AGGIE BRIEFS

By LOOE MILLER

The county agent, Mr. White, and two members of the County Committee, Mr. Clyde Hutsell and Mr. Otis Wilson are at College Station this week for the purpose of getting the cotton goals set for the individual farms in Briscoe County. As soon as they return we will mail the cotton acreage goal that has been established for your farm to you.

We are all wondering just how much damage has been done to the wheat crop by the freezing weather of last week. Of course your guess is as good as ours but by the information we can gather from the farmers who have been in and talked to us about the damage we think that 15 or 20 percent damage would be a plenty for the county as a whole.

Friday, April 15, is the last day for farmers to designate the wheat they intend to plow up for diverted acres for the year 1938. If you have not done this you had better do it quick! Tomorrow is the last day.

Ben O. King Is Out for Sheriff

This week the Briscoe County News brings to you the announcement of Ben O. King, for the office of Sheriff, Tax Assessor and Collector. Mr. King has been a resident here for nine years and is well known and liked by Briscoe County folks. He is one of the City Councilmen, a past Commander of the American Legion Post here, and has always taken an active part in progressive community work. Here is Ben's personal announcement:

To the voters:

I have been considering this announcement for the past month, and have decided to ask you folks for the job of Sheriff. I have lived here since 1929, and in Texas all my life. This is the first time that I have ever asked for a paid political job, although I have served as Councilman both here and in Grayson County.

This office, I realize, is one of the most important ones in the county, one that will allow no shirking on the job, and one that is vital to the welfare of the county, and of the citizens and their children.

If I am elected to this office, I will carry out your wishes to the best of my ability. My platform can be pretty well stated in the old saying, "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure." I will certainly appreciate your vote and your personal support.

Yours,
Ben O. King

SIDELIGHTS

By Marvin Jones
Member of Congress from Texas

In 1937, Texas and the other cotton states produced the largest cotton crop since cotton was first planted in America. The acreage was not the largest but the yield was uniformly high. As we already had a large carry-over of cotton, this situation presented a very grave problem.

Had it not been for the government 9-cent loan which was made available only on condition that a new program be formulated, last year's crop would perhaps have sold as low as 5 cents per pound. Some of the shorter staples might not have been saleable at all. Before the loan was broadened to include some of the shorter staple lengths, a bid of 3½ cents per pound was made on a good bale of West Texas cotton. A day or two after the loan was broadened, this same cotton sold at 7 cents per pound.

Of course, no one could expect the government to make available a 9-cent loan on such tremendous cotton crop unless some provision were made to protect the government.

Not only was the 9-cent loan made available, but an adjustment payment of 3 cents per pound on 65 per cent of the 1937 base production was also made available. Both of these, however, were conditioned on compliance with the 1938 program.

The new program contains some valuable provisions that are sometimes overlooked. Among them are the following:

1. A continuing soil conservation measure.

2. An effort to correct freight rate discriminations against agricultural products.

3. Added research provisions and the search for new uses and new markets for cotton both at home and abroad.

4. The use of a portion of the tariff collections on industrial commodities for the purpose of expanding and enlarging our export markets and widening the use and distribution of surplus commodities at home.

The 24-million bale supply of cotton which existed January 1, 1938, presented a problem that called for the best thought of everyone interested in cotton.

But for a program, not only would the 1937 crop probably have sold at a very low figure, but the 1938 crop might have sold for less. This would mean utter ruin for the South. It would mean putting the cotton farmer in rags. It would practically destroy the business and industry of the South because the whole business fabric is woven around the cotton price. The truth is that the cotton farmer received much more for his 1937 crop and will receive much more for his 1938 crop than he would have received had no program been provided.

I believe that every effort should be made to broaden and expand our foreign markets, and to widen distribution at home. This is provided for in the new measure.

In order to iron out any inequities, 4 per cent has recently been added to each state allotment. A provision has also been added that, if, when allotments have been finally made, any farm is found to have been allotted less than 50 per cent of the acreage planted in 1937 plus 50 per cent of the acreage diverted in 1937 under the agricultural program, the allotment to such farm shall be automatically raised to such 50 per cent of the 1937 acreage plus the diverted acreage.

This simply forms a bottom so that any farmer may be assured an allotment not less than the percentage indicated in the above provision. In order to avoid abuses, it is provided that if a farmer plants in cotton more than forty per cent of all the land he has in cultivation on his farm, he shall not have the advantage of this minimum.

While the new farm bill is not all that some of us desired, I believe it is a step in the right direction. Many of us are hoping that a better program may be fashioned in the light of experience and that improvements may be made as we go along.

The new program has been worked out with great difficulty and amid wide differences of opinion. Its success or failure will depend largely upon whether it has the backing and active support of those in whose interest it was enacted. It cannot succeed unless it has such support, no matter how much merit it may possess.

The farm movement is the most tremendous one in America. Its purpose is to place the farmer on an equality of income with other business. Whether the new Act will succeed can only be told by experience. But if it does not succeed, a new program must be adopted that will succeed. So long as we have a tariff, the farmer is entitled to a tariff equivalent.

The movement must go on.

WANTED: MEN AND BOYS

To attend the Methodist Church next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Brother Allen has a special message for teen age boys and men. This is your call. Be sure and attend. The revival in the Methodist Church is gaining in interest and fervor. The time is getting short; if you want to hear this Godly man, spend the remainder of these evenings with him; but be sure to come early because the Church is being filled every night. Brother Allen has a great message, one that is rarely heard in our churches these days. Hear him tell the old, old story of Jesus and His love for sinful men. It is many years since we have heard the old story told with its old time power. Get in line with the best people in Briscoe County.

Happy Band in Concert

The men are being held in jail here, but will be transferred in a short time to the jail at Tulla.

MORE TAGS SOLD THIS YEAR

According to the Sheriff's Office, car registrations are running a few more than last year. To date 668 passenger cars have been registered in this county as well as 125 farm trucks, and 80 commercial trucks.

BIBLE TO BE GIVEN AWAY

If you have to miss every other service be sure and come Friday night to the Home Service at the Methodist Church. A beautiful Bible will be given the father and mother who attend bringing with them the largest number of their children to this service. The oldest parents present will be called for and given decorated seats in the pulpit. This also will be penny night in the offering which will go exclusively and entirely for the revival.

Every one attending who is possible able to do so is urged to bring a penny representing each year of his or her age and at a certain time during the service all will be invited to walk up the aisle and place their age in pennies on the table. If one is ten years old then bring ten pennies or a dime, if forty years old forty pennies or four dimes, if fifty then bring two quarters of fifty pennies.

This always proves a most delightful part of the service and people are blessed in thus expressing their gratitude to God for letting them live to represent their age whatever it may be.

Dies of Suffocation in Hotel Room Sunday Afternoon

H. J. Inman, 40 years of age, of Silverton, was found dead in his room at the Cottle Hotel in Paducah, Texas, Sunday at 2:30 P. M., April 10th. He had gone to his room for an afternoon rest and after falling asleep, his bed caught fire and seemingly had burned quite awhile before Mr. Inman awoke. His room was filled with smoke to the extent that he wasn't able to find and unlock the door to get out. Hotel guests heard the struggle and rushed to the scene and broke the door down but he had already collapsed and had no sign of remaining life in his body. The fire boys worked faithfully for quite awhile to revive him but had no success.

Funeral services were held at the First Baptist Church Monday afternoon at four o'clock and interment was in the Paducah cemetery. The funeral services were conducted by the Rev. F. E. Savanner, pastor of the church. Mr. Inman was a member of the Baptist church at Quitaque, where he lived before moving to Silverton about a year and a half ago.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. H. J. Inman and son Hubert Burrus; his mother, Mrs. Whately of Iowa Park, Texas; two brothers, Oscar of Iowa Park, and Lester of Paducah; three sisters, Mrs. Letitia Ellis of Iowa Park, Mrs. May Maddox of Wichita Falls; and Mrs. Floy Moore of Vernon.

MAN'S PILLS

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By REV. HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, Dean of the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.

THE VICTORIOUS SERVANT (Easter)

LESSON TEXT—Acts 2:22-36. GOLDEN TEXT—This Jesus hath God raised up, whereof we all are witnesses.—Acts 2:32.

"Up from the grave He arose With a mighty triumph o'er His foes; He arose a Victor from the dark domain."

Easter is the great holiday—a real holy day of the Christian church. We rejoice in the incarnation, for only as the Son of God identified Himself with the human race could He bear our sins on Calvary's tree.

Turning aside from our studies in the Gospel of Mark for today we consider together the sermon of Peter on the day of Pentecost.

Theories may have validity only to the man who accepts the authority of the one who proclaims them, but facts are stubborn things, the reality of which no man can deny.

III. Raised Up by God (vv. 24-32). The cross was not an accident. Jesus did not die as a martyr to a noble but hopeless cause.

III. Raised Up by God (vv. 24-32). "It was not possible that he should be holden" of death (v. 24)—what a beautifully final and positive statement.

Peter in his sermon turns to the Scriptures to prove the resurrection referring to the prophet Joel as well as to the Psalms of David.

IV. Ascended and Exalted (v. 33). "Look, ye saints! The sight is glorious; See the Man of Sorrows now; From the flight returned victorious, Every knee to Him shall bow; Crown Him! Crown Him! Crowns become the Victor's brow."

Tolerance.—The more readily we admit the possibility of our own cherished convictions being mixed with error, the more vital and helpful whatever is right in them will become.

An Old U. S. Custom

These men are members of Uncle Sam's "pickpocket squad," pictured on their patrol boat as they speed down the bay at New York to pick up an incoming ship from Europe. The enforcement division of the United States customs saves Uncle Sam a huge sum annually in revenues he would not receive if the lynx-eyed guardians of his "front door" were not on the job.

Above is a close-up of the ingenious, hollow rubber heel, once in great favor with smugglers of narcotics and jewelry.

Smugglers are just as alert for new methods of beating them as are the Customs men for uncovering those methods. Above is a squad man in the chain locker of an incoming ship.

Somehow, uncannily, they sense contraband on an incoming ship.

Strange Facts

No Such Thing As a Tree

TREES are the oldest things on earth. You have seen hundreds of them. They grow in great abundance in all but a few sections of the United States. Yet there is no such thing as a tree as a matter of scientific classification.

This oldest living thing gives us not only shelter, food and heat, but such a strangely wide variety of products as clothing material, furniture, paper, rubber, dyes, chewing gum, rosin, turpentine and alcohol. Because trees provide for so many of man's needs and because they live for hundreds, sometimes thousands of years trees have figured in the folklore and religions of many nations. The Algonquin Indians and the early peoples of Scandinavia both believed that their ancestors were descended from an ash tree. To the early inhabitants of England and Italy the oak tree was sacred.

We use the word tree to refer to the giant sequoias and redwoods of California, we use it to refer to the great oaks and beeches of America and Europe and to the slender palm and the little fig tree. But as a matter of scientific classification there is no such thing as a tree because the word may be given with equal accuracy to any plant ten feet tall that grows with a singly woody stem and lives more than two years.

Dresses That Flatter Figure

THERE'S no spring tonic in the world like having a pretty new dress that makes you look slim and smart. And these are so easy to make, that you'll enjoy fixing them for yourself. The patterns or polka dot prints, or georgette. Later, in voile, it will be your coolest summer frock.

The Patterns.

1382 is designed for sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 36 requires 3 1/2 yards of 36-inch material without nap. With short sleeves.

Comfortable House Dress.

It's wonderful how much more one feels like working in a brand new, fresh house dress that's becoming as well as comfortable. This design is distinctly slenderizing because it's so straight and simple. You can make it in a few hours. Cheerful percale print, seersucker or chambray are nice fabrics for this dress, which will certainly be your favorite if you want to look slimmer than you are.

Dress For Afternoon.

If you wear any size between 36 and 52 this dress is designed to make you look your best. Shirring on the shoulders creates the fullness that you need in the blouse. The long, unbroken line from shoulder to hem takes inches off the figure. Sleeves ending just below the elbow are flattering to plump arms, and the long, softly rippling jabot trims are lengthening in effect. Make this lovely dress of silk crepe, small-figured

The Eiffel Tower

Work on the tower began on January 22, 1887, and it was completed on March 31, 1889. It weighs 15,400,000 pounds and is composed of 12,000 steel plates of varying forms and dimensions held together by 2,500,000 rivets. The structure is 1,000 feet high and on a clear day from the top of the tower points 55 miles distant are visible.

During 1937 810,185 people visited the tower. A television station has been installed on the summit, which is to be operated in connection with the tower's radio station.

ROY W. HAHN
Editor and Publisher
Cranberry Allred, Sports Editor

Entered as second-class mail matter at the post office at Silverton, Texas in accordance with an act of Congress on March 3, 1879.

Of all the situations in which man can find himself in this life, that of righteousness undoubtedly brings him nearest to felicity.

JAKE SPENCER AND Charley Biggs continued counting points on the track meet this week. And by the official plover counter (Mr. Bud), Jake wins on track events, with Kent second, and Rock Creek third. But in the whole shee-bang Rock Creek won again.

AND JAKE CAME in and told me how that is. And while I wouldn't take a bribe or anything like that, Jake subscribed for this history making newspaper, and so of course, deserves due consideration in listening to his story. Which is this: Rock Creek happens to be the only rural school having an eighth grade. With no opposition, it seems that they pretty consistently roll up about sixty points every year before the rest of the schools get started. Very simple.

BUT THIS MAN, Biggs. I think the name is, has let everyone go on thinking that it was due to his excellent tutoring of the pupils. Which of course, may have had something to do with it. Anyway, Rock Creek won the meet again this year, whether it was with the aid of Mr. Biggs or in spite of him, and of course mostly because of the pupils themselves.

WHY, I KNOW not, but I found a Monkey Ward catalog on the desk of the County Clerk this week. Of course none of the county officials claimed it. It was actually suggested that it was Ned Baird's, and that he was trying to drum up a little Fort Worth & Denver business.

THE OLD WEST still lives in the Silverton country. Prairie dogs are numerous in places. It reminds one of covered wagon days when the odor of the chuckbox made traveling a pleasure and camping a delight despite any handicaps.—"The Apostle", in the Donley County Leader.

WHY THE SILVERTON country, Mr. Estlack? Silverton City too. Why 'twas just a week or so ago that T. C. Bomar, our honorable Mayor stepped in a prairie dog hole in front of his drug store and was on crutches for nearly a week. But hadn't you heard, though, that at the last council meeting that Mayor Bomar insisted upon all property owners eradicating the prairie dogs from in front of their places of business? Shucks, we're just now beginning to take an interest in our street work.

MAIN STREET IS getting a little more curbing. And a very much needed improvement it is. And Lake Whiteside is to have a cement bottom. The boys say that the water settles so rapidly in it with a dirt bottom that it's hard on the duck hunting. And Rusty Arnold comes out with, "It might be a good duck pond, but there's not a fish in it. A couple of us boys seined it, and never got a fish."

SHERIFF HONEA brought Duward Brown back from Alabama Saturday night. (news item.)

AND SPEAKING of Sheriff—we have a new candidate in the field. Better start having them make this candidate coffee a little stronger Jake.

AGNES TURNER has a slight edge on the coffee deal, because I heard that Mrs. Kirk let's her have it at cost, and charges Miss Lizzie a straight nickel for each and every cup.

AND WHILE I'M on the candidate business, I'd like to have someone pass the word around to Ben O. about that free shaves are a pretty good way of campaigning. Of course, I'm not expecting every one to be free, but every other one would be about right.

FRANK REEVES of the Star-Telegram was in the News Office Wednesday night. He said that he had an ambition to run a country weekly. So I hauled Mr. Whiteside's ad copy (written on the backs of four blank checks), and asked him how he would get it shaped into an ad—it got his goat just a little methinks.

THIS EDITING a country paper is a combination job of being a mind reader, a handwriting expert, and nimble liar. And I'm not a mind reader, nor a handwriting expert, but I get the paper out.

AS THE GIRL said, I don't dance, and I don't drink, BUT, "I'll be seain' ya."

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

With not the least desire to attract any interest from the good revival now in progress at the Methodist Church, but rather with the hope that interest may yet be greatly quickened and enlarged we want to announce again the meeting which is to begin at the First Baptist Church Sunday. We feel the more genuine interest, in and blessings received from the

BR-R-R! WHEN IT'S HOT IT'S COLD

Friends of H. Roy Brown have been remarking about the change that has come over him.

"Like a kid with a new toy," they say, and although it's a far cry from a toy, the thing in which he is so much interested is as intriguing as any of those modern talking, walking, swalking mechanical contraptions that bring shouts of glee from youngsters.

"But there's nothing mechanical about this," he tells you. "It has no moving parts or machinery to get out of order, and it's almost like magic, the way it makes ice from oil heat."

Right. It's a refrigerator. Not an ordinary refrigerator, yet not a new idea, he will tell you, but a new model of the modern kerosene-burning refrigerator which for the last ten years has been bringing delight to so many rural residents—even those who live miles from other conveniences.

"Do you wonder that I am enthusiastic?" he asked as he handed us this photograph of the sleek new model. We don't. Would you?

Of course, it the refrigerator were talking about, not the young lady "model" shown beside it—but she's passing fair, too, don't you think? And not so cold—even if she is demonstrating the large ice cube and dessert-freezing capacity of the refrigerator.

present meeting will rather help than hinder the meeting that follows. So let us all work, pray today and every day through these meetings that the Lord's richest blessings will be upon us to the saving of many of our loved ones and friends.

Bro. Lee Frazier, our singer, stated he could be with us Sunday. Bro. Frazier is known as the "Dream Singer". Dr. L. R. Scarborough of Ft. Worth, after hearing him and his experiences gave him that name. Bro. Frazier has written a number of very effective songs. After dreaming singing both words and music, he rises in the mid hours of the night and writes them down and then sings them where ever he goes.

Bro. Frazier is a converted vaudeville stage man, having made big money that way. But he is wholly consecrated now to the Lord's work instead. He plays any kind of instrument he has ever seen except wind instruments. God has dealt with him mightily even to death's door. Come praying and hear him and help us and the Lord's richest blessings be on you and yours.

We will give way our Sunday night preaching hour for the Easter Cantata to be given at the school building.

May every teacher and pupil with many new pupils be with us at 10 a. m. Sunday to study God's word and enjoy the fellowship of worshipping and serving the Lord together.

Teachers will you not make a special effort to see your prospective pupils and absentees this week, for the Lord's sake. Come with us.

W. H. Jackson, Pastor

WHO'S NEWS THIS WEEK

By LEMUEL F. PARTON

NEW YORK—This summer's session of the Institute of Pacific Relations will have many new factors and policies to consider, as new power formulas and equations are being drawn. The Philippines have changed their mind about cutting their United States towline. Japan and Germany make a joint survey of a 50-mile, low-lying canal route across the upper neck of Siam, which will bring Japan four days nearer Australia and perhaps five days nearer India. England's Singapore naval base isn't what it used to be. Australia announces a big new rearmament program.

Ian Mackenzie, Canada's handsome and versatile defense minister, breaks the news that Canada will rely on the United States fleet, voicing "reasonable assumption," rather than definite "commitments."

And Paul V. McNutt, commissioner of the Philippines, says we should carry "liberty and peace" to the Far East.

Mr. Mackenzie, a Vancouver lawyer, is one of Canada's most famous scholars who writes fluently and is Canada's most eligible bachelor. In his native Scotland, he was the most illustrious prize scholar of his generation, virtually monopolizing all the medals and garlands of the University of Edinburgh, for attainment in the classics.

He later won a Carnegie research fellowship, gathering more honors in his work on old Irish manuscripts. He later attended the Royal academy at Dublin, wrote songs and stories in the ancient Celtic language and picked up a law degree as a sort of afterthought.

He went to Vancouver in 1914, returned for the war, and romped through grades to the rank of captain, fighting in all the major engagements.

He kept his stride in his later success in law and politics in Vancouver, becoming national defense minister in 1935. He is regarded as Canada's most eligible bachelor. He says his favorite recreation is study.

JOSEPH A. LYONS, Australian prime minister who announces a rearmament program of approximately $215,000,000, has no such gift of tongues and reached eminence by a longer and harder road.

He rose to powder in the labor movement and, in 1914, like the late Ramsay MacDonald, broke with his party and led a coalition government. His efforts to the right brought him under serious assault, but he was re-elected by a large majority last October.

He is sixty years old, gray and touse-haired, the father of 11 children, and walks with a limp as the result of a railroad accident 13 years ago.

He began his working career as a country school teacher in Tasmania. Insularity and "home rule" marked his attitude a few years ago. Now he recommends as a commonwealth slogan, "Keep in tune with England."

Everywhere, the little nations are calling, "Wait for baby."

TAKING arms against this sea of troubles is the Countess Alain Dedons de Pierrefeu, formerly Elsa Tudor of the Boston social register.

Under impressive patronage, which includes faculty members of leading universities, scholars, diplomats and sociologists, she organizes a "world youth tour," with a fervor comparable to that of Peter the Hermit leading the children's crusade.

She is recruiting young persons from all nations, including Germany, Italy and Russia, on a world tour to flux animosities and foster good will and understanding. "World peace through world trade" is her slogan.

Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd is among those who give warm endorsement to the plan. Headquarters for the tour are in New York.

The French husband of the countess was killed in the World war. Since then she has been vigorously active in social movements in Europe, Chicago, Boston and New York. For nearly four years she has been traveling around the world, recruiting support for her youth organization among diplomats, economists and business men.

HOUSE VS. PRESIDENT

Administration Makes Great Concessions to Save "Dictator" Bill. . . Senate Gets Tax Measure Built to Aid Business

Members of the house of representatives were swamped with telegrams from citizens all over the country urging that they vote against the administration's reorganization bill which, it was feared, would pave the way for an American dictatorship. Above is seen Congressman John J. O'Connor of New York, a leading foe of the bill, reading some of the messages he received.

Edward W. Pickard SUMMARIZES THE WORLD'S WEEK

Tumult Over Reform Bill

WHEN President Roosevelt returned from Warm Springs he found that a crisis confronted the administration forces concerning the reorganization bill pending in the house and that there was danger that the opposition to that measure would defeat it.

He called to the White House a number of leaders, and it was decided to push the bill through with a minimum of concessions. Representative Sam Rayburn, majority leader of the house, told the President it would pass with amendments to which he had agreed. One of these would enable congress by concurrent resolution to override any reorganization proposition the President might put through. Another would exempt the bureau of education from the scope of the bill.

Representative John J. O'Connor of New York, one of the leading opponents of the measure, admitted it probably would get by with the concessions offered, but said he would vote against it even if the title alone remained. He and practically all other members of the house were flooded with telegrams and letters urging that the bill be defeated.

Even after passage by the house, the measure would have to go to conference and many days or weeks of debate could be expected there. Eventual enactment of the bill was to be expected but the probability was that it would have lost most of the "dictatorship" features which seem so repugnant to many thousands of American citizens. The popular opposition had not been lessened at all by the President's action in making public a letter to an unnamed friend in which he disclaimed any intention to become a dictator and asserted he has none of the qualifications that would make him successful in that role.

"Help Business" Measure WHAT Sen. Pat Harrison called the "help business" measure, being the revenue bill as rewritten by his senate finance committee, was submitted to the senate.

Though Harrison said he expected its speedy passage, others believed at least a full week of debate would be necessary.

Sen. Charles McNary of Oregon, minority leader, promised to support the bill, saying, "I think it is a great improvement over the house version. I am in favor of speeding its passage to help business."

The three chief matters in controversy were: Administration opposition to elimination of the undistributed profits tax and drastic modification of the capital gains and losses tax. A proposal by Sen. James P. Pope of Idaho to attach as a "rider" to the tax bill an amendment to impose $212,000,000 of processing taxes on manufactured cotton, synthetic fabrics, rice, tobacco and wheat.

Amendments by Sen. Robert M. La Follette of Wisconsin to broaden the tax base.

Sloan Hits Government ALFRED P. SLOAN, JR., chairman of the board of General Motors, reported to the stockholders that the corporation's earnings for 1937 were lower. And he declared that the government's policy toward business had caused a lack of confidence which was largely responsible for the business recession.

Sloan asserted a sharp decline in consumer sales began in November, and in commenting on the slump as it appeared "through the eyes of industry," he named two factors. "One influence," he told the stockholders, "was the fact that there had been developing a growing lack of confidence and a fear as to the future of American business enterprise, due to the attitude of government toward business, and economic policies affecting business."

The other influence discussed by Sloan as responsible for "throwing the domestic economy into the violent and unprecedented decline" was what he described as a "radical" increase in pay rolls for industry as a whole in the early part of 1937. In some important industries, he said, this increase was extended to an "uneconomic degree."

At his own request Mr. Sloan has been eliminated from further participation in the profits under the corporation's bonus plan.

Another big reason for the President's victory was the mounting tide of opposition to the New Deal taxation ideas. It became necessary, because of pressure from home, reinforced by the business depression, for a number of senators to oppose President Roosevelt on his tax ideas, specifically on his pet tax on undistributed corporation earnings, and also on the capital gains and losses tax.

That would be all right, but some of them had opposed the President also on the court packing issue, and some figure they must oppose him on some other issues also. Altogether, they were in danger of getting branded as anti-Democratic, in danger of having the Jim Farley-built New Deal machines back candidates against them in their next primaries.

So probably enough senators to turn the tide were forced into the "Yes" column on the reorganization bill by this question of regularity alone. Especially as it is common knowledge in Washington that on a secret vote the reorganization bill would have been overwhelmingly beaten.

Robert on the Spot LAWRENCE W. ("CHIP") ROBERT, Jr., secretary of the Democratic National committee, and one of the most ardent Southern supporters of the administration, is in a dither as a result of President Roosevelt's speech snubbing Senator Walter F. George of Georgia, and virtually inviting Governor E. D. Rivers to run against George.

"Chip" is on the spot. He is not only a loyal friend of the President, and almost a pal of Governor Rivers, but he is an enthusiastic admirer of Senator George. In fact, despite the Georgia senator's insistence on the Supreme court issue, and on reorganization of the government bureaus, departments and commissions, friends of the two say "Chip" thinks Walter George just about the best qualified man in the Democratic party to take the place of President Roosevelt when Roosevelt steps out, whether that be in 1941 or 1945.

The terrible part of it all, from "Chip's" point of view, is that he arranged this particular party, set the stage for the dramatic denouement that followed. But "Chip" had a very different climax in mind. In fact, it was scarcely a climax he wanted. What "Chip" wanted to arrange was a public reconciliation, so to speak, among his three friends, President Roosevelt, Governor Rivers, and Senator George. All he hoped for was a few kind words from each about the other two, which would give the Georgia folks the impression that all was harmony in the party—that Roosevelt was for George, that George was for Rivers, and that Rivers was for Roosevelt and George.

He talked a good deal about his hopes, did "Chip." He persuaded Senator George, very much against the senator's will, to make the trip, and also—which was not particularly against his will—to say some complimentary things about Ed Rivers.

Spilled the Beans THE MERE fact that George was riding with him on the platform, "Chip" thought, would be enough. It really did not make any difference if Roosevelt failed to say anything particularly friendly. The appearance would be enough.

But Roosevelt, to "Chip's" chagrin, and to the enormous embarrassment of the Georgia lieutenant, lashed out on the wage and hour scales in the South, and, on top of that, after assailing the forces of special privilege, turned smilingly to Governor Rivers and told the crowd their governor understood his aims and was fighting shoulder to shoulder with him.

SEEN and HEARD around the NATIONAL CAPITAL

By Carter Field FAMOUS WASHINGTON CORRESPONDENT

Washington. — "I see Jimmy Byrnes is going to reorganize the government," commented another Southern senator after studying the various roll calls on the reorganization bill.

It is difficult to exaggerate the importance of the service the South Carolina senator rendered the White House in leading the fight for this bill. Up until a few weeks before the final roll call the whole measure had been considered dead. It was believed that the senate would agree with the house in giving President Roosevelt his six additional assistants. But it was never dreamed that the senate would vote to abolish the office of comptroller, which has proved such an effective check on illegal spending, and the whole purpose of which is to make sure that before money is paid out, the purpose for which it is to be paid is in clear accord with the language of the law.

Nor was it dreamed that the senate would hand the veterans' bureau over to White House control.

Several factors contributed to the change. Most important, probably, were the secret promises made—nobody knows how many. These promises included, it is assumed, a good lame-duck job for Senator William H. Dieterich of Illinois, who is headed for retirement by the Illinois Democratic factions despite the most slavish devotion to the President, even extending to reversing his stand on the leadership battle last year between Senators Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky and Pat Harrison of Mississippi.

High up on the list also should be the astuteness which caused Senator Byrnes to have the army engineers specifically eliminated from the powers granted to the President. It just happens that the army engineers are the most efficient bunch of lobbyists in Washington today. They have been since the Anti-Saloon league passed into its present slough of despond, and probably will be so long as congressmen have the right to appoint cadets to West Point. The engineers are old friends, politically, socially, and in the distribution of pork, with the senators and representatives. They did not want to be changed around. They did not want their functions transferred to some New Deal agency such as TVA, or the proposed department of public works. They like it the way it is, and that's the way it is going to stay.

Rivers is almost sure to run against George. Rivers will be counting on the enormous popularity of Roosevelt in Georgia, demonstrated by a number of local votes last year when referenda were held on the court issue.

Speech Pleases Some PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S comments about the exploitation of labor by the South's "feudal" system naturally strengthened him with the elements he must have to retain the New Deal in power for the four years beginning in January, 1940, whether he runs for a third term or succeeds in naming his successor.

Indignation among many of his ardent supporters in the house and senate will not do any harm to that particular objective. There will be just one effect that Mr. Roosevelt will not relish, and even if he had calculated this also in advance, it probably would not have deterred him.

Indignation among many of his ardent supporters in the house and senate will not do any harm to that particular objective. There will be just one effect that Mr. Roosevelt will not relish, and even if he had calculated this also in advance, it probably would not have deterred him.

This one effect will be to strengthen every Southern senator and member of the house who has been independent, and make it much more difficult for any one to raise the cry of "anti-Roosevelt!" against them. For example, it would help renominate Senator Walter F. George of Georgia, and Senator Ellison D. (Cotton Ed) Smith of South Carolina, if their opponents make this issue. Both these senators come up this year in the states where the election is unimportant as the primary decides everything.

But, as stated, if he gave any thought to this at all, Mr. Roosevelt would not reasonably calculate he might not be able to beat either of these senators anyhow.

But Maryland is a much more interesting story. Senator Millard E. Tydings has been a thorn in the White House side for years now. In fact, it surprised the folks in Maryland—and Washington—somewhat when Tydings actually made speeches for Mr. Roosevelt in 1936.

Every time any issue comes up which involves a fight between the conservative Democrats and the White House, Senator Tydings is right with the anti's. Privately, the President has been trying to give his undersecretary of state, Sumner Welles, a boost from time to time. Welles was born in New York, having become a resident of Maryland only in recent years, but he has cherished, and not very secretly, an ambition to represent Maryland in the senate.

Mr. Roosevelt occasionally visits him at Oxen Hill, his gorgeous home in southern Maryland. During the 1936 campaign Mr. Roosevelt used Oxen Hill as a meeting place for all the Maryland Democratic leaders.

But though a very divided state, Maryland has always had pronounced Southern leanings. It has direct commercial connections, and an extraordinary sentimental tie with the South. In fact, it probably was more shocked at the scolding the President gave the South than any other particular Southern state.

So that speech by the President in Georgia was not calculated to help push Mr. Tydings out of the senate, or to push Mr. Welles into the American house of lords.

Floyd Gibbons' ADVENTURERS' CLUB

HEADLINES FROM THE LIVES OF PEOPLE LIKE YOURSELF!

"The Doctor and the Killer" By FLOYD GIBBONS Famous Headline Hunter

HELLO EVERYBODY:

You know, boys, and girls, a doctor's life is full of adventure. It's full of inconveniences too. They know at what hour of the day or night the telephone rings and send them rushing along on a sick call.

A doctor crashes the Adventurers' club today with the story of most nerve wracking experience. Dr. John A. Mangieri of Brooklyn, N. Y., is his name.

Speaking about doctors, though, I want to tell you first a story I saw in a theater one evening. The play was a melodrama. The house was silent at a particularly thrilling moment when sudden voice rang out from the audience.

"Is there a doctor in the house?" Everybody looked around at the interruption. The actors stopped in the middle of their lines. A little man with a serious face was standing in the aisle. Then another man with a beard got up next to me, called toward the man in the aisle.

"Yes," he said, "I'm a doctor." The little man looked the doctor over while we all watched him bated breath. Then he waved his hand: "Hello, Doc!" he said. And sat down!

That's all there was to it. But there ought to be a law. Don't you think so?

Called Out at Two in the Morning.

Our Doc, Mangieri's call wasn't any joke. Doc had gone to bed, dog-tired after a busy day at the hospital when that blaring phone of his tore him out of the drowsy arms of Morphine. Doc rubbed his sleepy eyes and glanced at the clock. Two o'clock in the morning! Swell time for anybody to get sick. He thought, and answered the insistent ring. But it wasn't the phone. It was the doorbell. Worse luck! Probably an emergency accident.

Well, sir, Doc dragged his weary limbs out of bed, the way he done many times since hanging out his shingle, and staggered down the door. Doc was practicing medicine at that time in the Barboursville section of Brooklyn. A stranger stood at the door. The stranger looked pretty tough and he seemed nervous.

"A pal of mine is sick," he said, and begged the doctor to come once and visit him. Doc says he admits he didn't like the look of the man, but a doctor's duty comes first, so he climbed into his clothes and stepped out to make the call.

A taxi stood at the door and the stranger insisted that Doc ride with him. Doc noticed another shady looking gent sitting in the back of the cab, so he decided he'd take his own car and play safe.

"I'll follow you," Doc said and climbed into his coupe. The cab shot away and turned so many streets as Doc followed the good doctor didn't know where he was. Finally the cab stopped at an evil looking street and Doc drew up at the curb.

The house they had come to was even more evil looking. It was a forbidding looking frame house without any lights showing. As the cab drove away Doc was escorted up the rickety steps to the second floor.

The second man, Doc says, was even tougher looking than the first. They opened the sagging door with a latch key and went inside. The dim gas light burned low in the hall.

Without a word one of the men led the way up the stairs while the other dropped in behind Doc. Doc says he just knew something was wrong and wondered if they were going to attack him. They went into a half dark bedroom. On the bed fully dressed was a third man, looking gent.

Ordered to Treat a Wounded Man. And then Doc understood. The man on the bed had been shot. She hands as he gripped his stomach were red with blood. Doc was bad spot. There is a law that forbids doctors to treat bullet wounds without immediately reporting them to the police. The law is strict. A doctor in the Dillinger case is in jail now for treating a wounded gunman.

Doc hesitated, but as he glanced around at the glowering men he realized he'd have to do something OR ELSE! One of the men said him roughly.

"Get busy, Doc," he growled. Doc did some quick thinking. The men he knew now were doctors. If he didn't treat their pal they might give him the same lead. If he did, the police would have to be notified and the doctor would come back at him for that. He stalled and told them he had his stethoscope in the car. They let him go and Doc went out.

In the street he got a break. A policeman was passing. Doc wanted to leave a wounded man die without medical attention, so he went to go back. But he told the policeman that if he wasn't out in 20 minutes to come after him. Then Doc as he entered left the latch off the door.

Police Came at the Right Moment. His patient, Doc found, had been shot in the stomach. He dropped their pretense and told him bluntly to extract the bullet as fast about it. Doc told the truth that the operation was difficult. An X-ray. He suggested a hospital. The patience of the gunmen was exhausted. Doc expected any minute to have his head bashed in by the thugs raised a clenched fist.

"Can that hospital stuff," he growled, "or we'll send you to the hospital. And just at that moment, like in a play, the policeman came with his radio car reinforcements and took the gang off Doc's neck."

And the next day Doc read in the papers that his patient's pals were held in jail for wholesale murder!

That was years ago, before the G-men made it safe for doctors and Doc hasn't failed to treat a patient since.

MANSFIELD Tires

The Cord-Lock increases your safety 31%, because it puts more strong cord fabric into the sidewall to reinforce the tire for high speed service. That plus the welded steel wire bead, 7 times stronger than needed, and the Speed Grip tread, wide and deep channeled for greater non-skid mileage, are the reasons why Mansfield Tires are actually 3 ways safer. You always get more mileage than you pay for.
