Duke City Company Win $43,240 Job Remodeling School

Nearly $4,500 difference in bids won a contract for the construction firm of Lembke, Clough & King for renovation and alterations to Central Ward Grade School here.

The Albuquerque firm's bid of $43,240 was accepted by the school board officials Friday afternoon. Only other bidder on the project, Tom Heflin of Artesia, gave an estimate of $47,724 for the job.

An official of the successful bidder told school officials that the firm has sufficient steel and brick on hand to begin immediate work.

All of the east wall of the school which had shifted on its original foundations, will be removed up to the main corridor entrance. New footings and foundation will be installed, the wall rebuilt, a new roof put on the structure less one wing, and other miscellaneous small jobs.

Completion date for the work is Oct. 1. Children will start back to school after Labor Day while work is still going on but the contractors said they would build protective chutes around the work to prevent "showers" and after he had been through the wringer couple of times drying out, and after he had stalled his car in some of the unforgivable jams along Roselawn, maybe he'd change his mind about that "shower" is.

Where we come from, pardon, a shower is something you take at the end of a dry, hot, sultry, moisture-less day, that happens down here during a thunderstorm comes under our heading of a downpour accompanied by cats and dogs with indications of a 40-day period.

One of our well-known restaurant operators has a weakness for the ponies and each weekend has had a little cash - darned little - working for him at Ruidoso. But it hasn't been working very hard.

Last week he had a real good thing on a mare in the fifth. Everything would have been fine except the mare stopped at the half-way pole to foal.

But that's not the worst of it. The doggone colt, she gave birth to came in first in the next race - and our local didn't have a nickle riding on it.

One nice thing about living in Artesia. With top police vigils both local, county and state, you ask someone where the nearest bookie is in town and they refer you to the city attorney.

The NuMexers back in town for a four-day stand had some high luck with both the weather and the visiting club Thursday night. Friday night was a corking good game as the better-than-average crowd fans will tell you. But while the players were just getting on their feet during the early innings, the swarms of mosquitos that hatched with the sun were getting 1000 for 100.

Travelers nearing Artesia on U. S. 285 will be greeted by nearly a dozen new welcoming signs in the city, the chamber of commerce announced Saturday.

These signs, sponsored by a local business establishment are being placed along the highway this weekend, Paul Scott, chamber manager said.

The project is under the supervision of the chamber tourist committee which has already erected some of the signs along the roadside.

Leland Lindsay is New Manager

Leland Lindsay, Western Union operator here since September, has been named manager of the Artesia office, replacing acting manager, Pauline Brooks.

Mrs. Brooks will return to the city office.

Lindsay, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Lindsay, 212 Sherman, has been with the wire company since 1933 and started in the Roswell office.

A navy veteran, he and his wife live at 309 1/2 South 2nd St.

Hungary Jails Two U.S. News Reporters

VIENNA, Austria, July 9 (AP) - The Hungarian government today confirmed reports that Endre Barton and his wife, both correspondents for American news services, had been arrested on charges of spying for U.S. intelligence.

Marton has been Budapest correspondent for The Associated Press since 1947. Mrs. Barton had been correspondent for the United Press for about the same length of time. Both are Hungarian nationals.

Two Others Held The announcement said two other Hungarian nationals, Balint Kaposi and Cornel Balas, employees of the American legation in Budapest, also had been arrested on the same charge.

Marton, 44, apparently was arrested last February. The Associated Press has been unable to reach him by normal telephone or telegraph channels since that time, but reported on May 5 indications that Marton was under arrest.

Previously, Frank Starzel, general manager, was arrested.

Anderson Calls on U.S. to End Secrecy on Atomic Peace Use

Predicts Bars To Be Lifted At International Conclave; Blames AEC For Excess Zeal

WASHINGTON, July 9 (AP) - Sen. Anderson (D-NM) proposed today that the United States lift all remaining secrecy restrictions surrounding its program for peaceful atomic power reactors.

And Anderson, chairman of the Senate-Atomic Energy Committee, predicted this country may take that step after an international atomic-for-peace conference in Geneva Aug. 3-20.

The United States already has signed special agreements with 26 friendly nations to provide them with small atomic reactors and the uranium fuel to make them work. In addition, more than 100 students from dozens of foreign countries already are in this country studying reactor operations and uses of atomic isotopes.

Too Much Secrecy But Anderson said he still thinks "there is way too much secrecy." He added, in a radio interview (CBS-Capitol Clockroom), "I believe firmly the whole reactor technology ought to be declassified entirely."

The United States has shipped a small reactor, to operate under water for protection against radiation, as an exhibit at the International Atomic Conference in Geneva.

Anderson said he thought the reports and exhibits at Geneva will "show that Russia is so far along with its knowledge of reactors, and Britain may be, and various other countries may be, that we may decide to declassify the whole reactor technology."

Blames AEC Anderson blamed Atomic Energy Commission officials for alleged excessive secrecy. He said complete release of atomic reactor information would "turn the American ingenuity loose" in this field.

Anderson also predicted Congress will approve construction of two atomic powered surface ships. One of these, he said, could tour the world exhibiting American progress in peaceful uses of atomic energy, as proposed by President Eisenhower.

But both ships, Anderson insisted, should be prototype efforts toward finding a practical and economical atomic power plant for surplus.

Trustees Talk Over Plans For Vocational Ag Building

Tentative discussion on construction of a vocational agricultural building at the high school Friday afternoon highlighted a meeting of the Artesia school trustees.

While nothing definite was decided on the building which would house several classes in agriculture, mechanical and vocational training, it was estimated that such a structure would cost in the neighborhood of $70,000. Further study of the matter is scheduled.

In other actions, the trustees gave approval to a plan to install a sidewalk along 11th Street for the protection of school children, and talked over plans now in operation for the sale of $250,000 in bonds approved at the last school bond election.

The board reaffirmed a resolution to advertise for bids on the bonds.

Also approved was a suggestion for short school sessions on Sept. 1 and 2 in order to allow Artesia children to attend the Shrine Circus which will be in town for the two days.

Three Artesia educators will attend a state conference on education at Santa Fe Monday, the board was told. Representing the local school district will be George White, curriculum director, Mrs. C. P. Bunch, and Vernon Mills, schools superintendent. They will join educators from all parts of New Mexico in a follow-up meeting on educational problems after regional meets. The regional meeting for this area was held here at Hermosa School on June 10.

In addition to the school official all Artesians interested in education and school problems have been invited to attend the sessions at the state capital.

Golden Jubilee Celebration officials were notified Saturday that Santa Fe Railroad will display its miniature old-time locomotive in the Jubilee parade to be held here in August during the two-day celebration.

Jubilee chairman Bill Bennett said the model engine, an exact replica of the old wood-and-coal burners, is equipped to run on pavement and will be seen here both during the parade and on display during the other festivities.

The motel is a fitting addition to the newly-expanded 285 highway. The construction is mainly masonry block; all second story units are on the north portion of the motel. Frame extensions from the building provide a shaded area for both the first and second story units. The exterior of the building is of a perma-type stone with a crushed rock roof to divert sun rays.

Additional faculty members for the other schools will be announced later.

From The Files Of 50 Years Ago

Tuesday was unquestionably a dull day in Artesia. The whole city, it seemed, was vacated, with only a straggler wandering occasionally through the streets. Some of our people spent the day in Carlsbad, some at Hope, while numerous others were fishing at some of the lakes or on the river. It was only for a day, however, this quietude, for early Wednesday the noise of hammers, saws, wagons, buggies and people showed renewed vigor from the day's recreation.

Pearce and Bixby, contractors and builders of Roswell, will soon put in a plant to manufacture building brick, building stone, sewer pipe, fence posts and other articles out of cement and sand.

Habakkuk's Faith Tested ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON By Alfred J. Buescher

The Prophet Habakkuk cried in agony to God for his people whose sins were bringing destruction upon them: "O Lord, how long shall I cry, and Thou wilt not hear! even cry out unto Thee of violence, and Thou wilt not save!"

Habakkuk foresaw that the Chaldeans would overrun his country, for they were a "bitter and hasty nation," whose horses were swifter than leopards and more fierce than wolves. He would trust in Jehovah who was punishing His people for their correction.

The Lord answered Habakkuk as he stood upon a tower (a fenced-in place) and said: "Write the vision, and make it plain upon tables, that he may run that readeth it." The vision is not yet come; wait for it.

Through all his anguish of spirit, Habakkuk never lost his faith in Jehovah, crying: "Yet will I rejoice in the Lord, I will joy in the God of my salvation. The Lord is my strength."

Habakkuk's Faith Tested HIS TRUST IN THE LORD IS STEADFAST IN SPITE OF HIS PEOPLE'S AFFLICTIONS

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
HABAKKUK is a prophet of whom we know very little. He is presumed to have lived and prophesied during the reign of Manasseh, from 687 to 642 B.C. His book is only three chapters long, but in it he not only calls on the Lord to help His people in their many troubles, but his trust in their Jehovah never wavers even in the midst of injustice within the kingdom and conquest from without.

At the beginning of his book he exhibits such anguish of spirit that though he prays fervently to God for help to his oppressed people and defense from the Chaldeans, "that bitter and hasty nation," his prayers seem not to be answered. He cries:

"O Lord, how long shall I cry, and Thou wilt not hear! even cry out unto Thee of violence, and Thou wilt not save."

"Why dost Thou show me iniquity, and cause me to behold grievance? for spoiling and violence are before me; and there are that raise up strife and contention."

"Therefore the law is slack, and judgment doth never go forth; for the wicked doth compass about the righteous; therefore wrong judgment proceedeth."

Arrest Of Two Youths Ends Great Sea Disaster Hoax

NEW YORK, July 9 — A damped boy of 17 and a sullen pal of 21 were jailed today as the perpetrators of probably the greatest Atlantic Ocean disaster hoax in history.

Authorities said it was they who sent out the sensational — and phony — radio SOS early Thursday which set off an uproar along half the Eastern seaboard.

A huge array of ships and planes searched a 4,000-mile area in a futile 30-hour search for a flaming "fishing boat" as well as a "foreign submarine" which supposedly took aboard 21 survivors and vanished. The Coast Guard estimated the search cost $50,000.

It all came about, officers said, because the two culprits fell to talking about radio during a tour of bars and the elder decided to show his young pal how a "real radio works."

The two were Thomas Maldona of East Rockaway, N. Y., an unemployed crewman on a commercial fishing boat; and his young friend, George Teen of Oceanside, N. Y.

It convicted of a federal charge of faking a sea disaster, they could receive sentences up to a year in prison and $10,000 fine each.

Maldona was laid off six weeks ago from work on the fishing vessel St. Joseph. It was from this craft, anchored in the New York City suburb of East Rockaway on Long Island that the fake distress message was broadcast, authorities said.

The story of how Maldona and the Teen boy were tracked down was almost as astonishing as the hoax itself. Federal officials previously had chalked off such a feat as all but impossible.

But a routine investigation of a burglary aboard the St. Joseph did the trick.

William Herivede of Valley Stream, Long Island, the fishing vessel's owner, went aboard his craft and found that the door of the radio room had been broken open sometime Wednesday night.

The radio-telephone transmitter had been turned on and left operating.

Police didn't disclose exactly how their attention was turned to Maldona, but they took him and young Teen into custody last night.

Teen, a good-looking youngster who wore a crucifix under his pen collar sport shirt, and Maldona, clad in grime-smeared work clothes and much-worn loafer type shoes, were located at their homes.

Interrogating officials, mindful of the maritime hoax and the fact that St. Joseph's radio was on, began grilling the two on this subject.

For four hours the pair denied any connection. Finally, it was said, the 17-year-old broke down and acknowledged his part; his companion then made a similar admission.

They were quoted as saying they "didn't realize the messages would actually touch off a search."

However, a Coast Guard spokesman said the distress messages sent out by voice over the ship's radiotelephone were transmitted according to standard radio procedure for an hour and 35 minutes "without a single mistake."

The day on Mars is about half an hour longer than the day on Earth. Many professional baseball players could raise their earning power if they wore glasses, says the Better Vision Institute.

Girls Are Urged To Enter Woolen Goods Contest

All girls fourteen through twenty-two years of age who plan to enter the 1933 "Make It Yourself With Wool" contest are urged to secure entry blanks from local merchants selling woolen piece goods. A supply of these blanks will be placed in the hands of local sewing machine companies.

Girls living in Lea and Eddy Counties will send their district entry forms to Mrs. E. O. Moore, Jr., 1207 N. Guadalupe, Carlsbad, New Mexico.

MAY RESTRICT HUNTING

ALAMOGORDO — A report by Clarence Aldons of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service indicates that hunting of antelope and wild turkey probably will not be permitted on the Mescalero Indian reservation this year. The report was made after a two-week inventory of game conditions in the area.

will be held in Albuquerque, Sept. 27. Winners in the district contests will be eligible to enter the state contest. Girls winning first and second places in the junior and senior class will receive transportation and expenses to the state contest. Date and place of the district contest will be announced later.

Recreation Unit Forms Rifle Club

All teen-agers interested in forming a rifle club are asked to meet at the high school Thursday, July 14, at 7 p.m. according to Floyd Davis, City Recreation Director. Adults may attend, too, and if enough interest is shown, two clubs will be formed. "We are hoping to have enough members to enable us to join the National Rifle Association," Davis said. There are many advantages to joining the R. A., one of them being the purchase of ammunition, guns and targets. The instructor for the club will be Mr. James Elliott who was a second place winner in recent state match.

This first meeting will be an organizational meeting and all interested persons are asked to attend.

CHIANG KAI-SHEK—I

In the 12th year of the reign of Kuang-Hsu—1886 A. D. as the west-world reckons time—Chiang Kai-shek was born in the village of Feng-shan, in the province of Chekiang. His parents, of peasant stock, were people of property.

Though Emperor Kuang Hsu sat on the Peacock Throne in Peking's Forbidden City the real ruler of China was his aging aunt, the grim Dowager Empress Tsu Tse. But the Chinese, lost in the lethargy of a long history, did not care.

As a small boy Chiang Kai-shek longed to become a soldier and fight under the Manchu Banner-men, military nobles of the realm. So, when he was 20 years old, his parents sent him to the newly-established military academy at Paoting.

To further his studies, Chiang Kai-shek went to Japan, and for three years was taught the military tactics which had made that island empire the greatest of Asiatic powers. In light of present events this was ironical to say the least.

NEXT—Chiang Kai-shek meets Dr. Sun Yat-sen and turns revolutionary.

Phone Men Back On Job

SAN ANGELO, July 9 (AP)—Striking San Angelo workers of the General Telephone Co., of the Southwest today voted to recess their "continuous meeting" and to return to work beginning at midnight Sunday.

Union leaders said they would attempt to get other striking workers back on the job in the five-state telephone system while negotiations continue. Workers at about 40 exchanges have walked out since July 1, when the CIO Communications Workers Union contract with the firm expired.

About 300 were on strike here. All along, union leaders have said the strike was unauthorized.

John Limmroth, San Angelo unit steward, presided at the "continuous meeting" here this afternoon. A joint statement by the company and union was read and Limmroth asked for a vote to recess the meeting. The workers agreed. Then he asked that the employees return to work Sunday at midnight, and this also was approved.

Rex E. Harp, president of the local said he was sending division representatives to contact unit stewards where walkouts have occurred to attempt to persuade the employees to return to work at midnight Sunday.

The joint statement by union and management negotiators read: "The parties have reached some further understanding with regard to collective bargaining matters. The meetings have been recessed until 10 a.m. Monday. During this recess, the union will contact the employees in regards to returning to work."

The first major walkout occurred here last Wednesday and spread to many other exchanges.

The company and union were reported still in disagreement on several issues. The union is demanding an increase in starting pay from the present 75 cents an hour to $1.25 an hour.

The company operates 242 exchanges in Texas, Louisiana, Arkansas, Oklahoma and New Mexico. R. W. Stinley and Curtis Fletcher, international officers of the union, have aided in negotiations here. The Federal Mediation Service is sitting in on the talks.

Floyd Patterson Looks Like Man To Whip Rocky In 1957

By Gayle Talbot

NEW YORK (AP)—Few who witnessed Floyd Patterson's flashy kayo of Archie McBride, his first heavyweight opponent, will doubt the young man's bland statement that he will be ready to fight Rocky Marciano, or somebody, for the championship in 1957.

Still only 20 the slender Negro looked like a new edition of Joe Louis in the speed of his hands once he got the range on McBride. The power of his left jab also was reminiscent of the Brown Bomber, who more than once shattered an opponent's nose with the first jab he shot out.

Those who know Archie Moore best, incidentally, say he has a terrific jab when he chooses to use it, and for that reason they urge caution in betting against him on the night of Sept. 20. Archie scarcely displayed the weapon as he set up Bobo Olson for the knockout.

The boxing world has lost one of its most colorful and upright citizens in the death of Dan Morgan, a famous manager in his day. The game does not have many of Dan's kind to lose.

Dan never saw the boxer he believed was the equal of Jack Britton, the one time welterweight champion whom he managed sharp pliers.

through a long and lucrative career.

The way foreign bred stallions have begun to dominate the racing scene in this country is enough to make our own thoroughbred sires demand a higher tariff on the imports.

The most recent listing of the 20 leading money winning sires in this country is headed, in order, by Nashrullah Nashua's pappy, Khaled and Alibhai. More remarkable, all three were bred at the same farm, the Aga Khan's Sheshoon Stud in Ireland.

Not only that, but Citation's first stakes winner, the filly Carmel, which romped home in the Nursery Stakes last month at Hollywood Park, is out of the mare Astride, another Sheshoon alumna.

TO BUILD ARENA

LOS ALAMOS (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission has agreed to lease land to Los Alamos County for construction of a rodeo arena. The arena is being built for a rodeo to be held in connection with the annual County Fair, Aug. 27-28.

Experts say the safest way to remove a fishhook which has become embedded in your flesh often is to force the point out through the skin and cut off the barb with a sharp pliers.

Architect R. W. Vorhees of Roswell has named Jim Baker of Carlsbad to be inspector of work progress.

Interior remodeling of the school is planned for next year, school board officials said.

Early Wynn, Don Newcomb Expected All-Star Starters

National League Goes Into Game 6 to 5 Favorite

MILWAUKEE, July 10 (AP)—Early Wynn, Cleveland's powerful right hander, and Brooklyn's Don Newcomb, who also throws from the right side, appear to be the likely choices to obtain the starting assignments in the 22nd annual Major League All-Star Game here next Tuesday.

The odds-makers, probably respecting power over pitching, have installed the National League squad a slight 6-5 favorite to register its ninth victory since the classic originated in 1933. The Americans, who snapped a four-game losing streak last summer with an 11-9 victory in Cleveland, have won 13. There was no game in 1945.

A capacity crowd of close to 45,000 is expected to fill every available seat in County Stadium with all tickets sold weeks ago. The game, scheduled to start at 1:30 p.m. (CST), will be seen and heard via television and radio from coast to coast. Long range weather predictions are for high temperatures and higher humidity. No rain is forecast.

Nine Pitchers Selected
American League Manager Al Lopez, in an effort to offset the superior punch of the Nationals, has selected a nine-man pitching squad headed by Wynn and Rookie High Score of his own Indians, fireballer Bob Turley and south-paw Eddie Ford of the New York Yankees, righthander Dick Donovan and lefty Billy Pierce of the Chicago White Sox, righthander Frank Sullivan of Boston, Jim Wilson of Baltimore and lefthander Billy Hoelt of Detroit.

Leo Durocher, National League pilot, will go with a streamlined staff of seven that includes right handers Robin Roberts of Philadelphia, Gene Conley of Milwaukee and Sam Jones of Chicago as well as southpaws Joe Nuxhall of Cincinnati and Harvey Haddix and rookie Luis Arroyo of St. Louis.

The Monmouth Park race track employs 60 vacationing students, representing 49 different colleges.

Union Wins 7-3 Over Peoples In Babe Ruth League

Union Supply exploded with seven runs in the fifth inning to capture a 7-3 win from the Peoples State Bank team. Friday afternoon at Artesia's Babe Ruth field. The deciding blow was a three base hit by Tommy Hager, knocking in three runs. Foulkes was the winning pitcher for Union Supply and Wilbanks absorbed the loss for Peoples State.

Both pitchers went the entire distance of the game, which was called at the end of five and 1/2 innings due to a 7 p.m. league curfew on all games.

Second String League Clubs Have Night

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The second division clubs had their innings in the Longhorn League Friday night.

Fourth-place Roswell, only first division club able to win had to get a run in the bottom of the ninth to do it. Roswell eased out Midland 4-3 in Duane White's bases-loaded single in the bottom of the ninth.

Leading an Angelo lost to Carlsbad 11-9. Big Spring edged second-place Artesia 9-8 and Hobbs stopped Odessa 7-6.

The clubs all stayed in the same locations Saturday night.

Midland out-hit Roswell 8-4 behind the good pitching of Bob Hollick, but the Rockets managed to jam up their hitting with good baserunning and occasional wildness on Hollick's part to produce the victory.

San Angelo used 3 pitchers trying in vain to stop a 13-hit Carlsbad attack. The Potashers had little trouble after Ike Jackson's three-run homer highlighted a five-run fourth inning.

and staved off a late Artesia rally to wrap it up. Moe Santomauro hit a ninth-inning homer for Odessa, but Hobbs when the eighth opened, replied with a four-run frame of its own to preserve its decision.

San Angelo Man Named Secretary Longhorn League

Longhorn League President, W. J. Green announced today that a San Angelo, Texas accountant, Lee Sanders, will undertake the duties as executive secretary of the league. Sanders will replace Horace Busby, who took the job temporarily on Jan. 1, 1955.

The appointment of Lee Sanders as executive secretary was made with the consent of all League directors. Green also announced that Tommy Yates, former business manager of the now defunct Tyler baseball team, will assist Sanders in the loop job. Duties of the new business manager will include maintaining league records and handling the correspondence to the eight league teams.

W. J. Green, who was elected president of the league, on June 15th at Carlsbad, also revealed that he has sold his entire stock in the San Angelo baseball team to Nathan Donsky, a San Angelo jeweler. The transaction was completed last Thursday, and was followed by Donsky being elected vice president of the San Angelo Colts, replacing prey Green. The sale of stock was made necessary by a league rule which does not allow the president to have a financial interest in any of the teams.

Gholson Holds Slight Edge As LL Batsman

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Hitting a fantastic 419 in 61 games, Carroll Gholson of Carlsbad leads the Longhorn League in batting, but not by much.

In close pursuit—just two points back—is Tom Jordan of Artesia. Jordan has the most hits, showing 120, but has been to bat more than Gholson, who has 99 hits. Jordan also leads in doubles with 28 but Gholson sets the pace in triples with 12. Jordan has batted in the most runs with 85.

That old cloutier from away back, Joe Bauman of Roswell, is the home run leader with a lusty 24. The leading pitcher is Dean Franks of Roswell with 15 victories while Art DeCesare of Big Spring has struck out the most batters. He has whiffed 129.

Artesia leads in club batting with 328 and Odessa in club fielding with .906.

NuMexers Dump Big Spring Cops 8-5 In Second Game

Art DeCesare Walks 10 Men In Wild Game

The unsteady pitching of Art DeCesare who walked 10 men during his time on the mound gave the Artesia NuMexers an 8 to 5 victory over the Big Spring Cops here last night.

Typical of DeCesare's hurling was the batting record of NuMexer catcher Bob Boyd who made five trips to the plate but didn't make the At-Bat counts of the box score, walking each trip.

The NuMexers tagged DeCesare for four runs in the bottom of the first inning and four more in the sixth.

This was the second of a three-game series between the two teams to be played here and split the series.

WesTex NuMex All-Star Squad Is Announced
ABILENE (P)—Albuquerque, Amarillo and Clovis each placed four players and Pampa three on the West Texas-New Mexico League's North team for the 13th annual All-Star game to be played at Plainview the night of July 20.

Members of the South squad, made up of players from Plainview, El Paso, Lubbock and Abilene, will be announced Monday, league president Hal Sayles said.

Jack Martin, southpaw hurler for the Albuquerque Dukes, was the only unanimous choice on the North squad.

There were three repeaters from last year's game which was won by the South, 11-6. They are shortstop Gil Valentin of Albuquerque, right fielder Lincoln Boyd and utility outfielder Pete Trabucco of Clovis.

SLIDING SAFELY into third in a cloud of dust, Artesia manager Tom Jordan hooks the bag as Big Spring third sacker Louis Caballero looks for the ball which has already gone past him (right of picture). Jordan failed to score after his steal in the first inning of Friday night's game but his single picked up his RBI record. (Advocate Staff Photo)

Sierra Moves From Last To Win at Ruidoso

RUIDOSO, July 9 (P)—Sierra, owned by the 49ers ranch of Phoenix, Ariz., flashed from last place at Ruidoso Downs this afternoon.

Ridden by the track's leading jockey, J. Brown, the Phoenix horse missed the track record for the seven furlong distance by one fifth of a second. Time was 1:27.2. The horse paid $4.30, 63.40 and $3.

The second longest shot of the season crossed the finish line when Miss Dudie, owned by D. N. Wright of Odessa, sprinted home to return $54.30, $18.50 and $3.20.

In the 400-yard eight race, Leck's Ginger, owned by V. V. Shott of Carlsbad, and Florida Lad, owned by H. E. Westbury of Platte, Fla., finished in a dead heat for first.

A crowd of approximately 3,000 wagered a total of $104,688 at the pari-mutuel windows, an increase of 24.2 per cent over the same day a year ago.

E. B. Bullock And Sons In Feed Business Here Since 1912

The Industries of Artesia . . .

With Artesia's Golden Jubilee Celebration just a few weeks off, it is fitting this week that the Advocate salutes one of the city's oldest established businesses.

While it is true that E. B. Bullock hasn't been here the full 50 years, he did open his first feed supply company and warehouse in 1912 at the northwest corner of Main and South First Streets. The warehouse for the firm was located where the present office and supply house for the entire business is now located at 105 South First.

At the time the feed store opened, paving was unknown on Main Street and the principal street lighting was acetylene lamps glowing harshly from the corner of the intersection.

Growing with Artesia over the years and gradually expanding the scope of the firm's activities and trade area, E. B. Bullock took his sons Charles and Bill into the business as years went by.

Today, E. B. is in semi-retirement and his sons own and operate the big establishment that supplies all forms of livestock feeds to the entire Pecos Valley. But despite his semi-retirement, seldom a day goes by but what E. B. doesn't make an appearance at the office, to chat with old and new friends and "keep an eye on the boys."

Devoted to the good works of the Salvation Army, E. B. has been head of that organization's fund raising activities in Artesia for 37 years and spends even more time in that field today since he has been freed of the press of business obligations.

PINION RANCHER George Munson and his grandchildren supervise loading of grain sacks at the rear of the warehouse. Munson, sheep and cattle inspector for his area, is one of the many mountain ranchers who have been served by E. B. Bullock and Sons for many years.

Today, E. B. Bullock and Sons are supplying feeds and grains hay and cakemixes for livestock on both range and feeder pens. Huge, towering bins stand inside the cool dark warehouse, each filled with assorted grain feeds. Besides sacks of mixed preparations, great stacks of bales of sweet alfalfa rise to the high raftered roof.

Vast machines for weighing sacks, mixing molasses, and a high-framed seed separator which is Bill's pride and joy crowd the big building and keep a steady stream of finished products moving toward the loading docks at the rear of the building.

Not all of the firm's operations can be seen at the South First location.

At the north outskirts of the city are rambling cattle pens which are kept filled most of the year with top grade feeder stock, purchased by E. B. Bullock and Sons and fattened to market perfection before sales.

In addition to their regular cattle buying and selling operations, the firm is also engaged now in running special feed tests for the General Mills Co., and two score head of black Angus now loll in the specially built latticed shade arbors built over the pens to protect the cattle from the blistering—and pound consuming—sun.

The company numbers its friends and customers from all parts of the Pecos Valley and into the mountains to the west where a large percentage of their ranch feed and livestock supplies are sold. Throughout the day a steady stream of pick-up trucks, livestock trailers, large semi-trailer rigs and stake body trucks back up to the loading dock to take on sacks, packs and bales.

Truly a pioneer Artesia business, E. B. Bullock and Sons have grown with the area and will continue to be apace of agricultural development here.

Want to be a good guest? Maybe so that you'll be invited back for another weekend or longer stay? If so observe pointers that can put you in the good guest bracket. Here are some you might note for more enjoyable visits:

1. Arrive at the hour your hostess has set. If you are going by train don't suggest taking one earlier than she suggests. She'll pick the time that is most convenient for the family.

2. A little hostess gift is a thoughtful way to begin the weekend, although you can wait until you arrive home to send flowers or a little thank-you gift.

3. Arrive in a cheerful mood. Try not to complain about your trip or that your head aches or about other personal problems. Maintain a happy mood during your stay. Avoid looking bored even if you are.

4. If there is a servant in the household perhaps you will not be needed to lend a hand with little chores. But you should keep your room neat and respond promptly at mealtimes.

5. A small home will need and appreciate your assistance in setting or clearing the table no doubt if the hostess doesn't like an extra hand she will tell you.

6. Dress appropriately so that you do not have to borrow from the hostess. Don't appear at the table in shorts, slacks or other informal attire unless other members of the family do so.

7. Take a traveling alarm clock with you if you have one. If one is not available and you are a sound sleeper, ask your hostess to tap on your door in the morning. Late sleepers are likely to throw a household completely off schedule.

8. Try not to be underfoot all the time. If you are visiting at a girl or boy friend's home, the parents will expect you to be around for meals but at recreation in between times, unless they make other plans for you. If you go out in the evening tell them where you are going and what time you are returning.

9. Keep your room picked up.

Brig. Gen. W. W. White, Pentagon petroleum chief, testified the Department of Defense considers an additional pipeline would be valuable in wartime but that peacetime needs do not justify government expenditures in building it.

Troy Harris Wins Promotion To Rank Of Captain

Troy J. Harris, 913 Clayton, Artesia, received promotion to the rank of Captain at the final meeting of Detachment No. 2, 4052nd ARASU, prior to the unit's departure to summer encampment July 10.

Stewart said that if and when additional crude oil is needed it can be provided more readily by moving Canadian crude by existing pipeline and tanker facilities than it could be by the proposed pipeline.

Improvements Costly

PROGRESS and improvements are always costly. They not only cost money but sometimes they mean sacrifices on the part of individuals and they can cause a great deal of inconvenience.

That is true about any street improvement program. There are a good many cities in the state besides Artesia where streets are being improved, new paving is being laid, the streets are being widened and everything possible is being done to provide greater safety.

There are always those who have to grant right-of-way; they have to perhaps suffer damages; they may have to make a sacrifice besides being inconvenienced during the period of work. It is also possible they may suffer a loss in business.

But when the improvement is completed and finished the cost seems small because we have a more attractive street that improves our own property; it increases the flow of traffic; and that automatically results in an increase in our own business.

Most of us are convinced today that the improvement of First street is a fine thing but we also feel it has and it is taking a long time. The fact is when we have an inconvenience it always seems long. Most of us wonder whether the improvement is going to be worth what it cost but when it is completed we will change our minds.

It is certainly going to make for easier driving; it is going to make for safe driving; and it is going to make our city all the more attractive because of this improvement.

New Mexico has been a little slow on some of its urban projects. Some of the things we are doing today have been done in other states a long time ago but we should be proud and happy, of course, that this project is being carried out at this time.

We should be appreciative of the fact that the State Highway commission which seemingly has delayed a good many of the projects many of us felt should have been carried out a long time ago, is doing these things now.

We can be sure when it is all over, the driving on dusty and rough streets; the suffering losses of business; and the general inconvenience; and the new street is all in use we will fully agree it was worth what it cost.

The chances are we will be so pleased with this improvement we will be working to see how many more projects we can secure.

Santa Fe Paper Says City Doesn't Want New Air Base

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A Santa Fe newspaper has proposed the capitol city drop its efforts to have a new air base located there and push Las Vegas as the site.

The New Mexican said the city of Santa Fe should give the Air Force a "big fat selling job on the merits of Las Vegas," and added "we prefer to bypass the air age."

The newspaper a week ago opened its opposition to Santa Fe being considered a possible site for a new base in event an Air Force expansion is approved by Congress and a New Mexico city is selected for one of the new fields.

The New Mexican editorial came as Sen. Chavez (D-NM) announced in Washington today that an Air Force survey team would return to New Mexico to visit other communities. The team will be in Santa Fe July 20.

If Congress approves Air Force expansion plans, the team will recommend a location for an air base. It visited many New Mexico cities in June.

Mayor Paul Huss of Santa Fe said, "Frankly, I don't believe Santa Fe is being considered too seriously for the base." He said Santa Fe hasn't gone all out as have some other New Mexico cities.

"I haven't heard a great deal about it," Huss said. "The Air Force team will be received here and given every courtesy but we haven't talked too much about it. Huss said there "are two sides" to every issue in Santa Fe. One is the economy and the other is to preserve the Santa Fe atmosphere.

"I've always gone along with the progressive idea," Huss said. "But we have to consider how the majority of the people will feel. That's our job."

The New Mexican cited support for its arguments from a visitor from Colorado Springs.

"Now the site of a new Air Force academy, as well as an air base, the once beautiful, restful resort city of Colorado Springs is now a super-busy expanding hub of commerce, jammed with uniforms, traffic and noise and growing out of its shoes," the editorial said.

"The old attraction for hundreds of thousands of summer visitors is fast disappearing, and soon Colorado Springs will be another Albuquerque or Pueblo.

"Let Albuquerque, Colorado Springs and these other dollar-money, noise, confusion and discomfort. We'd prefer to bypass the air age and throw our weight behind an effort to have the base if there is to be one located at Las Vegas, which wants it and certainly could use such a stimulus to the local economy.

"Let's sit back and wait for the survey team, then give the Air Force a big fat selling job on the merits of Las Vegas."

In its previous editorial, the New Mexican had called on Santa Fe, Taos and Raton to plug for Las Vegas.

Letters To The Editor

Editor, Artesia Advocate:

I presume to ask space for this letter because I know many of your readers are former students and friends of Highlands University at Las Vegas, where historic Springer Hall was recently gutted by a fire of undetermined origin. There seems to be a determination in some quarters to tear down the familiar old redstone walls, even if found to be undamaged, and to replace them with a structure of entirely different style, rather than to restore the original building by means of fireproof reconstruction inside existing walls.

However, some of us who cherish memories of Springer Hall as the seat of our alma mater as well as the landmark of a great tradition of pioneering in New Mexico education, believe that restoration of the fine old native redstone building is not only entirely feasible but also most desirable. I therefore take the liberty of urging alumni, former students and friends of Highlands University who share that feeling to communicate their views to some member of the Board of Regents immediately by letter, telephone or telegraph.

Though not themselves alumni of Highlands, the present regents are respected and conscientious public servants, and I believe they will give due consideration to public opinion, whether in agreement with their own personal ideas or not. Highlands University belongs to all the people of New Mexico, and it seems to me that this is a matter of concerning which its "owners" should be heard. Of course it would be equally proper for persons opposed to the restoration of Springer Hall to express their views to the Board.

Its members are Mr. Ivan Hilton, President, Dr. H. M. Mortimer, and B. M. Werlev, all of Las Vegas; Mrs. Georgia Abercrombie of Anton Chico, and Frank McCullough of Albuquerque.

Down Memory Lane

By BEATRICE BLOCKER

MRS. C. BERT SMITH

Mrs. C. Bert Smith, known to family and friends as Bobo, and also called "The Flying Grandmother with high red heels," came to Artesia with her family forty-five years ago. Mr. Smith, now deceased, his wife and two daughters, Corinne, Mrs. J. Lanning, resides here. Velma, Mrs. Edison Jones, lives in Waukegan, Ill. arrived in Artesia, bag and luggage by covered back with driver, coming from Alamogordo, where they had spent a few years. Mrs. Smith recalls coming over the Devil's Back as it was then called, in crossing the mountains over into the Penasco Valley. They were two days from Alamogordo here. They had been invited and had expected to spend the night at the Earl Cox ranch on the Penasco, parents of Earl Cox, manager of Spouse Reitz, but on account of illness in the family upon their arrival they drove to another ranch house and were taken in for the night. Mrs. Smith remembers that the old rancher said "getting too thickly populated will have to be moving on."

The Smith family were on the Leon A. Wright farm in the Cottonwood community for six months before moving into Artesia. They built a house out on North Rose-lawn and lived there until the passing of Mr. Smith, then this house was moved to 509 Quay Street. At that time Artesia was just a mud puddle in the middle of the road said Mrs. Smith. Many is the time that I have seen loaded wagons stuck on Main Street she recalled. Mrs. Smith has four grandchildren and six great grandchildren.

MRS. VESTA GOODLETT

Vesta Goodlett operator at Artesia Beauty Shop, holds beautiful memories of early Artesia. Her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. White first came here and lived on a farm which is now part of the Dungan Farm once known as the Green Valley Ranch. The house still remains on a low hill back of the new modern home in which George Dungan and his family live. Her father, H. N. White came to Artesia early with the turn of the century. Mrs. Goodlett cherishes as her early memories, when grandfather came into town driving Beulah, as they affectionally called the buggy horse, and she drove back home with him through the farm lanes with acres and acres of fruit trees in blossom, apples, pears, plums, and peaches. Each farmer she recalls must have had several hives of bees, there were so many then. This was before farmers began growing much cotton, and the alfalfa hay was so green and fragrant also.

Mrs. Goodlett also recalls the two wagon-yards, one located where Safeway Store now stands, the other back of the building on Main Street recently acquired for the home of Artesia Furniture. She also remembers wagons being stuck in the downtown streets. My grandmother was the best cook ever. folks came for miles around to her dinners and she always had fried chicken, ham, pork and the like for breakfast, said Mrs. Goodlett. I will always remember the old cooler brought out by the well under the tall weeping willows, it is there that grandmother kept the milk and butter and other things in stone crocks, where cool water from the well flowed through keeping things cool, she said.

RUTH GROMO BATES
Mrs. Ruth Gromo Bates reports

that her mother, Mrs. May Gromo an old timer, resident of Lake Arthur, and now 86 years of age really resent it when Lake Arthur is omitted in News items pertaining to this area. They have lived in Lake Arthur since 1906, operating the Gromo Mercantile for about thirty years. There were three Gromo children, Ruth, Mrs. G. Bates who lives at the family home with her mother, Esther, and Fred Lemon of Las Cruces and Estwin who died.

Mrs. Bates says they have always made Artesia their trading center, coming into Artesia in the morning with the fringe on top of the year, before the automobile age. She also remembers a fine coat bought from the south by Mrs. Milfers, parents of Mrs. J. Funk. She recalls the day of the coach to attend a picture show which they did often.

Mrs. Bates and her mother are looking forward to Old Time Day in Central Park during the Golden Jubilee Celebration.

Star Talent Situation Hits Dangerous Low in Filmworld

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The star talent situation has reached the critical stage in Hollywood. "Does that sound drastic? Not if you talk to some producers and theater men. They will tell you that the number of stars who really mean something at the box office has dwindled to a dozen or two. Notable among these are John Wayne, Gary Cooper, James Stewart, Alan Ladd, Bing Crosby, Clark Gable, Humphrey Bogart and a few others.

You'll note that most of these stars are middle-aged. A few younger players have joined that stellar position — Martin Brando, Marilyn Monroe, Martin and Lewis and possibly a handful of others.

A major reason for the decline is the breakdown of new talent programs at the major studios. Only one lot still maintains an extensive training for future stars. That is Universal-International. The studio is even expanding its activities under the direction of Jess Kimmel, veteran of TV and stage associate of Jose Ferrer.

The U-I training, which has helped produce such names as Tony Curtis, Rock Hudson and Jeff Chandler, has become so well known that outsiders have tried to pay for the program. The studio has declined limiting the curricula to its own young players.

Where do they come from? Many from little theaters around Hollywood, some from television, some merely come to the studio themselves. The majority are brought by agents, and that's how the studio prefers to deal.

The young hopefuls get some basic training in the classics. They learn body movements by dancing, get horseback riding lessons and some fencing, although Kimmel feels that it tends to create an attitude of posing.

"I've found that boxing lessons are excellent for actors," he added. "When they get in the ring, they lose their inhibitions and become aggressive."

A large part of the training is the day-in, day-out reading of parts. Kimmel believes in having the players study separately. Then they'll play the scenes over and over again with different students. Annually they produce their own show, "Inside U-I."

Some flunk out, other may start the perilous path to stardom.

He said showers since the first of the month have lessened danger of big fires although lightning has started numerous small ones.

Backstage New Mexico

By The New Mexico Staff
Of The Associated Press

The Board of Educational Finance has come up with a new definition of resident and non-resident students for New Mexico institutions.

With it, Dr. John Russell hopes to solve a problem which has been plaguing universities for years: namely, just what is a non-resident student.

The 1951 Legislature attempted to define the term when it passed a bill setting out the minimum tuition fee for state institutions at not less than $100 for residents and $200 for non-residents.

This definition was based mainly on a requirement of a student or his parents having lived in New Mexico for 12 months preceding enrollment in a state institution.

The key word to this was "enrollment." Question was does a student "enroll" when he matriculates enters college. Or does he enroll every year. There are arguments both ways and the whole thing led to confusion.

Higher fees from non-resident students are important. Russell estimates they bring in about $250,000 added revenue to the schools each year.

But some of the institutions, particularly Eastern and those closer to neighboring states, thought the definition of a non-resident student was too tough.

They were interested in getting more students, not necessarily more money. Other schools thought it wasn't tough enough. They wanted extra revenue.

Since New Mexico does have a higher influx of non-resident students than average, according to Russell's figures, the problem has been to set out a policy on "middle ground," not too tough so that revenue would be lost, or not too easy, which would also lose revenue.

After getting suggestions from all the institutions the Educational Finance Board came up with one which defines a resident student this way:

"A resident student is . . . one who shall have resided in the state of New Mexico for at least 12 consecutive months immediately preceding his or her registration for a term or semester in any state-supported college or university in the state of New Mexico."

The word "enrollment" has been replaced by "registration." This serves to clarify the policy.

It is a little tougher than the old one, which if so interpreted, meant an out-of-state student would "enroll" for the second term after spending 12 months in the state.

All of this is extremely important to the student, too. Tuition fee at the University of New Mexico, for example, is $200 for resident students and $400 for non-residents—quite a difference.

DETROIT THIS YEAR has a production goal of some six million passengers car for 1955.

What has this to do with New Mexico? Well, if you neglect the small percentage for export, there is a strong possibility of a large surplus of new cars in the state at the end of the year.

Take Albuquerque for an example. Statistics show a rough average of five persons per family. That means about 32,000 families in Albuquerque.

Detroit production means there will be about one new car offered for every 5.3 families in the U. S., or about 6,400 new cars in Albuquerque. That's just new cars.

Listed in the Albuquerque phone book are 77 used car dealers. They carry on an average about 20 used cars per lot, or one for every 20 families.

This would mean that during 1955 some 8,000 cars will have been offered for sale in the Duke City, both new and used. Neglecting the private seller, that gives a figure of one car for every four families.

If you should talk to a new or used car dealer, he might admit, confidentially, that this isn't a healthy situation. And don't think some dealers aren't more than a little worried about it.

It wouldn't be so bad if nobody owned a car, but most of these potential buyers already have a car—or two.

Perhaps that is a solution—the advent of the long sought—after, two-car family.

THE COLLEGE Study Report of the Population Reference Bureau Inc. could cause some consternation in the wrong hands.

Say someone found it on a seat in a bus. He thumbs through it casually, thinking about something else at the time.

Say his eyes wandered over the

It would not strike him until the middle of the night. He'd wake up feeling something vague troubling him. Then he'd remember:

"University of New Mexico: number of babies per male graduate: 1.75."

It might be a while before he went back to sleep.

Or say he'd glanced over Page 60. Puttering around the garden the next day he'd suddenly stand bolt upright and say out loud:

"That book said more men get married than women do!"

Close inspection of the book would clear this up of course. The number of babies per male graduate is based on what happens after the graduate marries. And the marriage statistics are based on the assumption the male and female graduates didn't marry each other.

But that guy in the bus wouldn't get far in the book, what with wondering why the boss was so nice to him and where the bubble in the water-cooler goes. He wouldn't reach the part where it's explained.

He'd just worry over it for days. He'd probably end up trying to find out if the world isn't flat after all.

They're still chuckling over an episode involving Mayor Dan Swearingin of Ruidoso. His Honor accompanied a group to an Air Force firing demonstration at a base in Florida. As the civilian group was standing around one day with some junior officers a two-star general walked up. The mayor, an ex-convict, joined the officers in popping to with a handsome salute, out of habit.

A Washington columnist recently found himself in quite a professional pickle. George Dixon, writing of "Washington Scene," told in great detail how "a reporter" stumbled onto a wisp of a story about a senator's wife leaving her hearing aid in the House restaurant.

After tracking the details down Dixon wrote: "The reporter has been writing in a torment of frustration ever since. He can't print the story or even hint at it because if he did he'd have to leave home. The senator's wife is his mother-in-law." The "reporter" Dixon referred to was himself. The mother-in-law, of course, is Mrs. Dennis Chavez.

Denton Oilwell Cementing Firm Tops In Versatility

George Denton, owner-operator of the Denton Oilwell Cementing Company says "Our work is not limited to the oilfields for we also cement water wells and work at the mines. We operate in five states, and can work anywhere in the United States."

The company has been in operation since 1950. Shop and office are located across from the refinery on east Main Street.

Oilfield services offered by the company include pipe jobs on a drilling rig. In known territory the well is drilled down close to the pay, the pipe is set, the cement is pumped in and the well is then drilled in. The operators know from the geology when they are nearing the pay.

In wildcat territory there are several different ways of completing a well. One is to drill in then bridge back and cement. Another is to drill in, cement thru the pay then perforate.

Some of the other various jobs done by Denton in the oilfield are plugging back a well. This is done when a well has been drilled too deep and the owners want to plug it back. Cement is pumped into the well to do this.

Another job is called squeezing
