. Wycoff's car was spun around so it faced east. Both machines were removed to Carlsbad. (Continued on Page Six)

Cotton Marketing Campaign Calls for Holding Back Half

A cotton marketing campaign which calls on growers to hold half of their cotton back is being conducted in North Eddy county, according to Norman Stiver, county production and marketing administration administrative officer.

Stiver said the program is being inaugurated under suggestion of the National Cotton Council.

Artesia Compress Co. has been approved as a warehouse under the cotton loan program, and Southern New Mexico warehouse is in process of being approved, Stiver added.

Purpose of the orderly marketing program is to maintain and stabilize cotton prices paid to farmers at level which will meet production costs and reasonable profit.

Price Decline—

"Extensive marketing at this time is causing a decline in the price of cotton," Stiver declared.

Loan and purchase agreements are available in all grades and staple lengths at the rate of $1.16 per pound for middling 15/16 inch cotton. Premiums and discounts are made for other grades and staple lengths.

Bales held for orderly marketing are secured by a loan to be made on warehouse receipts executed by approved warehouses or on farm-stored cotton in structures approved by the county PMA committee.

The four Eddy county banks have been approved as lending agencies and will make loan available to all interested producers.

Commodity credit corporation loan program administered by the PMA county committee is provided to accomplish orderly marketing, Stiver pointed out. Loans may be made through approved lending agencies or the county PMA office and approved clerks have been delegated at strategic places throughout the county to assist producers in preparing cotton loan papers.

Approved Clerks—

Approved cotton loan clerks in Artesia are Judy Baker and Pattie J. Runyan, First National bank; Verbie Baker, 910 S. Fourth street; Dorothy Dunn and R. A. Richardson, Peoples State bank; Edna Lee Knox, 711 N. Main, and Mrs. V. F. Lowery, southeast of Artesia.

The county PMA office will also assist any producer in preparing loan papers and will make loans if desired, Stiver added. He added that due to limited storage, a greater part of the cotton will be shipped to a reconcentration point immediately.

All eligible producers are urged to consider the National Cotton Council campaign and to contract the approved lending agencies, warehouses, cotton loan clerks, and county PMA office for more complete information.

Transfer of surplus water from the Mississippi-Missouri river system to the arid Southwest was again advocated by Patrick J. Hurley, Republican nominee for U. S. senator, in a campaign address Friday in Artesia.

In proposing the redistribution of water, Hurley pointed out his proposal, made 21 years ago, could be accomplished "for far less" than the U. S. now spends on foreign aid.

Hurley took occasion to make a number of jibes concerning his opponent, Dennis Chavez, Democratic incumbent senator seeking reelection. Chavez' much-touted seniority actually means little to New Mexico, Hurley declared, since the senator does little—especially for New Mexico—with his seniority.

Hurley time and again struck at extravagant U. S. foreign aid programs, which he termed "give-aways" when the U. S. should really be educating those countries to provide their own needs.

An estimated 40 people attended Hurley's brief speech, held on the lawn in front of Veterans Memorial building at 1 p. m. Friday. (Continued on Page Six)

Scout Campaign Workers Urged To Finish Drive

Workers in Artesia's residential campaign for Boy Scout funds were urged to continue their "excellent work to date" by Charles K. Johnson, campaign chairman.

Despite interest in the campaign, workers have still to contact a majority of Artesia residents, Johnson observed, and must yet raise about $2,600 of an estimated $7,000 as Artesia's share in the Eastern New Mexico Area Council budget.

Team captains in the residential campaign include Bert Jones, A. C. Sadler, C. D. Hopkins, Ralph Petty, J. L. Taylor, Bill Hart, Don Heathington, Vernon Mills, Orville Durbin, Fern Crawford, T. C. Stromberg, Bud Cleve, Gail Ray, George Fowler, and A. F. Patterson.

Artesia will raise an estimated $7,000 as its share in the area budget of $68,450.

Chief items of expense in the budget are $31,000 for executive salaries, $7,800 office salaries, $2,525 retirement funds, $8,400 field expense, $8,600 campaign, $3,000 campaign expenses.

Other budget items include $1,725 rent, light, and telephone, $1,000 office supplies, $825 postage and express, $550 leadership training. (Continued on Page Six)

Hunters—Plan To Phone Paper On Deer Kills

Complete details on North Eddy county success in the deer season opening this Saturday, Nov. 7, will be reported in the Artesia Advocate as the season progresses—if hunters cooperate.

Hunters bagging deer should plan to call the Advocate at phone 7 immediately on their return to the city. A complete round-up of results may then be printed.

Hunters are openly anticipating one of the best seasons in years, with pre-season reconnaissance reporting "plenty of buck" in the Sacramento and Guadalupe mountains.

ALTHOUGH THE footballs still sail through the air, basketballs have been flying almost nightly at Junior high gym as Artesia REA Travelers practice for their season opening at the end of this month. Eisenhower, Mechem Take Realistic School Election

If Artesia high school students have their way, Dwight D. Eisenhower will be next president of the United States and Edwin L. Mechem will be re-elected as governor of New Mexico.

Those are the key results in a school-wide election last Friday which ended a week of realistic campaign whoop-ia and color.

Eisenhower won 230 to 187 for Stevenson for president. Richard Nixon was the favorite over John Sparkman for the vice-presidency 230-192. Mechem carried the gubernatorial polls by 229-195.

All other officials elected were Democrats by an overwhelming majority.

Some Artesia adults weren't so sure the high school outcome was just "kid stuff." Students may have been following family voting trends in casting their ballots, as shown by the Democratic dominance below the office of governor.

Follows Poll—Students voting on a national level also closely followed that observed in a pre-election reporting by Gallup, Roper, and Crosley polls.

High school balloting in addition showed heavy ticket-splitting, which has been freely forecast when adults go to the polls today.

Taking the part of Eisenhower in the campaigning and election at Senior High was John Shockley, Philip Dillard campaigned as Adlai Stevenson, while Wayne Bedingfield took the part of Richard Nixon and Charles Waltrip stood in for John Sparkman.

Campaigning opened last Tuesday with announcements of the forthcoming election under auspices of the social science department instructed by Miss Alma Sue Felix, F. L. Green, and Abraham Trop. Speakers were provided by Altus Stevens of the speech department.

Registration was conducted Wednesday, and any student failing to register was not allowed to vote Friday.

Owners Register 60 Dogs in First Phase of Drive

An estimated 60 Artesia dog owners registered their pets in the first day of a crack-down campaign designed to rid the city of stray dogs, city officials have reported.

Prior to the campaign about 110 dogs were licensed. As of Monday morning 174 were licensed.

Dog owners who have not yet had their pets vaccinated for rabies as required by city ordinance prior to licensing will have another opportunity Thursday to do so. Dr. N. M. Borthwick, Roswell veterinarian, will again be at Wilson Feed Store on S. Second street to give rabies vaccinations.

Building Permits Near $1 Million Mark in Artesia

City officials authorized $69,300 worth of new construction in Artesia during October, records at City Hall disclose. October totals showed the city near the $1 million mark.

Authorized previously to October was $891,107, including $350,420 worth of construction authorized in September, largely for two defense housing projects. Total through October is $960,407.

Value of building permits issued is expected to take another leap next month with authorization of more defense housing.

Mitchell's calf was described by Ivan Watson, fat stock show judge and A&M college specialist, as "one of the best I've ever seen."

Mitchell was paid $832.00 by Charles K. Johnson of the First National bank, Artesia, for his grand champion fat calf, which tipped the scales at 1,040 pounds. Price for fat beef fell below last year's $1.14, but other prices in the show were expected to bring better than 1951 prices.

Highest-priced sheep was a champion fine wool lamb sold by Jean Rayroux of Carlsbad to Sears, Roebuck & Co. for $1.35 a pound. Sears also paid $1.35 for the second mutton lamb, exhibited by Billy Willis, also from Carlsbad.

Champion Mutton—Kenneth Taylor of Artesia showed the champion mutton lamb, which brought $1.30 a pound from Brown Pipe and Supply Co., Artesia. It weighed 111 pounds.

Best hog of the show was shown by Jerry Simmons of Artesia. The Duroc brought $1.25 a pound for 220 pounds from F. L. Wilson Feed Co. of Artesia.

Artesians Sweep Top Prices In Stock Sale

Artesia again dominated the seventh annual Eddy county 4-H and Future Farmers of America Livestock Sale and Show over the week-end in Carlsbad, with Jay Mitchell of Artesia entering the grand champion fat calf for which 90 cents a pound was paid.

Sold through the sale ring Saturday were 58 animals, 15 more than had been sold in 1951, setting a new record.

B.F. Goodrich Tubeless Tire NOW DEFIES SKIDS, TOO!

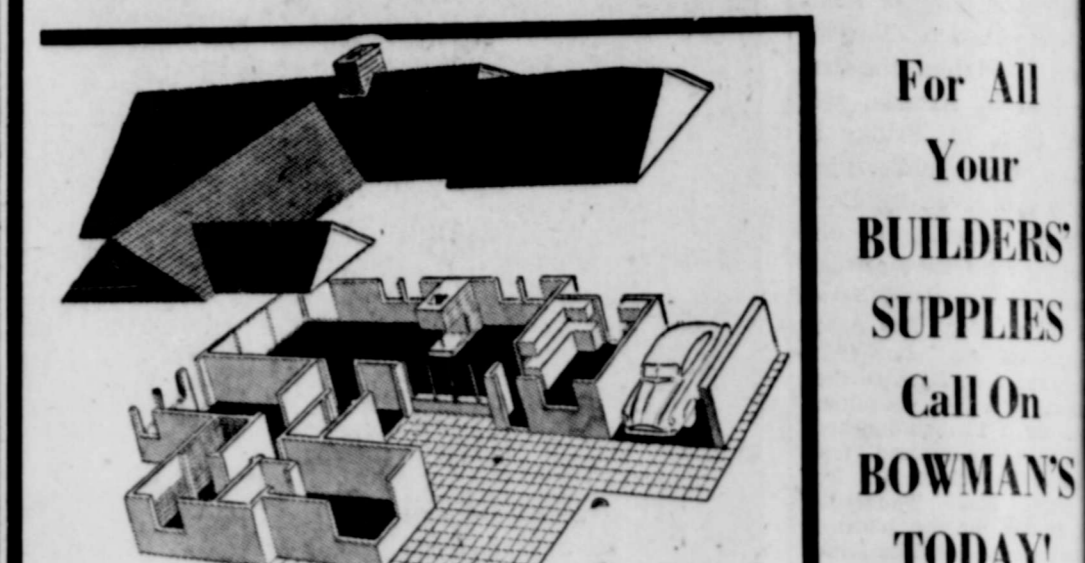

SEALS PUNCTURES — New "Life-Saver" Tubeless Tire can seal over spikes without losing an ounce of air. Beneath the tread, there is a layer of special gummy rubber which seals against puncturing objects. When object is removed, the sealant is drawn into the hole, sealing the hole at 700 drive.

PROTECTS AGAINST BLOWOUTS — Hidden blowouts in regular tires with inner tubes are usually caused by the tube being pinched by a blowout in the tire carcass. But a blowout in the Tubeless Tire merely causes a slow leak. Plenty of time for a safe stop. It changes blowouts to safe s-s-s-s-slow-leaks.

As Low As $4.00 DOWN and your old tires puts a set of "Life-Saver" Tubeless Tires on your car.

Farmington's Apparent Win of Championship in A-Conference Stirs Artesia Fans to Back AA Plan

Apparently cheated of their best chance in recent grid history to back a state championship team, Artesia fans set about this week to find if "something can't be done" about Farmington's 21-14 win over Albuquerque High Friday night.

The grid victory apparently gives Farmington a clean sweep of state A-conference honors, with only weak Belen left in the path of an undefeated season.

And apparently, there's nothing that can be done about it.

Artesians, along with fans in other key football cities, compare season records of Farmington with such A-conference powerhouses as Hobbs, Roswell, Las Cruces, Clovis, Albuquerque High and Highlands, Carlsbad—and Artesia.

Weak Schedule—Farmington has played a weak schedule through the season, with last week's Albuquerque game the only major contest on its schedule. A-conference upper bracket teams seemingly are cheated from a legitimate chance at the crown, the fans believe.

Suggestions of a play-off game are not likely to be well-received at Farmington because of the school's belief it has won the championship fair and square, as it has, according to rules of the New Mexico High School Athletic association.

If association rules are followed, there's nothing that can be done about it this year. However, the outcome of this year's conference play is expected to give impetus and pressure to formation of an AA conference game which would include 11 teams, each playing a 10-game schedule within the AA conference.

Farmington has defeated St. Michael's 18-0, Santa Fe 13-0, Gallup 27-6, St. Mary's 38-6, Los Alamos 45-20, Cortez, Colo., 20-0, and Albuquerque Highlands 21-14.

"Equally Weak"—The teams on Farmington's schedule have played what fans consider equally weak teams. St. Mike's has lost to Artesia, 22-0, NMMI 12-0, Farmington 18-0, Clayton 20-0, Las Cruces 39-7, and Santa Fe 7-0. It has won over Las Vegas 19-0 and Belen 20-0.

Santa Fe has won over Los Alamos 20-7, Espanola 31-12, Portales 20-6, Raton 27-0, Santa Fe Indians 32-6, St. Mike's 7-0, and lost to Albuquerque 12-7.

Gallup has lost to Albuquerque 19-13, Highland 39-6, and won over Espanola 38-0, and Belen 34-13.

St. Mary's has lost to Clayton 13-12, Highlands 32-0, Roswell 19-0, Albuquerque 32-0, Carlsbad 20-0, and won over Belen 13-0.

Los Alamos has lost to Santa Fe 20-0, Raton 26-0, Portales 12-6, and won over Taos 12-7.

Cortez, Colo., has not played any other New Mexico A-conference team.

Highlands Record—Highlands has won over Belen 51-6, St. Mary's 32-0, Raton 42-6, Gallup 39-6, Thomas Jefferson of El Paso 92-0, Tucumcari 26-0, and lost to Hobbs 28-13.

In contrast, Artesia has won over St. Mike's 22-0, NMMI 27-0, Roswell 26-0, Alamo 28-0, Albuquerque 14-0, Hobbs 13-7, and lost to Clovis, 14-7, with Carlsbad, St. Mary's, and Las Cruces still to play.

Fans in Artesia generally before Friday had toyed with the idea of what would happen to A-conference racing if Farmington won, but most generally believed there was no such chance. When the upset became known, fans were first stirred to anger, then to plans for a play-off game between Farmington and one of the strong southeastern New Mexico teams. Too much is against such an arrangement on official levels, and fans seemingly must either pin their hopes, on a Belen upset, which is highly improbable if not impossible, or get behind those pushing for formation of an AA conference.

Solt Palominos Capture Honors in Texas Fair

Two palominos owned by Walter Solt of Artesia have captured honors in the Texas State Fair, Dallas, according to results announced this week by W. E. Krumel of Enid, Okla., judge.

Solt's Lady Margo took first place in the halter class, contest among stock horse mares foaled in 1949 or before.

Lady Margo was also reserve grand champion stock horse mare. Gold Stocking, also owned by Solt, was third in the halter class among geldings, any age. He also took first in the reining class for stock horses, mare or gelding, the performance class; placed second in ranch use; and was fourth among stock horses in the reining class.

ROTARY SWITCHED

Artesia Rotarians will meet this noon in the basement of the First Christian church, 512 W. Quay. Pres. J. D. Smith has reminded members. Regular meeting place in Masonic Temple will be used as a polling place during today's election.

Junior High Open House Is Scheduled Thursday Night

Open house at Junior high school has been set to begin at 7 p. m. Thursday, Nov. 6, according to an announcement by Don Riddle, principal.

Feature of the open house is a school day in brief in which parents will attend classes in courses their children are taking. Each session will be condensed, and the miniature school day is to run from 7:40 to 9:10 p. m.

The evening will open in Junior high gym with a brief welcome to the public by Mr. Riddle and a short outline of the Junior high program. Students and teachers will then put on a brief entertainment before the class schedule begins. Parents of Junior high youngsters will be given copies of their children's schedules and attend classes under regular teachers.

Coffee and cake will be in the gymnasium following classes at 9:10 p. m. Principal Riddle and teachers emphasized that the school offers parents and general public an excellent opportunity to meet faculty, and courses being presented, and generally become acquainted with the school's program.

The geographic center United States is in Smith Kansas.

Junior High—

Hamann, Mr. Trenfield, Mrs. Spratt, and Mr. Knorr. We are indebted to the Future Teachers' of America organization of the high school in furnishing us with teachers to take their classes during the time of the meeting from 10 until 12 this morning.

Student-body election for vice-president had to be postponed until a later date because sponsors of the Student Council were unable to be in school this week. The election will be held sometime in the near future. Candidates for this office are members of the seventh grade class. They are Gaynelle Brown, Kay Schnaubert, Jeanette Phillips and Johnny French. Students have been campaigning for them during the week and have made campaign speeches, campaign slogans, and posters. The vice-president automatically becomes president the next year in the eighth grade. Jimmy Campanella is president of the student body this year.

Junior High school has made plans to hold its annual Open House Thursday night, Nov. 6, at 7:30. It will open with a short program in the gymnasium and then parents will be asked to attend the same classes that their boy or girl attends. This will give each teacher an opportunity to meet parents and tell them a little about the subject they are teaching. The periods will be short with a total of six periods which constitutes a day's program. Following the class program, light refreshments will be served in the gymnasium.

Record Number—

In 1950 when Gov. Edwin L. Mechem was elected, 2,132 voters cast ballots in the governorship race.

If a minimum 60 per cent of eligible voters go to Artesia polls today, they will cast 2,928 votes. However, an even larger percentage has been predicted by party officials.

Polling Places
Polling places for Artesians are 6-A Masonic Temple, 6-B City Hall, 6-C Central School, 6-D Veterans Building, 6-E Senior High school girls' gym and 6-F Roselawn school.

A total of 4,880 Artesians are eligible by registration to vote in today's election, an increase of 615 since the May primary and of 1,276 since the 1950 elections.

Political strength in the city is about two to one in favor of Democratic registration, but local observers are predicting extensive splitting.

School Election—
dates were plastered across the school, with downtown Democratic and Republican headquarters liberally assisting in providing poster material and sample ballots.

Old voting booths formerly used at City Hall gave students a proper secret balloting place. A special assembly held Thursday afternoon marked the fever height of the pre-election campaign, with candidates giving major campaign addresses before an assembly of the entire school. Adults hearing a broadcast of the Thursday afternoon campaigning described it as realistic beyond any expectation.

Casting ballots Friday were 439 students, but two ballots were void and 20 blank.

Due to the FFA-4-H show in Carlsbad, school analysts smilingly pointed out after the election that there is one important exception to be kept in mind—the farm bloc didn't vote.

ing, $775 national quota and charter fee, $800 activities, $250 miscellaneous, $1,100 advancement, $150 office equipment.

"Success of our drive now depends on the individual team worker and the captain who is responsible for seeing the work is completed," Johnson declared on Monday. "We cannot afford in times like these not to give our support to Boy Scouts."

Hurley—

Hurley was introduced by E. E. Kinney, Eddy county GOP chairman.

Hurley, who has twice previously sought a senate seat from New Mexico, said his water plan from New Mexico could be accomplished with only a small part of the U. S. "foreign aid give-away."

The water project proposed by the former diplomat and secretary of war would be self-liquidating, would create a vast new industrial and agricultural empire, and would provide thousands of new jobs, Hurley declared.

Hurley said the United States is financially incapable of spending the world back to prosperity. "I have been there and I know you can't give them enough money to raise their standard of living," he declared. "Instead of spending ourselves to national bankruptcy, we should concentrate on teaching them to better themselves."

Members of the organization are especially urged to attend Wednesday's program because of the outstanding nature and interest presented, Mrs. Laughlin stated.

Anthropologist To Address Woman's Club

Frank C. Hibben, associate professor of anthropology at the University of New Mexico and curator of the UMN anthropological museum, will be guest speaker at Artesia Woman's club Wednesday, Mrs. S. M. Laughlin, president, has announced.

Oldest AHS Alum To Be Honored At Homecoming

Civic organizations have been invited to take part in Artesia Senior high school's annual Homecoming Day parade, set this year for Friday, Nov. 14.

Feature football game of the Homecoming Day program will be the Artesia-St. Mary's clash at 7:30 p. m. at Morris Field.

Under sponsorship of Student Council, of which W. L. Gray is president, Homecoming will also feature a contest for the oldest alumni to attend the Artesia-St.

Mary's game. The winner will sit on the bench with the team during the game. Contestants will register at entrance gates as they enter the stadium.

A special section will be reserved for AHS alumni.

Football players will nominate junior and senior girls as candidates for Homecoming queen, and she will be crowned at a dance following the football game.

Parade plans tentatively call for the long line of floats and other entries, primarily entered by Senior high school classes and organizations, to begin the march down Main street at 4 p. m. Friday, Nov. 14.

The thickness of a man's thumb was the original basis for an inch.

Tickets on Sale For Carlsbad Game Friday

Plenty of tickets for Friday night's Artesia-Carlsbad game Carlsbad are on sale at Southern Public Service Co. on Fourth street in the Booker building.

All seats for the game on Saturday, Nov. 8, are general admission tickets.

Like your travel with a JOYOUS THRILL?

WE HAVE NEWS for a lot of folks who want more fun from driving than they get from their present cars.

There's a trim bundle of eager high-powered energy that's just the ticket for you — a spirited automobile that can give you thrill after joyous thrill, for mile after fleeting mile.

Why not come in and try the Buick we have in mind?

The excitement starts with your first look at it, your first sitting in it, your first fingering of its slender wheel.

But wait till Dynaflo Drive* begins working its magic—and its constant and complete smoothness fills you with never-ending wonder.

Wait till you feel the bubbling exuberance of taking your first hill with a high-compression Fireball 8 Engine doing the honors. That's when you get a man-sized sampling of the tremendously able and instantly responsive power you command here.

Wait till you feel the serene satisfaction of skimming over rough roads, cobbles or ridged crossings. That's when you know, better than words can tell, what a million dollars' worth of ride engineering can do in the way of magnificent comfort.

Wait till you jockey into a real tight parking space and note the fun and ease that Power Steering brings to a once-tough job.

But—why wait?

There's a Buick that can do all this — and more, far more — all ready for you to try it.

And listen: If you can afford a new car, you can afford a Buick.

How about coming in this week for a real sampling of this joyous travel?

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. *Standard on Roadmaster, optional at extra cost on other Series. Optional at extra cost on Roadmaster and Super only.

Artesia Candidate

AS WE GO to the polls today, we will find the name of one Artesia candidate on the ballots. It is that of V. P. "Bill" Sheldon, a resident of North Eddy county for 18 years and a candidate for state senator.

Sheldon offered to become a candidate during a Republican rally here last spring when it became apparent there would be no Artesia candidates on either ticket. His first entry into politics, marked by extreme modesty, has been for selfless reasons and we may expect that his service to the community and to the county he seeks to represent will be of this same selfless quality.

He is 40 years old, married, and maintains his home at 811 W. Texas. A consulting geologist, his office is in the Carper building. He came to North Eddy county in 1934 as manager-engineer at the Loco Hills repressuring plant. Seven years ago he established his own office in Artesia.

His experience and interests indicate he is well qualified to serve this county's growing oil interests in the state senate, and we who are interested in and dependent on oil may well consider this in making up our minds before entering the polls next Tuesday.

Sheldon has not conducted a raucous campaign by any stretch of the imagination. He believes that if the people know his qualifications and his interests and are convinced these may be of aid in the legislature, they are adult enough to make up their minds without further urging.

V. P. "Bill" Sheldon's abilities and his potential in representing this county's mining industry at the capitol should be carefully considered by Artesians.

Chamber of Commerce

WE HAVE SO LET-DOWN the Chamber of Commerce in Artesia that its hand-to-mouth financial operations seriously hinder its freedom to turn from basic money matters to constructive efforts which bear fruit for the community.

No agency which continually must struggle financially is free to devote itself to the main purpose of its existence. Its employees cannot devote their entire attention to business at hand while there is a question over cash in the bank for the next payroll.

We are all sometimes prone to talk more than we act—talk is cheap, sometimes downright free. But when it comes to pinning down the things we talk about in concrete form—money and contributions of time and effort in the case of the chamber—the talkers and the critics are conspicuously unrepresented by either funds or work in substantial amounts.

We all want Artesia to grow, to attract new residents and eventually industry, to develop as an attractive place for families to make their permanent homes. It is easy to talk about things that might achieve those high goals. It is easy to criticize the effort being made by those charged with the job.

There are alibis aplenty for not supporting the chamber. There are probably some real reasons based in fact which those conducting the chamber might do well to investigate and remedy. The chamber must continually sell itself again and again to the community, and must above all prove its worth.

Perhaps it is time for us to reconsider the objectives of the chamber and to investigate whether the best methods have been developed to meet those objectives. Every once in a while it seems necessary to return to a basic examination of those things which justify such an organization as the chamber.

It is our lack of willingness to contribute our money, our work, and our effectively-presented ideas to the chamber which hampers its work. It is easy to stay outside such an organization as a back-seat driver; it is another thing to give our ideas credibility by wading into chamber work and making those ideas effective.

A community-backed Chamber of Commerce is a powerhouse for development, for making our city a better place to live. It is bigger than any one individual or business, for it takes its life from the entire community supporting it, and is dedicated to the welfare of the whole.

Half or two-thirds support of the chamber is not enough. It cannot function effectively and freely unless there is full community endorsement and backing.

Public Library

ATTENTION COMING TO Artesia Public Library in recent weeks is most gratifying, the more so for coming in such volume after being so long overdue. Artesia is in reality discovering the potential held by a library.

Many of us have been surprised to learn that needs and interests which can be met through reading material are not limited by the selection on the shelves of the local library. It offers to all patrons the unlimited services of the state extension service, which is coming more and more to specialize in necessary and important reading material which may not be of great enough demand to warrant purchase by the individual library.

Through that state service you have command of all library shelves in the state. If they do not contain the material you want, a search is extended into neighboring states. All this costs you nothing and you are able to gain books and other material not otherwise available to you.

The oil field technician can find through this service the reference volume he needs, or a student doing research may send for special material needed for a term or even contest paper which will give him the chance to compete in written, essay competition.

Investigate at the local library this far-flung service readily available to you. See if you don't find your reading horizons brighter.

New Mexico Magazine

SINCE OUR LAST editorial on New Mexico Magazine, we have been informed there is a movement afoot to kill the state-supported nature of that publication by merger with private business interests controlling other New Mexico-slanted publications.

It has been stated before the local Chamber of Commerce that after election New Mexico Magazine may be consolidated with Sun Trails magazine, a privately-published and owned publication which derives its chief financial support from community-sponsored promotions.

Such promotions, usually prepared or aided by chambers of commerce, are of questionable interest outside the community concerned, unless exceptionally well done, usually by someone detached from the locale. Since it is a promotion, the article must flatter the town concerned, which sometimes makes for sub-standard reading.

We believe Sun Trails is an excellent magazine under private ownership and New Mexico Magazine has a great potential under operation by the state. Sun Trails has been a trail-maker in its use of color.

There is a field for both magazines we believe, wherein one may fill the gaps left by format and policy of the other. As New Mexico continues its steady growth and prosperity, the future for both publications is brighter, although immediate financial need and expedience may cloud that prospect.

THIS LAND OF ENCHANTMENT—

Beauteous Bea Aspires to Be State's Second Congresswoman; Road Deaths Hit One-a-Day

SECRETARY OF STATE Beatrice Bassett aspires to be the second woman in New Mexico history to be sent to Congress, she reveals in the November issue of Glamour, a national woman's magazine.

Beauteous Bea has proved in her term of office "there's plenty of brains beneath her smart hair-do," the magazine article declares.

The magazine quotes Bea as saying "some of the toughest women's-places-in-the-home voters will break down and vote for a woman if it can be put across that she will save them money and run an office in a business-like way."

Bea says she'll seek a seat in the House of Representatives "when the time is ripe." Thirty-two-year-old Bea has a 10-year-old daughter. Her advance in politics and public life had its beginning when she went to work for a law firm and later as a stenographer at Democratic headquarters in Roswell. She moved to Santa Fe as stenographer in the state legislature in 1930.

She later became chief bill room clerk in the House of Representatives gaining an opportunity to study the secretary of state's office.

NEW MEXICO'S 1932 AUTO death rate has risen back to a one-a-day clip, the Associated Press reports, but there are fewer New Mexicans involved in serious accidents.

Charles Dunwiddie declares it's out-of-state drivers who swell this state's traffic death list. Dunwiddie, director of the state traffic safety bureau, speculates that New Mexicans are driving more carefully now than in the past.

However, 306 persons have lost their lives on New Mexico roads to date this year, whereas at this time last year the toll stood at 321. Last year 390 persons lost their lives.

RETAIL FOOD PRICES IN Albuquerque dropped for the third month in a row in October, the University of New Mexico bureau of business research, reveals.

Drop in prices was largely due to lower prices in meats, poultry, and fish; fruits and vegetables, dairy products, the researchers said.

NEW MEXICO HOSPITAL for the Insane at Las Vegas will seek $2 million from the next legislature, largely for new buildings, its directors have declared.

A contract has been signed with a Santa Fe architect-engineer firm for a survey of present buildings and drawing of plans for a 20-year expansion program.

BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL Women of New Mexico will seek law giving women equal rights with their husbands in disposing of community property at death.

BPW wants to amend the law to permit women the same rights of disposal now given men. Under present law, the entire community property of the wife goes to the surviving husband. BPW wants repeal of this provision, and provision for half a woman's community property to go to her husband, the other half subject to testamentary disposition as now allowed the husband.

LONGER THE LEVER, GREATER THE LIFT

NEW MEXICO EDITORS ARE SAYING— Hurley Outlines 'Bold Master' Plan for Development of New Mexico Water Resources

BOLD MASTER PLAN

Pat Hurley has again advanced a water development program for the west that he himself describes as "stupendous" and "costly." Just how costly is a bit indefinite right now, but in 1946 the estimate was roughly 18 billions of dollars. It would be higher now, but it is designed to be self-liquidating.

The essence of the Hurley plan is to impound the waters of the upper Missouri and upper Mississippi rivers—the same waters that almost annually ravage the lower reaches by flooding—and direct it to the thirsty areas of the southwest. Presumably this would mean tunnels, ditches, pumping on a grandiose scale, unrivaled in history. He also would return the silt and top soil from the lowlands to the highlands.

Whether General Hurley's specific program is the best solution to the problem of reclaiming the wastelands is not known to laymen such as we. However, we emphatically agree with the general that what is needed is a long-range broad-shouldered permanent program "if we are to escape the disasters that have fallen the Old World."

Of necessity we are dribbling away millions of dollars in small-scale irrigation and flood control projects. But it is time that those with vision, knowledge and daring conceive a master project which eventually will provide a permanent solution to the waste of water and soil resources without which this nation cannot survive.—The New Mexican.

KING COTTON FLOURISHES Old King Cotton is coming into his own again in the Pecos Valley, and indications are that when the crop is all gathered in sometime in December that the Christmas will be green, instead of white; that is, green with folding money.

With 36,000 bales ginned up to date, the prospect is now that the total harvest will run 61,000 bales, or about 10,000 above the 1931 production figures.

Furthermore, quality is running good, and where grading has been satisfactory, growers have been able to realize a good price for their crop.

This crop is one of the big money producers in the county, and the whole Pecos Valley, and its importance to the economy of the region is obvious in the size of the crop, and its market value. Furthermore as crop production is measured in terms of the life of farming here and elsewhere, cotton is a comparatively new crop in the valley, and is now seeing its best days.

Time was that cotton was looked down upon as a crop that not only wasted the soil, but turned its growers into comparative peons. That was in sections where it was the main, and sometimes only, farm production.

In bad market times growers did live a hard life, and there was some reason for the crop to come into bad repute.

Growers in the valley, however, have not turned to the ten-acre program of production, and neither have they turned all their acres into one crop. They've practiced good business, and scattered their eggs into many baskets. But cotton still fills the largest one, and it probably will continue to do so as long as it is profitable. Fortunately, our growers are prepared to get away from it when the time comes, for it isn't tradition here.—Roswell Record.

Members of the city water board, Mayor Walker Bryan, and City Clerk Holt McMinn are on the right track, in our opinion, in their efforts to increase the city water supply now.

The rapid growth of Carlsbad the past few years has presented a serious problem in providing sufficient water for municipal purposes.

The city apparently has lost a planned $7,000,000 power plant expansion project, primarily because water is not available for the necessary cooling operations.

The water shortage has not been apparent to the average citizen, because there has been no rationing yet. But the truth is, the city is pumping at capacity allowable under state water laws; and unless supplemental water is obtained, we very likely will face water rationing in the summer months within the next two years.

City officials have taken up the matter with state and federal officials, and it is to be hoped that municipal water resources can be increased in some way.—Current-Argus.

STATE LIQUOR BOARD We think Gov. Edwin L. Me-

THOUGHTS IN PRINT—

Critics Urge Care in Adopting Fluoride Against Tooth Decay

SHOULD FLUORIDES BE added to public drinking water to help reduction of tooth decay, especially among children?

The question is being debated in hundreds of town meetings and city councils throughout the United States. Robert C. Cowen, natural science writer for the Christian Science Monitor, reports.

Cowen states four main points of controversy in the discussion: 1.—Is enough yet known about fluoridation to enable water experts to proceed with certainty that it is safe and really will work?

2.—Is treating the water supply the best or most desirable way to introduce the fluorides? 3.—Does fluoridation amount to medication with attendant implications of compulsory mass treatment and socialized medicine?

4.—Is it the public or private commercial interests who stand to gain the most from adoption of fluoride water treatment?

Rate of tooth decay seems to be less among persons drinking water containing a certain amount of natural fluoride than among those drinking fluoride-free water, some experts say. It was first discovered during investigations into the cause of mottled teeth in the late 1920's. In addition to being mottled, these teeth showed a marked resistance to decay.

On the basis of renewed experiments since 1945, experts say chem's proposal for a non-partisan appointive board to regulate the liquor industry is a good one should be adopted by the state legislature next January.

The governor made the same proposal two years ago, but the last legislature—which was strongly controlled by the Democrats—refused to enact proper legislation. Instead, the legislature came up with a hybrid board of control vested in other elective officers, including the state school superintendent; and the governor quite properly vetoed it.

We should, by all means, end the one-man control of the liquor industry and establish a board responsive to the rights of the public and the industry itself.—Current-Argus.

Our god old government has come through at last. In all its benevolence and magnificent efforts in behalf of the housewife, the U. S. Labor Department now reports a two-tenths of one per cent drop in the cost of living during the month ending Sept. 15.

What have Uncle Sam's children done to deserve such a reward? The latest report shows living costs have advanced 12.1 per cent since the Korean war, in July, 1950, and 5 per cent since wage and price controls were imposed Jan. 1, 1951.—Albuquerque Journal.

COFFEE TALK—

Bill Is Safe for Another Year—Coffee Take Collection, Buy New License

BILL, THE TOWN DOG, WAS licensed prior to the city's crack-down on stray dogs. The big tan mongrel with the long tail and pointed nose is a familiar sight up and down Main street, and exists through handouts from restaurants and an occasional thoughtful friend. The $1 for Bill's license was raised through a police department collection.

WE DOUBT ANY OTHER newspaper in New Mexico has published an advertisement similar to that inserted in Friday's Artesia Advocate by Howard Whitson of Artesia Laundry and Cleaners. The ad gave brief biographical sketches of all candidates for both major political parties—the non-partisan idea was carried right down to the last equal fraction of an inch for both sides. We believe Whitson has started an idea which may be duplicated in the state come the next political haggles two years hence.

WE ASKED THE CHAMBER of Commerce what happened following publication of a story in the Advocate a week ago to the effect the chamber was broke and forced to borrow $2,000 on the signature of its directors. The chamber said it was besieged with telephone calls from members wanting to check if their dues were paid. But, says C of C Mgr. Bob Koonce, those who called were the ones who had paid their bills. However, he has concluded that public has a right to know financial details of C of C operations and should be informed if the chamber wants support.

THERE WAS AN ADVERTISEMENT the other day in one of the slick magazines by a power company about its service to the "middle Southwest." This is a hybrid region new to us, but raises an old question: What is the Southwest? We had considered Oklahoma, Texas, New Mexico and Arizona as making up the region. Some say this is a purist definition which ignores Colorado and Utah. That blurb about the middle Southwest included Arkansas, Kansas, Missouri, and Oklahoma.

V. P. "BILL" SHELDON, who offered to become a candidate for state senator at a GOP rally here last spring when it appeared there was no Republican county slate and no Artesia candidates, is truly the secret candidate of today's election. Although widely experienced in oil work, his talents have not been forcibly presented by anyone, least of all Sheldon himself. An attempt to garner an interview with Bill resulted in continuous reports that he was and is working on an oil well out around Maljamar doing a great deal of other work, leaving him little time politicking, even if he were inclined to do so.

PAT HURLEY, FOR V. P. Artesia GOP leaders could ter a crowd of only about a Friday in the hot sun beat the lawn in front of the Ves building, put everyone at with a story about a sparse gathering. He recalled had been appointed to FDR inet shortly before returning home to Boggy Bottoms. He scheduled to speak at a house meeting 15 miles from parent's home, but a real nip out a fierce snowstorm only 12 or 15 friends showed. Hurley didn't know whether he'd be complimented or im when the toastmaster introduced him by saying, "The size of crowd wouldn't even do credit a lesser speaker than Pat Hurley. However, we couldn't find and so here is Pat Hurley."

JUST AFTER THE P. I. about across the page was about New Mexico Magazine received the latest copy of Trails in the mail. It is the we have seen, and puts NY thoroughly to shame. Fine pictures with plenty of manship showing in the plus well-written, interesting and varied features make something to be proud of. We know there's the talk make NM magazine truly were it given the money to ate with.

NOSEY JOE, AN friend of Amarillo Daily editor Wes Izzard, writes: Adlai and Dean can pretty words. The former can also funny. A great team to deal the Russian bear. That is, if the bear is bunny.
