Bitten By Snake

A transient truck driver was bitten on the streets of Silverton last week by a small copperhead snake. His injury was not serious, according to the Lockwood Clinic, and the child was released after a few hours treatment.

Hospital at Plainview

A new hospital has been chosen as the site for Hale Center's new hospital. The hospital will cost $200,000 and will have 4,000 members. The hospital is being built on a site donated by Hale Center. The hospital will be a free site for the community and will be an effort to have it at Plainview.

Special Edition

A special edition of the Memphis Democrat, in a special edition, told of the Reunion there this year. The huge paper was devoted to historical events, picnics, and was really a special edition.

Bank Smith Reunion

The 17 and 18 has been set for the fourteenth anniversary of the Texas Old Settlers Association. It will be held at the Bank Smith Memorial Park, Floyd County, Hesperian.

The Deaf to Hear

A "gadget" has been invented by the Pastime Theatre in Silverton, which will enable deaf people to hear talking pictures. The gadget is described as something like a telephone receiver and is placed in the ear of the deaf person.

FFA BOYS TO CONVENTION

By Bob Brooks

Members of the local FFA left last Wednesday for the FFA Convention at the 20-22 of July. The boys arrived at Temple after a long trip, and they camped out while on the trip.

The first General Assembly of the FFA was held on Friday morning and the program was held in the afternoon. The opening ceremony was held in the afternoon.

Speeches were made by Secretary of the FFA, C. C. Asst. Secretary of Agriculture, and the National Officers of the FFA. The last speaker was the National Secretary of the FFA.

DOLLAR OFFER PUTS SUBSCRIPTION LIST IN GOOD SHAPE AGAIN

The Summer Dollar Offer for your home paper ended Saturday with a rush of business that almost tempted us to extend the offer. However, we did not and the Briscoe County News is again the regular price of $1.50 a year.

The list was revised the first of the week and all delinquents were removed. Overhead costs are simply too high for us to carry those who become behind with their subscription money. A great many new subscribers were added to our list and we want to welcome you, and hope you like the paper. You who have been dropped from the roll, will be welcome to return at any time... and we hope that you will miss the News.

GAMES A HELP

The Olympic Games were for a thousand years marked by a quadrennial truce of the gods. Revived in 1896 at the suggestion of a Frenchman, they have been held every four years since, with the exception of 1916, in the midst of the World War. At the last Olympic Games more than five thousand representatives of forty-five countries participated. In friendly athletic rivalry the nations learn to respect each other, and the young athletes of the world set before the Statesmen an example in International Fairness. So we reach across the border lines, and in the endeavor to excel we come to know our fellow contestant.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Mrs. Coy Chappell entertained for her little brother Billie, with a birthday party last Thursday afternoon at her home. Lovely gifts were brought and the afternoon was spent in the playing of various games. Ice cream and cake were served the guests who helped Billie celebrate his eleventh birthday. The guests were as follows: Norland Havran, Corky Kirk, Ray Cash, Wayland Harrison, Dan Brookshier, Jean Clemmer, Nelma Chitty, Billie Yvonne Sherman and Roma Lee Clemmer.

NOTICE

The Church of Christ will begin a meeting at the Lakeview school house July 28 and continue until the 6th of August. Rev. Garner of Seymour will do the preaching. Everyone is invited to attend.

SILVERTON SOFTBALLERS WIN ONE—LOSE ONE

The Silverton Softball team, invaded Olton, the softball center of the Plains Tuesday night for a double header program. The opening game went to Olton 7-5, and the second game to Silverton 9-4.

This was the first time the Silverton boys had played under the lights this season and had a little trouble seeing the ball the first game. However, with the old glimmers adjusted for the second exhibition, they turned in a good account of themselves.

J. B. Smith, left fielder for Silverton was outstanding and covered his territory like a blanket. Spencer, Mercer and Durham gave the Olton fielders plenty to do. These teams can be seen in action again at the Softball tournament August 8 here at Silverton.

The Silverton boys will journey to Canyon Friday night to play the West Texas All-Stars.

The Silverton boys who played at Olton and who will make the trip to Canyon are: Jake Spencer, Aulton Durham, Vinson Smith, Fred Mercer, Glenn McWilliams, Harley Redin, R. D. Wheelock, J. B. Smith, Coy Chappell, Virgil Crow, and Manager Alvin Redin, and Umpire H. B. McClendon.

WMS WILL ENTERTAIN

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Calvary Baptist Church will entertain the Woman's Federated Society, Monday, July 30, at 4 p. m. Everyone is invited to attend.

COUNTY AGENT WILLIAMS TELLS OF CONSERVATION

H. L. Williams, County Agent

I am sure all of you have heard and read much about the new soil and water conservation act passed by this session of the legislature, and how it will affect each district that operates under such a set-up.

The first step in creating such a district is for fifty land owners to sign this application for each district, (this can be district or county wide) and when this is completed the application will be mailed to the State Board who has chosen Temple as the official headquarters.

There has been placed at Bomar Drug in Silverton, and either at Pioneer Drug or Bank at Quitaque, an application for land owners to sign. When this is completed these applications will be mailed for approval by the State Board.

Texas should not pursue the course as have other states in that farmers thought they were getting their land actually terraced for nothing and all they would have to do was express their willingness for such a move. It is true that technical service will be free, and equipment furnished at a very low figure, much lower than at present.

If you are interested, I would suggest that you sign this application at either of the above mentioned places.

In 1938 for all one variety cotton communities under the Smith-Doxy Act were furnished with free classing and stapling service which actually saved farmers 25c in most cases. This you probably did not realize because it was included in closing your loan papers but you were charged a classing service in all cases.

This year the act is more elastic and will lend assistance to all communities who are planting standard varieties of cotton and are also interested in having this free service available. Under the act of 1938 samples were drawn at compresses or other designated places but this year, samples will be drawn at the press box before the bale has been tied out.

I am mailing to all cotton farmers in the county a questionnaire which will ask for all approximate acres planted to cotton and the variety so that I may tabulate this information and help you secure this free service which you are entitled to. Your co-operation in executing and returning this questionnaire will result in considerable saving for farmers this year.

YOUNG FOLKS IN WRECK

The George Kirk car, driven by Georgia, turned turtle east of Kress Saturday night while enroute to Plainview. Lucille Kirk was rather badly bruised, and the rest shaken up a bit, outside of that no injuries were sustained. The car was not badly damaged. In meeting another car, the driver went a little wide, struck soft dirt and rolled over.

August 8th To Be Big Day In Silverton

AGGIE BRIEFS

By LOOE MILLER
Secretary Briscoe Co. Committee

At the present time the Secretary and the County Committee are in College Station. They have gone down to get the 1940 wheat acreage allotments approved and hope to be able to notify the farmers what their allotments will be within the next ten days.

The performance reporters are progressing with checking farms for compliance and report that the farmers are cooperating with them in every respect, which they appreciate.

There seems to be some confusion concerning the classification of grain sorghums. Grain sorghums are considered soil depleting when seeded and there is not any remedy for those who are over seeded. There is no provision for plowing up the excess acres of grain sorghums but this will not throw your farm out of compliance. There will be penalty on the overseeded acres of grain sorghums and your government check will be the usual amount less the penalty assessed on the overseeded acres of grain sorghums.

Farmers who are overplanted on cotton allotments will be notified and given a chance to plow up the excess acres of cotton in order to stay within compliance. The cooperation of the farmers in the matter of rechecking cotton acres which are plowed up will be greatly appreciated. When the plowing has been completed and the cotton acres is ready to recheck, notify the county office, and not the performance reporter, by dating and signing and returning the notice which we will have sent you. As soon as all farms in the county are checked we will have the reporters start rechecking and reporting plowed up acres to the county office.

FFA FAMILIES INVITED TO FREE SHOW AUG. 3RD

Through the co-operation of the Farm Security Administration, Vocational Agriculture Department of the school, and the County Agriculture Conservation, two good picture films have been secured for the benefit of the local families. One film is called, "The River, which is a record of the Mississippi—where it comes from where it goes, what it has meant to us and what it has cost us. The other film, a good one, called "The Plow that Broke the Plains", is self explanatory.

These films are to be shown at the Palace Theatre at Silverton on August 3, at 3:00 P. M., through the co-operation of Joe Mercer, manager and owner of the theatre, who is interested in progressive agriculture. Farm Administration families, families of vocational agriculture boys and girls, and families in cooperation with the AAA program are invited to see these pictures at no expense. Claude C. Carpenter, of the local Farm Security Administration office, states that both films are interesting as well as educational.

Invitation To Odd Fellows

Odd Fellows and their families are having a basket dinner at the Curt Martin Ranch, Sunday afternoon, July 30, from 2 p. m. until 5 p. m. Come to Floydada and join the boys there. They know the place. Bring your basket and come and be with us. We are expecting you.

COLLISION

Gordon Alexander and Mrs. C. L. Cowart engaged in a friendly little highway dispute early this week, with the result that they both arrived at the same spot at the same time, on Hi-way 86, near Redin's Station. Neither occupants were hurt. The Alexander car is nursing a badly bunged-up side.

The Silverton Floral Club will not meet until the first Friday in September, and the picnic has been called off.

Highway and Street Construction To Be Celebrated

Entertainment For All From Early Till Late

Highway 86 Association and Silverton will join in a big joint jamboree here August 8th, celebrating the near-completion of Highway 86 between Silverton and Quitaque, and the opening of the new paved streets in Silverton.

Undoubtedly the largest banquet ever staged in Silverton will be held at 7 o'clock p. m., at the school auditorium, in honor of the State Highway Commission, engineers, and others who have helped make possible the development of Highway 86. The banquet will be served by the Methodist Missionary Ladies, and plans are being made for around four hundred plates. One hundred out of town guests are expected for the big feed, at which Robert Lee Bobbitt has been asked to preside.

Silverton merchants are staging a big free picture show all afternoon and evening, and also a free softball tournament to determine the softball champs of this section. Fifty dollars will be awarded the winners. Vigo Park, Turkey, Tulsa, Quitaque, South Plains, Olton, Haylake, and Silverton have been invited to attend the tourney.

Joe Mercer, in charge of the show, has not announced the feature picture to be shown, but enough money has been raised to bring one of the best and latest shows. The theatre will be open continuously from one o'clock on. Everybody welcome.

Following the banquet mentioned above, a top-notch dance will be held here, with music by Ned Bradley, Hetrick's Rhythm Clowns or some other top-flight orchestra. Merchants are already planning special bargains for those who wish to mix business with pleasure and do some shopping.

Every member of Highway 86 Association is especially invited to attend the celebration. Every man, woman and child in this trade territory is asked to attend and be the guests of Silverton on the day. The date is Tuesday, August 8th.

Social Security Amendments Pave Way for 1940 Elections By Wooing Townsend Voters

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

CONGRESS: Pensions:

Many a Republican, and a few Democratic legislators were elected last November on the promise that Dr. Francis E. Townsend's $200-a-month pension plan—to be financed by a 2 per cent transaction tax—would get a hearing.

DR. TOWNSEND Beaten, but the ghost still haunts.

To satisfy the pension vote, to provide weapons for next year's Democratic campaign based on "humanitarianism" and to soothe the tax-averse businessmen, the senate passed amendments to the social security act which, if approved by the house, would:

- (1) Broaden old age insurance to include 1,100,000 persons like seamen and bank employees, and step up the starting date from 1942 to 1940. (2) Require states to supply $10 per month for each pension beneficiary, the U. S. to match state funds 2 to 1 up to a total pension of $15 per month; i. e., a total monthly minimum of $25 for each beneficiary. (3) Freeze the present 1 per cent payroll tax against both employees and employers until 1943, instead of jumping to 1 1/2 per cent next year. Estimated saving to employers and employees: $275,000,000 annually. (4) Permit downward revision in payroll taxes to finance state unemployment insurance. Estimated annual saving to employers: $80,000,000.

Fly in the ointment was that the plan actually boosted federal-state cost while lowering taxes, a situation which on its face fails to add up. Though a new "contingency" social security reserve of $8,000,000,000 will replace the old plan for an eventual reserve of $47,000,000,000, Michigan's Sen. Arthur Vandenberg figured the senate had added $750,000,000 to the cost (spread over 15 years) without providing any method of paying.

RELIEF: 'Ungrateful'

Old WPA regulations provided union wages for skilled workmen, who thus labored fewer hours for their monthly pay than did unskilled relievers. Example: Union carpenters might work 53 hours a month and pick up odd jobs on the side; common ditch-diggers might work 121 hours for the same money.

Said WPA Administrator F. C. Harrington to congress: "It is my recommendation that persons employed on . . . WPA be required to work 130 hours a month and that earnings of such persons be on a monthly basis . . ."

Said congress: O. K. Said more than 100,000 relievers, going on strike: Congress must restore union wages.

Said President Roosevelt: "You cannot strike against the government."

But strike they did. In Minneapolis two lay dead after riots. Mayor George E. Leach asked Washington to "clean up the mess" and State WPA Administrator Linus Glotzbach shut down all Minneapolis projects. President Roosevelt found himself on a spot with both A. F. of L. and C. I. O., who have helped elect both him and his friends. But both congress and the White House apparently stuck to their guns despite following by John Lewis and William Green. Commented the Cincinnati Enquirer: "The American people have a great deal of patience with the unfortunate and needy. But they have little patience with the ungrateful . . ."

ASIA: Exit Britain?

One hot day in Tokyo workers at the British embassy heard a storm brewing outside. Soon a mob that numbered 15,000 began throwing stones and denouncing "British intervention in China," "British imperialism in Asia" and "British support of the murderer, Chiang Kai-shek," who is Chinese generalissimo. The day before two hand grenades had been thrown into the British consulate at Tsingtao. Spreading down the coast, Japan's blockade of British concessions struck awfully close to home when the crown colony of Hongkong found itself threatened by food shortages as Nipponese vessels blocked ports at Changchow, Tungshan and Chaoan. All able-bodied Britons in Hongkong were subsequently conscripted. In such a tense atmosphere British Ambassador Sir Robert Leslie Craigie opened his long-touted conversations with Foreign Minister Hachiro Arita, knowing full well no settlement would be reached. Japs demand that Britain cease supporting General Chiang and abandon her "anti-Japanese policy in China," which would constitute complete surrender of all her Asiatic interests. Britain, on the other hand, insists that discussions shall deal only with the original conflict over Jap blockade of the British concessions at Tientsin.

When the first day's preliminary confab ended in hopeless deadlock, key Jap officials on the Chinese front issued more threatening statements and precipitated a few more incidents to help make up the harried British mind. First sign of what may become wholesale British withdrawal from China came when missionaries were shipped from Kai-feng, important Honan province railroad city, sharp on the heels of a Jap-inspired ultimatum.

EUROPE: Visitors to Paris

Mid-July found Europe in pre-dog day doldrums. Adolf Hitler was reported by the Chicago Tribune's Sigrid Schultz as consulting the stars to guide his decisions. Propaganda Minister Joseph Goebbels fumed over the anti-Nazi letter England's Stephen King-Hall was writing in wholesale lots to "dear German readers." The Reich's toy industry complained that an English-made "Chamberlain-with-an-umbrella" toy was outselling German-made toys in the British Isles.

Biggest news in Paris, however, was Bastille day, 150th anniversary of the French revolution. Hobnobbing on the reviewing stand with President Albert Lebrun as 30,000 troops filed by were Mrs. Sarah Delano Roosevelt, mother of the U. S. President, British War Secretary Leslie Hore-Belisha and many another English notable.

Keynoted Premier Edouard Daladier: "We menace no one. We dream of no conquest. We desire only peace among all people . . ."

LOUISIANA: Indictments

Out of its cell at Baton Rouge walked a parish grand jury to plump down the makings of a scandal that started with Louisiana State university's President James Monroe Smith, spread to include two of his aides and finally caught in its net Dr. Clarence A. Lorio who is president of the Louisiana Medical society, state senator, member of LSU's supervisory board and its medical director, physician and surgeon for the state penitentiary and visiting physician for the tubercular hospital. The 29 indictments hit:

Dr. Lorio, for allegedly receiving stolen property and conspiring with 300-pound George Caldwell (ousted LSU construction superintendent) in embezzling $249 in school building materials.

Caldwell, on two counts alleging embezzlement of LSU building materials worth $2,097. He is already under federal charges of diverting WPA materials for private use.

E. N. Jackson, LSU business manager, charged with Caldwell in embezzling $490 in school materials, and separately with receiving stolen property.

Dr. Smith, charged on 23 counts, 12 of them with forgery, 11 with altering minutes of the board of supervisors so he could (1) borrow $500,000 from three banks; (2) add $3,600 "bonus" to his yearly $15,000 salary; (3) allow Caldwell 2 per cent commission on all WPA construction at LSU.

HEADLINES FROM THE LIVES OF PEOPLE LIKE YOURSELF!

"Breath of Doom"

HELLO EVERYBODY:

John A. Kollins of Decatur, Ill., is a refrigerator repairman, and he knows the ins and outs of mechanical refrigerating systems and can tell you just what makes them go.

John learned that business with an eye to making his bread and butter out of it. But there came a time when he had to use every doggone bit of the knowledge he had acquired—to save his life.

But, in the end, it was a penknife that saved the day. Without it, all of John's technical skill would have been of little use in the battle against the icy breath of doom which he and his helper found themselves fighting. John's knowledge told him what not to do, but knowing what not to do isn't enough when death is clamping down and slowly wringing the life out of you.

It all happened in Springfield, Ill. On March 31, 1936, John Kollins was called over there to make some repairs in the refrigerating plant of the Morris Fish Market. He got there early in the morning with his helper, and they worked hard all day on the job.

The market had several cooler rooms carrying below-freezing temperatures and one room, called a sharp fish freezer, that went down to 10 or 15 degrees below zero when the machinery was working.

Evening was coming on, and still their job wasn't finished. The market had closed and every one had gone home before John finally got the machinery working properly. He still had to test it, though, and he turned the controls on full and he and his helper climbed out of the basement and went up through the big, empty market to the sharp freezer room to see how rapidly the machine was bringing the temperature down.

Find Catch Broken on Freezer Door.

When they got to the freezer door, John noticed again that the catch was broken. There was an old pair of ice tongs hanging nearby, to open it in case it stuck. He had seen that before, and made a mental note of it. He had even told his helper to be careful in closing that door behind him. But now, as John walked in, his helper, following behind him, gave the door a thoughtless bang.

Then, suddenly, the big blade of the knife broke!

Locked in! And in a small, cramped room whose temperature was rapidly going down! Going to 15 below zero! Not even an Eskimo could live through a night in the open at such a temperature, and John and his helper, dressed in ordinary working clothes, knew that they'd be frozen to death long before morning.

"My heart almost failed me right then and there," says John, "but if it hadn't been for my knowledge of the structure of this freezer, we might have died before we even had half a chance to try to get out. My helper was all for taking a big block of ice and trying to ram the door down, but I knew better than to try it. The door was too strong, and, if we failed to get out on the first try, it would be the end."

"I had built this plant eight years before. I knew the ammonia coils would not stand much jarring without springing a leak. And once the ammonia got in, we'd have choked to death before we had a chance to freeze."

No—that was out. The only thing those two lads could do was cling to straws. They MIGHT just possibly be alive in the morning.

Only Tool Is Two-Bladed Penknife.

John asked his helper if he had any tools in his pocket. The only thing the helper had was a small penknife with two blades. John told him they'd have to try digging their way out with that knife.

Anything to keep their minds off the death that was clutching at them—one degree at a time. They started hacking away at the plaster that coated the walls, cutting a hole about eight inches in diameter. It didn't take long to cut through the plaster. It was only half an inch thick. But back of that was eight inches of cork.

"We took turns digging," says John, "and made progress little by little. But, all this time, the machine was running in the basement and the temperature was going down. It went from five-to-ten to fifteen below, and our hands became numb as we worked. Then, suddenly, the big blade of the knife broke."

John Feels He Is Nearing End.

"I sat down and wrote a few words to my wife on the back of one of my cards. I was feeling mighty sleepy, and I knew I was nearing the end. And then out of a clear sky, my helper shook me and said he had a small hole through to the outside."

It was just a tiny hole. The one they originally started had narrowed down almost to a point. It did them mighty little good, but John's helper thought they might try shouting for help. To please his helper, John agreed to try—but he knew there was no one in the building, and knew that the chances of any one hearing them from the outside was mighty slim.

For an hour they kept up their intermittent shouting. John was yelling "Police," and his helper was just crying "Help!" It was almost 10 o'clock by that time, and John had lost all hope. And then, suddenly, they got an answer.

"Where are you?" A man, parking his car in the alley beside the market, had heard them.

The fellow broke in a window, found the freezer, and used the old ice tongs to pry open the door.

"He didn't know what to do about us," says John, "until I, in my delirium, began yelling 'Police!' again. He thought that was a good idea and called the cops."

The police arrived and gave the two men stimulants. Before it was over, the newspaper photographers had arrived and they had to go back into that freezer again to pose for pictures. But that time they made darned certain that the door wouldn't slam shut on them.

Ancient Totem Pole

The totem pole in Seattle's Pioneer Square was carved from a single cedar tree by a tribe of Indians inhabiting Tongass island, southeastern Alaska. It is 60 feet high and 8 feet in circumference and was intended as a monument to a distinguished family. The pole stood for nearly a century on Tongass island and was discovered by a party of Seattle businessmen in August, 1899, and removed to that city.

French Clairvoyante

On January 1, 1899, Madame Thebes, a French clairvoyante, predicted the death of the president of France. He died the following month. A few years later she predicted that Belgium "would set Europe aflame." Germany would be at war, the kaiser would be dethroned, "after which great changes would follow in Germany." The World War and succeeding years fulfilled her augury to the letter.

Whole Farm Program for 1940 to Be Broadened, AAA Announces

Soil Conservation to Be Stressed; Increased Opportunities Given for Participation by Small Farmers; Folks Are Awakening to Fact Waste Must Be Paid For.

By WILLIAM BRUCKART

WNU Service, National Press Bldg., Washington, D. C.

WASHINGTON.—A press release has just come to my desk from the Agricultural Adjustment administration. It outlines the farm program for 1940. That is next year. The statement from the AAA press bureau announced that at a three-day conference of "approximately 100 AAA farmer-committeemen and others interested," acting for all of the millions of farmers. It explained that the whole farm program is to be broadened, but I will quote the opening paragraph, which is, of course, official:

"Increased emphasis on soil conservation, increased opportunities for participation by small farmers and greater responsibility of administration by the farmer committees are included."

I have watched the AAA officials operate for five or six years. They are still struggling for that more abundant life and, therefore, I have observed the changes with some curiosity. Also, there has been a certain amount of humor in what they have done—not humorous for the farmers but for an onlooker whose life savings and hopes were not directly at stake. There never has been a dull moment. Sometimes, the antics have resembled the movements of whirling dervishes of the desert in their most fervent moments of prayer; other times have produced attitudes on the part of the officials and their underlings that strangely resembled a mouse-colored and very stubborn mule that my father once owned, and then, again, there would be forthcoming schemes so fantastic that only a person wearing the degree of doctor of philosophy could have read the words without turning to Mr. Webster's unabridged edition of the dictionary. They have gone from the doctrine of scarcity to the doctrine of some other extreme and most things in between, always requiring, however, that the farmer must sign up a contract with a lot of do's and don't's.

Just a Word of Praise For AAA Administrators

That I may not be accused of being a common scold, let me give the AAA administrators a word of praise just here. The soil building and soil conservation phases of the program likely are going to be valuable although I fail to understand why anybody thinks it is necessary to pay a farmer to keep his own land in good shape. But, skipping my own thoughts on that, there is justification for governmental interest in helping to restore soil on a national scale because our nation is going on for a number of years— we hope.

Then, too, there is argument favorable to a policy of government encouragement in the planting of trees, a program of reforestation.

There is, of course, that famous "parity" business. There is a fund of $225,000,000 which a bunch of voting congressmen put into law. From it, the AAA officials can pay farmers producing wheat, cotton, corn, tobacco and rice certain sums if the price of these commodities is less than "75 per cent of parity."

We have had that one before and after many trials there are still many hundreds of versions of "parity." It has put the money out. There is no doubt about that. The AAA men made sure that all of it went out, but some of the methods of calculations, of appraisals, of discriminations among farmers, of do's and don't's and just plain bureaucratic regimentation make a fellow dizzy. I cannot help wondering what those who live a hundred years from now will say when they read the current AAA records. They may find some new words that will properly describe the mess.

Now Comes the Pay-Off On the 1940 Farm Program

Next comes "commercial vegetables." There is to be designation, as this year, of "commercial vegetable counties," the designation, of course, to be done by AAA officials. Commercial vegetable farmers, after they sign up and do as they are told, will get payments, too, and I hope the arrangement will make the green onions that my wife buys from the commercial vegetable man who calls at our door somewhat less spongy.

And now, we give you the pay-off on the 1940 program.

Next year, any farmer who grows a vegetable garden will get $2—two whole dollars that are still highly regarded by me—if he "co-operates" and does as he is told by the AAA master farmers. If he fails to grow that vegetable garden, he will get docked $2. The government will get it, too. Uncle Sam's boys are good at that. To make sure about getting that $2 fine, the AAA will deduct it from whatever other payment that the farmer has earned. The regulations have not been issued yet so I cannot report to you in advance what you will have to do to get your $2. The AAA may possibly tell you that you have to grow so many rows of radishes, so many hills of beans of two or more types—maybe some pole beans if you have planted trees under the reforestation program. Or they may tell you to produce so many yards of splash, and there must be carrots and peas, because children must eat carrots and peas. And potatoes! I want to warn the AAA about potatoes. Maine and Idaho voters may kick about including potatoes in the list of "must" vegetables. In the South, there ought to be melons, for there is nothing like a good ripe watermelon. Medical men advise squash in the diet, along with rutabagas. As a special favor to me, I am going to ask that onions be included and planted alongside that row of tomato vines.

Will Extend Law as Far as Language Can Be Stretched

Of course, as I said, the regulations have not been issued and so I do not know what will constitute a vegetable garden "within the meaning of this act," as the official rules will say. On this point, however, I think it can be said safely now that the regulations will extend the law just as far as human ingenuity can stretch language. The idea will be to embrace as many of the farmers as can be brought under the newest—and rawest—of the schemes for regimenting the farmers of the nation. None will be overlooked, except perhaps those like myself whose farm consists of a backyard some 60 feet deep wherein are crowded flowers that I love.

I guess that I will not get any payment for planting trees, either. But the real reason I resent this $2 payment is that it represents a gigantic reduction in the price of votes. I think those AAA men haven't learned much about politics. They've gone sissy. The new price sounds like a fire sale. They ought to know that no votes induced by that price will stay put.

But to get serious about this thing, this new atrocity that is being put over in the name of farm aid, it ought to be said that never in all recorded history has there been any such thing attempted before. That, of course, is no answer. It is an answer, however, to say that some governmental policies, like the actions of some private persons, are so utterly ludicrous that they hardly warrant discussion. Further, we ought to remind ourselves that in this instance a government, supposed to serve all of the people, is undertaking the course. To my mind, the fact that government is doing it makes it perfection on the asinine side.

Folks Awakening to Fact That Waste Must Be Paid For

We have witnessed waste in former in the last few years than ever happened in our nation or any other. Folks throughout the country are awakening to the fact that this waste has to be paid for, because taxes are beginning to sneak up on them from the most unexpected directions. There will be more. Of that, there can be no doubt. Meanwhile, instead of slowing up federal spending, we find AAA paying $2 for a garden. There should be something in the way of aid for those who grow window boxes.

It was only the other day that the treasury released final figures on its condition at the end of the fiscal year, July 1. Those figures showed that the government had spent $3,500,000,000 more in the last 12 months than it had taken in by taxation. Shortly, thereafter, a private organization issued a statement showing income and taxes of 163 great corporations. Those figures which were claimed to be official revealed that only about half of those corporations had made enough money in the last year to meet their tax bills. In some instances, the taxes paid by those corporations amounted to as much as three times the income that was left to them after they had paid their workers and their overhead expenses.

Thus, it seems to me that when our government is running so far behind; when it is already taking from its citizens as much or more than they earn in taxes and when more taxes are as certain as death is to all of us, when these conditions exist it is about time to take stock and see where we are going to end up. The future is not so black but that we can see streaks of light in it, and these problems can be solved. They can be solved rather simply, too, if—as in the case of the vegetable gardens—we stop to figure that government is going to take several times $2 for every vegetable garden brought under this new scheme of "co-operation."

FOOD SPOILAGE AND BOTULINUS POISONING IN HOME CANNED FOOD

By Jessie Mae Rose
County Home Supervisor

Canning is an art, but an easily learned one that every American housewife can master in no time. Canning is generally considered the most satisfactory method of food preservation. The texture, flavor, and color of foods that are preserved by heat alone are equal to those of fresh foods prepared only by cooked foods from the gardens.

There are certain rules of procedure which must be followed. Neglect or overlook these warnings to court dire results.

When foods, when they are canned correctly, are just as safe, or even safer, than fresh foods. It is in the proper methods and safeguards that every housewife should be interested.

Most important in the canning process is the necessity of heating foods to a degree where all the organisms are destroyed. That must not be too high that heat, texture and color are preserved.

Bacteria yeasts or molds may spoil. The latter two and molds are easily destroyed at boiling temperatures, but bacteria is more troublesome especially in the spore stage of their life cycle when they resist boiling temperatures long periods of time.

One of the most heat-resistant bacteria is botulinus, scientifically known as Clostridium botulinum. Its spore is certainly one of the most deadly. It can successfully stand ordinary processing or cooking temperatures, and even after it is put in sealed cans will continue to develop.

The toxin which this botulinus liberates inside is the fatal agent which makes deadly the illness which it lives. The illness ensues after eating such contaminated foods is called botulism—and so fatal is it that some authorities say that 6 out of 10 afflicted with it die within a week.

It is true that we read very little of botulism outside of scientific journals. Nevertheless botulism is common and widespread enough to warrant a full precautionary method by the home canner. It is very interesting to note that there is not a single instance of botulism in recent years arising from commercial canning where proper heat control is exercised.

When affected with this deadly botulinus toxin is sometimes soft, sometimes emits a foul odor typical of decompositions. But many times no apparent odor or softening occurs, even though poisonous is present. For this reason it is imperative to heat all foods at least 10 minutes in an open vessel before boiling. Boiling destroys the bacteria produced by the bacteria, but does not destroy the bacteria.

Government bacteriologists tell us that the botulinus organism is widely distributed throughout the country. It therefore behooves every housewife, no matter where she lives, to adopt the one safe approved method of canning non-acid vegetables and meats—and that is under pressure. The inadequacy of canning with boiling water is because Botulinus is a very heat resistant organism—spores of which would withstand boiling temperature (212 degrees F) for 330 minutes—which is 5½ hours. It is generally admitted today that all non-acid foods should be processed in the pressure cooker. Under pressure, temperature of the food may be brought high enough to kill botulinus spores in a short time, at the same time, not destroying the foods texture, flavor and color.

The pressure cooker is the only method of canning recommended by the U. S. Department of Agriculture for non-acid foods. When operating a pressure cooker and after the cooker is closed, the air must be completely expelled. Laboratory tests show that as long as air remains in the cooker the inside temperature will not correspond to that indicated on the pressure gauge. For ordinary sized cookers—10 to 25 quarts—a steady stream of steam should flow for six to ten minutes. When the air is expelled, and the pressure rises to the required point the temperature on the inside of the cooker approximately matches that indicated on the pressure gauge.

Care should be taken to clean foods thoroughly for canning. Bacteriologists tell us that the greatest contamination is found in spoiled foods which were carelessly cleaned. Containers should be washed clean and all traces of dust removed. Vegetables should be cleaned as soon as possible after they are gathered. Packing foods hot instead of cold is another wise procedure. Heat penetration is much more rapid and thorough through foods already uniformly heated. Where there is the least suspicion that the food is spoiled, it should not be consumed.

We are often confronted with various other problems in canning. Dark brown products usually indicate overcooking—sugar in corn caramelizes. A purplish brown color indicates a combination of the acid and pigment reaction with the tin can. It is not harmful if the flavor and odor is for good.

Moldy spots in the head space indicates breathers. The seal was not tight enough to prevent air from entering the can, or air was not excluded due to this fact. Sausage is an example. Beans often do turn dark because of the pigment in the bean itself. Flat sour is caused by delay in putting the products in the can, delay after sealing before placing in the cooker and failure to cool promptly. Okra turns dark because it has come into contact with iron knives or vessels. Beets turn white because the wrong variety was used, and due to too great a change in

SUDDEN DEATH

By Captain J. C. Tappe
Texas Safety Council

The thoughtless public official who "fixes" a traffic law violation with the city judge for a friend, may be the innocent cause of tragic death.

Cities and towns of the State are daily becoming more conscious of the fact that the persistent traffic law violator is a lethal enemy of society, whether innocently or not.

Traffic ordinances have been adopted by cities and towns and villages for the protection of their citizens, young and old. Included in these traffic laws is the regulation of pedestrian traffic—and these too should observe the rules.

"Instead of traffic law violation fixing, our public officials and influential citizens should shame an offender when he comes to them and asks for such relief," Pierce Brooks, Dallas, runoff candidate last year for Lieutenant Governor, and President of the Texas Safety Council, said. "These officials and public men are becoming daily more conscious of the constantly mounting death toll from automobile driver negligence, and failure of pedestrians to exercise ordinary safety. As a result 'fixing' is decidedly on the decrease and soon will be a forgotten art."

Those convicted in any court of a negligent collision, whether fatal or not, should have their license suspended and placed on the ground for at least twelve months. If the accident is particularly inexcusable, they should be permanently grounded. Severe penalty, you may say, but even that will not bring back the life of an innocent child or another dear relative or friend.

WEATHER: Hot and bothered!

VERY FEW WILL believe me when I say that the streets are open to traffic. I said that last week, and just as I mailed the papers these birds went out and put up their barriers again. But it is true, I swear 'tis so. Of course more would be better, but what we have is absolutely the best what am.

THE VERY BUILDINGS look better all along. And say, why not let's have a little clean-up, paint-up campaign again. For instance, on the south side of the square there are some old awnings that should be straightened or removed. We don't notice it because we see them so often. But to visitors in the town they look bad enough. [Another example: the front of the News Office . . . but watch it].

YOU'D NEVER believe it from hearing True talk, but I really believe that the True Burson family is my staunchest supporter in the county. True wouldn't pay me (wanted credit) and put it off till the last day and then gave the dollar to Cranberry. And (ha, ha) Mrs. True came to the office and paid me. Result: True Burson—7-1941.

THEN COMES MILTON Dudley. Wanted to renew Monday afternoon for a lonely buck. The offer was off. And what did he do? He fumbled and fumbled wrong. Result: He paid me $1.50 with 50c for carrying charge.

I'M THE WORLD'S worst reporter. My folks were here a week and I forgot to put it in the paper. My mother, brother, sister, and niece were here last week. Hugh (the brother) says pastures are burned so badly in west Kansas that they are being forced to either sell or ship out all their breeding cows and calves.

ALSO MISSED LAST week were news of Perry Thomas moving his shoe repair shop . . . the construction of the State Highway Building at the junction of Highway 86 and 207 . . . and I think I missed a wedding but so far am not sure. If they don't want it known, I'll keep the secret.

THERE'S A CERTAIN young lady in this town for whom I did a favor this week. Not that she appreciates it. BUT, I will say that if she doesn't take a few pounds off that foot feed, and use a little more discretion in her town driving . . . I'll have no mercy on her when and if she is in another wreck . . . which will undoubtedly be soon. You just can't flirt with death forever and get away with it.

NOTE FROM FUNERAL notice of the victim of highway accident. "The coffin was not opened for friends, because of the fact that the head was almost completely torn from the body, and the features were marred beyond recognition." Sounds nice, doesn't it?

SUPERVISOR OUTLINES THE IMPORTANCE OF RECORDS

In making a survey of the progress of Farm Administration borrowers, it has been found that families producing a large portion of food at home, practicing diversified farming and keeping farm and home records are making the most progress toward a better and more secure standard of living. Farm records also help one to determine the financial progress made each year. All borrowers of the Farm Security Administration pledge their cooperation in keeping farm and home records as one phase of the loaning program. Following is a list of a few of the advantages for keeping records as outlined by the Extension Service News, and revised by Claude C. Carpenter, county supervisor:

1. Farming is a business and should be conducted as one.
2. Records cause the family to pay closer attention to details of the farm and home business.
3. It is easier to secure funds for development when records are kept.
4. Records show what the farm has contributed to the family living.
5. Records serve as a basis for future planning as well as revising farm and home plans accurately.
6. Records are a great help in preparing income tax returns and adjusting legal entanglements.
7. The family can compare results with others, and learn therefrom.
8. Studies reveal that farm records actually help increase earnings.
9. The family may review their progress from year to year.
10. Impending losses may be revealed before it is too late.
11. Records help county agents, vocational agriculture teachers, and others to give better help when conferring with farm families.

12. Records bring about a better understanding between members of the family in regard to the spending of the family income. This results in more happiness.

HOW DID TRIAL BY JURY ORIGINATE?

IT HAS been a natural evolution from the form of trial employed by the Romans whereby a man was tried before a judge and a body of justices. In its present form, the jury consists of the minimum amount allowed by law—12. There could be as high as 20. By the Constitution of the United States all criminal cases have a right to trial by jury; also all civil suits where the money in question amounts to $20 or more.

One Bushel of Grain Will Insure Fifty Bushels For An Entire Year

Fire, lightning, windstorm, and hail insurance on grain is too reasonable to be without. Why work all year to make a crop and then lose it all in one disaster?

I can write you a special policy to cover wheat under government loan. The government requires insurance if you store your wheat in your own granary. Iggrundy.

CARELESS DRIVING CAUSING MORE CAR ACCIDENTS

Julian Montgomery, State Highway Engineer, today pointed to an apparent reappearing carelessness on the part of the Texas public as a probable answer to the increase in traffic fatalities during the month of June as compared to the number in June of last year.

"While there has been a 9.22 per cent decrease in fatalities in the first six months of this year as compared to the same period of last year there were 133 deaths on Texas highways and city streets last month," Mr. Montgomery said. "That was an increase of 20 fatalities or 17.7 per cent over the same month last year, the first increase for any one month in 18 months."

Along with the constant work of engineers, enforcement officers, and educators to bring about safety on the streets and highways, the public must not let down in its efforts to reduce traffic accidents, the Highway Engineer cautioned, pointing out that safety is largely an individual problem.

The Texas traffic toll for the first six months of this year stands at 699 as compared to 770 during the first six months of 1938. This decrease of 9.22 per cent is a little better than the nation's decrease of 7 per cent for the first five months of this year. There has been a greater reduction on highways than on city streets and county roads in Texas during the past year, with a 13.97 per cent decrease in highway fatalities and only a 2.25 per cent decrease in the cities and on the county roads.

Of the total 120 fatal accidents during June, 28, or 23.33 per cent, were attributed to "driver had been drinking," while "driving too fast for conditions" caused 24, or 20 per cent of the accidents.

Calling attention to the fact that 40, or 33.34 per cent, of the June accidents were head-on collisions either with fixed objects or with another motor vehicle, Mr. Montgomery urged motorists to observe the highway center stripes and broken stripes, which caution drivers to stay in their own right-hand lanes and forbid passing on hills, curves, and other restricted sight distances.

LIBRARY NOTES PHANTOM CROWN

By Bertha Harding

This is the story of one of the strangest chapters in history—a comic-opera venture which ended in tragedy. It tells of Maximilian, brother of Emperor Franz Joseph of Austria and Carlota, his beautiful wife—and how this dream-filled couple became pawns of the wily Napoleon III in his attempt to found an Empire in 19th Century Mexico.

"Phantom Crown" is history at its most vivid. Miss Harding has caught the very spirit of those days of diplomatic treachery and tottering thrones. Here is high drama played out in the halls of Europe and the sun-baked cities of Mexico, with an empire at stake. And dominating the scene looms the impassive figure of Benito Juarez, Lincoln of Mexico, stotic Indian man of destiny who realized that Maximilian must die that Mexico might live.
