Silverton Clay Plant Working Again

After experiencing considerable trouble last week with the new machinery, it is believed that the trouble has been remedied at the Silverton Clay Plant. Production the first of the week was around thirty tons a day, which is near a car of finished clay.

The trouble last week was caused by the main shaft in the mill breaking and was thought to have been caused by the foundation getting out of plumb. No further trouble is expected.

Mr. Webb is dressing up the front of the office and grounds. A lawn has been started and trees planted. The place will present an attractive appearance this summer—nothing like one would expect when one considers that the place produces Fullers Earth, which is nothing more or less than very fine silt.

Texas Leads Nation In Payments Made Under 1937 Agricultural Program

Over one-eight of all payments made so far in the United States under the 1937 Agricultural Conservation Program have been made in Texas, according to Geo. Slaughter, Wharton, chairman of Texas Agricultural Conservation Committee.

Information received from Washington shows that payments already made in the Nation as a whole total around 72 million dollars, while the Texas AAA office at Texas A. and M. College has announced payments of $9,496,000. Slaughter said.

Washington announcements indicate that March and April will be the peak months for making payments," Slaughter pointed out, "whereas in Texas it is expected that practically all applications for grant under the 1937 program will be through the state office by the last of March.

"This means that payments in Texas are progressing about a month ahead of the average for the United States."

Slaughter estimated that the payments received by Texas farmers who cooperated in the Agricultural Conservation program in 1937 will total nearly 35 million dollars.

Quitaque Boys Come Here On Friday Night to Box Local High School Boys

Friday is fight night! Quitaque comes here Friday night of this week with their boxing team to try the mettle of the Silverton boxers. Silverton, and Quitaque, as well, has been looking forward to this match for several weeks, and a staunch crowd of boosters from each town are expected.

Silverton has several boys who have proven that they are pretty good with the gloves—not so good scientifically maybe—but when it comes to getting in there and mixing it, they have what it takes.

Quitaque comes up led by Barney Bogan, 148 pounder, who won first place in his weight last Friday at the Turkey Tournament. He will probably meet, either Len Lee, or Odell Gregg, and either one will give Mr. Bogan all he can handle, and maybe a little more.

Other fighters from Quitaque are: Hall, 109; Lee, 116; Payne, 117; Lee, 127; Grant, 137; Cupell, 139; and Taylor, 160.

Silverton leatherpushers are: Gregg, 90; Boyce, 110; Brooks, 115; Long, 125; Hunt, 135; Gatewood, 135; Gregg, 145; Olive, 155; and Brown, 155. Besides the fighters listed, several outside exhibition bouts are expected.

The admission is 10c and 25c and is bound to be well worth the admission price. The boys will start things off at 8:00 P. M.

The proceeds of the fight night goes to the Silverton Athletic fund and will be used to buy new equipment and pay off old debts. They have almost paid off all their debts and will be able to start this football season with a clean slate.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

A returned missionary who had lived many years in a heathen land, said that what impressed him most when he came back to America was not the stately buildings, the mechanical improvements on every hand, or the handsome girls and young women, but the beautiful old ladies. Heathen women grow ugly as they grow old. This he attributed not so much to hard work as to vacant minds and unimproved hearts. The reverse is often seen in our country. Not that certain charms which belong to youth can be retained with advancing years, but other and better ones replace them. There certainly is a "beauty of Holiness" which is often seen in the face of the aged saint. We will think along these lines next Sunday morning. Vespers at 5:00 p. m.

AUSTRIA IS WIPED OUT

Made a State in German Reich After Armed Invasion By Hitler . . . The Fuehrer Enters Vienna in Triumph

This picture, made in an Austrian border town and transmitted by radio photo, shows a contingent of Hitler's troops marching toward Vienna after being landed from airplanes in the country that has now been made a state of the German reich.

Edward W. Pickard SUMMARIZES THE WORLD'S WEEK

Austria a German State

AUSTRIA, as a sovereign state, is no more. In the twinkling of an eye its independent identity was wiped out and it became merely another state in the German reich.

Arthur Seyss-Inquart

The German reich has acquired 32,369 square miles of territory and 6,732,000 more inhabitants.

Arthur Seyss-Inquart rules the Austrian state after the enforced resignation of President Miklas and Chancellor Schuschnigg.

Such is the concrete result of Hitler's startlingly sudden invasion of Austria and seizure of power there.

Great Britain and France fled from protests against the German coup, but their notes were scornfully rejected by the Berlin foreign office.

Hitler Goes to Vienna

RETURNING in triumph to the land of his birth, Hitler first visited the graves of his parents and then, standing bareheaded before a cheering throng in Linz he proclaimed the union of Germany and Austria, declaring this had been his divine mission.

Adolf Hitler

Moving through many towns and cities, the Fuehrer's motor caravan finally reached Vienna, and that once proud city, now just a provincial capital of a German state, went wild with joy in greeting its master.

excluding some 75,000 Jewish lawyers and 60,000 Jewish doctors from practice. The Evangelical church of Austria was united with that of Germany.

Hitler took supreme command of the Austrian army and all officers and men took the oath of allegiance to him. On his progress to Vienna Hitler was accompanied or followed by numerous units of his motorized armies so that when he arrived the city was swarming with German troops.

Nazi economists in Berlin were busy planning in detail the economic life of the annexed territory. Minister of Economy Walther Funk said that Austria would henceforth participate in the German four-year plan for recovery and independence of foreign markets.

It was assumed that Seyss-Inquart would be "minister and president" of the Austrian state, having the same status as the chief executives of Prussia and Bavaria.

Insist on TVA Inquiry

IT DOES not seem likely, at this writing, that the administration can prevent the congressional investigation of the TVA which Chairman A. E. Morgan and others have demanded.

much time to Chairman Morgan, David Lilienthal and Harcourt Morgan, the directors, to settle their differences. He told them plainly that if they could not do this they should resign from the board.

For six hours the President tried in vain to induce A. E. Morgan to substantiate if he could the charges he had made against his colleagues, these including the making of evasive and misleading reports and "dishonesty of malfeasance" in handling the claims of Berry and others.

He noted in a statement put into the record that he had "repeatedly but unsuccessfully" sought Mr. Roosevelt's co-operation in correcting "grave conditions" within TVA.

Mutiny in Russian Army?

UNCONFIRMED reports were received in Riga, Latvia, that mutiny had broken out in some of the largest garrisons of the Soviet army and that fighting was going on.

HEADLINES FROM THE LIVES OF PEOPLE LIKE YOURSELF!

"Why Kidnap Me?"

By FLOYD GIBBONS Famous Headline Hunter

HELLO EVERYBODY:

Here's a mystery. Why was Sam Wolf kidnaped? That question puzzled Sam himself. It puzzled me, too. Maybe it will make you wonder a bit. We all know why most kidnapers commit their dirty crimes. They do it for money—for ransom. Once in a while a man is kidnaped for revenge, or to keep him from telling what he knows.

Sam lives in Brooklyn, N. Y. One August day in 1934, something went wrong with his lucky star.

Sam is a truckman, and on that August day he was working as usual. It was about 1 o'clock in the afternoon, and his truck was parked at the curb in mid-town Manhattan. As he sat there in the driver's seat a young man came over to him.

Just a Job of Trucking.

The young fellow looked all right to Sam, and there was no reason why he should suspect anything. Sam didn't have any large amount of money on him, and there was no other reason he could think of why anyone should want to harm him.

The young lad asked Sam his price and Sam told him it would be three bucks. The young fellow said, "All right," and they started off. They got to the Eighteenth street address, which proved to be a furnished house, and both of them went inside.

As they entered Sam went first and the young fellow followed. They climbed a flight of stairs and turned into one of the rooms on the second floor. As Sam went in—the door closed behind him. Then, out from behind that door stepped a masked man, a slouch hat pulled down over the upper part of his face, pointing an automatic pistol.

Tied Him Up but Wouldn't Explain.

The man pressed the gun against Sam's side. He told Sam to keep quiet. The pair of them—the masked man and the young fellow who had hired him to move trunks—began tying him up. They bound his hands and feet with wire—put a towel over his mouth. Then the masked man went out, leaving the young fellow to stand guard over their prisoner.

It was all too much for Sam. What did these birds want? Did they expect to get any money out of him? Then they were going to be disappointed. Sam didn't have any great amount of money—not enough, anyway, to pay a gang of kidnapers for the terrible risk they were taking.

He tried to talk to his captor. The young fellow wasn't very communicative. When Sam suggested they had the wrong man he smiled in a way that suggested that he knew what he was doing.

All sorts of questions filled his mind. It wasn't alone the problem of why they wanted him. There was also the question of what they might do with him. He began to wonder if his family would next hear of him when he was dragged out of the river, or his body found, stuffed in a trunk, on a dump somewhere on the outskirts of the city.

Wanted His Truck for a Robbery.

Another hour passed. The young lad who was guarding him was decent enough. He kept his gun out and pointed at Sam, but he didn't harm him. Once he even lit a cigarette and held it to Sam's lips so he could have a smoke. Sam felt a little better after that.

A third hour passed. Then the other man came back. The two of them began to untie Sam. When they had taken the wire from his hands and feet they told him to lie down on the bed for ten minutes. After that they went out, locking the door behind them.

As soon as their footsteps had died away Sam was on his feet, banging on the door. After a few minutes the landlady came and let him out. He left that house and walked down the street, still puzzled about the strange adventure that had befallen him. He went to the police station to report the loss of his truck—and there he got the answer to his mystery.

It was the simplest thing in the world. That pair of crooks just wanted to rob a dress goods house down on Bleecker street. And they had hired Sam a prisoner so he wouldn't report its loss until after they had finished the job. The cops found his truck the next morning, abandoned down on Delancey street.

Basilisk Lizards Are Jumpers

Four species of basilisk lizards abound in and near Central America, but are nowhere else. They range in length from a few inches to three feet. Most of their lives are spent in trees along rivers. Great climbers and jumpers, they do not hesitate to dive from a lofty tree into the water. So swiftly do they run on their hind legs that they can "run" across streams. And they can stop so abruptly human eyes cannot follow them.

Poppy, according to mythology, is a blossom of evil omen. They were offered to the dead since they signify sleep. Glaucus, the son of Neptune, once caught a fish. WHAT to EAT and WHY

C. Houston Goudiss Discusses CARBOHYDRATES and FATS

Foods That Provide Motive Power For the Body Machinery

By C. HOUSTON GOUDISS 6 East 39th St. New York.

THE human body might be compared to a framework filled with machinery. It takes food to build the framework, food to run the machinery and food to keep it working efficiently and this food must be of the proper type.

Last week, I discussed the body building proteins and explained how to distinguish between those which build and repair body tissue, and those that are adequate for maintenance, but not for growth. It is equally important that you should learn something of the fuel foods which are necessary to fire the body engine and furnish motive power to propel the body machinery.

Fuel Foods Keep Us Alive

The body could not function in the absence of fuel foods any more than a machine could run without power, or a car without gas.

ery is kept functioning only by an ever-present supply of fuel. For, as long as life continues—even when you are lying perfectly still—you need fuel to carry on the internal work of the body.

Activity Demands Energy Foods

Every type of daily activity, including work and exercise, requires additional fuel. If you walk slowly, you expend twice as much energy as when you sit still. And when you walk fast, you may use up four, five or six times as much energy.

The chief fuel, or energy producing foods, are the carbohydrates—that is, the starches and sugars; and fats. Protein also has some fuel value, but its primary function is to build and repair tissue.

Carbohydrates are quick burning. They might be compared to the flare of a match in a dark room, which gives bright light for an instant, but is soon extinguished. Fat, on the other hand, burns slowly, like a lamp whose wick is turned low.

Danger of Inadequate Fuel Supply

Recently there has been a tendency to minimize the importance of the fats and carbohydrates, due to the craze for dieting. Some of the results of disregarding the absolute necessity for these foods are extreme irritability, and a greater susceptibility to fatigue, nervous diseases, tuberculosis and other infections.

Too Much Fuel Causes Overweight

It is true, however, that an excess of fuel foods will tend to produce overweight. For if we assimilate them,

Your Food Is Your Fate

THE third of the series of articles entitled "What to Eat and Why," written by C. Houston Goudiss, the eminent food authority, author and radio lecturer, appears in this issue.

In these articles Mr. Goudiss tells how you can be strong, beautiful, wise and rear healthy children by combining the right food materials in the diet. He points out the vast influence which food wields over one's life.

The housewife and mother who desires to know what foods will benefit her family the most will do well to read these articles week by week and make a scrapbook of them for ready reference.

and do not utilize their potential energy in muscular effort, they will be stored—as fat—usually in most inconvenient locations! On the other hand, an excess of any food is a detriment. Therefore the goal should be enough, but not too much, of all necessary foods.

Since both carbohydrates and fats are energy foods, one might expect them to play an interchangeable role in the diet. To a certain extent, they do, although fats, being more concentrated, provides two and one-fourth times as much fuel value as an equal weight of carbohydrate.

But because of the variation in the way these materials are handled by the body, it is generally considered that health is best served when 40 to 50 per cent of the total energy value of foods is provided in the form of carbohydrate and 30 to 35 per cent in the form of fats.

Carbohydrates Are Quickest Fuel

Carbohydrates, which originate chiefly in plant life, are readily converted into heat and muscle energy. Foods rich in carbohydrates include bread, potatoes, macaroni, rice, cooked and ready-to-eat cereals, peanuts, dried and preserved fruits, sugars and syrup.

Sugar furnishes heat more quickly and more abundantly than any other food. But it has a tendency to dull the appetite and is also apt to cause fermentation. Therefore, a large measure of our heat and energy is best secured from starchy foods such as bread, cereals, macaroni and potatoes.

Quick energy can also be obtained from the easily digested sugars of fresh and dried fruits, such as prunes, apricots, raisins and fully ripened bananas.

Here is an interesting and important point which is frequently overlooked in unscientific reducing diets. Fat requires carbohydrates for its proper utilization by the body. That is why women who try to reduce without following a scientifically planned diet frequently become seriously ill as a result of cutting down on carbohydrates while overlooking the fats contained in milk, butter, and other foods.

Relation of Fat To Health

Fats are so necessary to the body economy that it is no exaggeration to say that without fat,

TIPS to Gardeners

THERE are two major classifications of insect pests—sucking and chewing.

Chewing insects, such as beetles, leave telltale holes in leaves. They are best controlled, according to Harold N. Coulter, vegetable expert of the Ferry Seed Institute, by dusting or spraying plants with arsenicals (poisons with arsenate of lead as a base.)

These arsenicals are known as stomach poisons, for they must be eaten by the insects. Plants attacked by chewing insects include cucumber, squash, other vine crops, mustard, tomato, pepper.

Sucking insects, such as aphids or plant lice, can be detected in small groups on the under surface of the leaves. Control by dusting or spraying nicotine sulphate or pyrethrum directly on the insects. Plants attacked by sucking insects include peas, pepper, cabbage, and crops grown for greens.

Make certain what type pest you are fighting. Buy properly prepared poisons; follow directions.

life, in its higher forms, is possible. The noted explorer, Stefansson, found that could exist satisfactorily on all-meat diet, provided he usually of fat. On a diet of meat, he became violent within a week.

Besides furnishing concentrated energy values, fats help to the fatty tissue which the nerves and abdominal organs and forms the pleasing of face and figure.

Because it leaves the more slowly than proteins, carbohydrates, fat retards the digestion of these food groups, what, and thus gives staying power to a meal. At the same time, it promotes the flow of pancreatic juice and bile, thus helping the assimilation of other foods. Rich in fat include butter, egg yolk, cooking fats and margarine, olives, pastry, butter, most nuts except chestnuts and lichi nuts, various sausage and fried foods.

Anger Destroys Fat Reserves

Experiments have demonstrated why nervous, irritable individuals are usually thin, while those of a serene temperament accumulate weight. It has been proven that anger and frustration increase the amount of fat in the blood and remove a corresponding amount of fat from its usual place beneath the skin. Anger may take off more than an hour's exercise, or three days of enforced diet, from the person who allows himself to become upset continually. Such persons could perhaps, by taking more fat-forming foods.

But whether the members of a family are good natured, or young or old, they need a constant supply of fuel foods—at every moment. Fuel foods produce energy, the motive power of work and thought.

"Home-Wrecking" Qualities of Poor Furniture

How often a houseful of furniture and handsome woodwork spoiled by the use of a poor furniture polish! There are many fine polishes on the market today, some good, others for luster and long life of the wood. The best is non-greasy, cause made with a fine, light base! In time, furniture work can be ruined by the persistent application of a poor polish! Such polishes contain kerosene, harsh acids, and harmful acids—destructive elements, that are unseen and unsuspected! The housewife who uses one of these polishes, use she is economically ruining her furniture polished—but poorest economy, if she ruins her furniture (and what wife does not?). The furniture is a home constitutes the part of the furnishings—show up like "sore thumbs" dried out, cracked or chipped. This is just what occurs, other than a reputable oil is used! Too expensive! Less is one time—for it's undiluted, resultant glow is deeper, more lasting! Best of all, it is properly "fed" and in prime condition! So beware, harsh, "bargain" polishes through them, the furniture!

Entered as second-class mail matter at the post office at Silverton, Texas in accordance with an act of Congress on March 3, 1879.

The Goddess of Fortune gives and takes away whatever she pelases, and he who is rich today may find himself poor to-morrow.

IT'S JUST A little nearer to that Clean Up Week. I think it is from the third to the tenth of April. Let's get our town cleaned up for sure this year.

AND NOT ONLY cleaned up but there is a house or two (dozen) that could stand a coat of paint. Some of these houses could improve their appearance several hundred dollars worth with a little paint. I'll tell you what I'll do. The first fellow that comes around and tells me that his place has been painted, I'll get the News Office painted. Which will make two paint jobs. And I'm not working for Homer Sanders either. But I did hear that he had a bucket, a bucket and a half or two buckets of paint for sale.

FOR THIS CLEAN up week, some of the Boy Scouts are going to want to make some extra money for their equipment and so forth. You Boy Scouts that want work this summer cleaning up lawns, digging garden spots, etc., leave your name at the News Office—and you folks that want a boy, phone us and we will try to get you together.

I HEARD AN OLD boy calling central yesterday and calling by name, instead of number. He said that he just supposed that if anyone in town knew the numbers, it should be the telephone operator.

TALK ABOUT THE devil and—you know the rest of it. The operator just called and reminded me that the telephone bill was due. Shucks, I knew it, and she knows that I know it. I think that she just likes to talk to me.

MRS. CLAY FOWLER has dressed her windows with potted plants and flowers. I thought that she was doing it just for appearance, but lo, the flowers are for sale. People should appreciate the fact that they can get flowers without going out of town for them.

THE REAL DANGER — The menace of the Roosevelt campaign does not lie in the third-term tradition, but in the state of mind that could desire four years more of Roosevelt in the White House, four years more of personal government, four years more of Presidential lawlessness, four years more of executive contempt for Congress, courts and Constitution, four years more of centralization, four years more of wanton extravagance, four years more of denunciation and demagoguery—in the state of mind that wants the new national aims, that wants a Federal interference with every form of human industry and activity, that wants the states stripped of their powers, that wants the minority and bureaucracy substituted for the Bill of Rights . . . . .

The danger does not lie in popular indifference to the third-term tradition, but in popular indifference to the fundamental principles of liberty upon which the Republic was established.—Hold your horses now folks. Don't start to throwing things at the editor. The foregoing is an Editorial by Frank I. Cobb, in "The New York World" in January, 1912, and refers to "Teddy" Roosevelt.

CHICK NORTH CUTT, one of our future commissioners (he hopes) should make a good one. If he's as tight with the county's money as he is with his own, we will be out of the red in a month or two. I was after a candidate card order from him and he thinks he can get by with only a hundred or so. He says he is not going to give cards to anyone until AFTER they promise to vote for him.

FINLEY WHITE, in his Aggie Briefs this week, urges everyone to join in the observance of a wild life week. Now that's all right, I guess, for the single bucks but don't you think that you and I, and all the other married men should be excused? What if our wives would find out? P. S.—When shall we start?

The Haylake softball team is working out daily. They want Rock Creek first and last. Walter Brannon was in town Wednesday looking at the new tractors.

AROUND THE HOUSE

Setting Gelatine.—Gelatine salads and desserts will jell faster in metal molds than in enamel, earthenware or glass molds.

When Cooking Cheese.—In cooking anything with cheese use a low temperature, because intense heat makes cheese tough and stringy.

Sugaring Doughnuts.—To dust doughnuts with sugar place the sugar in a paper sack and put in six doughnuts at a time. Hold the top of the sack together and shake it. The doughnuts will then be quickly coated with sugar.

2 Steps in Fighting Discomfort of COLDS

All it usually costs to relieve the misery of a cold today—is 3¢ to 5¢—relief for the period of your cold 15¢ to 25¢. Hence no family need neglect even minor head colds.

Here is what to do: Take two BAYER tablets when you feel a cold coming on—with a full glass of water. Then repeat, if necessary, according to directions in each package. Relief comes rapidly.

The Bayer method of relief is the way many doctors now approve. You take Bayer Aspirin for relief—then if you are not improved promptly, you call the family doctor.

CORRECTING WRONG IDEAS OF RELIGION

LESSON TEXT—Mark 7:1-13. GOLDEN TEXT—This people honoreth me with their lips, but their heart is far from me. Mark 7:6. PRIMARY TOPIC—At Dinner-Time. JUNIOR TOPIC—What is Real Religion? INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—What Counts with God? YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Sidestepping Responsibilities.

The never-ending struggle of Christianity is to keep the simple gospel of the grace of God in Christ Jesus free to operate in all its glory and power, unencumbered by the traditions and formulas of men. It has been my privilege to read a recent book by a brilliant young man who, while serving as a professor of philosophy in a large university, is also versed in the related fields of theology, psychology, psychiatry, and psychotherapy. He has had first-hand experience in dealing with the problems of men and women. With this background of both study and experience he gives it as his absolute conviction that we must get "back to the original simplicity of the Christian gospel." He suggests that we need to "dust off the additions and superstructures" that have been added since Christ came to seek and to save the lost.

Our lesson for today finds Jesus meeting that very issue with the traditionalists of His day. The Pharisees and a delegation of scribes, who had come all the way from Jerusalem to Capernaum to seek to ensnare him.

I. Washed Hands and Unwashed Hearts (vv. 1-8). In the process of interpreting the law of Moses and applying it to the affairs of daily life the religious authorities of Israel had developed a mass of intricate and onerous rules which had literally buried the law itself and had substituted ritualistic formalism for spiritual life. So fond had the scribes and the Pharisees become of these traditions that they became bold enough to declare that they were far superior to the law itself.

Their attack on Jesus because His disciples ate with unwashed hands did not refer to the proper cleansing of one's hands before eating, but to the ceremonial washings which were said to be necessary if one had accidentally touched a Gentile, or something that a Gentile had touched in the market place.

Jesus skillfully and finally disposes of that question by reminding the objectors that they were serving God with their lips only, but their hearts were far from Him. Washed hands are not a thing to be condemned, and Jesus says nothing about that point. When the washing of hands becomes of more importance than the cleansing of the heart, however, the soul is in real danger. We do not have the traditions of the Jews, but all too often within the church we have established rules, imposed restrictions, required submissions which are not scriptural, and hence which we may not honestly require of our neighbor. Before we rest back in the assurance that we are better than the scribes and Pharisees we will do well to "take stock" and determine whether we too have fallen into their error.

II. Traditions of Man Versus the Commandment of God (vv. 7-13). Here is the heart of the entire matter, for while we may not always be aware of it the fact is that our anxiety to maintain human tradition which is contrary to the law and Spirit of God is fundamentally for the purpose of evading our full and true responsibility.

The Jew who was so avaricious that he did not wish to support his aged and needy parents could entirely evade that God-given responsibility by declaring that his property was "Corban," dedicated to God. Thereafter no matter how great was the need of his parents they could receive nothing. The execution of this oath was carried out to such a fine point that a son who had declared his property to be "Corban" could visit a sick father or mother for only a brief period lest he might stay long enough to perform some duties of a nurse and thus indirectly contribute to his parents by saving them some expense.

Thus do men even in our day make "the word of God of none effect" (v. 13), through their traditions. No right minded person objects to the worthy traditions of worship and service which are such a precious heritage of the Christian church. Rightfully apprehended and properly used they are both desirable and helpful. But we must never permit the grace and power of God in Jesus Christ "to be brought under the trammels of human teachers or the arrangements of human office-bearers. The first movement toward the mastery of the soul by tradition is the movement of that soul away from immediate, direct, first-hand fellowship with God" (Morgan).

The crying need of our day, as it was of the time when Jesus was on earth, is that we should clear away hindering encumbrances.

SEEN and HEARD around the NATIONAL CAPITAL Carter Field

Washington.—The Farley maxim Democrats should fight to get out of every possible office, no matter how hopeless the fight might seem, and all with a view to building up the reputation for the "next election" is shamelessly abandoned, according to some very caustic critics of the Democratic party.

In the country some Democratic leaders, sharing this view, are much disturbed. They are their senators and representatives that all is not well, that the Democrats are likely to make big gains this fall, and that there will be a terrific number of casualties among Democratic house members.

Impression that the Democratic machine is not functioning as speed, that it is depending on general propaganda and on the strength of Roosevelt voters, is enhanced when pessimists come to Washington to try to get something done.

Our problems to Charley Mason," a Democratic worker in Missouri told some friends after "and I was afraid he would go to sleep while I was talking."

That worker did not know, of course, that Charley might be used for being bored at hearing the same tale for the thousandth time. On the other hand there is a story of the boy who kept saying "Wolf! Wolf!" when there was no wolf, and who regretted the alarms very much when the real wolf came, no one paying attention to his cries.

It Good Strategy
There are some influential members of the party, however, who believe that it is good strategy to let the Republicans should have sixty or seventy seats in the House of Representatives this fall. Do not expect that the Democrats will do anything like this, but point out that there would be some advantages to such a situation.

For one thing the Democratic majority in the House would be so unwieldy and topheavy, that it would put, as they say, the "fear of God" in the hearts of the surviving Democrats. Survivors might be brought in much more easily on White House commands.

Suppose the Republicans actually get control of the House? "one of them was asked, "it is almost impossible," retorted the Democrat. "But suppose they did? Wouldn't that put the Democrats on the spot before the country? What could they do? I think actually it would be far from an unmixed evil. A house for the next two years controlled by the Republicans would do more to insure a sweeping Democratic victory in 1940 than any I can imagine."

Rest in the senate battles this is mostly personal. Nothing shake the grip of the Democrats on the senate except a crop per house funeral for in excess of any reasonable probability.

Wage Block
Nothing would surprise anyone who has been watching the stalemate on the wage-hours regulation but it is quite apparent that the magic formula which would open the door to its enactment has been found.

would be to permit no discretion at all in the administration of the act, to pass a law specifying that no workers could be made to labor more than a given number of hours a week, nor paid less than a given amount per hour or per week.

Seek Magic Formula
This would be all right if it were not for the sections of the country and the particular industries which think they must have a differential. The only way to have a law and to permit such exceptions in its enforcement is to vest discretion in some administrative body.

Solution of this problem requires a magic formula. Administration experts have been busy trying to evolve this formula ever since, but it is still undiscovered. The President is not willing to humble Miss Perkins in order to get the law through. No other solution has been suggested which would come within a mile of success.

It might be found tomorrow. The President still hopes that it will be found before the end of the present session. But he is not as optimistic as he was. In fact, there are indications that he has become convinced the bill will not pass this session, though he is still insisting on it.

The new committee appointed to study the situation, of course, is just a gesture. The same men appointed to that committee have been working on the problem as individuals for more than a year. Merely naming them to a committee is not going to clear up the fog. Nor will the fact that they meet as a committee help much. They have been conferring as individuals, and as members of the house labor committee, for these many months. There is no magic in the word "committee," and, short of Ed McGrady, there is no magic in anything else that has been suggested.

Electric Industry
Every now and then something crops up to make the dispassionate observer wonder if Franklin D. Roosevelt really hates the electric industry as much as it believes. Most recent among these developments is the letter which J. D. Ross, one time government ownership executive in Seattle and now big boss of Bonneville, wrote to a Mr. Neal in Knoxville. The sum and substance of this letter was that it was good policy to buy out the existing private companies, and to pay a fair price.

There has been considerable question as to whether this was not a bad slip on Mr. Ross' part, one calculated to get him into pretty serious trouble with the President. The answer seems to be that there is, so far, no indication that it has. The further answer is that very recently Mr. Roosevelt, discussing the Supreme court decision approving public loans and grants to local communities for government ownership power plants and electric distribution systems, said that he assumed municipalities and other local governments contemplating such projects would negotiate with the privately owned units now supplying them with a view to avoiding duplication.

The point seems to be that President Roosevelt does not go anything like so far as either George W. Norris, Nebraska senator and daddy of TVA, or Representative John E. Rankin, the Mississippi utility biter. Rankin has said frankly, many times, that because of their past sins he would, in buying out privately owned utilities, pay only second hand junk value for the properties.

Roosevelt's "prudent investment theory" applied to the price which should be paid for any utility is pretty tough, the utility men think, and their opinion is shared by most men who have ever been in business, but it is a lot better than Mr. Rankin's idea. In fact, it is not very far from correct to say that Roosevelt is about half way between John Rankin and J. D. Ross in his idea as to what would be a fair price for any privately owned utility.

Check on Prices
There are plenty who think that Roosevelt is not really eager to have the entire electric industry of this country public-owned and operated—that all he wants is enough of it so operated to be a check on the prices charged by the privately owned companies.

Roosevelt believes strongly in the social value of cheap electricity. Those who hold the view just stated believe that cheap current, and not public ownership, is his real objective. Tinctured a little, of course, by the enmities which gradually develop in such a long fight.

PREVENTING: Science Battles Infantile Paralysis

Picture Parade

When Chicago's schools were closed by an infantile paralysis epidemic thousands of pupils were given zinc sulphate nasal sprays, one of science's most recent developments in the fight on a deadly plague. But still more important is the new vaccine developed by Dr. John A. Kolmer of Temple university (right) who claims it will produce immunity from infantile paralysis. Doctor Kolmer and his assistant were given injections and the doctor's two children came next. When the 1937 plague arrived hundreds of youngsters were injected with the vaccine. Below: Dr. Frances Glenn, Doctor Kolmer's assistant, at work with a small army of young patients.

CURING: Other Scientists Develop Ways Of Helping Victims Recover

Paralysis cures are second only to preventives in importance. The above patient, helpless, makes science help him by speaking commands into a mouth-piece. Book pages are turned, the radio is snapped on and the nurse is called by this method. At left, systematic exercise gradually develops use of the patient's limbs.

At New York's Columbia university medical school science has developed an efficient substitute for the benefits of Georgia warm springs, plus a healing under-water massage treatment by air. The photograph shows how a patient is lowered into the "hour glass" tank for treatment.

Another help—artificially inspired circulation with air-pressure machine.

New Slenderizing Dresses

IF YOU'RE in the size-34-and-up class, here are three brand new fashions designed especially for you! Everyone of them is extremely smart and everyone is designed to give added charm and dignity to full figures. They are easy to make. The patterns are carefully planned to help beginners, and each is accompanied by a detailed sew chart. So start in tomorrow, and have at least two of them ready for Easter.

Princess House Dress.
It's a sure way to start the day right, having a dress as becoming and pretty as this one to put on first thing in the morning. It takes a woman with some plumpness to do justice to that fitted, long line. Made up in printed percale, gingham or chambray, with rows of ricrac braid, this dress will be so successful that you'll use the pattern time and again.

Graceful Afternoon Frock.
An especially charming style for luncheons, bridge parties and club meetings. The full sleeves make your arms look small, and are very graceful in themselves. Gathers at the shoulders create necessary bust fullness. Make this dress for now in silk print or chiffon. Later on, in voile or summer sheer it will be your coolest dress.

Dress With Lengthening Panels.
The plain neckline, the slim waist, snuggled in by gathers, the long panel, front and back, are all beautifully slimming in effect. All in all, this dress is so smart that it's certain to be one of your favorites. This design adapts itself

Tragedy Was Difficult In Ye Olden Tymes

The trials of a strolling player in Eighteenth century England may be judged from a handbill announcing a performance of the "deep and affecting tragedy of 'Theodosius, or the Force of Love,'" at the "Old Theater in East Grinstead," in 1758, quoted in "Portrait of Mrs. Siddons," by Naomi Royde-Smith. It says:

"Mrs. Crawford (a contemporary of the great Sarah Siddons) had a shriek and a groan that made rows of spectators start from their seats. Mrs. Siddons went further: when she shrieked the house shrieked with her; at her groan young ladies swooned in their boxes."

to so many materials—silk crepe, small-figured silk print and, later on, linen.

says Jimmy Bateman, praising this fast-rolling, mellow "makin's" tobacco....

70 fine roll-your-own cigarettes in every 2-oz. tin of Prince Albert.

THERE'S NO TIME in a busy newspaper pressroom to fool around with slow-rolling "makin's" tobacco that spills all over. Pressmen want to twirl their "makin's" smokes fast—but trim and neat, too. And their smokes have got to be full-bodied and tasty, yet mild! Bob Etter, Jimmy Bateman, and Joe Brown check on this as they roll up Prince Albert "makin's" cigarettes. P. A.'s the favorite, all right. (That's what pipe-smokers say too!)

Literature Later

Although twelve Texas writers are listed in the 1936-37 Who's Who, there is not a single Texan on the list of Pulitzer Prize Winners since these awards were originated in 1917. John Francis Knott, Dallas News Cartoonist, won honorable mention for the best newspaper cartoon of 1937, but otherwise Texas is absent from the Pulitzer roll call. Since Texas has until now been an active rather than a contemplative state, some predict that her next decade will show greater progress in the fine arts and sciences.
