MALCO PLANS HUGE EXPANSION

$30 Million Plant Is Bought; Plan Work

By SANKY TRIMBLE
ALBUQUERQUE, N. M.—Malco Refineries, Inc., today announced the purchase of a 30 million dollar plant in California to become "the largest, one of the largest independent oil firms in the world." The announcement and claim were made by Robert O. Anderson, Malco president. He said his firm has acquired after year-long negotiations the Wilshire Oil Co. refinery at Norwalk, Calif.

Anderson also announced to the newsmen during a visit here plan for a 4 million dollar modernization of the California refinery.

The oil executive also announced the firm is seriously considering acquiring a fleet of tankers to bring foreign crude to its West Coast site of operations and said his organization is considering opening foreign operations with a refinery in Turkey as a possible starter.

Anderson declined to reveal the amount paid for the Wilshire refinery, purchased from the New York firm of Blyth and Lehman and the Machris estate. He would say only that the plant's replacement value is 30 million dollars and that "we made a very good buy."

Malco is owned and controlled by Anderson and members of his family. There are only two outside stockholders.

He said the firm next year will make 70 million dollars in sales. The first year Malco was in operation, in 1941, it made sales totaling one-half million dollars.

The independent firm operates other refineries at Artesia, Bloomfield and Prewitt, N. M. It has producing properties in Wyoming, Texas, New Mexico, Colorado, Canada and Mexico. In addition to those states, it distributes its products in Utah, Arizona, Nevada, and California.

Anderson said the Wilshire refinery will operate at a capacity of 40,000 to 50,000 barrels a day. He said he expects more than half of the crude handled will come from foreign sources, adding "we're not going to be very popular with domestic producers."

The oil, he said, probably will come from the Middle East, although he is "highly interested" in Italy and is conducting surveys in South America and the East Indies.

The company executive said the West Coast operation will continue under the name of Wilshire Oil Co. of California, capitalizing on a trade mark which has been in existence 30 years. He added headquarters of the parent firm will remain in Roswell.

Anderson also said he plans an expansion of the Artesia refinery, although he did not give details. The admitted sentimentalist about

Artesia Man Held For Sale Of Marijuana

A 22-year-old Artesia man was arraigned in justice of the peace court here Saturday on a charge of possession and sale of marijuana. Sheriff's officers raided his home and said they found about $500 worth of the drug in his possession.

Raymond Fierro, 812 Bates, was arrested at his home at 4:15 a. m. Saturday and was arraigned before Judge Ellicott, justice of the peace, later that morning.

Fierro pleaded not guilty to the charge of possession and sale of marijuana and a preliminary hearing was set for Nov. 22 in justice of the peace court.

Fierro was still held in city jail last night in lieu of $2,000 bail.

Sheriff Hartsell Martin said Fierro was arrested after his name and address were found on an envelope containing marijuana, discovered in the possession of three unidentified, Carlsbad men.

Mayor Yeager Sets Safe-Driving Day

The appointment of Frank Powell, chief of police, as S-D Day director for Artesia was announced Saturday by Bill Yeager, mayor. Mayor Yeager has proclaimed Saturday, Dec. 1, S-D Day, Safe Driving Day for Artesia.

Yeager pledged the full support of his government and asked the residents of Artesia to join in making a success of the nation's annual Safe Driving Day. The goal this year will be to cut down on traffic accidents, not only on S-D Day minus 10', and continuing through Dec. 11, "S-D Day minus 10'." Yeager said.

The purpose of S-D Day is to see that we can reduce traffic accidents by our own personal actions as motorists and pedestrians.

Last year's S-D Day produced a reduction in the nation's deaths and injuries and in the number of accidents, Yeager said. This year's urgency is even greater because the death toll has been rising again, he added.

The S-D Day program has the approval of President Eisenhower, Gov. John Simms and the governors of all the states. It is endorsed by the Presidents Committee for Traffic Safety in cooperation with scores of national organizations.

State's Politicos Having Troubles

Demos
By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A spokesman for the faction of Sen. Tom Montoya (D-Sandoval) has declared a fight for political power in Sandoval County will be aired in court.

"We're going to court," said Felipe Castillo Jr., after he was told State Democratic Chairman Tom Brown had ruled in Artesia that Castillo was not elected county chairman.

GOP
SANTA FE, N. M.—Republicans sniped at each other and at "lethargy" in the party and Democrats eyed a battle for control in Sandoval County as New Mexico politics, never at a complete standstill, stepped up in activity this week.

Along with this, politicians viewed what one termed a "romance" between Gov. John F. Simms and U. S. Sen. Clinton Anderson with increased speculation as to the reason.

Simms and Anderson, closer buddies than ever since both came out simultaneously for presidential hopeful Adlai Stevenson, were down in the Gila Wilderness pursuing deer as both parties erupted with activity.

On the GOP side, State Chairman Merrill Sonny Johns replied in a roundabout manner to criticism of party complacency and said he has offered to resign twice in the interest of party unity.

Former Gov. Edwin Mechem decried what he termed "lethargy" within the party and former State Comptroller Ed Hartman, whom many regard as prime GOP gubernatorial material, sided with Johns for an end to in-party squabbling.

The Democrats ended an unusually tranquil period with State Chairman Tom Brown ruling against the powerful Montoya forces in Sandoval County and declaring Filomeno Lucero county chairman.

This brought a threat of court action from Felipe Castillo Jr., the choice of State Sen. Tom Montoya.

Demos Score Handling Of Witness Probe

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Democratic senators accused the Justice Department Saturday of not searching hard enough for evidence of alleged tampering with a witness in the Dixon-Yates row.

Not so, replied Asst. Atty. Gen. Warren Olney III. He said there was no indication of a crime committed and if there were, the government had almost "no chance" of proving the case.

The Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee was the scene of this newest flareup in the long-standing controversy over the Eisenhower administration's now-defunct contract to bring private power into the Tennessee Valley Authority area.

Sen. Kefauver of Tennessee, a possible candidate for the 1956 Democratic presidential nomination, reopened for a day the committee's series of Dixon-Yates hearings to quiz administration officials.

Involved in the questioning was testimony given last year by Dr. Frederick Kellogg, dean of the University of Mississippi's School of Engineering, at a Securities and Exchange Commission hearing on financing the power project. Kellogg appeared for the city of Memphis, Tenn., which fought the contract.

Kellogg has said that on Dec. 19, the day before he was to appear at the SEC, he got a call from his university provost, Dr. Alton Bryant, saying some people in Jackson, Miss., were "very much upset" that Kellogg was going to testify.

In a memo he wrote up after the telephone conversation, Kellogg reported Bryant said:

President Takes A Few Golf Swings

WASHINGTON, D. C.—President Eisenhower got in a little putting on a White House green Saturday for the first time since his Sept. 24 heart attack. And he made plans to open an office next week in downtown Gettysburg, Pa., near his farm.

He went out onto the green on the south lawn of the mansion shortly after aides reported him "feeling fine" on his first full day back at the White House.

The aides said he putted only a couple of times, then sat in a chair in the yard for more than an hour soaking up the warm autumn sun. He had basked in the sun almost daily for the last three weeks or so on the eighth floor terrace of Fitzsimons Army Hospital in Denver.

But so far as is known today was the first time he had a golf club in his hands since Sept. 23, the day before his attack. He played 27 holes in Denver that day.

Eisenhower was out on the White House green with his son, Army Maj. John S. Eisenhower, who also got in a bit of golf practice. After trying a couple of strokes, the President sat and watched John.

Long-range photographs taken during the afternoon showed the President with a club cocked over his right shoulder. But presidential associates said the President apparently was just getting the "feel" of the club—that he actually hit no long or middle-range shots.

Press secretary James C. Hagerity announced today that the President and Mrs. Eisenhower will drive on Monday to their country home on the edge of Gettysburg, where there will be a quiet observance of the first Lady's 59th birthday.

Eisenhower, who checked out of a Denver hospital yesterday after seven weeks of convalescence from a heart attack, plans to spend about six weeks building up his strength at his farm.

But the White House made it clear that at Gettysburg the doctors plan to permit a steady but gradual increase in his governmental activity.

Eisenhower's Gettysburg office will be on the first floor of the post office, in the postmaster's quarters, and he probably will meet his first official visitors

Former Artesians Arrested In Texas

Two former Artesia men were arrested by authorities in Big Bend, Tex., Friday, and held on warrants issued here Nov. 9 charging them with obtaining property with the intent to cheat and defraud. Jesse Sosa, deputy sheriff, said here yesterday.

Johnny King, 23, and Jimmy King, 24, were arrested on a complaint filed by the American Cattle Raisers' Association charging that the pair left their home in Artesia, N. M., and drove to Big Bend, Tex., where they were arrested by Sheriff's officers and returned here to answer the charges, Sosa said.

Tom Brown

Brown, basing his decision on party rules of the county organization in part, declared Filomeno Lucero county chairman. Lucero represents a faction opposed to Montoya and headed by Ruben Miera, chief clerk for Secy. of State Natalie S. Buck.

The decision by Brown was a setback for Montoya, who, with his family, long has been a power in Sandoval County. Castillo said:

Democrats Making Campaign Ammo For GOP: Hartman

The present Democratic administration is manufacturing ammunition for GOP campaign cannons next year.

That was the opinion expressed here this weekend by former state comptroller Ed Hartman.

The man who played watchdog over state finances under Republican Gov. Ed Mechem, said the present administration is giving the state's Republicans "plenty of campaign material" on which to rebuild.

And Hartman, recently-elected chairman of the Eddy County GOP central committee, says the Republicans have an excellent chance to come back next year.

He said the party needs to start building from the "grass roots level, on up." At the same time he added the Republicans should serve notice that the opposition party will have to fight for everything they get on all levels of government.

Hartman had commented earlier

Drunken Driving Costs Artesian $100, Loss Of Driver's License

An Artesia man was fined $100 in police court here yesterday on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

In addition, John Ellicott, police judge, Saturday, fined two men for reckless driving and four men for drunkenness.

Epalito C. Rodriguez, 27, of 807 N. Roselawn, was fined $100 and his driver's license was automatically suspended for one year after he was found guilty in police court of drunken driving.

Rodriguez was arrested at 9:45 p. m. Thursday and charged with drunken driving after police said they stopped him for driving down

Promised Cold Wave Fails To Reach New Mexico

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
It was a nice day in New Mexico Saturday which made just about everybody happy except the weatherman who had warned of Arctic currents.

The Weather Bureau said, after its earlier prediction went out the window, that "except for a brief surge early Saturday in the extreme northeast corner of the state, the cold air mass stayed to the north of New Mexico."

The bureau reported that Clayton had some low cloudiness and a trace of precipitation during the early morning hours Saturday. But colder air, heading for New Mexico, moved back in southeastern Colorado and western Kansas.

However, temperatures did drop between two and eight degrees below marks set Friday and moderate to strong winds hit a goodly portion of the state.

The bureau predicted partly cloudy weather over New Mexico Sunday night with some showers or snow flurries over the northern mountains and scattered showers in the west portion. A gradual cooling, due to a low pressure area moving across Colorado, will be in evidence.

Decorations For City Streets On Way From Dallas

A part of Artesia's Christmas street decorations has been shipped out of Dallas and is expected momentarily, Paul Scott, Chamber of Commerce manager, announced yesterday.

Scott said that he has been informed that the Christmas light strings will cost an additional $325 more than originally estimated, raising the total cost for decorations to about $1600.

That will leave the Chamber about $500 short, Scott said. Contributions to the Chamber for Christmas decorations now stand only a little in excess of $1100, he added.

Scott issued an appeal to Chamber members, and others interested in helping out, for additional funds.

The Lone Star Display Co. of Dallas, suppliers of the decorations, is sending a man to supervise putting them up. He is to be in Artesia Nov. 25, Scott said.

Met Baritone Named To Replace Thibault In Artesia Appearance

The first concert of the current season will be presented by the Artesia Community Concert Association Thursday night, at 8:15 in the high school auditorium.

Featured on the opening concert will be Theodore Uppman, well-known baritone singer of the Metropolitan Opera Company in New York.

Thibault was originally scheduled for this concert but a virus infection has kept him in a Florida hospital, thus preventing his current tour.

However, Mr. Uppman is perhaps better known than Thibault himself. Uppman reached the peak of his career this season by being named in the leading male role of "The Magic Flute" at the Metropolitan Opera.

He is to sing 19 performances at New York under the baton of Fierre Monteaux, one of the world's great conductors.

The opening concert is important in several ways. First, the Association will inaugurate the new Baldwin nine-foot grand piano which was recently purchased. Secondly, the concert will be the first one presented under the auspices of Community Concert Association. Last year, and previous years, Artesia has been served by Mutual Concerts.

Members are reminded that if they should have out-of-town guests next Thursday, they may secure guest cards from the association secretary, Miss Juanita Denton, by calling SH 6-2161 or at the door the night of the concert. Adult out-of-town guest cards are $2.00 and $1.00 for students.

Argentine Government Near Failure

BUENOS AIRES, N. M.—The Argentine government of Provisional President Eduardo Lonardi appeared to be on the brink of failure early today. A split among the men who threw out the Peron dictatorship less than two months ago led to a government crisis and emergency conferences among military leaders.

President Lonardi was reported at the 1st Infantry Regiment headquarters but his status was unclear.

Rear Adm. Isaac Rojas, a hero of the rebellion against the ousted President Juan D. Peron, surried between civil and military conferences as tension increased overnight.

Truck Stolen Here Recovered

A pick-up truck was stolen from the rear of 603 S. First St. about 8:00 a. m. today and found by police abandoned east of Artesia on the Lovington by-pass at 11:30 a. m.

The truck belonged to Standridge Walker of that address. The keys were said to have been in the truck at the time it was taken. Police have not determined who took the vehicle.

Dulles, Molotov Seek Accord On Disarmament Declaration

GENEVA, N. M.—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov dropped their bitter debate over arms reduction and controls Saturday and began trying to patch up some kind of agreement on a final Big Four disarmament declaration.

The conciliatory tone in yesterday's Big Four session was in stark contrast to the acid argument of two previous sessions, in the course of which Dulles and Molotov accused each other, either directly or by implication, of practicing bad faith.

Dulles suggested work be started on "a common statement" reflecting the debate, which he said had been "useful and informative." He remarked that he would not be so optimistic as to say that either side had affected the thinking of the other but he thought there was a better understanding of differing points of view.

Dulles said he felt confident that "even though we do not reach a large measure of formalized agreement, certainly the exchange of viewpoints which has occurred here will be instructive and will help representatives in the United Nations subcommittee" on disarmament.

Molotov began his comments on the achievements of the badly split disarmament debate with what appeared to be a needling reference to his efforts to get Western agreements to some kind of generalized renunciation of atomic arms. In his words he had hoped to get an agreement here "to end the arms race."

Otherwise Molotov said he thought the four could state that they recognize the need to continue to seek agreement on a comprehensive program for disarmament which could promote international peace and security.

Powerful Oklahoma Takes 28th Victory In Row From Iowa State

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—The blizzard forecast for the Oklahoma-Iowa State game failed to arrive Saturday, but the nation's No. 1 football team brewed up a touchdown storm of its own that chilled the Cyclones from Iowa 52-0.

Instead of a cold front, the temperature soared into the 70s and 45,000 shirt-sleeved spectators watched the Sooners outclass Iowa State for their 53rd straight Big Seven conference victory.

Oklahoma scored two touchdowns in each quarter for its 27th consecutive overall triumph, longest victory string in the nation.

The Sooners, driving toward their eighth straight Big Seven championship, meet Nebraska in a showdown game at Lincoln, Neb., next week. Each team has five loop victories and no defeats.

Oklahoma's first team played only 20 minutes today with the second, third and fourth units carrying on. There wasn't much difference between them.

In the first half Iowa State never got by the Sooners 43. In the second half the Cyclones got as far as the Oklahoma 36.

The thinly-manned and tired Cyclones had to be content trying to slow down the inevitable touchdown drives.

Oklahoma's Tommy McDonald and Carl Dodd each made two touchdowns.

Hopalong Cassidy Puts On Top Show Of Career As Buckeyes Win

COLUMBUS, Ohio. (AP)—All-America Howard (Hopalong) Cassidy put on his greatest show in his farewell to the home folk today, scoring all three touchdowns as Ohio State defeated Iowa 20-10.

The freckled, red-haired speedster ground out 169 yards in 26 rushes, just two yards less than the entire Iowa team was able to make in 45 rushing plays.

A crowd of 82,701, third largest in Ohio Stadium history, gave the 21-year-old Columbus senior the greatest ovation ever heard in these parts when he left the game 18 seconds before the finish.

In leading Ohio to its fifth straight conquest in the Big Ten, and its 12th straight over two years, Cassidy scored on a 45-yard blast over tackle the first time he had his hands on the ball. He came back four plays later with an 11-yard scoring dash around end, and climaxed his great day in the final period with a three-yard plunge through the line.

Iowa's 235-pound end, Jim Freeman, scored all the Hawkeye points. He booted a 16-yard field goal in the opening minutes. And in the second period, he caught a 5-yard scoring pass from quarterback Jerry Reichow and then booted the extra point.

The 130 victory scored over Vanderbilt this year was Mississippi's first shutout against the Commodores in a football series that dates back through 33 games since 1894.

AMONG THE FIRST—One of the first Artesia hunters to return with his buck was the Rev. F. G. Klerekooper, 401 W. Richardson. Rev. Klerekooper's buck weighed 206 pounds, drawn, and had 10-point antlers. Rev. Klerekooper said that he bagged his buck at 9:30 a.m. opening day near Charles Denton's sawmill not far from Weed. Notre Dame Downs Tarheels For Seventh Win Of Season

CHAPLE HILL, N. C. (AP)—Fifteenth-ranked Notre Dame, settled to a 7-7 draw the first half, stormed back with two third period touchdowns and another in the fourth to rout North Carolina 27-7 Saturday in an inter-sectional football battle.

Notre Dame center Lou Loncaric intercepted a pass by Tar Heel quarterback Dave Reed and raced 75 yards for a touchdown in the closing minutes to climax the thriller. It was Notre Dame's seventh victory against one defeat this season, and its seventh straight over North Carolina since their series began in 1949.

North Carolina now has a 2-6 season record.

The Fighting Irish started fast, stormed 53 yards in four plays, for a first period touchdown with halfback Jim Morse going over from the 2.

The Fighting Irish played its best game of the season, tied the score in the second period on the running of halfback Ken Keller and the passing of quarterback Buddy Sasser. The Tar Heels rolled 53 yards in 10 plays with Sasser tossing a 5-yard pass to end Charles Robinson for the score.

The Irish, dominating second half play, rolled 66 yards for a third period touchdown. Quarterback Paul Hornung went over from the 3. Halfback Dick Lynch scored from the 2 a short while later after a Tar Heel fumble by Ed Sutton was recovered on the 27 by Irish tackle Ed Sullivan.

Three Lettermen To Form Nucleus of 1955-56 Squad

With only three lettermen back, the Artesia Bulldogs' 1955-56 basketball team will open preparations for a 21-game-plus pair of tournaments—schedule tomorrow afternoon.

Greeting Coach Verlin Davis will be Clyde Chaney, a 6'6" senior center; Max Ratliff, a 6' senior forward who will be switched to guard this year; and Bob Cerny, a 6'1" forward who is also a senior.

Both Ratliff and Cerny are members of the Bulldog football team and will have little or no time to prep for the Dec. 3 opener against Hagerman on the Artesia hard-wood.

Should Artesia get past Las Cruces in the Thanksgiving Day grid classic, which will have a berth in the state Double A finals at stake, it is likely the Hagerman game will be switched to another date—since the state championship game is scheduled that afternoon.

The Bulldog cagers compiled a 16 won, seven lost record last year. They drew a bye in the opening round of the district tournament and were defeated by Carlsbad in the semi-finals—with the Cavemen going on to wrap up their second consecutive state championship.

Coach Davis said today that regular practice sessions will be held at 3 p.m. daily beginning tomorrow and that tryouts for youth not now participating in a sport slated for 4 p.m.

A number of last year's B team players are also expected to see service with the varsity this season, said Davis. Among them are Perry Cole, last year's leading B team scorer, Charles Snow, Charles Robinson, Don Long, Jimmy Campagna, George Price, Clyde Bratcher, Jim Moutray and Delores Rodriguez.

Three transfers from Hope are expected to seek berths on the club: Billy Stephens, Jerry Crocker and Billy Madron.

The only other letterman from the 1954-55 squad is Jim Beling, who will be unable to see action because of a back injury which was renewed during the early part of the present grid campaign.

Also on the disabled list and not expected to see action until early in January is Wayne Moore, a member of last year's reserve team, who has a broken ankle.

On the schedule are 12 home games and nine on opponent courts. The schedule:

Hagerman, Dec. 3, home; Roswell, Dec. 9, there; NMU, Dec. 16, home; Carlsbad, Dec. 16, home; Lovington, Dec. 17, there; Alamogordo tournament, Dec. 20-21; Alumbi, Dec. 30, home; Alamogordo, Jan. 6, there; Hobbs, Jan. 7, home; Santa Fe, Jan. 14, home; Dexter, Jan. 20, home; Hobbs, Jan. 21, there; Las Vegas, Jan. 27, home; Santa Rosa, Jan. 28, there; Clovis, Feb. 3, home; Highland, Feb. 4, home; Roswell, Feb. 7, home; Hagerman, Feb. 10, there; Portland, Feb. 11, home; Lovington, Feb. 12, home; Dexter, Feb. 18, home; Carlsbad, Feb. 24, there.

The district tournament is scheduled for Mar. 2-3 and the state tournament Mar. 9-10.

THE HEAD-ON clash of history's first notorious band of outlaws with history's first great outlaw hunter sets the thrilling action of "Rage at Dawn," coming to the Landsman Theater on Sun-Mon-Tues, with Randolph Scott topping a stellar cast which includes Forrest Tucker, Mala Powers, J. Carrol Naish and Edgar Buchanan.

The Boyette boys are well known in football circles around the University of North Carolina this year. Charles and Bill are on the varsity squad. Brother Bob is on the freshman team.

Roswell Tramples Artesia 42-14 In Friday Rout

Jerry Bell Tallies Four Coyote TD's

Banning the ends unmercifully and taking advantage of every possible mistake, the Roswell Coyotes trampled the District 4AA champion Bulldogs Friday night 42-14 before a joyous Homecoming crowd on the Roswell gridiron.

It was a clash of district champions but the Bulldogs, sporting a proud 6-1-1 record, were completely outclassed in the battle which could be a preview of the state finals.

There were only four minutes left when the Bulldogs fumbled the ball and the Coyotes scored. Three plays later Jerry Bell went over from the 10-yard line to give the Coyotes a nine yard stripe—the first of four touchdowns, he tallied during the slaughter.

The second Roswell tally came in the second period when a bad pass from center sailed over Larry Haney's head as he was back to back on fourth down and the Coyotes recovered on the Artesia side.

It required only five plays for Roswell to count—with Bill Ister leading left end for the final 16 yards and the TD.

The third straight rout by the Bulldogs was a blocked punt on the Artesia side which was recovered by Roswell's Ronald Hinkle on the 34 and moved to the 10.

Four plays later Bell circled the end for the third Coyote touchdown.

Trailing 21-0 at halftime the Bulldogs threatened to get back in the game as they tallied twice during the Coyotes opened the gap with Bell again scoring.

Max Ratliff tossed a long pass to Bill Jones in a play which covered 35 yards to break the ice for the Artesians after a Roswell fumble was recovered by a host of Bulldogs.

Taking over on their own 37 yards in the third period, the Bulldogs pushed downfield for their second and last tally. Ratliff went 4 1/2 yards for the score and Larry French kicked his second extra point.

It appeared at that point the Bulldogs were on their way to a convincing victory within striking distance of the Coyotes—who are undefeated in New Mexico competition this season.

At the Coyotes were not to be denied.

In the first play after the Artesian kickoff Bell went 52 yards to the end and moments later streaked 10 yards for another one.

John England kicked six straight conversions for the winning Coyotes.

The Bulldogs will have almost two weeks to lick their wounds before running into all-winning Las Cruces Thanksgiving Day in New Mexico stadium in a state title A semi-final.

Roswell clashes with Farmington next Friday in the other semifinal, with the battle being played on a neutral field in Albuquerque.

Nebraska Wins

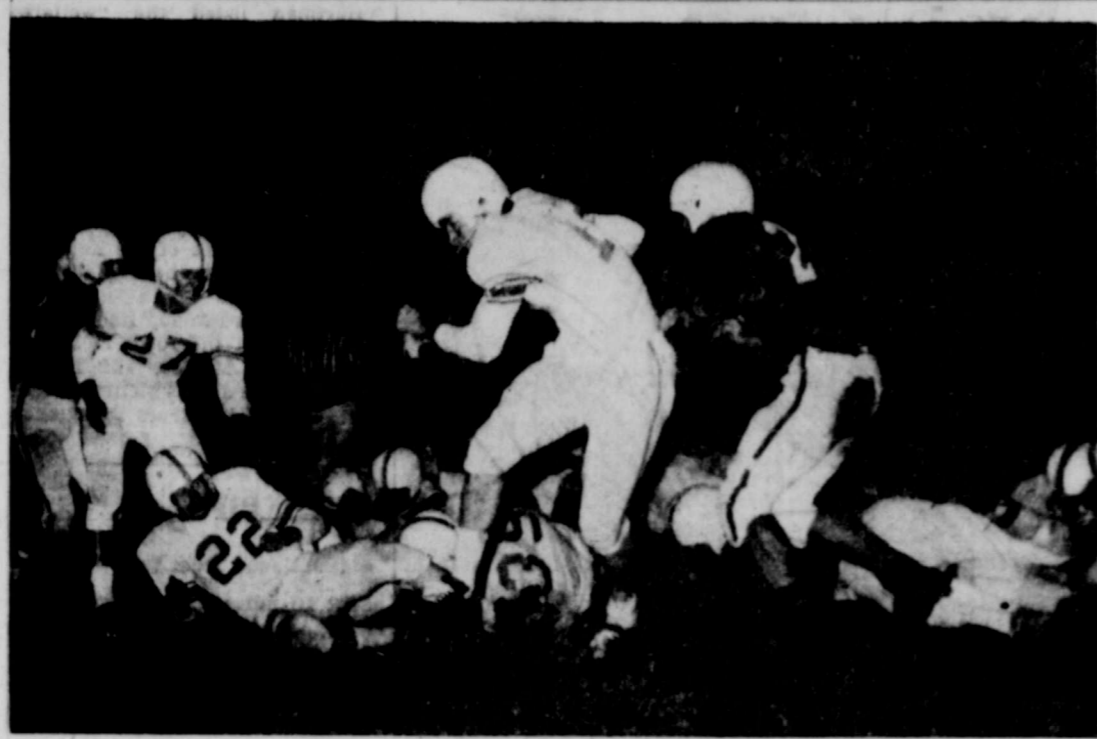

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—Nebraska's Cinderella football team, charged heavily on the long-distance touchdown sprinting of halfback Bill Greenlaw, crushed Colorado 30-0 Saturday to stay even with Alabama in the Big 7 Conference.

Pittsburgh Plays Spoiler Again—Beats West Virginia

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Pittsburgh's magnificent 225 pound end, "Mean John" Paluck and Joe Walton, jarred previously unbeaten West Virginia into fumbling chaos Saturday and shattered the Mountaineers' Bowl ambition—26-7—before 57,966 at Pitt Stadium.

The game had a bizarre ending with West Virginia getting its lone touchdown after the contest apparently had ended—and a free extra point because there was no goal post.

Walton snared a six-yard pass from quarterback Pete Neft to climax a 63-yard strike midway in the first period. His fellow flagman, Paluck, single-handedly smashed up West Virginia plays to produce two more scores in the space of a minute and 26 seconds at the start of the second half.

Pitt's saucy third-stringers added a "rub-it-in" score in the final two minutes.

The game ended in wild confusion. With only five seconds to play, officials ruled a pass interference play giving West Virginia the ball on the Pitt six.

The fans, thinking the game was over, swarmed on the field and tore down the goal posts. The field was cleared for a final play on which Joe Marconi swung around left and barely got into the end zone for West Virginia's lone touchdown. With no goal posts for the extra point try, Pitt forfeited the conversion.

It took Pitt just five plays to

Revived Michigan Topples Indiana

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Michigan's revived defense overwhelmed Indiana 30-0 Saturday to force a Big Ten Rose Bowl showdown with Ohio State next week.

It was Michigan's fifth conference victory against one loss and marked a brilliant defensive comeback for the team that last Saturday gave up more than 400 yards in a 25-6 upset by Illinois.

In the first half alone, Michigan held the Hoosiers to a minus 28 yards rushing and 10 passing, while piling up 162 on the ground and 31 in the air.

Michigan, which now need only beat Ohio State to make the Rose Bowl, put together drive of 68, 59, 42 and 41 yards for its four touchdowns with backs Terry Barr, Jim Pace, Lou Baldacci and Dave Hill scoring.

Barr cut over 3 yards for one tally, set up by a brilliant 41-yard sprint by Tony Branoff.

Razorbacks Top Mustangs 6-0

DALLAS (AP)—The Arkansas Razorbacks parade 58 yards to a touchdown the first time they had the ball, then fought Southern Methodist's massive men to a virtual standstill for 56 glittering minutes to win a 6-0 Southwest Conference football victory Saturday.

Henry Moore, George Walker, and Preston Carpenter and a gazelle with a football named Don Horton kept SMU back on its heels with battering runs, long punt returns and vital passes. The Razorback defense rose up to intercept desperate Methodist throws when it appeared the ponderous SMU's were goalward bound.

Walker it was who bounced through the Methodist line for the touchdown that eliminated SMU from consideration in the Southwest Conference championship race.

It was the sixth victory in nine games for the spoiler Pittsburghers, who previously had knocked Duke into the unbeaten and untied ranks.

Welsh Sets Pass Record For Navy

NEW YORK (AP)—George Welsh, Navy's brilliant quarterback set an academy all-time season record for passing Saturday as the Midshipmen crushed Columbia's football team 47-0.

Welsh completed 11 of 16 passes for a total of 176 yards. This brought his 1955 mark to 1,143 yards, surpassing the total of 1,137 set by Bob Zastrow in 1950.

Welsh was brilliantly supported by Tom Forrester, a sophomore who threw just as effectively as the veteran.

Navy gained a total of 398 yards in the air to set a single game record for the academy. The previous mark was 285 made this year against Penn State.

Spartans Keep Bowl Hopes Alive

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Michigan State crushed Minnesota Saturday 42-14—the worst beating handed the Gophers this season—and kept alive Spartan hopes of sneaking in through the back door as the Big Ten Rose Bowl candidate.

The Spartans ran around and passed over the burly Minnesota line with almost ridiculous ease. Blocked kicks and pass interceptions also played their part in building up the lopsided score.

Half a dozen players accounted for the six Michigan State touchdowns.

End Dave Kaiser started the MSU scoring by picking up a blocked kick and running 9 yards for the touchdown.

Walt Kowalczyk, on a 3-yard run; quarterbacks Earl Morrill and Pat Wilson on 1 yard sneaks; Tony Kolodziej on a 13-yard run and Jim Hinesly on a 27-yard pass from third string quarterback Jim Ninowski scored the others.

Swink Scores Four As TCU Raps Texas

AUSTIN (AP)—TCU quarterback Charles Curtis broke Texas' back with two quick touchdown passes, and sensational Jim Swink added a lavish icing with four scoring bursts Saturday to swamp Texas, 47-20.

Victory for the hard-hitting Horned Frogs, No. 8 team in the nation, boosted TCU to second place behind Texas A&M in the Southwest Conference.

With A&M on probation, TCU's wild scoring spree thrust the Horned Frogs into the role of prohibitive favorite to become Cotton Bowl host on Jan. 1.

In the greatest one-man scoring exhibition ever witnessed in Memorial Stadium, Swink set the 55,000 football fans roaring early in the game and received a tremendous ovation when he trotted to the bench shortly before the final gun.

His four touchdowns, one a one-yard plunge and runs of 62, 57 and 34 yards, plus two conversions, gave him 26 points for the day and ran his season's total in eight games to 107—probably tops in the nation.

Wyoming Blanks Lobos 20-0 Before 6,300 Bored Customers

ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—All the vital action was concentrated in the first five minutes and the last six Saturday as Wyoming took a dull 20-0 Skyline Conference victory over the University of New Mexico.

An estimated 6,300 bored fans saw Wyoming strike for two quick touchdowns early in the initial quarter and give promise of making a rout of the game.

The promise, however, went unfulfilled as the game degenerated into a punting duel from then until late in the final quarter. Wyoming missed two more scoring opportunities and the Lobos failed on one promising threat.

The Wyoming victory gave the Cowboys a 5-1 conference record and 7-1 for the year. New Mexico remained in the Skyline cellar at 0-5, and 1-7 for the year.

Cowboy Halfback John Watts got Wyoming off to a rousing start when he returned a Lobo punt 70 yards for a touchdown early in the first quarter. He shook off one tackler and raced the rest of the way un molested. It was the first time Wyoming had touched the ball.

Only moments later New Mexico gambled and lost on a fourth-down and the Cowboys took over on the Lobo 25. Ova Stapleton climaxed the short drive with a one-yard smash over center. Joe Mastrogianni converted.

Neither team was able to do much to excite the thinly-populated stands until Wyoming got going on a 45-yard drive late in the last quarter. Bob Marshall ripped off 38 yards to the New Mexico one on a reverse. Warren Benson crashed over. Mastrogianni again converted.

Wyoming missed scoring threats early in the second period when Lobo Herbie Hughes intercepted a pass on his own 11, and midway in the final quarter when a short drive stalled on the New Mexico one. New Mexico mounted a 53-yard march in the second quarter only to run out of gas on the Cowboy 17.

Wyoming 13 0 0 7-20
New Mexico 0 0 0 0-0

Wyoming scoring—Touchdowns: Watts 70, punt return; Stapleton 1, plunge; Benson 1, plunge. Conversions: Mastrogianni 2.

Three Fast TD's Win For Aggies

HOUSTON (AP)—The amazing Texas Aggies, No. 9 in the nation, used the running and pass catching of sophomore halfback Lloyd Taylor to ignite a three-touchdown comeback in the last five minutes Saturday and thrill a crowd of 68,000 with a 20-12 victory over Rice Institute.

Trailing 12-0 with just four minutes and 15 seconds to play, the Aggies exploded with two touchdowns by Taylor and another by halfback Don Watson.

Taylor scored the first from the two after taking a pitchout and scampering 58 yards to the Rice three. Just 46 seconds later, after a successful short kickoff by the Aggies, he took a 43-yard pass from quarterback Jimmy Wright and put A&M ahead, 13-12. Watson scored from the three after fullback Jack-Pardee had returned an intercepted pass 37 yards to the Rice eight.

Rice also scored in an explosive manner, halfback Paul Zipperlin running 6 and 5 yards for touchdowns within a 2 minute and 47 second period midway in the fourth quarter. Quarterback King Hill led the Rice scoring drives of 56 and 31 yards, the second getting underway after the Owls recovered a kickoff fumble.

Raton Joins Select Ranks Of Post Season Playoff Eligibles

By ROBERT GREEN Associated Press Sports Writer

Raton has finally joined the select ranks of playoff eligibles as New Mexico's schoolboys head into the windup of their football season.

Raton became the last team to clinch its district title Friday night when it raced past Clayton 33-20 for the Dist. 2A title that settled the hottest race of the season that saw Raton, Clayton and Los Alamos still in the running going into the last day of the regular season for the Class A teams.

In other activity on a light, but interest-filled weekend, Gadsden extended its winning string to 31 straight games, Roswell and Las Cruces solidified their positions as the favorites to advance to the finals of the AA playoffs, and Cathedral of Gallup barged into the finals of the Class B playoffs.

The weekend, though light in the number of games was heavy in standout individual performances. Jerry Bell of Roswell, Kenton Jones of Albuquerque and Cornelius Patterson of Hobbs all scored four touchdowns, Charley Pettes of Las Cruces got three, while K. P. Ross of Hobbs passed for two and ran for one.

Andy Valdez was instrumental in Raton's victory, scoring on runs of 5 and 69 yards and passing five for another. The Raton victory earned it the right to meet Gadsden of Anthony at Raton next Friday in a semifinal Class A playoff. St. Mike's of Santa Fe will visit Portales in the other A game.

The rest of the schedule for the week calls for Roswell to meet Farmington in Albuquerque in an AA semifinal match, while El Rito and Santa Rosa will be at Santa Rosa in the Class B finals.

Los Alamos, in the running until the last, had to settle for second place in the 2A race when Raton won. The Hilltoppers closed out their season with an easy 34-12 rout of Espanola.

Roswell and Las Cruces were very impressive in their victories. The Coyotes came up with a 42-14 victory over Artesia, while Las Cruces won by the same margin from Cathedral of El Paso. Bell scored on runs of 9, 3, 85 and 61 yards for the Coyotes, while Pettes of Las Cruces had scoring jaunts of 23, 45 and 73 yards. The Las Cruces victory extended its unbeaten string to eight straight for the year.

Artesia will take a week off to lick its wounds before taking on Las Cruces in an AA semifinal match. Farmington, the other Class AA team in the semifinals, took its second straight licking at the hands of an Albuquerque team. Jones had scoring runs of 92, 60, 75 and 11 yards as Albuquerque High duplicated cross-town Highland's feat with a 53-6 mauling of the Scorpions.

Ross and Patterson shown as Hobbs took a "traditional" match from Carlsbad and clinched second place in Dist. 4AA to the tune of 34-0. Patterson scored on two passes from Ross, for 29 and 24 yards, and added two more on runs of 10 and 30 yards. Ross had the other on a one-yard plunge.

Highland rushed in 21 points in the first half and coasted in from there in stopping Santa Fe 28-0. The Demons never threatened. In the other game involving a Class AA school, Clovis climaxed a long drive with the winning touchdown with only 25 seconds remaining in nipping Portales 26-21. The Rams had led most of the way in the game, one of the oldest rivalries in the state.

Gadsden had a surprisingly tough time in subduing Tucumcari. The Anthony school got two touchdowns out of Denny Chavez, on runs of 10 and 68 yards but had to fight off repeated Rattler threats in the last half to secure the victory.

New Mexico Military Institute added a touch of light to an otherwise dark season at Lovington. The Colts came up with a 19-7 victory after trailing 7-6 at the half. It was NMMI's first victory of the year. St. Mary's beat Belen 19-0 in another Class A action.

Cathedral led all the way—but was pressed hard until midway in the third quarter—in taking its victory over El Rito. Santa Rosa moved into the finals with a Thursday night victory over Lordsburg.

Quarterback Club Not To Hold Meet

The Quarterback Club will not meet this week, a club spokesman reminded members today.

The next meeting will be a joint session with the Parent-Boosters Club Nov. 22, two days prior to the Artesia-Las Cruces semi-final playoff at Las Cruces.

All Seek Payroll

EVERY community in the state would like to have some of the payrolls those cities in New Mexico enjoy having nearby military installations.

Artesia has been seeking a $1,000,000 a month industry for these many years and, of course, we are not much nearer it today than we were when we started.

In a good many instances those enjoying these military installation payrolls just had them fall in their lap or they secured them despite what they did rather than with all they did.

It has been recently announced the total payroll at the White Sands Proving Grounds for all personnel, civilian, military and naval, totals some $30,000,000 per year.

It has been further estimated at the base by base officials that approximately $22,000,000 of this payroll is spent in Las Cruces. That figures out more than $1,800,000 per month.

That is the kind of a payroll we need in Artesia to help give us the shot in the arm any growing and prosperous community needs. It would make it possible for all of the growth and expansion we desire and help improve our economic situation. Anytime you drop a million dollars or more in a community each month in the year you create prosperity.

But when we are not able to obtain that million dollar a month payroll then we do the next best thing—we try to build more small payrolls and we endeavor to secure small industries, plants and business providing jobs for people.

We not only try to secure these but we are extremely careful we do not destroy any of the fine payrolls we have. As we have pointed out before we have several payrolls in our city that total over $50,000 per year. That doesn't sound like the million a month but give any city enough of these $50,000 payrolls per year and they will have prosperity and plenty of it.

These small industries and businesses also have another advantage. Let the one industry or the military installation with the million dollar a month payroll go out of business and the community is really and truly hurt. Let one of the small industries with $50,000 a year go or fail or it hurts but not near as much as when the one and only large payroll goes.

Yolande Betbeze

NEW YORK—I suppose there's nothing so passé as yesterday's "Miss America," but I am here today to report that if you want to take a look at a vintage-year "Miss A." you should go down to Minsky's old burlesque house on the lower East Side. The girl in blue jeans with the paint brush, sprucing things up is Yolande Betbeze, who won the title and $9,000 at Atlantic City four years ago. No winner since has been so interestingly arranged in sections by nature.

If you can't make it by daytime, then the suggestion is that you head for a certain apartment in the midtown East Side and look for the girl peering at her neighbors through a telescope. This, too, will be Miss Betbeze—but a bit more of that later.

The old Minsky bump-and-grind theater, situated on the sixth floor of an East Houston street building, has been turned into the Rooftop theater for the presentation of off-Broadway plays—and the Basque-descended Miss B is co-producer of the shows. If this seems unusual, Miss B is an unusual "Miss America."

Miss Betbeze studies Italian two nights a week, takes six voice lessons a week, learns acting three times a week from the talented Stella Adler, is at the Rooftop daily—and still manages to see her husband, television-movie boy wonder Matty Fox, once or twice a day.

I BECAME FASCINATED BY YOLANDE and asked her to drop by for a talk, when I learned she had considered seriously trying to round up three "Miss Americas" living in New York to play the witches in the Rooftop's recent Macbeth. A woman like that has to fascinate you.

"I did think long about it," she told me—she wore a checked suit-dress, a mink stole and a monstrous diamond ring—but thought finally it might frighten off lovers of the classical Shakespeare, who would figure it for a publicity stunt. But gee—I'd just love to play a witch!"

According to Yolande, the Manhattan yards are just full of old "Miss Americas"—Colonel Hutchins, who used to live in the same house as Yolande on 58th street; Bea Ryan, busy, busy with TV; Jean Bartel and another one she can't remember.

Yolande herself looks back on her reign, in 1951, with pleasure and weariness. "You had to smile so much," she said, shaking her head. "At the parades, there'd be four thousand people just waiting for you to frown. The one thing I wanted, all that time, was a false, smiling mouthpiece—behind which I could frown like h—"

Miss B herself hasn't acted yet at the Rooftop. Doesn't think she's ready. However, she has painted a lot of the place—and she even roped Deems Taylor, the composer, into coming down and painting one afternoon. "He wore a smock that I think used to belong to some ex-wife of his," she grinned. "He did all the delicate work. I did all the kind you just had to sleep on."

The critics were none too kind to Macbeth, but the company—full of bright young hopefuls—currently is preparing Death of Don Juan with great expectations. And what had all this theatrical activity done for Miss B?

"I've learned a lot about painting," she said.

YOLANDE PERMITS HERSELF ONE LUXURY. She takes cabs instead of subways (with Matty's money, she can take Rolls Royces). "I figure that if I ride the subways regularly," she said philosophically, "in my old age, I'll spend a fortune trying to get the 'noise and dirt' wrinkles out of my face."

Miss B spends her time so busily because she tried living like her husband's friends' wives—"you know, Twenty-One or the Colony for lunch every day and then shopping all afternoon"—and it just didn't work. Bored her.

About the Betbeze telescope. "A friend of mine gave it to me to look at the moon with," she explained, "and it's just fine for that; you can see the canals and everything. But, it's even better for looking around into other buildings with. I like to watch the cleaning women sitting on some boss' desk, drinking coffee and talking, late at night. I do hope it's not illegal."

Meanwhile, I've just bought a telescope for looking at Betbeze with. I think I have the better of this deal.

Rev. J. C. Gage and others left Tuesday for a ten day hunting trip in the Guadalupe.

Messrs. J. A. Wood and J. W. Campbell, of Wichita, Kansas, were in Artesia a few weeks ago and decided to put in a corn and grist mill at Artesia and in pursuance of the plan the gentlemen arrived in the city with their families Thursday. A car of mill machinery was loaded at Wichita Wednesday.

J. H. Beckham, Jr., is in Kansas City, and Mrs. Beckham is spending the week as a guest of Mrs. T. M. Waller, Lakewood.

Miss Opal Martin, formerly employed in the bookkeeping department of the J. C. Penney store at Roswell has resigned her position to accept a place in the office of the Pecos Valley Gas Co. here.

Mrs. A. L. Terpening of Artesia was attending to business matters in Lake Arthur for several days last week.

10 YEARS AGO

The monthly luncheon of the Artesia Chamber of Commerce is being held today noon at the Christian church here, with many civic problems, which have come up in the past weeks scheduled for discussion.

Mrs. J. D. Terry, 96, widow of the late Rev. J. D. Terry, an old-time Methodist preacher, died at her farm home southeast of Artesia Wednesday.

It also focused attention again to the brewing bust-up between Simms and faction favoring the Montoyas.

This was reflected in another important development: the organization of the politically-explosive joint legislative committee to investigate the Welfare Department.

In a 5-4 vote, Albuquerque Rep. Findley Morrow was elected chairman of the group over the reported choice of Gov. Simms, Rep. Noble Irish.

Sen. Henry Eager of Tusumcarri, considered to be tipped at Simms since the governor vetoed a reformatory project in Quay County, was chosen vice-chairman.

This gave control to what one informed source said was the "bombastic" group in contrast to the middle-of-the-roaders led by Irish.

Importance of the committee is that the welfare situation is sure to be an issue in campaigns next spring.

The Legislature gave the committee $60,000 and a free hand to delve into all the operations of the Welfare Department, from receipts to recipients.

Simms and Anderson were reported to be 25 miles from a telephone during the week's developments. They are off to Chicago together next week to attend a $100 a plate dinner for Adlai Stevenson on Saturday.

There Tuesday morning.

There will be "many" such visitors, the press secretary added, and most of them will confer with Eisenhower at the post office rather than at his farm home about four miles from the center of town.

"The farm is the President's and Mrs. Eisenhower's private home," Hagerty said. "We will try to keep it as private as we can."

Hagerty told newsmen that Eisenhower, who arrived here by plane from Denver late Friday, had a good night's sleep in the White House and that his personal physician, Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, reported him in good condition.

Formal medical bulletins were discontinued when Eisenhower checked out of Fitzsimons Army Hospital in Denver.

"He seemed fine," Hagerty reported after he and the President's chief aide, Sherman Adams, concluded an hour-long conference with Eisenhower in his oval study on the White House second floor.

The President was relaxed in gray slacks, a light brown sports jacket patterned after the close fitting, waist length Eisenhower military jacket, a white shirt and a brown and white bow tie. He has taken a fancy to bow ties since his illness. In the hospital in Denver he wore snap-on bow ties with his pajamas.

Memphis Mayor Vote Has TVA Connotations

Recent TVA Highlights And Record Recounted

Special to Central Press Association

WASHINGTON—"Dixon-Yates" became a political hurricane that for months lashed the Tennessee Valley and the Capitol and White House areas of Washington. Then it supposedly dashed itself to extinction last July when President Eisenhower ordered it shelved after Memphis devised a plan to construct its own municipal power plant to replace Tennessee Valley Authority power needed by the Atomic Energy commission.

Gusta from the Dixon-Yates storm still disturbed political waters of Tennessee, however, as Memphis staged its election of a mayor to replace the late Mayor Frank T. Tobey, who died in September. It was Tobey who devised the plan to cancel TVA power for Memphis and supply this power from a municipal plant, thereby making the Dixon-Yates power scheme unnecessary.

Dixon-Yates became a symbol of alleged efforts to undermine the TVA. After Tobey's death, a back-to-TVA faction in Memphis entered its own candidate in the race for mayor. Some powerful political figures who fought Dixon-Yates vigorously used the argument that the withdrawal of Memphis from the TVA was a mistake and is itself a blow to TVA prestige and stability.

Both sides in the Memphis power controversy appear now to be striving to protect the future of the TVA. Dixon-Yates apparently is dead, but Memphis is having a difficult time keeping it buried.

MEANWHILE, with the 1956 national election looming, the whole nation may benefit by drawing back the political curtains and examining some of the actual accomplishments of TVA. Here are a few recent highlights:

TVA officials estimate that consumers of TVA power during fiscal 1955 saved $76,400,000 over what they would have had to pay at rates prevailing elsewhere throughout the country. TVA now has 10,223 miles of high-voltage transmission lines. Government defense plants used 52 per cent of TVA's 42.7 billion kilowatt-hours of electricity.

More than 239,600 acres of formerly eroded or otherwise unproductive land in the Tennessee valley have been reforested with 279.9 million TVA-produced seedlings. Some 15,000 acres were reforested in fiscal 1955.

TVA has 2,893 test-demonstration farms in 20 states actively engaged in its program to improve fertilizers. These test-demonstrations have been under way since 1935, in co-operation with land-grant colleges. In that time, 30,808 farms covering 5,937,048 acres in 1,123 counties of 35 states have participated.

MORE HIGHLIGHTS: Sixty per cent of the people in some areas of Alabama suffered from malaria in 1933 when TVA was established. The general average then for the Tennessee valley was 28 per cent.

For the last six years, however, not a single case of malaria has been traceable to TVA reservoirs. Airplanes and helicopters are used for DDT spraying. Water-level management is practiced to destroy larvae.

TVA purchases of materials used in its operations have totaled $1,539,421,086 since 1933. These have been from nearly every state.

In mid-August, TVA paid $14 million to the Treasury, retiring 14 years ahead of schedule all its outstanding indebtedness. Besides redeeming the principal of $65,072,500, TVA paid $10,679,704 in interest.

Navigation from Tennessee river channels, developed by TVA, during the first half of 1955 was estimated at 4,700,000 tons, 14 per cent greater than in this period last year. The 756 million ton-miles during this period were 27 per cent above 1954's first six months. Traffic through 1954 was estimated at 8,400,000 tons.

This unique experiment in multiple-use development of a river valley continues to enrich the entire nation. It also benefits numerous foreign lands who engineers and conservation experts study TVA methods.

about 10 miles east of here in an accident, Oct. 30.

Moten said at the time of the accident that he had gone to sleep at the wheel of his car, according to Jesse Sosa, deputy sheriff. In court yesterday, Moten testified that another car forced him off the road.

Ellicott ruled that Moten failed to substantiate his testimony and found him guilty on the reckless driving count.

Artesia Man-

The sheriff and deputies, Jesse Sosa, of Artesia and Jack Ruge and Dick Floyd, of Carlsbad, raided Fierro's home about 4:15 a.m. and found about three-quarters of a pound of marijuana, Sheriff Martin said.

This is the second instance in which marijuana has been found in Artesia in the past week. Another man was arraigned here on a charge of possession of marijuana Wednesday and is awaiting a preliminary hearing after pleading not guilty to the charge.

Martin said there is no connection between the two cases.

"There is no indication of an organized dope ring here," Martin said. "It's only a case of small isolated operators trying to make a few fast bucks," he said.

Two men and a youth today held for investigation into illegal possession of marijuana. Sheriff's officers said one of the men had admitted possession.

One man and the youth, 17-year-old, both from Carlsbad, were picked up by city police last night. The man had half an envelope of marijuana in bulk for which, he said, he paid $22.

Sheriff's officers raided the home of Fierro in Artesia and said they found about $1,000 worth of marijuana in two canisters.

on the current wrangling among top-level Republicans and said that if the GOP must fight it should aim its efforts at the Democratic party.

Hartman listed the "welfare mess" and the administration's deficit spending programs as the two top points of criticism of the present administration.

"I don't think we need go any further than that as a starter," said the man who himself is considered a top Republican gubernatorial prospect for next year.

He said the rise of the Republican party would be healthy for the state.

"All you have to do," he said, "is take a look at the roads in southeastern New Mexico. The Democrats have taken this section of the state, and many others for granted for too long."

Montoya himself was reached in Bernalillo and was asked for comment on Brown's decision. He said he might have a statement later but declined comment for the moment.

Lucero was chosen by the Miera faction several weeks ago after he had walked out of a meeting in dispute over proxy votes. The meeting had been called to replace Montoya, who resigned to serve on a legislative committee investigating the Welfare Department. Montoya's group elected Castillo and Miera's group elected Lucero—throwing the fight before Brown's decision was key.

"I have decided that the meeting presided over by Tom Montoya cast four qualified votes for Castillo and the meeting presided over by Delfido Gurule cast 11 authorized votes for Lucero."

"The proxies submitted by Montoya's meeting at which only four precinct chairmen were present are not valid in that Section 14 of the San Juan County Democratic Party rules specifically requires that proxies shall be recognized only when held by a qualified elector of the same precinct as the delegate giving the proxy."

"None of the proxies given at the Montoya meeting were presented by such a qualified elector."

Brown's formal statement on his choice of Lucero said: "After careful examination of the evidence submitted to me and in light of the rules of the San Juan County Democratic organization and the records and rules of the state organization, I find that Fierro Lucero is the duly elected Democratic county chairman."

Post Office Asks Employe Bond Bids

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield has announced that he is being invited from U. S. Post Office employees to provide a new "blanket" single package bond for all employees of the post office department.

The new bonding arrangements being made under authorization provided in the new Public Law 323 which requires each executive department of the Federal Government to obtain surety bonds for its employees as are required by law or administrative decision to be bonded. The law, which was reported by the post office department, provides that the most economical type of bond available be procured through competitive bidding.

Approximately 510,000 regularly employed postal employees will be covered effective Jan. 1, 1956, of which only 100,000 are currently bonded. The cost of the new bonds will be paid out of their own pockets at a rate ranging from less than $1.00 for lowest-salaried employees to about $100 for highest-salaried postmasters.

The post office department is mailing invitations to bid at once, and copies are available upon request by writing the Chief of Procurement, PO Department, at Washington 25, D. C.

Before enactment of the new law, the post office department had at least $300,000 a year to pay for the paperwork and other administrative costs incident to employee bonding, even though employees themselves paid the premium.

The saving of this $300,000 will go a long way toward paying the post office department's premium for the new blanket bond, Mr. Summerfield noted.

Federal Flood Insurance Program Receives Setback | Possible No Legislation To Be Enacted Next Year

Special to Central Press Association

WASHINGTON—Congressional proposals for a federal flood insurance program have been dealt a serious setback by the administration's failure to recommend adoption of a flood plan so far. Experts here say it now seems likely that no flood insurance legislation at all will be enacted next year despite a strong New England drive for approval of a program.

Actually, the administration has not put the idea completely on ice. However, its attitude indicates it is unalterably opposed to the broad type of flood insurance advocated by various members of Congress.

As a result, they have lost an important weapon in what shapes up as an uphill fight on Capitol Hill against economy-minded members who would look with disfavor on the tremendous costs involved in a flood insurance program.

● ODD "REUNION"—There was murder in the heart of Capt. Joe Holt of California as he trudged with thousands of other Marines over the frozen North Korean terrain in the 1950 retreat from the Yalu river. He certainly never thought that only a few years later, he—as a congressman—would meet at a friendly reception the head of the North Korean army.

However, that's what happened. Holt tells how the two met not long ago at a Russian reception while the congressman was visiting Moscow. "I thought for a few moments of discussing what happened in Korea," he remarked recently. "But I decided against it."

● THE BIG SWITCH—There has been a peculiar switch on Capitol Hill in sentiment about a tax cut.

During the last session of Congress, the Democrats on the House ways and means committee, which writes all tax legislation, sponsored a proposal to cut taxes by $20 for every man, woman and child in the nation.

At the same time, Senator Walter F. George (D., Georgia), a key figure on the Senate finance committee, indicated he did not think it was such a good idea. The bill failed to pass Congress, and the opposition of George played an important role in its defeat.

Now, things have changed. George has come out publicly for a reduction such as the House Democrats proposed earlier this year. At the same time, however, Democratic sentiment in the House is cooling toward the idea. Thus, the situation has just about completely reversed itself.

● SENATORIAL CONFERENCE—What do two United States senators talk about when they come across each other thousands of miles from home? Politics? Foreign policy? Fre. airplane rides?

Well, Senator Richard B. Russell (D., Georgia), and Senator Estes Kefauver (D., Tennessee), met in London recently after they had both paid separate visits to Russia.

Their conversation, according to Russell, concerned the fact that Russian bathers "change from their trunks into their civilian clothes right on the beach."

The Georgian, a bachelor, added with a blush that Kefauver brought up the subject. However, blushing even more deeply, Russell admitted, "I noticed it, too. I was just as observant."

Writer Wonders If Obedience School For Wives Would Help

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—(Curbstone comments by a Pavement Plato:)

Would obedience schools, for wives make for happier marriages in America?

The question has been raised by a reader who wisely chooses to remain anonymous.

"Obedience schools for pets have worked out very well," he wrote, "so why not an obedience school for pet wives?"

"Such schools could teach most wives some things they badly need to learn, such as self-discipline and the willingness to carry out a man's orders without barking back."

"What do you think of this idea? Wouldn't it restore to the average husband the prestige he once held as head of the family? If you hear of such a school, please telegraph me at once. I want to enroll my own wife as the number one trainee."

Frankly, the proposal at first glance sounds fine. The ordinary husband can think at once of many ways in which his wife might benefit from attendance at an obedience school.

She could, for example, be taught to get up off the sofa and say "hello" whenever he returned home from work. She could be taught to take off his shoes and fetch his slippers.

She could be taught not to interrupt him when he is telling his favorite joke at a party. She could be taught not to show up at breakfast with her hair in wire curlers, looking like a fugitive from the electric chair. It might even be possible to teach her when it was all right to talk to her husband, and when she should bring him his newspapers and let him read it in silence.

There is even a bare likelihood that she might be coerced into letting him pay her, although this could well force 7 out of 10 American families into bankruptcy in six months.

The list of things a well-run obedience school could teach a dutiful wife to help make her husband's lot more cheerful is well nigh endless.

However, the idea of obedience schools for wives, while it sounds highly logical, is basically impractical. The big flaw in the proposal is this: Where would you get the teachers?

You couldn't use women as teachers. No wife with any spirit would let another woman teach her how she should behave toward her own husband.

No, the teachers would have to be men. But consider what kind of a man it would take. Women know they are smarter than the average man, and they would merely sit in class and throw spitballs at a male instructor of only average brains or charm.

The teacher would have to be really extraordinary. To duty-break a stubborn, willful wife he would have to have the physical appeal of Clark Gable, the magnetism of a hypnotist, the wisdom of Socrates, the oratorical skill of Demosthenes, the daring of a wild animal trainer.

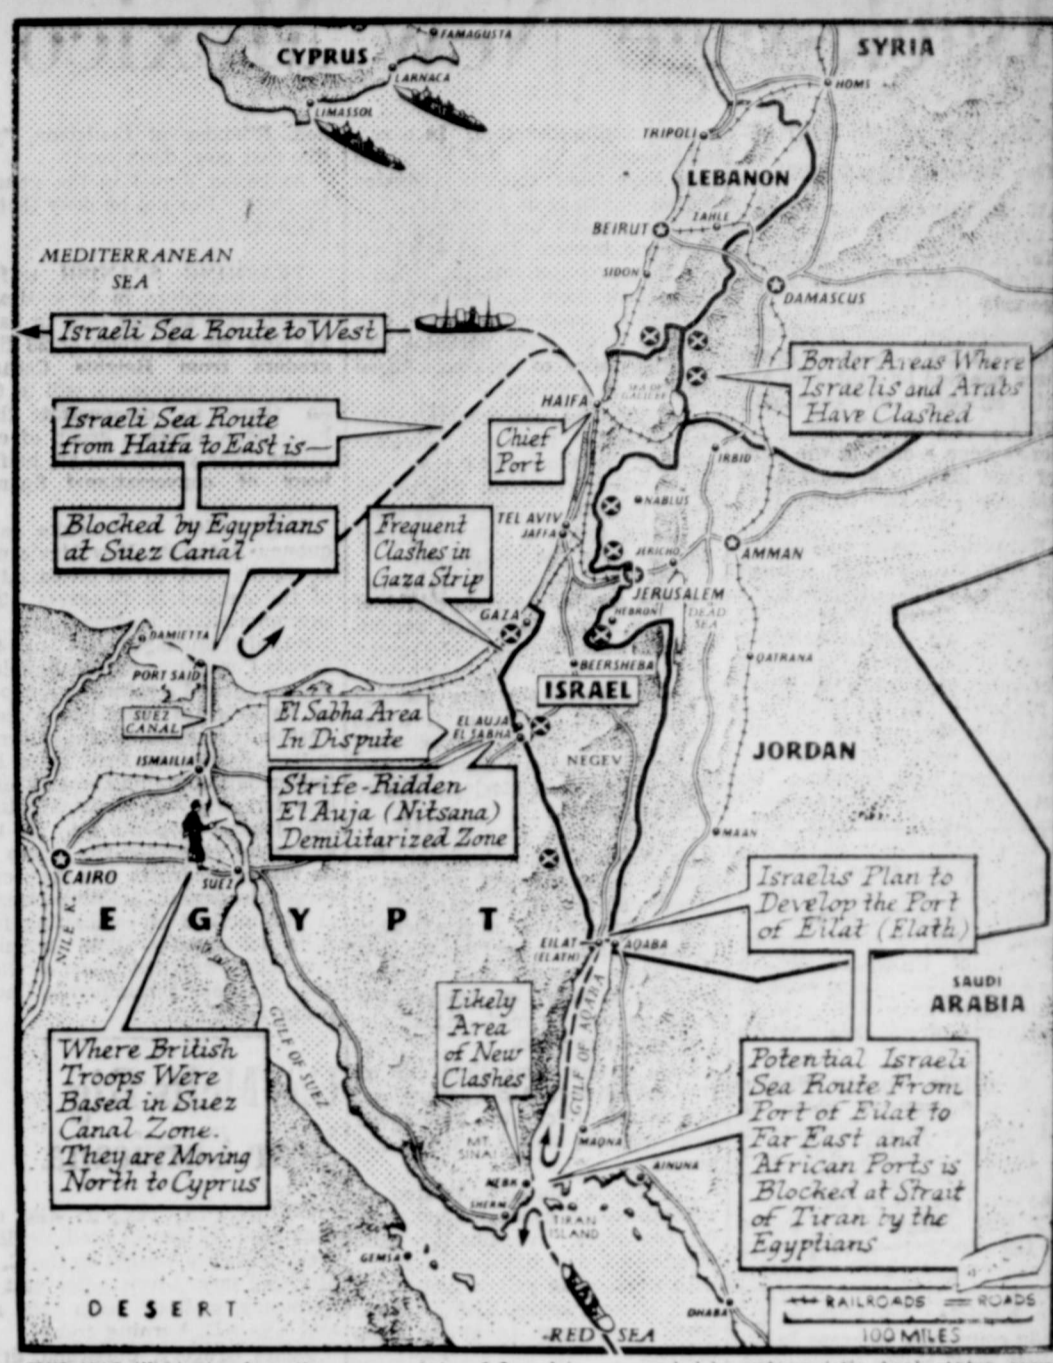

Let us suppose such a teacher could be found. What then? Well, no wife would want to return to a dull husband after studying under a professor like that. They'd all fall in love with teacher and want to spend the rest of their lives in obedience school.

The question naturally arises then: "How about a few obedience schools for husbands — wouldn't they improve matrimony?"

The answer to this is there simply isn't any demand for them. Every marriage is an obedience school for husbands. That's the way it is—and that's the way it's likely to stay.

ISRAEL LOCKED IN ARAB GRIP ON THREE SIDES

THIS MAP illustrates how the young state of Israel is surrounded by antagonistic Arab states, prone for its Mediterranean coast. Israel's route to the east, since Egypt has taken over the Suez canal, lies westward. Israel's plan to develop the port of Eilat on the Gulf of Agaba is meeting with difficulty because of Egypt's possession of Nebk at the gulf's entrance. (International)

Backstage New Mexico

By the New Mexico Staff of THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

LAW ENFORCEMENT officials over much of New Mexico see hopeful signs in what appears to be a decreasing number of juveniles getting into trouble.

The downward trend is reflected in a drop in the number of juvenile cases handled by probation and juvenile officers and eventually getting into juvenile courts.

There's been a drop in the number of such cases in at least Albuquerque, Roswell and Santa Fe—and perhaps other spots.

In Roswell, Juvenile Officer Pat O'Neil says the case load is down by approximately 30 per cent since February in Chaves County. He also pointed out that in that period, several boys from the county had been paroled from the Springer Industrial School and was heartened by the fact none of the parolees had been cited for any violation since their release.

Santa Fe County juvenile court authorities handled a total of 54 cases during the month of October with only 14 getting an "official" classification. This represented a slight decrease in the number for the same month of 1954. During October, Chief Probation Officer James Kilkenny said there were no juvenile cases from Los Alamos, and only one from Rio Arriba County.

In Bernalillo county district court, juvenile records show an actual increase in the number of cases handled through Nov. 1—a total of 2,912 compared with 2,706 for the same period a year ago.

BUT Dist. Judge Edwin Swope says the increase—and perhaps additional cases—can be accounted for by a new system of referring traffic involving juveniles to the juvenile court now whereas in the past they went to the police court. Juvenile traffic offenders are required to attend a safe-driving school.

gang elements which were giving officers trouble in some communities late last year have vanished, in many cases. In general, the picture is optimistic.

THERE ARE still some trouble spots. It may have easily been an isolated incident and completely harmless in intent, but a recent visitor in Taos confessed to being scared "half witless" when a group of 10 youngsters ranging from 9 to about 15 followed him and his wife out of a drug store late at night. The group followed the half-running and admittedly frightened couple all the way to their hotel.

Kiwanis club members in Raton have come up with a new gimmick in the juvenile situation. In a recent meeting, they had as guests five boys from the New Mexico School for Boys at Springer. The boys sat down and frankly told the civic leaders their problems and how they got into the trouble which sent them to Springer.

Their explanation: Idleness, and drifting away from parental ties and the desire to be a recognized member of a group.

Judicial and enforcement officials concede that the juvenile problem isn't one that can be solved overnight. But they're relieved to find, at least at the present time, there is an apparent abatement in the problem.

Gerry Austin, associate editor of the New Mexico Stockman, recently went along with a cattle outfit on a drive down the Magdalena Stock Driveway, the only one left of the famed cattle trails. Guess who, of all the riders, was the only man rolling his own cigarettes—just like in western stories. You're right—Austin!

DESPITE the emphasis on the current highway safety program, a person can get a real jolt driving along some of the more heavily traveled stretches in New Mexico. It seems like the belief usually credited to men in combat—"it won't happen to me"—cloaks the average driver too.

Take a trip some time out on U. S. 86 between Albuquerque and Tucumcari. Stick to the speed limit and see how often you get passed.

There's a thrill, and often an uncomfortable narrow squeak every few miles. It seems like most people love a gamble—even if it's with lives. The yellow no-passing lines on approaches to hills or on curves just seem to entice some drivers.

It'll shock you to realize how many accidents are speeding along looking for a place to happen.

A GROUP of New Mexico farmers and ranchers got a hearty chuckle out of an exchange which took place during the recent Senate Agriculture Committee hearing in Albuquerque.

State Sen. Stephen L. Brock of Harding County commented that rural circles in the state are grateful for Sen. Clinton P. Anderson's position on agricultural programs. Anderson, one of the two committee members holding the hearing, took the microphone to reply that Brock is a longtime friend, "but the chairman would be justified in ruling any further remarks of that type out of order."

"Aw, now, Senator," drawled

Sen. Ellender of Louisiana, "you like that now, don't you?" Anderson joined in the general laughter. Nor did he deny that he liked it.

TEACHING SPANISH to first grade youngsters in New Mexico schools gets another look in Santa Fe Nov. 20. A group of 20 first-graders from Heights Catholic School in Albuquerque will be taken there to demonstrate their knowledge before a group of educators. The youngsters get half an hour of conversational Spanish daily.

SPEAKING of juvenile delinquency, a former New Mexican is up to his neck in an investigation of the subject in Congress. The subcommittee to investigate juvenile delinquency, part of the Senate Committee on the Judiciary has just issued a voluminous report on its hearings held in August. Associate counsel for the subcommittee, headed by Sen. Estes C. Cavanaugh, is Peter Chumbris. Chumbris formerly was assistant attorney general in Santa Fe. Of the testimony presented the group in its various hearings, one such concerned leadership training offered as one method of combating juvenile delinquency. The training mentioned was that given at Gloria Baptist Encampment near Santa Fe.

Gas Melts Rig Near Corsicana

CORSICANA, Tex., (AP)—Gas encountered by an oil well drilling crew ignited last night on the C. C. McClung farm seven miles east of Corsicana, melted down the rig and was still burning today.

James Gregory, Corsicana, driller's helper, was slightly singed but not otherwise hurt when he fell or was blown from the rig. The drilling site was in an open field and the burning gas did not endanger any other property. The flame was shooting 150 feet into the air at dawn.

Frank Ware, one of the owners of the Ware Drilling Co., Corsicana, estimated the loss of the rig at $28,000.

He said the gas was encountered at 1,200 feet at about 10 p.m. last night and immediately ignited. Roark Montgomery, Jr., Corsicana, the driller, was not hurt.

Ware said he hoped the well would "bridge over"—cave in and smother itself—but that if it does not, he would have mud pumped into the well in hopes of dousing the blaze.

SIXTEEN HUNDRED "Exercise Sage Brush" umpires observed the detonation of a simulated atomic bomb at Camp Polk, La., as preparations were made for the largest Joint Army-Air Force training maneuver since World War II. Made of conventional-type explosives, the bomb produces the familiar mushroom-shaped cloud. This photo was made on October 27, and just released by the Pentagon.

Wildcat Reaches Depth of 21,484

HOUSTON (AP)—A world record depth of 21,484 feet was reached yesterday by a Louisiana wildcat oil test. Operators of the well—40 miles southeast of New Orleans—said the tests will be pushed deeper.

The new depth was two feet deeper than the previous record set in 1953 with a California dry hole. The record breaker is owned by Richardson and Bass, Fort Worth; John W. Mecom, Houston independent operator; and the Freeport Sulphur Co.

Drilling from a barge in marsh lands reachable only by boat and plane, spokesmen revealed that several oil sands have been encountered but not tested at depths below the world's deepest producing depth of 17,859 feet.

Although cows on lush pastures give much milk, they tend to lose weight unless they are given supplemental feeding.

There are about 74 million horses in the world, about 22 per cent fewer than before World War II.

HOBBBS (AP)—Completion of Magnolia Petroleum Co. No. 1 Martin, wildcat oilwell in Roosevelt County, will be attempted in the San Andres formation. The well is being plugged back for the work.

Final drillstem test at 8,073 feet in the granite recovered 710 feet of drilling mud and 5,419 feet of salt water in two hours. The well is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 29-6-34e two miles northeast of the New Hope pool.
