March Of Dimes Continues To Gain Momentum

An ever growing list of special events is adding impetus to the march of Dimes here, Mrs. Charles Currier said today.

Tomorrow is one of the busier days in the campaign for funds. First on the agenda is a "kidnap coffee" sponsored by the Alpha Lambda chapter of Beta Sigma Lambda at the Elks dining room.

The coffee will get underway at 8 a. m. and is being held at the Elks so persons in the downtown area not kidnaped can conveniently kidnap themselves and participate.

Tomorrow night a half-time show by three majorettes will be presented during the Artesia-Santa Fe basketball game in the high school gymnasium. Lending their talents for the show are Marion Riley, LaRue Bishop and Rhea Ellinger.

Miss Ellinger was runnerup in the New Mexico twirling contest and will perform with lighted batons with the gym lights out.

Tomorrow night the Daughters of Mary, of the Catholic Church, will sponsor a benefit dance at the Veterans Memorial Building. "Popular" music will be furnished.

Another "big" event coming up is the annual radio auction over KSPV beginning at 7 p. m. Tuesday night and continuing as long as there are still items to be auctioned.

Mrs. Currier, who is drive chairman, met with the 20-30 Club last night and the organization unanimously agreed to assist with the radio auction.

Persons with items to contribute to the auction may call Lew Flitts, president of the 20-30 Club, at Sh 6-4359, or Joe Jiminez at Sh 6-4590. Items may also be left with Jiminez at Karl's Shoe Store.

Mrs. Currier also announced that the Beta Gamma Chapter of Epsilon Sigma Alpha sorority will canvass downtown business houses to solicit items for the auction. Contributed items will be displayed in merchants' windows.

The auction realized $750 for the March 1 year ago.

Frank Comments

The daily mail of a newspaper editor never ceases to amaze.

Today's batch included such items as:

"Of special interest to cat owners and lovers throughout the southwest is the forthcoming Cat Show to be presented the 11th and 12th of February at the Knights of Columbus Hall in Albuquerque.

"There is reason to believe we may be headed for a labor-controlled government unless restraint can be applied to the present trend of labor domination."

"Theatre Trains and Planes invites you to a gala theatre party on Sunday, January 15th, 1955, with an informal tea from 5 p. m. at La Hacienda Gallery, Old Town Plaza, Albuquerque is the first jewelry show of the New Mexico Art League to be held in the new gallery."

It goes on and on daily.

There has been quite a bit of rumor concerning mistreatment of National Guard trainees at Ft. Bliss and whether or not there is an over-dose of AWOL's.

While military authorities are probing the situation, the problems of Lt. Col. W. C. Thompson of Artesia are increased.

News came out of Roswell today that three Roswell Guardsmen who were AWOL from Ft. Bliss were returned to the Army installation after summary court-martial by Guard Officers.

The men were sentenced to 25 days in jail and were fined $25 each. Col. Thompson, who is their battalion commander, suspended the jail terms. He said the main concern of the battalion was to return the men to Ft. Bliss in order that they might continue their training.

An unidentified Artesia woman has sent the Chamber of Commerce a letter which included $1 and a comment that she enjoyed the city's Christmas decorations this year. She said the higher notes were a good investment and sent the dollar to help pay for them.

"Maybe," she added, "in North Eddy county there are 499 other people who also enjoyed the decorations — more than a dollar's worth, but who couldn't afford to send more than a dollar. Four hundred and ninety nine people and me by sending in a dollar could pay off the balance."

Note: The Chamber has been seeking ways to liquidate the cost of the decorations, which ran higher than expected due to required changes.

A saving bond sale listing for New Mexico discloses that Eddy county was not among those reaching their 1955 quotas.

According to the release the county had bond sales of $806,173, against a quota of $902,000 — or 89.3 per cent.

By comparison Chaves county sold $896,011.50 against a $782,000 quota — or 119.6 per cent.

Man Injured, Cars Destroyed In Accident

Two cars sideswiped in a collision one mile south of Hagerman this morning, causing one car to overturn and damaging both vehicles to the extent that they were estimated total losses, state police said here later today.

The driver of one of the cars, Jose Villa, 55, a farm laborer of Hagerman, was injured to the extent that he could not talk to officers investigating the accident. He was treated and released at a clinic at Hagerman and was told to stay in bed for two days.

700 Expected For Last Day Of Baptist Meetings Here

The list of visitors from over New Mexico to the statewide Baptist Evangelistic Conference being held at the First Baptist Church, was expected to swell to 700 today, according to the Rev. S. M. Morgan, host pastor. Approximately 450 attended the opening service Thursday night.

A 9 a. m. service resumed the conference this morning with a second one held at 2 p. m. this afternoon. The final service is scheduled at 7 p. m. tonight.

Dr. Carl E. Bates, pastor of the First Baptist Church at Amarillo, is main speaker for the conference. Last night he called on ministers to "really live their message," if true evangelism is to come.

Dr. Bates declared "Evangelism is not waiting on methods, programs or plans, but on the demonstration of holy living by the people of God. Evangelism comes when the preachers begin to practice, demonstrate and really live their message before the world."

"God wants holy, Christlike Saints on earth."

The Rev. Eual Lawson, of Dallas, associate secretary for evangelism of the Southern Baptist Conference, told the gathering "every real revival is begun with the preaching of the word of God. The pastor must have a heaven inspired message. It must be from God."

"The preacher must be a prophet of God. The difference is the preacher has to say something, the prophet has something to say."

Dr. Joseph B. Underwood, secretary of evangelism for the New Mexico Baptist Convention, spoke on "Calvary's Unthinkable."

He said that "from the viewpoint of the cross, unconcern for the salvation of the lost is as unthinkable as orchids growing at the North Pole, or a man cleaning his fingernails with a crowbar."

Artesia Student In Scholarship Semi-Final Test

DON COLLINS, Artesia high school student, will be among 5,078 brilliant high school seniors from across the nation competing tomorrow for a chance at college merit scholarships next fall.

Don will take his examination at Carlsbad. A total of 2,500 of the competitors will still be in the running for the finals after tomorrow's tests.

The 5,078 are the survivors of nearly 60,000 hand-picked seniors who took the first examination Oct. 26 in the National Merit Scholarship Corp. talent search.

The second tests will be given at hundreds of testing stations throughout the nation, but no student will have to travel more than 90 miles.

The 2,500 finalists will be considered by a board of judges. The board will review their scholastic records and their activities records in and out of school. The students will be asked to submit statements of their plans for college. (Continued on Page Four)

Former ICC Chairman Admits Indiscreet Action On Pact

WASHINGTON (AP)—Hugh W. Cross, resigned chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission, was quoted in testimony released today as admitting some "indiscreet" actions in connection with a Chicago contract.

But he denied that he used his office to help swing the contract to a friend, John L. Keeshin of Chicago, and declared that what ever stigma might fall on him personally, "the pain I never can survive would be any reflection" on the ICC because of anything he did.

"I have never had a finger or whisper of suspicion pointed at me before," he said. "I can not believe that my action in any way affected those contracts."

The Senate Investigations subcommittee made public the testimony given by Cross and others in a closed door hearing last Nov. 15.

The subcommittee's Democratic majority overrode protests from its Republican members in releasing the transcript. Sen. Bender (R-Ohio), one of the members denouncing the release as "grossly unfair to Mr. Cross" without hearing more witnesses. Further hear-

March Sanity Trial Slated For Graham

DENVER, AP—A jury trial is set to start March 5 to determine if John Gilbert Graham was sane last Nov. 1 when he is accused of dynamiting an airliner that hurtled his mother and 43 others to death.

Trial on the sanity issue was requested by court-appointed defense attorneys who rejected the findings of four psychiatrists that the 23-year-old defendant was sane. In effect, the doctors found Graham knew right from wrong and could refrain from doing wrong.

The defense had its choice of having a separate trial on the sanity issue or including it in a trial to determine Graham's guilt or innocence to charges of murdering his mother Mrs. Daisie E. King, 55.

The sanity trial — expected to last about 10 days — will focus on the testimony of the four psychiatrists, who will report on their examinations of Graham. Details of the bombing of the United Air Lines plane will probably come in this trial only incidentally.

If Graham is found sane, he will then be tried on his plea of innocent to the murder charge. If the jury finds him insane he would be committed to Colorado State Hospital — never to be tried on the murder charge.

Two state-employed psychiatrists, Dr. James Galvin and Dr. John MacDonald, reported to Dist. Judge John M. McDonald yesterday they had found Graham sane. Their findings were the same as Dr. Leo V. Tepley and Dr. R. Robert Cohen, private psychiatrists who had been appointed by the court to represent the defense in the observation of Graham.

All the psychiatrists conducted independent examinations of Graham over a 30-day period after he was sent to Colorado Psychopathic Hospital Dec. 9.

Federal officials said Graham signed a confession Nov. 14 admitting he had planted a dynamite bomb in the luggage put aboard the plane by his mother. He has since repudiated the statement.

Police Check Nabs 15 Drivers

State police reported today that they caught about 15 violators in a recent traffic check here, and about 12 in another check conducted at Dexter the same day.

Most of the violations were for expired drivers licenses, however, a few residents were cited for having out-of-state license plates on their cars, police said.

State Patrolman Bill Allen said he plans to hold another traffic check here, some time next week.

Arrests Come Five Days Under Sixth Anniversary Of Big Job

BOSTON, AP—Ten of the 11 ex-convicts named by the FBI as the masked gunmen who pulled off the nation's biggest cash robbery—the fabulous $1,218,211 Brink's grab of six years ago—were turned over to the state today for prosecution. FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover announced "solution" of the case yesterday shortly after six men were arrested in Greater Boston by FBI agents.

Two others named as participants by the FBI already are in prison on other charges and two are still at large and one died last year of natural causes.

None of the loot was recovered.

Within hours of Hoover's announcement, the six newly arrested men were arraigned before a federal commissioner and held in jail totaling $670,000.

The FBI has been working on the case relentlessly since the men went through six locked doors of the Brink's money-carrying firm on the second floor of a waterfront garage and surprised five guards.

Hoover refused to disclose how the case was broken, saying the evidence must be protected for the trial.

However, Dist. Atty. Garrett H. Byrne of Suffolk County, Boston, dropped a hint that one of the men named as a participant has provided valuable information to law enforcers.

Byrne said Joseph (Specs) O'Keefe, 47, of Boston, will be a principal witness before the Suffolk County jury, which begins hearing evidence today.

The federal government turned the case over to the state for prosecution because state penalties (up to life imprisonment) are heavier than federal law allows.

O'Keefe was cloistered with Byrne for more than five hours last night in a secret discussion of the Brink's case.

O'Keefe was one of the men in jail at the time of Hoover's announcement yesterday. He is doing 27 months in Hampden County Jail, Springfield, for violating his probation on a gun-carrying charge.

He was brought to Boston to confer with the district attorney and later was taken under heavy guard to Middlesex County Jail in nearby Cambridge.

The six men arraigned yesterday were placed in Suffolk County Jail, Boston, pending grand jury action.

The other man already in prison is Stanley A. Gusciora, 36, doing 5 to 20 years in Western State Penitentiary, Pittsburgh, Pa., for a sporting goods store robbery.

Arrested in yesterday's FBI roundup were:

Henry Baker, 49, Natick; Adolph Maffie, 44, North Quincy; Joseph F. McGinnis, 52, Boston; Vincent J. Costa, 41, Pembroke, Mass.; Michael V. Geagan, 47, Milton; and Anthony Pino, 48, Boston.

Still at large are Thomas F. Richardson, 48, Weymouth, and James I. Faherty, 44, Boston.

Joseph F. Banfield, 45, Boston, the 11th man named by the FBI, died of natural causes last year.

All 11 have criminal records.

Grand jury proceedings against the 10 survivors comes just five days short of the sixth anniversary of the fantastic robbery in which the men got not only the biggest cash haul but also more than 1½ millions dollars in checks, money orders and securities.

Hoover said the men planned the robbery for a year. (Continued on Page Four)

State Police Seek Identity Of Slain Man

State Police today sought definite identification of a man found slain near Budville Tuesday and the owner of a bullet riddled car discovered near Deming.

Sgt. Martin Vigil of the State Police said two "identifications" had been made of the body of the man, about 60, found shot twice in the head in an arroyo near U. S. 66 in the vicinity of Budville, between Albuquerque and Grants.

The car, with four bullet holes in it was found 22 miles east of Deming, parked at the side of U. S. 70-80. State Policeman Otis Haley said one shot was through window glass and one "definitely" was fired from inside the car.

Haley said an effort was being made to find out if there was any connection between the shooting victim and the car.

Meanwhile, State Police said they were notified that a 1950 car with bloodstains on the rear seat was found by Los Angeles police. State Policeman Ed Bell, heading the investigation, said Los Angeles officers the car did not bear New Mexico plates.

Two men arrested at Santa Rosa and one at San Fidel, within a few hours were given lie detector tests in Albuquerque, but officers said the tests were negative.

One of the trio was released, but the others were held for Michigan authorities who said they wanted them on burglary charges. Bell said they were the ones found armed with pistols when they were captured.

Vigil said two members of one Albuquerque family told him the victim was a Corsicana, Tex. man who had phoned them Monday night when he was in Albuquerque on the way to Aztec.

The State Police sergeant said the other "identification" was made by an Albuquerque barber who said he had cut the victim's hair several months and last saw him just before Christmas. The barber identified the victim as being from Plainview, Texas and having mining interests at Golden, N. M.

Israel Facing Condemnation For Attack

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—Israel today faced a strong U. N. condemnation for her Dec. 11 attack on Syria and a warning that further such incidents would bring sterner measures.

Both Russia and the big Western powers were pressing for such action in the 11-nation Security Council meeting to consider their rival proposals.

The other council members were reported in general agreement that the body must go this far at least. The main point at issue was what form the resolution should take.

The Soviet proposal was worded more bluntly. It also demanded that Israel pay compensation in the raid, which was directed against Syrian outposts near the Sea of Galilee in retaliation for Syrian firing on Israeli boats on the lake. Fifty-six Syrians and six Israelis were reported killed in (Continued on Page Four)

United States Going Ahead With Plans For Toned-Down Nuclear Weapons Tests In Spring

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States is going ahead this spring with more atomic weapons tests in the Pacific. Apparently heeding outcries from abroad, however, it will tone down the nuclear blasts.

In what amounted to an official rejection at this time of demands that all the big powers quit testing nuclear weapons, the Atomic Energy Commission and Defense Department announced last night, 1. Preparations are under way for a series of nuclear tests to begin this spring at the Eniwetok proving grounds in the Marshall Islands of the mid-Pacific.

2. Because there are no "effective international agreements" in effect to limit or control armaments, the United States must continually endeavor "to maintain the most modern, efficient military strength for the purposes of peace."

3. The tests will involve use of weapons for which the power will be "substantially below that of the maximum 1954 test." This reference, in a supplementary statement by AEC Chairman Lewis L. Strauss, was to the superpowerful blast of March 1, 1954.

That explosion, unofficially estimated to have been equal to energy released by the detonation of about 17 million tons of conventional TNT, brought trouble. Radioactive material falling out from the bomb cloud drifted outside the proclaimed safety zone. It descended on a Japanese fishing boat. The Japanese said the crewmen developed radiation sickness. One died. In nations like India and even in some aligned in common defense with the United States, including England, there were protests against further tests.

The joint AEC-Defense Department announcement said that one important purpose of the new series, while using only "weapons generally smaller" than that of the 1954 test shot, still will be powerful. Only weapons too big for safe use at the continental test site in Nevada are used at the Pacific proving ground.

Italian Actress Opposed To Leg Art Pictures

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Torta di fromaggio — what is that?"

The inquiry was made by Rosanna Podesta, Italy's gift to Hollywood. Having been here only two months, she still falters on English. It was explained that torta dif romaggio Italian translation of cheese-cake is leg art, glamor photos, etc.

"Oh," she exclaimed knowingly, her dark eyes brightening. "Yes, I know what that is. I do not like it."

What is this? An Italian film beauty knocking cheese-cake? This sort of thing could rock Rome's Hollywood on the Tiber.

Miss Podesta continued: "You miss posing like this. She gazed seductively over her shoulder, then dropped the pose. "I hate it. I have done some in Italy, but now I refuse. They do not ask me here at Warner Brothers because they know I do not like it."

"I do not mind showing the legs if it is part of the picture. But just to pose for photographers—that is silly."

This may distress some males, but she feels cheese-cake is on the decline both here and in her native land.

"I do not think you make the girls' revues that used to be made here," she observed. "The public's taste has become too refined for that. They want good pictures, not just girl shows."

"It is the same in Italy. No longer will the public go to see a bad picture because it is advertised with sexy photos of Gina Lollobrigida and Sophia Loren. They want to see good pictures."

Miss Podesta finds some opposition to her views in her own family. Her husband is handsome Italian actor Marco Vicario, who is here with her before going to Mexico for a movie.

Said he: "When I came to this country, I said I wanted to see two things — the Empire Building and Marilyn Monroe." He added sadly, "I have seen only the Empire State Building."

Miss Podesta is here to play a Cuban girl in an Alan Ladd epic about the Spanish-American War, "Santiago."

Some Of Uncle Sam's Better Ambassadors Are Designers

By DOROTHY ROE AP Women's Editor

Nowadays it seems that some of Uncle Sam's best ambassadors are designers.

Nations may disagree on politics, tariffs and disarmament, but the language of fashion and design is universal. So is the problem of making a living and learning a business.

Underlining this fact is the current trip of industrial designer Russell Wright, fashion designer Josette Walker and handicrafts expert Ramy Alexander to Southeast Asia under sponsorship of the U. S. State Department.

These three American experts are visiting Formosa, Viet Nam, Cambodia, Thailand, Hong Kong and Indonesia to stimulate trade in Oriental handicrafts, to tell the Asian people what kind of things will sell in this country, to suggest ideas and methods to them and try and help to make millions of these people self-supporting.

Interviewed in his New York studio shortly before departure of the group, Wright, who is known for his modern designs in furniture and tableware, said:

"One of the things hardest to find in America and most valued when it is found is find handicraft. We are a country of industrial know-how, of skilled machine production, but nobody has the time here to make things by hand."

"That is where the people of the Orient can cash in on their skills. There, millions of people are dependent on their hand and skills for a livelihood."

"If we can help them to redesign and restyle their handicrafts for the U. S. market, improve their efficiency and stimulate private investment in this vast field, I think we will have accomplished a master stroke or American-Asian friendship and trade."

Planning Underway For Annual Girl Scout Dinner January 19

Plans for the Girl Scouts' annual dinner for all adult workers within the organization are well underway according to Mrs. William Siegenthaler, in charge of overall arrangements.

At a special meeting of the district council Wednesday morning at the home of Mrs. C. P. Bunch, newly elected district chairman, Mrs. Siegenthaler said that the dinner, planned for Jan. 19 at 6:30 p. m. at the First Methodist church would honor as guest speaker the Rev. Fisher Blanton of the First Methodist church in Carlsbad. Other honored guests, men prominent in Artesia, are to be announced as invitations are accepted.

Hosts will be men active in Girl Scouting in Artesia, Mrs. Siegenthaler said, adding that the senior Scouts of Artesia's two senior Girl Scout troops have been asked to assist in serving the food at the covered dish buffet dinner and that the girls will register guests as they arrive.

Election of officers will be the outstanding feature of the business of the evening, following reports of neighborhood chairmen and the treasurer's report. Other highlights of the program will be the welcoming address to be given by Mrs. Siegenthaler, outgoing district chairman, a flag ceremony to be performed by Girl Scouts and Girl Scout songs.

Assisting in arrangements and helping to plan the dinner are Mrs. Bunch, Mrs. S. P. Yates, Mrs. Bob Hanson and Miss Marvel William, all of whom were present at Wednesday's meeting.

Mrs. Don Knorr has been appointed to head the decorations committee assisted by Mrs. B. A. DeMars and Mrs. S. A. Davis.

Biggest Problem Facing Algeria Food, Not Status

ALGIERS, Algeria (AP) — Many Frenchmen here think the biggest problem facing Algeria is not whether this North African country should continue to belong to France but how to feed its growing population.

Today there are 8 1/2 million Arabs and Berbers living with one million Frenchmen in an area four times the size of France. The population is small for the area but most of Algeria is barren mountain or desert waste. Only the coastal strip and the plains near Algiers and Oran are really fertile.

Yet the population has grown rapidly and may double in 100 years. The teaching of elementary hygiene and modern drugs have cut down disease which used to decimate the population.

"Whatever we do, we shall be submerged in the end," one Algerian-born Frenchman said despairingly. Another joked bitterly, "What we really need here is a good old-fashioned plague."

Both Catholic and Moslem teaching firmly oppose any form of birth control.

Some Algerians believe their problem would be solved if the French would leave. The French send in more troops, and the army competes with civilians for food. Prices rise steadily.

Algeria's main need now, the French say, is foreign capital for big development schemes.

Barrie Genius Proven Twice In 24 Hours

By CHARLES MERCER

NEW YORK (AP) — In the aftermath of the great success of "Peter Pan" on NBC-TV we're inclined to forget that the original genius of that wonderful fantasy was a small, shy Scottish writer named James M. Barrie.

Within 24 hours of this week his extraordinary talent was represented twice by the best entertainment on the TV screen. His play "Dear Brutus" received a fine production with Helen Hayes and Susan Strasberg on Omnibus (CBS-TV) Sunday. And on Monday, of course, came the revival of the musical version of "Peter Pan" with Mary Martin and Cyril Ritchard.

Like many another talented Scotsman, Barrie had to go to England to achieve artistic maturity. And his name sets one thinking about the British influence on the new medium of television. We gave the British the idea for commercial television. But they have given us some of the best plays and performances seen on our screens in the past year. To name only a few:

Noel Coward, who returns to TV Saturday evening on Fox Star Jubilee (CBS-TV) to star in his own delightful comedy, "Blithe Spirit"; Ritchard, a product of the English stage who has become a leading actor—quite apart from his role in "Peter Pan";

Tonight on Climax, Canadian-born Raymond Massey stars in his own play, "The Hanged Judge," a drama of British justice, with Sir Cedric Hardwicke; Charles Dickens, "A Christmas Carol" was with us as rarely as ever in the recent Christmas season; Charles Laughton, an Englishman, gave us the best entertainment of the Christmas season in his TV revivals.

Soft-spoken, yes. (One reason is the hydraulic-hushed valve lifters now in all Chevrolet engines—V8 or 6.) And this handsome traveler packs a horsepower wallop that ranges up to 205! It's charged with sheer, concentrated action.

Action that can save you precious seconds for safer passing! Action that lets you take steep hills in effortless stride! Action that helps you zoom out of trouble spots!

And action isn't all. Chevy holds the road like part of the pavement! Of course, Chevrolet brings you the security of safety door latches. Instrument panel padding and seat belts, with or without shoulder harness, are offered at extra cost. Come in and highway-test it.

Do We Want Federal Aid?

LAST YEAR the congress by-passed the question of federal aid for our schools. They did not act on it last year because they wanted to pass it over to this year... this election year.

Those seeking federal aid for the schools are going to have political parties and members of these parties willing to listen and to act because they figure they will give them votes. That is the poorest excuse we know of for providing federal funds for the schools.

We realize and appreciate the fact there are school districts that are poor and that perhaps need help. We realize we have shouted increase teachers' pay; provide more classrooms; build more buildings, when we have not always checked the facts.

Without a doubt there are districts where the teachers deserve and should have more pay. There are others where they are well paid. There is a great deal said about teacher shortages and yet there are teachers who do not have and who have been unable to find work.

But those favoring the provision of federal funds for schools feel this is the only answer. They know we need some help. There can be no question about that. Help is needed. The question is, however, should the federal government provide the funds and will this mean federal control over our schools?

There are those who believe it will and they want no federal aid.

But the fact remains when we discuss lack of funds; school districts without funds and with deficits that we are also discussing the national government. The federal budget is not balanced... hasn't been for a good many years; the federal government has a tremendous deficit. The federal government has no more funds for public schools than some of the districts have.

The question also looms as to whether we have done all we can do in the various school districts in our states to meet the responsibility of providing public education for all who want it. In our own state we have limited the taxes that can be placed on property; we have failed to equalize assessments on property; we have too many cases of exemption from taxation; and we have not tried sufficiently to tap all the sources available to us to provide funds needed for our schools.

We believe this is the responsibility of the states and we also are convinced we can't continue to run to the federal government and expect them to provide funds for us every time we need them.

Don't Surrender It

The only time that a driver's license can be taken up or demanded is following the conviction of an individual in city court, justice of the peace or district court.

The holder or owner of a license is required to display it or show it if requested to do so. Likewise they can surrender it to the judge on a plea of guilty, a conviction or on an agreement to accept a penalty of being without a license in lieu of a trial.

That is their right and privilege. But no police officer, probation officer or even justice of the peace or judge can demand and take the license until the accused has either agreed to surrendering the license, pleaded guilty or been found guilty.

There apparently is a belief among officers they can pick up a driver's license. That is not true, not the case and no one is required or even supposed to surrender it to a police officer. All that officer can do is demand it is shown to them when they request that it be displayed. They have no right under the law to pick up, to take or to keep a driver's license.

Don't surrender your license to them.

Bitter Segregation Struggle May Wreck Federal School Plan

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON, (AP)—A bitter struggle over segregation in public schools may wreck any chance this year for federal aid to get more classrooms built.

Before Congress votes any federal aid it must face and overcome a showdown on this question: Should any federal aid go to states which, contrary to the Supreme Court's ruling, still have racially segregated public schools?

President Eisenhower's program given to Congress yesterday called for paying out over two billion dollars in the next five years on federal aid. Many Democrats are in favor of money for new schools too. But there is a sharp division on the segregation issue.

The National Assn for the Advancement of Colored People NAACP wants a ban on federal aid in segregated states. It said yesterday Congress has a "moral and legal obligation" to impose such a ban on any money it votes.

Rep. Adam Powell, Negro Democrat from New York, says confidently he has enough votes lined up in the House to make sure any federal aid money voted by that chamber carries a ban on its use in segregated areas.

Leaders seem to think the House will pass a bill with the ban included. That can be done without too much difficulty. There is a limit on debate there.

But in the Senate, where debate is unlimited, Southern Democrats can filibuster against any federal aid bill with the ban attached.

It can be said almost with certainty they would not abandon their filibuster unless a federal aid bill carries no ban. In the meantime senators who call themselves liberals will be on a tough spot.

They're for federal aid. Many of them are also against segregation. How can they reconcile themselves to voting federal aid to states which insist on keeping their schools segregated?

They may try to straddle the question and vote against a ban on funds for segregated schools with this kind of argument: New classrooms are needed by white and Negro children alike. The question of segregation—if insisting on a ban in a federal aid bill means no federal aid at all—can be fought out later and in other ways.

Eisenhower himself avoided the problem in his message to Congress. He never mentioned it.

Kabul Making Second Attempt To Catch Times

KABUL, Afghanistan (AP)—This capital of Afghanistan is making its second attempt to catch up with the 20th century.

In the late 1920s King Amanullah was exiled when his reforms clashed with Moslem traditions. The modernization effort of Afghanistan's present government, headed by King Zahir Shah and Prime Minister Mohammed Daud, avoids any reforms which might stir religious feelings.

A look around 6,000-foot high Kabul shows bazaars like those sketched by European artists. 50 years ago. Donkey and camel caravans plod through the rutted, dirt roads.

The city of 200,000 appears to be a man's world. The shoppers, the people hurrying along the streets, include few women. Those who are out in public wear ankle-length veils.

At night, almost as soon as the sun sets, Kabul becomes a dimly lit ghost city. Stores close and the crowds disappear behind the high walls surrounding most homes. Not a lighted sign is seen.

Out of the darkness comes the blare of a loud-speaker — Radio Kabul carrying government announcements, news, Moslem prayers and music. Few have radios but street-corner loud-speakers make Kabul's residents a captive audience both day and night.

Other indications of recent progress are modern automobiles, trucks and buses competing with horse carts and pedestrians.

A few years ago the modern vehicles were largely American. Today Russian-built buses and Soviet taxicabs — Kabul's first — are prominent.

Russian technicians, under contract to the Kabul municipality, are paving streets. Moscow is also building petroleum storage tanks, and a European-style bakery, as part of a barter deal with Kabul.

New Mexico Schools To Get Motorist's Eye View Of Traffic Violators In Action On State Roads

By BILL RICHARDSON
ALBUQUERQUE (AP)—Late this month every school in New Mexico will start getting a motorist's eye view of traffic violators in action on state highways.

The films, most of them shot from the state's traveling camera safety cars, are part of a stepped up 1956 program to cut down the highway carnage which claimed 359 lives last year.

Although the camera cars are usually unmarked, they sometimes advertise their mission in large print on the back of the car.

"I don't like to advertise what I'm doing, though," says John Lopez, one of the car operators for the Traffic Safety Commission.

"When I've got one of those signs on, cars won't pass me no matter what speed I'm traveling. They pile up in back of me for miles, and I'm creating a traffic hazard instead of helping."

Two cars are now in operation and a third is being added.

Lopez, a former Air Force aerial photographer, rigged the camera setup himself, bypassing the commercial jobs which cost around $12,000 each.

Although only pictures of the violation can now be taken, Lopez is working on a speedometer which, mounted on the hood, will also record the speed of the violator.

The cars each carry a movie camera mounted on a rack behind the windshield within easy reach of the driver. When a violation occurs ahead of him, he flips the lever which starts the camera running.

Each car is also equipped with a short wave radio on the State Police band.

The Safety Commission operatives aren't empowered to make arrests or issue tickets, but work closely with the law. If the violation is flagrant enough they—or anyone—can swear out a citizens complaint against the offending driver. They merely call the nearest police officer, give him the license plate number and description of the car and, as a drawback, must appear in court in the same county when the case is tried.

The pictures can be used as evidence in traffic cases if the violator fights the citation, but are mainly used in driver education programs sponsored by the safety Commission.

Commission Director Jess Holmes, over a cup of coffee at a highway stop on one of his tours in a camera car, outlined the strong drive New Mexico is planning for a safe 1956.

"If it doesn't get a lot better, the federal government is going to step in," Holmes said. "Any time you get 40,000 people a year killed, you've got a major problem. Eventually, the federal government is going to have to take over highway law enforcement at least on the U. S. highways."

Holmes said the Safety Commission this year is going to start more types of programs, especially in the field of driver education.

The films being sent all New Mexico schools are a part of that program. Each month in 1956, Holmes said, one type of violation will be emphasized in an attempt to make the public conscious of what not to do.

Speed and fatigue cause most deaths, Holmes said, and these are principal factors in the common one-car accidents. But it's the other types of violations, such as crossing yellow lines, which make the most horrible traffic smashups.

"We seem to have had more one car accidents in 1955. We had more accidents, but fewer fatalities. There were fewer of the head-on variety and those are the ones which give you multiple deaths."

"Another thing we'd like to eliminate is use of these pills which are supposed to keep you awake. In several cars, after the dead were removed, we've found these pills."

"The doctors are hesitant about saying their not good for you. But we feel that when a driver buys pills to keep him awake, it's an admission of fatigue. He should stop and sleep instead of trying to keep himself awake by artificial means."

Holmes, traffic campaign can be mainly effective only on New Mexico residents. But one out of every three persons killed in the state last year were from out of state.

"The University of Colorado is making tests to see what effect altitude has on drivers," Holmes said. "They're starting drivers out from the West Coast and having them drive through New Mexico to high points in Colorado, undergoing tests en route."

"I feel there not only may be something to the effects of altitude on the driver, but on the car. Cars just don't have the pickup at high altitudes they do lower down."

"A driver will start to pass and sometimes he just won't have the power he thought he had—and he won't make it."

Arrests Come — in the preparations were several "trial runs."

Hoover said the men approached the Brink's headquarters in the brick and concrete public garage in Boston's teeming north end in a small truck.

In the trip of a few miles from the Roxbury district, seven of the men donned Navy-type pea jackets, visored caps and foolish Halloween masks. All were armed with pistols.

On a flashlight signal from one of the gang on a nearby rooftop, the men entered the building and went through six locked doors with keys they had obtained while planning the job.

They went up a flight of stairs, through a hallway and a long money-counting room and then approached the locked mesh wire door of the caged vault room.

Five male employees were busy handling the money collected that day. It was then 7 p. m.

When the robbers pushed guns through the mesh door, their guards were so situated that their own guns were out of reach on a wall rack. Also out of immediate reach was a buzzer that would have sounded a police alarm.

The robbers forced the five employees to lie face down on the floor, bound and gagged them and pushed money into what appeared to be large laundry sacks.

The guards said later that all the men wore either rubbers or crepe-soled shoes to muffle their footsteps and only the leader did any talking.

Hoover said that before fleeing with the loot, the robbers tried to open a metal box containing the huge General Electric Co. payroll but they brought no tools and were unsuccessful. No figure on the size of the payroll was given by the FBI.

He said the men unloaded their loot at the home of one of the participants in the Roxbury district. It was "divided among the men several weeks later."

During the long investigation, all the men named yesterday, except Fabery, had been questioned at one time or another by investigators. Some of the men even went before a federal grand jury investigating the Brink's robbery about four years ago, but that jury failed to return any indictments.

John D. Allen, chairman of the Brink's board, said in Chicago, "This is a happy day for us."

Brink's received payment for all but $1,000 of its loss on insurance policies held jointly by Commercial Union of New York and Lloyd's of London.

Although the Mayflower had a stormy trip from England to America, only one person died on the voyage.

the contract award in return for promise of a job.

"I say now that I was inflexible and I should not have done what Cross said of his acknowledgment of the contract with the debts of three railroads who had a voice in awarding it."

He named them as Wayne Johnston, president of the Illinois Central Railroad; Paul E. Fox, president of the Chicago & North Western Railway Co.; and H. E. Simpson, president of the more & Ohio Railroad Co.

He denied vigorously that he had been offered a job with the company and disputed Johnston's testimony that Cross had spoken of wanting to get the job "if things worked out."

"There never was any promise of reward, and I have never any interest in any enterprise," Mr. Keeshin, directly or indirectly, and there never was any agreement between us," Cross said.

He said Keeshin had made a desire to employ him about years ago, in connection with a plan to buy a bus line, but plan "fell through" and there was no "carryover" of the job as far as he knew.

Keeshin had testified that once did offer Cross a job that Cross understood that he ever wanted to quit his present post and get out of it.

"I would always be able to get down and work out some deal with him," He said it was a long offer.

THIS SEAT RESERVED

Was this pew provided for you? The empty seat means someone is missing food and fellowship. Is it someone whom you might have invited to church? Without food and fellowship we become skeletons and hermits. An empty pew means a starving soul. Jesus doesn't like empty pews. He knows the tragedy of starving souls. The Bible says for us to attend church, Hebrews 10:25. This seat is reserved for you. Blessed are they who hunger after righteousness, for they shall be filled. Matt. 5:6.
