Doctors summoned an ambulance to take the boys to the hospital. Two of them died on the operating table. Two are near death from their wounds.

Members of the hospital staff began collapsing when they were contaminated by the gas. In serious condition are two doctors who operated on the boys, and the attending nurses and ambulance driver.

SIXTY MPH WINDS HIT STATE, TEAR AWAY PRECIOUS TOPSOIL

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Winds ranging up to 60 miles an hour tore away precious topsoil and dried out rangelands in New Mexico yesterday and today.

The winds, which have come sporadically in recent weeks, threaten to undo much of the good caused earlier by widespread and welcome snows.

The Agricultural Marketing Service said late February wind depleted some of the moisture and was responsible for some damage to dry range feed.

Livestock were in good condition with some loss of weight, from windy and cool weather, the March 1 range and livestock report said.

The Weather Bureau predicted light snow today over northern Arizona, northern New Mexico, the Panhandles of Oklahoma and Texas, and southern parts of Colorado and Kansas. Travel through northern New Mexico was expected to be locally snowed at times by snow, but not likely to be blocked.

Strong winds and considerable dust were probable in southwestern New Mexico throughout the day, in the wake of a cold front sweeping through the area.

The AMS said prospects for early range feed are good over most of the state if normal precipitation is received in March and April. The recent heavy snowfall improved the water supply for livestock, which had become short in many parts of the state. The condition of ranges were reported at 77 per cent of normal on March 1, compared with 78 per cent last month and 75 per cent for the 10-year average.

Ranchers have increased supplemental feeding to cattle. Death losses of cattle and calves have been very light for this time of year. The AMS said condition of cattle and calves is estimated at 80 per cent of normal, compared with 83 per cent last month and 80 per cent for the 10-year average.

Sheep were in about normal condition with increased feeding on supplements.

Among places where light snow was received early today were Raton and Farmington. At El Paso dust lowered visibility to four miles.

Lowest overnight temperature was 5 above at Raton airport. Alamogordo was the warmest place last night with 46 degrees.

Man Wanted Here For Store Theft Caught In Calif.

An Ohio man, Lawrence Del Morton, 23, wanted for the theft of $214 from the Artesia Shoe Store where he was employed Jan. 15, has been arrested at Long Beach, Calif., by Funk, deputy sheriff, said today.

Funk said that Morton will be extradited and brought here to stand trial. Morton left Artesia on a Sunday morning, Jan. 15, at the same time that the money disappeared from store funds. Morton was said to be "the only one who knew where the money was kept and who had a key to the store."

Chris Arellano, 35, of Mathis, Tex., has been arrested at Sinton, Tex., and is being held there on a warrant charging him with carrying away and concealing property in excess of $100, on complaint of Sam Searbrough of Artesia, Funk said.

Arellano formerly lived at Artesia for a short time.

Former Artesia Resident Dies In Hobbs Sunday

Walter Varner, former Artesia resident, died early Sunday morning in Hobbs. Funeral services will be held Tuesday in Hobbs.

Hazel and Williams will serve as pallbearers. Survivors include his widow, four sons and two daughters.

Contestants Shy But Quiz Goes On

Eight little second graders from Roselawn School courageously overcame natural handicaps to participate in the AAUW Radio Book Quiz here Saturday.

Four of the children were little Spanish Americans whose parents do not speak English. They were Della Sedillo, Joe Mendoza, Manuel Lopez and Zeko Covasella, all of Mrs. Vera Lebow's class. All of the children performed bravely to Miss Lebow's credit.

A fifth child, Dickie Mascheck, mastered a natural shyness to make good his word and participate in the quiz program. Dickie almost panicked at the last minute and begged his mother to have him excused.

"We are not going to be that kind of people," Mrs. Mascheck told Dickie. "If we say we will do something, we'll do it." And Dickie did it and made a fine contribution to the program.

Others of the eight also were shy but were soon put at ease by the quiz mistress.

Senator Says Nobody Happy With Farm Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate Democratic Leader Johnson of Texas said today "nobody is satisfied" with the omnibus farm bill as it now stands after several major Senate decisions.

"You will be surprised at the number of votes against the bill unless substantial changes are made," he told reporters.

"Even some of those who oppose 90 per cent supports are dissatisfied with the bill now."

Asked if he was predicting defeat of the bill when it reaches a final vote, Johnson replied: "I'm no prophet."

Johnson also said in reply to a question that he was not proposing any specific changes.

Johnson said there was "considerable resentment" over moves he said Secretary of Agriculture Benson has made to swing Senate votes on key issues.

The main battle has been over whether to continue the present flexible price supports backed by Benson or return to the fixed 90 per cent of parity supports which were required by law during the Truman administration.

The Benson program has won test votes as to supports for wheat, cotton, corn and peanuts.

As Johnson talked with newsmen, the Senate was approaching a vote on the question of 90 per cent supports for that part of the rice crop consumed in this country.

There were numerous other proposed amendments pending, and Johnson said he thought it would take several days to complete action on the bill.

Earlier two Israeli planes circled over the El Arish area and were driven off by Egyptian anti-aircraft fire, he added. Egypt complained of both incidents to the Mixed Armistice Commission.

ATHENS PROTEST MEETS BANNED TO HALT RIOTS

ATHENS, Greece, (AP)—Premier Constantine Karamanlis called on the United States today to "intervene in a decisive way" in the dispute between Britain and Greece over Cyprus. He told a group of visiting American publishers: "If the United States, as leader of the free world, fails to use its tremendous moral and material forces to discipline the free world to the principles of justice and freedom, the future of free world should be a matter of grave concern."

"Greece is under a Communist threat and is in danger of being cut off from the Western world. Russia will make every effort to exploit the situation at the Western world's expense."

"The West is handling the Cyprus issue as if it is butting Russia's toast."

Karamanlis said communism is gaining ground in Greece, partly because of the Greek people's bitterness over Britain's Cyprus policy.

The premier said relations between Greece and the United States are good "because when Greece was in danger of being overrun by the Communists (in a civil war), America came to her rescue—a thing Greece will never forget."

Greece clamped a ban on mass meetings called for today in protest against British deportation of Archbishop Makarios of Cyprus to a remote Indian ocean island.

In the Cyprus capital of Nicosia, workers ran their protest strike into the third day.

The Greek Ministry of Interior in banning demonstrations reacted speedily to warnings by the sponsor, Archbishop Syridon of Athens, that the mass meetings might degenerate into violent rioting.

Squads of police and steel-helmeted troops guarded the British, U.S. and Turkish embassies in Athens.

Fears were expressed that Communists would flock to the demonstrations and incite violence.

Greek feeling against Britain was running high. Archbishop Makarios was the leader of the union-with-Greece movement on Cyprus, a British colony in the eastern Mediterranean.

More than 80 persons were injured in rioting Saturday which saw British flags burned, British buildings stoned and tires slashed on British-owned buses. The chief of Athens' mechanized police was (Continued on Page Four)

Mediterranean Fleet To Get Super Carrier

GUANTANAMO, Cuba (AP)—The United States will send this super aircraft carrier, the most powerful vessel of its fleet, to bolster American naval forces in the Mediterranean next January.

This was disclosed by ship officers today as newsmen arrived to witness the first public demonstration of the 70,000-ton carrier's jet plane operations.

At anchor at Guantanamo last night were no less than 27 warships. Adm. Arleigh Burke, chief of naval operations, took note of this in telling Navy personnel here.

"The vast changes in weapons systems which are occurring in the Navy today are indicated by the presence in Guantanamo right now of four of the Navy's newest ships—the Boston, world's first guided missile cruiser; the Forrestal, newest, largest and most modern aircraft carrier; the Northampton, newest and finest command and communications ship; and the Forrest Sherman, the first of the new class of destroyer."

In addition to the fighting ships named by Burke, who came to Guantanamo from the Joint Chiefs of Staff conference in Puerto Rico, vessels here also include the 27,000-ton battleship—the New Jersey, Iowa and Wisconsin; 2 heavy cruisers—the Salem and Des Moines; 15 destroyers; and 2 submarines.

Capt. Roy L. Johnson, native of Big Bend, La., and skipper of the Forrestal, said that after this new flat-top has finished her shakedown cruise she is due to go into the yard about May 5 for changes found desirable.

Post shakedown changes should be completed by November, the captain said.

Rigid Price Supporters Still Hope To Win Out Despite Major Setbacks

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional advocates of rigid mandatory farm price supports said Saturday they still expect to win out despite two major setbacks in the Senate last week.

"I believe there is an excellent chance for at least a one-year extension of mandatory 90 percent supports, particularly on wheat," Sen. Young (R-ND) said in an interview.

"The questioned tie vote last night will be important when Senate and House conferees sit down to compromise these issues," he added.

Young referred to an angry Senate floor fight last night in which Vice President Nixon rescued a major section of the administration's flexible and lower price support program. Nixon cast the deciding tally after a 45-45 tie vote knocking out special mandatory supports on white, but the procedure was challenged by Sen. Gore (D-Tenn).

The battle over the controversial farm measure was suspended until Monday with indications that the Senate can complete action sometime next week.

Then the measure must go back to the House which last May 5 voted a two-year extension of rigid supports on basic crops by a narrow 206-201 margin.

Rep. Cooley (D-NC), chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, said:

"The House will stand by the House vote until the last minute. I don't have any idea of doing anything other than standing pat."

House refusal to accept the Senate version in its entirety, which is believed likely, will send the measure to a conference committee.

Cooley, who will head the House conferees, pointed out that the top five members of his committee, both Republicans and Democrats, "all have been staunch supporters of the 90 percent program."

The other House conferees will Remember When...

50 YEARS AGO
 The new Turknett well is a stunner. Nobody ever saw anything like it and language is inadequate to describe it. It is worth coming a thousand miles to see.

P. W. Dent of St. Louis is visiting the family of his father, G. W. Dent, and others.

Dr. G. Pinnell, his wife and baby and Miss Wave Heck, daughter of Dr. J. B. Heck, arrived in Artesia this week from Danville, Ark., to make their home. At present they are living in the Hunt cottage on Quay avenue.

20 YEARS AGO
 Key and Son, formerly of Roswell, have opened a new furniture store in the old Baldwin building next door to the Brainard Corbin hardware store.

Miss Maurine Lewis and Dr. John Clarke Jr., were host and hostess at a Saint Patrick's party, entertaining the Swastika rBidge Club at the home of Mrs. V. L. Gates Thursday night.

10 YEARS AGO
 Tom B. Watson has been named secretary-manager of the Artesia Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Rangler of a ranch near Carlsbad were business visitors in Artesia Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hockett of Artesia, is presently attending the 8th Air Division Non Commissioned Officer's academy at Otis Air Force Base, Mass. Hockett enlisted in the Air Force in December, 1952, and is assigned to the 551st Periodic Maintenance Squadron at Otis as an aircraft mechanic. He will graduate March 20, at which time he will return to his unit. Hockett resides in Woods Hole, Mass., with his wife Winnojeanne.

Know Your Schools

By JO CONNELL

DID YOU KNOW that the Artesia Elementary Schools have an enrollment of 2,558 students divided in the eight schools? Required for this number of students are 97 classrooms, plus gyms, and playgrounds, multiple-purpose rooms, arts and crafts rooms, music rooms, cafeterias, restrooms, and storage space. Ninety-seven teachers are a minimum teaching staff for this enrollment.

In addition to the three R's, elementary school children are taught science, geography, history, health, language, art and music.

To enrich the learning program, field trips and excursions are planned for the pupils each year.

Specialists are called in to add their services to the program offered grade school pupils.

In every phase of the school program, development of good moral and spiritual values is the constant aim.

Parents and other interested citizens are invited to visit the Artesia Elementary Schools at any time to observe the type of educational program set up for the children of this community.

Hugh Kiddy Says Realtors Contribute To Big Increase In Home Ownership

"Realtors can be largely credited with the marked increase in home ownership of recent years—and the important community benefits flowing from this situation," Hugh Kiddy said today.

The Realtors' board executive's statement, coming during the current observance of Realtor Week, noted the steady rise in the percentage of owner-occupied homes, and the vast improvement of home quality.

"In 1940," he said, "41 per cent of our nonfarm population owned the homes they occupied. In 1950, this ratio was 53 per cent, and it is now around 56 per cent," he added.

"Improvement in homes showed corresponding increases in quality during the same 15-year period," Kiddy said. "For instance, the percentage of nonfarm homes with private indoor flush toilets rose from 73 per cent, in 1940 to 80 per cent in 1950. In the same period, the percentage of homes with private installed bathtub or shower increased from 68 to 77 per cent, and the ratio of those with electric lights climbed from 91 to 97 per cent.

He added, "These are basic improvements, but there have been many other additions to comfortable home-living. There has been a huge increase in the number of homes having mechanical refrigerators, and a large expansion in those with gas or electric cooking equipment."

Boyle's Survey Discovers Love And Boredom Closely Related

By HAL BOYLE
 NEW YORK, (AP)—I set out to find the 10 most boring types of people in America.

You may be more sophisticated than I am, but I really was surprised by the results.

I was surprised to discover how many people are bored by the things they feel they honestly love. I never had thought that love and boredom could partner. They do.

Every thoughtful person has his own ideas about our most common American bores, but here are the 10 that resulted from my quick survey:

1. The hobbyists. A new sports car from Germany, a fresh stamp from Abyssinia, a rosy rocket that might reach the moon, three mistakes that if Robert E. Lee hadn't made would have changed the present accent in Brooklyn, and how to make a camellia smell sweet as well as look ornamental.
2. Anybody who married for the first time, had a baby for the first time, or who just bought a new car, new house, or a new job—and who feels nothing quite like this ever happened before in the history of the world.
3. One who has acquired and brags about a disease so new it isn't even listed in the $3.95 family medical book you inherited from the old folks.
4. Gourmets. The trouble with gourmets is that, when they invite you out to dinner, they always insist they knew the best thing on the menu and you must share their knowledge, even though it consists of pickled rabbit's foot.
5. All sports fans, and particularly New York Yankee fans. One must include here all those who praise the benefits of fresh air but rob you of them by breathing more than their share.
6. All people who don't recognize that diet is an ugly, four-letter word. One way I keep my own weight down is going to the funerals of people who took drugs to get slim enough to fit into their coffins.
7. People who have raised their own children—and the results are visible—and still tell you how to rear a more acceptable Adam, a better Eve.

8. The guy with the better. He knows the place where you get a finer suit cheaper, a restaurant that serves faster meals than any you've been able to like, a wife to, and a vintage postcard never heard of where you watch the sun rise in California—and it will cost you less than it.

9. The provocative bore. He bores you because he claims to know you some time to realize the only wisdom he actually has is his own desperate realization that everytime he opens his mouth he puts both of his feet into the shoes of any neighboring foot.

Of course we can all recognize somebody we know in the foregoing list, including ourselves. I have 26 other types of bores I would like to return to the subject.

10. The silent or secret bore. He bores you because he claims to know you some time to realize the only wisdom he actually has is his own desperate realization that everytime he opens his mouth he puts both of his feet into the shoes of any neighboring foot.

Of course we can all recognize somebody we know in the foregoing list, including ourselves. I have 26 other types of bores I would like to return to the subject.

Good For The State

THE ANNOUNCEMENT that former Gov. Edwin L. Mechem would be a candidate of the Republican party for governor is good for the state.

It would be a good thing for the state if there were good strong candidates contesting for all of the state offices as well as all of the county and district offices.

It is a pretty well known fact that since the day of former President Franklin D. Roosevelt the Republicans have been having a little trouble finding candidates.

Six years ago the Republicans nominated former Governor Mechem for the chief executive post and he not only won the election but he was re-elected for his second term.

It is a pretty well known fact he was a good governor and that he is strongest man in the Republican party in the state today. He is honest, sincere and conscientious, and his announcement will give courage to others in the Republican party to try for office.

All of this, we say, is good for the state. It is always well to have two strong parties in any state. We would be better off with two strong parties in every state in the union.

It is never good for the people, the state or the country for any one party to gain control and to continue to hold control. No party and no group of party members have a monopoly on intelligence, "know how" or the only way in which our government can be operated.

Two strong parties mean that both parties pick their best qualified candidates to seek public office. This gives the public a better choice in making their selection of their public officials. It likewise makes more efficiency, more economical operation as well as better service to the people.

Public officials who know they must do a good job or be defeated by a candidate in the opposition party always results in better service and full consideration of the voters, the citizens and the taxpayers.

So we say it is good for the State of New Mexico that we will have two good strong candidates for governor—one from each party. We hope we have good strong candidates from both parties for all of the state offices and for all of the county offices.

All of this would make for a better government—a government that can and will serve the people.

Lobbying Probe Body Already Shows Signs Of Party Activity

By JAMES MARLOW
 Associated Press News Analyst
 WASHINGTON (AP)—The special eight-man committee picked by the Senate to investigate lobbying has its work cut out for it. The big question is: Will it do its work?

There are four Democrats and four Republicans on this committee. If they play politics on the direction the investigation takes, splitting along party lines, there won't be much investigation.

They've already shown signs of party splitting. From the time they were appointed Feb. 23 until Saturday they were so badly divided they couldn't agree on rules for doing business.

Now they have agreed — with Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) as chairman and Sen. Bridges (R-NH) as vice chairman — But the kind of agreement they made leaves the door open for party splits and paralysis.

McClellan as chairman may issue subpoenas for witnesses, documents and records but only after telling Bridges what he intends to do.

If Bridges objects, then the problems must be submitted to the full committee for solution. Any time they split on party lines, there probably will be no solution and no action.

Athens—

 injured critically while attempting to quiet the mob.

The anti-British demonstrations spread out to Salonika and Crete. Rioters on Crete wrecked and looted the British consular building. The consul escaped by hiding in the basement.

While the government banned mass meetings, it showed its anger at the British in other actions. It suspended indefinitely the teaching of English in elementary and high schools. It closed the British Institute and four other British - subsidized agencies. It canceled horse races and all athletic meetings "as a precautionary measure."

Greek trade unions demanded the expulsion of British Ambassador Sir Charles Peake, whose presence in Athens they called a "dangerous provocation." Greece has already recalled her ambassador from London.

Nicosia shops opened for business today but closed again when word spread that workers had stayed away from factories. Security forces patrolled the city.

British Maj. Tony Dean-Drummond, a hero-author of World War II, was in serious condition. A

The chief counsel and other staff employees of the committee will be hired only after majority approval. Once again a 4-4 party split could freck even this elementary effort to get started.

This is going to be an interesting committee to watch, whether it does a real job, shadow boxes or blows up in confusion. This is an election year and a real investigation might cause political explosions.

This committee will not have time for a thorough study of the whole field of lobbying in the time given it. The Senate instructed the committee to finish its job by next Jan. 31.

Just getting a staff together, and then letting the staff dig into the field and prepare the groundwork for public hearings, will take a lot of time. McClellan says now he can't tell when the inquiry will begin.

Clerks Search Vaults Of Bank For Lost $1,000

NEW YORK (AP)—Clerks resume searching Monday for a one-million-dollar U. S. treasury note somebody "misplaced" in the vast vaults of the Chase Manhattan Bank.

More than 200 employees worked overtime during the weekend in a hunt for the missing note. When they went home late Sunday, they had rummaged through about half of 4,500 file drawers in the bank's basement.

The note, first missed last Wednesday, is not negotiable.

"The note will almost certainly be found," the bank said.

mob stoned his car Saturday night while he was driving through Kyrenia, Cyprus.

The British deported Archbishop Makarios Friday as he was preparing to leave for talks with the Greek government on his failure to win self-determination for Cyprus after five months of secret talks with the British.

British authorities on Cyprus said an analysis of seized documents indicated that Makarios had been under the thumb of the terrorist Eoka organization during the negotiations.

NM Rancher Hits Land Withdrawn By Military Use

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rancher Floyd Lee of San Mateo, N. M., says that four billion acres of New Mexico land withdrawn for military use is handicapping the state. He added that he feels proper coordination among the services in using the same firing ranges in the state could reduce their land needs sharply. In an appearance before the House Interior Affairs Committee, Lee also said that state ranchers would be willing to risk "a rocket coming down on their cows" if they could use for grazing some of the land now set aside for missile ranges. He spoke for the national Taylor Grazing Board Advisory Council, the American Cattleman's Assn. and the New Mexico Cattle Growers Assn. Lee said that the four million acres could support 62,500 head of cattle and he said that because of its rapidly expanding population, New Mexico needs to make use of the land. "These tremendous withdrawals are tending to handicap us to the point where we can't finance our state government and schools," he said. "We are unable to go forward in the development of our state."

MODEL PROBLEM

MODEL railroading constantly invites ingenuity, an important factor in its continuing popularity. Shunting cars, for instance, is a skill the hobbyist strives to perfect, which is probably why the problem at right, below, has long been a favorite with railroad men. Advanced hobbyists could conceivably incorporate such a problem into a model layout.

Let's assume there is a car on each of the spur tracks and an engine on the main track. One of the cars is a box-car, the other is a tank-car.

The problem is to exchange the position of the two cars so that the tank-car will be on the track on which the box-car was placed and vice-versa. As the freight cars cannot move by themselves, the locomotive must be used to push or pull them into position.

The siding into which the spur tracks lead is only large enough to accommodate a single car, but the main track is assumed to stretch indefinitely in either direction.

One method of solution is to use three pieces of paper for cars, each one-half inch long and one-fourth inch wide. Place one of the cars on each spur track and put the engine on the main line.

Two cars are then coupled together and moved out onto the right spur. The engine pushes them up to B. The engine pushes B onto the siding, returns to the main track and is run up onto the siding and left track.

Track and A is run up onto the siding and left track. The engine pushes A up to B. The engine pushes B onto the siding, returns to the main track and is run up onto the siding and left track.

Some Good Turns Asked

HEADS up thinking is required here. How long will it take you to pass this test?

Place ten pennies, dimes or other coins of the same size in a circle, as at right. Have all of them heads up.

Now start on any coin, count off four, and turn this coin over to show tails.

Continue this process until all coins show tails. Each time you count four, you must also count any coins in between that show tails.

You can, however, start on any coin each time; that is, after the first turn-over, you can skip any number of coins in the circle before starting to count off four again.

However, whatever number of coins you skip at first, you must continue to skip this same number each time before counting off four.

It is possible to conform to these conditions and turn over all coins to tails. Can you find a method of insuring it?

Answers: The trick is to skip three coins after the first turn-over.

SOMETHING NEW FOR EASTER

DOLLY has a new dress, coat and hat for Easter and she's getting anxious to try them on.

For a preview of how she will look in the Easter parade, color and cut out the items of clothing. Then color and cut out the doll and paste it to a piece of heavier paper or cardboard.

Bend tabs of clothes to attach them, of course.

Have you ever tried making cut-out dolls and doll-clothes yourself? Comic page characters and old magazine ads are a good source of materials.
