Mules Take On Wildcats Friday Night At Idalou

The Muleshoe Mules and the Idalou Wildcats will meet at 8 p.m. Friday at Idalou. In last week's season opener, the Morton Indians scalped the Mules 26-14, while the Wildcats defeated Roosevelt 37 to 0.

In last week's game against the Morton Indians, the Muleshoe Mules met a strong defense. The Indians built up an 18-point lead against the Mules before they were able to get on the score board.

The Mules fought back in the third quarter and scored two touchdowns and made a two point conversion making the score Morton 18, Muleshoe 14 until the final minutes of the game.

Coach Randy Adair told the Journal that he recognized a lot of positives about last week's game. As a coach he saw an improvement in the team. "They were down by 18 points going into the second half and they came back by 14 points," Adair said. "We had a good second half, the team played real hard."

"No one likes to lose, especially the coaches, but if you learn something from it its educational," he continued. "I think we learned a lot and we benefited from the game. In the first half of the game Morton had 41 plays to our ten. Four of the ten were penalties and fumbles."

When asked how he felt about Friday night's game with Idalou he stated, "Idalou is a very strong team. They don't make a lot of mistakes. They play good basic football and they are good at it. And that is what we have got to do. You have to beat them, they don't beat themselves. We have got to play good defense and not have a lot of penalties and fumbles."

All of you football fans go to Idalou and support the Muleshoe Mules. Show them that win or lose you are behind them all the way.

Jo Wood Wins First Football Contest

The first week of the Football Contest drew a lot of interest and enthusiasm from football fans.

This week's first place winner was Jo Wood. She only missed three games and was 22 points off in the tiebreaker. Ms. Wood will receive ten points toward the grand prize winner and a check in the amount of $10.00.

Four contestants missed five

Three Way Gives Up Season Oper

In six-man football action the Three Way Eagles played Ropes at Ropes Friday night. Ropes defeated the Three Way Eagles 52 to 13 in their season opener.

The Eagles have a few strikes against them this year. They have a new coach, Vince Collins, who was hired during the first week of August. This gave Collins, only one week to prepare for two-a-day workouts. He hasn't had a chance to get to know the players or they him.

Even though Collins has little experience with six-men football, he is still optimistic about the season. "The fact that we have the want to and the willingness to get out there and play and not quit is encouraging," Collins said.

Three Way has only 12 players on its roster, but good size and quickness could help the Eagles back into the play off contention.

Brothers, Jesse and Jose Gutierrez are teaming up on both the offensive and defensive fronts.

Octavio Perez is the Eagles quarterback this year, being spelled by Wade Wilson at times.

Collins is trying to create a good mixture between the running and passing game and relying more on quickness than speed.

Next week the Eagles will play Dawson at Three Way.

All of you Three Way fans go out and back the Eagles, let them know you are backing them all the way.

games and the Journal Judges had to go to the tie breakers to determine the winner.

Marilyn Engelking missed five games and was only eight points off in the tiebreakers, earning a second place. She will receive six points toward the final prize winner and a check in the amount of $7.50.

Wade Cargile came in third. He also missed five games, but was 19 points off in the tiebreaker. He will receive four points and a check in the amount of $5.00.

Adam Graves and J.L. Purdy also missed five games but Graves was 22 points off in the tiebreakers and Purdy was 23 points off.

Longhorns Clobber Tigers 60-8

The Lazbuddie Longhorns took on the McLean Tigers in their season opener last Friday night, coming out on top 60 to 18.

Giving it all he had, quarterback Brett Thomas threw for 240 yards in passing and wideout Lelan Brockman scored a 72 yard kick off return. Thomas also scored five touchdowns for the Longhorns.

Mario Zamora and Jon Colby Miller, runningbacks had 228 yards rushing.

The Longhorns led at halftime 40 to 6. Thomas connected on passes of 29, three, and one yards.

competition and no prizes or awards are planned.

This is a show for people who are interested in preserving treasures of the past, whether they are family relics or purchased for private enjoyment.

The antiques are to be arranged by the chairman at her discretion or convenience.

The chairman, assistants, or other fair chairman shall not be held responsible for loss, damage or injury to articles; although the exhibit will be supervised at all times to enter articles and during the show times. All reasonable precautions to protect the property will be taken.

Mrs. Sharon Grant told the Journal that you should take these items to the Civic Center after 11 a.m. on Thursday, as no one will be available to take them before that time.

Special cash prizes will be awarded this year in the Adult Division and in the Youth Division. The judges will select the "Best of Show" in each of the divisions.

The cash prizes for the "Best of Show" entries will be $20 donated by the Muleshoe Activities Committee.

Ribbons will be awarded through three places in all classes. A purple rosette will be awarded to the best exhibit in each category for youth and adult divisions if there are three or more entries in each category.

A special prize of $50.00 will go to some lucky exhibitor in the fair.

Muleshoe Rotarians Meet

The Rotary Club met this Tuesday with a delicious noon buffet served by Larry Winkler and associates. Fifty-Five members and guests were present, including three special guest Rotarians: John Foster and Ray Lofton from Melrose, and Charles Christian from Farwell-Texico. All guests were welcomed and Sam Harlan won the drawing.

In charge of the program for the day was Buck Campbell, introducing guest speaker former District Governor, Ed Self. Self began his program by congratulating the Muleshoe Rotarians on the outstanding fellowship of their club. He entitled his program "Good Things Often Begin In Small Ways".

Examples that Seth related to his audience were beginning with how one's introduction to Rotary starts in such a small way as a Rotarian invites you to visit, and your experience with Rotary grows from there.

In 1905 Paul Harris, a lawyer who came from a small New England town, moved to Chicago, and realized how much he missed the fellowship of a small community, so he decided to get a few business men together and have lunch. They decided to take turns having the luncheon meeting in each of their offices, and thus he began the Rotary Club. It has

Clemson To Host Florida State Sat.

Michigan and Notre Dame could meet in football in the middle of March at the height of the basketball season - and it would still be the top game of the day. The third-ranked Wolverines, champions of the Big Ten last fall, are the visiting team this year and it could add to the difficulty of repeating last season's 24-14 win over the Irish. Notre Dame lost two other games on successive Saturdays to Tennessee and Penn State in 1991, then made up for it with a huge 39-28 upset win over Florida in the Sugar Bowl. Michigan's only loss last season was a 51-31 thrashing from Florida State. It might be easier to pick a winner if they were playing in March. However, Michigan wins on the road.

The last meeting between Southeast Conference rivals Georgia and Tennessee was three years ago, the Vols coming up with a 17-14 win in Knoxville. Tennessee and Georgia were 9-2 and 8-3 respectively in 1991, the Vols losing to Penn State 42-17 in the Fiesta Bowl while the Bulldogs were 24-15 winners over Arkansas in the Independence Bowl. In a dog-fight, Tennessee.

Neither Pittsburgh nor West Virginia of the Big East Conference made it into the Top Twenty last year, both teams finishing at 6-5. No bowls. The Panthers buried the Mountaineers 34-3 in their season-opener last year and we think home-standing Pittsburgh will win again.

Remember last season's opener between Michigan State and Central Michigan? The Chippewas stunned the Spartans 20-3. It shouldn't happen again, but stranger things have happened. Stay tuned.

Head Lice Can Be Controlled

School-aged children have a high incidence of head lice because they come in close contact with each other daily. It is their most common communicable disease, second to colds.

Dr. John Wolf, a dermatologist at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston, recommends:

*Using natural light and a magnifying glass when examining a child's hair for lice.

*Discouraging children from sharing hats, clothing and grooming aids.

*Washing sheets and recently worn clothes in hot water, and drying them on the hot cycle.

*Soaking in hot water any combs and brushes used on lice-infested hair.

*Vacuuming beds, rugs, furniture and stuffed animals, but do not use insecticidal sprays. They could harm family members and pets.

HATS OFF! - Dusty Rhodes, professional hat creaser at Joe Rhodes Boot Shop, tells the story of his ingenuity.

Hats Off To The Sombreros!

It all began about four and a half years ago at the Muleshoe July 4th celebration. On a hot summer's day in early July at a tent sale, he taught himself how to crease hats. It was there that Dusty Rhodes found a new profession.

Dusty's dad, Joe Rhodes, told his son that he was going to learn how to crease hats fast! And he did just that. Dusty admits, "I ruined a few hats at first, but not anymore!"

Last year Dusty attended Texas Tech University, majoring in Pre-Pharmacy. He worked at Ridge-Range Western Wear in Lubbock while attending classes, as a hat creaser. He is working his way to Weatherford to complete his Pharmaceutical degree.

Dusty commented on his newest invention - the 'Sombrero'. He said that Joe's Boot Shop received a huge shipment of them, and couldn't figure out what to do with them. They wouldn't sell. Then Dusty decided to change the crease on them and add a few personalizations like brands and hat bands, and they started selling like hot cakes. People started wearing them just for laughs, at only $5.00 each, and the business just started growing. He now ships them all over the United States, and is the only distributor to sell them. And to think it all started out as a joke...

Hats off to you, Dusty!

ATPE News Examines 21st Century Education

Educators face the daily challenge of preparing children to meet the demands of a rapidly changing world. For children who will graduate in the next century, preparation to succeed in a technical, highly competitive workplace is vital.

The September/October back-to-school issue of ATPE NEWS looks at some of the initiatives designed to aid in education for the 21st century. ATPE NEWS, the official journal of the Association of Texas Professional Educators (ATPE), examines the secretary's Commission on Achieving Necessary Skills (SCANS), school-to-work transition, and teacher empowerment. Texas' Task Force on High School Education and the state's new student assessment plan also are featured.

Also in this issue of ATPE NEWS is information to help ATPE members prepare for the association's 13th annual convention, to be held March 25-27, 1993, at Austin's new convention center. The September/October issue also provides highlights of ATPE leaders' July meeting with U.S. Secretary of Education Lamar Alexander. A look at the continuing public school finance dilemma and ATPE's priorities for the 73rd session of the Texas Legislature also are included. Coverage of the seven ATPE Leadership Workshops, which are held across the state in July also is provided.

With 54,700 members, ATPE is the largest, independent nonunion educators' association in the state and the nation. Its membership consists mostly of classroom teachers but also includes administrators, paraprofessionals, retired educators, education students, and public members.

ATPE NEWS is published five times a year by ATPE.

Subscriptions are $10. per year and are available by writing to the Editor, ATPE NEWS, 505 E. Huntland Dr., Suite 250, Austin, TX 78752-3792.

Healthy After School Snacks

With the start of school, children across the country will be coming home each afternoon anticipating after-school snacks.

And with as many as 10 million children spending the after-school hours on their own, it's important for parents to realize that many snacks (especially those made in the microwave) draw nearly half their calories from fat and are loaded with salt.

"Brownies, chocolate chip cookies and candy bars all contribute to a child's high fat diet," said Tracy Norman, R.D., patient dietitian at Methodist Hospital.

Bite by bite, such unhealthy snacks add up. In a recent study of 12,000 children, 20 percent had cholesterol levels over 200, the warning level for heart disease in adults.

Norman recommends parents try the following healthy after-school snacks for their children:

- *cut up veggies with yogurt dip;
- *fresh fruit salad;
- *whole grain crackers with low-fat spreads;

*cookies, such as fig bars, animal crackers and ginger-snaps, which are relatively low in fat; and

*popcorn made in a hot-air popper or with vegetable oil.

"Many children are getting more fat in their diets than they need," said Norman. "Although a certain amount of fat is essential in a diet, (and is especially important for children under 2) the key is to make better, low-fat choices, and in include your child in the excitement of selecting healthier foods."

Emus Represent Economic Diversity For Texas Agriculture

It's a face only a mother could love. But a number of producers in Texas, long-legged emus, a five-foot-high cousin to the ostrich, represent economic potential.

Approximately 12,000 emus, more than half of the nations emu population, are being raised in Texas. Estimated value of the Texas inventory is about $12.5 million. But the economic impact for the state is even greater when you factor in the potential of value-added processing and diversification.

While virtually all of the bird is marketable -- from meat to feathers -- the highly penetrating oil rendered from a layer of fat surrounding an emu's body is what makes this particular species extremely valuable. The oil, which can be almost totally absorbed by the skin, can be used in cosmetic and pharmaceutical products.

"Breeding and processing emus represent a new direction for Texas agriculture," said Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry, who has made food and fiber processing a major thrust of his administration.

In July, Emu Ranchers Inc. of Richardson introduced the first line of American produced skin care products made from emu oil. The cosmetics line was unveiled at American Emu Association's annual meeting in New Orleans. Marketed under the Emuri name, the cosmetics line includes a nighttime revitalizing cream and daytime skin treatment.

Currently, the products are sold through a telephone sales line at Emu Ranchers Inc., but several boutiques and department stores have expressed interest in carrying the Emuri line.

"Texas is the nucleus of the nation's emu industry, so it's only natural that we launch the first line of skin care products made from emu oil," said Cyndi Grossman, cooperative publicity director.

Emu oil is rendered at a processing plant near Montgomery then shipped to drums made of a special plastic to Atlantis Laboratories in Conroe for manufacturing.

"This is a product that is raised, processed and manufactured right here in Texas," Perry said, "which means we are keeping jobs, opportunities and dollars at home working for all Texans."

Commodity processing has been a major focus of the "Make It TEXAS" initiative launched by Perry in June 1991. "Make It TEXAS" is aimed at generating economic growth by enhancing the level of food and fiber processing in the state, America's second largest agriculture producer.

"Make It TEXAS" is helping Texans capitalize on the agriculture commodities we produce so abundantly in our state," Perry said.

If you are interested in emus, you may contact Emu Ranches at (214) 991-8895.

Trade Deficit Hopes

The Bush Administration cautiously forecast the U.S. trade deficit will continue to shrink this year, but renewed its appeal that Japan help narrow the gap by strengthening its economy.

Ultraviolet Light May Harm Eyes

Ultraviolet light, which causes skin damage, may also be linked to age-related eye disorders.

Dr. Laurance Rapp, a researcher at Baylor college of Medicine in Houston, is studying how ultraviolet light ages eye cells.

"This may help doctors treat disorders such as cataracts and macular degeneration, two major vision disorders that can be age-related," Rapp said.

Rapp is measuring the effects of UV light in the eyes of rats. Cells in the retinas are examined to evaluate damage and to determine the light's influence on the aging process.

Rapp suggests using sunglasses with UV protection.

Wedding Shower Held For Mr. and Mrs. Tim Winter

Mr. and Mrs. Tim Winter (nee Jill Turner)

Third Annual Farm & Home Show Scheduled

The 1992 South Plains Farm & Home Show will be held Friday, September 25 from 10:00 a.m. - 4:00 p.m. at the Hockley County Fairgrounds in Levelland. The show was established in 1990 to provide an exchange of new technology, services and needs among agricultural producers and supporting agribusinesses in the South Plain region.

"Farm Family Preservation" will be the theme for the 1992 Farm & Home Show. Farm and ranch machinery and equipment will be on display and several pieces of equipment will be demonstrated in a field adjacent to the fairgrounds.

Gins, elevators, irrigation equipment supplies, seed dealers, chemical companies, USDA agencies and a host of other agribusinesses will be represented at the show. Arts and Crafts booths, goods and services for the home, western heritage exhibits, car and pickup displays and lots of door prizes will provide attractions of interest to the entire farm and ranch family.

The Hockley County Farmers Association will be serving the noon meal again this year, so all those in attendance need to bring a hefty appetite. According to Kevin Newsom, president of the association, proceeds will once again go toward the association scholarship fund set up for college students majoring in agriculture.

Mark Foster, chairman of the Hockley County Extension Ag Industries Committee, which sponsors the show, encourages all businesses and individuals interested in setting up a booth or exhibit to call in their reservation as soon as possible. Reservations from returning exhibitors have already been received. Reservations from new exhibitors will be accepted until September 18.

To reserve a booth or display area at the show, simply call the Hockley County Extension Office at (806) 894-3159 before Friday, September 18. To attend the 1992 South Plains Farm & Home Show, just show up between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m. on Friday, September 25 at the Fairgrounds in Levelland--admission is free and all interested South Plains residents are encouraged to attend.

A patio party - wedding shower was held in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Tim Winter (nee Jill Turner) in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Meyers Friday, September 4, 1992 at 7:30 p.m.

Guests were greeted by Royce and Sandy Turner, Hank Turner, and Thurman and Rhonda Meyers, and were registered by Dani Heathington.

MICROWAVE TIPS

Can one microwave eggs in their shells? No, steam builds up inside and the egg will burst.

You need not use butter--which adds flavor--but can scramble eggs with milk or water in a microwave. Four eggs scrambled on High Power, with 1 tsp butter and 2 of milk can be microwaved in 2-3 minutes.

Fair On The Square Planned In Canyon

Members of the Canyon Chamber of Commerce are predicting a crowd of more than 5,000 for their first annual Fair on the Square. The event is planned for Saturday, October 3, with "something for everyone" during the day-long activities.

According to Project Chairman Ed Brake, Canyon will soon become known as the "Buffalo Chip Throwing Capital of the World." Proceeds will go to the Canyon Chamber of Commerce and their charities, the Drug Abuse Resistance Education and the Save the Courthouse Fund.

All activities will be on the Courthouse Square. Vendors from the entire area as well as local artists and craftsmen will sell their wares from over 300 booths around the Square. Antique and gift items will also be sold by a variety of dealers. Food items, with everything from snow cones to barbecue, will be available at booths on the south side of the square.

Entertainment will be non-stop, beginning at 9 am, on three stages set up around the square.

Approximately 18 entertainment groups will perform, including a two-hour set by a popular country band.

Brake predicts that one of the highlights of the event will be the Politician's Buffalo Chip Toss. All politicians who hold an office governing this area will be invited to participate. After the chip toss, the politicians will have an opportunity to buy microphone time and address the audience.

Other planned activities include the non-politician's Buffalo Chip Throwing World Championship Competition, Texas Ironman/Ironwoman Hay Hauling Contest, and a 5K/1 Mile Run. A baked goods competition and cakewalk will round out the day's activities.

The event is planned to coincide with West Texas State University's homecoming activities. Officials at WTSU and members of the Fair on the Square committee feel this will benefit both.

For more information or to reserve booth space, please call the Canyon Chamber of Commerce office at 655-7815 or Ed Brake at 655-8776.

The History Of

Bailey County

By the Bailey County Extension Office

Bailey County was formed in 1876 from Bexar Territory, was organized as a county in 1917 and was attached to Castro County for two years. The county was named for Peter James Bailey, a young Tennessee lawyer who died at the Alamo.

E.K. Warren and sons used the Johnson ranch for headquarters. The place soon became known as the Muleshoe Ranch and they began using the mule shoe brand, which they called the U Bar.

The old Muleshoe Ranch headquarters is about four miles west of the present day Muleshoe near FM 1760.

The Santa Fe Railroad wanted to build a "track from Farwell to Lubbock." E.K. Warren gave permission. When building the road, the Santa Fe asked us where we would like the shipping pens...and that was why...or rather...the beginning of the town of Muleshoe.

The city of Muleshoe is a part and covers most of the Muleshoe Ranch. The land was secured from E.K. Warren by warranty deed dated September 29, 1913.

The Muleshoe and Northern Texas Railway Company laid the foundation for the settlement of this county and ultimately provided the incorporated town. On February 11, 1918, 76 persons signed the first successful petition to organize Bailey County as a self-governing entity. The county became independent from Castro County shortly thereafter and its officials occupied the courthouse which was constructed in its present location on Ruby Plaza in 1925.

Bailey County is approximately 900 square miles in area, being

The Longhorns were so successful throwing the ball last year that Coach Mark Scisson has implemented a plan where both of the starting quarterbacks from last season will be on the field at the same time.

The McLean tigers rushed for 265 yards in the contest but only managed 11 yards in the air.

Longhorn Jody Copp left the game with a separated shoulder, but team officials said the injury was minor.

The J.V. team also won their game against the McLean J.V. team.

roughly 30 miles square. It contains the Muleshoe National Wildlife refuge, which was the first and is the largest in Texas consisting of 5,809 acres. It was established by Executive Order of President Roosevelt on October 24, 1935. The refuge is well known for the thousands of sandhill cranes that winter here each year.

Bailey County is also the home of the National Mule Memorial, the only monument of its kind in the world.

Bailey County is mainly an agricultural county with feeder cattle, dairy cows, cotton, wheat, grain sorghum, corn, potatoes, pumpkins, and various vegetables being the major commodities.

since grown to over one million members, and found in 84 countries across the world. A good thing was started in a small way.

In 1907, at a convention of Rotarians, Arch C. Clump decided to begin a fund to use in good and humanitarian ways. The fund began in 1918, with a small contribution of $26.00. This Rotarian Foundation grew to be the largest charitable club with gifts totaling over $600 million.

In 1978, Rotarians began inoculating children in the Philippines for polio. This grew into the Polio Plus Program. Now 82 percent of all children over the world are receiving infectious disease inoculations, and there were only seven reported cases of Polio in the Americas last year. It was one of the greatest undertakings the Rotarians have succeeded.

Several members of the Muleshoe Rotary Club were honored today for the work they have performed with the Polio Plus Program, each receiving a Paul Harris Fellow Award and a medallion. They are as follows: Tommy Gunstream, Julie Cage, J.D. Cage (unable to attend), Don McElroy, Kenneth Henry, Terry Hutto, Randy Field, Nell Stovall (in honor of Bob Stovall), Buck Campbell, Ted Barnhill, and Paul Poyner (unable to attend).

Small Independent Telephone Companies A Tradition

EDITORS NOTE: The following article was taken from a pamphlet by United States Telephone Association:

The discovery of the telephone in 1876 was perhaps one of the most historic events of the 19th century. Not only has the telephone revolutionized the way we live and work, but it remains the most dominant form of communication.

Ironic as it seems now, Alexander Graham Bell's invention was at first coolly received. Skeptics saw few practical applications for a device that could transmit voice over the wire.

Despite that initial reaction Bell demonstrated his telephone at the Centennial Exposition in Philadelphia in 1876. The competition was stiff; also on display were the first electric light, grain binder and printed telegraph.

To Bell's delight, however, the Emperor of Brazil, while making the rounds with the judges, declared that the telephone was the most wonderful invention he had ever seen or heard.

A year later, 600 telephones were in use and they were being produced at a rate of 25 per day. By 1894, there were more than 6,000 telephone companies operating independently from the Bell System, many of which served small towns and rural areas. They often were family-run enterprises or subscriber-owned cooperatives, which in many instances is still the case today.

These small independents displayed considerable ingenuity in developing new technology. One of the most important improvements was the invention of a dial system by Almon Brown Strowger, a Kansas City undertaker. His design was based on a model he built in a circular collar box using 100 pins and a lead pencil.

The original version had five push buttons with Stowger later replaced with a dial. In a strange twist of history, the inventor of the dial system used push buttons long before the latter became popular.

These small telephone companies thrived until the Depression in 1931. More than 3.5 million subscribers were lost from 1931 to 1933. Collection became a serious problem and telephone employees were often instructed to accept chickens, maple syrup or other items as payment for phone service.

Perhaps one of the most significant events in the history of small independent telephone companies was the decision by Congress in 1949 authorizing the Rural Electrification Administration (REA) to make loans to telephone companies. With financial assistance from

REA, many small companies were able to reconnect isolated areas and expand to new locations.

A look at some REA statistics shows that borrowers have invested $13 billion in facilities to serve their nearly six million subscribers. Borrowers employ nearly 30,000 rural Americans.

Since those events, the marketplace has become increasingly competitive. Small telephone companies, more than ever, are striving to meet the demands of this new environment. Indeed many of these companies are offering their customers a variety of advanced communications services. They recognize the vital role telecommunications will play in our nation's economic and social well being in the 21st century.

TWC Unveils Proposed Final Management Rules

The Texas Water Commission (TWC) has unveiled proposed final management rules for the Edwards Aquifer (Underground River) that would eliminate wasteful water use, provide for water management during droughts and ensure the development of alternative water supplies for the Edwards region.

Under the plan, total annual pumpage of the Edwards would be set at 450,000 acre-feet to be reduced to 400,000 not later than December 31, 2007. However, the plan also allows for the use of excess water when it is available. Specifically, diversions above 450,000 acre-feet per year would be allowed when the level of the Edwards is equal to or greater than 665 feet above mean sea level (msl) as measured at the J-17 index well in Bexar County.

Being Happily Married Is Not Always Easy

Formulas for having a happy, healthy marriage are passed around like trading cards. I want to add another.

Handling Conflict is necessary to keep a relationship from being eaten up from the inside. Too many people push conflict down so far that it begins to fester like an infection. It usually pops up somewhere though, in some form. Handling conflict is a lot more than yelling and arguing till you're worn out. It is being heard by the other, knowing you have the right to your feelings and having the other person kind of know your feelings. Avoiding conflict is not, usually, healthy.

Expression of Emotion by both partners helps each feel accepted and valuable. It shows trust and sensitivity. Each person has a right to their feelings. People who are in an environment where it is safe to express them will be a lot healthier emotionally.

Affective Affirmation has to do with being accepted as you are, for who you are. It is easy to accept someone as they are before you're married and then think marriage will change them. It doesn't work that way. A person may want to change as a means of personal growth but not to change the basic person.

Having Fun is something many of us have forgotten how to do. We've been busy climbing a career ladder, making money, and impressing people that we have left the little child, inside us, all alone.

South Texas Horses Dying

Tests are underway to determine the cause of death of six horses in South Texas near Harlingen and San Benito. The horses, which became sick or have died since early July, have exhibited central nervous system disorders. Dr. Terry Beals, executive director of the Texas Animal Health Commission (TAHC), said the symptoms are similar to those seen in animals injected with "sleeping sickness," or equine encephalitis, a viral disease spread by mosquitoes. However, he said, only preliminary laboratory test results are available and a final diagnosis has not been made.

"Several other diseases can present similar clinical signs, including equine infectious anemia, tetanus, or even botulism," said Dr. Beals, who head up the state's regulatory agency for livestock health. "Without confirmation for the laboratory, we cannot determine what has caused this illness outbreak."

Special trained veterinary diagnosticians are working with the local veterinarians and owners to ascertain the cause of these deaths," he said. "Currently, we have to quarantines or restrictions in place on the movement of horses in this area."

Blood and brain tissue samples from the horses have been sent to the National Veterinary Science Laboratory (NVSL) in Ames, Iowa, for tests. In the meantime, Dr. Beals suggest that horse owners in South Texas may want to take extra precautions and contact their veterinarians about having horses would require that pumpage be reduced to 350,000 acre-feet if the level of the Edwards should drop to 625 feet (msl) as measured at the J-17 index well. The guidelines would require all users of the Edwards to develop water conservation plans and to demonstrate they are using water efficiently and without water waste in the determination of their permanent water right.

The plan extends a Commission moratorium enacted April 15, 1992, on the drilling of new wells. The moratorium, which does not apply to wells for non-commercial domestic and livestock use, will remain in effect until this management plan is fully implemented June 1, 1993 or an alternative plan is implemented by the Texas Legislature.

The management plan would also require that studies be conducted to determine the feasibility of strategies such as springflow augmentation, diversions downstream of the springs, and other measures to optimize the use of water from the Edwards.

"This plan is based on the same time-tested principles of surface water management being utilized successfully by virtually every major city in this state," said TWC Chairman John Hall. "It also reflects the very fairest and most realistic compromise we could fashion considering the diverse interests that rely on the Edwards and it provides the greatest degree of protection humanly possible at this time for endangered species."

Details of the management plan include the following:
CURRENT USERS

* Interim authorization for continued pumping for the Edwards would be given for wells producing as of April 15, 1992. Any well not completed by the date is considered a new well under the rules and is not provided interim authorization to pump.

* A sworn declaration of historical use, with documentation to substantiate that use, must be submitted by current users by November 1, 1992. This declaration must include:

Names and addresses of those owning the well, the location of the well, date of construction, size, depth, date of first withdrawal, volume of water diverted during each calendar year since January 1, 1982, purposes for which water from the well were used, amount of water used for each purpose, and the location at which the water was used.

Irrigators will also be required to provide a topographical map of the land irrigated by each well, and the year when irrigation first occurred, the total number of acres irrigated in each calendar year since January 1, 1982, type of crops grown, cropping patterns used, irrigations method and devices used in irrigation.

* The declaration of historical use will constitute an application for a (water right) permit.

* Failure to file a declaration of historical use by November 1,

1992 will result in the immediate termination of the interim authorization to pump from the Edwards.

* A conservation and reuse plan must be submitted by June 1, 1993.

* Each well must be installed with a meter or other approved measuring device by September 1, 1993.

* Beginning in 1993, each user, (except for non-commercial domestic and livestock wells) must file an annual report of water use not later than March 1.

DOMESTIC AND LIVESTOCK WELLS

* The moratorium of the drilling of new wells does not apply to wells for non-commercial domestic and livestock use.

* Registration of existing wells is required by September 1, 1993 regarding ownership location, depth, size, diameter and maximum pumpage capacity. The requirement will apply to all new wells drilled after September 1, 1993.

* Metering and development of a conservation and reuse plan would not be required for domestic and livestock wells.

ASSIGNMENT OF WATER RIGHTS

* The establishment of water rights for each user of the Edwards will not be considered until late after June 1, 1993. This will allow time for the Texas Legislature to develop and approve an Edwards management plan.

* The Commission will not consider any application for a permit (water right) for which a timely declaration of historical use was not filed, until a final determination has been made on all applications which met timely historical use and water conservation and reuse plan filings.

* A water right permit could be issued for more than an amount of water equal to the maximum used without waste in any single calendar year between 1982 through 1991 -- but not less than the average annual amount of water used over those years.

* A water right may be granted for a new well or for expanded use of a producing well if additional waters are available and all other requirements for registration and submittal of a conservation and reuse plan are met.

* Before water may be drawn from a replacement well, the old well which it replaces must be permanently plugged and closed.

The Edwards rules will be considered for final adoption by the Commission on September 9, 1992.

Copies of the plan are available to the public at the San Antonio Express News, San Antonio Light, The Edwards Underground Water District Office all in San Antonio; the San Marcos Record, the New Braunfels Herald Zeitung, the Media Valley Times, the Hondo Anvil Herald. Copies are also available through TWC's public Information Office at (512) 463-7830.

HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — President Bush followed his opponent on the campaign trail to Texas last week, turning on the federal funds spigot to boost the economy here.

Meanwhile in Houston, U.S. Atty. Gen. William P. Barr criticized Democrat Texas Atty. Gen. Dan Morales for being too lenient in favor of prisoners in the proposed settlement of a state prison lawsuit which has cost Texas taxpayers millions of dollars.

Bush told growers near Lubbock he has committed $755 million in disaster relief for farmers and announced a $1 billion package of farm export subsidies.

In Fort Worth, where General Dynamics makes F-16 fighter jets, Bush announced the sale of 150 planes - $6 billion - to U.S. ally Taiwan for defense against China.

Chinese officials said they weren't happy about the sales, but several Texas officials were, including Bush's stalwart political foe, Gov. Ann Richards, who applauded the news for the sake of Fort Worth's economy.

The Clinton campaign in Texas accused Bush of trying to buy Texas voters just before the election.

Morales Criticized

Regarding the prison lawsuit, Barr said he was disappointed in Morales' decision to settle the Ruiz case "too much in favor of inmates."

Some state legislators wanted Morales to appeal to the now-conservative U.S. Supreme Court, where a decision against the prisoners would save Texas taxpayers millions in new prison construction for court-ordered remedies.

Barr said among the nation's federal judicial districts, San Antonio led the U.S. in prosecutions with Dallas third and Houston fifth.

Dollars to Judges

The on-going battle between trial lawyers and business took a plain-vanilla turn last week when a group of trial lawyers released their study of political contributions to Texas Supreme Court candidates.

Austin trial lawyer David Bragg said over 47,500 gifts were included in the study which found that:

■ 87 percent of all contributions

were made by lawyers, bankers, insurance companies and doctors.

■ Among lawyers, $442,821 came from top defense firms and $317,623 from plaintiff firms in '91-'92.

■ Lawyers also contributed almost $1 million to GOP candidates and $877,000 to Democrats.

Bragg concluded that favorable decisions for consumer groups are at an all-time low over the past 10 years.

Other Highlights

■ A new rule, issued by the Texas State Treasury, prohibits minors from bringing cigarettes across the border. The Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission, which collects state taxes on tobacco products for the Treasury at all international crossings, will enforce this regulation which went into effect last week.

State Treasurer Kay Bailey Hutchison stated, "This rule closes a loophole in the existing law. Previously, while minors were prohibited from purchasing cigarettes in Texas, they legally could bring cigarettes into the state from Mexico. Now, if a person under the age of 18 attempts to bring cigarettes across the border, those cigarettes will be seized." No other penalties will be assessed.

■ On the personal income chart, in 1991 Texas ranked 31st among the states with an average salary per person of $17,230, according to U.S. Department of Commerce reports.

However, based on a percentage increase over the previous year (1990), Texas scored much better, 8th with a 3.9 increase.

Other rankings of interest: Connecticut, 1st, $26,022; Mississippi, 50th, $13,328; Arkansas, 47th, $14,629.

■ Texas Railroad Commissioner Bob Krueger said he believes the Texas bullet train project will fail, based on progress so far.

■ Governor Richards blamed President Bush for "destroying the oil and gas industry" at a fund-raising dove hunt on Honey Grove to boost fellow Democrats Railroad Commissioner Lena Guerrero and state Sen. Ted Lyon.

She picked on the Republican National Convention held in Houston last month, saying "even a dead cat will bounce if you throw it hard enough."

■ In the wake of press reports that 19 doctors convicted of serious crimes have been allowed to continue practicing medicine, Richards called for reform on the Texas State Board of Medical Examiners.

Kim Ross, of the Texas Medical Association, said the board's problems boil down to size and quality of staff.

■ Jack Matson, a member of the Texas Air Control Board who recently took a job in Pennsylvania, says he intends to serve out his term as he considers himself a "dual resident" of Texas and Pennsylvania. Governor Richards' legal staff has concluded that dual residence would permit Matson to continue serving on the nine-member board that oversees the state air pollution control agency.

■ The General Land Office's oil spill division has contracted for nearly $1.23 million in projects in fiscal 1992, to find better ways to fight oil spills.

LUBBOCK, Friday, September 4, 1992

By Shawn Wade

High Plains cotton producers received some good news Wednesday during a brief stop by President George Bush at the Shallowater Co-op Gin in Shallowater.

Officials at Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers welcomed the President's visit and announcement of the release of $755 million in disaster relief funds as good news for the areas cotton producers.

"We are very pleased that the President has decided to release the remaining disaster funds," says PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson. "This will definitely help producers get back on their feet and try again in 1993."

Johnson noted that the President's visit also indicates that PCG efforts to get word out about the extent of damage to the area's crop was effective. He explained that PCG has been working hard to encourage the release of these funds, through correspondence directly to the President and working closely with area Congressmen and industry leaders, since July.

PCG stepped up its efforts to gain the release of the remaining disaster funds shortly after the heavy rains that devastated over half the areas cotton acres.

Bush's visit, the first by a serving President since Gerald Ford came to the area in the mid-1970's, drew a substantial crowd, estimated at near 7,500, to the Shallowater Co-op Gin.

Bush released the funds citing the substantial losses to the High Plain's cotton crop, as well as losses in wheat and other crops across the nation.

Cotton producers who want to sign up for disaster assistance can do so during sign-up for Phase 3 of the program. Phase 2 sign-ups will only be open to fall-seeded crops of wheat, oats and barley for harvest in 1992.

Initial information received from the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) about Phase 3 of the Disaster program indicates that both program and non-program crops will be eligible for assistance.

Phase 3's sign-up period will begin October 13, 1992 and run through February 12, 1993 according to Lester Byrd, Chief of the Texas ASCS Production Adjustment Division in College Station. Phase 3 will also allow producers to select the year they wish to receive disaster benefits, either 1990, 1991 or 1992.

Byrd explained that sign-up for Phase 2 of the Disaster program will be September 8 through October 2. He added that a producer signing up for Phase 2 to cover 1992 wheat losses will be required to stay with 1992 under Phase 3 for other crops he may have losses on.

Producers who have received disaster payments for 1990 or 1991 losses will be able to select one of the remaining two years to file on under Phase 3.

Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers encourages everyone to attend the Texas A&M University Research and Extension Center's 83rd Annual Field Day September 8 at Lubbock. The event will be held from 1:00 p.m. to 4:00 p.m. at the center located one and one-half miles east of I-27 on FM 2641 north of Lubbock. The Field Day will include exhibits and discussions of various agricultural topics.

Agencies cooperating in the event are the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the High Plains Research Foundation, the Texas Forest Service, the USDA - Agricultural Research Service, and Texas Tech University.

Texas Farmers Union Chief Finds Farm Income Report Misleading

Joe Rankin, President of Texas Farmers Union, said the headlines from a recent newspaper article. "Perry says Bush raised farm income 32%," is misleading, inaccurate and totally distorts the true agriculture financial crisis in Rural America today.

Texas Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry, at the National GOP Convention, said, "Under the leadership of President Bush, farm income has risen 32% nationally; a record high, and farm debt has fallen $55 billion".

The USDA publication Agricultural outlook, estimates the 1991 forecast of net farm income at $37-$45 billion, or an average of $42 billion; a decrease from $60.8 billion in 1990; a 30.9 percent decrease last year; and only a slight increase from 1988 of $40.6 billion.

"These numbers vary widely with IRS figures, which reflect reported farm income for tax purposes," said Keith Collins, director of the Department's Economic Analysis Staff. "USDA calculates its farm income estimates on the basis of agriculture's contribution to the gross domestic product, while IRS figures reflect reported farm income for tax purposes," Collins continued.

By all accounts, the difference between the two figures is huge. In 1988 the USDA net farm income figure was $42 billion, while the aggregate farm income from IRS schedule F totals was $500 million, according to Collins. This represents less than 1.2 percent of USDA net farm income statistics.

"USDA is always saying farm income is at a record level, but, at the same time, most farmers are just getting by and many are going out of business, which might account for some drop in farm debt.

If farmers going out of business reduces farm debt, it does not represent the economic recovery in agriculture being portrayed," Rankin said.

"Thirty-six thousand farmers went out of business in the past year. Twelve percent (of the nation's farmers) didn't leave agriculture in the past 10 years because they were making too much money," Rankin said.

With the U.S. Department of Agriculture, and the Texas Commissioner of Agriculture, using statistics with this extremely large margin of error, it's not surprising that more and more family farmers go out of business every day. There is a real world out here and if farmers are to be expected to provide food and fiber for that world, then USDA and Our Texas Agriculture Commissioner need to acquaint themselves with accurate data-which is available to them.

The heat pump captures it to heat and cool your home naturally.

The Dual Fuel Heat Pump uses existing heat to keep your home comfortable...naturally. Because it doesn't have to create heat, it's very efficient. For each unit of energy it uses, the Dual Fuel Heat Pump creates two or three units of heat.

Dual Fuel Heat Pump owners say it costs them less to operate than other systems. And, because it's electric, the Dual Fuel Heat Pump is cleaner.

There is heat in the air on the coldest days. The heat pump captures it to warm your home.

In summer, it becomes a high efficiency air conditioner. During hot weather, the heat pump captures the heat inside the home and takes it outside.

Smoke Stoppers

Smoking is the single highest cause of disability and death in this country. It's responsible for one in six deaths annually.

A recent report by the U.S. Surgeon General confirmed that nicotine is a "powerfully addicting drug."

Smokers who experience one or more of the following characteristics are classified as nicotine dependent:

- * Serious attempts to stop or cutback on smoking prove unsuccessful.
- * Attempts to quit smoking produce physical withdrawal symptoms such as a craving for tobacco, anxiety, irritability, restlessness, difficulty in concentrating, headaches, drowsiness and stomach upset.
- * Continued smoking in the presence of such conditions as cardiovascular or respiratory disease, which smoking worsens.
- * Developing a tolerance to tobacco in which a certain dose of the drug produces less of an effect over time. Increased doses are necessary to achieve the desired sensation.

For smokers who wish to quit, Methodist Hospital offers Smoke Stoppers. This behavior management program uses such techniques as stress management and nutritional awareness to help smokers quit.

Smoke Stoppers classes are taught by ex-smokers who demonstrate how to use all five of the senses in developing new associations about smoking. Instructors also discuss such topics as ways to prevent weight gain and reduce irritability.

The next Smoke Stoppers classes are scheduled for Sept. 14 at noon and 7 p.m. in the Annex Classroom, 3706 B, 20th Street. For more information on Smoke Stoppers, contact the LifeStyle Centre at Methodist Hospital at 793-4386.

Nontoxic Shot Needed For Teal Hunting

Texans will be able to shoot teal during a nine-day September season (Sept. 12-20) for the first time since 1987 and some questions have been raised about when nontoxic shot may be needed or possessed by a hunter.

Capt. Jim Robertson, TPWD game warden, said nontoxic shot, which includes steel shot, is required only for hunting migratory waterfowl. If a hunter possesses lead shot while hunting teal, other ducks, geese, and coots, he is in violation of the law. However, both lead and steel shot may be used to hunt doves.

When a hunter plans to hunt teal and doves in the same area, the best solution is to possess and hunt only with nontoxic shot. The hunter also could decide which game bird he wants to hunt. The hunter may hunt doves with lead shot as long as he does not shoot waterfowl.

A New Texas "First"?

Was Texas home of the first human inhabitants of North America?

Scientists aren't ready to say yet, but they're inclined to believe that one of the earliest habitations on this continent was 10 miles northwest of Austin.

Archaeologists at The University of Texas at Austin have uncovered the complete skeleton of an Ice Age woman, tools and other artifacts leading them to conclude that a settlement existed on the site as long as 11,000 years ago!

The skeleton, the oldest female human ever found in Texas, was discovered in 1982. Studies of the skeleton and tools found near her grave indicate that she lived thousands of years before the building of the Egyptian pyramids.

Now a decade later, a team of 25 scholars is back at the site at what one U.T. researcher says is "virtually the whole archaeological record of Texas."

Test To Detect MS Developed By Baylor College Of Medicine

When 5-year-old Bo Mazac's blood test revealed an abnormally high level of an enzyme known as CPK, doctors suspected Duchenne muscular dystrophy.

Bo had no muscular problems and no family history of muscular dystrophy, but a large amount of CPK in the blood is a sign of the disease.

Doctors could have requested a muscle biopsy or electromyogram, but Bo was able to avoid these major invasive procedures with a simple blood sample, thanks to a test developed by researchers at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston.

This test using deoxyribonucleic acid (DNA), the basic building blocks of life, uses a genetic analysis technique called polymerase chain reaction (PCR). PCR makes DNA copies so that the defective genes associated with Duchenne and Becker muscular dystrophy can be identified quickly and accurately.

Duchenne and Becker are two severe forms of muscular dystrophy.

In this case, the PCR analysis of Bo's DNA confirmed the doctor's suspicions.

Dr. C. Thomas Caskey predicts the PCR technique will become "the new diagnostic standard of practice for Duchenne and Becker muscular dystrophy."

Caskey is head of Baylor's Institute for Molecular Genetics and an investigator at the Howard Hughes Institute at Baylor.

Researchers in Caskey's laboratory tested the technique in a 14-lab, multi-national study. They found that PCR detected 46 percent of the cases of Duchenne or Becker muscular dystrophy.

It is faster, easier to use and more reliable than the Southern blot analysis, another DNA-based procedure for diagnosing muscular dystrophy. It can be used for both prenatal and postnatal diagnosis. And it is less expensive.

The Baylor lab charges about $300 for the PCR procedure. The cost of muscle-biopsy surgery, an electromyogram and several weeks of lab tests can be thousands of dollars.

Other researchers involved with the study were Dr. Jeffrey S. Chamberlain, Dr. Joel R. Chamberlain, Dr. Raymond G. Fenwick and Patricia A. Ward. Both Chamberlains are now at the University of Michigan.

Changes To Be Phased In State's Student Assessment Testing Program

Changes in the state's student testing program being phased in beginning this school year will expand the number of subject areas tested and cut back on the number of classroom hours devoted to taking statewide standardized examinations.

The first of the changes, which will be implemented gradually over a two-year period, will involve the scheduling of the Texas Assessment of Academic Skills (TAAS). During the 1992-93 school, the TAAS will be given in the fall to students in grades 3, 7 and 11, and in the spring to students in grades 4, 8 and 10. But this will be the last time the test will be administered in the fall, and the last time it will be given to third and seventh-graders.

However, for the first time, the exit-level TAAS, currently administered to high-school juniors in the spring, will be given instead next spring to sophomores. By moving up the scheduling of the exit-level test, students who fail the exam will gain an extra opportunity to re-take it. Graduates must pass the exit-level TAAS to receive their high school diplomas.

"This streamlining of the testing process will allow us to focus attention on real preparation versus minimum graduation requirements," said Lionel R. Meno, Commissioner of Education.

The changes were approved by the State Board of Education at its meeting last April in Houston.

Other changes in the makeup of the test are planned for 1993-94 and 1994-95. New subject areas that will be added to TAAS include computer literacy, social studies, science, second-language proficiency, and physical fitness and health. The TAAS currently tests students in reading, writing and mathematics, but these examinations cover less than 20 percent of the essential elements identified in the state's curriculum.

Advisory committees met during the summer to determine the content of the new tests.

"We want to involve Texas educators at all levels in how and what should be tested," said Keith Cruse, senior director of the Division of Instructional Outcomes Assessment. "This must be done to

Jazz Club To Be Produced At Texas Tech University

The Bass Line, Texas Tech's only jazz club, will open with traditional jazz music in the University Center (UC) Ballroom September 12 at 8 p.m.

Tickets, priced $8 for Tech Students and $10 for others and which include a gourmet dessert and beverage, are available at the UC Ticket Booth or by calling 742-3610.

The event creates an intimate atmosphere which UC activities advisor Gail Littleton calls "an alternative to the smoke-filled bar settings where jazz groups are often heard, and which some individuals don't frequent either by choice or because they are too young to get in."

Houston-based jazz band, the Sandra Dudley Quartet, will play two sets of live entertainment. The quartet's traditional jazz sound has been heard throughout clubs on the east coast and has since moved to the Gulf coast region to play in jazz clubs around Houston.

The unique Bass Line T-shirts will once again be on sale for $12 at the door.

The Bass Line, sponsored by UC Programs, has another club scheduled for February 1993 with a Mardi Gras theme.

mirror good classroom practices."

To expand the scope of the test and make it more efficient, new subject areas will require students to demonstrate their competency in performing a variety of tasks that reflect real-world situations. For instance, students may complete tasks on a computer to test their computer literacy, or perform experiments in a science lab. Field testing for the new subject areas began during the 1992-93 school year.

On the other hand, the state's new Norm-Referenced Assessment Program for Texas will be reduced in scope beginning this school year. The NAPT was given for the first time last April in grades 3 through 11, and tested reading, language, mathematics, social studies and science. Unlike the TAAS, the NAPT is based on national, not state, curriculum standards and is required for state evaluation for some federally funded programs. The test will continue to be administered to the same grades, but the required subject areas will be limited to reading and mathematics. This will significantly reduce the time students spend taking the test. Districts may continue to give the other subject areas on an optional basis.
