A Letter to the Soldier Boys

It has been rather quiet around Hope the past week but here are a few items that we have rounded up. R. H. Westaway, tax assessor and Judge Hardin from Carlsbad were in Hope last week Thursday—Lockey Trigg is in hospital at Roswell where she is improving from quite a serious sick spell Alta Musgrave returned here Sunday after spending last week with her mother who is recovering from an operation in the Roswell hospital—Charlie and Rush Coates, Henry Coffin, Ezra Teel and Buzz Essex went fishing near Lakewood Saturday. They returned Sunday with a few—Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Meador and children from Carlsbad were here Sunday visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Buckner—Pete Blakeney is in from the Prude ranch walking around on crutches because of an attack of rheumatism—Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Atteberry and son of Artesia were visiting here Sunday—Mrs. La Vern Schwabe was here from Carlsbad over the week end visiting Mr. and Mrs. Chester Schwabe—S. Sgt. and Mrs. Max Johnson from Douglas, Ariz., are here on a ten day furlough—Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Shafer have moved to Grandpa Trotter's house Mr. Trotter is now living with Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Miller—Mrs. Buck Willburn and Mr. and Mrs. James Ray were in Artesia Monday—Jess Musgrave went to Roswell Sunday to visit his wife—Wallace Johnson has put a concrete floor in his milk house and has purchased an electric milking machine—Buzz Essex and family were in Artesia Monday—Walter Coates, who has been bedfast for several weeks, is now able to sit up—Mr. John Parker was being introduced to the school board members last week by Supt. Stinnett.

THE 4-F LEFT BEHIND

The man on the street of selective age
Or the driver along the line
Isn't the best in this land of ours
He's the 4-F left behind.
It may be he's crippled or maimed or deaf,
Or it could be he is blind,
But he isn't the kind that our country needs.
He's a 4-F left behind.
It might be his conscience, or it might be his past,
Or it may be lack in his mind.
But he isn't the type that Uncle Sam wants;
He's a 4-F left behind.
He may run the grocery, or he may run the bar
And sell the whiskies and wines,
But which ever it is, or however it is
He's a 4-F left behind.

School Faculty Members Resign

At the last school board meeting Mr. and Mrs. Stinnett and Mr. and Mrs. Riddle tendered their resignations which were accepted by a unanimous vote of the board members.

Mrs. Jess Musgrave returned home Thursday from the hospital in Roswell.

W. B. Durham has purchased the Mc Stevenson farm of 8 acres. In the deal Mr. Stevenson got the old Methodist parsonage.

...THOUGHTS...

"Know ye not, that to whom ye yield yourselves servants to obey, his servants ye are to whom ye obey; whether of sin unto death, or of obedience unto righteousness? But ye have obeyed from the heart that form of doctrine which was delivered you being then made free from sin, ye became the servants of righteousness." Rom. 6:16-18.

Paul in these verses reminds the Roman brethren how they were "made free from sin". It was by "obeying from the heart" the "form of doctrine" delivered them. Obedience, then, is necessary to salvation in spite of the popular belief to the contrary. Proving this same point John said, "He that doeth righteousness is righteous." 1 John 3:7.

AMERICAN AIR FORCE MEMORIAL IN SWITZERLAND—This bronze tablet has been erected at the base of the flagstaff on a plot of ground recently purchased by the War Department for the U. S. cemetery near Bern, Switzerland. Forty-five American airmen who fell or died in Switzerland now rest in the plot which has been developed and beautified by the voluntary efforts of 20 of their comrades who worked ceaselessly for three months to complete their task.

FOR HONORABLE MILITARY SERVICE

Provision for recognition of the honorably discharged veteran on the service flag displayed by his immediate family and affiliated organizations is announced by the War Department. The design of the lapel button for honorable service worn by the discharged soldier will be used as the symbol.

For each individual who has been honorably discharged from the Armed Forces, the design will be placed on the flag in lieu of the blue star. When two or more individuals are represented, the design of the discharged veteran will replace the star or stars nearest the fly end of the flag. Organizations may use one symbol and the number of members below it in Arabic numerals, as with the blue or gold stars.

The design will be gold in color, like its counterpart, the lapel button, for honorable service, and will consist of a dexter eagle displayed perched within a ring, the dexter wing of the eagle behind the ring, the sinister wing in front of the ring. To make the symbol stand out from the white background of the flag, the design will be edged in blue. The new provision is made by the Secretary of War, who is authorized by Public Law 750, 77th Congress, to approve the design of the service flag and lapel button for honorable service and to issue regulations concerning their use and display.

MARJORIE REYNOLDS told it on the "Duffy's Tavern" set at Paramount. Seems her husband, Capt. Jack Reynolds, who'd just returned from overseas, told her that the British children and the American soldiers stationed in England have developed a new bit of repartee. When the children trot alongside the men, asking "Got any gum, chum?" the reply is "Sure, mister, but for your sister." On the same set, a naval officer told Ed Gardiner that his "Duffy's Tavern" is one of the most popular radio shows on the Mosquito network, a broadcasting chain organized last January, that now extends to every base in the South Pacific.

William Bendix, starred in "The Life of Riley" on the Blue, has a fat part in the new Fred Allen picture, "It's in the Bag." He's cast as a meek racketeer who "inherited" the gang from his mother. Quite a change from his usual tough roles.

The confusion that comes from Hollywood's habit of changing picture titles caught up with seven-year-old Nona Griffith recently. A producer, who was interviewing her for a role in a picture, asked her how many pictures she'd worked in. "Three," said she; "Her Heart in Her Throat," "Fear," and "The Unseen." Nobody could expect her to realize that they were different names for the same film.

Wally Brown and Alan Carney have been so successful in RKO comedies that the studio is planning "way ahead for them. When they finish "Radio Stars on Parade" they'll go into "Master Minds," playing radio detectives who become real sleuths.

Margaret O'Brien and Butch Jenkins have just been portrayed by a sculptor in the clothes they wear in "Our Vines Have Tender Grapes." Butch's mother, who chalked up quite a record for herself as an actress — she's Doris Dudley — is awfully busy these days, not acting, but seeing to it that her young son keeps the delightfully natural behavior that has made him such a success on the screen.

Everybody's waiting for "The Bells of St. Mary's." With three academy award winners — Bing Crosby, Ingrid Bergman, and Director McCarey—working on it, it's got to be something special. McCarey has given Ruth Donnelly a role as a nun which he says is comparable to that of the priest played by Barry Fitzgerald in the highly successful "Going My Way."

Bing Crosby not only does his regular movie and radio chores, but also appears on radio programs such as "Mail Call" and "Command Performance," for the boys overseas, and makes pictures exclusively for the army and navy.

When you see RKO's "First Man into Tokyo," don't miss the opening if you want to hear the voice of Japan's Premier Kuniaki Koiso—or maybe you'd rather miss it. A transcript of his voice urging the Japs to sacrifice everything to repulse the enemy was used.

Radio's first big feud, "The Battle of the Crooners," was waged by Rudy Vallee and Will Osborne. Vallee's been on the air ever since, apart from his time out for Uncle Sam; Osborne, though a topflight band leader, hasn't been too familiar a figure in the radio scene in recent years. Now he's returned, joining the Abbott and Costello show that's heard on NBC Thursday nights.

This War Isn't So Mechanized— Animals Still Do Their Share

Sometimes the highly mechanized service of supply of the U. S. army finds it can do it better with animals. In Burma, for instance, Indian elephants, directed by native mahouts, handle large logs used in military construction. Here a big tusker pushes a log down the sloping bank to the river. The timbers are lashed together to form large rafts, which are floated down the Irrawaddy to Myitkyna. (Signal Corps Photo)

Wise Parent Should Watch Child's School Progress Carefully

As report card time nears, your child is excited, tense—wondering and perhaps worrying about what it will tell. How would you feel if you knew you, too, were going to be marked on that card?

If the teacher's opinion as to the kind of parent you are were recorded, would you rate an "A" or would you flunk?

Here are a few simple rules for happier parents, teachers and children, from Better Homes and Gardens magazine:

1. Uphold the teacher in whatever she does until you know absolutely that she is wrong. Investigate if necessary. Do not discuss the teacher's questionable actions in front of the children.

2. Occasionally a visit to school is a necessity, but don't barge in whenever the mood strikes you. Instead, send teacher a note or telephone her (not during school hours) to find out the best time to come.

If she expects you, she will be prepared and perhaps have sample papers of the child's work to show you, and you will both gain more from the conference.

3. If through your children, you learn of incidents going on in school that you feel should be curbed, contact the teacher. She may be ignorant of the situation, but willing and able to control it when informed.

4. Study your child's report card, particularly the comments by the teacher. The parent who is on the job attends the next P.-T. A. meeting or plans to see the teacher at school to discuss the situation. Combined home and school effort can usually bring Sally's wandering mind back to the job or convince Joe that getting along with others is a necessary part of living.

5. When Nancy comes home with a tall tale, listen to her, but don't fly into action before you know the whole story. Any teacher is glad to explain the incident if you don't go to school with a chip on your shoulder.

Remember, children tend to embroider events, but when faced directly with gross elaboration are likely to grin sheepishly and admit their wrong. That puts you in a very silly position if you have ranted and raved. Better go easy.

6. When there is a school visiting day, be there, and go looking like a million dollars so your child will be proud to say, "That's my Dad and Mom." It boosts his value in the eyes of his classmates no end. Visiting days do serve a good purpose in that you see your child in relation to others. You see the children with whom he spends many hours a day and the environment in which he lives during those hours. You will learn some of the newer teaching methods and you'll be able to size up the teacher fairly well, allowing for her nervousness in being watched by a circle of critical parents.

Your child's teacher needs your help but not your interference. She wants to be his friend and yours and to see him progress according to his ability. You may be sure she will do all in her power to further that progress. Help her!

LOOK SWEETER IN YOUR SWEATERS

Which side is winning in the siege of the sweaters? Will the Sloppy Joes stay in or will the fitted party take over? They're voting on it in high schools, just as they went to the polls for Frank or Bing last year—and they're getting nowhere in a hurry, just as they did in the battle of the baritones. We're sticking our neck out, but we predict a landslide for the fitted party this spring. Here are some of the teen tricks that will make you look sweeter in your sweaters, whether they're streamlined or teened.

Three-Letter Gals—No, you don't have to win them—you just embroider your monogram on your sweaters, if you want to look as smooth as a college junior. Over the left hip, on the left sleeve or right under the neckline at center front are strategic spots for this identification. For dating, embroider your initials in shiny colored sequins. You'll be a dazzling doll!

Down With Your Sleeves—Only an ickie and a cold cut pushes up sweater sleeves anymore. You wear them down and sometimes you hold them in place with wide cuff bracelets.

Genteel Jewelry—Where are the powder puff faces and the macaroni necklaces of yesteryear? Remember how you used to clutter up your sweaters with stuff and nonsense? Now you wear a set of small silver animal pins or just some service insignia pins (if you're lucky); armfuls of silver bracelets and a short strand of pearls. The one popular exception to the wave of conservatism is a fur lapel pin, such as that posy-smelling skunk, a jeweled-eyed horse or a floppy-eared dog with roly-poly eyes.

GOOD TASTE

How's for more of our thrilling filling ideas for party sandwiches? Whether you're giving a harpy bundle or an honest-to-goodness boy and girl rat race, these are the slabs they'll drool over and remember.

Tropical Tempters—That's our name for cream cheese sandwiches sprinkled with grated coconut. Bet you never thought of that droolsome combination.

Funny Faces—Girls like dainty open-faced sandwiches, especially if you decorate them with edible features. Use olive slices for eyes, pimiento for nose and red pepper strips for mouth.

Peanut Butter Plus—There's no end to the combinations you can dream up with peanut butter as a base. Try sprinkling raisins in peanut butter sandwiches. Try spreading bottled marshmallow goo over peanut butter. Try blending mayonnaise with peanut butter. We hear that strong men melt after one taste.

TRIXIE TEEN SAYS—

Get your face out of that movie magazine, Chick, and bury it in some nice, fresh newspaper headlines for a change. How are you going to feel when your T. D. & H. comes back from his fighting stint and you don't know Saipan from Singapore or Pearl Harbor from Paris? He'll expect you to know something about this war he's won for you, so start headline hunting now. Keep a scrap book of newspaper clippings to remind you of the big events leading up to V day; follow our boys on a map right into Berlin. There's history being made all around you—and you don't want to flunk out when the boys come home.

Minuta Make-Ups

Big jars of cream save time and money. Beating up your face creams to a froth makes them "lighter" and last longer. A tablespoonful of cooking oil, beaten into half a pound of cream, gives it a real "beauty texture."

It Looks Like Another Homer!

Once again American farmers are expected to "knock one over the fence" as they struggle to meet crop goals for 1945. The War Food administration is asking for a 9,000,000-acre increase in planting this year, for a total of 363,635,000 acres.

Biggest increase over last year will be in flaxseed, up 64 per cent. Then comes sugar beets—a 49 per cent jump is being asked by WFA. Cover crop seed production must be boosted 42 per cent to supply urgent demands, particularly in the South.

Farmers should go ahead with their plantings, confident that a fair return will be paid, WFA officials advise. Adequate protection for maintaining prices has been provided by law, should any unforeseen decline develop in the markets.

Partners Couldn't Tolerate Each Other, Yet Succeeded

One of the strangest partnerships was that of Gilbert and Sullivan who, between 1871 and 1896, collaborated as librettist and composer respectively in producing 14 of the most popular and profitable operas in musical history. Owing to their low regard and intense dislike for each other, these men rarely met, preferring to "work together" through the mail.

Three times, in fits of anger, they broke off their partnership and tried collaborating with new associates, only to find that neither could produce a successful work without the other.

HOUSEHOLD MEMOS... by Lynn Chambers

Homemade Breads Stimulate Appetites
(See Recipes Below)

Let's Bake Breads

If you want to fill your home with delectable aroma, there's nothing like freshly baked breads with which to do it. Saturday baking is something which the present generation knows little or nothing about, because it's so easy to buy good bread.

Breads should be light and tender, tender crusted and flavor-packed. Hard to do? No, easy if you follow instructions. Many are the cooks who have baked perfect bread the first time they've tried.

Kneading is important, but this is not difficult. This is done by pushing the heel part of the palm down into the dough and folding over, then repeating the process over and over again. Once you establish the routine, there's a kind of fascinating rhythm to it. The dough should be kneaded until satiny and smooth.

Don't try to hurry up the rising process. It takes just so long, and good bread can't be hurried along. The temperature should be fairly warm, around 80 to 85 degrees Fahrenheit for bread raising.

If you want to avoid the dark streaks in bread, add all the flour at the time of mixing. If added later, flour gives a coarse texture and makes unattractive streaks in the bread.

Enriched Bread.
(Makes 4 1-pound loaves)

- 2 cups milk
- 1/4 cup light corn syrup or honey
- 4 teaspoons salt
- 2 tablespoons shortening
- 2 cups water
- 1 cake yeast
- 1/4 cup water (lukewarm)
- 12 cups sifted enriched flour

Scald milk. Add syrup, salt, shortening or water. Cool to lukewarm. Add yeast which has been softened in 1/4 cup lukewarm water. Add flour gradually, mixing it thoroughly. When dough is stiff, place on lightly floured board and knead until satiny and smooth. Shape into smooth ball. Place in greased bowl. Cover and let rise in a warm place until doubled in bulk. Punch down. Let rise again. When light, divide into 4 equal portions. Round up each portion into a smooth ball. Cover and let rise 10 to 15 minutes. Mold into loaves. Place into greased pans and let rise until doubled in bulk.

Lynn Says:

Sweet Toppings: The foundation recipe for rolls may be varied many times to give variety to rolls and coffee cakes. Here are several good topping suggestions:

Mix 1/2 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons grated orange peel and 2 tablespoons orange juice on top of coffee cake during the last 10 minutes of baking.

Or, cream together 2 tablespoons of butter with 4 tablespoons brown sugar, 1/4 cup nuts, chopped, and 1/2 cup coconut. Spread on coffee cake just a few minutes before it finishes baking and brown under broiler.

*Recipe Given

Bake in a moderately hot oven (400 to 425 degrees) 40 to 45 minutes.

Foundation Sweet Dough.

- 2 cakes yeast
- 1/4 cup lukewarm water
- 1 cup milk
- 1/4 cup butter or substitute
- 1/4 cup sugar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2 eggs
- 5 cups enriched flour

Soften yeast in lukewarm water. Scald milk. Add butter, sugar, syrup and salt. Cool to lukewarm. Add 2 cups flour and beat well. Add softened yeast. Beat eggs and add. Mix thoroughly. Add remaining flour to make a soft dough.

Turn out on lightly floured board and knead until satiny. Place in greased bowl, cover and let rise until doubled in bulk. Punch down. Shape into tea rings, rolls or coffee cakes. Place on greased baking sheets or in greased pans. Cover and let rise until doubled in bulk. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees) 25 to 30 minutes for coffee cakes, 15 to 20 minutes for rolls.

Honey-Orange Rolls.

- 1 recipe Foundation Sweet Dough
 - 1/4 cup honey
 - 2 tablespoons grated orange rind
- When dough is light, punch down. Let rest 10 minutes. Roll out to rectangular sheet 1/4 inch thick and 9 inches wide. Spread with honey and sprinkle with orange rind evenly over honey. Roll up jelly roll fashion, sealing edges. Cut into 1-inch slices. Place cut side down in well greased muffin pans. Cover and let rise until doubled in bulk. Bake in a moderate oven 20 to 25 minutes.

Variations for Sweet Dough: Add 2 cups raisins to Foundation Sweet Dough and bake in two loaves for raisin bread.

Quick Coffee Cake.

- (Makes 1 8 by 8 inch cake)
 - 1 1/2 cups sifted flour
 - 2 teaspoons baking powder
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 1 egg
 - 1/2 cup light corn syrup or honey
 - 1/2 cup milk
 - 3 tablespoons shortening
- Sift together flour, baking powder and salt. Beat egg, add syrup, milk and shortening. Blend thoroughly. Add to flour mixture, stirring only enough to moisten flour. Pour over apricot or prune layer in greased square pan or top with cinnamon crumble mixture. Bake in a moderately hot oven (400 degrees) 25 minutes.

Apricot or Prune Layer.
(For Coffee Cake)

- 1/2 cup chopped cooked apricots or prunes
 - 1 tablespoon butter or substitute
 - 2 tablespoons honey or light corn syrup
- Blend ingredients thoroughly and spread over bottom of greased pan before pouring in batter.

AROUND THE HOUSE

To curl a feather that has been damaged by water, sprinkle it liberally with salt and shake before a fire or over a hot radiator until dry.

If you thumb-tack waxed paper to the pastry board before rolling out the pastry, the dough won't stick.

Machine stitch the drawstring on pop's and junior's pajamas firmly at center back. Then it's less likely to become detached and get caught in the washer.

If small bits of leftover foods are placed in small jars for the refrigerator, several of them may be placed in one pan of water and reheated for serving. This makes one pan do the trick instead of having several small ones to wash.

When convalescent children are able to sit up in bed they need a place upon which to draw or color. By opening only two legs of a folding card table, it may be placed over the side of the bed and will take the place of a bed tray.
