GOVERNMENT ASKS STANDBY CREDIT POWER

Annual Economic Report Puts U.S. Near $400-Billion Mark

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today proposed a restoration of standby controls over consumer credit, although he told Congress the country's booming economy now is advancing at a "tamer" gait.

The President's annual economic report said the United States stands "at the threshold of a 400-billion-dollar economy" after a year of spectacular growth.

"The underlying trend still appears to be upward," he reported.

The message asserted anew, in stronger terms than previously, Eisenhower's contention that "an early reduction of taxes cannot be justified." Economic self-discipline, he said, requires national debt reduction first. The debt now stands at nearly 280 billion dollars.

The message also contained a long list of recommended legislation, starting with what Eisenhower called the "first and most pressing" job—enactment of a farm relief bill along lines of his soil bank proposal.

The President also called for: 1. More liberal home repair and improvement loans. Five-year repair loans up to $5,000 could be federally insured, at the discretion of housing authorities. The limit is now three years and $3,000.

2. Loans grants and technical help to bring industry into chronically depressed areas. The loans would be made on a partnership basis with state and local governments. They would come out of a 50-million-dollar revolving fund to be operated by a new "Area Assistance Administration" in the Commerce Department.

3. A six-point anti-trust program to give new teeth to laws curbing corporation and bank mergers considered likely to stifle competition.

4. Fresh appeals for quick passage of such proposals as the 10-year highway improvement program; the five-year school indemnities for flood victims; and U.S. adherence to the multination Organization for Trade Cooperation.

But the big surprise in a 238-page printed message was Eisenhower's suggestion that Congress consider re-empowering the Federal Reserve Board's authority to regulate down payments and repayment terms on purchases of autos, appliances and other consumer items.

Eisenhower said "experience of the recent past" indicates that authority "would be a useful adjunct" to other anti-inflationary weapons. By recent experience, Eisenhower presumably meant the six-billion-dollar increase in consumer debt last year—a 10-fold rise over 1945.

"Although present conditions do not call for the use of such authority," he said, "this is a good time for the Congress and the executive branch to study the problem."

The reserve board often has suggested restoration of the consumer controls acted upon in World War II and the Korean War. It expired in 1952. Up to now the administration has not taken action.

No Settlement In Sight As Strike Enters Its 100th Day

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Westinghouse Electric Corp. strike—one of the most costly labor disputes in the nation's history—was in its 100th day today and there were no indications when a settlement might be reached.

Federal Mediator John R. Murray has been closeted daily with top negotiators for Westinghouse and the AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers but they have withheld comment on their progress.

The latest negotiations were begun last week after five days of secret sessions among Murray and the negotiators to seek a basis for the resumption of collective bargaining.

Yesterday, Gwilym A. Price, Westinghouse president and board chairman, said he felt "true collective bargaining now is under way" and that some progress has been made. Price has not sat in on any of the negotiating sessions.

Last week a union bulletin also stated that some progress had been made.

The IUE struck Oct. 17, calling out 44,000 members at 30 plants.

On Oct. 26 the independent United Electrical Workers pulled 10,000 members off the job at 16 additional plants.

Here are some of the effects of the strike: Furloughs or part-time work for 40,000 other Westinghouse employees.

Executives' salaries slashed in company economy moves.

Strikers losing about $950,000 a day in wages, according to Westinghouse estimates. This is more than 65 million since the strike began.

Westinghouse reported loss of $1,037,000 in the last three months of 1955 because of the strike. Its overall operations for all of 1955 showed a profit of $42,003,000. This compared to a net profit of $79,822,000 for 1954.

Production of electric appliances and electrical machinery virtually throttled. Westinghouse atomic research and construction projects are, however, continuing without interruption.

The strike primarily is a dispute over the length of the contract.

The unions have contracts that (Continued on Page Four)

Escapee Caught At Roswell Linked To Eddy County Jobs

SWELL (AP)—The Chaves county deputy sheriff arrested a 28-year-old Francis Lee here yesterday at a local hotel after spotting him as the individual being sought by Roswell, N.M., and lawmen in three other counties.

Deputy Sheriff Marvin T. Hill picked up on warrants charging the man with breaking and entering, theft of a check and as a parole violator.

The man was wanted by authorities in Little Rock, Ark., Texas, Eddy and Lea Counties in Mexico.

He was being questioned by police about violation of parole from Texas at the time he made his break at Little Rock. Little Rock police have warrants charging grand larceny and burglary.

Jones next apparently turned up in Carlsbad—although further questioning and checking by police and the FBI, now under way, may fill in the gaps—and at Carlsbad he is charged with breaking and entering, larceny and forgery.

When he arrived in Roswell, Jones outlived himself with loud western garb and bought perfume for a girl with whom he became acquainted. Police say he used a forged check in one of his transactions.

Jones went to Lovington recently, abandoned the new Lincoln and was driving a 1952 Chevrolet back in Roswell—reported stolen by Lea County Sheriff Jewell McAduco—when Deputy Hill spotted him and followed him to the hotel to make the arrest.

Planning Eddy County Lincoln Day Gathering

Harrison, well known New Mexico political columnist, is scheduled to be main speaker at a newly scheduled Eddy county Lincoln Day Dinner February 26 at Hartman, county GOP Committee chairman, said today.

The dinner will be held in Carlsbad and site has not yet been determined.

A low price for political dinners would be set as an effort to attract a large number of people to the dinner, Hartman said.

The dinner will be held in Carlsbad and site has not yet been determined.

There would be used to help in the Republican 1956 election in the county, Hartman said.

He also said that a drive to get candidates for every office at stake this year is being "nicely."

Hartman said the GOP is "in a hurry to name its candidates as they are picking office seekers and their personal strength as compared to that of announced candidates."

Overhaul Of Resources, Power Development Program Is Asked

LOUIS (AP)—The National Conference on Water Resources was told today that the federal program for water reclamation and power development is being combined with subsidies, opposition and need a "major overhaul."

Ben Moreell, ret., chairman of the second Hoover Commission task force on water resources and power, said federal policy as a whole is a "hodgepodge" because separate policies were developed for irrigation, flood control, navigation and power.

A major overhaul of existing programs, Moreell said, is needed to bring about sound and consistent federal policies.

The report should include a comprehensive review of present programs, consideration of "the moral hazard" which results from government subsidies and the need for power from the states.

W. W. Horner of the commission's water resources committee said the federal government owes a responsibility to any community, section or region to meet its power requirements.

Police Seek Man Believed A Car Thief

BULLETIN

Police said early this afternoon that a man believed to have been the one sought for the theft, wrecking and abandonment of a car near here had been apprehended in Chaves county. His identity was not immediately learned by officers here.

State police and sheriff's officers from Artesia and Chaves County engaged in a search for a man who abandoned a damaged, stolen car just north of the Eddy-Chaves County line half-mile north of the Cottonwood sign early this morning.

Officers were put on the man's trail by Delbert R. Robinson, a farmer living near where the car was abandoned, who said the man came to his house and asked to be fed. Robertson said he gave the man his breakfast but became suspicious of his actions and the conflicting stories he told concerning the car.

Officers investigating the incident discovered that the car had been stolen from Hobbs and put out a dragnet to catch the thief.

Efforts to apprehend the man were unsuccessful and State Police man Steve Lindsey said he must have hitch-hiked out of the area before officers arrived.

Prowler Breaks Dog's Back When Surprised In Act

A prowler at the home of Sammy Pierson, 504 East Chisum, about 10:40 p.m. yesterday, apparently became frightened when Pierson's dog discovered his presence, and hit the dog with a board, breaking the animal's back leg, it was reported to police.

Police investigating the report were unable to find the prowler, however, boards believed taken from Pierson's yard were found where they had been dropped on the street.

Roy Don Biehl, 311 S. Roselawn reported the theft of a set of fender skirts from his car while it was parked in front of his house last night.

Driver Wounded, Companion Dies In Truck Crash

CUBA (AP)—State Policeman Alvin Huerta of Cuba said today the wounding of a man involved in a highway accident was accidental and did not result from a scuffle as reported earlier by state police headquarters in Santa Fe.

Frank L. Toledo of Jemez Pueblo was killed in the overturning of a state body truck Sunday one mile north of San Ysidro on State Road 44. Huerta said Toledo was caught under the truck.

The driver, Benito Yepa, was wounded in the face with a 30-30 rifle.

The officer said his investigation showed that the rifle was lying on the floor of the cab. When the truck overturned the hammer was struck, he said and the gun discharged. The circumstances, plus the angle at which the bullet entered Yepa's face, clearly showed that the shooting was accidental, Huerta said.

The wounded youth also told his parents the shooting was by accident.

State Police headquarters earlier said a scuffle had apparently taken place. Huerta said this was erroneous.

Chief Joe Reach went to Cuba to personally investigate the incident.

Toledo was temporarily taken off the list of New Mexico traffic victims pending completion of the investigation.

LYING ON ITS BACK at the foot of an embankment just east of the Pecos bridge on State Road 83 is the demolished car in which Elizabeth Stella Beatty, 1102 Merchant, was seriously injured late last night. The car left the road and plunged end over end a distance of approximately 100 paces before coming to rest. (Advocate Photo)

TO SEE IF ANYONE WAS PINNED BENEATH the wrecked vehicle, officers turned the car back onto its wheels. It was believed there were other passengers in the car but after nearly two hours of searching in the darkness no one else was found. (Staff Photo)

Artesia Woman Found Hours After One-Car Crash Near Here

Elizabeth Stella (Bruce) Beatty, 29, of 1102 Merchant, suffered serious injuries last night when the car she was driving failed to negotiate a turn, just east of the Pecos bridge on State Road 83 and plunged end over end approximately 100 paces, from where it sheared off the first marker post to where it came to rest at the bottom of a 15-foot embankment.

The 1955-model car was completely demolished. It uprooted tamarisk trees and scattered parts over the full distance that it traveled after leaving the road.

Miss Beatty told officers today that she estimated the accident happened about 11:30 p.m. yesterday but she was not discovered until 3 a.m. today when she attracted the attention of a passing truck driver, Mr. Wiggins, 1507 Hank Ave., and was taken to the Artesia General Hospital.

Miss Beatty's condition was described as "fair" at the hospital here today. She was said to be suffering from multiple cuts and bruises but X-rays had not yet been taken to determine the extent of possible internal injuries.

At the time she was discovered, it was believed that several others had been in the car with her and officers spent nearly two hours searching in the darkness along the path taken by the vehicle.

Engineer Of Ill-Fated Train Says He 'Blacked-Out' In Cab

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The anguished engineer of a train that plunged off a 15-m.p.h. curve at about 70—killing 29 passengers and injuring about 150 others—has told the district attorney:

"The responsibility is solely mine . . . I blacked out . . . I didn't know we were going that fast."

The Santa Fe's two-car diesel San Diegoan tipped off the rails Sunday night, 15 minutes after it had left Union Station for San Diego. Many victims were spilled through windows and crushed.

"I vaguely recall seeing an orange grove," Dist. Atty. S. Ernest Roll said he was also told by the hospitalized engineer, Frank B. Parrish, 61.

The reference suggested a mirage because there are no orange groves in the area but there are near Parrish's home in San Bernardino.

"The last thing I saw before the crash," said Parrish, "was the Fourth Street bridge—a structure more than a mile from the crash scene."

Fireman Homer Smith's version of the tragedy suggested mechanical failure, but engineer Parrish told the district attorney: "No, that is not true. It was my fault completely."

An inquest, with more than 100 witnesses expected to testify, was set for Feb. 3.

Chinese Say Only Talks To Settle Problem

GENVA (AP)—Communist China said today the dispute over Formosa could be settled only at a meeting between Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Chinese Foreign Minister Chou En-Lai.

Red Chinese Ambassador Wang Ping-Nan, in another press statement concerning his five-month-old negotiations with U.S. Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson, charged the United States with deliberately dragging out the talks. He declared:

"The Chinese-American ambassadorial talks have proved to be incapable of settling such a major substantive question as the relaxation and elimination of tension in the Taiwan Formosa area. The Chinese side holds that a Chinese-American conference of the foreign ministers must be held, as means of settling this question."

Iowa State's Gary Thompson Key To Knocking Off Buffalos

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press
 It looks as if little Gary Thompson is Iowa State's key to knocking off defending champion Colorado in the Big Seven basketball game, which has developed into a real do-or-die fight.

Thompson, a 5-10 junior guard, sank four straight free throws to beat Colorado 55-52 in the final minute of the semifinals in the league tournament at Kansas City last Christmas. The Cyclones went on to win the tourney.

Thompson gave the Buffs a fit again last night, getting off a 20-foot jump shot at the final gun to give Iowa State a 70-68 decision. It was Colorado's first Big Seven defeat and left the Buffs in a three-way tie for the lead with idle Kansas and Kansas State at 3-1. Iowa

State is fourth at 2-2.

Elsewhere, Iowa overcame a nine-point deficit in the last seven minutes and defeated Purdue 67-63 to strengthen a hold on second place in the Big Ten.

Ohio State, with All America Robin Freeman popping in 30 points, walloped Northwestern 91-42 in another Big Ten game, while Houston rapped Tulsa 71-62 with an 11 point overtime period in a Missouri Valley Conference contest.

That was the only major action last night on a lean schedule.

Colorado had the game in control until midway through the second half. Then Iowa State edged ahead 53-52 and the lead was tossed back and forth until Thompson tied it at 68-all with a little less than two minutes left.

The Cyclones then went into a stall, feeding the ball to Thompson for the clincher.

Iowa took the Boilermakers after pulling to a 58-53 deficit on a four-point play. Bill Seaberg drove in for a basket and Bill Logan, fouled on the play, hit two free throws.

Logan sparked the Hawkeyes the rest of the way, hitting his eighth field goal to break a 63-all tie, and wound up with 21 points. Purdue's Joe Sexson was high with 23.

Southwestern Reportedly To Have 10 Teams

SAN ANGELO, Tex.—Completion of the 10-team Southwestern Baseball League for the 1956 season appeared assured yesterday after Big Spring announced it was ready to post deposits with the league and the national organizations.

W. J. Green, president of the loop, said that if Big Spring failed to join, several other cities are interested in obtaining the franchise.

The loop will be composed of teams from the old Longhorn League and the West-Texas New Mexico League.

Hogan Declares Golf Is Just A "Simple Game"

OKLAHOMA CITY—Ben Hogan, the mightiest Texan who won the U. S. Open Golf Tournament four times and conquered the tough British Open on his first attempt, says "Golf is a simple game."

Hogan, addressing the 13th annual Sports Jamboree here, told 700 sportsmen that only the application spent on the game makes it difficult.

"Preparation means everything. You have to gear yourself to the game, understand what the fundamental principles are. After you have mastered those, you can play pretty good golf—if you stick with it," said the 43-year-old near-winner of five U. S. Open tournaments.

Hogan's words were pointed toward that group of the audience which takes the game seriously. Of the 700 who attended, 200 probably never had held a golf club in their hands.

Advising golfers, looking for a way to lower their scores on local links, Hogan said:

"After you gain the mechanics of the game, there should be no reason why anyone shouldn't shoot a respectable game of golf."

"All of a golf game is in your fingers," said Hogan. "You've got to have that feel in your fingers or you can't play the game. Your fingers telegraph the feel of a golf club."

Jim Miller of Wisconsin led the Big Ten in punt returns during 1955 with an average of 15.8 yards per return.

Billy Evans, Well Known Pro Baseball Figure, Dies At 71

MIAMI, Fla.—William George (Billy) Evans, one of the best known figures in baseball, though he never played the game as a professional, died in North Shore Hospital last night.

Evans, 71, was visiting his son in Miami when he suffered a stroke Saturday.

He made his home in Cleveland, Ohio. Funeral services and burial will be held there at a time to be announced.

Evans, a native of Chicago, was a $15-a-week sports writer for the Youngstown (Ohio) Vindicator and was reporting a game in the Class D Ohio-Pennsylvania League when he was drafted as an umpire at $15 a game.

He continued his work on the newspaper and in 1906 moved in to the American League—the only umpire in baseball history to jump from the lowest classification to the highest. He served in the American League 22 years.

He was regarded as one of the most able arbiters in the business, substituting diplomacy for belligerency.

After his umpiring career, he held executive positions with the Cleveland Indians and Detroit Tigers. He directed Boston Red Sox minor league clubs for two years and served as president of the Southern Assn. from 1943 through 1946.

He became general manager of the Cleveland Rams of the National Football League in 1941 and served in that capacity until 1946 when he was president of the Southern Assn.

He is survived by his wife and son Robert, sports director of radio station WKAT.

Texas Aggies Hot On Home Court

COLLEGE STATION—The Texas Aggies, who have fallen short of setting the Southwest Conference basketball race on fire this season, are banking on their field house to help them continue their winning streak.

The Aggies, with a 6-10 season record, have won 6 of their 7 home games.

The field house seems to loom large in their performance. Since conference play started they have beaten Baylor by 23 points on the College Station hardwoods, TCU by 10 points and Texas by 1.

They now have a 3-3 conference record and stand fourth in the loop which is a lot better than many observers thought they would do.

Even the Aggies' seasonal mark of 6-10 is surprising to everyone concerned because that win figure indicates the total number of victories for the Aggies in the two previous seasons 1953-4 and 1954-5.

Winter Olympic Hopes Of U.S. Dwindle To Mere Two Medals

CORTINA D'AMPEZZO, Italy—High United States hopes for a strong showing in the Winter Olympics dwindled today to a point where two gold medals look good.

For a time, the Yanks had hoped to win as many as four first places in the carnival opening Thursday.

But the Russians have shown themselves to be invincible in speed skating. Even the Americans admit they can't beat them. Mrs. Andrea Mead Lawrence of Parshall, Colo., who won two women's skiing events in the '52 games, has not rounded into form after giving birth to her third child. And, finally, the Italians look unbeatable in the bobsleids.

Even one of the "certain" American winners appears to be in doubt. Tenley Albright of Newton Center, Mass., regarded as a sure gold medalist in figure skating, injured her ankle.

Miss Albright, however, is under the care of her physician-father and appears to be recovering fast. Her father's latest bulletin is that she'll be all set and today she tested her ankle with no ill effects.

If Miss Albright falters, Carol Weiss of Ozone Park, N. Y., could win.

Hayes Allen Jenkins of Colorado Springs, Colo., is the best men's figure skater on the scene and he should score impressively. His younger brother David probably is the second best skater here.

The United States won four gold medals in the 1952 games in Oslo to pile of 89½ points in the unofficial team score. This was second to Norway, the "home" team, which came out on top with 125½ points. Russia did not compete in '52.

If anyone beats the Italians, who know the bob run here like their own streets, it probably will be the Americans.

Kenneth L. (Tug) Wilson, the American Olympic Committee President, said the United States bobs have not cut loose yet and have braked heavily when making fast turns.

In the speed skating William Carow of Madison, Wis., was only 11 seconds behind Russia's Eugene Grishin when the latter set a 40.2 world record in the 500 meters.

Uncle Sam's hockey team also is strong and might challenge the Russians, Canadians and Czechoslovaks.

"Ironically," said Wilson, "this is the best Winter Olympic team we've ever assembled. The Russians have come up strong, we've had our share of injuries and, of course, the Scandinavians are always tough in the ski events. So we may be in for a disappointment."

Exams Replace SWC Basketball

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
 Southwest Conference basketball players are concentrating on making points this week—on final exam papers and not on the scoreboard.

Only one conference game is on for this week. SMU, ranked 18th in the nation, meets TCU at Dallas Saturday.

The Arkansas Razorbacks, whose conference record of four victories against no defeats, is the best in the loop, tests Mississippi at Memphis Saturday in a non-conference tilt.

Baylor had a game scheduled Tuesday night with the Andrews Air Force Base but it was postponed because of Religious Focus Week on the Baylor campus.

Swaps Ineligible For Rich Maturity

ARCADIA, Calif.—Swaps, winner of the 1955 Kentucky Derby worked a mile in a fast 1:37 yesterday but the big son of Khaled isn't eligible for Saturday's rich Santa Anita Maturity for 4-year-olds. If seven start, as expected, the race will be worth $157,960.

Trainer Mish Tenney says Swaps is sounder than at any time since he won the San Vicente Stakes here Jan. 19, 1955. Later he developed an infected right front hoof that eventually required an operation. Owner Rex Ellsworth no doubt regrets that he didn't keep Swaps eligible for the Maturity, but the big fellow has made remarkable progress lately.

 Private letters received yesterday by R. M. Love and J. C. Gage bring the good tidings that Dr. Marshall Melkhany, the noted educator has disposed of his holdings in Texas, and will arrive today to carry out his long-cherished plan regarding a select school for girls in Artesia.

Jack Nabers, the tinner and plumber, has completed a residence in the Blair addition.

ported, saying:

"The scope of the expansion had narrowed and its pace had slackened. The nation had practically reached full employment and was accommodating itself to a necessarily slower rate of advance."

The past year has brought fresh witness to the basic strength and resiliency of our economy. "We have broken through to new and higher ground, and have reached the threshold of a 400-billion-dollar economy."

Moreover, he left no doubt the administration would recommend tax cuts, regardless of possible budget deficits, if such action were needed to avert an economic slump.

He pointed to the "instructive" experience of 1954 when he said $7,400,000,000 in tax reductions bolstered buying power and investment "at a time when output and employment were tending to decline."

On the other hand, he said, extension of high corporate and excise tax rates in 1955 helped bring about today's "prosperity without inflation."

The message dealt warily with social security. It omitted reference to the House-approved bill to lower the age at which women and totally disabled persons may begin receiving pension benefits. But it renewed Eisenhower's request that federal employees, along with self-employed persons not now covered, be brought into the system.

The views of Arthur F. Burns, chairman of the President's Council Economic Advisers, were evident in many paragraphs. The three-man council did the basic research underlying the recommendations.

The unions asked for 15-cent-an-hour wage increases under this wage reopening clause. Prestrike wages averaged about $2.10 an hour.

The company offered a five-year contract which it said would give workers a minimum wage increase of 2 1/2 cents an hour over the five years. The unions stood pat on their demands for one-year contracts.

Senators, congressmen, governors, mayors and clergymen have called for arbitration of the dispute or appointment of fact-finding boards.
 The IUE has said it will "operate" with such boards. The company has rejected the proposals, asserting that management is responsible to the stockholders and cannot delegate such responsibility to a third party.
 Back-to-work movements at some of the plants have been marked by scattered incidents of violence. An unknown number of men have returned to work.

Kefauver Demands Thorough Review Of Nation's Defense Establishment, Ridgway Charges Grow

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen Kefauver (D-Tenn) called today for a "thorough review of the entire defense establishment" in the light of new charges by Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway.
 Ridgway wrote in a second Saturday Evening Post article just released that there was a tendency during his tour as Army chief of staff "of civilian secretaries making military decisions on a basis of political expediency." The retired officer said this "constitutes a danger to this country."
 In his first article last week, Ridgway touched off controversy by writing he had opposed plans to cut Army manpower in 1954-1955 and had been pressured to trim his views to what he termed a "political-military" line.
 But Secretary of Defense Wilson and Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs, said that as they recalled it, members of the nation's top military group were unanimous on the question of planned Army cuts. Wilson also denied over having tried to pressure Ridgway.
 A spokesman said Wilson would have no comment on Ridgway's newest blast.
 Kefauver, a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, said he hopes the Senate Armed Services Committee, of which he is a member, will look into the matter thoroughly.
 "I have a lot of respect for Gen. Ridgway's ability and courage," Kefauver said.
 "He was a leveling influence many times as in the case of the Formosa crisis."
 "He knows his business and it is a wonderful thing for the country to have him speak up. There should be a very thorough review of the entire defense establishment in the light of his statements."
 Sen. Mundt (R-SD) said he agrees with Ridgway that the Defense Department shouldn't be run for political purposes.
 "It hasn't been run for political purposes since January 1953, when President Eisenhower took office," Mundt said. "Insofar as essential economies are concerned, however, it is the proper procedure for the defense secretary to measure the importance of defense needs with the capacity of the economy to support them."

 needs congressional overhaul. He appears to be inadequate and suggested drainage basin programs, rather than huge dams, in which local and regional agencies can play a leading part.

A former chairman of the commission's task group on power, John Jirgal, declared there is ample proof local public and private interests can finance the huge electric power projects now owned and operated by the federal government.
 He said private utilities had increased their investment in the 13 years ending with 1953 by 13.2 billion dollars, which was 11 billion dollars more than the cost of completed federal power installations at that date.
 Financing by local public and private interests, he said, would reduce the burden of taxpayers and help reduce the national debt.
 Carey Brown, a Scottsville, N. Y. engineer, said users of waterways should pay tolls comparable with the benefits they receive and sufficient to repay government outlays. He said this would discourage the promotion of dubious new projects.

His blood stained automobile was found near Low, Utah, on Jan. 16. Rainey had been enroute to Denver.

The Las Vegas officers said the driver's license they found at Tracy's home bore the name of Donald Gilday of Las Vegas. Gilday's home was reported burglarized two weeks ago, along with another Las Vegas home where several guns were taken.
 The deputies said that after Rainey's body was found in New Mexico roadblocks were set up. At one of these a man presented Gilday's driver's license in identifying himself. The deputies added that the wallet found yesterday resembled one Rainey was reported carrying at the time of his murder.

President's Illness Raises Query What Happens If Stricken Again

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)— President Eisenhower's heart attack — and the possibility he may run again — raise three questions which are seldom mentioned but always are present with any man seeking the highest office.

What happens if, after nomination by his party's convention, a presidential candidate dies or is disabled:

1. Before election day? 2. After winning the election but before the College of Electors can formally vote him in? 3. After winning the election and getting the electoral vote but before he can take office?

The first and third questions are easier to answer than the second.
No. 1—The Democratic or Republican National Committee, depending on which party nominated him, would name someone else as its party's presidential candidate. It could shove the vice presidential candidate into the top spot and pick another person to run for the vice presidency.

The committees get the authority to take care of this kind of emergency through a specific resolution approved every four years by their parties' national presidential conventions.
If a candidate died too close to election day—say, perhaps, the day before—the national committee might not have time to agree on a candidate to replace him because the members are so widely scattered.

No. 3 — If a man who wins the election and is formally voted for as president by the College of Electors dies or is disabled before taking office, his vice presidential running mate would automatically take office as president. This is provided for in the Constitution's 20th Amendment.

No. 2—This is a tricky one which can't be flatly answered: What happens if a presidential candidate wins the election but dies or is disabled before the College of Electors formally votes him in? The election this year is on Nov. 6; the electors meet Dec. 17.

Remember: On Nov. 6 you do not directly vote for president or vice president. You vote for a slate of electors chosen by their party.

The electors have generally felt morally bound to vote for their party's candidate. But under the Constitution they are not legally bound to do so.

Thus if the winning candidate died before the electors met, they could if they wished vote for anyone they liked.

A lawyer for one of the national committees said this would happen: The national committee would pick someone to replace the candidate who died and expect the electors to vote for him. But if he had not been on the ticket meaning the voters never had chance to approve or disapprove him, there might be turmoil.

 What the national committee would probably do—this is only a guess—is this: name the successful vice presidential candidate the presidential choice.
