

Convicted Forger Tells of Rigging Bomb to Explode Plane

DENVER (AP)—In dispassionate tones, John Gilbert (Jack) Graham, related sticks of dynamite to explode aboard an airplane carrying 44 were killed Nov. 1 when the United Air Lines DC 6B crashed 11 minutes after it left Denver.

Graham, a 23-year-old convicted forger, did not reply when asked whether he felt remorse.

S. Atty. Donald E. Kelly said Denver construction and repair worker signed a "written confession" earlier that he killed the mother Mrs. Daisie E. King, 54, to collect the $37,500 air flight insurance.

Ironically, the insurance was invalid because his mother had failed to sign it before she left Denver's Stapleton Airfield for Spenard, Alaska, and a visit with her daughter Mrs. Helen Ruth Hablutzel. The policies were taken out at the airport by Graham.

Graham was also in line to receive a fourth of his mother's estate, estimated at $150,000.

Details of Graham's plot were reported by David Stolberg of the Rocky Mountain News.

Construction of the bomb was begun Oct. 18 or 19, Graham said. Parts of it included the dynamite, 40 per cent explosive and 60 per cent packing, a timing device, a six-volt cell "hotshot" battery, and two dynamite caps. Each of the caps was connected to about eight feet of wire.

Graham said he unpacked parts of the contents of a large suitcase belonging to his mother and replaced them with the bomb.

"I placed this suitcase in the trunk of my car with another smaller suitcase and a briefcase which my mother had packed to take with her on the trip," he counted.

Graham said he picked up with mother, his wife Gloria and 20-month-old son Allen at a Denver garage, where Mrs. King had stored her car, and drove them to the airport. He let them out at the terminal and parked his car.

Graham, also the father of a 9-month-old daughter, Susan, said he then bound the large suitcase with web straps while at the parking site. He carried all the luggage to his mother in the terminal and waited about 30 feet away while she checked it.

"My wife and I went with her to the passengers' gate where we told my mother goodbye and watched her board the plane with the other passengers," Graham continued.

Then he took his wife and son into the airport coffee shop.

"We were in the coffee shop for approximately one hour, and as we were leaving I heard the cashier say that there had been a wreck of an airplane about forty miles out of Denver," he related.

Continuing his account of how the bomb was assembled, Graham said he had put the material in a long cardboard box and concealed it under a blanket in the trunk of his car.

He did not remove the bomb until "about 5:15 p.m. on Nov. 1," after he watched his mother, wife and son drive from their home to store Mrs. King's car.

As soon as they had left, he transferred the dynamite sticks, caps and wire to a paper sack.

"I then wrapped about three or four feet of binding cord around the sack of dynamite to hold the dynamite sticks in place around the caps, leaving the wires which were attached to the dynamite caps extending out of the paper sack," he said.

"The purpose of the two caps was in case one of the caps failed to function and ignite the dynamite."

He said that when 90 minutes were up the maximum time allowed him by the timing device, "I knew the circuit between the caps and the battery which was broken by the timer would be closed by the timer mechanism and detonate the caps, which would detonate the dynamite."

Graham, who has been a student at Denver University, was arrested early yesterday at his home where his mother also lived.

He waived a hearing on a "peacetime sabotage" charge yesterday and was jailed in lieu of $100,000 bond. The charge carries a maximum penalty of 10 years in prison and $10,000 fine.

A decision is expected within a day or so on further prosecution, Kelly said.

The U. S. attorney met with state prosecutors to consider whether Graham should be turned over to them for prosecution on murder charges, punishable by death in Colorado.

With his mother, Graham had been operating a drive-in restaurant in South Denver. Officers said he was paying off $4,200 worth of checks he forged against a Denver concern. Mrs. King paid $2,500 of the amount at the time her son received a five-year suspended sentence on conviction of forgery in 1951.

Superintendent Is Named For Farm

Members of the Pecos Valley Farm Planning Assn. today named as superintendent of the Southeastern Sub-Station of New Mexico A&M's research department located six miles south of Artesia.

Howard Stroup, a director of the Association, received a letter from Albert S. Curry, associate director of A&M's research department, saying that Dr. W. S. McGuire, of Mississippi State College, has accepted the post.

According to Curry, Dr. McGuire will assume his duties Jan. 1, 1956. He also said that he hopes "this appointment will enable us to initiate a credible research program by next spring."

Dr. McGuire is married, has one child and was trained in agronomy. He has had farm experience in Arkansas where he obtained his bachelor's degree.

The newly appointed superintendent was a Fulbright scholar at the University of New Zealand where he was awarded a master's degree and earned his doctorate at Washington State.

The farm was established by money contributed by members of the Pecos Valley Farm Planning Assn. and by industries which produce farm needs.

The project—with a goal of obtaining a research station in this area—began in earnest two years ago. To date 100 of its 160 acres have been cleared and the state has appropriated money to the College of Agriculture and Mechanics for its operation.

At present a home is under construction for use by the farm foreman.

Artesia Man Found Over In Dope Case

In preliminary hearing proceedings before John Ellicott, justice of the peace, here today, a 22-year-old Artesia man, Jose Ontiveras, was bound over for trial in District Court next March on a charge of possession of marijuana.

Judge Ellicott, in his findings, ruled that there was probable cause to suspect the defendant of the possession of marijuana.

Bond was set at $1,000.

Ontiveras was arrested here on Nov. 6 and charged with the possession of marijuana after officers claimed they found a pouch containing two marijuana cigarettes and some loose marijuana slipped into Ontiveras' sock.

Ontiveras had been brought to the police station here, along with Jesus Esparza, driver of a car which officers observed ran a stop sign.

Lumber Company To Incorporate

Four Artesians have filed with the office of the State Corporation Commission for a certificate of incorporation for a new local firm to be known as the Hollywood Lumber Co.

The application listed Charles Denton, Ann Denton, T. L. Archer and Elizabeth Archer as the holders of stock. It asked for an authorization for capital stock of $1,000,000 and said stock actually issued to commence business amounted to $60,000.

According to the application the firm wishes to incorporate to acquire by purchasing or otherwise, own, buy, sell and deal in sawing timber and timber lands, and to buy, cut, haul, drive and sell timber and logs.

Contacted today, Mr. Denton said no further information on the corporation may be revealed at this time.

President 'Eases' Back Into Routine of His High Office

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—President Eisenhower eased back into the routine of his high office today and his "home town," adjusted with hardly a ripple to his presence.

He scheduled a meeting in mid-afternoon with his chief assistant Sherman Adam, who planned to fly here with official business stemming from a Cabinet meeting in Washington.

Eisenhower is using his country home on the outskirts of town as his office. His new quarters in the Gettysburg post office aren't quite ready.

Tomorrow he will see Secretary of Commerce Weeks, only member of the Cabinet who wasn't able to confer with him at Denver.

In the big, rebuilt house on the farm, Eisenhower is using ground floor study as a bedroom presumably to avoid unnecessary stair-climbing while he continues his recovery from a heart attack.

It's a quiet household nowadays. White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told newsmen, in response to questions, that the staff is limited to the President's valet, a cook and Mrs. Eisenhower's maid.

Police Probe Death of Boys For Foul Play

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Police today investigated the possibility of foul play in the death of two young brothers in a fire-razed shack which had been used as a clubhouse by teen-agers.

Firemen who were called to quell the blaze in the padlocked shack yesterday discovered the burned bodies of William Stengele, 8, and his brother David, 6.

They were identified by their mother, Mrs. Adele Stengele, 26, from bits of clothing found in the ruins.

Coroner Clayton O. P. Worley withheld a certificate stating the cause of death pending an autopsy today at Allentown Hospital.

Mrs. Stengele first missed her children when they failed to return from school for lunch with their brother, Dale, 7. She learned of the tragedy while searching the neighborhood.

Her husband, Roland, 27, a laborer at the Bethlehem Steel Corp. plant in nearby Bethlehem, was at work.

A woman noticed the shack was on fire and called firemen. They put out the blaze by dumping the structure on its side into a creek running along side of it. That's when they discovered the bodies.

Police found a red smear on a stone wall near the shack. It was being analyzed to determine if it was human blood.

Four of the teen-agers who used the shack were questioned by police. One reported that he and his companions locked the door Sunday night shortly after dark before leaving for the night.

When firemen reached the scene yesterday, the one door on the shack was secured by three closed padlocks, all on the outside.

Police said the children might have gotten in by crawling through a loose section.

Carlsbad Man Arraigned Here On Dope Count

A 22-year-old Carlsbad man, Cruz Ortega, was arraigned in justice of the peace court here yesterday and charged with the possession of marijuana.

Ortega pleaded not guilty and John Ellicott, justice of the peace, set a preliminary hearing for Nov. 22.

Ortega is being held in county jail at Carlsbad in lieu of $1,500 bond.

A Artesia man, Ramon Fierro, also 22 is being held in county jail in lieu of $2,000 bond in connection with the same case.

Ortega and a teen-age companion were arrested in Carlsbad early Saturday after returning from Artesia where they allegedly purchased marijuana from Fierro, Sheriff Hal's Bill Martin said.

Officers said that Fierro's name and address were on an envelope containing marijuana found in the possession of the Carlsbad man when they were arrested. This led to the arrest, that same morning.

A quantity of marijuana was found in the possession of Fierro when he was arrested during a raid on his home according to sheriff's officers.

Fierro also pleaded not guilty at his arraignment here and a preliminary hearing was set for Nov. 22. Fierro is charged with possession and sale of marijuana.

"Shall Do All In My Power," Beaten '52 Candidate Says

CHICAGO (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson today said "I shall be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for president next year."

Stevenson, his party's 1952 candidate for president, issued a statement saying:

"I shall do all I can to persuade my party to entrust that immense responsibility to me again be cause:

"First, I believe it important for the Democratic party to resume the executive direction of our national affairs."

"Second, I am assured that my candidacy would be welcomed by representative people in and out of my party throughout the country."

"Third, I believe any citizen should make whatever contribution he can to the search for a safer, saner world."

The statement also set forth: "It is of first importance to return the executive branch of the government to the Democratic party because it is apparent that wisdom and responsibility began to reappear in the conduct of our affairs only with the return of Congress to Democratic leadership in the 1954 election."

Demos Wanting Nomination Told To Work

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—Gov. Averell Harriman said today that anyone wanting the Democratic presidential nomination would have to work for it. And he added: "I'm not going to work for it."

In a radio network broadcast Harriman touched on the current Geneva conference, and said he considered it "foolish" of Secretary of State Dulles to have been as optimistic as the governor said Dulles had been recently concerning relations with Russia.

As for the Democratic presidential choice, Harriman said in answer to questions by news commentator Martin Agronsky: "No one is going to be offered this nomination."

Although he did not say so on the broadcast, Harriman is known by a doubt to be willing to take the nomination.

Today was the governor's 64th birthday.

Of the Geneva conference, Harriman said that Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov "by his rudeness, has shown that the Kremlin has the same ruthless objectives it always has had."

"I don't know if Mr. Dulles was just naive," Harriman said. However, the governor expressed belief it was possible for the East and West to live together "without war."

Harriman is a former ambassador to Russia.

Western Officials Attempt To Halt Red Arms Sales

GENEVA (AP)—Western officials are making a play, without much hope of success, to get Russia to stop selling discarded World War II armaments to the world's trouble spots.

U. S. Secretary of State Dulles focused public attention on the subject in the Big Four conference of foreign ministers yesterday after twice being brushed off in private by Russia's V. M. Molotov.

By bringing the issue into the open he gave expression to fears that Moscow by its arms export policy may fan many small wars and local antagonism over the world, making more trouble for the Western Powers.

"The Soviet Union," Dulles said, "apparently at the present time does have large stockpiles of discarded arms resulting from the production of new models for the Soviet's own use."

"It will be a matter utmost concern to other nations of the world if the Soviet bloc should try to meet its large import needs and serve its other aims by exporting these surplus arms throughout the world."

The reference to imports was the tie by which Dulles was able to introduce the arms problem logically into yesterday's meeting, which was concerned with the problem of broadening East-West contacts in the fields of trade, travel and information.

Molotov ignored the thrust. His treatment of the question of increasing East-West contacts showed that once more—as in earlier discussions here on Germany and disarmament—the West is up against a stone wall.

Western proposal that Russia stop jamming foreign radio broadcasts, open its borders to foreign travel and publications, and make it easier for foreign businessmen to do business in the Soviet Union were all rejected by Molotov as "interference" in Soviet affairs.

Molotov made it clear that the Soviet government is determined not to make any changes in the Iron Curtain which would expose the Russian people to any large-scale impact of Western ideas and influences.

His government, he said, would never grant "freedom for exchange of ideas xxx which would in fact represent freedom for propaganda for a new war or propaganda for atomic attack."

"Nor can we agree, of course," he added, "to so-called freedom for exchange of persons which would (Continued on page four)

U. S. - Russia Plan Private Talk On New Memberships

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The United States and Russia scheduled private talks today aimed at breaking a deadlock over admitting 18 nations to the U. N.

Western sources said hurried talks were being made as attempts to solve the long-standing problem bogged down over U. S. opposition to giving Soviet-sponsored Outer Mongolia a seat.

Meanwhile, two plans were reported afoot to speed U. N. action on membership.

1. The Special Political Committee, in an unusual move, offered special priority to a plan drawn up by Canada and supported by Britain to admit all 18 applicants.

2. Informed sources said plans Security Council meeting on the question.

The council could consider the question before it comes up in the Special Political Committee and Assembly for action. But the consensus was that most delegates would prefer a quick general debate before the council acts.

U. S. Chief Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr. said the United States had dropped its active opposition —Albania, Hungary, Bulgaria and Romania.

He added that the United States would not use the veto against Outer Mongolia, but he expressed doubt the country would get the necessary seven affirmative votes in the Security Council.

The Soviet delegation retorted that Russia was prepared to vote for the 13 non-Communist applications only if the West cast affirmative ballots for the whole 18.

The United States has questioned the qualifications of Outer Mongolia, which began trying to get into the U. N. barely a year after it severed its ties with China and proclaimed itself a state in 1945.

The question is complicated by the fact that Nationalist China, one of the five veto-wielding powers on the council is pledged to turn "thumbs down on Outer Mongolia when a vote is taken."

If an applicant gets seven affirmative votes in the council it must then win a two-thirds majority in the General Assembly.

The 13 non-Communist applicants are Ireland, Italy, Spain, Portugal, Ceylon, Jordan, Nepal, Libya, Japan, Austria, Finland, Laos and Cambodia.

Met Season Opens Amid Much Glitter

NEW YORK (AP)—The opening of the 71st season of the Metropolitan Opera last night was a colorful pageant of beautiful clothes, sparkling gems, rich furs and exemplary conduct. The high-style audience—most of them conducting themselves like bona fide music lovers—left the famed fide music-famed red damask Sherry's Restaurant over the Diamond Horse shoe almost deserted except at intermissions. The opening opera was Offenbach's "The Tales of Hoffman," which featured a pantalletted chorus line, light love, laughter and dance. W. G. Rogers, Associated Press arts editor, found it a "modish work for the modish audience." "It was grand opera but that didn't keep most people from having a grand time," reported Rogers. "It was the Met moving into the entertainment field." Although all the hi-jinks were confined to the stage side of the footlights, the premiere remained an extravagant observer was Russian pianist Emil Gilels, who walked unsuspectingly with his wife into the "carriage trade" lobby as batteries of photographers were blazing at opera stars Blanche Thebom in gold lame dress and elaborat headress; and Jarmila Novotna in rich green velvet and handsome jewels. He looked bewildered. Fashionwise, it was evident that the new tight sheath dresses have established an American beach scene—any number of women wore dresses showing Indian and Japanese influences. Many wore gold and silver flecked eye shadow.

Making a report on the conference delegation meeting at Albuquerque Oct. 28, Mrs. Bunch stated that the state report contained several changes submitted from local groups resulting from the July meeting. All committees were urged to hold follow-up meetings. Mrs. Bunch said, to be held after the Washington conference that is scheduled to take place Nov. 20-21, Dec. 1.

Television Seen As Good Chance For New Writers

By CHARLES MERCER NEW YORK (AP)—Herman Wouk, one of the best and most successful of younger American writers, believes television offers a great opportunity to the learning writer. The author of "The Caine Mutiny" and the new best-seller "Marjorie Morningstar" had just finished reading the TV script of "The Caine Mutiny Court Martial" the other day when cornered for an interview. That stage success by Wouk, based on his novel, comes to CBS-TV next Saturday evening as the third "Ford Star Jubilee" show of the season (9:30 p. m. EST.) The hour and a half drama has most of the original Broadway cast. "The heart of the play is intact," Wouk said of the TV script. "Charles Laughton did a skillful editing job. I approve it wholeheartedly." Wouk, who wrote radio scripts for Fred Allen and Henry Morgan a decade and more ago, has not written for television. "Television is a marvelous opportunity for the learning writer," he said. "He's able to support himself while he learns his profession because television eats up so much material. Its frame is small, but technically it gives a writer the chance to develop competence without starving in a garret. . . . If a man's ultimate aim is to be a serious literary artist, and not just to make money, the disciplines imposed by television are as useful as any I know to help him achieve his goal." The big financial returns that come to some TV writers will not necessarily deflect the serious writer from his eventual artistic goals, Wouk believes. "How a man takes to financial success depends on his temperament."

Wouk knows, because he has been blessed both by success and an even temperament, that can best put it, "Success always has seemed partial to me." After the popular reception of "The Caine Mutiny," there was, as he dryly explains, "a big area for my doing absolutely nothing." But "Marjorie Morningstar" was on his mind, driving him to work. In the midst of writing "Marjorie Morningstar" he broke off—in mid-sentence, actually—to write "The Caine Mutiny Court Martial." When the play was finished he returned to Marjorie without difficulty. Before turning Marjorie over to his publisher he cut between 125,000 and 150,000 words—the length of a long novel.

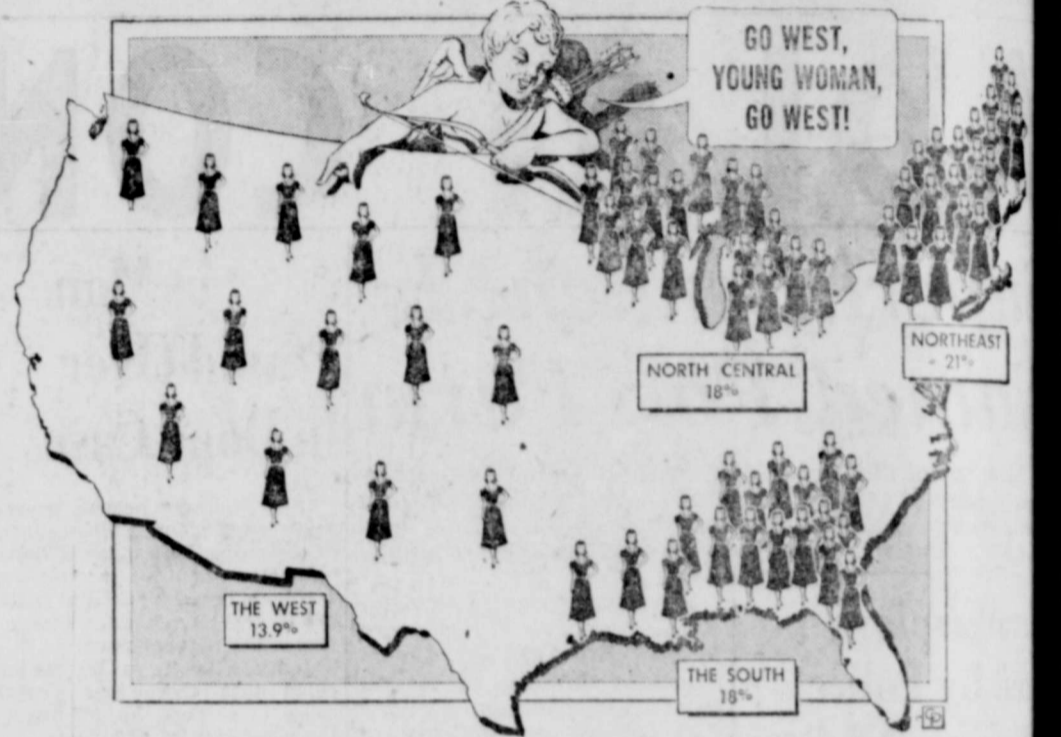

The Artesia AAUW branch, it was revealed by Mrs. A. R. Haralson, presiding at the Saturday Country Club luncheon, has been chosen to participate in preparations for observance of the association's 75th anniversary to be held in 1957. A membership survey of the 1,200 branches will be conducted and Artesia, standing high among the one-third of the branches asked to participate, will help in compiling the survey. The local branch was chosen, Mrs. Haralson said, "because of the active, dependable and responsive nature of the Artesia branch." Each group over the nation will compile its history and in Artesia, Mrs. Lillian Bigler has been appointed historian.

The Artesia branch received another pat on the back from the state president, Mrs. William Chambers, who asked that "Artesia set up a working outline for the state workshop that can be passed along to other hostess branches." Mrs. Chambers, referring to the recent state workshop held in Artesia, commented on the "extraordinary success of the arrangement," complimenting Mrs. Lillian Bigler, Mrs. Vilas P. Sheldon and Mrs. B. R. Gorman and asking them to constitute a state workshop committee to formulate a state-wide workshop outline based on Artesia's arrangements. Highlights of the entertainment program were the appearance of Miss Norma Jo Thigpen and Mrs. Burr Stout. Miss Thigpen, student representative at the United Nations last July, spoke about her trip and showed slides of the United Nations buildings and sessions. Mrs. Stout entertained with a piano rendition of Chopin's Ballade in A flat minor. AAUW will meet again in December at the Country Club, the new meeting place chosen for this year.

Want a Husband? There's Less Competition in the West

THIS CHART translates U. S. Census bureau figures into the same advice Horace Greeley gave almost a hundred years ago, "Go West." Single females 14 and over make up only 13.9 per cent of population in the west. But in the south and north central states they are 18 per cent strong, and in the northeast 21 per cent. Thus, young woman (in the mood to marry?) there is less competition out west.

Central PTA Panel Is Called "Interesting, Far Too Short"

A 30-minute panel discussion led by J. Burr Stout, elementary school supervisor, was "very interesting and much too short" in the opinion of many who attended Hermosa PTA last night at 7:30 in the school auditorium. Members of the panel included Mrs. Raymond Lamb, parent; Mrs. Wesley Sperry, teacher; C. C. Nelson, vice-president of the board of education; Walter Short, director of special activities and C. A. Stalcup, Hermosa principal. Questions were written and placed in a box at the entrance with many other questions being asked from the floor. Some of the questions were: "How are home room parties sponsored and financed?" "Should parents help their children with lessons brought home?" "Are there any immediate building plans?" "What part does school bus transportation play in our school system?" "Do schools use too many workbooks?" "What time should children come to school mornings?" During the business session, which preceded the panel, Mrs. C. H. Johns, first vice president, presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. M. A. Mapes. Mrs. Ray Fagan, spiritual education chairman, opened the meeting with a Thanksgiving meditation and prayer. The minutes were read and approved. Mrs. Howard Lewis, second vice-president and membership chairman, reported to date 251 members which include 90 men, 18 teachers, (100 percent) and with 88 families being represented.

Oklahoma Sooners Stretch Grid Poll Lead

Maryland, Spartans Keep Close

By The Associated Press
Oklahoma, Maryland, and Michigan State again are the Big Three in the balloting to determine the nation's top college football teams.

These three retained the positions they assumed last week in the Associated Press roll of sports writers and broadcasters, but Oklahoma stretched its lead while Maryland, the leader two weeks ago, barely clung to second place.

With 204 sports experts casting ballots, Oklahoma's margin over Maryland jumped from 51 points to 107. Maryland's second-place lead over Michigan State dwindled to just eight points. Scoring on the basis of 10 for each first place vote, 9 for second, etc.

Oklahoma came first on 103 of 204 ballots for a total of 1,844 points. Maryland, with 46 firsts, scored 1,677 points, and Michigan State drew 37 firsts and 1,669 points. Notre Dame took over fourth from UCLA by a margin of 80 to 1,164.

West Virginia, sixth a week ago, gained only 109 points after taking a solid 26-7 beating from Pittsburgh and fell to 13th. The teams and the Mountaineers each added one place so Michigan, Texas Christian, Texas A&M, Ohio State and Georgia Tech round out the week's first 10.

The scores show the obvious reasons for the changes in the balloting. Unbeaten Oklahoma racked up a 52-0 record for its 53rd consecutive game without defeat. The Big Seven, Maryland had come from behind to beat Clemson 25-12 and stay on top of the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Tulane Athletic Officials Defend Players' Courses

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Tulane University athletic officials and academic authorities today defended the course taken by two football players which provoked an associate dean to resign his post.

Dr. Russell M. Geer disclosed yesterday he resigned as associate dean of the College of Arts and Sciences at the beginning of the fall term. Dr. Geer, who remained on the faculty as chairman of the Classical Languages Department said he had no other alternative because he found the school's position "indefensible."

He denounced what he called "violation of the spirit" of the athletic code in that the two players, who failed out of the Arts and Sciences College and were allowed to enter the University College, the adult education and night division.

Dr. Geer said halfback Otis Gilmore and quarterback Johnny Garuso were admitted to the fall term of the University College and permitted to carry only 12 semester hours. Students ordinarily carry no less than 15 hours, he said unless they have special permission.

Maryland May Face Saturday Game Without Ace Quarterback

BALTIMORE (AP)—Unbeaten Maryland may go into its last 1955 football game without the services of Frank Tamburello, No. 1 quarterback.

The husky Baltimore junior was thrown for a loss by a bug over the weekend, and doctors at University Hospital here said he might miss Saturday's game against George Washington.

Dr. Thurston Adams, surgeon and team doctor, said Tamburello was suffering from cellulitis, an inflammation or infection of cell tissues, in glands on the left side of his neck.

Tamburello became ill Friday night and played only briefly in Maryland's 25-12 victory over Clemson, while Lynn Beightler started at quarterback and carried the burden most of the way.

Hospital officials said Tamburello's throat was swollen and sore and it will take a couple of days to determine whether he can play.

Johnny Podres Awaits Results Of Draft Exam

BROOKLYN, (AP)—Johnny Podres, the southpaw with the pain in the back who became a pain in the neck for the New York Yankees in the World Series, probably won't know for 10 days or so whether he'll be drafted.

The 23-year-old lefty, who won twice for the Brooklyn Dodgers in the series, including the decisive seventh game, went through not one but two physical examinations yesterday. After an Army doctor and an orthopedic specialist finished their probing, however, there still was no decision on his draft status.

It's probable the doctors' reports have been forwarded to the surgeon general's office in Washington for the final decision, which will be announced by Podres' Ticonderoga, N. Y., draft board. His home is Witherbee, N. Y.

When the second examination was finished, Podres hunched his shoulders and said, "I don't know a thing more."

Should Podres, who was listed as unfit physically for military service in 1952, now be accepted, he'd have a two-year tour of service ahead.

Podres was unable to touch his toes during tests yesterday. He was wearing a foot-wide harness around his middle because of a displaced disc in his back.

Cubs To Invite 20 To Training Camp Week Early

CHICAGO (AP)—Some 20 players to attend early camp when the Chicago Cubs open their 1956 spring training Feb. 20, at Mesa, Ariz.

The early birds will be joined by the remainder of the pitchers and catchers on the roster Feb. 26. Others on squad will assemble March 1, official opening for spring training.

Wid Mathews, director of playing personnel, said that several outstanding prospects from the Cub farm system also will be invited to Mesa but he did not name them.

"Manager Stan Hack is enthusiastic about the early camp," he said. "It will give us a chance to work on the younger players, and those who need special instructions."

Arkansas' Bowl Hopes Rest on Shoulders of Rice

Writer Claims Second Place Club Wins Poll

BRYAN, Tex., (AP)—The Southwest Conference has voted to pick the second place team for the Cotton Bowl in the event Texas A&M wins the football championship, Sports Editor Paschal Price of the Bryan Eagle said today.

Price, who has been critical of the conference for barring A&M from the bowl game if it wins the championship, said he had learned that the rule to select a team for the Jan. 2 game had been set by a 5 to 1 vote.

Conference officials at Dallas would not comment and declined to say how the mail vote had gone. Best indications are that there will be no announcement until after the Texas-Texas A&M game on Thanksgiving Day. A&M can win the championship by beating Texas.

Price claims the vote to set a rule for selecting a bowl team in the event A&M wins the championship is illegal and not in accordance with the conference constitution which requires 30 days notice before a regular meeting for an amendment to be voted. A&M was put on probation last spring.

Coach Allie White, who watched Rice against A&M, praise the Owls as "a fine ball club, one that is tough defensively." Trainer Elmer Brown said the club is "in as good a shape physically as we have been all year."

The Owls are counting on precedent to help them against TCU. In his 16 years at Rice, Coach Jess Neely's teams never have lost six straight games. They lost five straight in 1944 and 1952.

The Baylor Bears, who tangle with the Southern Methodist Mustangs at Waco Saturday, worked out until dark Monday with Coach George Sauer scrimmaging his charges long and hard on pass plays. Three Bears—Co-captains Weldon Holley and Henry Gremminger and halfback Bobby Peters—are uncertain starters against SMU because of injuries.

The Mustangs, who haven't defeated the Bears in seven seasons, will face Baylor with a starting player on their disabled list. All starters have been ready for previous games this year. Missing will be Don (Tiny) Goss, who injured a hip against Arkansas last week.

NEWCOMBE TALKS CONTRACT

BROOKLYN, (AP)—Don Newcombe, who had a 20-5 record with the world champion Brooklyn Dodgers last season, comes to town to talk over his 1956 contract tomorrow. The big righthander a year ago took a salary cut estimated at $2,500 for his poor 1954 showing 9-8.

Syndicate Buys Richmond Club At Auction Sale

RICHMOND, Va., (AP)—A six-man syndicate now owns Richmond's International League baseball club after a surprising deal in which the only big loser apparently was former owner Harry C. Siebold.

The syndicate purchased the team's triple-A franchise, equipment and player contracts for $20,000 yesterday at an auction held by the Internal Revenue Service, which had seized the club's assets. The government put the team up for sale to satisfy tax liens totaling $79,218.68.

Not only did Siebold lose his club, but he still owes the government $45,315.97 on the tax claim. Applied to the original lien were the $20,000 auction sale price and the $13,902.71 received for recent player sales.

Seibold, who operated the club since Richmond received the triple-A franchise two years ago, did not show up for the sale.

The syndicate is comprised of Richard S. Reynolds Jr., Fritz Shterling, M. Claiborne Robins, Dan Friedman, Milton Market and Jack Bernstein. All are Richmond businessmen.

The purchasers must still satisfy additional debts totaling some $48,000 held against the territory. They also must be approved by the International League.

It Is Taxpayers' Money

WE probably would be surprised and amazed if we knew how much of the taxpayers' money is used for private purposes and for purposes for which it was never appropriated or intended to be used.

For a good many years we have built up the idea that it doesn't matter too much if we are using taxpayers' money. We have gotten the idea we are getting something for nothing if the taxpayers are providing the money. The truth is we help pay for it when we are spending the taxpayers' money.

The incident regarding the returning of the senators from Europe is a splendid example of how equipment and funds for the defense of our nation are used to take care of private matters.

We don't believe that congress ever intended for funds voted for the defense of the nation was to be provided to furnish transportation for members of congress or for private citizens.

Yet the senators in Europe were members of the appropriations committee. If the Air Force could use its funds do a favor for these senators—we'll it would be expected the senators could do the Air Force a favor. The senators should have been the first to condemn the practice and the idea of sending planes to Europe to pick them up and bring them home.

But the Navy also spends money to provide transportation for private individuals. We have always felt these trips provided for the press or members of the press; for observers; for private citizens to see and visit certain points should never been carried out with the taxpayers' money but it has been done.

These are only two instances we happen to hear about or know about. And that makes us all wonder just how much of the taxpayers' money is spent by federal agencies, government bureaus or the department of the defense to entertain private citizens and private individuals.

We talk about the lobbyist in Washington—we'll even our departments of defense do a little lobbying too except they are using the taxpayers' money to pay for their lobby work.

When American citizens raise their voices in violent protest against these practices you can be sure they will come to a halt and these matters will not be continued.

Justice Warren Might Have Hard Time Eating His Words

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON, (AP)—Chief Justice Earl Warren can hardly escape some political indignation if he ever tries to eat the words he used in saying he is not a presidential candidate. They were pretty emphatic.

He said his decision was "irrevocable" under any "circumstances or conditions." President Eisenhower sounded pretty emphatic too back in early 1948, four years before he ran, in saying he wouldn't run. He said he was "positive."

In 1952, before he accepted the Democratic nomination, Adlai Stevenson said he didn't want it. But his statements, looking back on them now, didn't sound as convincing as Warren's or Eisenhower's. He never quite closed the door. Whether Warren likes it or not—and he is reported to have told friends privately he doesn't like it a bit and won't change his mind—he is constantly being mentioned as the man the Republicans may have to cal on in 1956.

Warren made his renunciation of political ambitions back in April 1955 when there was still reason to believe Eisenhower would seek a second term. It was before the President's heart attack made it unlikely he would, or could, run again.

If Eisenhower doesn't run, and if the Republicans think their only chance is with Warren, he will be under heavy pressure to change his mind. He hasn't been asked publicly what he would do if his party drafted him in 1956.

The 64 year old Warren, in politics since 1923 and three times governor of California, was made chief justice of the United States by Eisenhower in 1953.

He issued the following statement last April after a nationwide poll reported he was the top choice of Republican and independent voters if Eisenhower decided not to run:

"My name has been used as a possible candidate for the presidency. This has been a matter of embarrassment to me because it reflects upon the performance of my duties as chief justice of the United States.

"When I accepted that position, it was with the fixed purpose of leaving politics permanently for service on the court. That is still my purpose. It is irrevocable. I will not change it under any circumstances or conditions.

"Be they few or many, the remaining useful years of my life are dedicated to the service of the Supreme Court of the United States, in which work I am increasingly happy."

When a "draft - Eisenhower" move got under way in 1947, the general said, "I don't want anything to do with politics." He went even further than that with a lengthy statement — on Jan. 23, 1948—part of which said:

"My decision to remove myself completely from the political scene is definite and positive. I could not accept the nomination even under the remote circumstances that it was tendered me. I am not available for and could not accept nomination to high political office."

But after the 1948 elections, when he was again being mentioned as a candidate in 1952, he sounded a little less "positive" than in 1948 and finally ran.

Stevenson was governor of Illinois in April 1952 when he was being looked at as a likely Democratic nominee. He said then "I could not accept the nomination" because he wanted to run for another term as governor.

He kept saying that practically up to the moment he was nominated, and accepted, in the summer of 1952. But he is expected to announce in Chicago today he will try as hard as he can to be nominated by the Democrats again in 1956.

Ontiveras pleaded not guilty at his arraignment here Nov. 8.

Watkins based his arguments on the grounds that the contents of the pouch found on Ontiveras may not have been marijuana.

Witnesses called by Feezer at the hearing were Frank Powell, chief of police; Jesse Sosa, deputy sheriff; and Al Whitehouse, city policeman, and Dick Floyd, Carlsbad, deputy sheriff.

County Agent Gives Tips For Giving Stibestrol

Stockmen are asking many questions these days about feeding sublestrol to step up beef cattle gains.

Here are some facts from County Agent Richard Marek about use of the hormone:

On the average, the feed required per pound of gain is about 13 percent less, while the rate of gain may be increased by 10 to 16 percent. Heifers will respond to stibestrol only two thirds as favorably as steers.

Cattle to which stibestrol is fed should be over 600 pounds and being fattened in dry lots for the slaughter market.

Stibestrol is practical for feeding periods of 60 to 150 days. The recommended daily dose is 10 milligrams. It comes in 20 cent protein supplements which contain 10 milligrams of stibestrol per pound and in this case only one pound of the supplement is necessary. With large cattle and non-legume roughages some additional protein is needed.

Once started, continue to use stibestrol supplements until the cattle are ready for market.

Cattle do not get fat quicker as a result of stibestrol, but grow faster and more efficiently.

Stibestrol is not recommended for breeding cattle, feeder or stocker cattle, it is for fattening cattle only.

Now Is The Time To Plan Garden

County Agent Richard Marek reminds gardeners that now is a good time to start planning next year's garden.

"Performance of the various vegetables in the garden and the differences in varieties are now fresh in your mind," he says. "Many things which you noticed this summer will be forgotten if you wait until just before planting time to plan."

Consider the following questions the county agent says: Did you have enough or too many vegetables this summer? Did they arrive all at one time or did you have a continuous supply? Were the various vegetables planted at the proper dates for best yields? Did you have enough of the various kinds of vegetables, both for fresh use or canning and freezing? Did you plant a garden which took more time for care than you could give? Did you grow some vegetables which your family did not like or were some family favorites omitted?

Was the arrangements of your garden satisfactory? Could you get your machinery into the garden and cultivate easily? Were the plants properly thinned? Did you leave too many plants and harvest small, crowded vegetables rather than large, well-grown produce? "These are just a few of the things which you should think about in planning your garden," says Marek. "An hour spent now, when things are fresh in your mind, will accomplish more than several hours next spring."

DR. LEO H. BARTEMEIER of Baltimore, chairman of the American Medical Association's Committee on Mental Health, tells the House ways and means narcotics subcommittee that inclusion of sleeping pills in federal anti-narcotics legislation would increase bootleg traffic. He said barbiturates should be controlled by physicians and pharmacists. (International)

Proper Milking Ups Production

Failure to get all of the milk from a cow's udder each time she is milked may cause her to dry up.

You can prevent this from happening with the right milking procedure, says County Agent Richard Marek of the Agricultural Extension Service of New Mexico A&M College. Good milking routine will also save you time, increase production, cut mastitis troubles, and bring you higher quality milk. Cows usually respond to this method and will milk out completely in a few minutes, the county agent explains.

Don't excite the cows either before or during milking, Marek adds.

Beef Animals Need Framework To Carry Flesh

You can't put meat on a beef animal when it doesn't have the framework to carry the flesh of the capacity to take on the feed.

Uniform, good-doing animals are what you want when buying feeder cattle this fall, advises County Agent Richard Marek, because during the feed period, you must fatten those cattle into a package that will attract the packer-buyer's," he says. "Look ahead and try to see just what these animals are going to look like when you send them to market."

"You can expect a good supply of feeder cattle to come from right here in the state. They will range up to U. S. Choice in grade."

Buying from a herd that's known for its good-gaining, uniform feeders is about the only way to tell if a load of feeders is going to gain uniformly, Marek points out. Look for thrifty animals showing plenty of beefiness, with good, natural fleshing, and a capacity for plenty of feed.

Wide, deep feeders, showing uniformity from front to rear, that meat down well onto their hind quarters are the right kind. Make sure they have enough width between the forelegs, coupled with a wide spring of ribs, and uniform depth from top to bottom in the heart girth, middle, and flank.

One or two nervous, high-strung animals in a feedlot can keep the entire pen stirred up, so stay away from these individuals. Select the meaty, alert, bright-eyed feeders with soft, glossy coats. These are normally good-doing animals.

A message from Fred and Jim, 'Your Pharmacists'

WHEN YOU ARE SICK, you go to your physician because you know he can help you. You answer his important questions, often have a physical examination, and he prescribes a medication.

WE COMPOUND YOUR PRESCRIPTION, you take the medicine, and you get well again. Then do you tell your friends, who seem to have the same illness, to use your prescription?

YOUR PRESCRIPTION was written for you after a careful study of your particular trouble. Many different ailments have symptoms that look the same to you. Only a physician can correctly judge them, and it often takes more than one visit to do so.

NEVER GIVE YOUR PRESCRIPTION to a friend or relative without permission from your physician. Advise them to visit their own physician, or yours if they have none of their own.

AND WHEN YOU GIVE them this very sound advice, we would appreciate your mentioning that, since the compounding of prescriptions is our most important duty, we would welcome the privilege of becoming "Their Pharmacist"

Inside WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON—Assuming that President Eisenhower does not run for a second term, Vice President Richard M. Nixon appears to be the front-runner at this point for the Republican nomination. However, this fact also makes him vulnerable.

Other aspirants will now concentrate on beating Nixon in presidential primaries and lining up next year's convention delegates. Thus, there is a definite possibility of a coalition developing, composed of factions of the GOP, whose principal drive will be to "Stop Nixon."

Observers, however, believe that Mr. Eisenhower himself holds the key to the outcome. If he openly endorses Nixon, his prestige is believed enough to swing the majority to the Californian. However, if the President makes no endorsement, then a wide open fight is in prospect at next August's convention in San Francisco.

● THE VEEP—Senator Hubert Humphrey's recent statement that he is available for the Democratic vice presidential nomination shows the new emphasis that politicians are placing on the No. 2 post in government.

President Eisenhower's illness has focused attention on the important role played by the vice president and both parties are sure to look for strong men as running mates.

If Mr. Eisenhower does not run again and Vice President Richard M. Nixon obtains the presidential nomination, then Gov. Christian Herter of Massachusetts appears to stand a good chance of getting the No. 2 post.

In the Democratic camp, politicians are mentioning Gov. Frank Clement of Tennessee as a running mate for Adlai Stevenson if the former Illinois governor again is the presidential nominee. Clement might also be a good vice presidential possibility if Gov. Averell Harriman of New York should head the Democratic ticket, but not if Senator Estes Kefauver gets the nod, since the latter is also from Tennessee.

● STEVENSON—Democratic politicians are now convinced that Adlai Stevenson will announce his candidacy for the presidential nomination next month and that he will probably have the support of top congressional Democrats.

Stevenson met recently with House Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas and Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson at the latter's Johnson City, Tex., home. No one doubts that they discussed Stevenson's nomination despite protestations the visit was social.

Although some powerful Southern Democratic leaders don't care for Stevenson, they are expected to prefer him to either Harriman, whom they regard as too liberal, or Kefauver, whom they just don't like.

Rayburn and Johnson will be two of the most powerful behind-the-scenes operators at next year's Chicago convention.

Last lingering doubts about what Stevenson would do were removed following reports that several magazine articles about the former Illinois governor and 1952 nominee are being timed for release on the same weekend as his expected announcement.
