

This Is Artesia

Civic-minded Artesians have laid the foundation for a beautiful display of decorations here next Christmas. Those of you who haven't had the opportunity to take part in the program thus far can help by supporting the fund drive when it begins. A kickoff meeting will be held tomorrow.

Tornado-Like Windstorm Rips into Carlsbad

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Violent wind storm lashed Carlsbad early last night. Inches of rain was dumped on the southern New Mexico town just over half an hour, and heavy hail added to the deluge.

Property damage was estimated from $100,000 to $500,000. There were no injuries reported.

Carlsbad had a large share of Mexico's weather yesterday in the day it was the hottest point, with 102 degrees.

Shower Due
Late afternoon showers reported over northern New Mexico. The showers were expected to continue over the state tomorrow, with little change in temperatures.

Streets Flooded
Downpour of rain flooded streets in some parts of the city from curb to curb and into some basements. The trapped down television aerials damaged at least one roof. Worst damage, however, was by the wind-whipped rain.

Carlsbad CAA official said the storm as "being on the edge of a small tornado."

Junior Rodeo Will Become Annual Event

Jim Williams, chairman of Artesia's first West of the Pecos Junior Rodeo, said today that plans are being made to make the rodeo an annual event.

He said: "The rodeo was very successful and we think it will be wise to plan on holding it every year."

Between 2,500 and 3,000 persons attended the rodeo on Saturday night and Sunday afternoon. Of this estimated number, about 2,000 attended Saturday's performance. The heat was blamed for the lower attendance on Sunday.

Williams said it will be Thursday night before the amount of money made from the rodeo will be known.

"We are working on the books now," he said, "and will probably know how much we cleared by Thursday night. The money will be used to start a fund for the purpose of financing next year's rodeo."

The winner of the calf-riding event was erroneously reported. It should have been Ed Crawley who won top honors in the 10-12 age division in that event.

Copper and Steel Industries Face Thursday Strike

WASHINGTON (AP)—A strike in the nation's copper industry is threatened at midnight Thursday—the deadline for a nationwide steel strike.

Strikers in either or both industries would quickly dent industrial production, because both metals are in short supply. Copper, particularly, has been so scarce the government has been diverting deliveries intended for its war stockpile to relieve industry hardship cases.

Approximately 80,000 members of the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers Union, Inc., employed by the Kennecott, Anaconda, Phelps-Dodge and American Smelting and refining companies are poised for a Thursday midnight strike.

Most of the mines and smelting plants are in Western states.

The CIO steelworkers union has reauthorized a strike against basic steel producers on Thursday midnight. Approximately 600,000 workers are involved but the union has hinted they may not strike at all companies at once.

Jubilee Leaders Check Brownfield Celebration Plans

Paul Scott, manager of the Artesia Chamber of Commerce, Bill Bennett, coordinator of the Golden Anniversary celebration slated here in August, and Tommy Brown, Jr., chairman of the Lions Club whistler contest, left this morning for Brownfield, Tex., near Lubbock, to meet with people in that city who were connected with the Texas town's 50th year celebration, held last year.

The three Artesia men will talk to Brownfield residents and study methods used for staging last year's celebration there.

School Bonds Bid

A special school board meeting was held Monday afternoon for the purpose of deciding the disposition of the $250,000 school bonds. It was decided to put them up for public bid on five year maturity plan.

Order Suspect Caught By Law

WILSON, Tex. (AP)—Texas Capt. Hardy Purvis said today that the identification man sought in the triple slaying of Dickinson "would be identified."

He also disclosed that the weapon was a .22 rifle, .38-caliber pistol as authorized thought earlier.

Developments today followed announcement last night that the slaying probably was the motive for the slaying of Mrs. Ruby Peterson, her 12-year-old son and mother.

She still have been unable to identify a young hitchhiker whom Mrs. McPherson, wife of the drilling firm official, saw Wednesday night.

House Group Gives Approval To Four-State River Project

$760 Million Plan Gets OK Less One Dam

WASHINGTON (AP)—The House Interior Affairs Committee today approved a bill to authorize a $760 million upper Colorado River project.

The vote was 20-6. Two weeks ago the project measure was approved by the House reclamation subcommittee, 18-6. The membership of the subcommittee is the same as that of the committee which acted today.

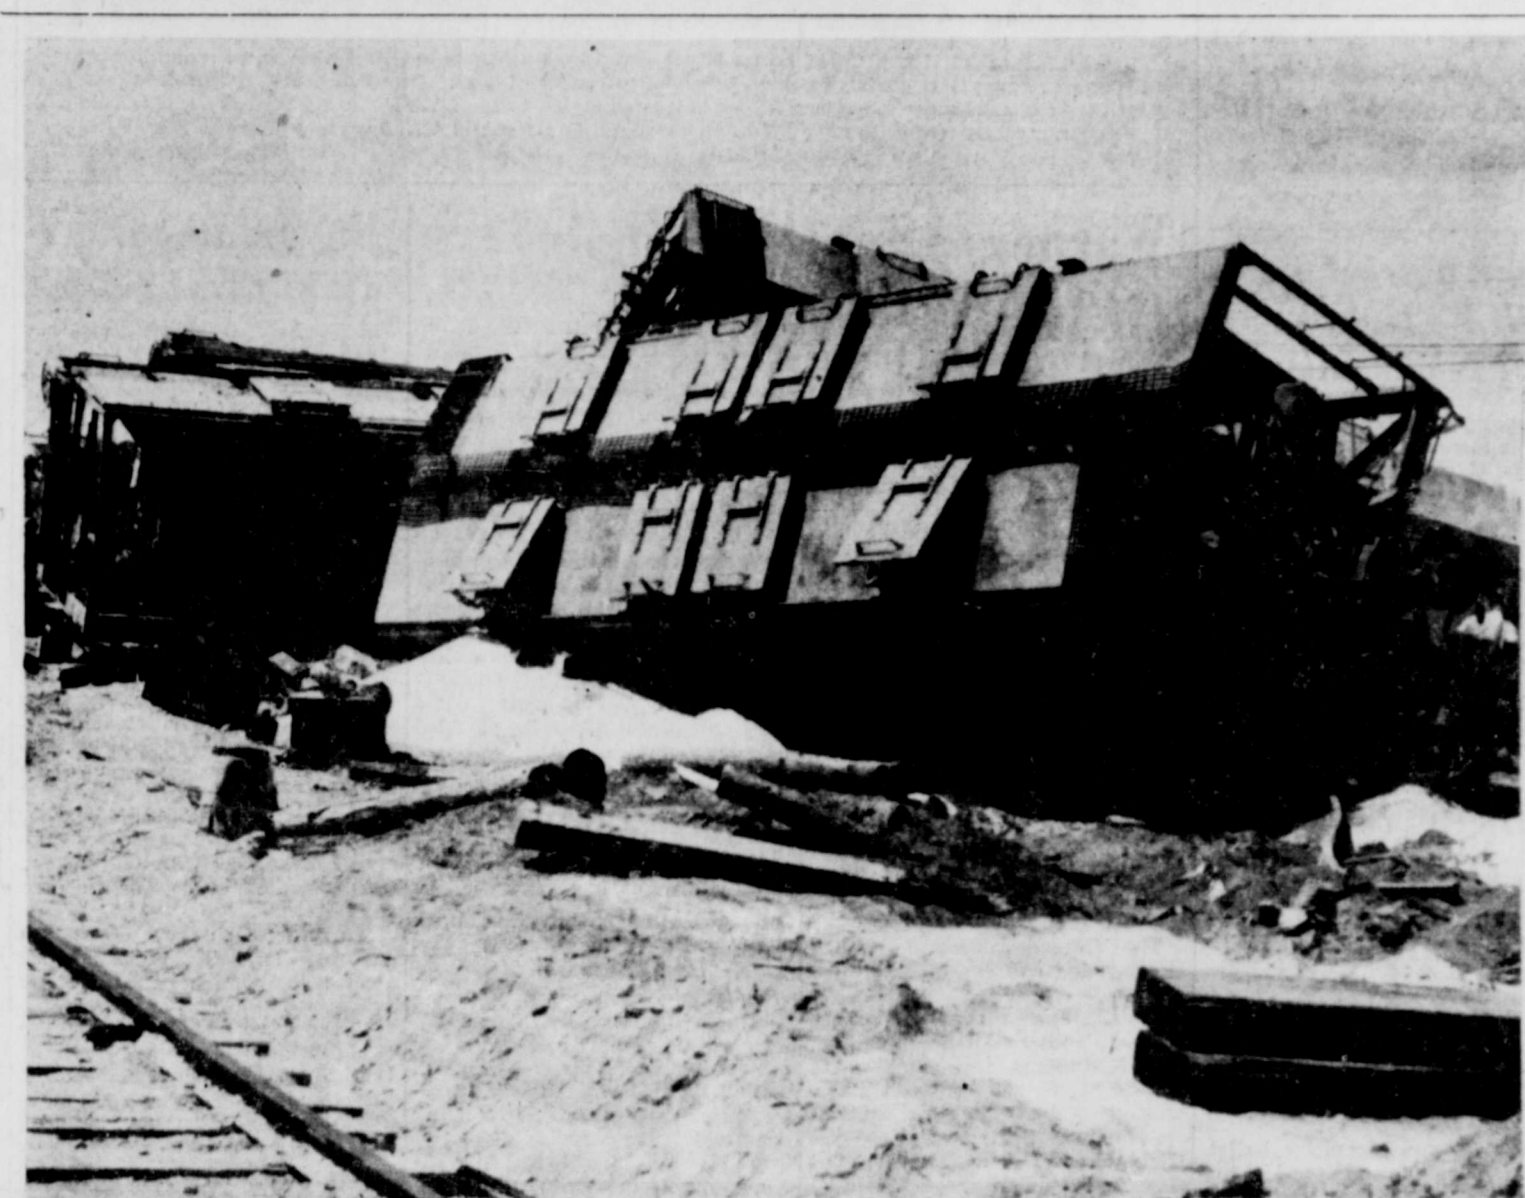

The full committee eliminated all mention of the controversial Echo Park Dam in the bill.

By a vote of 19-6 it rejected a provision approved by the reclamation subcommittee which would have authorized the appointment by the President of a board of impartial engineers to make a further study of the Echo Park an alternative dam site.

This commission would have been required to report to Congress by Dec. 31, 1958.

Elimination of Echo Park Dam from the bill constituted the main difference between the committee's version of the legislation and a similar bill already approved by the Senate.

The Senate bill includes Echo Park and would authorize dams and irrigation units in the states of Colorado, Arizona, New Mexico, Wyoming and Utah having a total estimated cost of slightly more than one billion dollars.

But Hay Day of Boom Is Over

The uranium hunt in ranging fodder and fodder afield. Now it's radio-active hay. For awhile it looked like this area might be the scene of a new uranium rush after an ore-hungry prospector driving near San Antonio, Tex., suddenly saw the geiger counter in his car go crazy.

The prospector, who is yet unidentified, went back and forth over his route without a peep out of the buzzing contraption until he drove alongside a huge hay truck.

Then the gimmick almost went off the pin. He stopped the driver and found out that the hay had come from the Hazel Mills farms 13 miles north of Artesia.

The next morning the prospector was at the Mills farm, geiger counter clutched in his tight little fist.

Back and forth over the alfalfa fields he ranged. But no radioactivity in the ground. He did get a good reading from some cut hay which hadn't been shipped and the conclusion—radioactive rain fallout.

Uranium Hunt Goes Fodder Afield Near Artesia

Agricultural experts are checking to see if the radiation content is of a dangerous level to livestock.

Meanwhile the prospector has sadly returned to Texas and more fertile fields—for uranium, that is.

And Artesia's hay day of ore booming is over.

Former State Official Bound Over To High Court in Accident Case

HOBBS (AP)—Joseph Charles Bergere, 48, of Santa Fe late yesterday was bound over to district court for trial on charges of driving while intoxicated and failure to render aid in an accident.

Bergere, former head of the state schools tax division, is charged in connection with an accident that critically injured Sammy McCallum, 11-year-old Hobbs boy, the night of June 7. Sammy was unconscious for six days.

Peace Justice Robert L. Bensing ordered bond continued at $1,500 for Bergere following a lengthy hearing in which the defendant's attorney twice moved unsuccessfully for dismissal of the charges.

A charge of hit-and-run driving, filed with the other two when Bergere was arrested, had been dropped before the hearing.

President Signs Worker Pay Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today signed the bill raising the pay of 1,073,262 federal employees 7 1/2 per cent or an average of about $325 a year.

Enactment of the measure completes a round of U. S. pay increases voted at this session totaling about 1 1/4 billion dollars. The bill signed today covers 983,057 classified Civil Service employees throughout the nation and 90,205 other in various government agencies with separate pay systems.

Dulles Blames Trigger Happy Russian Pilots

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles today blamed "trigger happy" Russian pilots for the shooting down of an American Navy patrol plane off Alaska last week.

"So far, we doubt that represents a considered policy on the part of the Soviet Union," Dulles said. "Certainly, we hope not."

Dulles statement, in effect deprecating the significance of the plane incident, came at a news conference. He and President Eisenhower had talked over the affair during a plane trip last night from Maine to Washington. (Continued on page four.)

Main Rail Line Reopened Today Following Wreck

The Main line of the Santa Fe railroad is back in operations here today 48 hours after fourteen cars, loaded with potash, derailed in the first major train wreck in the history of the city.

The wreck is believed to have been caused by a "hot box" or burning wheel journal, part of the axle. The journal dropped off about two miles south of the accident site.

The 16th car behind the engines and 13 behind it were the ones to leave the tracks. The side of the 16th car dropped down, throwing the other cars off the tracks with (Continued on page four)

Roswell Driver Pays Two Fines After Accident

James Pagan of Roswell paid two fines amounting to $30 in Judge John Elliott's city court here this morning. Pagan was fined $25 for reckless driving and $5 for driving without a driver's license.

The fines came as a result of a two-car collision here Sunday at 3:10 p. m., at the intersection of Roselawn and Quay. Police said Pagan, driving a pickup truck, ran a stop sign and crashed into the left side of a car driven by Eugene Irby, 16, of Artesia. Police said Irby was making a left turn at the time of the collision.

The Irby vehicle sustained an estimated $50 in damages. Pagan's truck was only slightly damaged, police said, about $10.

Governor's Traffic Safety Council Warns New Mexico Motorists to 'Slow Down and Live' on Fourth of July

New Mexico motorists will be warned on all sides to "Slow Down and Live" this Fourth of July weekend.

All branches of the communications industry are contributing time, talents and materials to this life-saving drive in cooperation with the Governor's Traffic Safety Co-ordinating Committee.

The "Slow Down and Live" message will be presented in scores of forms to catch both the eyes and ears of the motorist... at home and in his car.

Newspapers will emphasize the high cost of speed in news and advertising columns. Radio and television stations will sound warnings at all times of the day. And members of the Outdoor Advertising Association of New Mexico are contributing emphatic "Don't Be a Hurry-Bug" signs in 50 strategically-located city and highway sites.

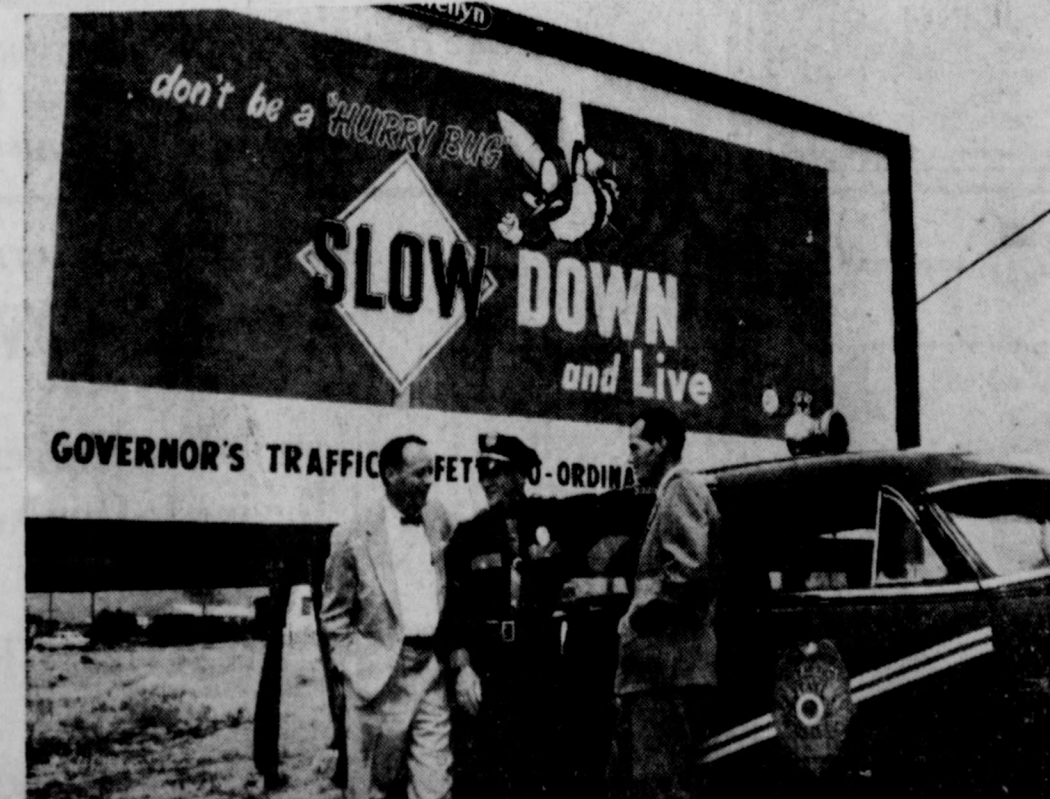

The campaign—aimed specially toward heavy holiday traffic periods like this weekend—will continue all summer, and the Governor's Committee is hoping that safe-driving habits will continue the rest of the year.

The Committee and State Police Chief Joe Roach, are working jointly with the Outdoor Advertising Association in choosing the 50 billboard locations in the most heavily traveled areas of the state, particularly at points where accident rates are high. The Association is providing the colorful and emphatic posters and the board space free of charge.

"If these reminders can prevent one accident, we will feel the effort is worth-while," says Gordon Melody of Las Vegas, OAA president.

Governor John Simms said that State Police will be extra vigilant this holiday weekend, and added, "It is the prime responsibility of every motorist to protect his own life during the peak driving days ahead. By doing that — by being a 'defensive' driver who constantly assumes his fellow motorists are idiots — he will save other lives as well. Speeders, reckless drivers and just plain thoughtless drivers will get precious little sympathy from our enforcement officers in the days ahead. We are determined to continue to improve our highway fatality record."

This was heartily endorsed by Jesse Holmes, new director of the Governor's Safety Committee, and he added, "The Committee greatly appreciates the co-operation of all of the various agencies dedicated to a lower traffic toll, and all of us who live through the Fourth of July weekend should appreciate it. We are determined to make 'Slow Down and Live' the most effective safe-driving campaign in the state's history."

DISCUSSING safety measures to be taken this Fourth of July weekend are: Governor John F. Simms, State Police Chief Joe Roach, and Jesse Holmes, new director of the Governor's Traffic Safety Co-ordinating Committee. In the background is one of the 50 five-sheet posters being donated by the state's "Slow Down and Live Campaign" by members of the Outdoor Advertising Association of New Mexico.

Warners Launches Filming Of Its Television Series

By BOB THOMAS HOLLYWOOD (AP)—This week Warner Brothers launched the filming of its TV series Kings Row part of its bold venture into the home-screen medium. Warners, once a fierce holdout against TV, is now embracing the field with a difference formula. Columbia has specialized in half-hour story films, as will 20th Century Fox. Disney has gone in for hour long variety shows, using old and new footage.

Warners has taken the characters and locales of three successful films — "Kings Row," "Casablanca" and "Cheyenne." These will be featured in brand-new stories of an hour's length. Thirteen of each series will be made this year, and they'll alternate on ABC Tuesday evenings.

Paul Stewart was directing the first of Kings Row this week. He's the able actor who appeared in "The Window," "Champion" and many other films. This is not his first fling at direction. He has done several plays and was under contract to Paramount as a director, though he never got an assignment.

"I also directed my own TV series in the East," he said. "I did a 15-minute show called 'Top Secret.' We did 26 films in 25 days, so you can see I'm used to making deadlines."

Stewart proudly displayed the Kings Row sets, which fill stage 16 on the Warner lot.

"Everything is done in the authentic 1945 era," he remarked. "Some of the stuff is fabulous. I'd estimate we have $30,000 worth of furnishings here. Then we have an exterior set on the back lot of a Midwestern town."

The two Artesians have enrolled in the speech school.

Daydreams Don't Make Much Sense In Later Years

By HAL BOYLE NEW YORK (AP)—Curbstone reflections of a Pavement Plato.

One trouble with life is a fellow gets too old to feel at ease while wearing a Davy Crockett hat in public. He no longer can openly act out his daydreams.

So his fantasies go underground in his mind. And they stay there, itching him mentally, for years, and years.

In time they gradually grow smaller and smaller in scale. Haven't yours? Can't you remember when maybe you dreamed of running into a burning building and rescuing a beautiful lady? Or of robbing a great liner in mid-ocean and escaping by motor boat. Or of finding $100,000 in the street?

Today none of those daydreams probably flicker through your head. They don't even make sense as daydreams after 40.

If the loveliest woman in the world leaned her head out the window of a flaming dwelling, I'd merely stand there on the pavement and help her yell "help!" I know my limitations. I wouldn't run up a flight of steps now to rescue anything except my social security card—and it would have to be in terrible peril at that.

In middle age a man no longer pictures himself in his daydreams as a great hero or a great rascal. He realizes he no longer has the desire or energy to be either.

His dreams of glory come down to small daily dramas in which he sees himself mastering some ordinary social situation that has always frustrated him before.

For example, he has just got a haircut. The barber holds up a perfunctory mirror and says, "Okay?"

"For 500 times in a row in the last 20 years the victim has meekly murmured, 'uh-huh,' and paid. But in his daydream he suddenly rebels and says:

"No, it certainly isn't okay, Tony. You got it parted wrong. There are at least eight hairs too long on the right side. And I told you to lift the sideburns, and you didn't. Want me to look like a sheepdog? Now get out your scissors and do the job right — for once!"

The abashed barber bends anew to his task. When he is finished, our little hero steps from his chair with a crisp, "That's better!" As he swaggers from the shop the other customers break into admiring applause.

Palace Drug Monthly News

A message from Fred and Jim, 'Your Pharmacists' IN YOUR PRESCRIPTIONS are medicines that are the results of much research and study by Pharmaceutical chemists, Scientists, and Health foundations.

BY LECTURES, DIRECT MAIL, and articles in Medical journals, we Pharmacists and Physicians are informed about these new drugs and as soon as they are available a supply is sent to our prescription department.

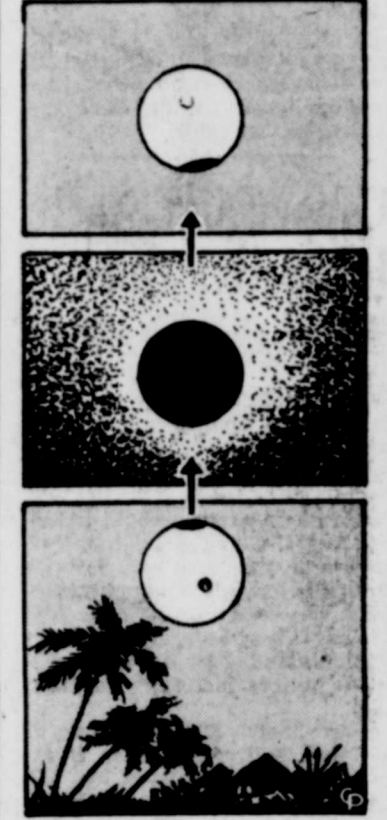

DURING 1954 MORE THAN 430 MILLION DOLLARS was spent for the research and informative publicity necessary before these new drugs could be ready for prescription use.

LAST YEAR OVER 400 MILLION PRESCRIPTIONS were compounded, and in the price you paid for your prescriptions, this research expense averaged about $1 per prescription. Of necessity it is part of the wholesale costs of the price we pay for the ingredients of the prescriptions we compound.

IT IS A TRIBUTE to Pharmacy, and the American free enterprise system that more than 50% of the prescriptions we compound for you cost you less than $2, and the average charge for all prescriptions we compound is less than $3.00.

Early-Starting Big Spring Steamrollers Over Artesia 9-4 Behind Art Dicesare Top Hurling

SPORTS

New Longhorn Strike-Out Record Set

SPRING — Art Dicesare set a new Longhorn League record for strikeouts as Big Spring steamrolled Artesia, 9-4, here last night.

The right-handed rookie from Bronx, N. Y., fanned 18 of the batters on his way to his ninth straight success of the season.

An old record of 17 was set by the Rodriguez of the 1948 Big Spring club against Vernon.

Dicesare retired the side on six in the second, fourth and fifth innings.

He was helped by home runs on part of Bob and Floyd Martin and Jim Zapp.

Martin's eighth roundtrip of the year came in the third two on. Floyd Martin got his same round, his third of the season, with Huck Doe on base.

Zapp waited until the seventh to get his 21st of the season and it was a solo blast.

Howard rapped his 21st of the season for Artesia in the fifth, the blow coming with the bases deserted.

Spring struck for six runs in the third inning on the strength of four-masters by the Martins and never trailed there.

Giant Players and Fans Convinced Flag Is Lost

NEW YORK — The New York Giants had just won a pregame home-hitting contest from the Yankees when a Giant player muttered half under his breath.

"That's about the only thing this club can win."

It is an opinion shared by many Giants, who individually, are trying as hard as ever but collectively have given up and conceded the 1955 flag to the Brooklyn Dodgers.

The opinion was confirmed when the Yankees went on to win the exhibition game with the Giants 4-1.

The Giants may not be dead but they are through. The players know it and so does Manager Leo Durocher. The worst part of it is, the players have become resigned to it. They can't wait for the season to come to a merciful end.

Durocher stubbornly refused to admit it before last night's game. For the record, he pointed out that the season had not even reached the halfway mark but he shook his head sadly when asked whether the team was capable of pulling off another miracle such as that of 1951.

"The club is at its lowest ebb right now," he said. "Everything is going wrong for us. Nothing we do turns out right. When the players don't foul it up, I do."

"Right now I'd have to say we're as bad as in our worst days in 1953 when the Giants finished in the second division. Nobody is hitting. Our defense is terrible and our pitching, except for Sal Maglie, is bad. What mystifies me the most, however, is our total futility at the plate. The only guys who are doing any hitting at all are Whit Lockman and Don Mueller. If it weren't for them, I'd be damned if we'd made more than three hits a game."

300th Home Run

STAM MUSIAL of the St. Louis Cardinals holds up the bat with which he made his 300th home run of his career. This action took place in a game with the Brooklyn Dodgers. It was Musial's eighth homer this season.

Mighty Babe Zaharias Back On Greens After Operation

GALVESTON, Tex. — Babe Zaharias, 42, and recovering from her second operation in a little more than two years, looked toward a return to golf today. Her doctors think it will be three months but the way the great woman athlete operates, it'll probably be sooner.

"I don't intend to retire until I meet somebody who is better than I am," she said with the same old confidence that has marked her fabulous career in sports over a period of 25 years. She added thoughtfully: "I haven't found that person yet."

In 1953 the indomitable Babe underwent an operation for cancer in golf and winning. Then, last Wednesday she had another operation, this time to correct a ruptured spinal disc. The Babe got it while trying to jack a car out of the sand at Port Aransas, Tex.

Yesterday, surgeons removed stitches from the incision and she said she would be using her club again "as soon as my doctor says I can."

"I love golfing more than anything in the world — next to George," she said, patting her husband, George Zaharias, the former wrestler, on the head.

The Babe looked good and other than the loss of some sun tan appeared about like she did while roaming the country winning the golf tournaments.

She will be discharged from the hospital by the end of the week but, will take therapy on her legs for three weeks. Nerves were damaged in her leg.

Mrs. Zaharias started in every sport she ever tried, was a sensation in the 1932 Olympic games, became one of the greatest golfers of all time and made a fortune out of the links game. She was named woman athlete of the year several times and was picked as the greatest woman athlete of the half-century.

NuMexers Play At Home on July Fourth

The Artesia-Hobbs baseball game, slated to be played here June 30, will instead be played at Hobbs, Steve Lanning, president of the local club, said today.

Lanning said the NuMexers owe a game to Hobbs.

Another schedule change, announced by Lanning, is one which will bring Midland here July 2, at which time the Fourth of July celebration, staged each year by the club, will be held.

"This year's celebration and fireworks display will be bigger than ever before," Lanning said.

The borrowed date will be repaid to Midland on July 6, Lanning said.

"In other words, we are just exchanging dates so that we can be in Artesia around the Fourth to put on our annual celebration for the people of the city," he said.

The NuMexers will return from their road trip Wednesday, and will clash with the Sports at the Artesia field, beginning at 7:00 p.m.

They will be in Hobbs Thursday, at Midland Friday, and back here against Midland Saturday.

Brooks Back To Old Pace As NL Bosses

If it's any consolation to the rest of the National League, Brooklyn is back to normal again. The Dodgers aren't winning any more games these days than they did in the past three seasons.

Trouble is, of course, that the Brooks won the pennant in two of the last three years.

The Dodgers have been playing .720 ball for June. That's about the same winning percentage they enjoyed in 1952, when they won, and in '54, when they lost. They traveled at a .724 clip for June in both years.

Last year it proved too slow a pace. The New York Giants raced along at an .857 clip, taking the lead for good in June.

In '52, the Brooks moved past the Giants into first place during June and had a 3 1/2-game lead at the end of the month. They made it two straight the following year, although barely above .500 for June. Neither of the contenders at the time—Milwaukee and St. Louis—did much better, however.

This time, though, the Brooks have that bid edge they piled up in April and May to lead the second-place Chicago Cubs by 12 1/2 games. The Cubs, incidentally, have played just .444 ball for the month yet have stayed a half game up on Milwaukee.

The Braves have been winning at a .640 pace—their best June since shifting to Milwaukee—but they've had to come from way back.

In the American league, the second-place Chicago White Sox and the Boston Red Sox have been the winningest teams this month —each with a .708 percentage. But they haven't been able to make up for bad starts and still have ground to close on the New York Yankees.

The Yanks have been winning at a 2-out-of-3 pace for the month (.667) making sure to grab the big ones. They have a three-game lead on the runner-up White Sox. The Red Sox, much like the Braves in the National, were back in the next county when they started to pickup and are 11 games back in fifth place.

The Cleveland Indians have their 28 June games and trail the Yanks by six.

By comparison, the Tribe played .690 ball in June when they set the league record with 111 victories last season to take the flag.

No games were scheduled yesterday.

Joey Maxim Faces Do-or-Die Battle With Pastrano Tonight

NEW ORLEANS — Former light-heavyweight champion Joey Maxim stands at boxing's crossroads tonight when he sends his aging legs in pursuit of promising newcomer Willie Pastrano of New Orleans.

The one-time light-heavy king from Cleveland must win tonight to stay in the top of the division. Willy Willie's record includes 31 triumphs, 4 losses and 5 draws.

J. T. Owen, vice president of the promoting Louisiana Boxing Enterprises, said he looked for a $40,000 gate for the bout. Joey has been guaranteed $15,000; Pastrano will pick up $7,500. The bout will not be televised or broadcast.

Joey's prestige, he still is ranked No. 3 contender.

The 20-year-old Pastrano, who wears his wedding ring on a shoelace as a good luck token, has nothing to lose and everything to win. Unranked in the division's top 10, Pastrano could jump among leading contenders with a victory.

Midland Gets Within One Game of Lead

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Midland Indians climbed to within one full game of the top of the Longhorn League standings Monday night as they outlasted Roswell and pace-setting Artesia in a record-breaking pitching performance.

Artesia fell 9-4 to Big Spring and rookie hurler Art Di Cesare. Di Cesare wrote a new line into the Longhorn record book by fanning 18.

Midland crept up with a wild 17-15 victory over Roswell.

In the only other game, Odessa smacked Hobbs 11-5.

San Angelo at Carlsbad was washed out by a terrific wind-rain-hail storm that caused between $100,000 and $500,000 property damage to the city.

The clubs all stay in the same locations Tuesday night.

Party Differences

THERE are always some party difficulties—that is between the political parties—underway in this nation of ours. Sometimes it is on the national level; sometimes the state level; and other times the county level.

But the differences prevail; the members argue among themselves; they make demands and there are always those who can find that affairs are not run to suit them.

Sometimes those registering their complaints are right and just and they are merely demanding better service for the American people. Other times those complaining are seeking more patronage for the party and they are not at all concerned as to what kind of service is given to the people.

We have argued before and we continue to believe that what the nation needs is two good, strong parties in every state of the union. We believe that it would be far better for all citizens, taxpayers and for the voters if the outcome of every election were in doubt because of the equal voting power of both parties.

Both parties have fine, upright American citizens that are more interested in their party serving the nation than they are in serving their political party. Both parties have those members more interested in serving their party than serving the nation.

Members of both parties are loyal, American citizens supposedly vitally interested in serving their country and not just their party.

But to some politics have become a profession and the profession must pay an adequate salary. Often times that has to be in patronage or control of affairs. Sometimes we can get more concerned about the pay or the patronage than we are about the welfare of the country.

That is never good for the nation, a state or a community.

Political parties are formed and organized to provide office seekers. Our form of government provides for more than one party—there have only been two with any strength for a good many years—the Democrats and the Republicans. Both party members make serious mistakes; they claim credit even though no credit is due; they condemn one another; they shout loud and long all for political purposes and to try and sell their party to the voters of our nation. Most of us discount all the boasting and bragging about 50 per cent.

However, we are firmly convinced that if we had two strong parties in our own county, our own state and in our own nation the competition for public office would be greater—the result would be more service for the people and less for the political parties.

President Can Take Comfort From Victory

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower can take enormous comfort from the clobbering Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) recently took not because it was McCarthy, but from the significance of the clobbering.

The Senate smashed 77-4 a proposal by McCarthy which would have interfered with, if it didn't wreck, Eisenhower's dealings with the Russians in the Big Four meeting in July.

The vote was, in effect, an expression of confidence by an overwhelming number of senators of both parties in letting Eisenhower use his own judgment at the meeting in Geneva.

Only four Republicans, including McCarthy, voted for the proposal. All the Democrats and other Republicans on the floor at the time joined forces in refusing to tell Eisenhower what he should do or handcuff him before he started.

This was the kind of bipartisan support presidents dream about but which few get on the eve of the kind of negotiations Eisenhower faces.

McCarthy's defeat was engineered by Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, Democratic leader of the Senate. Standing right beside him was Sen. Knowland of California, the Republicans' Senate leader.

Eisenhower has received more cooperation from the Democrats on foreign policy since they took over in January than he got from his own Republicans in the two previous years when they ran the Senate.

For in those two years the Eisenhower administration's handling of foreign policy was under constant attack by McCarthy. And even Knowland repeatedly and publicly differed with the President. Knowland hasn't been doing that lately.

The cooperation given Eisenhower by the Democrats in the foreign field is particularly conspicuous when compared with the constant criticism heaped on his Democratic predecessor Harry Truman by the Republicans.

McCarthy proposed that the Senate tell Eisenhower to demand of Russia, before the Big Four meeting, an agreement to discuss the question of Communist control in countries in Asia and Europe.

If the Senate went along with McCarthy—and if Eisenhower let the Senate dictate to him how to handle foreign affairs and made the demand on the Russians—the latter probably would have refused any meeting. If, by the far-fetched chance they agreed, they in turn could make demands on Eisenhower.

Johnson said McCarthy was trying to put Eisenhower in a straitjacket. McCarthy suddenly introduced his suggestion Monday and wanted fast action. Johnson said he'd get it. He sent the proposal to the Senate's Foreign Relations committee at once.

On Tuesday that group, made up of Democrats and Republicans, condemned it 14-0. Then Johnson brought it out on the floor Wednesday. The vote that followed was a slaughter for McCarthy and a hearty pat on the back for Eisenhower.

Ike's Military Plan Approved

WASHINGTON — The House Armed Services Committee today approved 29-1 President Eisenhower's revamped military reserve program and sent it back to the House.

With three other members voting present, the committee approved the written measure allowing the Pentagon to expand the trained reserves by calling upon teen-agers willing to volunteer for reserve duty.

The revised measure won support from Rep. Short (R-Mo.), ranking GOP member of the committee and leading opponent of the original version.

Short said the new draft is not Universal Military Training because "there is no compulsion, it is purely voluntary."

In reply to questions, the secretary said the government has not decided yet whether to stick to its demand that Russia pay the full cost of the plane and provide reparations for seven crewmen who were wounded or injured in the crash landing.

Russia had expressed regret over the incident and has offered to pay half the cost of damages. The Navy estimates the plane's value at more than 1½ million dollars.

In talking to reporters, Dulles stressed the plane crash occurred at least 25 miles from Soviet territory, and well beyond the 12-mile limit Russia claims as its air space.

On other subjects Dulles told a new conference:

1—The shooting down of an American patrol bomber by Soviet fighters over the Bering Sea last week seems to have been a "trigger happy" incident — not something which "represents a considered policy on the part of the Soviet Union."

2—Dulles told Molotov at San Francisco that Russia should pay the full cost of the loss of the plane and reparations for injuries to 7 of the 11 crewmen. But Dulles does not yet know what the total bill will be, nor how the claim will be pressed.

3—The United States and Russia appear to be deadlocked over Russia's idea of holding a Far East conference, to include Red China as a participant, after the Geneva meeting. The United States feels Nationalist China should be present and Russia disagrees.

4—Dulles does not rule out the possibility of direct talks between the United States and Red China on some matters.

5—The United States would give very sympathetic consideration to a visit to the United States by Marshal Tito, president of Communist Yugoslavia, currently being wooed by Moscow after breaking with the Kremlin in 1948.

6—Dulles thinks it possible disarmament discussions at the summit conference may lead ultimately to reducing and balancing armaments between the Atlantic Allies and the Soviet bloc.

7—Dulles sees nothing to be gained by piling up non-aggression guarantees on top of each other. He thus discounted reports of U. S. interest in working out some European security system aimed solely at producing new promises not to attack.

8—If genuinely free elections could be arranged in Viet Nam, Dulles believes the Indochina country can be unified under a non-Communist government. But he indicated neither the United States nor South Viet Nam would accept elections not considered to be free.

9—The State and Justice Departments have been consulting on whether to contest a court decision that a citizen has a right to a passport unless it is denied him by judicial processes.

in an effort to show Bergere was the driver of the car that struck the McCallum boy as he sat on his motor scooter parked at the curb of a Hobbs street.

The defense called only one witness for brief questioning, although attorney J. W. Nyal questioned the others at length.

Shady Gauld, Hobbs postoffice employee, testified the car which struck Sammy was traveling "30 to 50 miles an hour, maybe more."

State Policeman Hoover Wimberly testified his investigation indicated the motor scooter was knocked 23 feet, that the car traveled 45 feet with one wheel on the curb before hitting the scooter, and that the car went 413 feet before stopping after the accident.

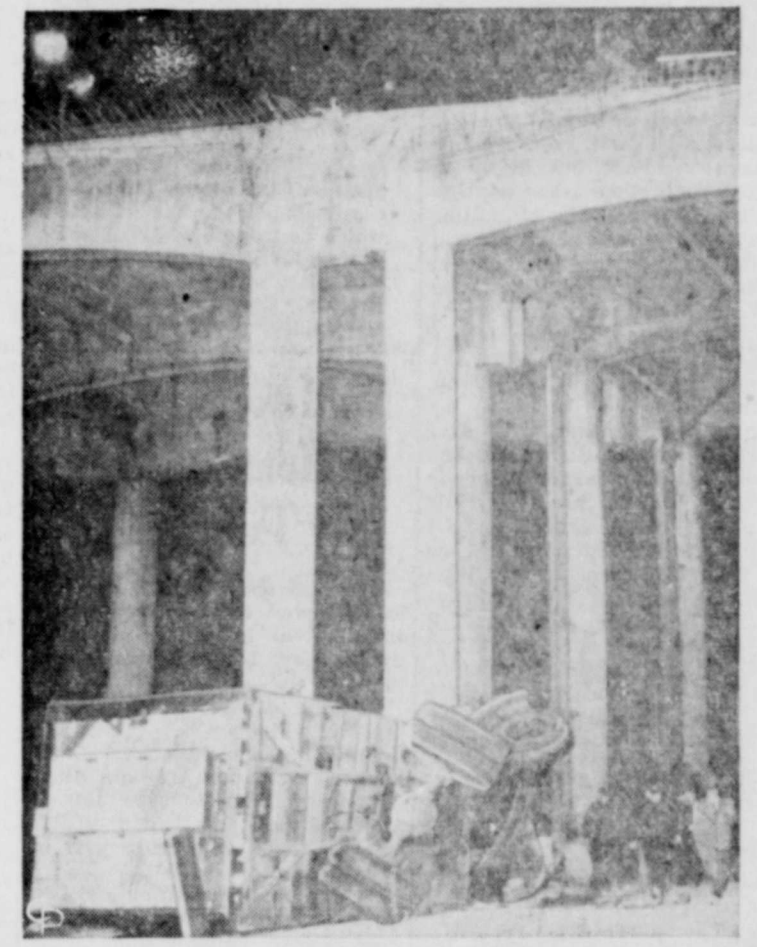

Wimberly said Bergere was arrested 45 minutes later at a gasoline station, that the right headlight of his car was broken and that there was blood on the right front fender.

The state policeman described Bergere as having "a strong odor of alcohol" and "very steady on his feet," although he "talked in circles." Over Neal's objection, Wimberly was allowed to testify that Bergere refused to submit to a blood-alcohol test.

Wimberly said that Bergere told him, at the time of his arrest, he thought two boys on bicycles had struck the side of his car and that he was looking for a police station.

Deputy sheriff Ivan Read testified that the filling station owner told him Bergere had asked the location of the police station. Bergere sat quietly through the hearing and did not testify.

Ed Darst, Santa Fe agent here, said there is no immediate estimate of the damage, and that it will probably be 30 days before a figure can be released. Darst said salvage work prevents an accurate estimate because some of the cars can be repaired. Others will probably be considered a total loss.

Qualified observers, however, say damage will run into the thousands of dollars.

Shortly after the accident at 10:35 a.m. Sunday, a spur was built around the main line and a passenger train was the first to use it, arriving here about midnight Sunday. All wreckage was cleared by early Tuesday morning.

Crews from Clovis, Roswell, Carlsbad and other cities rushed to the scene of the accident Sunday.

Chevrolet's special hill-flatteners!

162 HP V8
180 HP V8

See that fine fat mountain yonder? You can iron it out, flat as a flounder... and easy as whistling! Just point one of Chevrolet's special hill-flatteners at it (either the 162-h.p. "Turbo-Fire V8" or the 180-h.p. "Super Turbo-Fire")... and pull the trigger! Barr-r-r-o-o-o-o-o-o-o-o-o-o! Mister, you got you a flat mountain!... At least it feels flat. For here are engines that sing as sweetly as a dynamo... built to pour out a torrent of pure, vibrationless power. Big-bore V8's with the shortest stroke in the industry. So most of the time they loaf. Even at the speed limit they just dream along, purring out a fraction of their strength. An engineer can understand why they are so hyper-efficient. But you don't have to be an engineer to know that these are the sweetest running V8's you ever piloted. Just come in and try one out!

Protein Content Is High In All Cheese Products

There's an oft-quoted saying that cheese is the poor man's meat and the gourmet's delight. Probably the proverb maker did not know how nutritionally right he was in comparing cheese to meat, but the fact is that cheese contains the same kind of proteins as meat.

In a pound of cheddar cheese, there is the same protein as in three and one-third quarts of milk, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture. A pound of cheddar cheese contains a bit more protein than one pound of chuck without bone, one pound of ham, or one and one-fourth pounds of sirloin.

Luck are the cheese lovers, because they have between 400 and 500 varieties of cheese from which to choose. None of our local stores carry anywhere near this number of varieties, of course. But have you lately stopped and studied the varieties available to you? Cheese can be classified broadly into three types, according to texture: soft, semi-hard and hard. An example of a soft cheese is cream cheese. A semi-hard Gouda, and a hard cheese is Parmesan. U. S. e. s. After - Dinner cheeses: Classify them according to the Camembert, Cheddar, Gouda.

Their mine was in the area of 2,940 acres that the Federal Bureau of Land Management threw open anew to the staking of mining claims. The Government held that the land on which this and other mines are located had not been open to entry until now, and as of the present, is open to entry by anyone. The operators of this and other established mines let every hopeful prospector know that dynamite would be exploded in various known discovery holes and that it would not be safe to get too close to stake out a claim. Below, Joe Monebrucker operates his drilling machine inside the Miracle mine which has been in existence in Kern Canyon for about a year. (International)

And let's not forget cottage cheese: G o o d-quality cottage cheese is firm and has a creamy consistency. It should be white or creamy white. A deep yellow color indicates that the cheese is old.

DELAYED GIFT

SYRACUSE, N. Y. — An expensive hospital machine is in use at the Hadassa Municipal Hospital at long last, reports received here from Israel say. It is an electrocardiograph (a complicated apparatus to measure heart action) which belonged to the late Dr. Dr. Henry H. Haft.

His widow and Dr. Irving L. Ershler who took over Dr. Haft's practice when he died in 1952 wanted to give it to Israel. But red tap surrounding international shipments of scientific equipment stopped them.

It was surplus, because Dr. Ershler had his own machine and it lay in storage until Mrs. Mark Silverman came to the rescue. She packed it in two 35-pound units and took it as hand luggage on a trip to Israel. She reports the crates proved a bit uncomfortable sliding around the stateroom in a heavy storm, but she tells how Dr.

Mulching Easy Way To Stop Garden Weeds

Many gardeners are controlling weeds the easy way in the home garden. They simply apply a mulch between the rows of vegetables, reports County Agent Richard Marek, with the Agricultural Extension Service of New Mexico AM College. This method has been in limited use for many centuries but has never been very popular until recently. A good mulch practically eliminates the need for hoeing cultivation and irrigation.

Gardeners can use most any material including straw, old hay, grass clippings, partly decayed leaves, cottonseed hulls, weathered sawdust, and peanut hulls. Marek says, "Simply place one of these materials between the rows after crops are up, and deep enough to keep weeds down. That usually means applying 1 1/2 inches of material depending on fineness."

In addition to keeping weeds under control, the mulch will help conserve soil moisture, and prevent a crust from forming on the surface of the soil. Soil Temperature also will be several degrees cooler under a mulch than when mulch is not used. This is particularly important for cool season crops.

"If you still prefer the push cultivator and hoe," Marek suggests, "don't cultivate too deeply, as this breaks tiny roots and may do more damage than good." Just "Scratch" the surface enough to break the crust and cut off the tiny weeds, he says.

SIGNS OF LIFE
LOS ANGELES — The Bell Auto Sales put up a sign reading "28 Years Dealing on Figueroa Street." The company's neighbor, Press Motor Co., countered with a sign, "63 Years Living on Earth." Back Bell came with a billboard, "You Call This Living?"

TWO-BIKE BOY
ALBUQUERQUE — Denny Potter, 15, had heard of two-car families. Sounded like a good idea. He got another bike—sort of beaten up, but it'd run. His good one he used to ride to school. The other was to use on his paper route. "I just didn't want to bang up my good bike," he explained.

SIERRA FAIR PLANNED
SANTA FE — Two major changes in New Mexico's drivers license law take effect this Friday, July 1. One is changing the expiration date from a calendar year basis to one based on birth dates. The other is licensing of minors to drive. Children 13, or over can apply for a scooter license, 14-year-olds can get a restricted license if they are enrolled in a driver education course at school.

FULLY COVERED
YADKINVILLE, N. C. — State Highway Patrolman R. L. Carpenter arrested a man who was really plastered.

The man piled up his car on a highway and came out white as a sheet. A sack of flour in the car had burst. Carpenter said the man also was plastered with the usual stuff.

Dandelion greens often are fed to silkworms when mulberry leaves are scarce.

TROUBLE IN THE WOODS

DETROIT — The Michigan raccoon hasn't had it so rough since the raccoon coat fad of the 1920s. The Davy Crockett hat craze is to blame. Raccoon tails used to sell roughly at 5 cents wholesale. The Davy Crockett hat clamor sent them up to as much as 50 cents apiece.

TRAVEL IS EDUCATING
HOUSTON, Tex. — Hugh Lansford got his degree in civil engineering after 10 years of night school. He figured he drove 100,000 miles from his home to the school.

CARS TURN WHITE
DETROIT — Emphasizing what it terms something revolutionary in car buying habits, one big manufacturer reports more than half its current output has bodies in two sharply contrasting colors. And white appears on 40 per cent of the company's cars. It was virtually unknown on passenger cars three years ago.

JAPANESE MARRIAGES
NAGOYA, Japan — The U. S. Consulate here has registered 21,500 marriages between Americans and Japanese since 1950. The consulate reports most of the couples go to the United States to make their homes.

Easily-Made Mechanical Aids Can Lighten Farmer's Work

Many farmers are still doing things the hard way. County Extension Agent Richard Marek suggests doing some jobs mechanically instead of the back-breaking method.

For instance, a dairyman spends about 75 per cent of his time working around buildings. He will handle around 15 tons of provators do a big share of this work per cow per year. A poultryman will handle around 10 tons of materials per 100 hens per year. And will likely spend more time in the poultry house doing it than the dairyman spends around the barn.

"Why not let conveyors or elevators do a big share of this work for you?" Marek says. "Small portable elevators are easiest to use to move material either horizontally or vertically. There are many brands of small conveyors on the market—or you can build your own. They are used to handle bulk grain, litter, bedding, ensilage, chopped hay, potatoes, apples, vegetables, sand, gravel, stove woods, and similar materials."

The small conveyor can be constructed of aluminum or wood with chain and flights, or belt with or without cleats. It is generally built in from 8 to 20-foot lengths and will operate to 60 degrees up or down from the horizontal. A 3/4 hp or smaller electric motor is required, depending on length.

Larger portable elevators for general purpose are available in lengths from 20 to 70 feet. They will handle the same materials the smaller elevators handle, plus baled hay, bagged grain, etc. The power needed ranges from 1/2 hp electric motor at 20 feet to a 5 hp electric motor at 70 feet. Cost is about the same per foot as for smaller elevators.

Other special purpose conveyors are used for cleaning barn gutter, feeding poultry, unloading wagon unloading silos, etc. Cost on the type conveyor varies considerably depending on use made of it.

Cattle May Bloat On High Legume Pasture Content

Whenever pastures contain legumes, bloat can be a problem with cattle unless proper precautions are taken, according to County Agent Richard Marek. Here are the steps for controlling bloat.

(1) Accustom cattle to legume pasture gradually. If possible, allow the animals to graze on large grass pastures for at least several days before turning them out on legumes. This will allow them to satisfy their appetite for pasture before they are placed on legume pasture containing legumes, grazing should be limited for a few minutes the first time. Very gradually increase the time on legume hay or other coarse material before they are turned out. It is equally important to place dry, coarse, palatable roughage in the pasture. This will aid in controlling bloat and also help prevent a summer drop in milk production because of extreme lush of inadequate forage.

AMMO-PHOS
FERTILIZER
is water soluble...

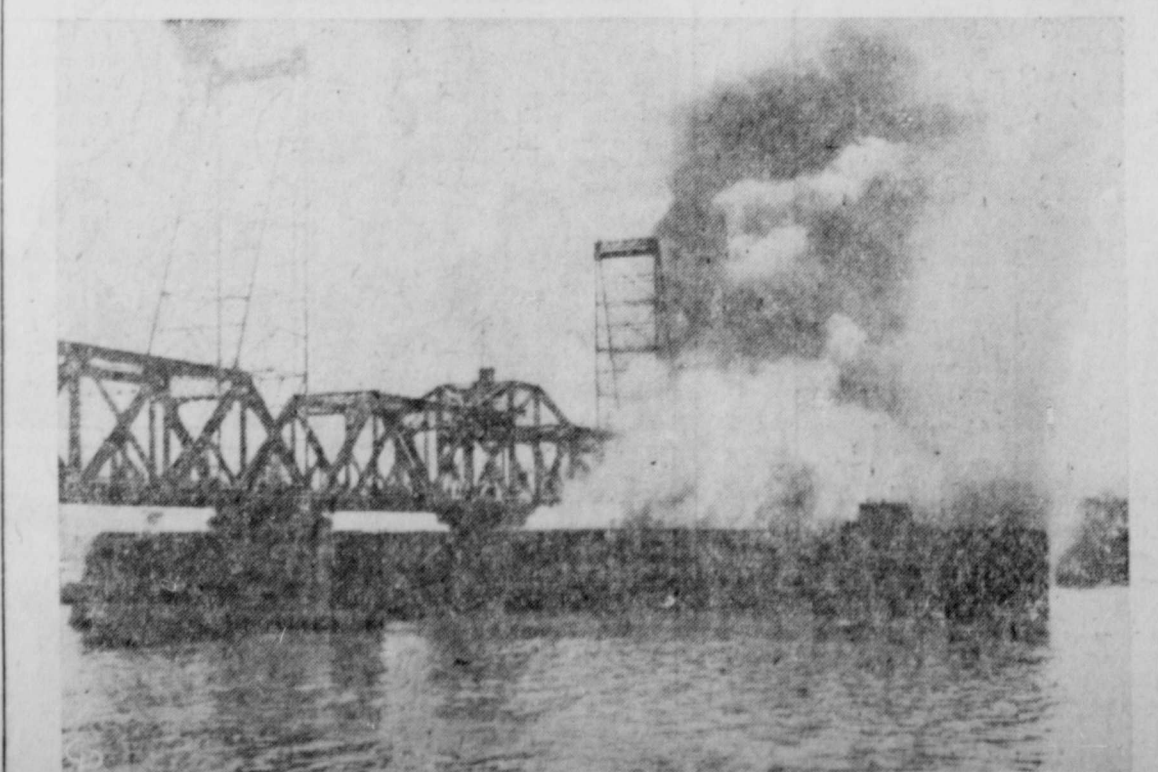

Experiments prove that crops take up more phosphate from water soluble Ammo-Phos fertilizer than from common mixed fertilizer.

MAKE THIS EASY TEST
Place one-half teaspoonful of the fertilizer you are now using in a glass of water. Then place a similar quantity of Ammo-Phos in another glass of water. Stir both mixtures for several minutes. Notice how water soluble Ammo-Phos goes into solution while the mixed fertilizer collects at the bottom of the glass. Even if left for several days, the ordinary mixed fertilizer will not dissolve completely.

With Ammo-Phos your crop gets what you put in the ground.
