

World's Biggest Water Adjudication Suit Begins

Roswell Basin Suit To Cover 1,500 Wells, 1,000 Farmers

L. T. Lewis and 29 other defendants are named in a petition filed today in District Court at Roswell by attorneys for the state engineer and Pecos Valley Artesian Conservancy District.

It was the first legal step taken in the most extensive and continuing water adjudication suit on record in any artesian basin in the world.

The suit eventually will involve approximately 1,500 irrigation wells in the 140,000 acre Roswell basin with probably over 1,000 individuals named as parties. At present the suit involves a township just west of Hagerman.

The suit contains two causes of action. It asks the court to adjudicate all the water rights in the Roswell artesian basin and, secondly, it asks the court to render a declaratory judgment quieting the title to the valid rights and enjoining illegal water users.

According to a prepared statement issued today by Charles Harris, special assistant attorney general and one of the attorneys representing the state engineer and the PVACD, the suit may last two years or longer.

The statement declared it is the purpose of the suit to eliminate illegal use of an estimated 18,000 acres of irrigated land in the basin.

It also aimed at drying up the allegedly illegally used acreage through this legal process as the first move toward bringing the fast dropping water table in the basin back into balance.

Another stated purpose of the suit is to establish validity, priority and quiet title to the rights found to be valid during the course of the proceedings.

The complaint filed asks that the court quiet title to each of the water users valid water rights and also asks the court to determine the priority of the water rights, the lands upon which it is used, the source of water, the purpose and the duty of water necessary for beneficial use and requests the court to enjoin all illegal use of water in the basin.

The complaint requests the court to appoint a special master to hear the evidence and make recommendations to the court on the law and facts in each instance. The complaint also requests permission to bring in the water users of additional townships as soon as their names are determined.

The plaintiffs definitely will not disqualify any of the resident judges, however, if one of the local judges presides it would present the problem that he probably would be disqualified by one or more of the approximately 1,000 defendants during the course of the proceeding, which would cause delay in the completion of the adjudication.

The New Mexico Constitution authorizes the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court to designate a non-resident judge when the public business requires such action. Some attorneys have suggested that the Chief Justice should be requested to appoint a non-resident judge to preside over the adjudication in order to avoid the delay and additional expense that would result from a disqualification of one or all of the resident judges.

Special Assistant Attorney General Charles D. Harris, one of the attorneys for the plaintiffs, has released the following statement with regard to the suit filed this morning.

Case Evidence Combed For 'Loose Ends'

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — Evidence compiled in an investigation of a $2,500 campaign gift rejected by Sen. Francis Case (R-S.D.) will be combed for "any loose ends" use in a broader lobby inquiry, Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.) said today.

McClellan is chairman of a special Senate committee assigned to search out any improper or illegal attempts to influence senators or other federal officials through lobbying, campaign contributions or other activities and to recommend remedial legislation.

He said it will start where a smaller special committee headed by Sen. George (D-Ga.) left off. That inquiry was limited to the circumstances surrounding an oil lobbyist's attempt to continue to Case's re-election campaign during Senate debate on the natural gas bill.

The George committee, in a report Saturday night, held that the $2,500 offer to Case was designed to influence his vote on the gas bill and said it condemned such activity.

Case voted against the bill, which would have freed natural gas producers from direct federal controls. The Senate passed the bill, but President Eisenhower vetoed it.

The money was traced to the personal funds of Howard B. Keck of Los Angeles, president of the Superior Oil Co. It reached a friend of Case in South Dakota through two lawyers for the oil and gas company.

These lawyers, Elmer Patman of Austin, Tex., and John M. Neff of Lexington, Neb., were "severely censured" by the George committee in its 6,000-word report to the Senate. The committee also said Keck couldn't escape responsibility for the use they made of his money.

Trade Survey Letters Going To Merchants

As part of a consumer trade survey here, letters and sample questionnaires to be sent out to 5,000 residents of Artesia and Artesia's trade territory registered merchants today. A nominal fee of $5 is required of each retailing firm which joins in the survey. This will cover the cost of conducting the survey.

The program seeks to learn public opinion of Artesia, stores in Artesia, public advertising preferences and out-of-town buying habits.

Merchants receiving the request today are asked to indicate their interest in the survey by Monday, April 16.

Concert Group To Present Top Attractions

Four headline attractions will be presented by the Artesia Community Concert Association during the 1956-57 concert series, it was announced here today.

The four musical presentations, all of which rank high on the Columbia Artists Attraction, are The Totenberg Instrumental Ensemble, Mildred Dilling, harpist; The Carolers Trio, vocal group; and Jorge Boiet, outstanding pianist.

The campaign which ended Saturday made possible these four presentations on the new series.

Although several workers found it impossible to make a complete report, the membership will equal that of last year. Workers reported that many persons were out of town during the campaign and were not contacted. These people may still receive their memberships, according to Mrs. Hugh Parry, campaign chairman. First National Bank To Be Honored At Meet

First National Bank of Artesia, which was organized in 1903, is one of two banks in this area to be honored at the 50th Anniversary convention of New Mexico Bankers Association to be held in Albuquerque next month.

First National Bank of Roswell, organized in 1890, also will be among the state's honor banks.

J. C. Hester of Santa Fe, executive secretary of the association, was in Artesia over the weekend in conference with Fred Cole, resident of the state association.

The men made final arrangements for the Albuquerque convention, completed a contract for printing of the anniversary convention programs, appointed auditing, nominating and resolutions committees, and made arrangements to honor and recognize banks in New Mexico with over 30 years service, and banks that have been organized for 50 years in New Mexico.

Guy Rogers of Hobbs, who was present at the 1906 association organizational meeting, J. E. Robertson of Carlsbad, Jack Moore and Floyd Childers of Roswell, Fred Cole and L. B. Feather of Artesia are area bankers to be recognized.

Several hundred advance reservations for the convention have been made, Cole indicated. He will preside over all sessions of the convention.

Worst Duster Hits Texas

AMARILLO (AP) — A history-making pall of dust drifted southward over Texas today bringing some sections their worst sand storm since the 1920s.

The stifling cloud of black top soil blinded Amarillo in the Panhandle late yesterday.

For four hours visibility was zero, making the storm the second worst in Amarillo's history. In February, 1936, skies were blacked out for nine hours.

Amarillo reported visibility back to 15 miles today. At the same time Del Rio on the Rio Grande reported 1-8 mile visibility, the worst storm since the 20s. Residents drove to work at 8 a.m. with their car lights burning in the thick haze.

The storm also spread to Central Texas where visibility dropped to 1/2 mile at several points early today. Waco and Dallas both reported light showers along with the dust, resulting in a sprinkle of muddy water.

Strong winds which buffeted eastern New Mexico yesterday rested easy today, for the time being, leaving clear skies on the edge of the Texas Panhandle's history-making pall of dust.

Experts said there was plenty of New Mexico dirt in the storm which blinded people in the Amarillo area of West Texas during the worst sand storm since the 1920s.

Three persons were killed and five children were injured in a three-car pile-up at Amarillo during a dust storm Sunday night in one of the weekend's worst traffic accidents in Texas.

The storm, called a black duster because it came from the north and carried fine black soil, blew into this Texas Panhandle city about 5 p.m. yesterday. It was accompanied by winds up to 78 miles per hour.

The Civil Aeronautics Authority tower at Amarillo was abandoned when winds hit 71 miles per hour.

The second wind and dust storm within a week came at a critical time for farmers and ranchers already hard pressed by prolonged drought.

The Texas A&M Extension Service said general rains are needed over the entire state for planting and for growth of crops, pastures and ranges. Wind and dust have damaged wheat. The next two weeks will be especially important for small grain crops already suffering badly. Pastures are very dry and in poor condition.

Cold weather followed the duster into the Panhandle. The temperature was 32 degrees at Dalhart before dawn. It was 33 at Amarillo and a trace of snow fell. Lubbock had 38 degrees.

The forecast called for light snow changing to rain in the Panhandle today. Temperatures of 25-35 degrees were forecast in the Panhandle and South Plains tonight and 35-45 elsewhere in West Texas.

Tensions Mount Over Gaza Strip

By ERIC GOTTGREU

JERUSALEM (AP) — Egyptian charges of an Israeli raid in the Gaza Strip and retaliation raids by Arab commandos kept tensions high today along the turbulent Arab-Israeli borders.

The latest reported toll since Thursday in the Gaza area was: 66 Egyptians and 9 Israelis killed, 93 Egyptians and at least 23 Israelis wounded, 1 Egyptian captured.

The violence continued on the eve of U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold's arrival in the Middle East on an urgent hunt for ways to restore peace.

Hammarskjold received the blessing of Pope Pius XII in Rome today.

He speeded up his schedule and ordered the U. N. truce supervisor, Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, to stay on the scene in Jerusalem.

Egypt reported a one-hour clash at its Gaza outpost of Dier Eballah. A spokesman said Egypt had protested to the U. N. Mixed Armistice Commission.

An Egyptian army spokesman said Israeli armored cars approached the true line after midnight and Israeli soldiers crossed on foot into Egyptian territory. The Israelis opened fire with automatic weapons on the Egyptian outpost, he charged.

Israel said the raiders, called Fedayans, killed one and wounded at least six.

Israel ordered "secret security measures and threatened retaliation measures unless Egypt guarantees an end to violence. The border clashes flared for the fourth straight day since Burns called for a cease-fire.

One Fedayan band attacked an Israel labor camp near Kziot in the Southern Negev demilitarized zone, killing one worker and wounding three, the army spokesman said.

Another blew up a well near Gvar-Am village and a light pole near Silin, both near the Gaza Strip.

The spokesman said an Israeli patrol tangled with Egyptian raiders a few hours later near Yad Mordechia, also near Gaza, killing one and capturing another.

Immunization Records To Be Checked Thursday

Parents are urged to bring children's immunization records to a Pre-School clinic sponsored by Artesia School P. T. A.'s in cooperation with Public Schools, local doctors and dentists Thursday, April 12, in the Veterans Memorial building.

The clinic is being held for all children who will enter school for the first time in September 1956, according to George P. White, director of instruction.

Parents are urged to cooperate by bringing children who will enter school next September for physical check-up and routine vaccinations.

Children who will attend Roselawn and Park schools are scheduled to be handled at the Clinic from 8 a.m. until 12 noon. Children who reside in the Central and Hermosa districts will be accepted from 1 until 4 p.m.

Children from Hope, Loco Hills, Atoka and Cottonwood districts will be taken at either of the above scheduled hours, White indicated.

MANY CASUALTIES are reported in bloody Gaza Strip where Egyptian and Israeli forces have been fighting intermittently for several days. (International)

Like Unfavorable To Farm Bill; To Fight For Change

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower told Republican congressional leaders today that the farm bill does not meet "the test of a good bill." They promised to battle to change it.

House GOP Leader Martin of Massachusetts, told newsmen after a White House conference that an effort will be made, probably Wednesday, to send the bill back to a Senate-House Conference Committee.

"I'm quite hopeful we are going to recommit the bill," he said. Martin said no decision has been reached yet on just what changes will be sought in event the measure can be handed back to the committee which whipped the bill into compromise form last week.

But he indicated strongly that one aim will be to knock out high rigid price supports for basic commodities. The matter of instructions to the conferees, Martin said, will be thrashed out at a session of all House Republicans he has called for tomorrow afternoon.

Martin, Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California, and the party whips, Sen. Saltonstall of Massachusetts, and Rep. Arends of Illinois, huddled with Eisenhower and Secretary of Agriculture Benson for nearly 2 1/2 hours.

Afterward Martin read this brief typed statement to reporters: "The President repeated his desire to have a good farm bill promptly. He has been asking for it since Jan. 9, when he sent his farm message to the Congress.

"The President does not believe the conference report meets the test of a good bill. He is concerned that the conference report will not give the real and permanent assistance which is so necessary for the security of our

British Papers Censure U. S. Administration

LONDON (AP) — Britain's two biggest newspapers asserted today that the Israeli-Egyptian dispute might explode into World War III because of what they described as inertia on the part of the U. S. government.

"Only the United States can play decisive cards in this situation now," said columnist William Neil Connor in the Daily Mirror. "Economic aid is not enough."

"The tragedy is that neither the ailing President Eisenhower nor the impotent Secretary of State Dulles has apparently the wit or courage to deal with this perilous situation."

Rene MacColl of the Daily Express, a former correspondent in Washington, addressed an open letter to Eisenhower.

"We all know you are a brave man," he said. "We all remember how you were willing to take big decisions — now, tomorrow, big decisions. Please go on taking next day. Please don't wait until after elections are over in November before you feel free to take any more decisions.

"Because if you do, even bigger events than the American election may by then have swamped the world."

Both newspapers are nominally independent. The Mirror leans toward policies of Britain's Labor

'Sweet-Tooth' Robbers Break Into Theatre

"Sweet-tooth" robbers emptied two candy cases over Sunday night at the snack bar of Hermosa Drive-In theatre. Creighton Gilchrist and Ray Bartlett, co-owners of the theatre, said they discovered the break-in and theft about 9:45 this morning.

Thirty boxes of assorted candy valued at about $40 with some cigars and chewing gum were taken, Bartlett said. Empty gum boxes were scattered over the floor behind the counter. Nothing else in the snack bar was bothered, he commented.

Entrance was gained at the southwest door by a screw-driver or other blunt tool, investigating officers said. One double door was taken off its outside hinges with the hinge pins left laying on the concrete patio in front of the snack bar.

Marks of attempted entry at the east rear door were noted by officers.

The robbery was said to have occurred after Tom Pienada, projection room operator, left the drive-in about 11:40 p.m. Sunday. Bartlett said night lights were left on in the building.

Artesia Man Given Two Years On Probation

An Artesia man pleaded guilty in District Court today to a grand larceny charge in connection with a theft of gasoline from Malco refinery, and was put on probation for two years. The man was Clay Briggs, 1106 W. Main.

Three other Artesia men, George Wallace Adams, Floyd Howard, and J. D. Howard, arrested along with Briggs in connection with the November theft, and charged with receiving and concealing stolen property, all entered guilty pleas. Their trials will be held at all later date.

Lawrence Del Morton, Artesia, pleaded guilty to charges of embezzlement and passing bad checks and sentence is to be set at a later date.

Chief Reiterates 'Didn't Do It'

From his hospital bed in Durant, Okla., yesterday, suspect chief of police Frank Powell told an Advocate reporter "I can say," and he called the reporter by name, "I didn't do it."

Over and over again he reiterated "I didn't do it."

He referred to four charges against him here on counts of conspiracy to let vice operate in the city and to protect the elements from raids by other enforcement bodies.

Chief is extremely ill of diabetes at the Oklahoma hospital. He is eating hard and his voice is very weak. As he talked his name in short, forced gasps, he said he was being treated by struggles for breath.

He wanted to return yesterday as he was, to face the charges. He clear his name, but hospital authorities refused to let him out of his bed.

"I will return," the chief said desperately.

He is to be released on a $4,000 bond under which he placed when warrants were issued on him at the hospital Saturday. Sheriff Hartill Martin said that the bond was "a mistake" and that there was no intention in the first place of placing the chief under bond. He is "to return at will" to face charges when he is able to get to the hospital.

The chief's nurse refused to let him talk more than a few sentences and one gathered the impression that the chief was not actually able to speak more than the few choked utterances that he was able to make. He said at the time that he felt as though he were about to suffer a stroke and his nurse ended the interview.

The nurse said, "Mr. Powell is a very ill man."

Mine Owner Is Arraigned For Breaches Here

T. Kimbrough, owner of the Eagle copper mine, south of Artesia, is to be arraigned before John Elicott at 1 p.m. today on three counts of violation of the State's mining code.

Deputy Mine Inspector John Sanchez filed the charges charging Kimbrough with violating without the State Mine Inspector's approval, failure to have qualified officers of authority at the mine during operation and failure to provide first-aid equipment at the mine.

Sanchez, 42, of 911 North Main, pleaded guilty to assault and battery charges before Judge John Elicott this morning.

What Time Is It In Middle East?

Said To Be Near Zero Hour

EDITOR'S NOTE: What time is it in the Middle East, where the ticking of the clock often sounds ominously like a bomb? William L. Ryan, AP Foreign News Analyst, says it is near to zero hour. He is concluding a new swing through the tense region and reports his findings in a series of five articles, the first of which follows.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
BEIRUT, Lebanon, April 9 (AP) — is close to zero hour in the Middle East.

Bullets whine today across the red wire frontiers of the Holy land. Any bullet could become the final for the war every one fears the 11th war that may blow up to world catastrophe.

Every minute of the next two months will be precious for the United States and Britain take positive action, there grave danger of the Israeli-Arab conflict will raise the curtain on world War III, just as Spain was rehearsed for the last great war.

A threat of economic shock waves over England and western Europe, with the consequences that endanger the North Atlantic Treaty alliance structure.

These are not extravagant or alarmist statements. These are the considered opinions of experts: diplomats, businessmen, experienced observers of the Middle East scene. All are agreed on this: there is no time to lose.

Hate, fear and frustration set the mood today in the Arab world. Of these it is the feeling of frustration which carries the biggest danger. It is the feeling that the United States is the Arabs' enemy and that there is no hope for justice in the quarrel with Israel.

The tragedy of the Middle East is that it has everything to lose and nothing to gain by war. Only world communism would gain. The

GUARDING AGAINST SURPRISE ATTACK from across top of world, this early warning station in Alaska is part of defense line stretching across Arctic area. (International)

SPANNING ANY LOVE, YOU KNOW TO BE DIRECTED TO DIE BY A WERE BLOW ON THE HEAD FROM YOU! — BUT THAT'S

Arctic Radar Site On 'Dewline' Told Of

By ELTON C. FAY
AP Military Reporter
AT AN ARCTIC RADAR SITE
—Ninety tons of airplane and cargo ease down to the ice runway of a lake, 1,000 miles from civilization.

Another load of freight is delivered in the race to build the Distant Early Warning Line, called the "Dewline."

By military and commercial aircraft, by ship, by tractor-drawn sled train, close to 200,000 tons of material has been toted in the last year to build the warning line along the 3,000 miles to the top of the American continent.

When Dewline is ready, perhaps as much as two years from now, it may provide a plane-proof electronic sentry system standing watch for air invaders.

The eastern end of Dewline will be on Baffin Island, across from Greenland.

The western end is at Cape Lisburne, Alaska, about 200 miles southwest of Point Barrow. The cape is only 200 miles from an eastern tip of Siberia, only 100 miles from the international boundary which extends out into the Arctic Ocean from Bering Strait.

Newsmen who traveled the 3,000 mile stretch of Dewline asked if it would be possible for an aggressor to jam the system with electronic equipment.

Maj. Gen. James F. Briggs, a deputy chief of staff of the U. S. Air Force which is building the line, says "there is no electronic emanation put out in space which can't be jammed." He says everything possible is being done to prevent jamming.

There were those who wondered if Dewline, equipped now to detect manned planes, such as jet bombers, could cope with ballistic missiles fired over the polar area. Briggs' reply was that "when ballistic missiles become an immediate threat, we'll have to design to meet them."

The C124 Globemasters are cargo carriers of the whole fantastic transportation system. Globemasters of the 18th Air Force, assigned the job of hauling heavy equipment, have accumulated thousands of flying hours shuttling between the United States and Dewline.

The arctic cold is both a hindrance and help. It imposes almost intolerable pressures on crews who must maintain and operate aircraft. But it also congeals lake surfaces to ice more than five feet thick and blankets barrens with snow which can be compacted into airstrips.

Burma Road and the Great Wall of China were comparatively easy to build. The materials were at hand. The builders of Dewline must bring a vast variety of equipment from points thousands of miles distant.

What the Western Electric Co. and its subcontractors need for this Dewline job is enormous in quantity and variety — huge bulldozers, tons of steel and cement, prefabricated buildings, wire and cable by the hundreds of miles, food to feed thousands of hungry workmen.

The transportation item will figure heavily in whatever Dewline finally costs — perhaps a billion dollars or more. The greater percentage of the winter shipment now moves by contract commercial aircraft.

In the commercial airlift have been 81 U. S. and Canadian planes. Day and night, they come winging in from the south, leave their loads, head back home for more. Aircraft wrecks add to the transportation cost. The commercial carriers have lost 18 planes and two lives.

Maj. Gen. Chester McCarty, commander of the 28th Air Force, reports that of the 106 aircraft his outfit has used in the air, three have been in accidents. One was minor; another crash landed but many of its parts were salvageable; the third was a total loss. No lives were lost.

What Critics Like, Not What Public Likes

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—On Broadway you pay $6 to learn whether you think a drama critic's judgment of a play is sound. On television you merely have to twist a dial. In the theater, critics hold the power of life or death over a play. But what has been most popular with the public in television this season, according to the audience rating systems, has not always been most popular with the critics.

CBS-TV programming plans for next season, which were leaked recently, indicate that if a line were to be drawn between public popularity and critical popularity the network is on the side of the public.

About a dozen new filmed half-hour weekly series are planned, slotted or in the making at CBS. They run the immemorial gamut of filmed half-hour weekly series — with some off-beat themes thrown in: crime, comedy, adventure and so forth. There always will be room for such pleasant events as "I Love Lucy" and the Phil Silvers Show. But by the time CBS finishes placing all its half-hour shows, basically stereotypes of other half-hour shows, is there going to be room for much else? It may seem unfair to pre-judge.

But pre-judgment is necessary to a heavily committed policy from which there can be no withdrawal. CBS seems certain of financial success. It is increasingly apparent that sponsors like film; they feel they can control its direction without hassling with writers and directors as often happens on live dramatic shows.

In its policy, obviously based on close analysis of its current success among "the top ten," CBS seems to be saying that the public wants to be amused and can be easily amused. But to this critic the situations, emotions and ideas of the weekly half-hour filmed show are becoming increasingly limited. A TV viewing public with rapidly maturing tastes will yawn at the stereotyped half-hour show in time.

True, CBS has announced "Playhouse 90" for next season. A weekly 90-minute dramatic series, it holds promise. It still will have "Omni-bus," the most consistently intelligent regular program on the air. It still will have Ed Murrow, with the outside hope he'll be given more time. True, it will have some good live dramas, such as it has had on "Ford Star Jubilee" and other regular dramatic shows

BOOK QUIZ SUCCESS was evident this week as the American Association of University Women thanked all students, teachers, committee members, KSVP radio and the many friends who helped with the 12 programs in which 83 students took part. Left to right are Mrs. J. A. Frost, chairman; Miss Lois Nethery, quizmistress; and Mrs. Harold Kersey, co-chairman. Others who helped on the committees were Miss Helen F. Johnson, publicity; Miss Catherine Cummings and Mrs. B. R. Gorman, book selection; Mrs. Lillian Bigler, Mrs. Dave Button, Mrs. H. I. Magatagan and Mrs. V. P. Artesians Win Bridge Titles

Two Artesia students at New Mexico A&M have won college North-South titles in the state bridge tournament. Jerry Simmons, sophomore agricultural education major from Artesia, and Donald Sperry, sophomore chemical engineering major from Artesia, won the college North-South title, but failed to place in the regional contest.

This year, But what else will it have in the way of creative television programming? The basic concept of good television is that it's essentially a live medium. Live means living, growing, inquisitive, experimental, adaptive and eager for change. Let's hope that CBS has not finished announcing its plans for next year.

Parish Named To The Hereford Breeders Ass'n.

Fern Parish, Artesia, has been named to membership in the American Hereford Association, the world's largest purebred registry organization, with headquarters in Kansas City, Mo. One hundred-one Hereford breeders were placed on the Association's official roster during March. The Hereford Association during the last fiscal year recorded $22,639 purebred calves. The year's total recordings were the third highest on record, and more than twice the combined registrations of other major beef breeds.

BROWNFIELD, Tex. (AP)—The Santa Fe Railroad gave the City of Brownfield a water tank, no longer needed in the new age of diesel.
- There was one condition to the gift—the city was to remove the cement-anchored tank. A city crew laboriously dug out the cement but was baffled by the task of easing the big tank over on its side so that it could be dragged away. That's when a Texas norther blew up, and tossed the tank on its side just where the crew wanted it. It saved the city $150.

Diet Yankees Take Pennant

JOE REICHLER
 WORK (AP)—The New York Yankees, who defeated Cleveland in the American League pennant race last year, should have the American League pennant in 1956 but not without a terrific struggle—this year the greatly improved Yankees could cause a battle with the Cleveland Indians and Chicago White Sox. The Tigers could cause a season outlook calls for a race gradually narrowing New York and Boston. The Yankees' depth in pitching, bench strength, maneuverability and the presence of Mantle and Yogi Berra should be able to offset Sox' youth and speed. The pitching and the speed of Ted Williams, Hank Aaron and White Sox, the Yankees are expected to be the arrival of Larry Doby and slug it out for third place. The Tigers have a chance to throw a scare into the Yankees but not quite enough to shake them from the lead. The Yankees will be the favorite to win the pennant. The writer selects the order of finish as follows: New York Yankees, Cleveland Indians, Chicago White Sox, Detroit Tigers, Boston Red Sox.

The Horned Frogs Lead SW Conference Baseball Race

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
 Texas Christian's Horned Frogs lead the Southwest Conference baseball race toward the halfway mark boasting a margin of one game. They could lose that week as the league plays six conference games with the Frogs battling Texas at Austin in two of them.

TCU won two games out of three last week to cling to the top rung. The Frogs started out by taking a 5-4 licking from Southern Methodist but they rallied to whip Texas A&M, the 1955 champion, in a two-game series. The Frogs won the first game 5-1 and the second 2-0. The twin defeat did not tumble A&M out of the race but it seriously dented the Aggie hopes.

Southern Methodist had the biggest week of any of them. The Methodists, who lost their first two conference games, came back for the decision over TC and beat Texas twice. The Methodists won the first game 15-10 and the second 3-2.

Baylor, nosed Texas 5-4 but was held to a split with Rice. After the Bears had walloped the Owls 7-2 in the first game, Rice came back for a 5-1 decision in the second.

Rice takes on Sam Houston State at Houston in a nonconference game Monday. Wednesday Southern Methodist plays Dallas of the Texas League while Rice takes on Texas Lutheran at Seagraves.

Friday and Saturday Baylor meets Texas A&M at College Station. Texas Christian plays Texas at Austin and Southern Methodist engages Rice at Houston.

Alex Kellner Essential Cog In 'Athletics'

By ED CORRIGAN
 The Associated Press
 Alex Kellner, a big 31-year-old lefthander certainly never will go down in the record books as a great pitcher, but he's an essential cog in the plans of the Kansas City Athletics.

Last year, Kellner was the most effective hurler on the A's staff with an 11-8 record, and manager Lou Boudreau was hoping he might regain some of the touch that enabled him to win 20 games back in 1949 when the club was in Philadelphia.

A good year from Kellner with an assist from the comebacking Bobby Shantz, and the A's possibly could move to the top of the second division in the American League.

Until yesterday, Kellner had been singularly unimpressive, losing two exhibition games and giving up 12 runs in 20 innings. Even the New York Yankees in their heyday needed better pitching than that to win.

But yesterday Kellner tossed seven scoreless innings in the A's 4-0 triumph over Pittsburgh in San Antonio. He gave up only three hits and enabled the A's to break a five-game losing streak.

Arnold Portocarrero handled the final two innings and faced only six batters. He too had been totally ineffective in previous appearances.

The second evening of the exhibition season marred the New York Giants' 10-3 victory over the Cleveland Indians in Dallas. Ray Katt, New York catcher was hit on the head by Art Houtteman in the seventh inning. X-rays at Baylor Hospital were negative, but Katt was held there overnight.

The big fireworks of the Sunday schedule were provided by the Baltimore Orioles, one of the weakest hitting teams in the American League. The Orioles found the range for 24 hits against Chicago in Corpus Christi and went on to batter the Cubs, 9-6.

Dave Philley, Bob Nelson and Tito Francona all hit homers for the winners and righthander Ray Moore yielded only four hits in the first seven innings.

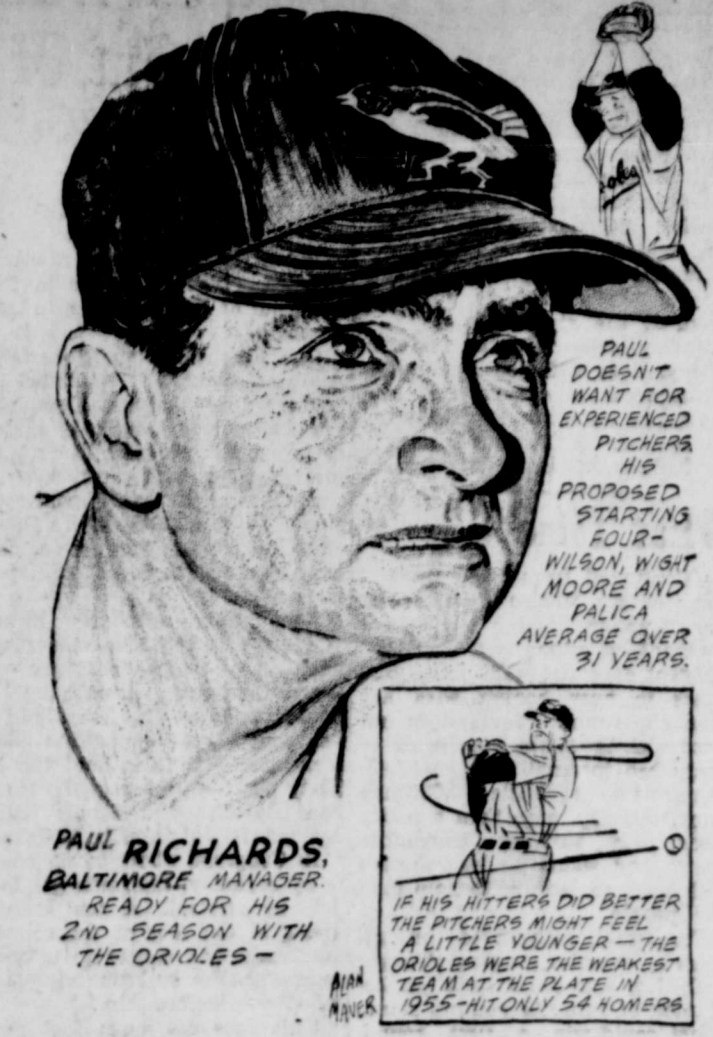

The world champion Brooklyn Dodgers upended the Milwaukee Braves, 12-2, in Nashville; the Yankees edged the Phillies, 4-2, in New Orleans; the St. Louis Cardinals outslugged the Chicago White Sox, 8-6, in Memphis and the Cincinnati Redlegs halted the Washington Senators, 9-6, in Charlotte.

Gil Hodges returned to the Brooklyn lineup after an absence of a week because of a pulled muscle and celebrated with a home run—one of the 17 safeties the Brooks collected against the Braves. Junior Gilliam led with four hits.

The Yanks' Bob Turley held off the Phillies for seven innings, but weakened in the eighth. Tom Morgan had to rescue him. Morgan, himself, needed a fine catch by centerfielder Tony Kubek of Jim Greengrass' liner to get out of it.

In major-league games, the Boston Red Sox cut down Birmingham of the Southern Association, 6-3, in Birmingham, and

Dallas Eagles Need Help To Match Their 1956 Record

By JERE R. HAYES
 Sports Director
 Dallas Times Herald
 Written for The Associated Press
 DALLAS (AP)—The Dallas Eagles, defending full-season champions of the Texas League, need help if they are to match their 1956 record. They are considered as strong for opening day as last season except in catching. They need another infielder.

As the only Class AA club with a working agreement with the New York Giants, Dallas has first shot at the athletes turned back by Class AAA Minneapolis and may get help direct from the big club, as it did last year.

Replacing such starts as catcher Ray Murray, first baseman Bill White and pitchers Red Murff and Pete Burnside, all graduated to higher company, isn't simple.

Manager Red Davis has high hopes of getting Murray back from the Giants. Carl Hubbell, farm director, has made no promise, but he has indicated there is better than a 50-50 chance. The catching now is handled by Rob Schmidt, who hit .265 with Danville last year, and Ray Dabek, who hit .220 for Minneapolis.

The infield offers Hal Holland, recently acquired from Memphis, and Mickey Sullivan, the former Baylor star who was farmed out last season, at first; Alex Cosmidis and Frank Murray, holdovers at second; Jim Davenport, a most promising rookie from El Dorado, at third, and Ken Rodgers, rangy youngster from St. Cloud, at short. Rodgers could be the sensation of the Texas League. Standing 6-3, he is agile as a cat and has a good eye and good power at bat. Either Murray or Cosmidis will protect the keystone

Jack Burke Wins Masters Tourney

By MERCER BAILEY
 AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—A friendly puff of wind blew Jack Burke Jr. right into the 1956 Masters golf championship.

Burke breezed in to claim the crown after amateur Ken Venturi and "old pro" Cary Middlecoff blew up and out of the championship picture in one of the wildest finishes in Masters history.

The small, 33-year-old Texan came from eight strokes back to capture his first major championship yesterday with a one-over-par 71 for a 289 total. Venturi, the amateur stylist who had kept the pros playing second fiddle all the way, scored to an 80 and 290. Middlecoff, the lean, cagey veteran who won last year, took a 77 and 291.

Once again the formidable Augusta National course, with its 6,965 yards of wooded fairways and gigantic greens, kept alive two traditional Masters jinxes: (1) no amateur has ever won it and (2) no winner has ever been able to repeat the next year.

It was a heartbreaking loss for Venturi, the 24-year-old auto salesman who captured the golfing world's fancy. It was tough on Middlecoff to look back on the chances he missed.

But Burke's victory was a poplar one, for he is one of the best liked golfers in the game.

Sam Snead, three-time winner of the masters, and Lloyd Mangrum, who usually finishes high among the leaders here, tied for fourth at 292. Snead matched Burke's 71. Mangrum shot a 72.

Next came Dug Ford and Jerry Barber at 294, then Ben Hogan

Coach Denies "Bad Calls" Deliberate

The Bulldog baseball team goes to Lovington tomorrow for an unscheduled game. Two weeks ago the "Dogs" badly trounced experienced Lovington in the first game in which the school had ever fielded a team.

Coach Jack Barron, referring to last Saturday's defeat at the hands of Portales, took exception to a statement made that he "intimated" the Bulldogs might have had some bad calls deliberately made against them.

The coach said that he did not intend to imply that the calls were "deliberate." But he did say that he felt they were not right.

The coach will pitch sophomores Jim Madrid and Jerry Russell against Lovington tomorrow to give them the experience, but he will field his best players, otherwise, he said.

Shelley Mayfield and Tommy Bolt at 296. Mayfield shot a closing 74, Hogan and Barber 75, Bolt 76 and Ford 77.

Par for the Augusta National is 36-36-72.

The tournament was won—and lost—on the 71st hole, and the wind which buffeted this storied course most of the final three rounds played a major role.

After 16 holes of the final round, Venturi and Middlecoff were tied at one over par for the distance. Burke was a stroke back. Middlecoff was short at 17 and chipped up. A puff of wind blew his first putt off line and he took two more to get down. That gave him a double-bogey six—his third of the round—and put him three over par.

A few minutes later Burke got on in two, 15 feet from the cup. "I hit my putt and about a foot from the hole it almost died," he related. "Then the wind got behind it and took it on in."

Aggies Have Amazing Record Last Season

The amazing New Mexico Aggies basketball team, one of the smallest teams in the nation, averaging less than six feet in height, finished third in the nation on defense with an average of 59 points per game yielded to their foes this season, according to NCAA statistics. The Aggies topped the Border Conference in this department.

Jim Loomis, All-Border Conference center, placed 29 in the nation on rebounds. Another Aggie, Harry Guthmiller, was named to the second All-Border Conference team.

The Aggies finished the season with a 16-7 record, best overall showing by any BC team. They tied for second place in conference play.

Only Glimmer Of Hope Left For Red Wings

DETROIT (AP)—A gifted, long-armed giant was in the right place at the right time on two occasions and whisked away all but the faintest glimmer of hope that the Detroit Red Wings would repeat again as Stanley Cup hockey champions.

The Wings geared their defense to halt rangy Jean Beliveau, but the 24-year-old wizard from Three Rivers, Que., came through with two goals last night to all but wrap up the Montreal Canadiens' first Stanley Cup since 1953.

Beliveau scored in the first and second periods and the Red Wings never recovered, as the Canadiens went on to wrap it up 3-0 with a final period goal. Montreal leads 3-1 in the best-of-seven series.

A standing room crowd of 15,140 which jammed into Detroit's Olympia expecting another free-for-all were not disappointed. The two teams were still swinging minutes after the final buzzer.

Amid all the furor and confusion, it was big Beliveau who made the Canadiens the top-heavy choice to end it all in Tuesday's fracas in Montreal.

The big guy just wouldn't be stopped. After 15 minutes of play, the clubs were all even. Then while each was one man short, there was a wild scramble for a loose puck in front of the Detroit goal. Beliveau found it and cracked it past goalie Glenn Hall.

Montreal kept the pressure on the Wings through the second period. Finally Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion got a long shot that bounced off Hall. Beliveau was Johnny-on-the-spot, grabbing it on the rebound and driving a close-range backhand past the Detroit goalie.

The issue was already decided when Floyd Curry dumped in the third goal at 11:34 of the final period.

Detroit tried desperately to erase the 2-0 deficit, but nothing went right for the Wings.

Middleweight Calhoun Favored For La Bua

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
 (Rory) Calhoun, underdog 21-year-old middleweight, is favored to run his streak to an even 20 to win the La Bua title. Calhoun, who has won the title at the expense of more experienced Jackie LaBua at New Orleans, La., last night at the St. Nicholas Arena DuPont, N. Y., for the 23rd time, is favored to win the title. Calhoun has won 10 knockouts to his 10 opponents in compiling his record.

Girl Toreador Receives Ear

JUAREZ (AP)—Bounced around by her first bull and almost gored by her second, Bette Ford, U. S. girl who gave up modeling for bullfighting, put on an exhibition of courage yesterday before more than 4,000 fans in the Juarez bullring across the border from El Paso.

The judges, apparently taking into consideration the brisk wind which made passing the bull almost impossible, awarded the trim brunette an ear for her second encounter. Fans responded with a standing ovation.

Bette was knocked down twice by the first animal but rolled to safety both times.

College Rodeo Scheduled At New Mexico A&M

The Aggie Rodeo Association at New Mexico A&M College will hold an intercollegiate rodeo, April 20, 21, 22 at the Sheriff's Posse Arena, Las Cruces.

Entry blanks have been sent to Sul Ross State Teacher's College, Alpine, Tex.; Texas Tech, Lubbock, Tex.; San Angelo Junior College, San Angelo, Tex.; Abilene Christian College, Abilene, Tex.; University of Arizona, Tucson, Ariz.; Eastern New Mexico University, Portales, N. Sluggish Watched

CHARLOTTE, N. C. (AP)—Manager Birdie Tebbetts of the Cincinnati Redlegs is keeping a sharp watch on the condition of slugger Ted Kluszewski.

Kluszewski is working back into shape after being sidelined most of spring practice with a painful hip muscle injury.

Tebbetts decided to keep the big first sacker on the bench in yesterday's game with the Washington Senators. "Just allowing him to sit one out," the manager said.

Kluszewski, in pre-game batting practice yesterday, hit one over the right field fence and said with a smile, "No strain or pain developed."

Flowers To Front

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP)—Flaming Ben Flowers has promised himself to the front in a race with Larry Jackson for the 5 spot on the St. Louis Cardinals' pitching staff.

Flowers shut out the Chicago White Sox the last six innings, allowing only five hits, as the Red Sox rallied to win yesterday at Memphis, Tenn., 8-6. Jackson, in first bad showing of the spring, upped the six-run deficit.

Manager Fred Hutchinson indicated that unless Willard Schmidt returns to form, the 6-4 Flowers should shoulder his way into the four.

Mr. Biery plays a full-sized Hammond Organ and his experience in entertaining encompasses every type of audience including appearances before troops overseas. In addition to playing favorite tunes, familiar classics and modern music, he also takes a few minutes to explain the workings and operation of the organ itself. He demonstrates the versatility of the organ through the various sound effects and tonal qualities that this instrument is capable of producing. The Hammond Organ is able to produce some 67,000 different tones, and while Biery will not begin to show them all, he does give a comprehensive idea of what can be done. There will be a charge of 15c for high school students and 10c for the elementary grades.

Fishing Poser to Tackle

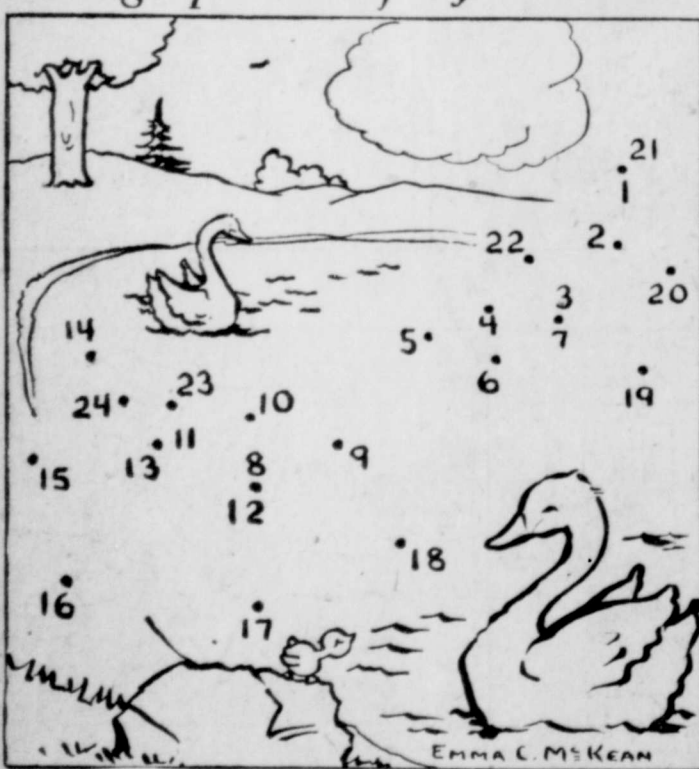

FIVE MEN are fishing from the shore of the lake above and each man has caught a fish. Of course, each man is interested in getting his fish to shore without getting tangled in somebody else's line.

Can you see that all five fish are pulled in by drawing a line from each fish to the correspondingly numbered angler fishing on the shore? Lines must not cross at any point.

Dotograph Poser for Jr. Readers

A FAMILIAR sight at a lake beside one dot as in the case of front is outlined by dots and numbers in the drawing above. How quickly can you discover what it is? To find out, of course, you must draw a continuous line from dot 1 to dot 24, consecutively. Where two numbers are

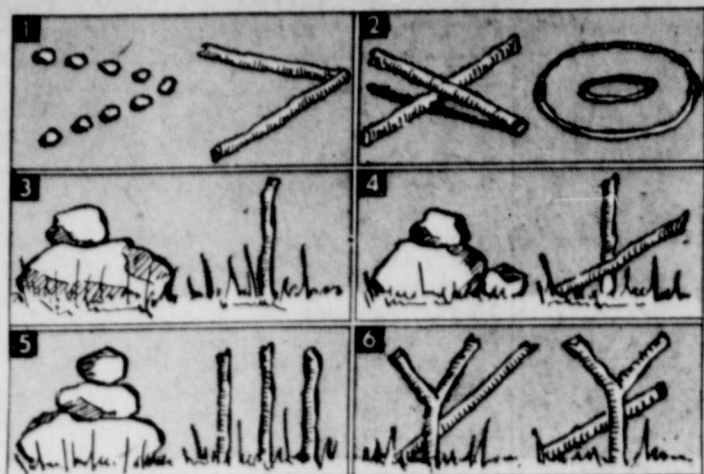

STICKS AND STONES

SCOUTS and Indians didn't have walkie-talkies, but they did have a means of communication with comrades to help them follow the right path, warn of dangers, indicate distance, etc. This was a system of trail signs. Many of which are still in use.

Some of these signal and trail markers are illustrated at right. They can be used for an amusing game of hide and seek.

Those who are chosen to blaze the trail should be given a head start of at least ten minutes. They are to carry three or four red handkerchiefs or other objects which are to be deposited at different places along the trail and picked up by the "seeking" group which follows. The trail blazers indicate the route, of course, using the trail signs.

1. Pebbles or sticks point the way. 2. Stop. 3. This is the trail. 4. Right turn here. 5. Danger-help! 6. Left: a short trip. Right: a long trip.

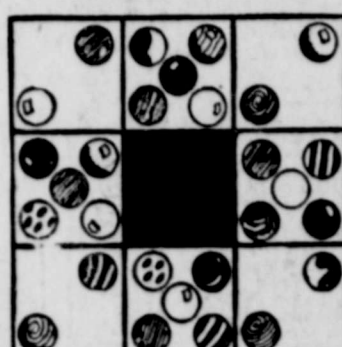

It's a Problem of Put and Take

IT'S marble time in warmer climates—still a popular pastime despite asphalt and concrete roads. You may be interested in turning the following problem into a puzzle-game for friends.

In a display counter at his store, Mr. Jones had a box of agates looking like those in the diagram at right. You will note that the number of agates in the compartments on each of the four sides totals nine.

Mr. Jones sold four of the agates to a boy, yet was able to rearrange the remaining agates in the compartments so that those on each side still totaled nine. How did he do it?

Furthermore, four more agates can be removed and still leave nine on each side! Can you figure this out also?

Hurrying Home With Goldilocks

GOLDBLOCKS left the house of the three bears in a hurry, but how long did it take her to get home? To find out, time yourself as you start from the small arrow at the top of the maze and proceed to Goldilocks' present location at bottom left. See if you can find the correct route first try. Do not cross over any of the lines on the way.

RIDDLE ME THIS: What can you find about the house that has four legs but only one foot?

Answer: A bedstead.

What's Wrong Here?

THE artist has deliberately made at least 15 mistakes in the drawing at right so that you might test your skill in finding them.

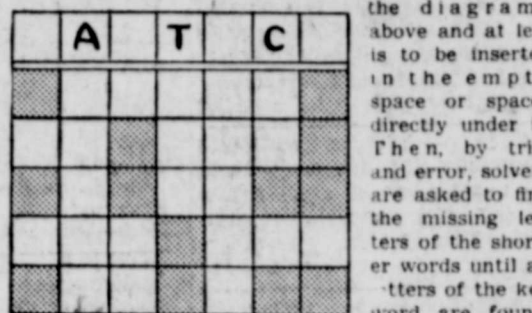

Time yourself as you do, then let someone else try.

After you have taken this test, cover the drawing with a sheet of paper and see how many of the errors you can remember. It probably won't be as many as you think.

Fun With Thought Blox

THOSE who exasperate easily may have difficulty with Thought Blox. In these tests you may find yourself ever so close to the answer, but still some distance away. The object is to find the missing letters to restore the skeletonized key words. This is achieved as follows: Each of the letters given in the diagram above and at left is to be inserted in the empty space or spaces directly under it. Then, by trial and error, solvers are asked to find the missing letters of the shorter words until all letters of the key word are found.

Remember, all vertical rows contain the same letter, respectively.

Two possible answers are given below.

Answers: The words without and with meet the requirements.

Give Your Tongue a Twisting

REPEAT the following aloud as rapidly as you can without tripping over your tongue:

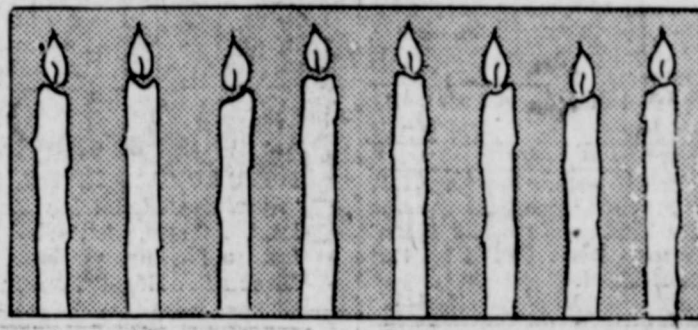

Pickwick's pink-panelled pickup popped.
A three-toed tree toad too tired to tweet.
Three tired toads thrust ten tin thimbles.
Shillmar's soft silk shirt shrank.

A bit of butter bakes a batter better.

Eyes Right?

WHICH two candies in the drawing at right most nearly resemble each other?

This is not an easy test, even for those with good eyes.

You'll have to study the picture closely and take into consideration a number of factors involved.

The answer is given below, but don't peek until you have taken a guess.

Remember, the question is not which two are exactly alike, but which two bear the closest resemblance?

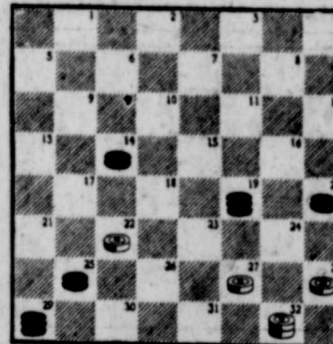

It Takes Steady Hands

ARE your hands steadier than your friend's? Put them to a test.

Collect a batch of matches. Any kind, even those torn from the paper books will do. There should be at least 50. Hold the batch compactly in one hand about a foot above a table and let them drop.

Those joining in the test take turns removing matches from the pile one at a time. Any matches may be chosen and any means may be used for removing them from the pile. However, causing the movement of any match except the one being removed from the pile brings disqualification of the offending player. Others proceed until all except one player has been eliminated. He's the champ.

Senators Hot Over Dulles' Reticency

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles, who has been accused of reticency, should spray the Capitol. Some of the senators are burning.

They're hot because Dulles' aides and other government officials have refused to give answers to Senate investigations subpoenaed in answer to these two questions: on trade between American and the Communists:

1. What items have been agreed to by this country as right for its allies to sell to the Reds, and (2) who in the government took part in the recommendations leading to this agreement.

The questions have roots in past.

During the Korean War, the lies had a tight embargo on the with the Reds because they most anything shipped there strategic value — that is, their war potential — by filling need, relieving pressure.

But by August 1954, the had an itch for trade. This try met with them in Paris was agreed many items formerly considered strategic could be en off the embargo list and the Reds. Restrictions on trade with Red China have been tighter.

Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.), committee chairman, said agreements went to the "very structure of peace and security by making it possible for the to get goods which still should be treated as strategic.

His subcommittee called the desecretary of State Herbert Hoover Jr., Secretary of the Airport merce Weeks, Foreign Aid for John B. Hollister and Stassen, President Eisenhower's assistant on disarmament.

In brief, these officials decided none of Congress' business in the executive branch made a difference on the foreign operations. This is the secretor protest against Congress into the executive branch of the ternal operations.

The senators were told to fly to Cairo could see secretly — but not with Egyptian public — the list of goods Dulles off the strategic list at Paris confer in Why secretly? The list and again given: U. S. allies — in Cairo visit, because of conflicting policies of factions in their own countries. Israel and some of them Communist-held Gaza Strip want disclosed their agreement on what can and can't be seen on the scene.

Israel said r investigator, testified that he was refused details by the government on items taken the embargo list he was also get some information from bates in Britain's Parliament.

Eisenhower himself has said Paris agreements were necessary to bolster allied economies — finding a Russian market for the goods — and thus cut down on foreign aid expenses.

This year he asked Congress to vote almost five billion dollars aid for American friends and allies.

McClellan, sore at the administration's stone wall, asked Senate not to act on Eisenhower foreign aid request until the committee got some answers foreign trade.

He said he is convinced the administration's "policy of secrecy is designed for hiding errors, inefficiency, and the bad judgment of government officials."
