Everything Is Ready For the State Fair

Everything is in readiness for the greatest exposition in the 14-year history of the New Mexico State Fair, Pat Hill, publicity director, said. The annual fair will open in Albuquerque on Saturday, Sept. 29 and close on Sunday, Oct. 7. The fair will feature a complete nine-day horse-racing program as well as nine nights of championship rodeo. Siebrand Bros. combined carnival and circus will join with an old-fashioned balloon ascension, high wire act and a dozen other great entertainment features to provide fun for New Mexico's families.

Entry department officials said that livestock entries will top last year's figure. In the beef cattle department John R. Cummings of Elizabeth, Colo., and movie star Greer Garson Fogelson, of Forked Lightning Ranch, will vie for top honors. Mrs. Fogelson took top honors last year with her imported white Shorthorns. The Hereford and Aberdeen-Angus shows promise to be the best ever, while entry records in the dairy cattle division also will be broken.

A gigantic two mile long parade will take place on Central Avenue at 10 o'clock on Saturday morning, Sept. 29 to officially get the fair underway. The parade will be led by Gov. Edwin Mechem and a dozen other state and Albuquerque city officials. The parade is being sponsored by the Bernalillo County Sheriff's Mounted Posse. Posse officials have extended an invitation to mounted units over the state to participate.

Gov. Ed Mechem will take part in special ceremonies at the rodeo Saturday night. Over 325,000 persons passed through the turnstiles last year and Fair Secretary-Manager Leon H. Harms said that he expects about 400,000 for 1951.

Fire Wagon Is Delivered to Hope

(By Ethel Altman, Mayor of Hope) A bright, shiny red wagon was delivered to Hope last Friday afternoon and the citizens were treated with the most refreshing and beautiful display of rain, fog and some folks just swore they felt a few hail stones hit when Jake Whorley of the Thunder Bird Sales Company, came driving up the street with Fire Chief George Fisher and Assistant Chief Hollis Buckner, manipulating that rain making machine. After the show, several of us ran out to look at our rain gauges and Ezra Teel said he got a full half inch. Mayor Altman thinks that her standing in the community has been damaged quite a lot by her support of Dr. Drick but believes that Chief George and Hollis can show him a thing or two about this rain making business and is willing to bet any amount that the little red wagon can produce more rain than Dr. Krooks black pot.

If you catch on fire, call Hope's volunteer fire department. Those obliging fellows who will fight to save our town and your homes are Fire Chief George Fisher, Assistant Chief Hollis Buckner, John Hardin, Floyd Cole, Oriand Parker, Elmer Madron, Bill Jones, Mark Fisher, Garland Shepherd, Smokey McElroy, Nelson Jones, Clarence Forster, Lynn Harrison, Lawrence Blakeney, Dick Carson, and last but not least, "Dear Adolfus Augustus Jones."

School News

6th, 7th and 8th Grade News—Monday we had three kinds of rules. Each grade to a group of rules and are making pastures on them. When they are finished we will see which is the best. Barbara Seely is finished with her rug. Melissa Jones and Phyllis Bush have several pot holders each. Everyone is still putting up pictures on our bulletin board. We have several very pretty ones. The boys mostly draw them about horses and the girl about backgrounds and of course other things. We have three rather noisy boys in the 7th grade. They are always talking or laughing at each other. Everyone enjoys these summer days, if it just wasn't so hot. So far our room has been lucky to have everyone there on school days. — Ruth Ann Cox.

3rd, 4th and 5th Grade News—We are becoming more and more interested in our school work and are reviewing all of our combinations in arithmetic. We forgot so many of them during the summer. We are studying a great deal on our spelling words in order to try to make 100 every week on the weekly test. We are writing stories of insects to put them in our insect books. We are planning to get up a short play about insects in the near future. Several pupils have been absent from our room recently due to illness, a sty on the eye or trips with the parents. We want to say, "Thank You" to all of our friends and the parents who have helped us get insect specimens for our exhibit. The third grade pupils made a long scene of flowers and insects while the other pupils drew pictures on the blackboard. We are making resist work in art and how much fun it is to color in white and yellow and have everyone guessing just what it is going to be when we have finished. Most of them are scenes of New Mexico, showing the cactus, yucca and mountains.

First and Second Grade News: Hello Mr. Rood: See our newly painted boards. They are a very pretty green. Mr. Jones painted them for us last summer. We like them because the light does not glare in our eyes and we can see anything that is written on them. Our lines are marked on with white crayola. Thumb tacks stick better on our bulletin board since it is painted. And do you see all the circus animals chasing each other above the boards? We have been singing about these animals and coloring them in our room. Helen and Katherine Hardin brought us a cardboard circus tent and several cages of animals. We have one of our tables covered with this circus. Over here is the spelling chart for the second grade. We have had our spelling test each Friday—that makes three, doesn't it? And all the second graders have three stars except one. He will have when he gets that tough old word "the" learned. Of course, you are interested in knowing how many books they have all read here at school. Shirley Cox, Trudy Hibbard, Helen Hardin and Betty Stephen have read 11 each. Katherine Hardin has read 9, Mary Baca 8 and Bobbie Ferris 7.

Back here in this part of the room is our new linoleum. It is 15 by 6 feet and we can sit in the floor or drop our cards without getting too worried. Our reading and phonics charts sit right out on the linoleum. Part of the first graders built sentences on the floor with their big cards. Some of the children finished their first pre-primer Wednesday. They will get to take the book home and keep it a week or two. They are so tickled they can hardly be still when they think about it. Won't their mothers be surprised? Do you like to jump the rope? That is something else new that we have in our room. We also have parquetry blocks, beads of all kinds, some new library books and fresh clay of green, red, blue and yellow. If we keep on reading our We Look and See so hard we will have to have some new ones for next year. Now isn't that something—read a book to pieces? We'll see you next week.

Senior News: Seniors continue to sell Christmas cards. We certainly appreciate the cooperation of the people in the community. If any one is in need of Christmas cards, please contact us. So far we have made about $25. Next week we plan to sell advertising space on the cards carrying the basketball schedule for this year. Both local and Artesia merchants will be contacted. We would like to give our Hope merchants first choice on picking the place for their ads. These cards will be in every home in the community and will be continually advertising. Glenn Harrison has joined the Exalted Order of Mohicans and is sporting a Mohican haircut. The tribe will probably give him the name of Uncas.

We have a new display of gift items for you to select your gifts from. Come in and look them over. — Penasco Valley News.

Hobbs Man Heads Artesia Bank

Charley Johnson, a native of Roswell, vice president and director of the Lea County State Bank at Hobbs, has announced he will become president of the Artesia National Bank about Oct. 15. He has purchased an interest in the bank from Ross Sears and will succeed him in the presidency. Sears will remain chairman of the board. Johnson has been in the banking business in Lea County since 1931 except for four years, beginning in 1940 when he was postmaster.

Editorial . . .

General Omar Bradley will leave soon for Turkey to speed the inclusion of Turkish military forces in the North Atlantic defense lineup. Bradley is expected to confer with Greek military leaders, also.

Cotton growers of Southern Arizona are afraid that they will not have help enough to pick their cotton this fall. 2500 pickers have been applied for, but the number being imported will fail to meet their needs.

From all over the country, comes the report that people are not taking enough interest in the Civil Defense Program. When 10,000 warden are needed, 500 are training, 600 auxiliary firemen are needed, 15 are training. When 500 auxiliary police are wanted, 70 have volunteered and where 200 rescue workers are sought, only five have been found. Thousands of volunteers are needed for all types of civil defense and where are they coming from? It will be too late after Joe drops a bomb on San Francisco or New York.

The New Mexico State Highway Department is notifying all persons or firms who have signs on the state highways to move them back 50 feet off the right of way. Sixty days are allowed to complete the job.

Princess Elizabeth and her husband Prince Phillip, will leave soon for a trip through Canada and Washington, D. C. Official dinners, receptions and garden parties will be held to what is termed "the diplomatic minimum." While in Washington, the royal pair will be guests of President Truman at the Blair House. Elizabeth and Phillip will especially concentrate on touring Canada's oil fields, wheat-growing prairies, industrial plants and defense projects. It will be a "let-the-people-see-us" trip through Washington and the Canadian provinces. High society and members of the smart set will have to take a back seat. Now isn't that just too bad. Elizabeth and Phillip have made it clear that they would like to see as many people as possible and to be greeted by school children.

A foreign newspaper correspondent has flatly stated that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower is prepared to accept the nomination for President in 1952 if it is offered to him. Unless unforeseen events might cause him to change his mind.

Farmer Says Pond Keeps Kids at Home Increases Livability Of Modern Farm Home

C. H. Drew reasons that improving the livability of his farm and keeping the kids at home is just as important as building up the soil's fertility. He pays close attention to both. Drew says one of the best investments he ever made was the 2½-acre pond on his 160-acre farm near Huntington, Indiana. He hired a man with a bulldozer to dig it out. The pond is 8 to 12 feet deep at the deepest point and is fed by water draining off an 80-acre field. "The pond is entirely for recreation", he said. "It pays off in making a better family life. It increases the number of activities my wife and I and the youngsters can enjoy together. It encourages our children to stay at home."

Fringed by trees, the shore of the pond makes a beautiful picnic site. The family uses a big stump for a table for Sunday night suppers. The area around the pond is a wildlife preserve.

Every spare moment during the summer, the children are swimming, boating or fishing. Their friends like the pond, too. Some times as many as 30 kids from the neighborhood come over to join in the fun. In the winter the pond is fine for skating.

Drew stocked the pond with bass and blue gills. Members of the family and their friends often pull out good catches.

Toolbox on Wheels

A practical idea for most farmers is the toolbox on wheels. Made of light-weight iron sheets, the drawers can slide on angle-iron channels and store a complete set of hand tools. The handles can be made to fold down when not being moved wheelbarrow fashion. Coaster-wagon wheels will serve the purpose. With a little planning the average farmer can build it easily. The above drawing is a good start on the plans.

Japanese Peace Treaty Is Signed; Farm Exports Totaled $3.4 Billion

AND NOW PEACE—Guided by the United States, 48 nations last week signed the Japanese peace treaty in San Francisco, possibly the most lenient pact after a bloody and bitter war in the history of the world. And one of the most remarkable aspects of the long negotiations and the signing was the attitude of the American people who suffered much at the hands of the Japanese. As the representatives of the 48 nations marched to the platform to sign the treaty, the people in the home towns of the nation were conscious of those who were not present—

Guiding Hand

John Foster Dulles, head of the American delegation to the peace treaty conference, was the guiding hand behind the treaty. He labored 11 months to bring it about.

those who had given their lives in the greatest war of all time. But they wanted the treaty because by it they were again offering a hand in friendship to those who desired to aid in the battle against aggression and communism.

The American people realized also that by completion of this treaty the United States had won its greatest diplomatic victory since World War II. Soviet Russia and its allies by refusing to sign, by its attempts to block the conference and write in amendments which they would not even discuss during the 11 months the treaty was in negotiation, made known to the world they did not want peace.

Among others, there were five broad terms to the treaty: (1) It takes away Japan's overseas empire, amounting to 45 per cent of all the territory she owned on Pearl Harbor day and reduces her to the four main islands of Honshu, Hokkaido, Kyushu, and Shikoko. This would return her to the territorial status she held in 1854, when Commodore Perry introduced Japan to the modern world; (2) it forces Japan to pay limited reparations claims to the nations she damaged so badly in the war of 1941-45, particularly in south-east Asia, and thus gain the opportunity to re-establish commercial relations in her former "coprosperity sphere"; (3) it obligates Japan to abide by the purposes and principles of the United Nations charter in her intercourse with other nations; (4) it authorizes Japan to sign separate treaties with those countries that did not attend the conference, and gives her a choice of which China she wishes to recognize—Nationalist China or Communist China; (5) it gives her an opportunity to regain the Ryukyu and Bonin islands, which include the major U. S. military base at Okinawa, if she lives up to the terms of the treaty and proves to be a reliable partner in the defense of the Pacific.

GERMAN TREATY—Within the next few weeks, possibly days, people in the home towns can expect the announcement of a new treaty with West Germany much along the lines of the treaty given Japan.

The treaty, taking the place of the present occupation statute imposed by the Allies, may offer: (1) Full sovereignty, with some security safeguard for the three powers—the United States, Britain and France; (2) abolition of the three-power Allied high commission. It would be succeeded probably by a council of ambassadors; (3) a change in the status of the occupation troops to defense forces, responsible for helping safeguard Germany as well as Western Europe generally from Soviet aggression.

Many observers believe West Germany is now ready to enter the western defense line-up against communism. The treaty will clear the way for West Germany's contribution to an European army.

FARM EXPORTS—The department of agriculture reported last week that farm exports in the fiscal year ended June 30 were valued at $3,409,245,000, up 14 per cent over the $2,987,257,000 for the preceding year.

These exports from the home towns of the nation made up 27 per cent of the total 1950-51 exports which were valued at $12,579,172,000. The 1950-51 total was up 25 per cent over the 1949-50 total.

Cotton topped the export list with a total of $935,332,000. It was the second highest in 26 years. Wheat and flour ranked second, up 9 per cent over the year before, having a total value of $747,570,000.

Leaf tobacco was in third place, the export value at $273,262,000, up 12 per cent from the 1949-50 total.

STEEL SHORTAGE—The home towns of the nation will feel the steel shortage in the next few weeks and months. Defense production officials predicted a "pinch" some six months ago and last week the government cut back allocations of steel, copper and aluminum for civilian use.

As a result there will be fewer automobiles, radios, refrigerators and other consumer products in the next few months. But the shortage will hit harder at the home towns that had planned new school buildings or had them under construction.

The federal office of education reports the shortage means about 1,600 new schools planned for the booming school-age population across the country can not be built until next year—maybe not even in time for the fall of 1952.

The nation's school enrollment is expected to continue on an upward swing until 1964. Another crop of "war babies" will start to school in the next few years. For this reason many communities are in desperate need of new facilities.

The federal office of education has on hand applications for metal for 1,000 new buildings and for another 1,259 projects already under construction. The office has enough steel tonnage to allow construction to go ahead on 1,538, but that will leave 721—for which money has been put up and work started—stranded for perhaps six to nine months.

SIGNS OF WAR—There are increasing signs in Korea that all-out war may start at any moment. The Reds continue with probing attacks against Allied troops and there are reports of considerable movement immediately behind Red lines.

In turn, the Allies continued their limited attacks to improve their defense positions. In one assault the Reds lost 2,000 men and Allied air power continues to take a heavy toll of Red vehicles moving toward the front.

The Reds launched their last attack in May but were beaten back with terrific losses. Observers who have seen previous Red preparations believe a new attack may be launched at any moment. General Ridgway reports he is ready for it.

CAR PRICES—The office of price stabilization has allowed automobile manufacturers an average of 5 to 6 per cent increase in new model passenger cars. The increase will be passed on by the dealer to the purchaser.

A 5 per cent increase in the price of Ford, Chevrolet and Plymouth cars means the home town dweller will have to pay as much as $70 additional for any of these models. Similar advances on Oldsmobiles, Buicks, Pontiacs and Chryslers could add from $100 to $150.

PLANE HANDY . . . British plane has rocket motor to use as needed.

NOT AS BAD AS IT LOOKS . . . No, this frightening spectacle is not a creature from Mars. And it is not a monstrous beetle having its teeth massaged. Nor is it one of those strange creations met by Alice in Wonderland. It happens to be, in fact, the rear end of a Convar engine. The engine is undergoing its periodic cleanup by an airline mechanic, Al Stern, to whom the only thing grisly about the whole deal is the oil and grime that must be removed. Scene is a Chicago airport.

OBJECTION OVERRULED . . . Andy Seminick, Philadelphia Phils' catcher, goes into a huddle with Umpire Pinelli over Seminick's catch of a pop ball in a recent Giants-Phils match in New York. Pinelli ruled that the ball hit the foul screen and was not an "out" although it was caught. Seminick disagreed, causing this minor ruckus, which looks like a slice of a peace conference or an armistice talk.

THE WEEK In Religion

INSPIRATION Frustrations

FRUSTRATIONS are an inescapable part of everyone's life. God, for His own purpose, permits even the best of men to experience disappointments and heartaches. If these trials are accepted as God's will they strengthen and ennoble the soul.

Very often it is not the big frustrations, but the minor ones, that are most trying. This is true not only of average mortals but of those who have advanced far in the love of God.

Thus, for example, a man may become resigned to the fact that a certain career he had hoped to follow is not to be his life's work. Another man may have wanted to carry out some big and useful project only to be forced to admit in the end that he lacked the necessary talent or resources.

The above editorial and other material appearing in this column were prepared by Religious News Service.

HEROIC CHAPLAIN . . . Chaplain (Captain) Anthony Sokol, Jersey City, has been awarded the silver star for gallantry in Korea. When his unit came under attack, he stuck to his post, although gravely injured, and ministered to other wounded.

Catholic Union Hits Drum Majorettes

PITTSBURGH—High school drum majorettes were criticized here by the National Catholic Women's Union for their "indecent contortions and undress."

A resolution adopted at its annual convention scored the practice of using drum majorettes at any time, asking: "Why be modest at home, in school and in church, while outrageously immodest and most alluring and enticing to the opposite sex in public?"

Youth Conference Re-Elects Objector

LAFAYETTE, Ind.—An imprisoned Negro conscientious objector was reelected vice-president of the National Conference of Methodist Youth at its annual meeting here.

The 170-member body, which represents 2,500,000 Methodist youth also approved a letter to President Truman protesting "the treatment received at the hands of federal officials" by the CO, James Lawson of Massillon, O. Lawson is serving a three-year term in the Mill Point, W. Va., federal prison for violation of the draft law.

Signed by Jameson Jones of Nashville, Tenn., who was reelected president of the national conference, the letter described Lawson's treatment as typical of that accorded other CO's. It charged that "these men are receiving decidedly longer sentences on the average than federal offenders convicted of embezzlement, forgery, counterfeiting, larceny, white slavery, liquor and narcotic law violations."

The U.S. government, the Methodist youth leaders declared, "deals more severely with conscientious objectors not guilty of immorality or criminal intent than it does with corrupt officials and criminal offenders."

Mr. Jones explained that the Methodist youth organization's action did not mean that it upheld Lawson's refusal to register.

Religion Question Box

Q: What is an apocalypse?
A: A kind of writing which sprang up among the Jews mainly during the two centuries before Christ. Under mysterious figures it urged the righteous to wait patiently for deliverance from a foreign power. The Biblical books of Daniel and Revelation are placed in this class.

SHOPPER'S CORNER

By DOROTHY BARCLAY

PRETTY PICKLE

WANT summer spice and everything nice for the coming winter? Then why not use the summer abundance of fresh fruit and vegetables, and that extra time that simpler summer living gives you, and get in a pickle.

You'll never find a better buy in peaches, water and other melon, pears or cherries, cucumbers, tomatoes, beets, and corn than you will right now at your store. You'll never enjoy pickled fruits and vegetables more than you will those cold winter days, when even your kindly grocer is stuck for the want of fresh vegetables.

Even if you're a complete novice at the job, it's a cinch if you follow these general rules: Use fresh fruit and vegetables, as near perfection as you can find; and only fresh, top-quality spices; and follow directions and advice from your experienced friends.

Perhaps the favorite everywhere is the sequel to watermelon-feasts—pickled watermelon rind. Weigh three pounds of rind from firm, just ripe (not overripe) melon, and two pounds of sugar; measure off 2 cups of white vinegar, 2 tablespoons of whole spice and two of whole cloves; and pick out 6 3-inch sticks of cinnamon. Now you're ready to peel and cut the rind into pieces, and soak 'em in salt water overnight. Drain 'em first thing in the morning, cover with fresh water, cook tender and drain again. Then heat your sugar and vinegar to the boiling point, add the spices enclosed in a cheese-cloth bag, then the rind. Cook the concoction, uncovered, until transparent, dispose of the spice bag, and quickly pack into one sterilized jar after another, making sure the vinegar solution covers the rind—and seal at once.

A close second in popularity is that delicacy the spiced peach. One guide, based on 4 pounds, or 16 medium sized peaches, calls for a base of vinegar water, two quarts of water to two tablespoons of vinegar. First pour boiling water over the peaches, and let 'em stand until they're easy to peel, and stick a clove in each. Let 'em stand in the vinegar so they won't brown from exposure. Then combine sugar, vinegar and water, and add the cheese-cloth covered spices, and heat to the boiling point. Add the drained peaches, cover, and boil until tender, and let 'em stand overnight.

MORNING FOLLOWUP

In the morning, drain the fruit, saving the liquid, and remove the spice bag. Pack the peaches in your hot jars, bring the syrup to a boil and pour it over the fruit. Then set your jars on a wire rack in a covered kettle, with boiling water covering the tops of the jars by an inch, and boil for half an hour. Then remove and seal, according to the directions. And what a treat those spicy peaches will be on the night of the big blizzard.

For spiced pineapple, also plentifully available at your grocer's right now, all you need is two fresh pineapples, pared and eyes removed; vinegar, sugar, cloves and cinnamon. Half an hour of gentle boiling, and you're ready to pack 'em in the jars.

Always be sure the vinegar solution covers the top of all fruit, and you'll be covered for a spicy fillip to your winter meals.

Ohio Weekly Converts To Daily as Town Grows

FAIRBORN, O.—The fast growing town of Fairborn has a daily newspaper.

The town and township had a pre-World War II population of 4,500. In the last five years it has grown to 18,000 and the figure is still rising. Fairborn is located near the Wright-Patterson air force base and 70 per cent of its residents are connected with it.

The newspaper replaces the Fairborn Herald which had published 84 years without interruption.

KATHLEEN NORRIS

Good Escape?

WHEN HER MARRIAGE runs into difficulties, what a welcome—what a miraculous escape—divorce seems to offer a woman!

Anything—anything to get away from circumstances that have become unendurable. Once free from Len, his wife thinks everything else will fall into place. The children—oh, they'll be all right! They won't hear any more quarreling, anyway. Money? Well, certainly if Patsy gets her divorce and the custody of the children, Len will have to pay a good fair alimony.

All this sounds like escape. Escape into peace and quiet and change and novelty and freedom and a chance to live her own life. It sounds like the thing we all want.

A New Romance

And when a new love, a new romance adds itself to this—oh there's no use arguing with any woman then! Her family? They don't matter. Her children? Why, they'll be better off! Money! She'll agree to anything, with Phil's big strong arm about her. And his child? That little girl of 4, whose mother has married again and gone off to live in Buenos Aires. What about her?

"... a new love ..."

Little Shirley? Why, she's a perfect darling, and she'll live with Phil and Patsy, and Patsy's little boy and girl, why not?

"We know we can't ever quarrel because we absolutely think alike about everything," said a woman of 34 to me, anticipating her third marriage. She went into it with a simple little problem that involved her temperamental, resentful 12-year-old boy, her first husband's claim on the boy, his mother's hostility, her second husband's claim on her younger boy, then aged 3, and the idol of her heart, her third husband's daughter of 16 by an earlier marriage, his brother's bitter antagonism and determination to get guardianship of the child, a dispute concerning some property settlements after the first marriage, and the fact that her autocratic and troublesome old father insisted on living with her, and had considerable property to leave either to her or to a home for superfluous old gents.

And into this bedlam this woman launched herself lightheartedly with the assurance that she and Peter never could quarrel because they thought alike about everything. This marriage lasted almost four years, at which time there was another child, a small delicate girl with a serious eye deficiency, to consider.

This morning I have on my desk a letter from a woman named Emmarie Schmidt. She and her first husband Dan reached the parting of the ways nine years ago; Emmarie immediately married Ward Schmidt, and took over Ward's adorable son, 3 years old. This boy, 12 now, is "a completely unmanageable little fiend," according to Emmarie.

Won't Allow Discipline

"No boarding school will keep him because Ward don't allow any discipline," she writes me. "Junior is disobedient, untruthful and he steals. Yes, he does. No money is safe in the house, and his school mates' parents are always telephoning me about cameras, knives, even bicycles. He sold another boy's bicycle for $13 last year; twice we have had the police here. Other children have been avoiding him for some years, he is morally delinquent, and whether he will ever be anything else is a question. I feel that I simply cannot face the long years before he leaves our custody. His mother has not seen him, except for an occasional luncheon or matinee, for years. She now has three other children; I have none.

"My husband is a splendid man, we have plenty of money and a fine life—except for this boy. Ward is devoted to him, argues, explains, pleads, gets him out of any and every predicament. He says that if Junior has enough money he won't need to steal, so Junior gets everything he asks for."

THE STORY OF HOMER CROY'S Jesse James WAS MY NEIGHBOR

THE STORY SO FAR:
Following Jesse's return from California he resumes his career of banditry with complete earnestness. The story moves along to Columbia, Kentucky, in April, 1872. When the boys come out of that town's bank with their loot, the cashier is lying inside dead. In September, 1872, they steal the gate receipts of the Kansas City Fair. The James Boys, now heavily involved in robbery, turn their professional attention to trains. Near Adair, Iowa, they wreck an eastbound train, supposed to contain a large gold shipment. However, they collect only $3,000. Although the gang gets away safely, the railroads engage detectives to capture the Boys.

The Pinkertons because they could not find them. Headquarters of the agency was in Chicago, but, to be close to the Boys, a branch was opened at Kansas City, thirty miles from the James farm. The first detective-bandit blood was drawn near Osceola, Missouri. Captain J. W. Allen and another Pinkerton man had reason to believe that part of the gang was hiding near there. Engaging a former local sheriff, Edwin B. Daniels, to show them the roads, the detectives rode here and there, posing not bought some new farm clothes, went back to his hotel, and put them on. Then he asked the hotel man to check his bundle of clothes. There was an afternoon train to Kearney, and a pistol in his pocket, the confident detective got on that train. When the train reached Kearney, he descended and started to march down the road to the James farm, a distance of about three miles. Suddenly a man stepped out of the elderberry bushes. "Hello," said Jesse. "Hello," Witcher returned confidently.

Jesse surveyed him carefully. "You seem to be a stranger in the neighborhood."

"Yes, I am," said the man genially. "In fact I've just got here."

"Have you?" said Jesse, with companionable interest. "Then maybe I can help you. I've lived here for some time."

"Maybe you can. I'm looking for work."

"What kind of work?"

"Farm work. I work as a hired man and I want somebody to employ me."

Just then two other men stepped out of the alders.

"He's a hired man looking for work," explained Jesse significantly.

Overconfident Witcher Is Shot and Killed

"Where's your grip?" asked one of them.

"I haven't got one," said Witcher, a bit awkwardly. "I was going to wait till I got settled down."

"Search him," said one of the men. A revolver was discovered.

"Where have you been working?" the men asked.

"At Beatrice, Nebraska."

"Who for?"

The detective gave a name.

"Did you work there long?"

"About five months."

"Let's see your hands."

The detective extended them. They were as soft as a baby's.

That was the end of the hired man with the soft hands. He was shot and killed.

In spite of the gathering clouds the James-Youngers engaged that year in two more robberies. The first came on May 12, 1874, at San Antonio, Texas. This was a come-down, for it was a stagecoach. But the returns were good—$3000. It just showed that humble means must not be overlooked. A posse was organized to chase the robbers slowly.

This time Jesse James had a watertight alibi. He said he was in Kansas City at his brother-in-law's. And he probably was, for he had been married only eighteen days and no man in his right mind would want to give up a honeymoon to rob a stagecoach.

December 13, 1874, at Muncie, Kansas; that was the second. About $2000 was taken. The farmers got up a posse, and that was as far as they got.

All in all, 1874 was a tremendously active year for Jesse James. January 15—Hot Springs, Arkansas.

January 31—Gad's Hill, Missouri.

March 10 — Detective Witcher killed.

March 1—Two Pinkertons killed near Osceola, Missouri.

April 24—Jesse marries.

May 12—San Antonio stagecoach robbery.

December 13—Train robbery at Muncie.

Of course Jesse did not participate in all of these affairs, but they all affected him. It can safely be stated that he alone participated in the honeymoon.

There is no record of what Detective Jack Ladd thought when Detective Witcher was killed, but it must not have been very pleasant, for he was doing the same thing that Witcher had set out to do. But he was playing his part far better; not telling the neighbors his plans, not checking his city clothes with a hotel keeper. He was just a dumb farmhand.

Every day he looked across the road to the James farm and talked to members of the family. The household was rather large; in addition to the mother and stepfather there were Fanny, John, and Archie Samuels, Charlotte, an old colored woman, and Ambrose, a small Negro boy. And Frank and Jesse . . . when they were there.

One day in January, 1875, Jack Ladd got word that the boys were coming back to see their mother. On their heads was a reward of $10,000 in an offer that practically amounted to 'dead or alive,' although it wasn't phrased that way. Big news. Just what he had been waiting for.

Jesse did not participate in all of the gang's robberies, but it can be safely stated that he alone participated in the honeymoon.

very successfully as cattle buyers. But on one of the roads they met two members of the Younger family. The Youngers began to question them about their cattle-buying. The city detectives knew as much about cooking whale blubber as they did about cattle buying, so in no time at all Allen was dead. Also the ex-sheriff who had so foolishly undertaken to 'show them around.' The other detective put spurs to his horse and ran away.

Jack Ladd, Detective, Gets on James's Trail

But John Younger had been killed. That was the first blood. The score: two detective-sheriffs; one Younger. The date: March 16, 1874.

Neither of the Jameses was there. The members of the gang split up immediately after a 'ride,' and didn't get together again until they had business to attend to. But the Jameses did know that they were being pressed and that, more and more, detectives were becoming a problem.

Now came the next move in the game. A rough-looking man who gave his name as Jack Ladd got a job as hired hand directly across the road from the James farm. The house still stands, much now as it was then.

Ladd worked in the fields where he could see the Jameses. Sometimes he went over to the well and pumped himself up a drink of water.

Ladd was a Pinkerton detective, reporting to the Kansas City office. But so well did he manage things that he was not suspected. There is evidence that he even went to Jesse James's wedding. But apparently it was felt that not enough results were coming out of his peeping and spying, so the Pinkertons sent another man to hurry things along.

This man pursued a plan that was incredibly stupid. He seems to have thought of the Jameses as one cut above mentally retired jackasses.

At any rate, brisk, businesslike John W. Witcher arrived in Liberty to take care of the Boys in short order. Going to the bank, he made a deposit of Pinkerton money, then asked to see the president. "I've come here to capture the James Boys," he announced smugly.

"Well," said the bank president, "you'd better think twice. They're surrounded by friends and they're dead shots. In addition, they're as smart as you can find them."

The ex-sheriff advised care, but the Chicago go-getter said, "Oh, I've worked out plans! Don't worry. I'll soon have your boys where they belong."

Then Mr. Witcher went to a hotel, rented a room, and stayed overnight. The next morning he

CHAPTER VI

At this time the western outlaw was just coming in—the men who, later, made Dodge City, Abilene, and other cowtowns famous, the men who 'operated' in Tombstone, Arizona, and in Texas and New Mexico. These men were killers; they swaggered up and down the streets, rolled into saloons, shot the lights out, and created unpleasant scenes at card tables.

Jesse James was not this kind at all. He never shot a light out in his life, never took a drink at a bar as he watched in the mirror some other man with a view of disposing of him, never rode down a street shooting right and left for the fun of it. He was in the business of train and bank robbery.

It is astonishing that Jesse could keep on courting his cousin with sheriffs and detectives hot upon his trail. One thing that helped him was that she was in Liberty part of the time; and the rest of the time she was in Kansas City, not too far away. Her mother had died and she had gone to live with her sister, Mrs. Charles McBride, in Kansas City.

Jesse Makes His Plans To Wed Zerelda Mimms

Jesse was twenty-six and a half; he had courted her nine years. She knew he was being sought, knew he was part of the 'James gang' which was attracting so much attention.

Zee's mother had tried to dissuade her from the marriage, and so had her uncle, the Reverend William James. But they got nowhere, for Zee loved Jesse, and had ever since the time she helped nurse him back to health. Against all opposition, the day was set.

At this time marriage licenses were not necessary. The preacher could take care of everything. (If somebody had told Jesse that he would have to have his blood sampled in order to get married, he'd have shot him on the spot.) The local tradition is that he wanted to be married in the Baptist church in Kearney, but the church had read him out, and he still resented it. At this juncture another sister stuck up for Zee. If Zee loved Jesse and was willing to pay the price, then she should get married. This sister was Mrs. W. Boling Browder, who lived on a farm near Kearney; so it was decided to have the wedding there. The day fixed was April 24, 1874. Uncle William was fetched from Kansas City.

Jesse rode in out of nowhere, and the moment Uncle William saw him he began to upbraid him for his deeds of violence, and to say that Jesse could not properly take care of a bride and that she should not marry anybody on whose head was a reward of $10,000.

Zee defended Jesse loyally, saying that many of the deeds that Jesse was accused of were not true. To support this, Jesse took from his pocket newspaper clippings attributing desperate deeds to the James gang on the same days in different states. Finally, after urgent solicitation, Uncle William agreed to perform the ceremony, and in the presence of Zee's sister and her husband, at about nine o'clock at night, the two were finally married.

Meantime other things were happening.

They had been after the James-Youngers since the Columbia, Kentucky, robbery. When the railroads got involved, the word went out that the gang must be exterminated. The word was mainly carried by the Pinkertons.

Pinkerton's National Detective Agency was an organization dreaded by all lawbreakers. It had been founded in Chicago by a Scotsman, Allan Pinkerton. During the Civil War it had been a spy system for the Union armies. It had uncovered a plot to assassinate President-elect Abraham Lincoln. It had broken up many gangs of counterfeiters and express-company robbers. It seems to have been feared by all lawbreakers except the James Boys, who even taunted

Into All the World

Lesson for September 30, 1951

SO YOU don't believe in missions? That's a position not easy to defend, if you make any show at all of being a Christian. Can you be a business man and not believe in customers? Can you be your business? Successful and not want to expand "Missions" is a name given to the growing edge of Christianity, a name for its expanding program. It is a name that stands for everything we believe in as Christians. It stands for the proposition that Christ is the answer to all the world's needs, not yours and mine alone.

Dr. Foreman

Greatest Missionary Religion

THERE ARE religions you cannot "crash," no matter what you do, unless you are born in them. For example, either you were born the child of a Parsee, or you can't ever be a Parsee.

Again, there are religions which you can join if you insist, but nobody is going to try to talk you into it. Take it or leave it. Hinduism is world as our religion.

But there are three missionary religions, religions that set out to claim all the world for their territory; besides Christianity these are Buddhism and Mohammedanism.

Buddhism is 600 years older than Christianity, Mohammedanism some 600 years younger; but neither has spread into so many corners of the world as our religion.

Pessimists Are Always with Us

IF THE first Christians had not believed in missions, where would we be? Where were your ancestors when Christ was living on earth? If you are descended from any of the nations of Europe north of the Alps mountains, or from Africa, then at the time of Christ your ancestors were a barbarous lot.

Or, if you are descended from the peoples of western Asia or around the Mediterranean, then at the time of Christ they were civilized, but time was running out. The Roman Empire, which looked as if it might endure forever, was doomed, even though its final death-knell was still 300 years away.

If you had been a church member in Antioch when Paul was the foreign missionary pastor sent out by that congregation, you could have thought of all sorts of good excuses for not supporting him or his work.

"Why bother with those heathens?" you might have said. "As for the nations around the Mediterranean, they are on the way out. Even if they take to Christianity, it will be only a shot in the arm."

As for those savages up north and out west (you would mean, in the countries now known as France and Spain), what have they ever amounted to? They haven't asked for missionaries; they will probably kill them if we send them.

Missionaries Once Came To Your Home Town

LOOK over the churches in your home state, whatever it is. You will find, on investigation, that most of them, however large and proper they are now, were once "home mission" churches.

Without missions the Christian church would never have lived; if it ceases to believe in missions it can still die.

The secret? There is nothing mysterious about it. Read what Paul said and see how simple it all is, at heart. The preaching of the good news of God; the enthusiasm and heroism and determination of the missionary; the inspired ambition to do something for God that was never done before; the two-way contributions, of older churches to new and new ones to old; and the circle of prayer uniting Christians everywhere, old and new. That is what made missions work then; it is what keeps missions going on now.

Acts Chiefly to REMOVE WASTE NOT GOOD FOOD

Here's the secret millions of folks have discovered about FEEN-A-MINT, the modern chewing-gum laxative. Yes, here is why FEEN-A-MINT'S action is so wonderfully different! Doctors say that many other laxatives start their "flushing" action too soon—right in the stomach where food is being digested. Large doses of such laxatives upset digestion, flush away nourishing food you need for health and energy. You feel weak, worn out. But gentle FEEN-A-MINT, taken as recommended, works chiefly in the lower bowel where it removes only waste, not good food! You avoid that typical weak, tired, worn-out feeling. Use FEEN-A-MINT and feel your "peppy," energetic self! Get FEEN-A-MINT! No increase in price—still 25¢, 50¢ or only 10¢.

 1 7-ounce can tuna fish, flaked
 1 cup diced celery
 1 cup diced avocado (1/2 avocado)
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 Dash of white pepper
 1/4 cup salad dressing
 1 tablespoon lemon juice
 Grapefruit sections
 Avocado slices (1/2 avocado)
 Watercress or lettuce

Aspic: Soften gelatin in cold water. Combine tomato juice, onion, celery salt, sugar and vinegar in saucepan; bring to boiling point. Add to gelatin, stirring until gelatin is dissolved. Strain mixture and pour into 1-quart ring mold. Chill until firm.

Salad: Toss together lightly tuna fish, celery, diced avocado, salt and pepper. Combine salad dressing and lemon juice. Add to tuna fish mixture and blend carefully. Unmold aspic and fill center of ring with tuna fish salad. Arrange grapefruit sections, avocado slices and watercress or lettuce around aspic ring.

Note:—To make 12 servings of the above salad, increase gelatin to 5 tablespoons and double all remaining ingredients. Pour aspic into a 2-quart ring mold.

HERE'S A SUBSTANTIAL salad which will do as a good main dish. You may want to use the leftovers of your halibut on the second day for this:

Jellied Halibut Salad (Serves 4)

- 1 tablespoon gelatin
 1 1/2 cups cold water
 1/2 cup tarragon vinegar
 1/4 cup sliced pickles
 1/2 cup chili sauce

Glistening red tomato aspic rings are filled with well-seasoned tuna fish salad. Grapefruit sections and sliced avocados trim the salad, and make it a tempting main dish salad to serve for an attractive luncheon or Sunday night supper.

Refreshing two layered salad is a combination of tangy crushed Hawaiian pineapple molded with a pale green cucumber and mayonnaise base. This can be made early in the morning, it has glamour enough for any occasion and is kind to the budget.

HERE'S A GRAND party salad which the family will enjoy often, too:

Pineapple-Cucumber Salad (Serves 8-10)

- Pineapple layer:
 1 cup crushed pineapple
 1 package lemon-flavored gelatin
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1/2 cup finely grated carrots
- Cucumber layer:

 1 cup mayonnaise
 1/2 cup light cream
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1 tablespoon grated onion
 1/2 cup finely chopped celery
 1/2 cup grated cucumber, drained

Pineapple layer: Drain pineapple. Add enough water to syrup to make 1 1/4 cups liquid. Heat to boiling; dissolve gelatin in it. Chill until slightly thickened. Add salt, carrots and crushed pineapple. Turn into 1 1/2 quart ring or fancy mold. Chill until firm.

Cucumber layer: Soften gelatin in cold water; dissolve over hot water. Combine remaining ingredients. Add gelatin and blend. If desired, tint pale green with vegetable coloring. Pour over pineapple layer. Chill until firm. Unmold and garnish with salad greens.

FRUIT SALAD in orange ice rings is as pretty a salad as one can find. You may make the ice as directed here, or, if desired, purchase the ice and freeze in ring molds until firm.

*Fruit Salad, Orange Ice (Serves 4)

- 1 1/2 cups orange juice
 2 tablespoons lemon juice
 Dash of salt
 3/4 cup sugar
 1/4 cup water
 2 egg whites, stiffly beaten
 Segments from grapefruit
 4 slices pineapple, diced
 Segments from 2 oranges
 Fruit mayonnaise
 Lettuce cups
 Mint leaves

Combine orange and lemon juice, add salt, then freeze until firm in refrigerator tray. Boil together sugar and water for 3 minutes and pour slowly over stiffly beaten egg whites, beating constantly. Cool to lukewarm. Scrape thin layers of the frozen mixture with an inverted spoon and fold into egg white mixture. Pour into individual ring molds and freeze in freezing unit until firm. Combine grapefruit, pineapple and orange with fruit mayonnaise and chill. Unmold orange ice; garnish centers with lettuce cups and fill with fruit salad. Garnish with mint leaves.

Household Hints

Beet Salad
 To use beets successfully in a raw salad, add the beets just before serving—then their color does not mix with the color of the other vegetables.

Saving the Flavor
 Fifteen to twenty-five minutes is usually enough cooking time for fresh green snap beans, because longer cooking usually destroys both flavor and food value.

Gravy Too Salty?
 After you have made a meat gravy and you realize it is too salty, drop a piece of raw potato in it for a few minutes before serving.

American Farmers Own 91 Billion Dollar Plant

The family economics bureau of the Northwestern National Life Insurance reports American farmers now own 91 million dollars worth of land, buildings, live stock and equipment.

This gigantic food "factory" turned out approximately 30 billion dollars worth of produce in 1950, or a third of the "plant" itself. In 1900 and even in 1910, American agriculture produced only a sixth of its own physical value in a year. Even in prosperous 1929 it produced a little less than one-fourth of its "plant" value, according to the study.
