Shocking Pink Shocks Judge

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—U. S. Dist. Judge Carl Hatch says he hasn't forbidden attorneys to wear pink shirts in his court under penalty of being in contempt—but he thinks it might be a good idea. Reports circulated in Santa Fe said Hatch had ordered any attorneys appearing in the new shocking pink shirts be held in contempt. "What!" exclaimed Hatch, asked to verify or deny the report. "Pink shirts? I never heard of such a thing."

Police Concentrate Search For Slayers of Three Boys

Opposed Soviet Asia Attack Early in '45

Stained Coat May Be Clue To Solve Case

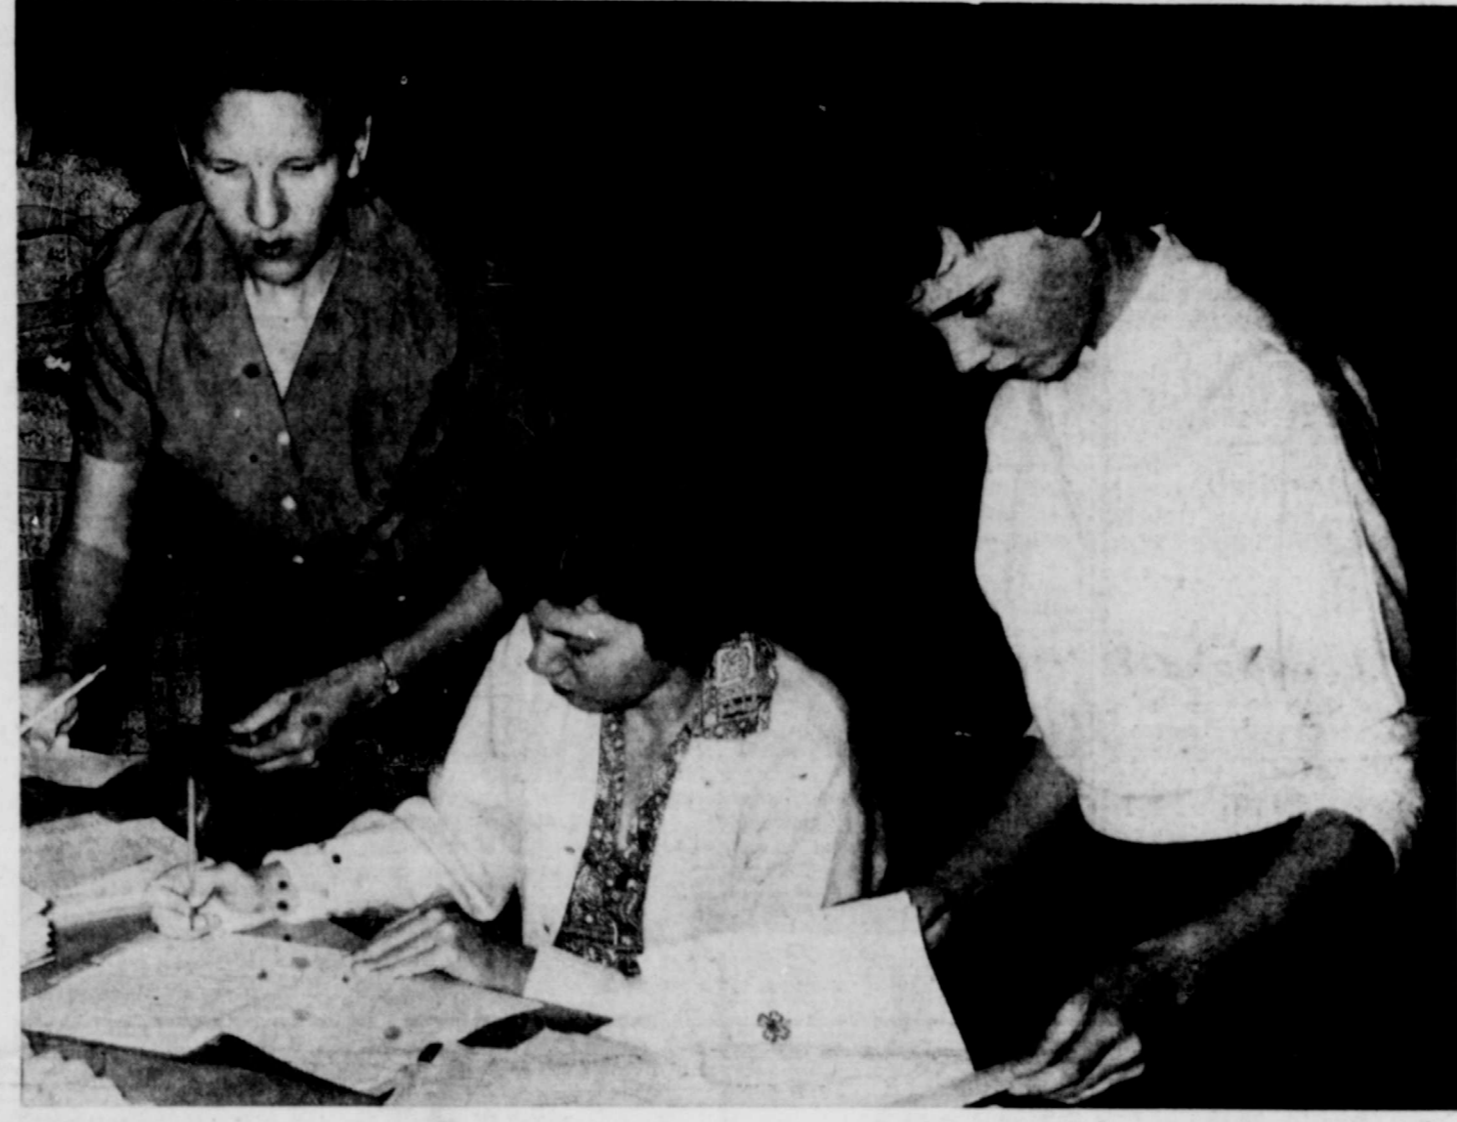

CHICAGO (AP)—The search for the slayers of three boys was concentrated today in the area where they last were seen alive. Fifty uniformed policemen and detectives were assigned to a house-to-house canvass of the street side around Milwaukee and Giddings St. The victims—Robert Peterson, John Schuessler, 13, and his brother, Arlon, 11—got off a bus shortly before 9 p. m. Sunday night. Happened at Night Some time between then and night, investigators figure, the boys were taken captive, beaten and strangled. Their nude bodies were found just after noon Tuesday in a forest preserve four miles from the place where they left the bus. The manhunters, grim and methodical, sought to find the place where the youngsters were killed or to pick up their clothing or other clues. Other officers were directed to station managers of riding stables in the western edge of the city near the forest preserve. The victims' eyes had been taped shut. They were held prisoner but tape had been removed before bodies were found. Horse Tape The marks on their faces indicated the tape was two inches wide, that could be used in taping ankles of horses. The killers knew what they were doing, commented Harry Chief investigator for the Cook (Continued on Page Six)

All In Readiness For Big Three-Day GPA Convention

All was in readiness this morning for the arrival of the first of more than 200 delegates and guests from all parts of New Mexico for the 35th annual Game Protective Association state convention which opens this afternoon.

Chavez Gets Special Air Flight Home

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department said today two large passenger planes are being sent on special flights to Europe to bring home three senators and their wives who declined to wait for scheduled flights. Sen. Dennis Chavez of New Mexico is one of them. Robert Tripp Ross, assistant secretary of defense for legislative and public affairs, said in reply to questions that the planes are being sent to bring home certain members of the Senate Appropriations committee. The senators, all Democrats, are McClellan (Ark) and Stennis (Miss) who will board one plane in Madrid and Chavez who will be picked up in another at Paris. Ross said that when the senators told Defense department representatives abroad that a proposal to use a later scheduled plane was unacceptable, the Pentagon had "no alternative" except the special flights. Second Annual Pecos Valley Home-Ranch Show And FFA, 4-H Sales Opens Today

Artesia's second annual Pecos Valley Home and Ranch Show opens today, in conjunction with an annual FFA and 4-H livestock show and sale. The three-day dual event takes place at Mitchell's warehouse on South First st. Admission is free, and includes a variety of entertainment, at scheduled periods, all three days. Serenaders also will present four shows Friday afternoon and night. Also on today's entertainment schedule is a 14-man group of top harmonizers from Walker Air Force Base, "The Gleemen."

Carlsbad Rancher Denny Moore Enters Race for Legislature

E. O. (Denny) Moore Jr., Carlsbad rancher, today became the second announced candidate for Eddy County's third representative in the Legislature. Moore said he planned to file for representative from Eddy County in next spring's Democratic primary. Moore made it clear that he is running for the "new seat" in the Legislature, made available by the Sept. 20 constitutional amendment election, and that he does not intend to "try to displace either of the incumbents." A life-long Democrat, Moore was born in Dexter, in Chaves County, in 1918, and has spent all his life farming and ranching in the Pecos Valley. He has owned a ranch in Eddy County since 1940 and has made his home in Carlsbad since 1946. Active in civic and agriculture affairs, Moore has served two terms as a director of the Carlsbad Chamber of Commerce; four (Continued on Page Six)

Artesia Woman Accidentally Shot

An Artesia woman was given emergency surgery this morning at Artesia General Hospital after being shot accidentally through both legs. Hospitalized is Willie Mae Sanders, 36 of 805 Logan. Gill said that her husband, Autroy Sanders, 39, an oil field worker, took the rifle with him to shoot rabbits. As Sanders was taking the (Continued on Page Six)

Young Duke City Airman Becomes 281st Road Death

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS A young Albuquerque airman stationed at Moriarty was killed today when a speeding automobile upset on U.S. Highway 285 about 30 miles south of Santa Fe. The victim was identified as Armando Alonzo Martinez, 21, Albuquerque. His death raised the 1955 road toll to 271 compared with 286 a year ago. Two injured companions were taken to a Santa Fe hospital. They were the driver, Jose K. Pinerio, 22, and Juan Sosa, 21, both also stationed at Moriarty.

Simms Due Here Friday Morning

SANTA FE (AP)—Gov. John F. Simms will fly to Artesia Friday to address the State Game Protective Assn. convention and he is expected to arrive there about 10 a. m., his office said today. On Saturday the governor will spend the day at Highlands University's homecoming and take part in the dedication of Hewett Hall, a men's dormitory named for Dr. Edgar L. Hewett, first president of the school.

Aerobee Rocket Sent 80 Miles Up to Study Particle Shower

ALAMOGORDO (AP)—A September rocket flight at Holloman Air Development Center to study meteorites and temperatures encountered in the upper atmosphere has been disclosed here by Air Research and Development Command scientists. An Air Force Aerobee rocket reached an altitude of 80 miles last month at Holloman, where the launching was conducted under supervision of scientists from the Air Force Cambridge Research Center and the University of Michigan. The test was considered a significant part of man's attempts to obtain further understanding of unknown factors of the upper atmosphere. Information contained will be helpful in the future design of guided missiles and high speed high altitude aircraft, officials said. The test was separate from and (Continued on Page Four)

Projected Trip of Princess Margaret Romance

LONDON (AP)—A Buckingham Palace spokesman said today that Elizabeth II has given her approval for Princess Margaret, the Queen Mother to visit in February 1957. But there is no certainty they will make the trip. This routine statement had the effect of throwing a mantle of concealment about the romances of Princess Margaret and Capt. Peter Townsend. The first supposition—and it was that—was that Princess Margaret would be following the round-trip official functions even as (Continued on Page Six)

Nearly $2 Million Spent On State Game Habitat

CLAYTON LAKE, which has been surrounded by controversy for months again was defended by Pickens. He noted the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service has approved the project, making it eligible for 75 per cent federal funds, and he quoted the federal agency as saying: "From the Dingell-Johnson federal matching act standpoint, the per-acre cost is not excessive and there is little question but that the project would pay for itself on the basis of fishermen days of use in 10 years or less." The Clayton Dam controversy is expected to be discussed at this week's GPA state convention at Artesia. Pickens compared the present estimated per-acre cost of $2,028 for Clayton Lake with Wall Lake's $2,836 and Bear Canyon Reservoir's $9,375. "After a few well-meaning people came into the picture with no factual knowledge and demanded an investigation by the governor," Pickens said, "we continued in stride, knowing that the investigation would reveal no misfeasance. Gov. Simms appointed Comptroller Dan Smith, whose preliminary finding was that the project needed no further investigation. "The Albuquerque testing laboratory had been engaged by the State Game Commission, the state engineer and myself to drill test holes and to test compaction. The results of these tests were satisfactory and we therefore proceeded with the project. "The Clayton project is the largest single development project undertaken thus far by the department. More such projects are needed and are under consideration in our 10-year planning program." Following are Pickens' totals of money spent in the counties for (Continued on Page Six)

WASHINGTON (AP)—Fresh controversy centering on Gen. Douglas MacArthur flared today from the Pentagon's release of long-secret documents bearing on American efforts to bring Russia into the war against Japan. The documents recorded MacArthur as twice concurring directly in the opinion that Russia should get into the conflict — once when the war began and again in June, 1945. MacArthur, acknowledging that he wanted the Soviets to strike Japan right after Pearl Harbor, denied that he ever again advocated Russian entry into the war until after the Yalta conference of February, 1945, when great concessions were made to Russia. Confirms Stand In a statement in New York, MacArthur declared the 35,000-word Pentagon report "fully confirms" that he was never consulted about Yalta. And he said that once the Yalta decisions were made they became binding upon him as upon other military commanders. He commented: "The attempt to interpret any statements I may have made in the course of such post-Yalta discussions as reflecting my pre-Yalta views and convictions is wholly unwarranted." MacArthur also said in his statement: No Concessions "There is not the slightest hint of documentation over my signature in the entire Defense Department report which even remotely suggest my support of these territorial concessions. "I repeat, had my views been requested concerning the secret agreements bearing upon Russia's entrance into the Pacific war I would have opposed them as fantastic." Last March, when a Republican-Democratic debate over Yalta brought up questions of MacArthur's views at that time, the general declared he had not had the slightest connection with the conference, and asserted: "Had my views been requested (Continued on Page Six)

Five Children Die As Fire Sweeps Frame Structure

NOBELSVILLE, Ind. (AP)—Five children died today in a fire that swept through a four-room frame house and seriously burned their parents. In less than an hour, the house burned to the ground, leaving the five bodies identifiable only by size. The eldest of the victims, Leonard Maloney, 5, was found near the back door, and the youngest, Elaine, 6 months, was in the charred remains of the parents' bed. Katherine, 2, and the 3-year-old twins, Paul and Paulette, were found near the center of the house. The mother, Mrs. Mattie Maloney, 37, suffered second and third degree burns trying to rescue the children. The father, Tom, 43, was burned seriously. Both parents were taken to Riverview Hospital. The Maloneys' eldest child, Ray, 7, awakened by smoke, roused his parents. He escaped. Firemen believed the fire started from an overheated coal stove.

Record Prices Are Paid at Hereford Fall Cattle Sale

RATON (AP)—The second cattle sale of the fall season began today amid comments about the record breaker near Springer yesterday. Thomas F. Turner and Sons, Glen Caviness and Jim Morrow, all of Raton, offered registered Hereford females and steers in today's sale. The three sellers wondered if the amazing prices that prevailed yesterday would continue today. Hereford bull calves that usually bring about $200 sold for an average price of more than twice that yesterday. The top price was $1,200. The sale was held by E. N. Jeffers and Sons and J. L. and Deming Doak, Gladstone, at the Jeffers ranch near Springer. Two partners, J. A. Weaver, Wheatland, Colo., and Sidwell and Sons, Carr, Colo., paid $1,200 for a Jeffers bull born this February. The 64 animals, just weaned, brought a total of $31,795 for an average of $496 a head. Observers said the prices set a state record and could set a national mark. Jeffers offered the other highest sellers, Simm Watson, Hobbs, paid $1,075 for one and J. C. Neafus, Newkirk, offered $1,000 for another. (Continued on Page Six)

Pork Is No. 1 Weekend Food Sale Bargain

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Pork is the No. 1 buy in meat this week. It's available in food stores and supermarkets from coast to coast at bargain-basement prices.

Roast loin of pork heads the list of weekend specials in many markets—and if you want to serve markets—and if you want to serve it with homemade apple sauce, plenty of apples are available. National Apple Week, an annual sales promotion event timed to coincide with the peak harvest season.

Smoked ham is another featured item on meat counters this week. Beef rib roasts and sirloin steaks are moderately priced, as is shoulder of veal. Roast leg of lamb, although still relatively high, has been marked down four cents a pound by major food chains in several U. S. cities; one big chain is featuring a weekend special in lean lamb chops.

Sharp Drop
Biggest reductions, however, is for pork. In some parts of the country, prices of center cut pork chops are down as much as 10 cents a pound.

Frying chickens are a little higher in price in some cities, reflecting higher quotations at wholesale, but still constitute an excellent buy. Retail prices in the weeks ahead are expected to move up. Marketers, who had been burned with record-breaking supplies of young chickens, have now succeeded in selling off most of them. So prices are likely to firm up until the next big crop of birds reaches the market.

Potatoes and onions are again the "outstanding" buys in produce—an marketing specialists say the quality for most types is better than usual for this time of year.

Long Island potatoes are in the forefront in Eastern markets; Idaho, Washington, Oregon and California varieties are highly popular elsewhere.

Vegetables Plentiful
Cabbage, cauliflower, lettuce and greens are plentiful and moderately priced in most parts of the country. Also listed as good buys are peppers, egg plants, southern cucumbers, Canadian rutabagas, and Virginia snap beans.

High on the list of outstanding produce buys are apples. This is the time for harvesting—from the great apple growing valleys of the Pacific Northwest to the home-stead orchards of Maine. The crop, estimated at 105 million bushels, is of excellent quality for most varieties. Cortland, MacIntosh and Delicious apples are among the most attractively priced this week.

Pears are also very much in season—Bosc, Russet, Comice, Bartlett and Seckel pears are available at moderate prices almost everywhere.

Citrus fruits, both from California and Florida, are coming to market in increasing volume. Strawberries and raspberries from West Coast truck farms are putting in an appearance here and there but shipments are not yet sufficiently large to force prices down to bargain levels.

Egg prices, still on the uptrend, may start falling again soon. Production—at a record rate in September—moved still higher this month. So far, however, unprecedented consumer demand has held egg prices well above year ago levels. Top grade eggs have been wholesaling at about 50 cents a dozen in Midwest markets against 35 cents a year ago.

Amish Farmer Happy Without Any of Modern Living Aids

By HAL BOYLE

NEW HOLLAND, Pa. —What would life be like if you owned no automobile, never drank a beverage stronger than water, never attended a dance, movie or stage show, and lived in a house that had no electric lights, radio or television set?

"My life is happy," said Dave Huyard, who lives in this manner. He is a well-to-do, 48-year-old farmer who wears a neatly trimmed beard and in good weather likes to go about his acres bare-footed. Huyard is an Amishman, a member of "The Plain People," a religious sect whose members are dedicated to simple living and a high standard of conduct.

Although they cling to old-fashioned ways—they usually take their children out of school at 14 to teach them farm and household work—the Amish are highly regarded by their more modern-minded neighbors. They are quiet, industrious, law-abiding and have practically no juvenile delinquency. Few Amish become doctors, lawyers, policemen or railroad conductors, and none I talked to ever heard of one who was a politician.

"We recommend our people to stay on the land," said Huyard. Those who cannot buy land work on farms or in such trades as carpentering until they can afford acres of their own.

An Amish farmer, since he cannot use electricity depends on horses for his horsepower, usually he works from dawn to dusk every day except Sunday.

Huyard and his wife, Lydia, have two separate farms totalling 151 acres worked by themselves and their three sons, David, 22, daughter, Ruth, 24, is married. "My goal is to raise the children so they can take care of themselves," said Huyard, "and, if we can, to help them get good farms of their own."

The competition among Amish fathers to buy new farms for their sons is strong. One farm recently sold for $1,203 an acre, more than Ruyard feels is justified by present crop prices.

"It is a big problem," he said. "That is why we must buy land in other areas."

Although some Amish young men and women are being weaned away from old paths by the temptations of modern comforts, Huyard expressed the belief that the number of traditional or "old or-

Melvin, 18 and Isaac, 15. Their "der" Amish is increasing steadily. There are settlements of the sect in Ohio, Iowa, Indiana, Maryland and Virginia.

Huyard doesn't feel the tenets of his religion require any extraordinary sacrifice and is surprised if anyone suggests they are unduly stern.

"As a rule we are happy," he said mildly. "We are no less happy than people of any other religion. We plan for the future. We live on hopes and hard work. And we enjoy our life more than people who feel free to have anything in the world they please."

Girl Scout Units To Exhibit Crafts At Ranch Show

A meeting of the Girl Scout district council Wednesday morning at the home of Mrs. S. P. Yates, 808 Clowe, revealed the Girl Scouts will have a booth during the Farm and Ranch show opening this afternoon. Details of arrangements were set up by Mrs. William Siegenthaler, district chairman, presiding at the meeting.

In attendance were neighborhood chairmen, Mrs. C. P. Bunch, Mrs. Bob Hanson and Mrs. Yates.

Cooking classes for intermediate scouts have been set up, it was announced, with the first class to begin this Wednesday at the Southwestern Public Service Co. The course of six classes, sponsored by the Girl Scouts and given by Mrs. Jackie Riddle of Carlsbad, home economist for the Southwestern Public Service, will be divided into an explanation-lecture series of three, and a demonstration-practice series of three sessions to be held in the electric kitchen maintained by Russell Appliance Co.

The possibility of a first aid course to be given in the area within the year was discussed among other business which included arrangements for a troop committee course, and a dramatic workshop to be held here in the early part of December.

Next on the council agenda is the annual council meeting scheduled this year for Hobbs on Nov. 15. It will be an all-day session designed to set up a 20-hour training course for leaders as well as for the handling of council business.

Mrs. Siegenthaler announced the next meeting of the district council for Wednesday morning, Nov. 16, at the home of Mrs. Bunch.

Pork Is No. 1 Weekend Food Sale Bargain

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Pork is the No. 1 buy in meat this week. It's available in food stores and supermarkets from coast to coast at bargain-basement prices.

Roast loin of pork heads the list of weekend specials in many markets—and if you want to serve it with homemade apple sauce, you'll find apples cheap and plentiful also. For this is National Apple Week, an annual sales promotion event timed to coincide with the peak harvest season. Smoked ham is another featured item on meat counters this week. Beef rib roasts and sirloin steaks are moderately priced, as is shoulder of veal. Roast leg of lamb, although still relatively high, has been marked down four cents a pound by major food chains in several U. S. cities; one big chain is featuring a weekend special in loin lamb chops.

Sharp Drop
Biggest reductions, however, is for pork. In some parts of the country, prices of center cut pork chops are down as much as 10 cents a pound. Frying chickens are a little higher in price in some cities, reflecting higher quotations at wholesale, but still constitute an excellent buy. Retail prices in the weeks ahead are expected to move up. Marketers, who had been burned with record-breaking supplies of young chickens, have now succeeded in selling off most of them. So prices are likely to firm up until the next big crop of birds reaches the market.

Potatoes and onions are again the "outstanding" buys in produce—an marketing specialists say the quality for most types is better than usual for this time of year. Long Island potatoes are in the forefront in Eastern markets; Idaho, Washington, Oregon and California varieties are highly popular elsewhere.

Vegetables Plentiful
Cabbage, cauliflower, lettuce and greens are plentiful and moderately priced in most parts of the country. Also listed as good buys are peppers, egg plants, southern melons, Canadian rutabagas, and Virginia snap beans.

High on the list of outstanding produce buys are apples. This is the time for harvesting—from the great apple growing valleys of the Pacific Northwest to the home-stead orchards of Maine. The crop, estimated at 105 million bushels, is of excellent quality for most varieties. Cortland, MacIntosh and Delicious apples are among the most attractively priced this week. Pears are also very much in season—Bosc, Russet, Comice, Bartlett and Seckel pears are available at moderate prices almost everywhere.

Citrus fruits, both from California and Florida, are coming to market in increasing volume. Strawberries and raspberries from West Coast truck farms are putting in an appearance here and there but shipments are not yet sufficiently large to force prices down to bargain levels.

Egg prices, still on the uptrend, may start falling again soon. Production—moved still higher this month. So far, however, unprecedented consumer demand has held egg prices well above year ago levels. Top grade eggs have been wholesaling at about 50 cents a dozen in Midwest markets against 35 cents a year ago.

Amish Farmer Happy Without Any of Modern Living Aids

By HAL BOYLE

NEW HOLLAND, Pa. —What would life be like if you owned no automobile, never drank a beverage stronger than water, never attended a dance, movie or stage show, and lived in a house that had no electric lights, radio or television set?

"My life is happy," said Dave Huyard, who lives in this manner. He is a well-to-do, 48-year-old farmer who wears a neatly trimmed beard and in good weather likes to go about his acres bare-footed. Huyard is an Amishman, a member of "The Plain People," a religious sect whose members are dedicated to simple living and a high standard of conduct.

Although they cling to old-fashioned ways—they usually take their children out of school at 14 to teach them farm and household work—the Amish are highly regarded by their more modern-minded neighbors. They are quiet, industrious, law-abiding and have practically no juvenile delinquency. Few Amish become doctors, lawyers, policemen or railroad conductors, and none I talked to ever heard of one who was a politician.

"We recommend our people to stay on the land," said Huyard. Those who cannot buy land work on farms or in such trades as carpentering until they can afford acres of their own.

An Amish farmer, since he cannot use electricity depends on horses for his horsepower, usually he works from dawn to dusk every day except Sunday.

Huyard and his wife, Lydia, have two separate farms totalling 151 acres worked by themselves and their three sons, David, 22,

daughter, Ruth, 24, is married. "My goal is to raise the children so they can take care of themselves," said Huyard, "and, if we can, to help them get good farms of their own."

The competition among Amish fathers to buy new farms for their sons is strong. One farm recently sold for $1,203 an acre, more than Huyard feels is justified by present crop prices.

"It is a big problem," he said. "That is why we must buy land in other areas."

Although some Amish young men and women are being weaned away from old paths by the temptations of modern comforts, Huyard expressed the belief that the number of traditional or "old or-

Melvin, 18 and Isaac, 15. Their "der" Amish is increasing steadily. There are settlements of the sect in Ohio, Iowa, Indiana, Maryland and Virginia.

Huyard doesn't feel the tenets of his religion require any extraordinary sacrifice and is surprised if anyone suggests they are unduly stern.

"As a rule we are happy," he said mildly. "We are no less happy than people of any other religion."

"We plan for the future. We live on hopes and hard work. And we enjoy our life more than people who feel free to have anything in the world they please."

Bud Smith Holds On To Title In Confusing Judging Mixup

CINCINNATI, (AP)—In as merry a mixup as you'll find in boxing annals, Wallace (Bud) Smith held on to his lightweight championship last night.

Smith, the 26-year-old Cincinnati, halted three-time champion Jimmy Carter's bid for a fourth title. But no one is certain today whether the decision was split or unanimous.

Smith weathered a bruising 13th round, in which he was in rubber-legged trouble all the way, and finished the 15-rounder in good shape. Then the 8,000 paying customers and a nationwide television audience sat back to await the verdict.

Judge's scorecards were collected from Willie Purcell, Joe Blink and Gene Nietschze. The collector handed the cards to Paul D. Cain, chairman of the Cincinnati Boxing Commission, who looked 'em over.

The collector went back to Blink's side of the ring, card in hand, for a hurried consultation. The ring announcer then said:

"Judge Purcell, 143 for Smith, 139 for Carter. Judge Blink, 140 for Smith, 140 for Carter. Judge Nietschze, 143 for Smith, 135 for Carter."

That made Smith the winner on a split decision.

Ten minutes later Commissioner Cain told newsmen he had rechecked the cards and found that Blink's added up to 143 for Smith, 139 for Carter, and that the decision was unanimous.

But Blink, who at 70-odd is the retired city circulation manager of the Cincinnati Times-Star, tossed everything into confusion again by stating:

"I don't care how they add it, I voted for Carter, 144 to 140."

That made it a split decision again, but by that time the television audience was watching some other program.

Commissioner Cain observed: "We must go by the figures on the card. It was unanimous for Smith."

But Blink, still judging two bouts after the main event, was adamant in his declaration that "I voted for Carter, 144 to 140. It's still split as far as I'm concerned."

The Associated Press card gave the fight to Carter by 144 to 141. No explanation of how the 140-140 draw figure for Blink's card was arrived at, and no announcements of any kind relative to the verdict were made from the ring after the first rundown of how the judges voted.

The judges awarded the winner of a round 10 points, the loser a lesser amount, and 15-round totals decided the fight. The referee, Tony Wardorf, had no hand in the balloting.

There were no knockdowns in the scrap, which attracted a gross gate of $30,441 and a net of $25,789.35, of which the principals received $9,000 each in addition to a cut of the television receipts.

Carter, who suffered cuts requiring 20 stitches when he lost the title to Smith last June 29, was cut in the right eye in the third round and fought from the eighth on with the eye closed.

Smith was unmarked, although he took a terrific battering in the 13th when Carter belted him into the ropes with a series of rights and lefts to the head and body, and had him hanging on like a leech.

Maryland Picked to Defeat Syracuse; Navy Over Penn

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

NEW YORK, (AP)—Last week's deluge of upsets brought a 27-20 record for an average of 375. That pulled the season's average for picking the winning football team down to 743 on figures of 162 correct selections in 218 tries.

Hoping that the wave of upsets has subsided, here are this week's winners:

Michigan over Minnesota: They always play this one for keeps and for the Little Brown Jug. Michigan, although Ron Kramer will sit it out, appears too strong for the Minnesota sophomores.

Maryland over Syracuse: Syracuse reached the preseason heights expected of it last Saturday in blanking Army but Maryland isn't going to be stopped short of the Orange Bowl this season.

Oklahoma over Colorado: Colorado annually gives Oklahoma its most rugged afternoon in Big Seven competition but the Sooners have forgotten how to lose.

Navy over Penn: George Welch and Ronnie Beagle to give the Quakers a miserable afternoon.

Duke over Pittsburgh: Another close one to the Dukes.

UCLA over Iowa: The Uclans have recovered from that loss to Maryland. Iowa lacks a passer. A Friday night affair.

Southern California over California.

Beaumont Bows Out of Texas League Baseball

DALLAS, (AP)—Beaumont bows out of the Texas League this year but it's leaving something to be remembered by most of it, however, that which Beaumont probably would rather just skip.

Plenty of records were set in the league during the past season, the official report of statistician Bill Ruggles showed today, and among them was one by Beaumont.

The Exporters dropped 110, which, while it is second in the all-time records (Austin in 1914 lost more—114), it brought them a record anyway. They wound up losing 100 or more games in a season four times.

Beaumont also set a record for being shut out in the most consecutive innings. The Exporter record is 43.

The league had a new record for 1-0 games played in a season—33. This was three more than ever before. Dallas won 40 games by a 1-run margin and that was a new record. The old mark was 39 set by Fort Worth in 1950.

Eddie Knoblauch of Dallas, the league's leading hitter with 327, set a new record for 1-base hits. He has pounded 1,368 in 11 years.

Baylor, Texas Aggies Game To Be Thriller

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Baylor and Texas A&M, meeting Saturday in the Southwest Conference's top football game, were the center of attention Thursday as training slacked off for the week.

Texas Christian, still smarting from its upset defeat by the Texas Aggies last Saturday, prepared for its top inter-sectional game against Miami's Hurricane at Miami, Fla., Friday night.

At College Station, the Aggies concentrated on defenses against Baylor plays, but Coach Bear Bryant also drilled his Cadets on punting and goal line stands. The Aggies will be trying for their fifth straight victory of the season.

The Bears polished the plays Thursday and scheduled the same light workouts for Friday. Coach George Sauer reported his team in top condition with the exception of injured quarterback Doyle Traylor, who has yet to play in a varsity contest for Baylor.

Texas Christian announced two changes in its lineup for the Miami contest. Bill Alexander at left guard and Don Sanford at right end are moving up to replace Joe Williams and O'Day Williams at their respective positions. The Frogs were to leave for Miami early Thursday and work out there late in the day.

Rice, preparing for Texas minus ailing Coach Jess Neely, took an abbreviated workout. The drills were shortened after the Blueshirts stopped the varsity cold on Texas plays. It was a drab day for the Owls. Line Coach Joe Davis reported.

Meanwhile, the Longhorns were cheered at Austin as some second stringers came through with stellar performances. Texas's coaches hoped for more effective reserve strength, thin all season, against Rice.

At Fayetteville, Arkansas' Razorbacks worked on pass offense mostly as they drilled for their Oxford, Miss., game against Ole Miss. Coach Jack Mitchell said his charges, 1954 conference champions, would be in fine shape for the Mississippi Rebels.

Quarterback John Rouse led the Southern Methodist Mustangs through defense drills as they prepared for Saturday's game against the Kansas Jayhawks in Lawrence, Kansas. The defensive expert on the SMU coaching staff, Dick Peters, was in charge of Pony drills.

National League To Hold College Pro Draft Early

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The National Football League will hold part of its annual college player draft two months early this year in an effort to beat the Canadian League to the cream of the crop.

Commissioner Bert Bell of the NFL said last night that the league will meet in Philadelphia sometime between Nov. 14 and Nov. 28 — Probably Monday, Nov. 28 — to make the bonus pick and select the first three choices.

Bell's announcement came after a Milwaukee Journal sports writer quoted an unnamed league club owner as saying the league would hold a secret draft meeting Nov. 28 because of Canadian raids. The unidentified owner was quoted as saying:

"We are sick and tired of Canadian raids on our best college talent. We've had to sit helplessly in the past, with our draft in January, while Canadian clubs swooped down in late November or December and plucked off, or at least approached, the cream of the crop."

Rejected Secrecy Contention

Bell rejected the secret meeting contention, saying, "I sent out a bulletin to club owners informing them of the meeting and specifically stating that an announcement of the early draft would be made to the press at least two weeks before the date of the meeting."

"We're trying to avoid the possibility of signing ball players already signed and vice versa," Bell said.

The commissioner went on to explain that NFL teams found that many players selected in their draft already were signed by Canadian teams by the time the January meeting rolled around.

"Some players would say they weren't signed by the Canadians and they were; some would say they were and they weren't. We ended up in lawsuits. That we want to avoid," Bell said.

He said that the meeting would enable NFL teams to contact college players at least at the same time as the Canadians.

Asked if the early drafting might not upset the scout and other information seeking of the NFL teams, Bell said: "They all know by now which are the top 36 players in the country. The early draft won't hurt them a bit."

The Canadian Pro Football League has had the jump on its NFL rivals in the player market because its season ends in November. The NFL campaign winds into late December.

Soothing Baths Help To Relieve Itching

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

PROPER clothing and special baths can do a lot to help relieve generalized itching.

Woolen underwear frequently is the source of the trouble. If you suspect this is the villain, try changing to silk or cotton.

Beneficial Bath

Ill-advised bathing may be extremely harmful. The right kind of bath, on the other hand, may be very beneficial.

The bath water should be tepid, starting at 78 degrees Fahrenheit and gradually reducing it to 68 degrees. Or, you can follow your bath with a cold spray.

It's usually advisable that the bath water contain soothing agents such as bran, menthol, sodium bicarbonate or others.

Oatmeal Bath

An oatmeal bath is easy to make and generally is very soothing.

Place two cupfuls of oatmeal in a gauze bag and boil for five minutes. Dissolve two tablespoonfuls of sodium bicarbonate in the bath water and then add the bag of oatmeal.

Squeeze the bag. This forces out the tiny particles which increase the soothing action. Don't rub yourself dry. Pat gently with a soft hand towel.

Then apply powders or creams recommended by your doctor.

To Prevent Itching

Good anti-itching medications include olive oil, alcohol, tincture of benzoin, resorcin, chloral and weak acetic acid. But don't use them without first getting your doctor's advice.

Roentgen rays provide a sedative action and are one of the best forms of obtaining relief from itching.

There's a lot the doctor can do for you. So, don't just scratch and suffer. Itching is a symptom; it means something is wrong.

See your doctor right away. He can help you.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

E. G.: What causes blisters on the bottom of the feet?

Answer: Blisters on the bottom of the feet may come from ringworm of the feet, from rubbing or from infections with various types of bacteria.

An examination to find the cause is needed before treatment can be carried out.

Freeze Flavor Into Fall Vegetables

Flavor's at its peak at harvest time and today's home freezer guards it for you. Since all vegetables start losing their natural monosodium glutamate content (and therefore flavor) the moment they're picked, be sure to restore it in your home freezing operation with Ac'cent. Think of freezing whole meals as well as single foods— Stuffed Baked Potatoes and Zucchini Creole which you can serve with a vegetable aspic salad are two new and modern home freezing ideas that will make meals tastier.

Stuffed Baked Potatoes

Scrub uniform sized baking potatoes; rub skins with butter or margarine. Wrap each potato in aluminum foil; bake in hot oven (450°F.) 45 minutes. Cool enough to handle. Cut slice from top; scoop out pulp, saving shells. Mash pulp, adding 1 tablespoon melted butter for each potato. Season to taste with salt, pepper, and Ac'cent. Whip in enough hot milk to make mixture light and fluffy. Re-fill shells. Cool; wrap in freezer-weight aluminum foil; freeze. Re-heat in moderate oven (350°F.) about 40 to 45 minutes. If desired, tops may be sprinkled with grated cheese before re-heating. (Storage time: 3 to 4 months.)

Zucchini Creole

4 cups cubed zucchini squash
1 can (1 pound) tomatoes
1 teaspoon salt
Few grains pepper
1/2 teaspoon Ac'cent
2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Cook squash in small amount boiling, salted water 5 minutes. Arrange alternating layers of squash and tomatoes in aluminum foil baking dish, sprinkling each layer with salt, pepper, Ac'cent, and dots of butter or margarine. Cool; cover; seal; label; freeze.

To re-heat: Sprinkle buttered bread crumbs on top; bake in moderate oven (325°F.) 45 minutes.

YIELD: 6 servings.

Warnings Are Issued Here

IT BECAME necessary every now and then for warnings to be issued against those seeking to sell our citizens and our business people over the phone.

These warnings, of course, are issued against the outsiders who come in to try and sell merchandise or space or advertising or something else over the phone.

It is always a dangerous practice, of course, to buy anything over the phone. It is a dangerous practice to buy something when we are not sure what we are buying or those with whom we are dealing.

Many individuals have learned the hard way that it is never wise to trade with those we do not know. Others have learned in buying over the phone that this is never wise, either. But many a racket and many a scheme is worked over the phone.

Most of us know this when someone seeks to sell us something over the phone and yet we buy. If we didn't the practice would be discontinued.

It is far wiser to buy and trade with our local people, our local merchants and those we know and we hope will buy and trade with us.

But we must remember as we invite and solicit business from those in our community that we should also spend our money for the things we buy in the community.

We can't preach and argue buy and trade at home and expect others to trade with us when we go outside the city to spend our money with others and to trade elsewhere. It just won't work that way.

But we as citizens and residents in Artesia help our own community when we do our trading and when we buy at home. We help to provide jobs and create payrolls; we deal with people we know; we have contacts we can make if the merchandise is not all it should be or if we need service; it is the business we give the local people that permits them to make gifts and contributions to our community to continue our growth and progress.

So it is very wise not to do any buying over the phone. It is also wise to buy and trade at home but this goes for the merchants and the business people, too. When we spend our advertising dollar or other dollars elsewhere then we can't very well expect others to spend their dollars with us.

This is one of those two edged things—this trading at home—that works both ways.

Chavez—

A formal statement by Ross said:

"Soon after the adjournment of the last session of Congress, the chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee, Chavez officially requested that the Department of Defense provide government transportation to certain members of the Senate Appropriations committee for travel to Europe and return for the purpose of examination of estimates and other activities in the field overseas. The request contemplated that individual members, because of the various commitments, might be returning at different times.

"Under the statute, the Department of Defense has a duty to provide without question transportation to members of Congress who are traveling under such authorization."

The defense official said it developed, when dates for the three senators' return were picked, that no suitable planes on scheduled missions would be available on the specific dates.

"Delays of two or three days were not acceptable to the members of the committee," the statement said. "The Department of Defense was advised through the escort officer, assigned for assistance to the committee, that the dates proposed by the Department of Defense were unacceptable and therefore, there was no alternative under the legislation and the request by the chairman, but to provide the special aircraft to meet the request."

A spokesman said the planes will be Constellation-type, four-engine transports and that the cost of sending the planes will be approximately $20,000.

A plane of that type is operated by the Air Force at a cost of about $325 per hour.

Aides of the senators said they knew of no request for special planes and declared the senators, before leaving, had advised the Air Force when they would have a return.

Ralph L. Matthews, administrative assistant to McClellan, said McClellan was reluctant to make the trip and told the Air Force he would go only if it agreed to get him back in time to attend a meeting of the Arkansas River Valley Assn. on Oct. 29.

Frank Burnett, administrative assistant to Chavez, said he felt sure Chavez had not requested a special plane. He said Chavez had advised the Air Force he would have to be back around Nov. 1 and left it up to the Air Force to arrange the necessary transportation.

Tom Fontaine, administrative assistant to Stennis, also said that he knew of no request for a special plane. He said that he knew none was made from Stennis' office. He said Stennis had said before leaving that he wanted to return the latter part of October but had set no specific date that would require a special plane.

is to point out businesses, industries and services of the Pecos Valley. The whole thing, says chairman Dave Button, is to be run on a County Fair theme.

Adding to that theme will be the livestock show and sale which will be conducted at the same time in one end of the huge warehouse. The livestock show and sale is co-sponsored by the Artesia Kiwanis club and the Carlsbad Farm and Ranch Improvement Assn. In addition to livestock, the time will be used for judging of all 4-H and FFA projects during the year.

The livestock show and sale gets underway this afternoon at 1:30, with weighing in of all animals. Beginning at 7 o'clock will be judging of dairy cattle, breeding sheep and breeding beef cattle.

Judging of fat sheep and barrows will take place Friday morning at 8, with judging of beef calves and breeding swine, Friday afternoon at 1:30. The junior livestock sale will begin Saturday afternoon at 1:30.

Judges from State College will be: Beef and swine, Ivan Watson, who is extension animal husbandry specialist; sheep and lambs, J. R. Stauder, who is extension lamb and wool marketing specialist and dairy, E. E. Anderson, who is extension dairy specialist.

Anderson also is to judge poultry and rabbits.

years on the Eddy County Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation committee, three of them as chairman; is a member of the Eddy County Farmers Home Administration committee; has served two terms as vice president and is presently secretary-treasurer of the New Mexico Cattle Growers Assn.; and is a member of the board of supervisors of the Carlsbad Soil Conservation District. He is active in the Presbyterian church.

Moore said he has developed many contacts with senators and representatives in the Legislature during the past two years, having been a frequent visitor during sessions in connection with matters of interest to Eddy County. He said he has become familiar with the Legislature's procedures and operations. Legislative work also seems to run in the family. His grandfather, C. N. Moore, served three terms in the Legislature, from Chavez County, during the 1930's.

Moore attended Amarillo Junior College and the University of Southern California. He is married and the father of three children. He makes his home at 1207 North Guadalupe st.

Of his candidacy, Moore said: "Having lived in Eddy County during a period when it has developed tremendously, I have great faith and confidence in the future of all phases of its economy. I believe that I am competent to represent fairly the interests of all the people of Eddy County in all matters that may come before the Legislature, both those problems of direct interest to Eddy County, and the complex problems of state importance. This I intend to do to the best of my ability, if elected."

The September effort was conducted as a joint effort of the Cambridge Research Center and the University of Michigan electrical engineering department, the latter under contract to ARDC.

Among the problems the scientists were attempting to solve was whether meteoritic particles would damage the smooth surface of a guided missile as the particles bombard the surface.

Oil-Potash Drill Rules Set By OCC

SANTA FE (AP) — Oil Conservation Commission approval of the order revising rules for potash-oil areas was announced today by Commissioner William B. Macey. The rules apply to potash areas of Eddy County and western Lea County east of Carlsbad.

The complicated subject of how to govern oil and gas well drilling in areas of known or potential potash production, for the best interests of all concerned, has been under study for months. A committee representing the two industries joined in the study.

The new order changes rules set up originally in so doing, it eliminates two former designations—"A" area, covering existing mining operations, and "B" area, covering areas of known reserves.

In the future there will be one single area covering potash known commercial potash deposits Macey said.

The rules pertain to any exploratory oil and gas drilling in a potash area. In such a case, the driller must conform with certain requirements, such as amount of pipe used, he must give notice to the potash interests involved and he must take certain extra precautions.

Once a discovery well has been brought in, the rules provide for a hearing and determination of rules governing that specific area. "Each area must stand on its own feet," Macey said. "I believe these rules will be acceptable to all concerned, with possibly some minor disagreements. But in something like this, there must be some compromises."

Macey said the commission "received excellent cooperation in this from all parties involved." He said he thinks the order will be of benefit to both potash and oil-gas industries.

with reference to Yalta I would most emphatically have recommended against bringing the Soviet into the Pacific war at that late date. For have made vital concessions for such a purpose would have seen to me fantastic."

Yalta was a meeting of President Roosevelt, British Prime Minister Churchill and Russian Premier Stalin at a Russian Crimean resort of that name. Stalin asked there for territorial and other concessions, largely at the expense of China. He was given them, and pledged in return to return to enter the war against Japan three months after the defeat of Germany. Germany surrendered May 7, 1945.

As matters developed, the Russians came in six days before Japan's surrender Aug. 14, 1945.

Carry Blame

In the years since, critics of the Roosevelt administration have contended the Yalta concessions are to blame for many of the Western world's present difficulties in the Far East.

Some Democrats have replied that Roosevelt acted on the basis of military advice, including that from MacArthur.

It was in the light of this argument that the Pentagon agreed

Douglas Says Yalta Papers Exonerate FDR

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.) said today papers just published by the Pentagon "seem to exonerate President Roosevelt's decision at Yalta to bring Russia into the war against Japan."

For the past 10 years, there has been considerable controversy over the Yalta decision. Russia came in to the war after the first atomic bomb was dropped, and less than a week before Japan surrendered.

Douglas said "it should also be remembered" that at the time of the Yalta meeting "we did not know that the atomic bomb would be successfully developed."

"Under these circumstances," he added, "it was but natural that President Roosevelt should have taken the advice of his military leaders."

HOSPITAL MEET STARTS

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—Management problems of small hospitals were taken up today as 35 delegates from seven states opened a regional institute of the American Hospital Assn. California, Colorado, Nevada, Kentucky, Utah, Arizona and New Mexico were represented. The topic of a panel discussion today was professional practice in small hospitals.

Lt. Edward Stanwyck of the state police said a brown suit coat had been found near the spot where the bodies were thrown. He said the coat has grease spots and what appear to be blood stains and has a tailor's label: "Steve Petix, Detroit."

Police efforts to solve the crime included:

Gangs Watched
A scrutiny of teen-age gangs on the Northwest Side;

A search for two old, hot-rod-type automobiles reportedly seen near where the bodies were found Tuesday;

A thorough canvass, house to house in some blocks, of a belt on the Northwest Side from the victims' homes to where the bodies were found;

Laboratory examination of numerous articles found in or near the wooded area.

Authorities are considering at least two theories—the boys were killed either by one or more mentally unbalanced adults or by a gang of teen-agers.

An autopsy failed to disclose that the youngsters had been molested sexually.

Sheriff Joseph D. Lohman said last night he had assigned 37 men to the Northwest Side canvass and that their work "should either produce a quick solution to this case or narrow our path of investigation a great deal."

Too Much Trash on Screens

TV Viewers Need Gadget That Will Pick Out the Really Good Programs

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK — There are several gadgets on the market today that will enable a listener to tune out a television commercial. But they do little to help the veteran video viewer in his real predicament. Your hardened TV fan no longer rants against commercials as he did in those faroff pioneer days when Hopalong Cassidy first rode into our living rooms on a 12-inch screen. The TV addicts have developed a protective mechanism similar to that acquired by husbands married to talkative wives. The moment a really boring commercial begins to flash on the screen they turn off their ears, a glaze creeps into their eyes, and they sink into the same restful torpor they would if they were listening to a long-winded after dinner speaker.

A gadget to tune out commercials isn't the TV industry's major needed invention. What is needed is a gadget that will pay no attention to commercials but instead seek out and flash on good programs.

Television has mushroomed faster than any other form of entertainment ever offered the public, not excepting bundling and trial marriage.

It is still afflicted by many forms of bilge, including too many cash-and-carry quiz shows to which the contestants come poor as church mice and leave rich enough to endow a cathedral although none has done that with his winnings as yet.

But anyone who still brags, "I never look at television—it's a complete waste of time," only shows ignorance. He is like a man who refuses to have electric lights in his home because he has heard electric lights are also used to illuminate shooting galleries or gambling dens.

The truth is that television is growing up faster than many of its viewers. It has an increasing wealth of worthwhile things to watch.

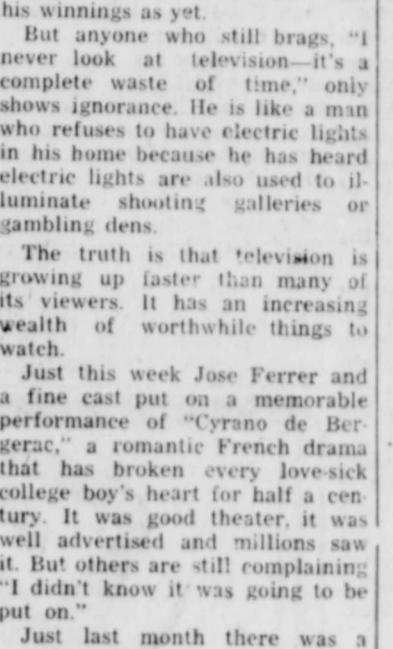

Just this week Jose Ferrer and a fine cast put on a memorable performance of "Cyrano de Bergerac," a romantic French drama that has broken every love-sick college boy's heart for half a century. It was good theater, it was well advertised and millions saw it. But others are still complaining "I didn't know it was going to be put on."

Just last month there was a surprise "sleeper" drama, "A Wind from the South," a splendidly done Irish play at James Costigan starring Julie Harris. It was as good as anything seen on Broadway in an average season. But millions who would have enjoyed it missed it because they either did not know it was being put on or had no way of knowing in advance it was top quality.

A program-scanner gadget would end such disappointment. It would filter out the trash and when it found something really good light up, ring a bell and cry out: "Don't miss this!"

That's the kind of gadget serious TV viewers say they need most today.

THEY'RE NATIONAL CHAMPION TRUCK DRIVERS

RANCH HAND SHOTS SELF
CLOVIS — Clint Faulkner, ranch hand on the P. H. Herndon ranch 15 miles west of Clovis, died to death yesterday after a shotgun blast accidentally ripped into his left thigh. He apparently was pulling the gun from a pickup truck when it went off. He was discovered about 40 minutes later by Herndon, but died on the way to the hospital.

COLISEUM DELAYED
ALBUQUERQUE — W. Miles Britelle, architect for the $800,000 State Fair coliseum, has told the fair board that steel for the building probably will not be delivered until January and there was a possibility the coliseum might not be ready for the 1956 fair.

CEREMONIAL GROUP ELECTS
GALLUP — Four new members have been elected to the Gallup Inter-Tribal Indian Ceremonial board. Elected to four-year terms were Homer Powers, Clair Gurley and Norville Davis. John Kennedy was elected for a two-year term. Other members of the board are Pete Havens, Frank Harshman and Merle Tucker.

FITCH HEADS FLORISTS
ALBUQUERQUE — Norman H. Fitch, Albuquerque, was chosen president of the West Texas-New Mexico Florists Assn. yesterday. Harold Madery, Clovis, was elected first vice president; A. V. Womack, Anson, Texas, second vice president and Ike Brennard, El Paso, third vice president.

More Than 300 Due to Take Part in Permian Field Trip to Guadalupe Friday, Saturday

More than 300 persons are expected to attend the Permian Field Trip to Guadalupe Mountains, Friday and Saturday. The event is sponsored by the Permian Basin Section of the Society of Economic Paleontologists and Mineralogists.

That organization headquarters in Midland and has members over a wide area in West Texas and New Mexico.

Leaders of the trip will be Philip B. King, Norman D. Newell and Donald W. Boyd. Headquarters will be at Carlsbad. Purpose of the project is to review correlation problems and interesting aspects of Permian sedimentation in the basin-margin province at Bone Springs Canyon, McCittrick Canyon, West Dog Canyon and other localities.

A symposium on Permian Correlation Problems will be held Friday night in the Carlsbad Municipal Auditorium.

Advance registration for the trip closed Saturday. However, officials of the sponsoring organization reveal that persons who have not registered are welcome to attend.

Such persons may register Thursday at the Carlsbad Municipal Auditorium. They will have to make their own hotel reservations.

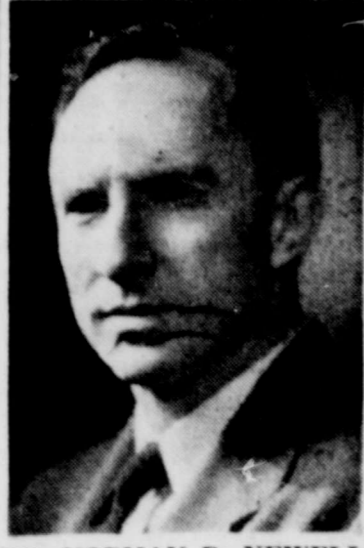

The three leaders this trip are recognized as top men in the profession.

King has been principal geologist with the United States Geological Survey, at Denver, since 1948. He currently is a visiting professor at the University of California (Los Angeles). He is a nationally known for his work in tectonics and on the Permian stratigraphy of West Texas.

His paper, "Permian of West Texas and Southeastern New Mexico," was published in the AAPG Bulletin in 1942, and was followed by the USGS report, "Geology of the Southern Guadalupe Mountains, Texas."

Newell has been professor of geology at Columbia University since 1945. He also is curator for Invertebrate Fossils and Historical Geology, of the American Museum of Natural History in New York.

Boyd is instructor in geology at Union College, Schenectady, N. Y. He is a former teaching assistant of Newell. He currently is completing a doctoral thesis on the Brokeoff Mountains of the El Paso Gap quadrangle, where backreef facies of the Guadalupian section is exposed.

State Catholic Leader Lauds Labor's Stand

SANTA FE (AP)—Archbishop Edwin V. Byrne, entering a dispute over wages paid to Mexican cotton pickers, said today the secretary of labor should not be permitted to certify a labor shortage until employers publicly have offered Americans as good conditions as those offered aliens under the international agreement.

Byrne described as "comforting" a statement by Secretary W. S. Roberts of the State Federation of Labor. After Gov. John Simms last Friday protested that New Mexico cotton growers had to pay Mexican nationals higher wages than in neighboring Texas, Roberts declared that willful ignoring of the law and the international treaty by Texas was no reason for New Mexico to do the same.

Byrne said the international contract provides foreign workers with benefits which American citizens do not have. He added: "Seemingly it is better in this business to be an alien than an American."

Simms had protested "apparent discrimination" against New Mexico cotton growers. He said they must pay higher wages for Mexican nationals than is paid in adjacent Texas counties, and he urged the secretary of labor to suspend the higher contract rate "at least until neighboring Texas counties have been surveyed and the growers of the two states put on equal footing."

This brought a reply from Roberts that federal law and international treaty require that Mexicans be paid the same rate as domestic laborers in a given area.

Roberts said that New Mexico should uphold the law no matter what Texas does.

Byrne said "it is our prior duty to help and defend and save those who pay taxes here and belong to us." He cited Roberts' statement that 18,000 to 20,000 farm workers are leaving New Mexico annually in search of higher wages.

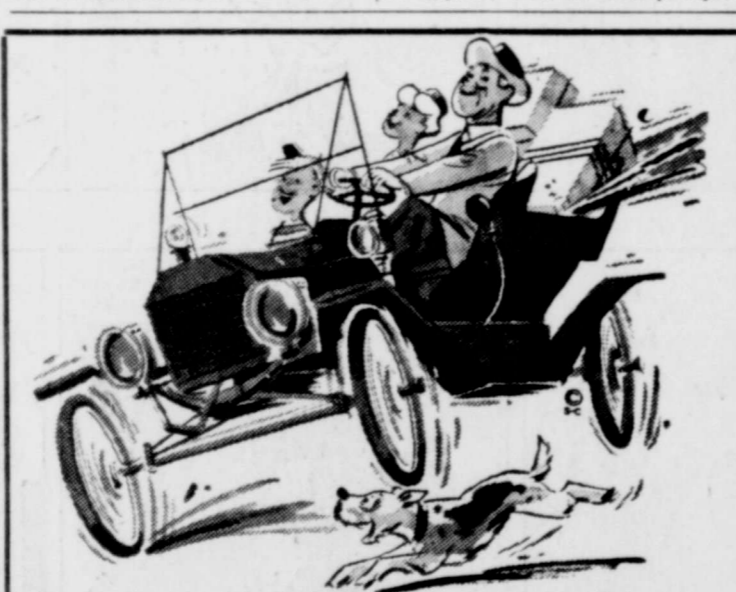

"Why this exodus?" the prelate asked.

"The reason is that Americans, even though their standard of living may be low, cannot support their families in decent and frugal comfort or the low wages paid them. They leave their homes, their schools, their churches and travel hundreds of miles seeking employment in other states."

Declaring "seemingly it is better in this business to be an alien than an American," the archbishop said.

have no guaranteed wage but must accept what they can get. They do not receive any guarantee of the employment period and therefore if crops are poor or rains too plentiful they do not get much employment.

"The international contract provides some insurance benefits, medical care, reasonably good housing and transportation. The foreign workers have a written contract. These provisions are denied to American citizens."

Swindles Against Government Is Polish Pastime

WARSAW (AP)—The national sport in Poland today is swindling the government.

The Communist regime winks at some of the tricks. Try as it will, lift can't stamp out the ingenuity of the Pole turning over a fast zloty.

Those who get away with something are regarded as local heroes and soon become the main topic of restaurant and bar conversation.

In a country short of manpower and trying to industrialize while maintaining a high standard of agriculture, the government simply lacks the cop to curb the swindlers.

Shops cheat on taxes and often cheat the customer on prices, too. The official party press reported, for instance, that a flying squadron checked 30 shops in a Stettin and found only three with correct books.

City slickers are always selling the peasants the rights to collect tolls on little bridges in their neighborhood. Often they are party men and the peasant never knows beyond doubt if the racket is "legitimate" with government backing or not.

Sharpies who know the law and also the police operation often bend the spirit of both by some shady, frequently brilliant coup. Court dockets are full of such instances.

The most able swindlers deal in scarce commodities. They manage through some dodge to obtain rare materials and in most cases can prove that the subterfuge used served the public interest in the long run.

Warsaw chuckled for weeks over one case. It concerned a man who searched around for aluminum to make medals for Roman Catholics. He knew it was useless to ask the government for a priority.

Finally, the man discovered that the two-groschen coin was ideal for the purpose. He corralled as many as he could and made a million medals. He pocketed a fortune. The security police suddenly discovered a remarkable shortage of two-groschen pieces and traced the case.

The manufacturer was arrested and tried. The court ruled that he had broken no law. Indeed, it pointed out that he had even paid his taxes properly. He was acquitted.

NEW MEXICANS HONORED
WASHINGTON (AP)—Six New Mexicans have been elected to the honorary rank of 33rd degree Mason by the Supreme Council, Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite, southern jurisdiction. They are Charles Cerba, Reese P. Fullerton and Frank W. Laws, all of Santa Fe; Charles H. Fowler, Socorro; Arthur H. Nicolai and John R. Snyder, both of Albuquerque.

Roof Fell in on GOP Leader When Ike Suffered Seizure

WASHINGTON (AP)—The roof fell in on Leonard W. Hall when President Eisenhower suffered a heart attack. Before that, there was a rosy glow in the sky. Now he can't see what lies ahead.

As chairman of the Republican National Committee, it's Hall's job to lay the foundations for a Republican victory in 1956.

His counterpart Paul M. Butler, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, has the same kind of job for the opposition. It's a backfiring job for both men any time. But Hall's looked easier than Butler's — before the President fell ill Sept. 24.

The Democrats have no sure-shot candidate for their party's nomination in their convention next summer, even though at the moment Adlai Stevenson may seem to hold an edge.

And before the convention is over the scramble among Democrats may bust the party wide open.

But Hall, a lifetime politician who at 55 is genial and almost bald, saw nothing like that in store for his party. On the contrary, in early September, he was in a spot Butler and any other professional politician must have envied.

To hear him talk, there were no storms ahead on his political lake. He was confident that Eisenhower would run again. If Eisenhower did, with his immense popularity, he seemed a year ahead of time to have much better than a 50-50 chance of winning.

And if Eisenhower won, he might again, as in 1952, pull the whole party with him and give the Republicans control of Congress once more. The whole Republican party felt the way Hall did.

Then on Sept. 24 the President was stricken. Now Hall merely, and not too confidently, speaks about the possibility that Eisenhower may run.

If he had to bet privately, I'd guess he'd bet Eisenhower won't run. So Hall, an ex-judge and seven times a congressman, faces a tough year, just as tough as Butler's.

This month, as if accepting the idea, Eisenhower wouldn't run, Hall was saying the party would win by taking "Ike's philosophy, personality and the record of his administration."

But trying to win on Eisenhower's record may not be enough, since the voters will have to make their own judgment on the Republican candidate, whoever he is. And who he may be is something Hall doesn't know now.

LOVELACE HONORED
WASHINGTON (AP)—Dr. W. Randall Lovelace II, director of the Lovelace Foundation for Medical Education and Research at Albuquerque, has been presented an exceptional service award. Air Secretary Donald A. Quarles presented the award to Lovelace and three others in honor of their service on the Air Force Scientific Advisory Board.
