This year finance reports will be required to attend a school and take examination before starting compliance. All producers are required to be present or a representative present on their farm is checked.

W. Duggan, Director, Division, states in a letter to the committee that the loss in the Southern Region because they did not earn money on their farms that earned for carrying out the practices. Briscoe contributed many dollars in 1938 because they did not understand what to do to earn these soil practices or just did not go to the trouble to earn the soil building practices on their farm. The committee is anxious that you be informed of the amount which may be earned on the farm and each who is interested in earning these soil building practices do not understand what to do for you to earn them.

WHEN THE CRACKUP'S COME AT LAST

Miss Babe Scott stepped up to the city editor in San Francisco last Tuesday, and handed him a poem which she said her brother had written.

She thought it was good, and she wanted to know if the paper might print it. She explained to the city editor that her brother's name was Wintham Scott, that he was 25 years old, a private in the Army Air Corps and stationed at Riverside, California.

The city editor looked at the poem she handed him:

When the last, long flight is over and the happy landing's past,
And my altimeter tells me the crackup's come at last—
I'll point her nose to the ceiling and I'll give my crate the gun.
I'll open her up and let her zoom to the Airport of the Sun.
Then I'll meet my fellow pilots,
now no longer flying low,
As I stow my crate in the hanger,
on the field where fliers go.
Then we'll fly forever with the Almighty Flying Boss
And ride all Heaven's airways, from the Orion to the Cross.
The city editor looked up from the paper at Miss Scott. She was smiling.

"It's a good thing that I don't believe in premonitions," she said. "It's a good poem; we'll print it," the city editor said.

Miss Scott left. The city editor didn't tell her that an hour before he learned that Wintham Scott, 25, was killed in the crash of an Army plane on Mount Hamilton.

Kelsays Entertained
Mr. and Mrs. Bert Douglas and Judge and Mrs. Woodson Coffee entertained with a "42" party Thursday evening honoring the A. L. Kelsays.

After a buffet supper and the round of games it was found that the Kelsays held high score. They were then presented with a set of lovely silverware, a token of friendship, as a parting gift.

Think It Over

If everyone who drives a car could lie a month in bed, with broken bones and stitched-up wounds, or fractures of the head. And there endure the agonies that many people do. They'd never need preach safety any more to me or you.

If every one could stand beside the bed of some close friend. And hear the doctor say "no hope" before that fatal end. And see him there unconscious, never knowing what took place. The laws and rules of traffic I am sure we'd soon embrace.

If every one could meet the wife and children left behind. And step into the darkened home where once the sunlight shined. And look upon "The Vacant Chair" where Daddy used to sit. I'm sure each reckless driver would be forced to think a bit.

If every one would realize pedestrians on the street. Have just as much the right-of-way as those upon the seat. And train their eyes for children who run recklessly at play. This steady toll of human lives would drop from day to day.

If every one would check his car before he takes a trip. For tires worn, loose steering wheels and brakes that fail to grip. And pay attention to his lights while driving roads at night. Another score for safety could be chalked up in the fight.

If every one who drives a car would heed the danger signs. Placed by the highway engineers who also marked the lines. To keep the traffic in the lane and give it proper space. The accidents we read about could not have taken place.

And last, if he who takes the wheel would say a little prayer. And keep in mind those in the car depending on his care. And make a vow and pledge himself to never take a chance. The great crusade for safety then would suddenly advance.

What Are We ???

Man is God's agent. Religion can have no meaning to us when it does not involve at least three persons. These persons are God and I and someone else. In these strenuous days do we catch the full meaning there? God is essentially social. His great desire is to share. Experience tells us "He is Love"; and love is meaningless unless it is shared with others. Besides this "God is Holy." It is His desire that all men should be likewise Holy. God wants us not only to fellowship with Him and be Pure as he is pure, but He wants us to have an abundant life by sharing all His life with all the life of our fellow men. Because of this God has set us in the earth as His agents or fellow workers. How we do bungle our opportunities at times; God's instrument for peace among men is man. We hope to develop this thought more fully next Sunday morning in the Presbyterian Church. Come and worship with us, and think through these great matters, that bear directly upon our lives.

LANDERS RESIGNS AS MANAGER OF THE TEXAS UTILITIES HERE

Noel Landers, manager of the Texas-New Mexico Utilities Company here announced this week that he had resigned his position, with his resignation to become effective June 1st. He resigned, he said, under doctor's order. Suffering from a nervous trouble, he has been ordered by specialists to give up all active work for some time, or lose his health entirely.

Landers replaced Joe Blocker as local manager, a year ago in December. In the eighteen months he has lived in Silverton, he has made many friends and, according to company officials, has been an excellent manager. This article is being written Tuesday, and company officials will be in Silverton tomorrow. Perhaps before we go to press, the new manager will have been named.

It goes without saying that Silverton will regret losing Mr. and Mrs. Landers who have been very active in community and church work here. Asked about his plans, Noel said, "I don't know but the first thing I do is to go on a long fishing trip."

Entertained at Ranch

Misses Faye Tice and Pat Bomar with Mrs. Louie Miller were house guests over the week end at the Maddox ranch near Sweetwater where Mrs. Jimmie Maddox entertained for Ann Robason who has attended the Silverton School for the past two years.

The party swam, rode horseback, fished and ate their meals at the Chuck Wagon. One evening was spent at the camp where the group gathered around the fire and listened to the cowboys sing.

The Silverton party drove to Sweetwater Friday and Mrs. Miller and Faye and Pat came home Monday. They left Ann in Rotan where she will visit an aunt before going on to her home in Brownwood, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. John Stevenson of Floydada were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Stevenson Sunday.

ON DISPLAY

Doug Corrigan's "crate" — in which he flew to Ireland — will be shown free at the California World's Fair, alongside a 74-place Pan-American Clipper.

METHODIST PASTOR MARRIED THURSDAY

Rev. C. H. Williams and children, Dorothy and Joyce, left Tuesday afternoon for Abilene, where Rev. Williams will be married on Thursday morning to Miss Beatrice Rogers of Abilene. The ceremony will be held in the Fairmont Methodist Church there, with Dr. C. A. Bickley, district superintendent of the Abilene District officiating. The present building of the Fairmont church was built under the supervision of Rev. Williams while he was pastor there previous to coming to Silverton.

Immediately following the ceremony, Rev. and Mrs. Williams will leave on a visit to Carlsbad Caverns and other points in New Mexico. Misses Dorothy and Joyce will visit with friends in Abilene. They expect to be at home at the Methodist parsonage in Silverton after June 9th.

SAUL - - GARRISON

Miss Hudson Garrison and Mr. Leroy Saul were united in marriage at Plainview May 27th.

Hudson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gabe Garrison and a graduate of Silverton High School. She attended Wayland College at Plainview and is a popular member of the younger set here.

Leroy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Saul of Kress. He taught school at Running Water the past year.

The young couple plan to live in Canyon this summer where Mr. Saul will attend school, and later move to Runningwater, where he will teach the next term.

DEDICATION CEREMONY WELL ATTENDED HERE

The Memorial Day Service and dedication of the new gateway to the Silverton Cemetery was well attended here Tuesday noon. A short, but impressive ceremony was given at the cemetery grounds by songs, and prayer. A short talk was given by Rev. C. H. Williams.

The Garden Club ladies, who are responsible for building the new gate, were on hand with a chicken dinner and report a complete sell-out of food, regardless of the rain which fell for a few minutes and sent folks scurrying for their cars. The ladies report that they cleared $50.00, all of which will be spent for cemetery upkeep.

Mrs. Bert Northcutt, treasurer of the Garden Club, reports that many who have always contributed to the cemetery fund, did not send in a donation this year. The only way the cemetery can be made a place of beauty is through the efforts of these ladies and the money you send them. If you have not contributed, why not sit down right now and send them a check?

Dr. E. E. White, superintendent of the Plainview district of the Methodist Church will preach at the Methodist Church at 11 a. m. Sunday, June 4, in the absence of the pastor.

4-H CLUBS IN BRISCOE COUNTY

Enrollment in Boys' 4-H Club work has reached 75 in Briscoe County, with others to be organized. Boys are enrolling in grain sorghums, pigs, dairy and beef calves, and cotton demonstrations. All members will be furnished with two to three pounds of Texas variety of Disease Resisting Yellow Milo that has been furnished by the Chillicothe Experiment Station. This should be the introduction of real maize seed for this county.

Several club calves from the J. H. Burson and the Roy McCurtrey herds have been selected which will be placed on feed for the early 1940 spring shows.

There is no doubt that several boys ranging in the age limit from ten to twenty-one years are interested in club work that I have not seen and should this be true I would greatly appreciate contacting these boys regarding club work. In 1914 the homeland of Julius Caesar broke its triple alliance with Germany and Austria-Hungary because Trentino and Trieste were not forthcoming.

President Wades Into Political Buzz Saw on Argentine Beef Deal

Affair Costs Mr. Roosevelt Dearly in Personal and Political Prestige; Executive's Explanation Never Caught Up With His Original Statement on Transaction.

By WILLIAM BRUCKART

WNU Service, National Press Bldg., Washington, D. C.

WASHINGTON.—When I was a kid on the farm, my father used to warn me against getting too close to the big saw that was used to cut up wood for our kitchen stove.

It must be painfully evident to the President and to his advisors now that he waded right into a few million political buzz saws when he instructed the secretary of the navy to buy canned beef from the Argentine Co-operatives, Inc.

But the details of the situation ought to be reviewed in order fully to understand why so many people are saying that the Argentine beef affair has already cost Mr. Roosevelt dearly in political and personal prestige.

Facts of Argentine Corned Beef Affair

Briefly, the facts are these: Pursuant to law, the secretary of the navy called for offers to sell the navy certain quantities of supplies, including 48,000 pounds of canned corned beef.

This heat came of two causes. First, the cattle business is none too good and the cattle producers are politically powerful. They protect themselves, as they should.

Explanation Never Caught Up With Original Statement

Subsequently, Mr. Roosevelt sought to explain what he meant by the statement that Argentine beef is superior in quality. He pointed out that the Argentine practice is to can better cuts of beef because of the slack sale for fresh meat in that part of the world.

When this attempted explanation came from the White House, I heard an old time political battler at the capitol observe:

"That is mistake No. 2. One of the first rules in politics is 'never make a statement that you have to explain.' If you do, your explanation will get you into trouble. It is better never to explain anything."

Yet, in fairness, it must be observed that the price in the United States and the price the government must pay, therefore, results from a combination of circumstances.

President Became Tangled Up With the Buzz Saw

And it is to be remembered, too, that Mr. Roosevelt has been striving to knit North and South American nations together under his good neighborly policy.

and then. There was little mention of this phase; yet it seems reasonable to assume that it was in the back of the official mind.

The question was put on Mr. Roosevelt's desk. He decided that the contract should be given the Argentines. That happened about the middle of April. There was no flurry about the matter then because few persons knew of the transaction.

Now, it is well to know that Mr. Roosevelt likes to talk. He also insists on telling the news writers all about a given situation—he talks at all about it. He is decidedly fair that way.

Came Outbursts on Floors Of the House and Senate

Within a few short weeks, Mr. Roosevelt's political hands were torn and bleeding. He was being ridiculed because he frequently referred in political campaigns to the need for helping "our undernourished one-third, our illy clad and illy housed" people.

The heat of the battle became so great that the house committee on appropriations which happened then to be considering the annual naval appropriations bill took action.

First, the cattle business is none too good and the cattle producers are politically powerful. They protect themselves, as they should. To see even a small business contract go outside of the United States was bad medicine.

Wild Dog Pack Pursues Terrified Dorothy.

Dogs don't sound so dangerous—but Dorothy knew better. A short time before she had seen the body of a boy who had been killed and partially eaten by these same dogs.

It was a tree with a low fork of its branches—one she could climb. She began pulling herself up into it. The yelping of the pack was coming nearer and nearer.

"And there I was," she says, "perched in the tree while the hunger-maddened brutes howled and snarled below. I still turn sick and cold all over when I think of that moment.

With the First Streaks of Dawn the Dogs Left.

Hour after hour Dorothy clung to that tree, wondering why her folks didn't miss her and come looking for her. Wondering why they didn't realize something was wrong when the horse and buggy came home without her.

Dorothy says she's written this story for us other adventurers & read, but she adds, "Usually, I don't think of it if I can help it."

HEADLINES FROM THE LIVES OF PEOPLE LIKE YOURSELF!

"Down the River Road"

HELLO, EVERYBODY:

Here's a yarn that packs thrills enough to last through a whole night. At least, it did for Mrs. Dorothy Murphy, the Bronx, N. Y.

That was in February, 1914. Dorothy was just 18 years old. Her aunt had been spending two weeks with the family and it was she whom Dorothy drove to the train on that cold February evening.

The train pulled out of Dover Plains at 6:45 p. m., and Dorothy turned the horse around and headed for home. Already it was dark—a moonless, starless night.

That was Dorothy's first thrill—the prospect of driving over that road in the dark. She hadn't thought darkness would fall so soon that night, and she was scared stiff of that cliff.

Dorothy Felt the Wheels Slipping Over the Edge.

They were going along the top of that cliff, and all was going well. And then, all of a sudden, Dorothy felt the wheels slipping over the edge.

Her arms were aching and her head was swimming. She heard Brownie wander off.

had gone too close to the edge! The surrey gave a sudden lurch and Dorothy was thrown out into space!

Says Dorothy: "I clutched at the air as it slid past me, like a drowning man clutches at straws. My hands grabbed some bushes growing out from the side of the cliff and I hung on for all I was worth.

Dorothy says that time has no meaning under such circumstances. The minutes seemed like years. Her arms were aching and her head was swimming.

Brownie and the surrey were nowhere in sight. Dorothy started walking toward home. You'd think she'd had enough adventuring for one night—but the big thrill hadn't even started.

Wild dog packs pursued her. Dorothy knew better. A short time before she had seen the body of a boy who had been killed and partially eaten by these same dogs.

It was a tree with a low fork of its branches—one she could climb. She began pulling herself up into it. The yelping of the pack was coming nearer and nearer.

"And there I was," she says, "perched in the tree while the hunger-maddened brutes howled and snarled below. I still turn sick and cold all over when I think of that moment.

With the first streaks of dawn the dogs left. Hour after hour Dorothy clung to that tree, wondering why her folks didn't miss her and come looking for her.

Dorothy says she's written this story for us other adventurers & read, but she adds, "Usually, I don't think of it if I can help it."

LAMB ADDS VARIETY TO FAMILY MENUS

By Ruth J. Cooper
Consulting Home Economist
Breeder-Feeder Association

In polite society, the etiquette books inform us, the subject of food is never discussed. Good or not, what subject is more universally interesting and vital to good health and happiness, than food? On the train, in the store, in the park or at the club, one catches snatches of conversation as to food allergies, the children's dislike for certain vegetables, that delightful salad that Mrs. Smith served last time, etc. Yes, each one of us listens—because we are interested. We might learn something new to try out on the family.

Whenever a family is to be fed the problem is the same—"What HALL we have for supper tonight?" Lamb is available on every farm where a small flock is kept, and is a mighty appetizing addition to the menu. Here is a typical "Sunday" or "company" menu built around lamb:

- Roast leg of lamb
- Creamed peas and mint
- Buttered asparagus
- Fresh Greens Salad
- Hot muffins
- Spiced peaches
- Butter
- Fresh berry tarts with whipped cream
- Cheerwine

In preparing the leg of the lamb, wipe with a damp cloth but do not remove the thin, papery covering that is called "fell." This covering not only helps the meat to keep its shape but retains the juices and shortens the cooking time. It has no objectionable flavor as was formerly thought. Rub the leg of lamb with salt and pepper and place in open roasting pan with fat side up. Roast in oven. It does produce superior results (degrees) about three hours (thirty minutes per pound) for medium done."

This slow cooking of meat in an uncovered pan is revolutionary. It does produce superior results and once you try it, you will cook all roasts by this method. This method saves meat and fuel besides producing a more palatable roast.

The leg of lamb is by no means the only cut to use. The shoulder offers just as many possibilities for a delectable meal. Or try the breast of lamb stuffed with a bread crumb and mint or water-cress stuffing. If you wish something that may be quickly prepared, use the chops, the ground lamb patties, or individual loaves are even more economical.

Broiled Lamb Patties
1 1/2 pounds ground lamb
2 tablespoons grated onion.
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper

Broiled Lamb Patties
Use any of the cheaper cuts of lamb for the patties. Season the ground lamb with grated onion, salt and pepper. Mix thoroughly and shape into thick patties. Either pan broil or use the broiling oven and cook until they are brown, and half done. Turn and finish cooking on second side. Serve while hot on hot slices of broiled pineapple. Allow about fifteen minutes to broil the patties. For variety, instead of the pineapple, try broiled bananas, any kind of dried or fresh fruit that has been glazed and heated, broiled stuffed tomatoes, etc.

Museum—Then Observatory; U. T. Nears Research Goal

McDonald Observatory has been added to the already imposing array of research laboratories through which The University of Texas serves science, industry and commerce.

With research listed as the institution's Number One objective by President-elect Homer P. Rainey, the University points to its present fact-finding agencies as a sound start in the direction of placing the school among the front rank universities of the country.

Already functioning are: The Texas Industrial and Commercial Research Council, composed of already existing bureaus of business, engineering, chemical and geologic research, which directs its energies toward development of the State's industrial and commercial resources.

The Texas Memorial Museum, not a static display of historical relics, but a fact-finding and object-collecting agency for every phase of Texas development—historical, social, economic, industrial, artistic, cultural.

The Bureau of Research in the Social Sciences—an agency for pursuing investigation projects in social and political sciences—labor, farm tenancy, juvenile delinquency, history, governmental problems. A sub-division of this bureau is the Bureau of municipal Research which carries on intensive studies of Texas municipal functions, not only ascertaining existing policies but suggesting remedies for shortcomings.

Scientific laboratories in chemistry, botany and bacteriology, physics, zoology, home economics, in which University professors spend much of their time outside the classroom, discovering new facts which advance the frontiers of science and make available new fundamental truths on which medicine and industry can progress.

HEALTH NOTES

"Tuberculosis no longer ranks first among the major killing diseases—a position it formerly occupied not only in Texas but in the entire country. However, despite its now being seventh on the list in 1938, it continues to kill more persons between fifteen and forty-five years of age than does any other single disease. And this is in the face of definite evidence that the majority of tuberculosis patients can be cured if the condition is detected early and proper treatment and living rules maintained," states Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer.

"While the treatment of the individual early case is of great importance, it is of equal moment, from a public health point of view, that the spread of infection to others be prevented. Such prevention is possible. A more concerted attack on this front would mean the saving of thousands of lives.

"In every case, when a diagnosis of active tuberculosis has been made, an investigation of the physical condition of the other members of the family should follow. It cannot be too emphatically stated that tuberculosis runs in families solely because it is communicable, the disease being usually transmitted through intimate and prolonged exposure to the 'open' case.

"It has been estimated that forty per cent of the tuberculosis cases that will develop within the next decade will be the result of close contact with others already infected.

"Routine examination of all high school children, isolation or hospitalization of the active case, discovery of the sources of infection, application of hygienic living principles, periodic examination of all adults, and a careful check-up by physicians and trained workers of all known cases and contacts represent an invaluable defense against the spread of tuberculosis."

ARE YOU BOOSTING THE BAND

Can you think of anything an up-to-date school needs more than a good and peppy band? What helps a football team, who is struggling for victory, more than some snappy number from their home band? Every school or community needs a band with every-one boosting it.

We now have a good thirty-piece band which has progressed wonderfully during the past fourteen months. We all appreciate

In all of his years as an orchestra director, Oscar Bradley has never been called on to display the versatility demanded now in his "Screen Guild Show" assignment. With shows each Sunday varying from classic drama to broad burlesque, he is busy day in and out concocting suitable background music for each.

our good Bandmaster, who has urged the people of the community to back us. He has also showed them what a band means to a community. To many of us it has meant much hard practicing to keep up to "par" but the farther we go the more interesting it becomes.

Many times we have grown tired and discouraged at practice but when the next one rolled around we were all raring to go. All the Band members enjoy their parents and outsiders attending the practices; it shows that they are interested in what we are doing. A few weeks ago we started marching which put a new life into us. We would feel very important if we could go marching down the street in a maroon and white uniform! Don't you band boosters also think that we would look better?

SHELTERBELTS IMPROVE CROPS AND LAND

Approximately 442 miles of new shelterbelt was planted this year in 25 West Texas Counties, said W. E. Webb, State Director of the Prairie States Forestry Project in Texas. This means that Texas now has about 1525 miles of shelterbelts which will furnish badly needed protection to approximately 150,000 acres of cropland.

The counties that received the 442 miles of new shelterbelts were: Wilbarger, 39; Hardeman, 17;

Milk Is Rich In VITAMINS

Milk is an unusual food in that it contains some of all the vitamins. It is an outstanding protective food. Dr. E. V. McCollum, of Johns Hopkins University, says:

"The people who have made liberal use of milk as a food have, in contrast, attained greater size, greater longevity and have been much more aggressive than the non-milk using peoples and have achieved much greater advancement rebook shier in literature, science and art."

Approximately 4,100,000 trees were planted in the new belts. In addition to the planting of the new belts the losses were replaced in most of the previously planted belts. Approximately 2,250,000 trees were used for replacement shelterbelt.

The success of the shelterbelts, once they are planted, depends entirely on the farmer, said Mr. Webb. We try to furnish good acclimated stock and do a good job of planting but after this the farmer must take care of the belt by giving it good cultivation and protection from livestock and rodents. Unless this is done our time and money is wasted and the farmer loses the use of his land and gets nothing in return. It is essential that all shelterbelt owners see to it that a good job of cultivation is done in order that the owner may realize all of the benefits from the shelterbelt.

The shelterbelts are already very noticeably influencing the crops and land, said Mr. Webb.

The trees in many of the early planted belts, have reached a height of 20 or more feet and many farmers have reported reduced soil blowing and crop protection on the lee side.

Farmers last year reported very decided increased crop yield because of the influence of the shelterbelts and this year many have reported that no blowing occurred in the lee of the belt and it was not necessary to reseed the crop one or more times.

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Wheelock and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Wheelock went to Childress Sunday to attend the funeral of Mrs. J. T. Coleman of Olton, who died in the Plainview Hospital Friday. Mrs. Coleman was Mrs. R. D. Wheelock's grandmother.

Strength is born in the deep silence of long suffering hearts; not amidst joy.

WELL, OUR STREETS are practically paved. In this week's issue you will find a notice to bidders, to construct paving, curbing, and et cetera in the business section... same business section will embrace about three blocks... maybe more. The money is ready for a cash deal on these three blocks. The money is ready and when the work is done we will have taken the first step toward emerging from the so-called doldrums. No bonds will be necessary, no bad taste will be left. When the job is done, it will be done... and I paid for... it seems that we have some pretty good city managers after all.

MANY ATTENDED THE opening of the new Buffalo Lake Sunday and from all accounts it will be a wonderful recreation spot. Boating, swimming... and plenty of fun and exercise.

AND LITTLE Audry just laughed and laughed, for she knew the proposed dam on the Tule will create a better and more useful lake than Buffalo. Let's boost our dam on the Tule... if it becomes a reality it will be the best one anywhere, and with all the picturesque Tule Canyon scenery thrown in for good measure.

WHICH REMINDS ME of a picture in the Sunday Amarillo News-Globe of scenery in the "Palo Duro" Canyon. The only trouble with those scenery shots of the Palo Duro, is that the originals are on the Tule Canyon, right here in Briscoe County. We haven't had much advertising on the local scenery but any time we can't outshine the Palo Duro on scenery, the day must be very cloudy and dark. Let's issue the News photographers a standing invitation to visit our canyons, and when they come let's be sure that they know just where they are.

MEET MRS. BRUCE Womack, the only lady manager of an electrical utility company in captivity. I'm waiting to see how she performs at the top of one of these tall poles, with a light bulb in one hand and fifty feet of live wire in the other.

MAYOR BOMAR says that he is going to resign as quick as the streets are paved. I still think we better keep him on, even if we have to double his salary.

I WISH TO compliment the Garden Club ladies for their initiative in getting the Cemetery Entrance fixed up. And another person who deserves a great deal of credit on it is Rev. John Thorns. He doesn't say much, and I think, doesn't give a whoop to be even mentioned, but he has put in a great deal of hard work on it.

EUREKA!! I HAVE found it. Or rather it was brought in just now by Judge Coffee... the NOTICE TO BIDDERS for the construction of paving in the business section of Silvertown, county seat of Briscoe County, Texas, On Earth.

AND I'M NOT like Preacher Thorns. I like to tell nice things about myself. And so, I want to tell you that the publication of the "Notice to Bidders" isn't costing the city or county a cent. Just another case of "Big Hearted Roy."

ONE OF OUR local high society boys lost track of time, place and distance last Friday night and weighed anchor in the middle of a lake three miles north of town. He noticed that the road was getting a little boggy but by the time he could pull her in, the water was over his floor boards. Our hero was not to be stopped nor long delayed. He lifted the empty beer cans from behind the seat, tied them under the running board of his Oldsmobile and floated to the edge of the lake, whereupon he resumed his homeward journey. (If anybody in particular thinks I am talking about them it's a mistake).

SILLY SMYTHONY... which is that tripe which was only one purpose... to fill space... Did you ever see Bill Dunn about three minutes after he gets out of bed?... an advertisement of a BIG BARN dance, saying it's in the Burson Hall... Doc Minyard getting sore and tearing up a picture of some lovely canyon scenery... some boys at Floydada who will probably have a long time to think over something that they could have gotten along without in the first place... softball: Haylake versus Ethiopia... Max Baer deciding tonight that the fight racket is all wrong. He won't last ten rounds... W. H. Jackson, Jr., spitting in the metal pot to see if it was hot. He got an eye full... proposed firm name: "Douglas and Douglas, flour and flowers"... the editor going to sleep in the show with his feet sprawled in the aisle and tripping some blonde lady. Note: I didn't do it on purpose... Lillie Mercer giving me a date (of a coming show)... Homer Sanders explaining about the width between eyes... L. T. Wood getting mixed up on his mornings and opening up when it wasn't his turn. He'll never get over it... Doc Minyard driving to Childress on banking business and getting there before he found out that it was Memorial Day... Nordica Graham selling advertising for the Briscoe County News, and Cranberry fixing the telephone by having the lineman tell him what to do from Memphis... you can hear anything but don't believe it till you read it in "Yours Truly"... the hole is filled, I'll check it to you...

The New York World's Fair 1939 will be liberally sprinkled with touches of the bizarre and here are a few of them:

A parachute tower, 250 feet high, from which patrons may "bail out" and be sure of landing safely.

The world's most costly wheat field in full growth, with eventual harvesting of the crop and conversion of it, after milling, into bread.

A $5,000,000 display of precious gems and, as a separate exhibit, the largest opal in the world.

"Steve Brodie" jumping 6 times a day from a reproduction of the Brooklyn Bridge.

A "Rocket Gun" which will shoot passengers to the "moon"; also a separate flight to "Venus." An oil well operated by bona fide drillers.

Puppets fourteen feet tall dramatizing the family medicine cabinet as man's first defense against disease.

Orchids flown by the thousands every three days from Venezuela.

Man-made lightning—10,000,000 volts of it—in a spectacular discharge.

A floor made of cotton.

A trumpeter sounding the polish "heynal" from a tower every noon to commemorate the slain bugler who warned Cracow against the approach of Genghis Khan 700 years ago.

A waterfall cascading from the roof of a high building. Fireworks set to music, singing fountain. A city entirely populated by midgets.

EVEN if this camel holds records for going without more drink, could he last if he had to start dry? Your car and your engine oil can't last either if you keep starting dry this Summer.

You can't help it with any oil that always drains down to the crankcase completely. But you can certainly help it by getting your engine OIL-PLATED.

NEVER all down in the crankcase, no matter how long you park, OIL-PLATING is lastingly close-knit to inner engine surfaces by the action of Conoco Germ Processed oil—patented. Its strong "power of attraction" fastens non-detachable OIL-PLATING throughout your engine. Does chrome-plating drain down? Neither does OIL-PLATING. Therefore in advance of starting, it's ready to slide every working part into easy motion, without rasping dryness. And since OIL-PLATING doesn't fly off or fry up it helps your engine to shatter the record for going without more oil. PAUL PLEADS HIS OWN CASE

LESSON TEXT—Acts 21:40-22:4, 24: 14-18; 25:19-22.
GOLDEN TEXT—I have lived in all good conscience before God until this day.—Acts 23:1.

"They say. What do they say? Let them say!" So reads the inscription over a doorway of one of the great schools of England. What does it mean? It bespeaks the confidence of a life lived so nobly that the barbs flung out by wicked and slanderous tongues may be faced without fear, in fact, ignored.

The best defense against the attacks of men is the testimony of a good life, and consequently when the hour came for him to speak in his own defense, he needed but to point to the record. It is significant that his enemies did not deny the facts. They could only cry out, throw off their garments and throw dust in the air while they shouted, "Away with such a fellow from the earth!" (Acts 22:22-24). They did, indeed, manufacture accusations against him, but even the heathen officials knew enough to throw these out of court. The impotent rage shown by wicked men when they run up against the consistent testimony of a true Christian life is one of the strongest testimonies to the genuineness of faith.

At first glance the portions assigned for our lesson seem somewhat unrelated though taken from the same general narrative. A little study reveals a surprising unity.

I. A Matter of Conviction (21:40-22:4).

Many men and women have no real convictions. They are Republicans or Democrats because their fathers were, and often they have not the remotest idea of what it all means. They are members of a certain denomination because they were brought up in it, and have little knowledge of its teachings and no definite convictions relative to them.

Paul was a Christian because of strong personal convictions of the deepest kind. He was reared in a tradition which made him a bitter persecutor of the followers of Christ, and it was a personal experience of the regenerating grace of God in Jesus Christ which made him into the bond slave of the One he had persecuted. We need more of that kind of know-no and say-so type of faith. Joining a church as one might join a social club means nothing—but following Christ in full and free devotion is everything.

II. A Matter of Authority (22:14-16).

Just as Paul's life was built on faith which was inward, based on personal convictions, it was also a faith that was Godward, based on the authority of His Word. The Jews might call it heresy, but Paul stood on "all things which are written" (v. 14); he had a "hope toward God" (v. 15), and "a conscience void of offence toward God" (v. 16).

Those who ridicule Christianity would have it that faith is really credulity. They say we believe things which we do not know to be true, while hoping that they may somehow prove to be so. A man who reads these notes in his home-town newspaper recently wrote to ask me if I was fool enough to believe the things I wrote. The fact is that we, even as did Paul, have the strongest of all foundations for our faith, namely the Word of God. Men act in faith on the word of their fellow men—their very existence is all bound up in that faith in men whom they hardly know. They believe them, but they will not believe God. I suggested to my correspondent that he read I Corinthians 1:18-25 and 2:14.

Christian faith calls for a personal belief, but that belief is not in any word of man, but in the Word of God, which abideth forever.

III. A Matter of Witness (26:19-23).

Inward, Godward, and now outward in witness—these are the three relationships of Paul's good life. He could plead in his own defense the record of his life, for he had not selfishly cherished a fellowship with God which had lighted and warmed his own soul and then left his fellow man to sit in the chilling darkness of sin. He was obedient to the heavenly vision (v. 19), and preached repentance, faith, and good works to both Jew and Gentile (v. 20), continuing to do so with God's help even in the face of severe persecution.

Some people are just so good that they are "good for nothing." Such men do not reflect the goodness of God. Every attribute of God is an active one. He is love and He does love. He not only is good, but He does good. His children should be like Him. They are not saved only that they may escape hell and enjoy the peace of God. They are saved to serve in the winning of others to Christ. Let us covet such a good life as that which Paul lived. Our bewildered age needs the sanctifying and stabilizing influence of such lives!

MOUNTAIN MAN

A Banner Fiction Serial
By HAROLD CHANNING WIRE

"Don't use any of your tricks on him, that's all. I can't explain now." "But, my dear," Irene smiled, "he's such a fine animal!" Breck laughed but put sincerity into his warning. "You mind the ranger!" After starting the party upward again, he rode in silence, deep with his thoughts. At this moment he would rather have been bringing a load of dynamite into the mountains than Irene. She was ruthless. He knew it was not beyond her to take a curious interest in Art, play him until that was satisfied, then cut him.

Yes, he had changed. In one way, at least, he had changed completely. Breck's train was late to start the next morning, for stiff bodies were hard to get on the move. He was out at dawn and saw Art Tillson pull out at daybreak, but it was eight o'clock before his tourists could take the trail. Breck fell in at the rear of the string as usual, but Irene did not resume her place with him. Instead she took the lead, and maintained that aloof distance throughout the morning. He was both amused and troubled; for it was always a danger signal when Irene felt seclusive.

They came into Temple's camp at eleven o'clock, and the old man, hobbling from his cabin, heartily invited them to get off and eat. "Louie just rode in," he said, "hungry as a coyote. I'm putting steaks on the fire." The girl had not appeared. "Where is she?" Breck asked. Temple waved a hand backward. "Yonder. Fixin' up."

just the stirrup that needed no adjusting, then regained his saddle. "Thank you so much," Irene caressed him. "It does feel better." She drew her horse's head around. "Mister Temple was very kind, offering us lunch, but mother looks so tired. Really, if she ever gets off her beast she'll never get back on. And when we reach your station I don't believe I will move for a month!" So it was settled. The Senator, campaigning from long habit, had already won Tom Temple and said steaks sounded good. But Irene begged him to think of mother. "Why, Mother is all right," he insisted. Irene fumed. "You never understand!" The Senator resigned and climbed aboard his animal. "Well anyway," Temple said agreeably, "you can figure to come back for the barbecue."

Pretended to adjust the stirrup that needed no adjusting.

As soon as they had passed through Temple's gate and were in the forest, she burst with laughter. "Oh, my dear! That costume! Those boots! A real cowgirl!" Breck faced her from his saddle. "Yes; a real girl." She sobered. "I said cowgirl." Suddenly her dark eyes surveyed him in disbelief. Disdain spread over her face. Her lip curled. "You don't mean it! Gordon, you're not really in this primitive country I suppose it's called—courting her? Oh my, oh my. That's dreadful. Almost indecent." Before Breck could answer she lashed her horse cruelly and loped ahead. Rock House at sunset brought cries of wonder from the tourists, weary as they were. The train dropped out of the eastern notch and into a bowl of opal light, through which the grass bottom, the fences, the cabin far across appeared more as a bit of fairyland than a ranger station in the Sierra Nevadas. Halfway into the meadow, Kit threw his ears forward and whinnied. The call was answered. Breck recognized Custer and smiled. But immediately there followed a chorus from mules braying further on, and then he saw Art Tillson bivouacked under a lone pine near the tourist pasture gate.

CHAPTER XIX

A rap on the cabin door aroused Breck from the table where he was writing out his week's report. The camp had been lifeless when he woke at daybreak, and he had taken his time to complete the diary. Glancing at his watch, he saw it was now ten o'clock. "Come in!" he called. The door opened. Art Tillson confronted him. Breck stood up, and looking at the cowboy's face, was puzzled. He expected a grave expression to cover a queer grin. He had shaved very close. A few spots of powder clung to stubble that had not yielded to cold water and a dull blade. "This is a ranger station, ain't it?" he demanded. Breck nodded, making certain the boy was not drunk. "And you give out information here, don't you?" "What is it, Art?" Breck asked flatly. # WHAT to EAT and WHY

C. Houston Goudiss Offers Practical Advice Regarding First Meal of the Day; Some Breakfast-Time Wisdom for Homemakers

By C. HOUSTON GOUDISS

IF THERE is one meal that can be regarded as more important than any other, that meal is breakfast. It comes after the longest fast and precedes a major portion of the day's work. Thirteen hours elapse between a 6:30 supper and a 7:30 breakfast, and the body engine requires a new supply of fuel before the daily activities are begun. Yet all too frequently this first meal is inadequate in food values, and is gobbled in haste . . . with consequences that may have a far-reaching effect upon health.

Men who set forth after a meager breakfast are licked before the day's work is started. They never seem to get into high gear and they lack the energy to perform their tasks efficiently. Homemakers who find themselves fatigued and irritable before the morning's work is completed may be surprised to learn that their lassitude is due to a skimpy breakfast. And children who go to school after an insufficient morning meal cannot hope to make good grades in their studies. They fatigue quickly, find it difficult to concentrate and easily become cross. Moreover they are apt to experience hunger pangs during the middle of the morning; and when it is time for the noon meal they will either eat too much or will have lost their appetite, thus disrupting the entire food program.

Starting the Day Right It is therefore essential that every homemaker recognize the necessity for providing a substantial and satisfying breakfast. This is not difficult to do; nor is it necessary to spend a great deal of time in its preparation. When I hear such complaints as "My family won't eat breakfast" or "They're simply not interested in food in the morning," I suspect that the menus are dull and monotonous; and perhaps members of the household have the bad habit of sleeping so late that there is no time to eat properly. Both situations are easily remedied, and they are closely linked. For if the breakfast menus are made sufficiently attractive, it won't be difficult to persuade every member of the family to rise a little earlier in order to enjoy a substantial, unhurried meal.

A Model Breakfast A well balanced breakfast includes fruit or fruit juice; cereal; an egg or bacon; bread or toast; and milk, cocoa or cereal beverage for the children, with coffee for the grown-ups. The egg or bacon may be omitted occasionally, for an egg may be included in some other meal during the day. But cereal in some form is usually the mainstay of the breakfast menu, and there are many kinds from which to choose—both hot cereals and cold cereals.

Hot or Cold Cereal Some people have the notion that cereals must be hot in order to be nourishing. This is a fallacy. For the nutritive value of a cereal is determined by the grain from which it is made and by the manufacturing process—not by whether it is hot or cold. It is desirable to give whole grain cereals a prominent place in the diet. This rule can be followed even when cold cereals are used. For there are many nourishing ready-to-eat cereals made from substantially the whole grain. These appeal to the palate because they are so crisp and appetizing. And they supply important minerals, a good amount of vitamin B and some vitamin G, in addition to energy values.

A Cold Cereal Analyzed It's interesting to analyze a popular ready-to-eat cereal, made from wheat and malted barley. We find a wide assortment of nutrients, including protein, energy values, phosphorus for the teeth and bones; iron for building rich red blood; and vitamin B which promotes appetite and aids digestion. It has been estimated that a serving of this cereal—three-fourths of a cup—with one-fourth cup of whole milk, will provide an adult with 7 per cent of his total daily requirement of protein; 11.5 per cent of his calcium, 11.2 per cent of his phosphorus; 9.75 per cent of his iron, and a total of 125 calories.

Vary the Method of Serving To help make breakfast interesting, vary the cereal from day to day. Or offer a choice of several kinds of packaged ready-to-eat cereals and allow each member of the family to select the one he prefers. Vary the fruit also. And occasionally you may combine fruit, canned or stewed fruit with cereals to make a "cereal sundae." Further variation may be introduced by using brown sugar or honey in place of white sugar. And on occasion the cereals may be baked into muffins, waffles or pancakes.

It is also possible to serve the eggs in many different forms—poached, baked, scrambled or in a plain or puffy omelet. If these suggestions are followed, it should be a simple matter for homemakers to serve tempting wholesome breakfasts that will send their families away from the table well fitted for the day's activities.

Questions Answered Mrs. A. M. C.—Milk should be the foundation on which every adequate diet is built, for it contains the greatest assortment of nutritive substances of any single food material. —WNU—C. Houston Goudiss—1939-45.

Ossification of the Organs of a Living Person Odd Disease; Man's Eyes Affected

The eyes of a man in Pasadena are gradually turning to stone in his head. Cases of ossification—when the tissues and organs of living persons turn to stone—are rare. Only 71 have been recorded in medical history—and of that number the case of the Pasadena man, referred to as "Mr. Z." by American medical authorities, is the only one known where the disease has affected the eyes, observers a writer in Pearson's London Weekly.

The disease is caused by over-activity of the parathyroid gland, which causes the transfer of the calcium from the bones to the soft tissues of the body. Everyone of us carries about within us a load, several stones in weight, of limestone, or potential limestone. Should this solidify in one mass, ossification sets in. The disease is exemplified in a minor way when the lime settles out in organs, forming gallstones or kidney stones.

He started to rise with her, but she tapped his shoulder lightly and was gone. Long after she had vanished into her tent he sat watching one faint red eye that blinked from the ashes. He thought of Louise Temple and realized that Irene had spoken more truth than she knew.

Recently an Australian was saved from being literally pressed to death by having a casing of stone round his heart chipped away by surgeons. Not only the heart and the eyes may be attacked by stone deposit. Sometimes it is the lung. Rarely does the whole body become the field of the hardening process and the "living statue" become reality. But this is possible. A young American girl who was affected in this way died in 1934.

HOW TO KEEP FROM GROWING OLD

(Title with apologies to Gaar Williams, Cartoonist, Chicago Tribune)

(NOTE:—Repairmen, undertakers, etc. should have this reprinted and posted in prominent places. It helps business.)

Always drive fast out of alleys. Always race with locomotives to crossings. Engineers like it; it breaks the monotony of their jobs. Always pass the car ahead on curves or turns. Don't use your horn because it might unnerve the other fellow and cause him to turn out too far.

Demand half the road—the middle half. Insist on your rights. Drive fast on wet pavements. There is always something to stop you—often a heavy truck or a strong curb.

Never yield the road to the car behind. The driver may be a "rum-runner" being pursued.

New drivers should practice in the heaviest traffic. It gives them the experience they should have.

Always speed; it shows people you're a man of pep even though an amateur driver.

Never stop, look, or listen at R. R. crossings; it consumes time.

Drive confidently, just as though there weren't eighteen million other cars in service.

Always lock your brakes when skidding, it makes the job more artistic.

In sloppy weather drive close to pedestrians. Dry cleaners appreciate it.

Always use a "cut-out." All snappy negroes do.

Never sound your horn on the road; save it for use late at night as a doorbell—very few homes have guns.

Always pass cars on hills. It shows you have more power; and you can drive into the ditch if you meet a car at the top.

Take the shortest route around blind left-hand curves; let the other fellow watch out for himself.

Never look around when you back up. There is never anything behind you.

A few shots of booze will make your car do real stunts. For permanent results do it often.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

By Boyce House

(The views expressed in this column are those formed by Boyce House and not necessarily those of this newspaper.)

"Carrying coals to Newcastle" has been a saying that, for generations, has meant doing something foolish and unnecessary—because Newcastle is the coal-mining center of England.

Yet that is exactly what the people of Texas are permitting to happen! Texas is the greatest oil-producing state in the Union; its wells, if turned loose, could supply all the petroleum needs of the world. But because the world has too much oil, Texas has its wells shut down six days a month and, even when the gushers are opened, it is only for a few minutes each day. Yet oil is being brought to Texas—as silly a thing as carrying coals to Newcastle.

Companies that have clamored for proration in Texas are bringing oil into this state from Louisiana, Illinois and elsewhere. If oil is needed in Texas, why not produce it in Texas and give employment to Texas workers, business to Texas merchants and more revenues for our schools and other government needs?

Texas has prorate more heavily than other states have. If proration is a good thing, the others ought to prorate on the same basis that we do. Texas has been "holding the sack" for some of the other states.

There is one way to get justice for Texas—and that is to turn loose every well in the State; let 'em flow wide open. Then those states and those companies that haven't been shooting square with Texas will be glad to yell "Calif ropes." And that, in a nutshell, is the way we size up the proposal of Jerry Sadler, State Railroad Commissioner and possessor of plenty of intestinal fortitude. It's time that Texas, the biggest oil-producing state, should receive fair treatment. The tail has got to quit wagging the dog.

Do you remember glamorous Fay Cotton of Borger, who was Texas Sweetheart No. 1 at the Fort Worth Frontier Centennial, and who wore a gown of gold valued at $5,000 and was serenaded nightly as Casa Manana by Everett Marshall with "The night Is Young and You're So Beautiful"? And no doubt you recall vivacious and charming Grey Downs, who was Texas Sweetheart No. 1 the next year. Well, there is to be a new Texas Sweetheart No. 1. National fame will be given to some beautiful and gifted girl and she will be featured in the 1939 Casa Manana in Fort Worth with a chance at stardom on stage and screen.

Lou Wolfson, executive director of Casa Manana, and Miss Lauretta Jefferson, dancing and costuming director, will hold tests in many cities and towns over the state. Only one girl can be Texas Sweetheart but the other local contest winners will be offered places in the cast of magnificent Casa Manana, which may be the start of successful careers.

Stocky, bushy-headed, spectacled Maury Maverick spoke in Austin the other night—the first speech the fiery ex-Congressman had made since his come-back through election as San Antonio's mayor. His address bristled with such epigrams as:

"There are two kinds of Democrats—standstill Democrats and go-ahead Democrats";

"Constitutional government is your inalienable right to pray, talk and think as you please—and eat regular";

"There is a young man in Fort Worth who maybe ought to change his name to Elliott Garner."

On the subject of John Garner for the Democratic Presidential nomination, Maverick said Garner would be 73 years old in 1941; Garner has not said he wanted to run and also it would be desirable first to hear Garner give his views on important question—all of which added up that Texas should send a powerful, uninstructed delegation to the national convention, in Maverick's opinion.

This-and-that:

The Supreme Court of the United States has reversed the decision of a Texas federal judge and has ruled that the brother of a former governor and an ex-assistant attorney general must face trial on a hot oil charge. Orchids to the Supreme Court for strengthening the confidence of the people in the law and the courts!

Foes of the so-called fair trades act, who have contended it would place the power of fixing Texas prices in the hands of out-of-state manufacturers, have brought out that the cost of the lobby for the bill is being paid by 15 such manufacturers and it also has been charged on the floor of the Senate that these so-called fair trades acts over the country were the brain children of Coster-Musica.

Newest rumor around Austin is that James V. Allred may run next year for the United States Senate seat now held by Tom Connally. Allred attended the recent North and East Texas Press Convention in Greenville, judged an old fiddlers' contest in Athens and joined a whittlers' club in Houston, according to the papers.

IN THE WORLD OF TOMORROW

By Mable C. Bogan

If you're known in the world of tomorrow

You have to be busy today Leave a trophy for mankind To see along the way.

Somewhere high on a hill top High on the mountains of life You will have to place that trophy By climbing with a staff of strife.

If you're known in the world of tomorrow

Like men in the world of old That trophy must be made of used talent And on it in a word of gold.

That word must spell "service" And made the world better men As it shines in the sunlight of tomorrow Showing that yesterday: you have been.
