Forum To Examine Ag Program Funding

The process through which Texas funds agricultural commissions, agencies and educational programs at Texas Tech and the Texas A&M University System will be examined during a Texas Agricultural Forum meeting in Austin July 27.

The forum at the Doubletree Hotel, 6505 I-35 North, is one of a series held each year for leaders from government, business and all facets of agricultural enterprise. The sessions, open to anyone, provide an opportunity to exchange views on current issues relating to agriculture, said Dr. Ed Smith, forum coordinator. He is an agricultural economics specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, College Station.

"All segments of the food and fiber system, including consumers, have a vested interest in this budgeting process," Smith said. "An impressive collection of speakers has been assembled to lead this forum." He said the morning, beginning at 7:45 a.m., will examine the budgeting process. The afternoon session will look at how agencies receiving state funds determine needs and program priorities.

John Sharp, state comptroller of public accounts, will be the luncheon speaker. He will discuss the state's economy and the comptroller's role in budgeting and funding.

Forum chairman Dan Pustejovsky will welcome participants. Moderator Jerry Clark, director of state governmental affairs for Associated Milk Producers, Inc., will introduce a panel to discuss legislative budget priority setting. Panel members will be Amelia Martin, clerk of the state House of Representatives Agriculture and Livestock Committee; Sylvia Rivera-Ibanez, research assistant for the state House of Representatives Appropriations Committee; John Opperman, director of the state Senate Finance Committee; and Lee Deviney, budget examiner, legislative Budget Board.

Afternoon Session moderator will be Dr. William Bennett, associate dean of College of Agricultural Sciences at Texas Tech. Agency priority setting will be discussed by Rick Perry, commissioner, Texas Department of Agriculture; Terry Beals, executive director, and Bill Hayden, director of administration, Texas Animal Health Commission; and James Moore, engineer, Texas Soil and Water Conservation Board.

University priority setting will

Blood Drive Sponsored By Local Church

Muleshoe Church of Christ and the Muleshoe Blood Advisory Council sponsored the July 9 community blood drive. A total of 53 people volunteered and 51 were able to donate.

More than 2,000 units of blood are needed by patients in area hospitals each month. This blood can only come from healthy people who give of themselves; There is no substitute for blood.

Special thanks go to Glenda Powell and Johnette Marlow who coordinated the blood drive. The Church of Christ provided the family room and volunteers who called donors and made cookies. Low's Pay-n-Save contributed juice for all donors and workers. Members of the Muleshoe Blood Advisory Board handled publicity for the event and thank the Muleshoe Journal for their support.

United Blood Services recognized the following donors with pins for dedication to the volunteer blood program: one gallon - Joyce Morrison; and two gallons - Ricky Powell.

Annual Jamaica Draws Large Crowd Sunday

A large crowd gathered on the lawn of the Immaculate Conception Catholic Church Sunday afternoon for the annual Jamaica. Father Pat Maher reported that people came from Clovis, N.M., Bovina and all around to enjoy the family day.

Music filled the air and KICA Radio in Clovis was on hand to broadcast the event. The broadcast was sponsored by the Muleshoe businesses.

"It was just tremendous, we took in about $14,000," said Father Pat Maher. "Of course we will have some expenses to come out of that amount."

There were about 20 booths, filled with all kinds of food including homemade tamales, nachos, tacos, barbecued goat, fajitas, gorditas and aguas and frescas, hot dogs, hamburgers, corn dogs, corn on the cob, carnitas, alambres, tripas and joycjyas.

Seventeen goats were barbecued, five pigs roasted, and there was some beef cooked and turned into some some taste tempting foods.

There were games for the young and those young at heart, so that no one was forgotten, a tardiada dance was held all afternoon.

Cash prizes consisting of $300, $200, and $100 were given away as well as a $50 gift certificate from Joe's Boot Shop, two Leal's specials and two Viola's specials.

When asked how long the church had been working on the event, Father Pat said, "We had been planning the event since about February, but we had really been working the past few weeks."

The Jamaica is an annual event held the third Sunday of July each year to raise funds for the church.

MISD Hires Teachers, Accepts Resignations

Teal Season, Dove Limits Adopted

Texas hunters will have an early teal season for the first time since 1987 and a four-day special white-winged dove season now that approval has been granted by state and federal officials.

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service recently agreed with Texas waterfowl biologists to allow a nine day statewide teal season (Sept. 12-20) and a four-day white-winged dove season (Sept. 5, 6, 12 and 13) in the Special White-winged Dove Area. The Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission officially approved the measures during a public hearing on July 9 in Austin.

State and federal officials also approved a TPWD recommendation to that part of the Special White-winged Dove Area from Del Rio north to Fort Hancock and make this area part of the central dove zone. The USFWS did not approve a request to increase the whitewing daily bag limit from two whitewings to six whitewings during the regular mourning dove season in Cameron, Hidalgo, Starr and Willacy counties.

Ron George, deputy wildlife branch chief at TPWD, said the whitewing bag was not increased in those four counties because, although the Valley whitewing population is up eight percent from 1991, it is still 18 percent below the long-term average.

The USFWS will allow Texas teal hunters to hunt from 30 minutes before sunrise to sunset if the department is willing to conduct field evaluations of this change. George said that teal shooting hours traditionally have been sunrise to sunset. Hunters may take four blue-winged, green-winged and cinnamon teal per day in the aggregate and have eight in their possession.

The four-day white-winged dove season has a daily bag limit of 10 doves that can include no more than five mourning doves and two white-tipped doves.

Mourning dove dates are: North Zone, Sept. 1-Nov. 9; Central Zone, Sept. 1-Oct. 31 and Jan. 2-10; and South Zone, Sept. 20-Nov. 12 (ends Nov. 8 in Special White-winged Dove Area) and Jan. 2-17. The statewide (except Cameron, Hidalgo, Starr and Willacy counties) bag limit is 12 doves.

teacher at the Middle School; Carol Pennington, high school Special Education teacher; and Jennifer Givens, will be teaching Reading at Watson Junior High.

Resignations were accepted from Tim Moore, Dick Moore, Patricia Keefner and Krestie Phelps.

Cindy Purdy, president, called the regular meeting to order at 6 p.m. in the School Administration Building.

Following the invocation, Mrs. Purdy recognized the visitors and school officials present.

Minutes of the previous meeting were approved as read.

Steve McBride and Glenda Brzdendine from Alta met with the board. McBride spoke to the board members concerning MISD health care coverage and third-party administration. Although this was the first time McBride had been in Muleshoe he stated that the present benefit plan was running really well, and was being properly managed. "MISD has had a very good year, 1991-92 school term, and two different insurance companies are anxious to cover the MISD. The local school has been associated with Alta the past few years."

Rick and Pam Holder of Lubbock also met with the board concerning third party insurance. Holder stated that he was in marketing and doesn't work for an insurance company.

No action was taken on the health care coverage for MISD.

A discussion was held on the bus routes for 1992-93 school term. The board approved the routes being the same as those of last year with the exception that two more routes will be added. A new route will be run to Lubbock for the hearing impaired. Superintendent Bill Moore stated that they would have to run a yellow school bus, a van will not be accepted by the state. A route will be added going to the Pep School. Moore stated that they had received the grant for the school and the project was moving along well. We will get it kicked off when school starts. The classrooms are pretty well ready to go according to Moore. He also stated that at the present time, when school starts, he expects Muleshoe to have 15 to 20 students to attend the school for high risk students. Those who either have dropped out of school or are in danger of dropping out.

The board voted to approve the TASB Policy Update 41 with the exception of the local EEI.

A discussion was also held on the goals for the 1992-93 school term. All of these goals were adopted.

The board reviewed a draft of Muleshoe ISD Site Based Decision Making Plan.

A report was also heard from the architect on the summer construction projects.

A lengthy discussion was held on the 1992-93 budget. Supt. Moore stated that he didn't anticipate a raise in the local school tax.

Reports were given by Superintendent Bill Moore, Assistant Superintendent for Operations and the business manager gave a tax report, bank balances, fund balances, and payment of current bills.

With no further business, the meeting was adjourned.

The school board will meet again next Monday night at 7 p.m. in the Administration Building.

Outside Farm Show Scheduled

Officials of the Farm Progress Companies and the city of Lubbock announced that a major outdoor farm show will be held on farm property just east of the city of Lubbock beginning in the fall of 1993.

Both in scale and concept, The Farmer-Stockman Show will be unlike any other agricultural event ever held in the state of Texas or the Southwest, according to Tom Budd. Attention will be centered on actual harvest and planting of crops and on working livestock demonstrations.

In making the announcement at a news conference, Farm Progress President Allan R. Johnson, Lubbock Mayor David R. Langston and Texas Commissioner of Agriculture Rick Perry stressed that the annual show will be a major outdoor exposition in which farmers and ranchers will not only be able to examine equipment at close hand, but can also witness it at work.

Tom Budd, vice president and publisher of the Farm Progress Companies, which publishes farm magazines in 18 states across the nation, said that The Farmer-Stockman Show will follow the successful pattern set by Husker Harvest Days in Nebraska and the Farm Progress Show, the nation's premiere farm show held each year in the Midwest. Both of these shows are also sponsored by the Farm Progress Companies.

Texas Farmer-Stockman magazine will sponsor The Farmer-Stockman Show. Dates for the initial event in 1993 will be October 12-14.

Budd said that the dates were

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Cisneros
(nee Stacy Knowlton)

Stacy Knowlton and Cisneros Repeat Marriage Vows

Miss Stacy Lynn Knowlton became the bride of Jimmy Paul Cisneros in a double ring ceremony at 5 p.m. May 15 in the Legion Hall with Marilyn Cox officiating. Parents of the couple are Gary and Kay Knowlton and Paul and Tina Cisneros, all of Muleshoe.

Vows were exchanged before a unity candle. The couple's mothers Tina Cisneros and Kay Knowlton lit the unity candle and the parents of the couple stood with them for the ceremony.

Decorations included two candleabra decorated with greenery and bows. The unity candle was decorated with greenery and baby's breath, bows and pearl sprays as well as a poem entitled "Love One Another for Love is of God."

Music selection was "Everything I Do, I Do for You." Luis and Aida Pacheco provided music for the reception.

The bride wore a dress of tea length white satin with roses embossed. The dress featured a sweetheart neckline dropping to a V in the back. It had a fitted bodice with front princess seaming. It also had short sleeves with center gathering with satin roses and leaves at the end of the gathering. It had a gathered tea length skirt with three gathered back tiers and a large back bow with a satin cabbage rose in the center. The bride's veil was of tulle and a short veil fell from that to her waist with three varied layers attached to a band of pearls. Margaret Hamilton made the bride's dress.

The bride's bouquet was a cascade of blue roses, white morning glories, pearl sprays, white lace and blue and white satin ribbon. Shawna Cunningham did all the flowers.

For something old the bride carried a handkerchief tucked in her bouquet that belonged to her grandmother that was given to her by her mother. Something new was her dress. Something borrowed was her mother's diamond necklace and earrings. The bride carried pennies in her show minted in the year of the bride and groom's birth.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Legion Hall. The cake was made by Ruby Ward. Serving the cake was Genie Seymour. Serving punch was Shawna Clark. Registering guests was Shawna Delaney. The registering table held the bride and groom's baby pictures.

The table at the reception was decorated with blue cabbage roses, white day lilies and baby's breath. Precious Moments figurines stood atop the cake. Hector Flores, Jr. prepared ham and cheese, tuna and chicken sandwiches. In addition, salads and Mexican food was prepared by the groom's grandmother, Lupe Cisneros.

The couple will live in Hanahan, South Carolina.

The bride is a 1991 honor graduate from Muleshoe High School. She was FHA president and belonged to the National Honor Society. She was a student at South Plains College, making the Dean's List and the President's List.

The groom is a 1989 graduate of Muleshoe High School. He joined the U.S. Navy on July 18, 1989 and is now stationed in Charleston, South Carolina. He returns to duty on July 27 on the USSR John Calghon.

Out of town wedding guests included an uncle Ysidro Costilla, Jr. and family from Friona, B.B. and Melba Cunningham, grandparents of the bride, Diane Neel, sister of the bride, Jesse and Shawna Cunningham, aunt and uncle of the bride, Genie Seymour, Kristy Albertson, Nikki Wood, Anthony Hargrove, Lowell and Ramona Leigh, grandparents Pascual Cisneros and Lupe Cisneros, Amelia Costilla, Dolores Costilla and family and Steve and Eva Cisneros.

Examine Cancer Pleas

Bailey County residents who want to contribute to the fight against cancer should closely examine organizations asking for their support, Joan Lewis, Crusade Chairman of the Bailey County Unit of American Cancer Society, said Monday at the regular board meeting.

"The last few years have seen a proliferation of groups claiming to fight cancer. These bogus groups use names and logos similar to American Cancer Society," Lewis continued.

Mrs. Lewis reported that she has received calls from several county residents who have been asked to conduct door-to-door fundraising campaigns or make contributions to some of these "look-alike" groups.

"Please be aware of the logo—the sword beside the name American Cancer Society. Any group that does not use this official logo is in no way connected to the American Cancer Society," Lewis stressed.

"We want to make sure people realize a contribution to one of these other groups is not going to ACS and may not be used in the way the contributor intends."

If you have a question or complaint about a solicitation method or group, you may contact your nearest Better Business Bureau, the Attorney General Jim Mattox, P.O. Box 12548, Austin, 78711, or call Joan Lewis at 272-3469.

Steaks which are not tender can be microwaved on Low or Medium in a marinade—low power being best.

A good choice for the marinade is a slightly acid liquid—such as tomato juice or a marinade with wine.

Kendra Wilson

Bridal Shower Honors Kendra Wilson

The home of Druscilla Hutton was the setting Saturday, July 18 for a bridal shower honoring Kendra Wilson, bride-elect of Val Durrington. Guests called between the hours of 10 and 11:30 a.m. and were greeted by Miss Wilson; Marilyn Wilson, mother of the bride; Colleen Durrington of Abilene, the prospective groom's mother and Mrs. Hutton. Other special guests included Mrs. George Mitchell and Gladys Wilson, both grandmothers of the bride, and Susan Wilson of Levelland, the bride's sister-in-law. Several aunts of the bride also attended the shower. Hollye Hutton registered the guests.

The serving table was covered with a white Battenberg lace cloth and featured a lovely arrangement of spring flowers in hues of yellow and various shades of pink and peach. Peach napkins completed the table decorations.

Refreshments were served from china, crystal, and silver appointments. Guests enjoyed a variety of breads, small individual servings of quiche, various fresh fruits and melon balls, orange juice and coffee.

Rotary Hears Representative of General Land Office

Muleshoe's chapter of Rotary met at 12 noon July 21 in the Bailey County Civic Center with about 45 attending.

Curtis Shelburne provided background music. David Tipps presided. Sam Harlan gave the invocation and Tom Bonds led the pledge of allegiance.

Noe Anzaldua presented the program. He brought Lorenzo Sedeno, Marketing Field Specialist for Field Operations of the Lubbock office of the Texas General Land Office. Sedeno works under Texas Land Commissioner Garry Mauro and has since 1982.

Sedeno distributes information for the office, travels to counsel with veterans, visits city officials, tax assessors and county clerks.

Sedeno emphasized the need to recycle, reuse and resell. "We must think globally," he said. "We must protect our air and recycle to stimulate new industries."

Sedeno works with the Texas Recycling Council to reduce the local tax burden. "Texas has some of the most productive lands in the U.S.," Sedeno said. "We are concerned about our water."

"We must bring industry into Muleshoe and the Lubbock area. For example, compost is now being sold. We are beginning to pick up waste oil and antifreeze. We are buying manure from Mexico and cubing it. Money is being made in these ways."

"What are we wasting in Muleshoe?" Sedeno asks.

The Texas General Land Office is in charge of all the oil wells in Texas. It serves the needs of Texas veterans.

As an example of what the Land Office is doing for Muleshoe, Sedeno commented that the office has brought $320,000 in economic development to Muleshoe.

"The Texas General Land Office continues to serve the needs of Texas veterans. Veterans can get home improvement through the land office. They can buy land at 3% interest," Sedeno said.

Looking for bargains in higher education? Come to Texas!

Among the 50 states and the District of Columbia, Texas ranks 50th in what it spends in state appropriations and tuition to send a student through college. Only Mississippi trails Texas.

The state annually spends about $4,200 per year per student--more than $1,500 less than the national average. Resident tuition and fees at Texas public colleges and universities are lowest among all the 50 states!

The Isenharts started college in the early 60's at Sam Houston State where they met, married and dropped out of school to raise a family. Now with the children safely into--or out--of Texas A&M, Mom and Pop decided to complete their own degree.

Parents of the Year is a title the university confers annually the father and mother of an A&M student. They are chosen because they are excellent examples of Aggie spirit through their involvement in campus, community and family activities.

Lindsay Michelle Perry

Sgt. and Mrs. Michael Perry announce the arrival of a daughter born July 12 at RAF Lakenheath, England. Lindsay Michelle weighed 8 lbs., 15 oz. and was 22 3/4" long. She has two older sisters, twins Karen and Kelli, aged 5. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Mel Perry of Bakersfield, CA. and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Crenshaw of Muleshoe. Great grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. George McCormick of Clovis, N.M. and Mrs. Zelma Crenshaw of Loraine.

Step Parents Need Authority

Step-parenting isn't easy even when things are going good. One area that's frustrating for step-parents (hereinafter referred to as SP) is having a position of authority with the step-kids. They may be met by skepticism and have to go through a time of proving themselves.

Proving themselves as a worthy "parent" is quite a task. The kids may challenge the SP's decisions and guidance, especially discipline issues. Some kids compete with the SP's in virtually everything from sports to attention of the natural parent (hereinafter referred to as NP). The competition is probably an attempt to lower the SP in status.

The source of authority for the SP must come from not only their earning it, but from the NP. This is done by showing support in front of the children for decisions that are made by the SP, especially in the area of discipline. If the NP disagrees with the SP, that can be settled in private.

An SP may find themselves having to go to the NP to take care of the situation with the child. This puts the SP on the same level with the children. The SP is in a competitive situation and must go to the NP to get help. The situation can be helped by the NP by informing the kids of the parent's support for each other's decisions, even when the SP could be allowed to handle it with the NP present. For example, a child refuses to go to bed at the SP's direction. The NP is not in the room at the time but is informed of the refusal. Instead of the NP confronting the resistant child, it helps if the NP is just present when the SP enforces the bed time. If asked by the child about the "unfairness" of the situation, the NP can support the SP verbally. When done often enough, children will get the message that the SP is an important person around the house!

A coward is a person who lets fear control him.

carefully chosen in order to be timely for actual harvest of such crops as cotton, corn, grain sorghum and soybeans, as well as for planting wheat, other... small grains and forage crops.

To be held in the new South Padre Island Convention Centre, the Texas Produce Convention offers a diversified educational program including a keynote address by Texas Agricultural Commissioner Rick Perry. Three days of educational sessions will feature 41 speakers discussing such general topics as check off programs available from the state, biological control in Texas vegetables, opportunities for expanding value added in Texas, pros and cons of doing business in Mexico, crisis in pesticides for minor crops and what is being done about it, transportation issues and protecting assets from lawsuits, for example. Some of the topics specifically focusing on commodities include cultural practices for watermelon, capitalizing on the cancer inhibiting potential of onions and carrots, the national and international outlook for citrus, and break out sessions on broccoli, cabbage, spinach, hot peppers, and potatoes to name a few.

Key workshop presenters include Dr. Leonard Pike of Texas A&M University, Dr. Don Maynard of the University of Florida, Phillip Adrian of Driscoll Strawberry Associates of California, Bill Schaefer of J.R. Brooks and Son of Florida, Chris Schlect with the Minor Crop Farmer Alliance of Washington and Bobby Richey, Jr., U.S. Agricultural Attache to Mexico from Mexico City. Also scheduled to appear is Rep. E. "Kika" de la Garza, Chairman, House Agriculture committee to give an update on the negotiations of a free trade agreement.

The Texas Produce Convention also features a Trade Show with exhibitors from Texas, Georgia, Oklahoma, Massachusetts, Mississippi, Arizona, Florida, California, Illinois, North Carolina, Idaho, and Washington. These exhibitors represent suppliers from all aspects of the agricultural industry. Currently, the show features over 90 booths in the Exhibit Hall of the South Padre Island Convention Centre.

In addition to the educational opportunities and trade show, the convention also has planned social functions and sporting

The show site will include a 60 acre exhibit field where farmers and ranchers can examine equipment and visit educational events, and 500 acres of additional cropland where actual harvesting, tillage and planting demonstrations will take place. Exhibitors will include major farm equipment manufacturers, livestock suppliers, irrigation equipment makers, and many other companies engaged in producing and marketing of agricultural equipment and products.

The location of the show was carefully chosen. Lubbock is the center of one of the nation's most intense agricultural production areas. It and surrounding counties regularly produce a quarter of the U.S. cotton crop. It is also an irrigation, cattle feeding and grain production center.

Actual work at the show site will begin this October with the preliminary layout of streets and utilities. Tillage work will begin this winter and crops will be planted next spring for the 1993 harvest.

The audience will have ample time for questions and comments, Smith said. Registration of $25 is payable at the door.

Pesticide And Cotton Stalk Destruction Violators Fined

A Panhandle milling company owner, a North Texas cropduster and two Waco-area cropdusters have been fined by the Texas Department of Agriculture for pesticide application violations, Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry said today.

In addition, a Hidalgo County farmer was fined for failing to meet the state's cotton stalk destruction deadline last fall, Perry said.

The cases involved:
 Harold Dillehay of Panhandle Milling Co. in Canyon, Dillehay paid a $2,750 fine for allowing an unlicensed employee on April 26, 1991, to use Gastoxin, a restricted-use pesticide. State law requires that persons applying restricted-use pesticides be licensed by TDA. Gastoxin is an insecticide typically produced in pellet form. Dillehay also was found to have allowed the use of Gastoxin in a manner inconsistent with its label.

 Cropduster John Seay of Argyle paid a $1,000 fine for making three applications of herbicide to 1,600 acres of pasture without obtaining a spray permit in a county regulated under state herbicide laws. Seay made the applications of Grazon P+D from April 30 to May 2, 1991, in Denton County. Texas herbicide laws and regulations require that a spray permit be obtained from TDA before a hormone-type herbicide is applied to more than 10 acres. Grazon P+D is widely used in Texas to control scrub brush and mesquite.

 Jimmy Harryman and Raymond Dieterich of H&D Agricultural in Groesbeck, near Waco, paid a $1,800 fine for applying a herbicide inconsistent with its label on April 13, 1990, in McLennan County. The incident involved 2, 4-D being applied when winds favored drift. Other violations included failure to maintain proper herbicide records, failure to obtain a spray permit and spraying when nearby plants and trees were susceptible to drift.

 Farmer Jeff Houts of Edinburg paid a $400 fine after he failed to meet a cotton stalk plow up deadline of Sept. 1, 1991, in Hidalgo County. Pest management zone committees in four geographic zones in South Texas and around El Paso have cotton planting and stalk destruction deadlines to eliminate food sources for overwintering boll weevils. Planting dates ensure that cotton crops are harvested in ample time for the remaining stalks to be plowed under before boll weevils have a chance to set up a winter home.

Study Finds Women Unaware Of Menopause/Osteoporosis Link

A recent survey reveals that women's knowledge about the causes of osteoporosis, the most common bone disorder in the world, is extremely limited. Nearly all women surveyed are familiar with the disease, but only 11 percent correctly named menopause and hormonal imbalance as the main causes.

Many women are unaware of how to fight osteoporosis.

Postmenopausal osteoporosis, which afflicts more than 20 million American women, is a disorder characterized by a thinning of bone tissue, causing the body skeleton to become weak, brittle and susceptible to fractures. Up to 20 percent of women who suffer hip fractures will die within one year as a result of complications.

"The primary cause of postmenopausal osteoporosis is estrogen depletion after menopause," says Charles Chesnut, M.D., director, Osteoporosis Research Center at the University of Washington, Seattle. "As estrogen levels decline with menopause, bone loss accelerates."

The survey results indicate that a limited awareness of the various risk factors stops women from taking appropriate preventive measures. Many women (72 percent) report taking steps to prevent the development of osteoporosis, though the steps are primarily limited to dietary solutions, calcium supplements, exercise and milk.

"This lack of awareness jeopardizes the health of American women," says Dr. Chesnut. "The only proven preventive for postmenopausal osteoporosis is estrogen replacement therapy."

Many physicians will recommend a combination of therapies—including exercise and a diet rich in calcium—in conjunction with estrogen replacement. Estrogen is available by prescription. The newest therapy, a transdermal patch, Estraderm® (estradiol transdermal system), has recently been indicated for the prevention of postmenopausal osteoporosis. As with any medication, estrogen replacement therapy may not be advisable for all women, especially those with a history of certain malignancies. Independent studies have reported that taking estrogen may increase the risk of endometrial cancer. Estrogens should not be used during pregnancy. The most common side effect of the patch is skin irritation, although most women can use it successfully. A physician should be consulted for appropriate treatment options.

Although osteoporosis was once considered an inevitable consequence of aging, much progress has been made in its diagnosis and prevention. Women who are at high risk of developing postmenopausal osteoporosis should consult their physician to learn about appropriate preventive measures.
