Entered as second-class mail matter at the post office at Silvertown, Texas in accordance with an act of Congress on March 3, 1879.

The only thing than can keep on growing without enervation is an ego.

I HEREBY RESOLVE—that this shall remain in the Briscoe County News until our city managers start a little constructive work toward surfacing our streets, or at least until the death of Yours truly. Dated this 9th day of June, 1938. (I've been wanting to know for a long time, how long a datatype slug will last.)

WELL I TOOK in the Panhandle Press Convention Friday and Saturday of last week, and while I can't say that I helped the other boys any, I was helped quite a bit... and several of the boys were helped even more than I was. There are always several who go to conventions on business, and they always are a great help in times of trouble.

HARRY KOCH, for 53 years publisher of the Quannah Tribune-Chief, made the most interesting talk of the two days—just a rambling talk about the highlights of his printing career. He started as an apprentice in Holland, and three years ago he returned to Europe on a visit. And the thing he said, that he remembered above all the so-called "high spots" was the fact that in France, England or Germany, one very seldom sees a man between the ages of forty and sixty.

ISNT THAT A pretty grim reminder of what war can do to a country? That twenty years after, one can still plainly count the loss in men? Not to mention the thousands of women and children who were killed... and now they are up and will be at it again any day... killing off the virile manhood of the nations, and leaving the weak to father the next generation.

AND IF WE are not careful we will be in there with them, fighting a fight that is none of our business, and which would be disastrous, economically and morally, for the United States now. Unless we are attacked on our own soil, we should hold ourselves above intervening in petty European squabbles.

VIC LAMB, in the Hale Center American, while boasting to a group of boosters from Wichita, Kansas, listed our dust storms as "the world's finest"... A man can always take in too much territory and I say that when a Texan starts bragging to a Kansan about the sand storms... he's taking in too much territory. I know, I used to live there.

LEWIS GILKEYSON is about broke again. His only means of livelihood, Jim Crow, has disappeared again. I remember reading in the Amarillo News where Jim kept Lewis in money.

TWO MIGHTY KEEN little waitresses, these two at Kirk's Cafe. Their faces aren't much, but they sure have keen forms. They are Gertie Bingham and Becky Brooks.

A FELLOW ASKED me this morning how I wrote this junk week after week. Well, the answer to that is the one the grasshopper gave when he hit the windshield. "You can see that I have guts."

LUSH PASTURES IN HOT MONTHS

By T. C. Richardson, Secretary Breeder-Feeder Association

For a few months in spring and early summer native pastures in the Southwest usually grow luxuriantly, and livestock thrive accordingly. As the heat of summer grows, often intensified by insufficient and irregular rainfall, the native pasture grasses slow up and sometimes dry up, and grazing animals quickly show the effect of changing from lush, green feed to scant, dry feed.

This is especially bad for dairy cows and the weekly cream or milk check drops with discouraging speed. A dairy cow should have plenty of time to lie in the shade and ruminate, in order to keep up a good milk flow. If she has to spend four or five hours grazing a "fill" or the sun becomes unbearably hot before she gets a "fill" she hasn't much time left to manufacture milk. Cows will not stay out in the hot sun and graze more than enough to assuage the pangs of hunger, so it is vitally important that the grazing be richer in hot weather than when it is cool. It is the surplus feed above the hunger margin that supplies the milk flow, if any.

With native pastures, and in fact all except the very best improved permanent pastures, the grazing begins to decline at the very time when it should be best. Sudan grass is ideal for filling out the midsummer deficiency, for it will be at its best after the spring growth of native grasses begins to decline, and since the seed is cheap, there is no excuse for failing to plant enough to keep the cows happy during the hot months.

Sudan is adapted for temporary pasture throughout the Southwest. It will produce more tonnage per acre in its short season than any other annual grazing plant we have. It will grow on all our soils, and as someone once happily phrased it, "sudan grass laughs at the drouth and rejoices at the rain." In short it will produce under a wide variety of soil and rainfall conditions, and while it is resistant to poor soils and light rainfall, it responds luxuriantly to good soil and ample moisture.

Sudan grass may be planted at any time after cotton planting time, when there is sufficient moisture to germinate the seed. It may be drilled for cultivation with whatever implements are available, and experimental data shows that it thrives best under cultivation early in the season. The rows can be as close as 18 to 20 inches, or as wide as the standard width for corn and cotton cultivators. The preference is for about half the width of cotton rows, for either grazing or hay.

Drilling with a grain drill or broadcasting is not recommended at all if it is to be grazed, and if sown for hay, broadcasting is adapted only on very fertile land where there is likely to be plenty of rain. By and large, experience indicates that row-planting, with some cultivation, is best.

Since we are concerned mainly with providing summer pasturage to keep up the milk flow and supply other livestock and poultry with a vitamin-rich forage all summer, let's be sure some sudan is planted, sometime this spring. If there is a fenced field for it so much the better, but if not, a temporary fence can be run when grazing time comes. This may seem like a lot of trouble to take for the sake of a few months grazing, but it will pay off in the milk checks, the egg yields, the thrift and growth of every animal and fowl that has access to good green forage when the native pastures fall off.

How the plus of OIL-PLATING brings you more than an oil-change

YOU KNOW right off that the fresh oil needed in your crankcase today, isn't to lubricate the crankcase. Either your oil is in the bearings and up to the cylinder head every turn of your engine, or your lubrication isn't 100%.

Now what's the chance for any of the general run of oils to stay up while you've parked the car, for instance? Just about as much chance as there is for a geyser to stay up all by itself! Then every time you start, don't pistons get up to the top before oil gets up from the crankcase? You kill that risk by changing now to OIL-PLATING.

The "magnetic action" of Conoco Germ Processed oil—patented—makes OIL-PLATING stay on inner engine surfaces throughout all your stops, starts and runs this Summer. Your Germ Processed oil keeps a steady hold on the "Full" mark, too, as you'll see—by changing today to Your Mileage Merchant. Continental Oil Company

LESSON TEXT—Acts 15:23-29; Galatians 2:1, 2, 9, 10. GOLDEN TEXT—A man is not justified by the works of the law, but by the faith of Jesus Christ.—Galatians 2:16. Persecution from outside was soon followed by what was even more serious—difficulty within the Church. If Satan cannot destroy God's work in one way, he cunningly tries another plan. Although the first council at Jerusalem (Acts 15) had decided that "to the Gentiles also hath God granted repentance unto life," the question did not stay settled, for there were persistent Judaizing teachers who now contended that even though the Gentiles could be saved, they had to come into the Church by way of Judaism and first fulfill the Jewish rite of circumcision.

I. A Serious Difference of Opinion—Grace Versus Law

The story of how this vital and fundamental question came up is found in the early verses of Acts 15. The entire future of the gospel ministry was in a sense dependent on the solution of this problem. Christianity is the only religious faith in the world that presents justification by grace as the way of redemption; all others follow (more or less) the path of salvation by works. The question now was: Shall works of the law be mingled with grace—can Jesus Christ alone save men, or is salvation through Jesus Christ plus something else? How was such a serious question to be settled? Should argument and strife be permitted to go on until the stronger party prevailed? Better judgment indicated the desirability of

II. A Christian Method of Settlement—Council not Controversy

There may be times when it becomes the duty of the Christian worker to take an uncompromising stand for the truth of God and refuse to be moved, come what may. But certainly there should be no such spirit in dealing with differing interpretations of Scripture on the part of sincere and earnest Christian brethren. How much would be gained in the Church today if, instead of magnifying differences and permitting personal desires and ambitions to intervene, men were willing to sit down in the spirit of Christ around the tables of Christian council and brotherhood, presided over and directed by the Holy Spirit (see Acts 15:28).

The whole question was honestly and carefully considered by the second council at Jerusalem, with the result that there was a vindication of the preachers of God's grace. After presenting a plain disavowal of those who had troubled them and subverted their souls (what a serious thing it is to teach error concerning God's Word!), the council being of one accord, gave recognition to Paul and Barnabas as men who had "hazarded their lives for the name of the Lord Jesus" and were worthy of confidence and support.

No man should think more highly of himself than he ought. Humility is a Christian grace which well benefits a sinner saved by grace. But the Bible abounds with admonitions to honor one another, to recognize the laborer as being worthy of his hire, to give recognition to those who are over us in the Lord. The brethren at Jerusalem were thoughtful and courteous enough to so honor and encourage Paul and Barnabas. We could well follow their example in recognition of faithful servants of Christ in our own church or Community.

III. A Momentous Decision—Salvation by Grace

The final decision of the council is sent not only by Paul and Barnabas, but also by a committee from Jerusalem, a gracious gesture of fellowship. Courtesy is not out of place in dealing with even such difficult things as controversies on Christian doctrine—in fact it should be most in place in such a situation. As a matter of record (a wise procedure in such a case), a letter was sent which, after addressing the Gentiles as "brethren," reviewed the history of the matter and then, without mentioning circumcision at all, puts upon the Gentiles "no greater burden than the necessary things." And what were these? Those things which relate to purity of life as those who were enjoying Christian liberty. The law of Moses need not be kept as a ground of salvation. They were saved by grace. But grace can never be the cloak of careless living, nor can liberty in Christ be interpreted as license to live in sin. We are set free in Christ, not that we may sin, but that we may "go and sin no more."

Blessed Day Blessed is the day whose morning is sanctified! Successful is the day whose first victory is won by prayer! Holy is the day whose dawn finds thee on the top of the mount!—Joseph Parker.

DOANS PILLS

FARMING AS A BUSINESS

For yourself just what your cows are producing. I would like to make this suggestion. It requires very little trouble to actually test your own dairy cattle for the amount of milk they are producing. Take a sheet of paper or cardboard to your milk shed, write down the names of your cows and over one of them insert morning on the other night. After you have milked, weigh your milk with a pair of hand scales or what ever you have handy and continue this test for at least two weeks. At the same time you should take into consideration the type of feed and the kind of care your cow is getting.

At the present price of feed, it will cost approximately 12 to 15 cents per day to feed the dairy cow and where you sell cream, only about twenty cents is realized from the sale of cream from the average farm cow. We do not stop to think why our cows are not paying as much as they should. We know the profit we receive from the farm is the amount of the investment and the cost of production, which will tell you very quickly that purchasing all of your feed and selling cream is not entirely profitable under the present conditions. The best solution to this problem I have found is the use of a trench silo and selling the feed to your dairy cows. This feed would come to a cost of approximately three cents per day.

In using the trench silo two things are important. First, preservation of what is actually made on your farm, and second, more profit from what you sell. The average acre of cane should produce approximately five tons but after cutting and drying out ready for the stack lot you only have about one to one and one-fourth tons of cane. This means that you have lost approximately four tons of weight, but by using the trench silo, you can save four tons and also have green feed all winter.

The Farm Security Administration has sponsored a live at home program since first being set up in making a program of this type a successful dairy cow should be the first thing to consider on the farm since not only the family is depending on her, but also chickens and hogs are to be practically fed from the skimmed milk. In large grinding machines can be financed through this agency to borrowers of Farm Security or other low income farmers were a sound community service can be worked out with neighbors and other people would be unable to finance this type of service themselves participating. Prepare now for a feed supply by digging your trench at odd times.

The month of April has been proclaimed Cancer Control Month by Governor W. Lee O'Daniel in a proclamation issued at Austin. The Women's Field Army for the Control of Cancer and the Texas State Department of Health are collaborating in an intensive campaign of education against the disease, the control of which depends above all else on an intelligent and alert public.

ACTION OF METHODIST CONFERENCE

The District Conference of the Plainview District of the Methodist Church, which met Monday and Tuesday of this week at very definitely on the questions of gambling and liquor. By order of the conference telegrams were sent to the senators and representatives from the ten counties included in the district protesting the "sneaking" in horse racing gambling as a "rider" to a tax bill which is being attempted by a minority group who lost recently in open battle in Austin for the return of the pernicious evil to the state.

A very vigorous protest was entered against the practice of certain drug stores and doctors selling liquor under the pretense of "medicinal prescriptions", and the conference went on record that wherever possible Methodist people should give their trade in the drug business to those stores which do not sell liquor, and patronize those doctors who do not write liquor prescriptions. It was pointed out that one of the proposed laws in the new church which is being created by Methodist union soon to be effected is to the effect that no member of the Methodist Church shall engage in the sale of liquor, nor rent his property for such use, nor be a bondsman for those engaged in the sale of liquor. To do so would constitute grounds for dismissal from the church.

Speeches condemning dancing and worldliness were loudly applauded by the conference. The evangelistic note was uppermost in committees and echoed in sermons preached during the conference. The optimistic note was sounded that the Church has the answer to every problem of the world if it has the courage to live the Master's life and present His Gospel without fear or favor.
