Flood Control Plan Proposed For Artesia

West To Offer Reds Security

GENEVA.—The Western Powers have decided to offer firm guarantees for Russia, Poland and Czechoslovakia, against any German aggression if Russia will agree to unification of Germany on Western terms.

The twin issues of European security and German unification top problems up for action in the Big Four foreign ministers conference opening here today.

But looming before the foreign ministers—although not taken into account in preconference planning—was the fear that Middle East tensions would flare into full-scale shooting war.

New frontier clashes between Israel and Egypt have heightened these fears, as did recent shipments of Communist arms to Egypt from Czechoslovakia.

Officials in Washington today described the Middle East, as the most critical theater in the cold war. State Department spokesmen said they had new information that Soviet bloc sources have made several approaches to Israel about supplying arms to Israel forces.

Secretary of State Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan and French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay were expected to protest to Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov about the arms being sent to Egypt since they deem the Russian government responsible.

Israeli Premier Moshe Sharett headed here from Paris to make his own protest to Molotov and to press for Western arms and protection for Israel. He conferred in Paris yesterday with Dulles and Macmillan.

These two and Pinay were reported to have decided against rushing arms to Israel or formally guaranteeing its security at this time. They evidently hoped to redress the situation by other means.

The Western ministers have arranged to confer regularly among themselves in order to maintain the solid front they consider their greatest single source of strength in dealing with the Russians.

The four ministers are meeting in the Council Room of the Palace of Nations, where the Big Four heads of government laid out general objectives at a summit conference three months ago.

It was that gathering of government heads which developed, particularly between President Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Bulganin, the cordial relations and declarations for peace which have come to be known the world over as the "spirit of Geneva."

Now Dulles, Macmillan, Pinay and Molotov are putting that spirit to the hard test of turning generalities into concrete accomplishments.

It wasn't until last night that the really close to the President ventured to discuss in public possibility that he may not be re-elected next year.

Addressing a Republican rally in his home New Jersey county of Somerset, Bernard M. Shanley, Eisenhower's appointment secretary and former special counsel, said the President "knows he will win."

Shanley then went on to say "no matter what the President's decision in 1956 is—whether he will carry the Republican banner or not—certainly all our people will accept that decision."

Frank A. Kindel Tosses Hat in Commission Race

Frank A. Kindel, Carlsbad gasoline wholesaler, today announced his candidacy for county commissioner from the first district in next spring's Democratic primary. He is the first to make a formal announcement in the commissioner's race.

Kindel said he will file for the place now held by William E. (Slick) Shafer, who is ineligible to succeed himself.

"If anyone wants to know who I am and what I've done," Kindel said, "he won't have any trouble. I have lived in Carlsbad since 1898. My record is an open book."

"Nobody has asked me to run," Kindel added.

His object in seeking the office of commissioner, Kindel said, is to see that some things that have not been done get done. He said he wanted to investigate the possibility of "carrying on our own road building program," as is done in Lea County, by employing a county road supervisor.

If elected, Kindel said, "I pledge to do my utmost for the county as a whole. . . . I have no personal motives."

Referring to his own business, Kindel said he will not, if elected commissioner, solicit the county's gasoline and oil business. "I do not think it right that anyone do anything in office to further his own cause."

He added that he has no farm or ranch "to which the county can build a road."

Kindel's only previous public office was as a city alderman in Carlsbad when he served a four-year term in the 1930's.

The Carlsbad business man has gained nation-wide fame for his unique Sunday morning newspaper route. Flying his own plane and without charge, he carries copies of the Current-Argus to remote ranches through the county, dropping them through a special "bomb bay" in the floor.

Controversial Tax-Free Groups Face Revenue Service Scrutiny

WASHINGTON.—The Internal Revenue Service is examining "at least the more controversial" cases among more than 32,000 organizations it lists as tax-free.

This was learned today from an informed source in contact with revenue service headquarters.

Revenue service officials and their Treasury superiors said they could not discuss the matter at this time.

However, it was learned tax officials are giving increasing consideration to the question of what yardstick to apply to an organization with possible political interests when it asks for tax-exempt status.

Whether this will result in wholesale review of all past exemptions is not yet decided, according to available information.

Meanwhile, it also was reported that the Justice Department has told the Treasury it should get authority from Congress before carrying out a long-remored plan to open to public inspection documents filed by organizations to which revenue service grants tax exemption.

The federal government accords tax-free status to religious, educational and charitable organizations.

A person familiar with the plan said removing the secrecy curtain from tax exemption applications and tax returns of such organizations would show their aims, backers and details of their finances.

The Internal Revenue Service recently revoked tax-free privileges involving two controversial organizations—the American Institute of Pacific Relations and For America.

The IPR was investigated by the Senate Internal Security subcommittee in 1951-1952. Afterward, the Senate group said in a report the IPR had been infiltrated by Communists and that its activities had

Screams Reported Heard Night Boys Were Murdered

CHICAGO.—Reports of screams the night of Oct. 16 had police searching two sparsely settled areas of the Northwest Side today for clues to the brutal slaying of three young boys.

The nude bodies of the strangled, beaten youths—Robert Peterson, 14; John Schuessler, 13, and his brother Anton, Jr., 11—were found in a forest preserve just northwest of the city limits Oct. 18. An autopsy showed that they were killed two days earlier.

Gifts Readied For Use Of Veterans In State Hospitals

"I am going to appropriate this idea and take it back to England with me next time I go," said Mrs. Louise Gott. She was referring to the "Veterans Gift Shop" program carried out by the American Legion Auxiliaries and Past Presidents Parley here.

Mrs. Gott, who is of British nationality, was so impressed by the idea that when she heard about it she went out and, on her own initiative, talked her friends into contributing to the program.

Last night, at her home southeast of Artesia, Mrs. Gott gave a party which was attended by many of the contributors and by representatives of the Legion Auxiliaries. The gifts that she and her friends are contributing to the Gift Shop pretty well spread out over two large tables.

The gifts will be sent to Veterans hospitals at Albuquerque and Ft. Baird where they will be wrapped by local women. Veterans confined to these hospitals will then be privileged to select gifts from among them to send home to relatives.

Army Recommends 5.7 Mile Long Dike

Army Engineers at a meeting of the city council last night proposed a flood control dike to divert waters from Eagle draw to Tumbleweed draw. The project would cost the city $170,000.

Other business brought before the council included:

1.—A recommendation that the city call for bids on a traffic signal for the corner of First and Main; 2.—The question of a purifier for the swimming pool; 3.—Approval of the purchase of a ditching machine for the city; 4.—Authorization to call for bids for water line construction materials; 5.—Acceptance of the Morrison Supply Co. bid to supply water pipe; 6.—Approval of a liquor license transfer; 7.—Agreement for the city to put up the Christmas street decorations.

The Army Engineers flood control report proposed building a dike 5.7 miles long to divert flood waters from Eagle draw to Tumbleweed draw.

Of the $170,000 cost, $88,000 would go for highway change and $102,000 for purchase of right-of-ways.

Mayor W. H. Yeager said that the city will need more information on damage the project would cause to property. Army Engineers agreed to make a survey of this. The biggest objection is expected from farmers in the vicinity of Tumbleweed draw.

Last year about this time flood waters from Eagle draw caused an estimated $250,000 damage in Artesia. These floods occur about every seven to 10 years.

The council agreed to look into the cost of a clarifier for the swimming pool before next season. It was thought that the purchase of a ditching machine would save the city money and the council authorized purchase of a machine. Bids were authorized for valves and fittings for the new water line and

Ache In Pocketbook Replaces Britain's Romance Worries

LONDON.—Money ousted Cupid from the spotlight in Britain today.

Front-page attention to Princess Margaret and Peter Townsend shrank to the vanishing point.

Instead, the newspapers went in for such headlines as "Butler Rides the Kitchen."

R. A. Butler, chancellor of the exchequer, yesterday hiked by 20 per cent the retail tax on every thing from pots and pans to toothpaste and automobiles.

What's a royal heart pang compared with the sharp ache in your personal pocketbook? The editors plainly were happy to have something to talk about other than the royal romance, in which their were few developments visible to the naked eye.

These were limited to:

1. The 25-year-old princess, along with the rest of the royal family, was a dinner guest at the residence of the Portuguese ambassador. She left half an hour after midnight snaling.

2. Townsend, the 40-year-old R.F. group man whose divorce is the obstacle, in the eyes of the Church of England, to a wedding, saw Margaret at her residence for an hour and three quarters before she went to the dinner.

The studio audience laughed like mad.

3. Buckingham Palace disclosed, in response to an inquiry, that Margaret will pass up the annual royal film performance next Monday night. It will be the first time in nine years she has missed it. No reason was given.

4. The first joke about the romance was cracked on a program of the state-sponsored British Broadcasting Corp.

Comedian Bill Kerr, pretending to read a newspaper bulletin, said, "Britain facing another crisis—they had tea together again today."

The studio audience laughed like mad.

Opera Star Blasts Movie Stars' Dress

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD — Opera and television singing star Maguerite Piazza today blasted what she called the sloppy dress in public of some movie stars.

"Hollywood is the only place I know where the men dress better than the women," the New Orleans thrush declared, adding:

"It must be the climate." She named Marilyn Monroe as one of the worst offenders until she bolted Hollywood to live in New York.

"I hear there has been some improvement since she went back East," Miss Piazza said. Shelley Winters also was on the Piazza list.

"Stars have a great obligation to their public, especially in the matter of dress. They should lead the way. Fans are hurt when they see their favorites look dowdier than the women next door.

"It's a lot of bother, I know, to get all dolled up every time you go out in public but it must be done if you're in the public eye. You'll never see Grace Kelly in sloppy blue jeans."

Miss Piazza can qualify as some sort of expert on women's dress. She has been named on several 10 best dressed women lists.

"Hollywood's most durable stars know how important it is to dress for their public. Look at Joan Crawford. She wouldn't buy a loaf of bread at a supermarket unless she wore a Don Loper creation.

"Marlene Dietrich is another. If Marlene goes for a walk in Central Park and wants to dress casually, she makes sure to disguise herself so that no fan will know her."

Miss Piazza claims that many housewives in bargain basement frocks outdo some of the $5,000-a-week movie stars in dress.

"All the money in the world won't buy good taste," she argued. Miss Piazza is the first opera star who ever came up via television to stardom in the Metropolitan Opera but she has no desire to stay in the long-hair bracket.

She currently is doing a night club act where she starts out singing arias, does an onstage striptease down to a scanty costume revealing a Monroe-like figure. She closes her show singing "St. Louis Blues" and "When the Saints Come Marching In" in red-hot New Orleans style.

Is that dignified for an opera star?

"I'm through with opera for a very good reason," she answers. The reason:

"When I work in Las Vegas," she opens there again tonight, "I make more money in one night than I did at the Metropolitan for a whole year."

Add leftover cooked meat, cut in strips, to a can of Marinara-type tomato sauce. Throw in some canned mushrooms if you like. Heat thoroughly and serve over cooked noodles.

Former Veeps See Different Ways To Pick President

NEW YORK — Three former Democratic vice presidents disagree on how best to nominate a man for that office.

Their thoughts on the matter were brought out last night in separate interviews on the Edward R. Murrow show "See It Now" over CBS.

Henry A. Wallace suggested no change from the present system of nomination by national conventions. However, he warned that a policy split between the President and vice president could be dangerous in "these troublesome times" and urged "an increasing sense of awareness on the part of both the general public and the delegates to the national conventions."

Sen. Alben W. Barkley (D-Ky.) said he favored direct nationwide primary elections to choose candidates for both the presidency and vice presidency.

Harry S. Truman said direct primaries were ideal, "but there isn't a man in the world with money enough to put on a direct primary for President and then run for president."

"It would require an immense amount of money in each one of the states," he added, "and I am not so sure that it would obtain the results that we think about."

Consumer Durables Stock Is Largest in Nation's History

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK — Consumer durables saturation—three big words that mean: How many more autos, TV sets, kitchen and laundry appliances can and will the American people buy?

The stock of durable goods they now own is the largest in history. At present they are spending $5 billion dollars a year for more.

Some economists fear that the saturation point may be near. They argue that most folk who need these things have them by now.

But economists at the Chase Manhattan Bank in New York point out that "The American consumer, when his income rises, seems to possess an almost limitless capacity to use it." In the bank's quarterly review of business they also observe that producers are equally resourceful in inventing new and improved appliances and other products with which to tempt the consumer.

Both the number of families already possessing these gadgets and the amount being spent a year for more is impressive.

About 70 per cent of all American families own an automobile, and 12 per cent of these own more than one. At the moment Americans are spending 16½ billion dollars a year in buying cars.

The housewife is now spending more than four billion dollars a year on kitchen and household appliances and two billion for furniture.

But the bank economists say this doesn't mean that the market for these goods is drying up. They note that in 1954 two thirds of all refrigerator sales were for replacement. And 83 per cent of new car buyers traded in an old car.

Economists at the First National City Bank of New York, estimate there are around six million pre-war cars on the road — candidates for scrapping.

The Chase Manhattan men also point to new fields far from the saturation point: clothes dryers and air conditioners are owned by only four percent of our families, and dishwashers by three percent.

The Vacuum Cleaner Manufacturers' Assn. notes today in Cleveland that factory sales of this product are breaking records this fall. In September sales ran 29 per cent higher than the year before, and for the first nine months of this year sales topped the like period of 1954 by 23 per cent.

The Radio-Electronics-Television Manufacturers Assn's president, H. Leslie Hoffman, predicts that eight million TV sets will be turned out this year for a new record.

Give Americans more speaking money and offer them new or better gadgets—and you've got yourself a sale.

Ever wonder how cooks make those big wide carrot curls? The trick is to cut a large carrot in half lengthwise, then cut thin lengthwise strips of carrot, starting from the cut side and using a swivel-blade vegetable parer. The carrot strips are then rolled up, fastened with toothpicks and given an icy bath for a couple of hours so they will crisp and stay in shape. Remove toothpicks before serving. With a sprig or two of parsley, the carrot curls make attractive garnishes for luncheon sandwiches.

State's Polio Season Passes With Case Dip

SANTA FE — Health Department officials said yesterday the peak of the polio season has passed and New Mexico seems likely to wind up this year with much fewer cases than 1954.

As of today, the state had recorded 115 cases. Last year at the same time there had been 214. There were 233 for last year as a whole. Deaths from the dread disease are exactly one half of last year's total—four compared to eight.

Officials are reluctant to comment on effectiveness of the Salk polio vaccine.

But among children 5 to 9 years old — the group which was vaccinated this year — there is a dramatic difference in both the number and the severity of polio cases. Four children who received Salk vaccine later came down with polio. Fourteen in the 5-9 age group who did not receive the vaccine contracted polio.

Two of the four vaccinated children had a paralytic form of disease while 10 of the 14 unvaccinated had paralytic polio. Deaths were recorded among children who were inoculated.

Dr. B. F. Rosenblum, head of the Health Department's communicable disease division, said the peak polio week was the third in August. Cases now are being reported at a much diminished rate.

Supplies of Salk vaccine are coming in and the serum is available to children from 1 to 10 years old and pregnant women. That the group given top priority to receive the much in demand drug.

Physicians are receiving the vaccine on a percentage basis from their county medical societies. The Health Department has a supply for use of those who can't afford to pay a private doctor.

NEW YORK—Things one New Yorker thinks about:

With two months to go and all nominations not in yet, I would like to advance my candidate for Loneliest Man of the Year: William O'Dwyer, the onetime cop and onetime mayor of New York. Now an almost forgotten resident of Mexico City, with the glamor-struck Sloan Simpson no longer at his side, he drifted into town during the recent World Series excitement. He talked vaguely about trying to get the Brooklyn Dodgers (who may lose their Ebbets Field home soon) to come to Mexico, and said he might visit Washington to talk about a tax problem he has—but it was all too obvious that he had come back to the big city because he was lonesome. Someone asked him when he landed at Idlewild airport if he had any message for his friends in New York and he said huskily, "God bless them." Here is a sick, tired, old man and if you think that he wasn't the greatest mayor in the world, as so many of us did, you suddenly find it hard to stay mad at him.

With fire houses seemingly studding the city, it is startling to learn that last year New York's fire losses were more than $25 million. For the year ending this past June, there were 50,599 conflagrations (ah, there!) in town, and even that was some $400 less than the previous year. The local fire department, which believes that nine out of every 10 fires are preventable, has been sending pairs of firemen around to schools and homes, as fire-prevention ambassadors. . . . So Alice Joyce, who aroused the genteel beast in all of us years ago in Beau Geste, is dead at 65. Did anyone feel as I did that this was the most beautiful woman in the silent movies?

A THRIVING new Greenwich Village saloon, the Cafe Bohemia, now is offering a musical combo with not one, but two jazz flutists. For some reason, this news reminds me of the aging story of the bopster in the airplane who, ordered to put out his cigarette and fasten his seat belt, exclaimed happily to his pal, "Man, we gonna hear some Dizzy Gillespie jazz now!" . . . The suburbanites grow washish. Gregory Peck has been acting in a movie being made these days in Westport, Conn., and the New Haven railroad supplied a 1941 train for one scene. "But where," one 5-17 rider asked snidely, "will they borrow the 1955-type train they want to use tomorrow?"

Good reading: Bill Coffman's (he's the man who started the East-West Shiner football game) autobiography, American in the Rough. Also, Jerry D. Lewis' fine collection of poker stories, including F.P.A.'s recollections of the old Round Table crowd at the Algonquin, Dealer's Choice. Also, Art Cohn's The Joker Is Wild, Joe E. Lewis' biography, in which Cohn credits this department with having said of Joe, "Getting a fact out of him is like pushing mercury to the wall." Thanks for the credit—but I don't remember the line. . . . Mass success story: The Class of 1906 at P. S. 158, on the poverty-stricken lower East Side, held a 50th reunion the other night—and discovered its ranks full of prosperous physicians, lawyers, brokers, etc. One is Louis K. Sidney, film studio executive; another a well-known architect, Arthur Weiser.

THE MOVIE OF THE YEAR may well be Clifford Odets' The Big Knife, a fascinating, racking story in which Jack Palance (Jack Palance?), the brilliant Rod Steiger and Ida Lupino (Ida Lupino?) give Academy Award performances. Three will get you five in this corner, however, they don't get Oscars. The film carves Hollywood to dark bits. . . . If you want to know why dandies like me are turning to dark ties and blue suits, listen to Bert Bacharach whose new book, Right Dress, is due out next month. Bert says 60 major newspapers now publish men's fashion sections and there are more than 100 syndicated columns on male apparel. Every guy's a peacock, yet. . . . Skyscraper-building is booming in New York, and after everyone said Radio City would be the last thing done in that direction. There's even one in stainless steel next to the Chrysler building and staring me in the eye as I write. Looks very antisepic.

Plea of Slain Woman's Sister Saves Man From Electric Chair

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Jimmie Lee Baker was convicted of murdering a minister's wife and sentenced to life imprisonment yesterday after the slayer of the dead woman told the court, "Two wrongs never make a right."

Mrs. Clyde Forster asked that Baker be spared from the electric chair.

The slain woman was Mrs. Lucille Quarles, 50, beaten to death in her home Feb. 14.

Witnesses quoted Baker as saying he and a sister, Mrs. Evelyn Watson, had planned to kidnap Mrs. Quarles for money but later decided to rob her. Baker led off to the spot where he had hoped the small loot he obtained.

Both Baker and his sister were charged but only the brother is indicted.

The defendant was described by his own attorneys as a moran and by prosecutors as a man of low intelligence.

Mrs. Forster, of Signal Mountain, Tenn., told the court:

"My sister was shown no mercy but two wrongs never made a right. I've faced many tragedies in my life but this was my greatest tragedy."

"As a mother and as a sister who raised this sister of mine who was killed in cold-blooded murder, I ask you to give this man life imprisonment and may God have mercy on his soul."

Pilot Union Head To Appear Before AFL Executives

CHICAGO, (AP)—Clarence L. Sayen, president of the AFL Air Line Pilots Assn., today said he plans to appear before the AFL Executive Council to answer charges that the pilots union is in "collusion" with United Air Lines to break a strike.

George Meany, AFL president, made the collusion charge in New York Tuesday in reference to the pilots' actions during a strike of the AFL Flight Engineers International Assn. Sayen replied that the charge was "ridiculous, half-true and uninformed."

The flight engineers struck against United Air Lines Sunday in protest against a company rule requiring all newly hired engineers to be qualified pilots. Pilots have crossed flight engineers' picket lines and have been flying United planes since the strike started.

Meany said he had learned that pilots were taking the place of striking engineers, "in clear violation of all trade union principles."

Sayen said no date has been set for his appearance before the council.

James Stewart Making Life of Lindbergh Film

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—James Stewart admits that the story of his yen to play Charles A. Lindbergh on the screen sounds amazing.

He is now playing the famed flier in the story of his Atlantic hop, "The Spirit of St. Louis." He has returned from filming locations in France, Ireland and Greenland and soon starts the Hollywood shooting. Relaxing at his spacious Beverly Hills home, he told about his long admiration of Lindbergh. "I was a nut about flying, too," he recalled, speaking of his days as a lad in Indiana, Pa. "I had already had my first flight in an old Curtis plane where you sat up in front."

"When Lindbergh made his flight, I happened to be out of school. I had scarlet fever, I think. Anyway, I'd hang around the family hardware store, looking for something to do."

"I was making window displays, so I got a piece of pasteboard and cut it out like part of a globe. At one side I put the Woolworth Building and at the other, the Eiffel Tower. Then I made a model of Lindbergh's plane.

"After he took off, I'd check with the local paper and move the plane as each report came in."

After Lindbergh landed safely, Jimmy kept a scrapbook of newspaper clippings about the flier. He picked it up when he passed through his home town returning from Europe. He also searched the family store for the replica of the Spirit of St. Louis but couldn't find it.

Jimmy had wanted to play Lindbergh on the screen for years. He tried to buy the flier's book when it came out three years ago. But Lindbergh wouldn't sell. He finally succumbed to the wiles of producer Leland Hayward, himself an aviation enthusiast.

Hayward is a close friend of Stewart's, but he didn't tumble for Jimmy's broad hints that he'd like to play the part. The producer said he was looking for an unknown.

Jimmy is convinced his dad got him the role.

"I was out to dinner at Chasen's with Leland and his wife, dad and his wife, and my wife, Gloria," he remembered. "We were talking about movies and things when dad suddenly got up and shouted, 'What the hell is this about your not giving my son the Lindbergh role?'"

Smog Continues to Choke New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, (AP)—Dense smog today blanketed a 10-mile stretch of U. S. Highway 90, main east-west gulf coast route, starting about 12 miles east of here, and halted all traffic, except a few vehicles escorted by police cars.

It was the second straight day of smog for the New Orleans area. The choking smog fell over parts of the city yesterday, causing asthma attacks that killed two persons, sent 350 others to hospitals for treatment, and interrupted traffic.

Peron Plans Long Stay in Paraguay

ASUNCION, Paraguay (AP)—Argentina's ex-dictator Juan D. Peron says he expects to remain "many months" in Paraguay. He declined to elaborate on his remark made last night to a reporter who visited his home. There have been rumors about Peron seeking residence in other countries.

About 47,000 Americans a year have disabling accidents while putting up or taking down storm windows.

Bluewater Lake Cleaned, Stocked

SANTA FE (AP)—Good eating fish were easy to get at Bluewater Lake this week at the State Game Department cleaned out all species before stocking it solely with trout.

A crowd estimated by Max Jones, concessionaire, as the largest he's seen in three years was on hand to claim fish which rose to the surface Tuesday after reteneone—a type of poison—was dumped in. The reteneone paralyzes gills of the fish. But it doesn't harm the fish for eating.

The department cleaned out the big lake preparatory to stocking it with trout alone.

Fish victims included some trout and bass and a lot of crappie, bluegill, perch, suckers and carp.

Fred Patton of the department said there were many 15 pound carp and lots of the 8 and 10 pound variety.

This was the biggest cleaning out

Army Coach Is Becoming Sleight Of Hand Expert

WEST POINT, N. Y. (AP)—No body has ever called Earl (Red) Blaik a sleight of hand performer but the way he has moved his Army football players around should qualify him for membership in the Magicians Society.

Injuries have forced the shift in a team that figured before the season opened to be one of the best in Blaik's 15-year tenure at the Point.

First it was the backfield, still a major problem as the twice-beaten Cadets prepare to meet once-defeated Colgate Saturday.

But at least Blaik will have the same starting backfield for the second straight Saturday with Don Hollender at quarter, Pete Lash and Mike Zeigler at the halfback spots and Pat Uebel at full.

Blaik, however, had no more than announced his starting backfield than up turned a line problem.

This time he shifted Ralph Chesnaskaus, one of the outstanding guards in the East last season and a starter at left tackle in all five Army games this fall, to right end. Chesnaskaus, a native of Brockton, Mass., has never played a varsity game at end at West Point. However, he saw three years as a wingman in high school.

The Cadets have now gone through a total of five right ends. Dave Thomas, Don Satterfield, Bill Saunders and more recently Bill Melnik have been hobbled by knee injuries. Each was in the starting lineup at one time or another.

Saunders and Satterfield may be available for limited duty against Colgate. Melnik is out until possibly the Yale game Nov. 5.

Loren Reid, a 6-1 200-pound alternate tackle from Fort Collins, Colo., will move into the tackle spot vacated by Chesnaskaus.

MAY PLACES

BOSTON (AP)—Harley May, Deming, N. M., placed second in steer wrestling in the Boston Garden Rodeo last night. His time was 9.6 seconds.

job ever undertaken by the department. Because Bluewater is a cold water lake, the department wants to make it strictly a trout water.

Clayton Delays Los Alamos' Title Plans With 20-20 Tie

By The Associated Press

The Clayton Yellowjackets last night threw a serious kink in the championship plans of Los Alamos Hilltoppers.

The Toppers, looking toward their game with Clayton as another stepping stone in their road to wrap up the Dist. 2A title, had to settle for a 20-20 tie—throwing their plans behind schedule at least a week.

The Yellowjackets mounted a 70-yard drive that was topped by a three-yard smash over the middle by Jerry Smith with only four minutes left to gain the spot.

Los Alamos led 4-3 on penetrations that if becomes necessary to determine the district title. The tie ran Los Alamos season record to 2-0-1, while Raton is in second place at 3-1.

Valley came up with a thrilling 18-13 decision over St. Mary's in Valley's homecoming battle in Albuquerque at the top of the rest of the night Wednesday state.

The state takes a one-day break today before heading into the windup of the light, jumbled slate this weekend. There are no games tonight, nine Friday and seven on Saturday. The teachers convention in Albuquerque, attended by many coaches, was responsible for the light schedule, and the playing of games throughout the week instead of just on the weekend as usual.

St. Mary's took a 13-12 lead late in the game, but Valley fought back on 62-yard march, climaxed by 50-yard scoring pass from Gil Cordova to Don Rowaick. It was Valley's second victory of the season—doubling the total the Class AA school achieved in its first season last year. Valley holds a 2-5 mark, St. Mary's 1-5-1.

In the other games, El Rito blasted Santa Cruz 32-7 in non-district competition. West Las Vegas took a 13-6 decision over Immaculate Conception in Dist. 2B. Socorro whipped Los Lunas 32-7 and Mountainair edged out Vaughn 13-7.

The West Las Vegas victory virtually assured the Dons of second place in the torrid 2B chase.

The Friday schedule—the lightest of the season—is headed by a couple of good non-conference games. Hobbs will be at Albuquerque in an important match, while Gadsden of Anthony pits its 28-game winning streak and two-time all-state fullback Sal Gonzales against Cathedral of El Paso in what may be the season's biggest threat to the Panther victory string.

Other Friday games have Actec at Santa Fe, Hot Springs at West-ern of Silver City, Grants at St. Mike's, Ariz., Antonio, Colo., at

Winter Baseball Leagues Underway

NEW YORK (AP)—Who said the baseball season is over?

Early Wynn is pitching in Mexico. Sandy Amoros is catching fly balls in Cuba. Vinegar Bend Mizell is striking them out in Havana.

The far-flung winter baseball season already is well under way. In addition to the four leagues belonging to the Caribbean Federation—Cuba, Puerto Rico, Venezuela and Panama—there are four or five other leagues employing some U. S. talent.

There are the Vera Cruz and Mexican Pacific Coast leagues, in Mexico, the Occidental League in Venezuela and a four-club league in the Dominican Republic. Several Baltimore players and farmhands are playing in the Colombian League in South America.

The four Caribbean Federation leagues work closely with organized baseball. Players with two full seasons in the majors are not eligible.

In the non-federation leagues, players are considered under the regulations on barnstorming. That is how Wynn, the veteran Cleveland right-hander is allowed to pitch two games for Bobby Avila's Mexico City Reds. Bob Lemon also was to have pitched a couple of games but begged off.

Classen Looks for Headache, Picks Navy Over Notre Dame in Rockne Memorial Tie

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

NEW YORK (AP)—One can get plenty of headaches—also letters—picking Notre Dame to lose a football game but that is the choice this week. It is the Knute K. Rockne memorial game at South Bend and Notre Dame will pull all the psychological stops.

Should this forecast come true it will be because of George Welsh's pirate-bold antics as the Navy quarterback.

This blueplate special prediction is the highlight of the season's seventh week. Last week there were 37 correct selections among 53 picks for a .699 average, lowering the season's total to 7.31 on 199 correct choices and 72 in correct ones.

Other selections this week: Michigan over Iowa: If the trainers could meet at midfield and compare hospital lists, Iowa would be an easy victor.

Oklahoma over Kansas State: Bob Burris and Tommy McDonald give the Sooners a rugged one-two punch.

Maryland over South Carolina: By three touchdowns, at least.

UCLA over California: UCLA Coach Red Sanders says he has the two best college fullbacks of the season.

West Virginia over Marquette: Two good teams oppose one average eleven in this one.

Auburn over Tulane: Joe Childress decides.

Southern California over Minnesota: The Trojans will have to play rugged just to keep warm.

Georgia Tech over Duke: A pair of chagrined bowl candidates take it out on each other.

Holy Cross over Syracuse: Third hard game in a row for Syracuse.

Miami over Pittsburgh: Pittsburgh learns all about hurricanes in one wild afternoon.

Skipping over the others in a hurry:

East: Lehigh over Temple, Penn State over Penn, Princeton over Brown, Rutgers over Delaware, Army over Colgate, Cornell over Columbia, Harvard over Bucknell, Richmond over Villanova, Yale over Dartmouth.

Midwest: Nebraska over Kansas, Ohio State over Northwestern, Oklahoma A&M over Tulsa, Cincinnati over Detroit, Colorado over Missouri, Iowa State over Drake, Houston over Wichita, Illinois over Purdue, Indiana over Ohio University, Boston College over Xavier.

South: Mississippi over Louisiana State, Tennessee over North Carolina, Mississippi State over Texas State, Clemson over Wake Forest, North Carolina State over Furman, Georgia over Alabama, Kentucky over Rice, Vanderbilt over Virginia, Virginia Tech over George Washington, William Mary over Virginia Military.

Southwest: Texas Christian over Baylor, Southern Methodist over Texas, Texas Tech over West Texas State, Texas A&M over Texas A&M.

Far West: Colorado A&M over Montana, Denver over New Mexico, Oregon over Idaho, College Pacific over Washington State, Stanford over San Jose, Utah State over Fresno, Washington over Oregon State, Wyoming over Brigham Young.

TECH'S FOOTBALL BROCHURE HAD HIM PEGGED RIGHT WHEN IT SAID HE'S ADEPT AT GETTING THE JOB DONE — HE DIDN'T START ONE OF THEIR FIRST FOUR GAMES BUT SCORED HALF OF THEIR FIRST 8 TOUCHDOWNS AND PASSED FOR ANOTHER — LAST SEASON AS A SOPH COMPLETED 5 PASSES IN 5 TRIES.
