"Read the Ads" Campaign Starting

Clean Up Week Starting Monday

MAGNOLIA STATION ADDS NEW LINE OF TIRES

Maurice Foust, manager of the Magnolia Station, corner of Main Street and Highway 86, announces this week that he is handling a new line of tires, "the Mansfield". The Mansfield Tire Company has in the past few years, moved up in the tire-building world, until it is fifth in size in the United States. Maurice has a large ad on an inside page telling you of his new tire, and of the service you will find at the Magnolia Station. Turn to it now.

CLEMMER HOUSE MOVED

The house directly across the street north from the News Office, owned by Harry Fowler, and occupied by the Jim Clemmer family, was moved last week, contents and all, to a new location south of the G. C. Patton property in the east part of Silverton. It is rumored that Fowler is planning to build a new and modern garage building on the Highway 86 location.

QUITAQUE WINS FIGHT NIGHT CONTEST FRIDAY

The poorest "fight night" of the season was staged here Friday night when Quitaque came here to meet the local boys. For various reasons the team brought from Quitaque was very incomplete. Instead of twelve fighters, they arrived here with only five. Three of the five bouts between schools were won by Quitaque. Minyard Long and Alvie Boyce won for Silverton.

The rest of the fight night was made up of impromptu bouts between Silverton boys. No decisions were given in these fights except in the case of Worth Alexander and Sleepy Gatewood. Alexander made the sad mistake of making terrible faces every time Gatewood slapped him down. The referee, "Bull" Durham, took offense at the faces, thinking they were made for him, and promptly gave the bout to young Gatewood. Alexander is appealing his case to the State Supreme Court, hoping to have his fight record cleared. He claims he will carry it to the highest court of the land, rather than take second in his first and only fight in the squared ring.

BIRTHDAY FOR CCC CAMPS

Beginning Saturday, April 2, all CCC camps will celebrate their fifth birthday. They extend to the public an invitation to come and visit them. Especially do they urge the county and city officials as well as the parents of the enrollees to attend this celebration. On Sunday afternoon, Lt. Jackson of the Lubbock camp will conduct a tour of the park his boys have built.

City Trucks Will Pick Up Trash If Placed On Alley

Silverton joins with the rest of Texas in a State-wide Clean-up and Paint-up Campaign, beginning Monday, April 4, and lasting through the entire week.

This year, without fail, says Doc Minyard, City Secretary, city trucks will be available for use in carrying out the City's part of the clean-up campaign.

All that is asked of the residents of Silverton is to gather their trash, cans, and other kinds of debris together and pile it in a convenient place on the alley where the city trucks can load it up.

Merchants and business men especially are asked to clean up the alleys back of their place of business. Trash that accumulates through the winter constitutes a dangerous fire risk, and as such must be removed.

Let's not stop with cleaning up the alleys this year. Let's dress up and paint up the entire place—let's make Silverton a more attractive town—and we can do it by each one doing his share.

If you need a boy to help you around the place this coming week, call the Briscoe County News and we'll see that a boy is sent right over.

WEEK END BRING NICE GROUND SOAKING RAIN

Silverton received 63 inches of rain over the week end, according to the government gauge here. A slow drizzle, which started early Saturday, and continued through Sunday and Sunday night, soaked the ground well. The wheat, which is rank for this season of the year, is waving tall and green, and in many fields is ready to start jointing.

Complaints are coming in from southwest of Silverton, over Plainview way, that green bugs are taking the crops. Wheat in this vicinity, so far, does not seem to be bothered with the pests. Prospects at this time, for both wheat and spring crops, are better than this time in 1937.

FIRST BAPTIST SPRING REVIVAL

The Spring Revival of the First Baptist Church will begin April 17. The pastor will do the preaching and Brother Lee Frazier of Hagerman, New Mexico, known as the "Dream Singer", will have charge of the music. We hope every one, especially our own members, will note the change in the date of the meeting. We first voted to go into a simultaneous meeting with the other local churches, four meetings in the four local churches, going on at the same time and closing out on Easter Sunday. But since the Methodist have secured their state Evangelist and plan to make this probably their annual revival. Our church, with the other churches feel it is nothing but right that we postpone our meeting that they may have full right away in the field. Praying for them and assisting in any way we can for the progress of our Lord's Kingdom in our midst.

So our meeting will begin on Easter Sunday rather than closing on Easter Sunday. If other churches desire to have simultaneous meetings with us, we will be glad to cooperate with them. May the Lord lead us all in these revivals to the saving of many souls, and to the glorifying of our Lord and Master.

We also want to announce the date for our Summer Revival which is to begin the first Sunday in August. Let us please keep this date in mind.

—W. H. Jackson, pastor

Creek—a 12-lb. boy to Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Williams.

The Hamburger Shack, which has been setting on the corner next to Cowart & Son, has been moved off by order of the City Council and will be located on the south side of the square. Mr. and Mrs. Noah Amason are proprietors.

Lee Newman, brother of W. H. Newman, passed away at his home in Hagerman, New Mexico.

Two new R. F. D.'s will be started out on May 3. Patrons are asked to have their boxes up in plenty of time. It is not known who will carry the mail.

Officials of the Texas Utilities Company announce that the new light plant will be in operation soon. Seven men have been brought here to do the work.

(From here we skip to March of 1929)

Pete Amason, linotype operator at the News Office, had a narrow escape from death when he monkeyed with a light bulb while his hands were wet. In falling, Pete tore the wires loose from the ceiling, which probably saved his life.

News Bits

From Neighboring Towns

Track Meet

A headline in the Hale Center American reads, "Prepare for Sandstorm—Track Meet Date Set."—Another news bit from the same paper, tells of R. W. Lemond, 91, and the fact that he will attend the reunion of Confederate veterans in Gettysburg this spring. It will be the last reunion held.

Busy Judge

Last Monday was a busy day for Judge Machen of Canyon. According to the Canyon News, seventeen truck drivers were hauled into court there on that day, and paid fines for overloading.

Scouts At Miami

Plans are under way for the organization of two Boy Scout troops at Miami. The troops will be sponsored by the Miami Lions Club assisted by the Baptist and Methodist churches.

Texaco To Have Town Hall

Texaco, N. Mexico Councilmen took over several buildings there, two of which will be used for city buildings. One will be converted into a town hall and the other a fire station. Texaco has no bonded indebtedness, according to the State Line Tribune.

Hamilton For Commissioner

Paul Hamilton of Quitaque, announced in the Quitaque Post last week that he is a candidate for County Commissioner in Precinct 2. He will oppose Mr. L. E. Graham, our present commissioner for that precinct.

New Golf Course

Tulia is to have a new golf course, if present plans go through, according to the Tulia Herald. Fifty golf fans have joined the new club and several more have applied for membership. Land for the course was secured from J. D. Vaughn.

Friendly Help

J. K. Hunt of near Hedley has had much sickness and trouble in his family this spring, and got way behind with his spring planting. Last Tuesday 34 men with 22 tractors, drove into his fields and before noon had listed 100 acres for him. At noon a feast was spread, the eats being furnished by business men, according to the Donley County Leader.

GARDEN CLUB MEETS

The Silverton Garden Club met with Mrs. Clyde Hutsell on last Friday, March 25, in her beautiful country home south east of town. Fourteen members were present and quite a bit of business was transacted. The resignation of Mrs. Hubert Simmons, who is moving to Lubbock, as Secretary and Treasurer was accepted and Mrs. W. N. Dunn was elected to take her place. The Club expressed to Mrs. Simmons their love and appreciation of her as a member and efficient officer of the club. Plans were made to start work at the cemetery soon.

Mrs. Will Newman led in an interesting discussion of chrysanthemums, this being the month to replant them.

The hostess served a delicious refreshment plate at the close of the session. The next meeting of the club will be with Mrs. A. R. Northcutt, the 4th Friday in April.

WE WANT to especially invite school children and parents to eat here during the track meet days Friday and Saturday.

CITY COFFEE SHOP

Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Turner left Thursday for Ft. Worth to be with their daughter, Mrs. Elmer Gilkeyson, who is the mother of a new baby girl.

Overton McReynolds, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. McReynolds, Silverton, made the fall semester honor roll at Texas Technological college with an average grade of

Theatre Passes To Be Given to Observing Readers

Do you read the ads? Beginning with this issue of the Briscoe County News, readers will have a chance to see any show at the Palace Theatre Free, simply by doing a little closer reading of this paper. Here's how:

In the ads each week for the next twelve weeks we are placing names picked at random from Briscoe County residents. This week there are 25 names of persons who by finding their name, and clipping the ad, can use it for a free pass to any show. For instance, turn to the back page. Read the ad for the Plains Mill and Elevator. Somewhere in this ad you will find the name of Theron Crass. Now that ad, clipped and handed to the Palace Theatre, will admit Mr. Crass to the show. Now read the other ads. Maybe your name is listed this very week. All passes must be used within one week from the date of the paper in which the ad appeared.

And while your looking for your name, watch for bargains too. You will find that advertising is pretty interesting reading — and profitable too. These fellows that have the ads have something to sell—something that they are proud to offer you, and something that they will stand behind.

This week 25 persons will have a chance to see FREE at the Palace Theatre, "Bad Guy", Friday and Saturday; or "The Awful Truth", Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

Read the ads.

LUBBOCK FAT STOCK SHOW

All is in readiness for the eighth annual South Plains Junior Fat Stock Show which will begin Monday, April 4, lasting three days. Entries which have been coming in daily have passed last year's record and from all indications this year's event will be one of the best in the history of the association.

4-H club boys and vocational students from 36 West Texas counties and three Eastern New Mexico counties will have part in one of the greatest exhibitions of livestock of its kind. Entries in each division, the baby beef, the fat lamb, and fat pig, have exceeded the hundred mark, according to C. C. Jobson, general superintendent.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

We become what we behold. Two boys had been poring over the life of Billy the Kid, or Jesse James. In that mirror they beheld the faces of lawless adventures. They admired. They would be bold heroes too. They are soon changed into the image they gaze upon—from shame to shame, and are on their way to the penitentiary. Here is a gentle, lovely girl. Her mother is to her the very model and mirror of womanly perfection. She gladly yields to that influence. Friends say, "That girl is the living image of her mother." Why? She receives what she admires and silently grows like what she "likes" best. This transforming power will be our theme this coming Sunday morning.

ALLIS CHALMERS DEALERS SPONSORING FREE SHOW

Brookshier & Minyard, local Allis Chalmers dealers, have made arrangements for the showing of a free picture show at the Palace Theatre here Tuesday afternoon of next week. The show is primarily for farmers but everyone is invited, says the Allis Chalmers men.

The show is an interesting portrayal of Allis Chalmers and the manufacture and operation of this famous line of implements. The dealers promise an interesting and instructive afternoon for all who care to attend. Especially interesting, is said to be the showing of the new All Crop Harvester. The show will start at 1:00 o'clock and last until about 4:00, Tuesday.

SEEN and HEARD around the NATIONAL CAPITAL By Carter Field MOUS WASHINGTON CORRESPONDENT

Washington.—For a government which has run into debt is a grand thing to do for its citizens. For an individual to rush into debt is a terrible thing for his dependents—though not for his country.

It is shared by no less, for example, than Marriner Eccles, chairman of the board of governors of the federal reserve system.

It sounds like a sarcastic criticism, especially to many of the fashionable fools who were taught up, whether they followed teachings or not, on a "willful blindness brings woe," and a "give the pennies and the dollars will take care of themselves" philosophy. Actually it is a simple statement of the theory as a writer has heard.

With plentiful government spending, especially if the money is borrowed by instead of by taxation, employment is encouraged; buying is encouraged; prices tend to rise; everybody has jobs; and everybody, except the budget balancing theorists, is happy.

Example is made of Great Britain, which has never paid off the debt incurred in the Napoleonic wars, much less any of her enormous borrowings since. At various times during the last two hundred years economists have worried about this debt. Actually, it is considered. Britain is just as well off as at any time during the process, and her present ills are not due to her debt.

Of course, during this two hundred-year period described—for it goes way back to Napoleon—something has happened, which the economists advocating the bigger debt do not mention. There has been a gradual shrinkage of the value of the pound sterling. But on the other hand, Britain is cited as the only important country in the world which has never had a real inflation. Not an inflation crisis, to be sure, but her currency has gradually depreciated, which is another way of saying that the people who saved their money kept losing a considerable portion of it.

But there is a simpler illustration of the "evil" of saving. Let us imagine that everybody in the United States was gainfully employed, and every one saved so much of his earnings that the interest on his savings would support him after 20 years.

In a very short period, 40 years outside, assuming no gambling element which would lead to losses, every family in the country would be able to live on its income. Secretly, no one would have work at all. Men and women would just spend their income on what they wanted, perhaps even carrying this absurdity to extremes to make it clear, we would have a nation of idlers, living on their incomes. But who would provide the food and clothing and automobiles and radios for our population?

To make the point still clearer, imagine a tariff wall around the United States so high that there would be no international trade. What would happen? Obviously demand being very high, and supply being very low, prices would soar. That would amount to a capital levy would thus be occasioned, and accumulated savings would go to work again.

against Roosevelt with some very important delegates. It hits the entire Maryland Democracy, which was enthusiastic for Albert C. Ritchie. It hits the majority leaders in 1932 of the Democratic party in Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York and New Jersey. It reaches out into California and hits Senator William Gibbs McAdoo, who was for Garner. It hits more than three-quarters of the important Democratic leaders in Ohio, and plenty in Indiana.

Idea Is Not New
There is nothing new about the idea of discrimination against Democrats who do not belong to the "For Roosevelt Before Chicago" club. But up until now the only point has been in patronage. Guffey would magnify this discrimination to apply to running for elective office. It would bar from any important role in politics everyone who was not actively fighting for the nomination of Roosevelt in the period immediately preceding June, 1932.

This is a new sort of political doctrine. It runs counter to the oft-stated maxim of Will H. Hays that "assimilation, not elimination" is what a party needs.

And there is just enough truth in Guffey's new doctrine, regardless of his own sincerity in stating it, to cause trouble. For there is not a Democratic senator or governor or member of the legislature who does not suspect that in any contest between an old Roosevelt friend and an old Roosevelt opponent, the President would be inclined to support the friend. That is human. It has always been.

The importance of it now is that never before has the titular head of a party, occupying the White House, had so much power to affect results in state primaries and conventions of his party.

Putting the two Guffey doctrines together would look very much as though John L. Lewis' favorite senator was digging a pit for Roosevelt to fall into.

All Boards "Wooden"
General Goethals, of Panama canal fame, was wont to remark, toward the end of his life, that "all boards are long, narrow and wooden." This opinion grew out of his experience with the United States shipping board, which attempted to build ships during the World war emergency. It had nothing to do with his experience at the canal. In fact, it was the contrast between his helpless bickering in the shipping board, and the czarism he practiced, thanks to Theodore Roosevelt, at the canal job, that brought forth his derogatory comment on boards.

All of which applies to the present Tennessee Valley authority (better known by its initials, TVA.) controversy. The real trouble considering solely its administrative mess, is the fact that it is run by a three-man board.

Washington observers have been racking their brains during the last few weeks to discover a single case of any government board, set up with a business type of function, as distinguished from a judicial type of function, which has not been ruined by personal conflicts between the board members.

Hollywood's Singing Starlet

Picture Parade

Now sixteen, Betty lives like any other youngster off-stage, putting her feet on the family overstuffed chairs and doing her homework on the parlor rug. Her father died shortly before the "La Boheme" debut; now her mother, two sisters and a brother live with her in Hollywood.

The mailman who calls at her Beverly Hills English cottage likes Betty Jaynes' blonde hair and blue eyes. Southern California sunshine is tanning the complexion which has known a lifetime of Chicago atmosphere. But this young lady will not be turned away from her rightful place on the screen and opera stage by Hollywood's glamour.

Thus does Betty Jaynes, Hollywood's new "singing starlet," contemplate a rosy future. The screen has already recognized her as a box office attraction. . . will the opera stage be equally receptive?

Ask Me Another A General Quiz

1. Which of our states has only three counties?
2. What is the record made in the major baseball leagues for circling the bases?
3. When was paper money first issued in this country?
4. Why is the stage referred to as the legitimate stage?
5. Were any decisive battles fought on German soil during the World war?
6. Is the new San Francisco-Oakland bridge high enough to permit all boats to pass under it?
7. In the expression, "Poor as Job's turkey," is the Job of the Old Testament meant?
8. Was Edward Everett Hale related to Nathan Hale, the patriot of the Revolution?
9. How many parts of speech are there?
10. What part of what state is farther north than any other in the Union?

The Answers

1. The state of Delaware has only three counties. It has only one city (Wilmington) with a population of over 100,000.
2. The recognized record for circling the bases is 13.4 seconds, made by Evar Swanson of the Cincinnati Reds, September 15, 1929.
3. In 1690 by the Massachusetts Bay colony. It was gradually issued by other colonies until in general use by all.
4. It is so called in the sense of its being normal, regular, conformable to a recognized standard type.
5. No.
6. The vertical clearance at the center of the bridge is 220 feet above mean high water, so boats can easily pass under it.
7. As turkey is American by origin, it seems incorrect to associate this Job with the ancient Hebrew. Poor, of course, refers to a thin and weak fowl, not to the lack of money.
8. He was his grandnephew. Edward Everett Hale's father, Nathan Hale, was a nephew of the Nathan Hale who was hanged by the British as an American spy.
9. Eight: Nouns, pronouns, adjectives, verbs, adverbs, prepositions, conjunctions and interjections.
10. Lake of the Woods county, Minnesota.

TIPS to Gardeners

Protecting Flowers
AN EARLY season flower pest is leaf beetle, a chewing insect whose presence is indicated by holes in the leaves. Found most often on alysium, zinnia, marigold and annual phlox. Remedy: Use stomach poisons in the form of sprays containing arsenicals or pyrethrum.

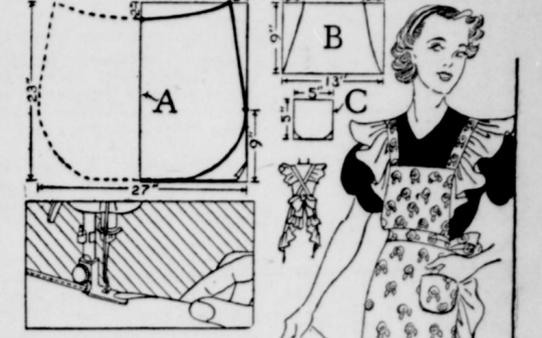

Snagdragon, aster, petunia and verberna are the principal victims of the cutworm, a chewing insect which cuts off plants at the ground. It should be combated, says Gilbert Bentley, flower expert of the Ferry Seed Institute, by placing about a spoonful of poison bran bait around the base of each plant.

Aphids bother almost all the popular flowers except zinnia. They cause wilting, crumpling and discoloration of the leaves. Spray or dust with pyrethrum or nicotine sulphate.

Downy mildew shows up white all over a plant and discolors to black, killing leaves and rotting stems. Remedy: Dust regularly, but lightly, with flowers of sulphur.

HOW TO SEW

by Ruth Wyeth Spears

THIS pink and white chintz apron with pink gingham frills should inspire anyone to make long strides towards the kitchen. It is easy to cut. The material required is 1 1/2 yards of 36-inch-wide chintz or cotton print and one yard of plain material.

For the skirt of the apron, cut a piece of paper or cloth 27 inches wide and 23 inches deep. Fold this lengthwise through the center, as at A, then measure down from the top of the fold and in from the corners the distances indicated in the diagram and mark the dots. Using the dots as a guide, mark the outline of the apron skirt as you see it in the diagram. The dimensions for shaping the bib are given in the diagram at B. The pocket is a 5-inch square with lower corners rounded as shown here at C. The apron ties are cut 6 inches wide and 36 inches long. The strip for the belt should be cut 2 1/2 inches wide and a facing strip the same width should be cut for it. The shoulder straps are cut 4 inches wide and then creased lengthwise through the center.

The strips of the plain material for the ruffles are cut 6 inches wide. The ruffle material before it is gathered should be 2 1/2 times the length of the space it is to fill after gathering. Use the machine hemmer foot shown here at the lower left for hemming the ruffles and the machine ruffler for gathering them.

Entered as second-class mail matter at the post office at Silverton, Texas in accordance with an act of Congress on March 3, 1879.

WHAT A WEEK! I learned about sandstorms and paint jobs this week. If you want an eye-ful drop by the News Office and see the new paint job. Or rather it was a paint job. I've decided now though that it was best to stucco the building after all.

THE CITY TRUCK will be around the last of this week to gather trash and so forth. Have it ready and on the alley. Perhaps should have said "it is rumored that the truck will be around"—but let's have faith just one more time.

IF YOU NEED a boy to help call the News and we'll have one shipped out to you. They are all crated and ready to go.

FRED LEMONS has been doing bit of active campaigning for school trustee. Only he is going it backwards and is trying to get you NOT to vote for him.

AND THERE SHALL be candidates, and rumors of candidates. From now on I'm charging one buck for each and every rumor of candidate.

THE FFA BOYS are holding a secret stock show in Silverton this week. They have it pretty well advertised now—I reckon most of the boys themselves know it. Attention Mr. Lem Weaver, "What's the matter with you birds, are you afraid someone might want to see the show? Or maybe you are afraid of cattle rustling.

I CAN SEE VERY plainly just why it is the Silverton INDEPENDENT school. They really are.

SCHOOL ELECTION DAY is Saturday, and the city election will be held Tuesday. No one is wanting a job it seems from the amount of trouble they are having getting the tickets formed.

BE SURE YOU read the ads this week 25 people will get free passes to the Palace Theater just by finding their name in an ad.

I RAN ACROSS some pretty snappy entertainment the other afternoon. Fogerson and Baird, and a 1905 model Fordson put on the show—you might even call it a vaudeville. They, and the Fordson were moving some old concrete blocks from the old school house. I learned some new words from the boys, but I'm going to have to practice on them awhile before I start using them myself.

YAWN, YAWN, there is a track meet Friday and Saturday. The program is given in last week's paper. As they say, "Excitement is High"—or is it the wind, or maybe taxes.

CONGRATULATIONS!

The American Civil Liberties Union congratulates itself, in a recent survey, that no single Communist is now in jail in America for political activity and that the "civil rights of Communists are now generally exercised without interference."

Meanwhile, in Communist Russia, the jails are filled and the firing squads are busy "liquidating" men and women guilty of "political activity." Civil rights of those who oppose Stalin are extinct.

The irony of the Civil Liberties Union survey is that these very Communists among us who now boastfully enjoy their freedom of utterance would not enjoy that freedom if the goal for which they are working—a Communist American Government—is ever reached. Communism would bring brutalitarian rule and abolish the freedom now extended this group in free America. Ponder that, Americans!

THE WAY OF DICTATORSHIP

One of the outstanding lessons the world has learned from dictatorship is this: No dictator can force himself into power and stay there so long as his people retain free speech and free, uncensored, newspapers.

Hitler, Mussolini, Stalin, and all of their lesser imitators learned that. But now Hitler, fresh from his Austrian conquest, is irritated by comments of newspapers in free countries. So he proposes inflexible government control of all newspapers. What he means is this: "You see that your newspapers say only nice things about me and I'll do the same for you."

Up speaks Dr. Carl W. Ackerman, Dean of the Pulitzer School of Journalism at Columbia University, a lifelong student of newspapers and their problems and duties. After pointing out that such a treaty would require amendment of the American Constitution, he adds:

"I consider these developments so ominous that I think the foreign press policy of the German government should be fully explained and earnestly studied. If governmental control of the printed and spoken word is a requirement of peace with Germany, we should know the conditions now and not later."

Hitler's plan doubtless suits some Americans. A United States Senator said in a radio speech the other day that 98 per cent of America's city newspapers are biased. What he meant was that they did not agree with him.

How different he is from Voltaire who once said: "While I might not agree with what you say I shall defend to the death your right to say it!"

Americans doubtless will agree with their own Constitution and with Voltaire rather than Hitler and the Senator, for down the Hitler-Senator road lies dictatorship.

HOUSING PROGRAM LAUNCHED

The United States Housing Authority has launched a highly workable slum clearance and low-rent housing construction program, Ernest M. Culligan, Special Assistant to Nathan Straus, Administrator of the USHA, asserted in a radio address last night from Station KPRC in Houston, Texas.

Mr. Culligan pointed out that President Roosevelt has signed contracts for loans totaling $16,836,000 for five cities to begin clearing their blighted areas and constructing dwellings for the slum dwellers. Local Housing Authorities in many other cities are preparing to participate in the $500,000,000 slum clearance program provided for in the United States Housing Act of 1937.

"That all of this has been accomplished in less than five short months, since Mr. Nathan Straus assumed office as Administrator of the United States Housing Authority, is irrefutable evidence that America has, at long last, launched a workable slum clearance and low-rent housing program", Mr. Culligan declared.

He pointed out that Texas has made rapid strides toward better housing through USHA loans by establishing housing authorities in eight cities: Austin, Dallas, El Paso, Fort Worth, Houston, San Antonio, Temple and Waco. Austin with a loan of $640,000 is among the first five cities in the country to be given loans by the USHA.

SOCIAL SECURITY NEWS

No deductions are made from a worker's Social Security account, established in connection with the old-age insurance program, for payments to the individual under a State unemployment compensation law, Dewey Reed manager of the Amarillo office of the Social Security Board, announced today. Reed said he has been correcting this mistaken impression among some workers who have visited his office recently.

"It should be clearly understood," Reed explained, "that out-of-work benefits from the State unemployment compensation agency come from a fund established by contributions from employers covered by the State unemployment compensation law."

"On the other hand, old-age insurance is a program administered by the Federal Government, and benefits to a worker accrue on the basis of wages from covered employment credited to his social security account. The fact that he receives unemployment compensation under a State law in no way affects his Federal social security account. The worker's wage credits remain on government books until his account is finally closed by death," Reed said.

HEALTH NOTES

This week has been proclaimed State Clean-Up and Paint-Up week by Governor James V. Allred in an official proclamation issued at Austin. State and city-wide clean-up campaigns are scheduled by officials over the State, the campaigns to facilitate public health protection, lessen fire loss, and promote public safety.

The Texas State Department of Health and the Fire Insurance Department will jointly sponsor the week.

Clean-Up Week is an important week in Texas, important because every dollar in property destroyed by fire is a dollar lost forever. "Careless housekeeping" in the home and in business paves the way for unestimated fire loss, and all fire loss is, to a large percent, preventable by exercising recognized laws of fire prevention and control.

Every citizen has pride in his home city, its streets, playgrounds, parks and buildings. Homes and buildings freshly painted, with well kept lawns and gardens, increase values and intensify community interest. Cleanliness creates confidence.

The past decade has seen entirely too many Texans lose their lives by careless daily use of fire. Preservation of human life is an important matter. Any agency which contributes to greater human safety of life deserves the attention of thinking citizens. Clean-Up Week in Texas is such an agency. Its advantages are obvious in contribution to a cleaner, safer, happier place in which to live, no matter how large or small the community.

Cities and towns of Texas will conduct clean-up programs of far reaching activity. Schedules are cleaning, draining, graveling of alleys cleaning city parks and playgrounds. Malaria control, fire prevention, garbage and trash disposal, through spring housecleaning for city and home will be encouraged.

Clean-Up Week, among its other functions, focuses public attention on the dirt and disease problem. It helps to make Texas a healthier, cleaner place in which to live.

TIRES FOR EVERY SERVICE

The extra mileage that Mansfield Tire users have received during the past twenty-five years has been responsible for the fact that the Company has grown steadily until it is now one of the six largest producers in the tire industry. Mansfield distributors dot the continent from coast to coast.

Mansfield Mudders

Designed and built to do just what their name implies — take you through the mud, slush, snow on any type of road, on their wide angled, heavy cleated treads.

Mansfield Cushion Balloons

Today's cars — built for small diameter wheels and low air-pressure — need special tires for high speed service. Mansfield Cushion Balloons bring out all the sparkling performance built into modern cars.

● There's a Mansfield Tire built to give extra mileage and extra safety on any make car or truck you drive — on any kind of work, in any season of the year, over all kinds of roads. That's the reason we are stocking them, yes, and selling them to your friends and neighbors who already have had the opportunity to see the extra safety, economy and performance of Mansfield Tires.

THREE WAYS SAFER

Mansfield Tires are three ways safer because they are built three ways differently from other tires. For instance, Cord-Lock construction puts 31% more full weight cord fabric into the sidewalls, reinforcing the tire against flexing strains. The high tensile, steel piano wire beads are seven times as strong as actually needed. Mansfield treads are made of tougher Duro-mix rubber, today still more resistant to high speed wear and pavement "burn" from fast starts and quick stops. Every Mansfield Tire gives you more mileage than you pay for.

ALLRED WILL NOT BE THIRD TERM CANDIDATE

"I have fought a good fight; I have kept the faith!"

Thus did Governor Allred summarize his stewardship of the high office to which the people of Texas have elected him twice while announcing that he would not be a candidate for a third term. The announcement was made by Governor Allred Saturday night over a statewide radio hookup from the Mansion at Austin.

"My record is written," Governor Allred said in reviewing the accomplishments of his administrations. "It cannot be changed by comments edged with bias nor statements poisoned with prejudice. I only trust that having given the best in me, I have in some measure justified your faith and confidence."

"Naturally, I should like to see the remainder of the people's program carried out. For this reason, and at the earnest insistence of many fine friends throughout the State, I have considered the prob-blem of asking the people for another term.

"But necessarily, there are other considerations. Not alone the so-called third term tradition, but my family's welfare, and most important, the welfare of the State! Financially, I am in worse condition than when I became either Attorney General or Governor because I am deeply in debt. I owe it to my family to consider their future welfare."

"Outweighing all these things there is the question of the public interest. Necessarily in a career of service where no one has ever doubted my stand on public questions, I have made bitter enemies. An unprecedented third term announcement on my part would plunge Texas into the bitterest campaign it has ever known, a campaign of false issues and personalities."

"For these reasons, I have concluded that I should not be a candidate. Therefore I plan to enter private law practice in Austin at the conclusion of my term. In the future, should the occasions arise, I shall stand ready to serve the State I love. Meantime from the bottom of my heart, I thank the thousands of friends whose support elected me Attorney General and Governor and without whose help none of my accomplishments as Governor to which I have proudly pointed could have been realized."

Governor Allred said he had no desire to dictate his successor but felt that the people of Texas were entitled to know how avowed candidates for governor stood on old age assistance, the child labor amendment, sales of liquor by the drink, legalization of race track gambling, the continued outlawry of racketeering, on the sales and other taxes.

"Even those who do not like me," the governor declared, "know where I stand upon these questions. Is it asking too much of others to make themselves equally clear? Surely a man big enough to be governor should certainly have some convictions on these subjects and possess the courage of his convictions."

Reviewing briefly his record during the past three years, Governor Allred said Texas had had a state administration of which she need not be ashamed for it had commanded the respect of other states and the confidence of the National administration.

Among the many achievements pointed out were old age assistance to over one hundred thousand needy aged; the establishment of a reemployment service and an unemployment insurance department, liquor, traffic regulation passage of the securities act, the chain store tax yielding millions in revenue and producing fairer competition for independent industries; increased natural resources tax; defeat of sales tax; planned conservation program for oil and gas industry; as well as various flood control districts; aid for insane and eleemosynary institutions; establishment of negro tubercular hospital, crippled children aid, and broadened public health program; establishment of Public Safety Department with at-tendent strict law enforcement; repeal of race track gambling.

The Governor proudly pointed out that under his administration rural schools received greatest aid and every school the biggest per capita apportionment in history. In addition, colleges and universities had received aid for building programs and fairer salaries for teachers. Despite needed help the governor's administration showed an ad valorem school tax reduction of 28c on the hundred dollars.

Pointing with pride to abolition of old pardon system and the establishment of clemency on merit, the governor said the volunteer parole system inaugurated by him was the "most widely respected" system in the nation.

He reviewed the Centennial Celebration made possible by legislation sponsored by the Allred administration and said that thousands of new citizens and industries had been attracted to Texas as a result.

The Governor said he was proud that the state administration had enjoyed the personal friendship and had secured the hearty cooperation of President Roosevelt in carrying out a real recovery program.

CARNEGIE COLLECTION SENT TO TEXAS

Recognition to the culture of the South was made recently when the Carnegie Corporation of New York allocated a $5,000 College Art Set to Texas State College for Women.

Consisting of valuable museum materials such as books, photographs and color reproductions of famous works of art, the collection will add greatly to the art treasures of the state. It will be shipped to the college the last day of May.

Other institutions who have received this honor are Yale, Washington and Lee, Syracuse, and Maine Universities.

LITHS YIELD TO POLES

One War Threat Removed . . . Mexico Seizes Foreign Oil Concerns . . . Hull Says We Arm for Peace

Here in confidential conversation are Senator Sherman Minton of Indiana (left), chairman of the senate committee investigating lobbying, and Senator Lewis B. Schwellenbach of Washington. The committee's inquiry at present is directed particularly to a campaign against the government reorganization bill and its activities aroused Publisher Frank Gannett to demand its abolition.

Edward W. Pickard SUMMARIZES THE WORLD'S WEEK

Victory for Poland

ONE immediate threat of European war seemed to be dissolved when Lithuania yielded to the demands of Poland for resumption of normal diplomatic and trade relations and virtually gave up its claim to Vilna, former capital of the country, which the Poles seized 18 years ago. General Smigly-Rydz, chief of the Polish army and "strong man" of Poland, had mobilized his troops on the Lithuanian border, and Polish warships were cruising off Memel. So there was nothing for the Lith to do except give in. Polish troops that had been concentrated in Vilna paraded in celebration of the bloodless victory, but in Warsaw the celebration was distorted into a "pogrom" in which riotous throngs attacked all the Jews they could find, killing several and wounding scores. Hundreds of Jewish-owned shops were smashed before the police could restore order.

General Smigly-Rydz

The mobs were made up largely of National Democrats, opposed to the government, who protested that the settlement with Lithuania was too lenient. They demanded that Poland invade and annex Lithuania. Col. Joseph Beck, Polish foreign minister, declared that Poland would guarantee Lithuania's independence. The Liths, however, were extremely bitter over the concessions they had been forced to make to their more powerful neighbor.

Mexican Oil Seizures

PRESIDENT CARDENAS of Mexico announced the expropriation of oil properties belonging to American and British companies and valued at some $400,000,000. Wells, refineries and tankers were seized and workers took control of all company offices in the republic. The American and British employees and their families fled. For the present the oil industry in Mexico was paralyzed.

The companies concerned began legal action attacking the constitutionality of Cardenas' decree, and it was said would carry the case to the highest court. Both the United States and Great Britain were expected to challenge the seizures and similar action threatened in the case of mines as violation of treaty obligations.

The action of the Mexican government was not entirely unexpected for it was the culmination of a long and bitter controversy between the oil companies and Mexico's board of labor conciliation and arbitration over a $7,300,000 wage increase ordered by the board.

Armed Peace: No Alliances

AMERICA must pursue its quest for world peace, but must follow a policy of arming for protection of its rights against "international lawlessness."

So declared Secretary of State Cordell Hull in an exposition of America's foreign policy and a discussion of all aspects of the world situation. He spoke at the National Press club in Washington and his address was broadcast over the land and other nations.

Secy. Hull

He set forth a policy of alliances, collaboration with peaceful nations, military preparedness, and opposition to the "seclusionist" viewpoint.

"It is my considered judgment that, in the present state of world affairs, to do less than is now proposed would lay our country open to unpredictable hazards," he said, referring to the naval expansion program.

"The momentous question," he said, "is whether the doctrine of force shall become enthroned once more and bring in its wake, inexorably, international anarchy and a relapse into barbarism."

He did not refer to any nation by name, but his implication with regard to legal recognition of Austria's absorption by Germany and Japan's expansion in China was clear when he said:

"The catastrophic developments of recent years, the startling events of the past weeks, offer a tragic demonstration of how quickly the contagious scourge of treaty-breaking and armed violence spreads from one region to another."

He disclaimed "the slightest intention to entertain any such notion as the use of American armed forces for 'policing the world.'"

He specifically opposed the proposal of the United States retire from the Far East.

In the Far East crisis, Hull said, the United States has "consistently collaborated with other peace-seeking nations."

The triumph of the "seclusionist viewpoint," he said, "would inescapably carry the whole world back to the conditions of medieval chaos, conditions toward which some parts of both the eastern and the western worlds are already moving."

House Passes Navy Bill

WITH only a few votes in opposition, the house passed the administration's billion dollar navy bill. The measure authorizes construction of the largest battle fleet in American history by adding 46 combat ships, 22 auxiliaries and 930 airplanes.

The War department announced that army and navy officers were about to study plans for an enlistment program that would put more than two million men under arms within four months of a declaration of war. For this the army would require 1,250,000 recruits and the navy 500,000.

The first 300,000, under existing plans, would be sought as volunteers in the first month, before selective draft machinery like that of 1917-'18 was put into operation. Already prepared for quick submission to congress is a draft of a selective service law.

Morgan Defies F. D. R.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT ordered Chairman Arthur E. Morgan of the Tennessee Valley Authority to recant charges against his colleagues or face suspension or ouster. But Mr. Morgan challenged the President's powers to remove him and said flatly that he would not resign.

The chairman asserted: "I challenge this action by the President and deny his right to remove or suspend me. I stand on that. If I sum up my attitude I can say that I do not choose to run away."

He then took a train for Yellow Springs, Ohio, for a visit with friends.

Morgan told newspaper men he has obtained legal advice on his conflict with the President. At the same time it was learned Mr. Roosevelt uncovered a law under which, advisers assured him, he is empowered to oust the chairman.

Floyd Gibbons' ADVENTURERS' CLUB

HEADLINES FROM THE LIVES OF PEOPLE LIKE YOURSELF!

"The Door of Death"

By FLOYD GIBBONS Famous Headline Hunter

HELLO EVERYBODY:

Well, boys and girls, this is the pay-off. A bird who had an adventure—in church. I've always known that Old Lady Adventure was no respecter of persons. Now it seems she doesn't respect the cloth either.

Henry B. Willson of New York city is the lad who found adventure down at the end of the old sawdust trail. "As a boy," Henry says, "I had more than my share of particular escapes, but one in particular has left such a scar on my memory as time will never efface. Anything, even today, that represents confinement—anything from a small room to a tight collar—throws me into a panic."

Well, there's a curious reaction. The minute I started reading Hank Willson's letter—the minute I hit that opening paragraph of his, I wanted to know what sort of a scare it was that would make a man go nuts over a tight collar. And I guess you boys and girls will want to know, too. So here's the story.

Hank Used Kerosene to Start the Fire.

Hank was raised—as they say down South—in a little village in Georgia that went by the name of Cedartown. And like most kids did in small towns in those days, he worked around at various odd jobs to earn his spending money. Hank's dad was the pastor of a church in town, and one winter Hank had the job of taking care of the church furnace.

Now there are probably a million ways of starting a fire, but Hank's plan was to throw a bunch of paper in the furnace, chuck a lot of wood in on top of that, and then saturate the whole business with kerosene. It's a darned good way to get a blaze going quickly, but some horrible things have happened to people who used kerosene too freely in places where it was never meant to be used.

In fact, a very horrible thing DID happen—to Hank. Hank built fires in the old church perhaps two dozen times—always in that one particular way of his. And then he built one that brought Old Lady Adventure down on him like a ton of bricks.

Early one Sunday morning, Hank got up, put on an old sweater, and started out to do his job. He tossed in an armful of crumpled newspapers, and followed that with a couple armfuls of wood. He poured the kerosene on, giving the furnace an exceptionally liberal dose. Then, with a box of matches in one hand, he stuck his head and shoulders in through the furnace door to arrange the wood so that it would be sure to take fire quickly.

Caught in a Blazing Trap.

So far, everything was all right. But it was the matches that did the damage. You know, when you've got a box of matches in your hand, it's the most natural thing in the world to light one. You do it automatically—absent-mindedly.

Well—Hank doesn't know what got into him, or where his wits were at the moment, but before he knew what he was doing, he had lit a match—and WITH HIS HEAD AND SHOULDERS STILL STICKING HALF-WAY THROUGH THE FURNACE DOOR—applied that match to the kerosene-soaked wood and paper.

The fire blazed up in an instant. Hank's first reaction was to jerk his head and shoulders back out of the furnace door. He tried to do just that—but it didn't work. His sweater had caught on the catch of the furnace door, and though he fought like mad to draw back out of the way of the spreading flames, he couldn't work himself free.

Hank screamed. But his screams were so muffled by the furnace that no one in the street heard him. Meanwhile the fire was getting hotter—and closer. Hank's face was beginning to glow. His sweater caught fire and broke into a blaze. Death was searing at him through the flames that licked and lapped at his body.

"It was the most horrible fate I could imagine," Hank says. "And it was happening to me."

Fox Terrier Gave the Alarm.

About that time, though, Hank became conscious that there was some sort of commotion going on behind him. A little fox terrier had come wandering in through the open cellar door, and the dog seemed to know that something was wrong. He started to yelp and whine, and run back and forth between the furnace and the cellar door.

Early on a Sunday morning, when no one was about, that yelping little dog might easily have gone unnoticed. But fate had decreed otherwise, it seems, and down the street came an old negro. The old fellow was curious to see what strange happenings would make a dog act so at a time when most dogs are asleep, and he stuck his head in the cellar door.

That old fellow got the shock of his life. For what he saw was a furnace burning merrily, and a half portion of an eight-year-old boy sticking out of the door. He grabbed Hank by the legs, yanked him out, and slapped out the fire that was consuming his sweater.

Hank's hair was all burned off, and his face and hands were in a well-cooked condition. Two minutes more, and it wouldn't have been any use bothering with him.

That's why he doesn't like confinement. Even a tight collar reminds him of that furnace door.

War Against Germany

The United States declared war against Germany a few minutes after 3 o'clock on the morning of April 5, 1917, when congress passed a resolution "that the President is hereby authorized and directed . . . to carry on war against the Imperial German Government and to bring the conflict to a successful termination." Thus empowered, the President, April 6, issued a proclamation that "a state of war exists between the United States and the Imperial German Government."

The eclipses of Jupiter's moons, which occur daily, are computed and recorded in the Nautical Almanac, and it is through observations of them that chronometers are corrected at sea.

"The Act of God"

The legal meaning of "act of God" is an overwhelming natural event, such as a storm or earthquake, which no human being could be reasonably expected to foresee or prevent. According to the common law, no person is responsible for a loss or injury when it is caused by "the act of God or the enemies of the state." If a man is sued for breach of contract and can prove that his non-performance was due to "the act of God," he has a good defense.

C. Houston Goudiss Describes the Precious MINERAL SALTS

That You Must Have in Order to Build Strong Bones, Sound Teeth, Healthy Nerves, Rich Red Blood

By C. HOUSTON GOUDISS 8 East 39th Street, New York.

THE human body is often compared to a machine, but it is far more wonderful, far more complex, than the most intricate machine ever designed to run without stopping, day in and day out, for upwards of 70 years, is also a fully equipped chemical laboratory. For if a chemist should grind a man to mentary source of calcium. And some fruits, such as oranges, figs, strawberries and bananas like-wise supply significant amounts.

Indispensable Phosphorus

Like calcium, phosphorus is required by the body in relatively large amounts, and like calcium, it is especially important in the diet of children, because it is deposited in the bones, along with calcium, as calcium phosphate.

Phosphorus is indispensable for all the active tissues in the body and plays an important part in regulating the neutrality of the blood. It can be obtained from whole grain cereals, eggs, dried beans, cheese, lean meats, and root and leafy vegetables.

Minerals Necessary to Life

It is vitally important that the homemaker should understand the function of these various salts and where they can be found. For if certain minerals are lacking in the body, the heart will stop beating. Without others, the bones cannot form properly. Still others are responsible for the rich red blood that makes the difference between a healthy person and a sickly one. Laboratory experiments have proved that if you leave out the smallest trace of the mineral known as manganese, you destroy the love of a mother for her child. And nutritionists—but unfortunately not mothers—are well aware that less than a thousandth of an ounce of iodine makes all the difference between a normal man and an imbecile.

Calcium—Captain of Minerals

Calcium deserves its ranking position as the captain of the minerals, because it builds the bones, or body framework. And the bony skeleton is to the human being what steel is to a building. Calcium is also the chief constituent of the teeth and upon healthy teeth rests the health of the digestive system and, in turn, the entire body. For food that is improperly masticated is imperfectly digested and fails to nourish properly.

About 99 per cent of the calcium in the body is found in the teeth and bones. If the body does not receive an adequate supply of this mineral in pre-natal life and during the growing years, the bones will be porous, distorted and easily broken, and the teeth will develop cavities and eventually may fall out.

In addition to being the principal material for making and maintaining the bones and teeth, calcium increases the strength and pulsations of the heart and helps the blood coagulate in case of injury, thus keeping you and your loved ones from bleeding to death. That is why an extra supply of calcium is fed to patients just before an operation.

Calcium Builds Will Power

There is a close relationship between calcium and sound, healthy nerves. And this precious substance likewise helps us to concentrate mentally—it strengthens our will power—and assists us in acquiring that "do or die" attitude toward life, which is essential in an age when we must all struggle or go under.

Yet despite its importance, it is estimated by that outstanding authority, Henry C. Sherman, Professor of Nutrition at Teachers College, Columbia University, that one-half of the American people—even those with plenty of money—are literally starving for calcium, because they do not know the food sources of this vitally important mineral.

Where to Obtain Calcium

The foremost sources of calcium are milk and cheese, which is milk in concentrated form. It is chiefly to provide adequate calcium that homemakers must follow the rule of a quart of milk daily for every child, and a pint for each adult.

Vegetables, such as spinach, lettuce, celery, asparagus, string beans, cabbage, carrots and cauliflower are also a good supply-

Iron—King Pin of Them All

But measured in terms of food essentials, iron is king pin of them all. It is the supreme element in nutrition because it is necessary for the formation of the hemoglobin or red pigment in the blood. And it is the hemoglobin which carries purifying oxygen to every cell in the body. Recently, it has been discovered that copper is required for the proper utilization of iron.

"Red blooded" is a term understood by everyone to denote health and strength, and it is iron that makes us red blooded. When your children grow pale and listless, lose their pep and lack appetite, it is likely that they are starving for iron. If you become short of breath and "pant" when going up hill, or upstairs, even though there is nothing wrong with your heart or lungs, the chances are that there is insufficient red pigment in the blood—not enough to take up an adequate supply of oxygen and carry it to the millions of cells throughout the body.

There is no excuse for cheating yourself or your children of a full measure of iron, for this mineral can easily be obtained from liver, egg yolk, whole grain cereals, molasses, dried fruits, dried peas and beans, nuts, lean meats and green vegetables.

Iodine—Molder of Men

Almost everyone has heard that iodine is the mineral which helps to prevent that disfiguring enlargement of the neck, known as simple goiter. But few people realize that it is the principal constituent of thyroxin, secretion of the thyroid gland, and that the thyroid functions normally only when sufficient iodine is available.

A wide variety of physiological disorders have been laid to iodine hunger. Obesity is frequently the result of thyroid disturbance. Specialists contend that stubborn skin diseases are associated with disorders of this gland. Many people are accused of laziness who are really suffering from thyroid deficiency. And competent authorities claim that the thyroid likewise influences mental make-up and emotional tendencies.

Iodine is found chiefly in sea-food and in fruits and vegetables grown near the sea. In inland regions, where soil and water are poor in iodine, health authorities frequently add it to the drinking water. And the use of iodized salt is also recommended. By these simple measures, thousands of growing children can be saved from the disastrous results of iodine deficiency.

In general, it can be said that if the minerals calcium, phosphorus, iron and iodine are supplied in adequate amounts, the other minerals will be automatically furnished.

But every homemaker should make echo from the hills about Hollywood. Lots of people thought the Gaynor ought to receive one of the Academy awards for her performance in "Star Is Born." In fact, they got very sentimental about it, because they won the Academy award for the best performance way back in 1927, for her work in "Seventh Heaven."

You'll certainly want to see Dean Durbine in "Mad About Music." He's got a plot, a delightful performance, and a talent for the youthful star, and with a hand for Herbert Marshall he handles expertly. Peter van Steeden is having a lot of fun with a new recording device. He has his friends telephone him, records their voices, and then telephones them later and plays the record back to them.

It's funny, the way that radio audiences are classified. For instance, Haven MacQuarrie's "Do You Want to Be an Actor?" program was considered just right for the automobile company that wanted plug the sales of used cars—the program was said to have strong middle-class appeal.

To Ride the River With

COPYRIGHT WILLIAM MACLEOD RAINE—WNU SERVICE

SYNOPSIS

Ruth Chiswick of L. C. ranch, obsessed by fear of danger to her outspoken and bullheaded father, Lee, from a band of lawless rustlers headed by Sherm Howard, decides to save him by eloping with young Lou Howard, Sherm's son, and comes to the town of Tail Holt to meet him. While in Yell Sanger's store, a crooked stranger enters, sizes up the situation, and when a drunken cowboy, Jim Pender, rides in and starts shooting, protects Ruth, while Lou Howard hides. Disgusted with Lou's cowardice, Ruth calls off the elopement, and sends the stranger for her father at the gambling house across the street. There the stranger, calling himself Jeff Gray, meets Morgan Norris, a killer, Curly Connor, Kansas, Mile High, Sid Hunt, and other rustlers, and Sherm Howard. Lee Chiswick enters, with his fooman, Dan Brand, and tells Sherm Howard of his orders to shoot rustlers at sight. Jeff Gray returns to Ruth and coldly reassures her of her father's safety. At supper, Ruth introduces Jeff to her father and Brand, and in Sanger's store later she speaks cordially to Curly Connor.

Curly spoke in a friendly way to her father and then to her Morgan Norris scowled. He had been talking as they entered, but his words had apparently dried up. After paying for the sack of tobacco Sanger handed him, he walked past Ruth out of the store. It seemed to her there was an insolent defiance in the slight swagger with which he moved.

On his way out Curly stopped for another word with Ruth. He considered her the prettiest girl within a day's ride, and he was quite willing to make the most of their rather slight acquaintance.

Lee Chiswick passed them with some bundles in his hands. "I'm putting these in the saddlebags," the cattleman said gruffly. "Yes, Father, I'll be right out," Ruth answered. She knew he was annoyed at her for falling into talk with Curly Connor, a wild young fellow reputed to be hand in glove with the rustlers.

"We're starting," Chiswick growled over his shoulder. The cattleman walked across the road to the hitch-rack and began putting packages in the saddlebags of his mount. Through the deepening dusk he saw Dan Brand coming down the street leading Ruth's chestnut mare. Morgan Norris leaned against a doorpost at the entrance to the Golden Nugget.

The foreman fastened the chestnut with a slip-knot. "Got to get me some extra tobacco," he said, and bowlegged across the road to the store.

As Brand passed the two young people, he gave Ruth a curious glance. Down at the corral where he had left her horse, he had learned a bit of news.

"All set to go?" Ruth asked him. "Soon as I get my chewing," Curly was speaking to the girl in a low voice. She shook her head, decisively.

"No, Mr. Connor. I'm sure I am flattered. But you know Father doesn't like some of your friends. I don't think he would make you welcome at the L. C. if you rode out there."

"Not even if I dropped in kinda by chance?" Ruth laughed. "Young men who drop in by chance don't fool him any more."

They followed Brand out of the store. Night was sweeping down over the valley. The first evening stars were pricking out. Above the door of a saloon farther down the street a lantern had been lit.

Men drifted in and out of gambling-houses. Morgan Norris was no longer in sight. He had disappeared into the Golden Nugget. Mile High and his friend Sid moved with trailing spurs to their companions.

Someone invited them to come back and have another drink. "No, sir, we're hitting the trail," Mile High called back. From the alley beside the Golden Nugget a flash split the darkness. The blast of a gun sounded—twice.

Lee Chiswick caught at the pommel of his saddle, at the same time dragging a revolver into sight. Ruth ran forward and slipped an arm around his waist. "Get back, girl!" he shouted with an oath.

A man came swiftly, weapon in hand. From the end of the barrel a faint trickle of smoke drifted. The man was Jeff Gray. Ruth clung to her father, her body between him and the runner. "Don't you dare!" she cried wildly. "You murderer!" Gray stopped abruptly, and thrust his gun back into the holster. "You don't think . . ." he began. "Lemme go, you little fool," Chiswick cried, struggling to free his arms.

Two more guns roared. Dan Brand and Curly Connor had come into action against the crook-nosed man. Gray dodged behind the horses, crossed the street at a zigzag run, his body low and crouched, and snatched up the trailing reins of his ranga roan. Without touching the stirrups, he vaulted into the saddle. The gelding whirled at a touch, riding to its hind legs. A moment later the rider went racing down the street, lying low on the saddle. Bullets whizzed past him. He did not stop. Horse and man vanished into the night.

CHAPTER III

In an incredibly short time after the firing had ceased a crowd of milling men surrounded the Chiswicks.

All the color had washed out of Ruth's face. Her arm still supported the wounded cattleman. "Someone get a doctor," she begged.

"No doc in town," Mile High answered. "I'll ride to Tough Nut for one if you like, Miss."

Lee drew a hand across the back of his neck and looked at the stain. "Cressed me," he said. "Must have knocked me dizzy with the shock. No more than skin deep."

From the outskirts of the press Morgan Norris asked a question. "Who did it?" "That sorreltop stranger," answered Curly. "Open out a way, boys, and let Mr. Chiswick through. Better get him into the Golden Nugget."

"I'll go into Sanger's," Chiswick said. "No use making a fuss. I'm not hurt."

The broad shoulders of Dan Brand opened a path. "Are you sure it's . . . not serious, Father?" Ruth asked, as soon as they had reached the store.

"Sure," Lee replied curtly. "Just a scratch. Get me water, a clean towel, and some linen to tie up my neck, Yell," he ordered.

Sherman Howard came into the store as Ruth was tying a handkerchief around her father's neck to hold the bandage in place.

He said suavely: "I wouldn't have had this happen for a thousand dollars, Lee. I've got men out on the trail after this skunk, and if they catch him we'll sure string him to a cottonwood."

"Why, the scallawag ate supper with us not 15 minutes ago," Brand burst out indignantly. "Soon as I see him I knew he was a bad hombre, but I didn't figure on him pulling any such a thing as that."

"Hadn't been for Miss Chiswick the fellow would have finished the job," Curly cried with enthusiasm. "I never saw anything like and her father she stood between him and her father. He couldn't get in another shot."

"You and Dan drove him off, Mr. Connor," Ruth said blushing. "I certainly owe you thanks for your help," Chiswick said to Curly. "His bullet had knocked me silly and I couldn't do much for myself."

"Yore gun came out mighty swift, sir. I noticed that. Maybe if you hadn't been dazed you might have done better than Dan and me. We both missed clean. I reckon."

"Didn't have time to get set," apologized Brand. "He was moving mighty fast."

"And still is," Curly added with a grin. "We'll hit the trail," Chiswick told the foreman. "Might bring the horses across to the door."

"Do you think you're able to travel?" his daughter asked, with a worried frown. "Why not wait till morning, Lee?" Howard said. "You'll be more comfortable at Ma Presnall's. Better play safe."

"You think some yellow coyote will take a crack at me?" the L. C. owner asked bluntly, his hard gaze on Howard. "No. I think you may be hurt worse than you figure. If you're set on going, Curly will ride with you, and you are clear of town, I reckon." "Sure I will," assented Curly. "Mighty glad to do that. Though you're perfectly safe from that killer, I would say."

"You can't ride beside me, young fellow," Chiswick told him. "But I'll take your proposition up and ask you to go along with my daughter till we get out of this town. You and Dan will flank her. I'll ride in front alone. If there is another murderer wants to get me, here is his chance."

At the edge of the village, Chiswick pulled up, thanked Curly, and sent the young man back. A quarter of a mile farther on he took a hill trail.

"It's five miles farther home this way, Father," Ruth said. "And a rough trail for night travel. With your wound—"

"I keep telling you I haven't any wound," he exclaimed. "We're going this way because it's safer. They'll think we will travel by the main road. If a trap has been laid, we'll miss it."

"Something in that," Brand agreed. "I don't reckon anybody is laying for us, but no need to take a chance."

A crowing cock was proclaiming the advent of dawn when they reached the L. C. ranch.

Ruth poured her father another cup of coffee. He took it absently, his eyes on a paper in his hand.

"Reckon I better put the date in," he said aloud, to himself. The paper was a bill of sale. It read: "This is to certify I have this day sold to Barclay Broderick one hundred and eighty (180) yearling heifers branded L. C. Lazy D. and J. M. and I guarantee peaceable possession of same. Lee Chiswick."

His daughter watched him, waiting for a favorable moment. It was the second morning after their return to the ranch, and she had made up her mind to confess now. She was nervous, for she was not at all sure what he might do. This was going to be a blow for him. Why had she been such a fool?

"Something to tell you, Father," she said. With a pencil he wrote the date on the bill of sale. "That ought to be about the thing," he looked up. "Yes?"

Small gleaming teeth, strong and even, bit into her upper lip. "Can we go into your office?" she asked. He finished the coffee. Ruth followed him. In the movement of her fluent body was a fine animal vigor. She shut the door of the little room after they had entered.

Ruth swallowed a lump in her throat and plunged. "When I went to Tail Holt I didn't know you had gone there, Father," she began. "Didn't?" Chiswick's eyes came to attention. "Then why did you go?"

"I was running away to get married." He stared at her. "Who with?" "With Lou Howard." Her eyes clung to his steadily. She held her head up, defiant even in her humility.

He was too surprised and shocked to say anything at first. "It wasn't his fault as much as it was mine," she went on. "I was a crazy fool. You told me to have nothing to do with him—never to speak to him. You threatened me. I liked him, and I resented having you dictate to me. We met secretly. I thought I was in love with him and slipping away to Tail Holt. We were going to be married there."

"One of those cursed Howards!" Lee was still too shaken to explode. "On the way I found out I didn't care for him so much," Ruth continued. "But I was ashamed to turn back then. When that drunken man who was killed later came into Sanger's he—Lou Howard, I mean—didn't behave well. He was frightened."

After 18 years of intensive study, the sardine has been characterized by the California State Fisheries laboratory as being a veritable hobo of the sea, writes a San Francisco United Press correspondent.

Its wanderings, in fact, are so great that the fish threatens to involve international complications with Japan, Mexico and possibly other countries.

The system which the state laboratory employed has been to catch sardines, tag them and then keep records of where they eventually were caught again.

This has been made necessary by the controversy of whether the sardines caught off the Japanese, Mexican and Russian coasts were California sardines or whether the various sections of the seas harbor distinct sardine populations of their own. All evidence to date indicates that the sardine is a migratory fish.

and forgot all about me. He jumped over the counter and hid. Afterward I told him I was through—that I never wanted to see him again."

"You didn't marry him?" the cattleman said thickly. "No. I wasn't crazy any longer." He seized her by the shoulders, his strong fingers biting into the flesh savagely. "Girl, what more have you to tell me?" he demanded. The color poured into her cheeks, but the eyes of the girl did not yield an iota to the fierce inquiry in his. "Nothing. Nothing at all."

"You weren't?" He didn't finish his question, nor was that necessary. "Never!" she cried. The pain from the grip on her flesh was intense, but she did not wince.

He drew a long breath and flung her from him. "My own daughter throws down on me and joins the pack of wolves tearing me down," he said bitterly. Ruth understood exactly how he felt. She had always shared his resentment at Sherman Howard's active hostility, but she had never understood the reason for her father's implacable hatred of the man. There was, she guessed, something hidden in the buried past to account for it.

"I'm sorry, Father. Of course it doesn't do any good to say that, but I'd give anything if I hadn't done it."

"You threw him overboard—quit of your own accord? He didn't jilt you?" Lee asked harshly. "No. He begged me to go on with it—said folks would give him the laugh. I'm the one to blame all the way through. I'm a first—and fiddle. There must be something . . . rotten . . . about me. I suppose it's too late to whip it out of me."

Ruth did herself less than justice. She had been willful, and she had flirted in an innocent way, but she was far from fickle. A few boys had plunged fathoms deep in love with her, but it had been good for their education. Ruth was as clean as the windswept hills, and there was in her a deep loyalty.

Hopefully she threw out a hand. "My own fault, I reckon. I spoiled you—let you run hog wild—gave you your own way. If I'd used a quirt on you, it might have been better."

Ruth knew why he had been so indulgent. She reminded him of the young wife he had lost two or three years after her birth.

"I took advantage of your goodness to me," Ruth agreed. "Your brothers are boys I'm proud of—fine steady young fellows who will do to ride the river with. I know they will be with me long as they can stand and fight. And I thought I could depend on you too, even if you are a wild colt. I didn't figure you'd walk out on me to join my worst enemy."

"I didn't do that, Father," she denied. "I would always be on your side."

"Trouble is you're a lump of conceit. You figure wrong makes right if you say so. Girl, you're laying up trouble for yourself unless you change your ways, and trouble for anyone fond of you. You'd ought to go down on your knees and thank God you didn't marry this scoundrel. You would have paid for it all your life."

Ruth knew this was true, and admitted it. "I'm ashamed of myself," she said with unwonted gentleness. Chiswick looked at her, started to speak, then turned on his heel abruptly and strode out of the room. Ruth knew why he left. Her attitude lapped at his resentment and weakened it. He did not want to forgive her yet, not while the passionate abhorrence of what she had done was still hot in him.

Sardines Characterized as Hobos of the Sea; They Travel Long Distances checking for 18 years the size, maturity, spawning grounds, anatomical characteristics and license tag attached to them, the sardines inhabiting the coast from Lower California to Canada are one homogeneous migratory population.

It has been developed further that most of the spawning occurs off the coast of Southern California and Lower California. The young remain in the warm southern waters for a while, then they get the travel urge and begin their northward swim.

The hobo instinct then develops as they grow in size. At first they are only able to get as far as Central Californian waters, returning the following spring to the spawning grounds in the south.

Must Wear Part of Signals. Knights of the Garter, the most distinguished order in the world, must wear some part of their insignia always—night and day.

Very Smart New Fashions

A HOUSE dress with long slender lines, a dress and apron for little girls, and a popular bolero frock for slim young figures! You will certainly want one of these, and more likely will want all three. With each pattern, you receive a complete and detailed sew chart specially planned to help beginners, so that the making will be easy, and save you money besides.

Popular Bolero Frock. Make it up of silk crepe or a pretty print, and see how expensive, how flattering, it looks! The short bolero and wide shoulders make the slim lines of the frock even more graceful. Notice how cleverly the dress is shirred into the front panel at the waistline. This is one of the prettiest afternoon dresses you could choose for this spring.

Dress and Apron for Tots. Your little girl will be so proud of having this heart-shaped apron to put on over her best dress when she plays house! And the puff-sleeved, square-necked dress is adorable. You can make the two of them in no time. For the dress, choose dimity or organdy for dress-up; gingham or percale for every day. Dimity or lawn for the apron.

House Dress for Large Figures. This is such a becoming, comfortable, good-looking dress to work in, round the house. The lines are so straight and unhampering, and pleats in the short sleeves give plenty of room for stretching and reaching. It takes inches off the figure, too. Make it up in seersucker, gingham, linen or percale printed in small designs.

The Patterns. 1478 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 40 and 42. Size 16 requires 6 1/2 yards of 39-inch material. 1468 is designed for sizes 2, 4, 6.

A Seamless Knit on Round Needle

Pattern 5601.

All eyes on this knitted two-piece! So summery, in white or pastels, it's done mainly in stockinette stitch, with a lace stitch defining its "sunburst" yoke. Use a round needle and there'll be nary a seam to sew or show. You'll love it in either nubby cotton yarn, a combination of wool and rayon, or in Shetland floss. And of course you'll want to wear it both with and without its matching skirt! In pattern 5601 you will find instructions for making the blouse and skirt in sizes 16-18 and 38-40; an illustration of the blouse and of all stitches used; material requirements.

To obtain this pattern send 15 cents in stamps or coins (coins preferred) to The Sewing Circle Household Arts Dept., 259 W. 14th Street, New York.

8 years. Size 4 requires 1 1/2 yards of 35-inch material for the dress, with 6 yards of narrow ribbon to trim and 1 yard wider ribbon for the belt. Size 4 requires 1/2 yard of 35-inch material for the apron, and 2 1/2 yards of ruffling.

1478 is designed for sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48, 50 and 52. Size 38 requires 5 yards of 35-inch material without nap.

Spring-Summer Pattern Book. Send 15 cents for the Barbara Bell Spring and Summer Pattern Book which is now ready. It contains 109 attractive, practical and becoming designs. The Barbara Bell patterns are well planned, accurately cut and easy to follow. Each pattern includes a sew-chart which enables even a beginner to cut and make her own clothes. Send your order to The Sewing Circle Pattern Dept., Room 1020, 211 W. Wacker Dr., Chicago, Ill. Price of patterns, 15 cents (in coins) each. © Bell Syndicate.—WNU Service.

PANHANDLE PRESS CONVENTION APRIL 15 & 16

A program largely complete but tentative in a few details has been announced for the Panhandle Press Association by Clyde W. Warwick of Canyon, secretary of the organization. The publishers will meet in Amarillo April 15 and 16 in the 29th annual session but will be guests of West Texas State College Friday evening, April 15, at a banquet.

President Albert Cooper of Shamrock will call the convention into session at 10 a. m. in the Herring hotel. Bishop E. Cecil Seaman of Amarillo will give the invocation. After numbers by the Beacon male quartet directed by H. A. Shaw, Mayor Ross D. Rogers will welcome the group and W. H. Graham of Farwell, vice-president, will respond. The president's annual address will be followed by talks by Panhandle newspaper men.

THE FIRST BAPTIST SUNDAY SCHOOL ORGANIZATION ENLARGED

Last Thursday evening our church met and perfected or partially so, the enlarged organization toward which we have been working for some time. Rev. Vernon Shaw, pastor First Baptist church, of Floydada, was with us and brought us a very helpful message from God's word and his experience along this line. Every one seemed to enjoy his message. After his message and all questions had been cleared away the pastor presented the names of the officers and teachers of the new organization. The church accepted the same in full. The enlarged organization is practically double the size of the former organization. We want to thank the church and the personnel of the new organization for its beautiful spirit of cooperation in undertaking this great work. With much prayer, study and hard work for the Lord and our community, much good can be done. And we shall be the happier for doing it. At the close of the meeting a good meal and fellowship was enjoyed.

Since Thursday, by means of curtains, rooms for some seven or eight new classes have been provided in the church.

Mrs. Hutsell, who has been made Superintendent of the Cradle Roll Department, has already begun to make elaborate plans for her department. She plans to rework her room and equip it properly. If you have anything this department might use, like baby beds, baskets, rugs, pictures, etc., you would like to give or lend to them; they are happy to get them.

Mother and daddy if you your children are not in Sunday School elsewhere, come, pray, sing and worship with and by the Lord's help we are helpful to each other.

Yes, let us pray much for Revivals so shortly to be.

BAKING LUCK ---
Every good housewife knows that baking doesn't depend upon luck—but rather upon the skill of the cook, and the quality of the flour used. Women who are using "Master of the Plains" flour tell us that there are fewer failures, and more loaves of good bread in it, than any flour they have ever used. And the best part of it is that it doesn't cost quite as much as other flours of the same quality. Take home a sack today and see for yourself. You can buy it at any grocery, or we will trade you flour for wheat.
