Value Of North-South Highway Told At Floydada Meeting

AGGIE BRIEFS

By LOOE MILLER
Secretary Briscoe Co. Committee

The rains over the past week have given the farmers in the county some hopes of a wheat crop for 1940. We find from reports all over the county that the rains were very spotted, ranging from practically nothing to approximately two inches. Quitaque reports 1.31 inches while Silverton reports .85 of an inch.

A good many farmers report that they have enough moisture to seed wheat and get it up, while others are very doubtful whether there is enough moisture to get it up. Of course quite a number of farmers seeded their wheat before the rain and it looks like this was a wise procedure this time.

Cotton Parity Checks
To date the office has received $5,939.86 for 1939 cotton parity payment and this has been distributed to 573 farmers. The parity checks are not ordinarily very large checks but everyone who has an interest in a cotton crop has a check according to his interest. There are a few farmers who have not yet reported with reference to overseeded cotton, therefore the application for parity payment has not been prepared and unless this report is made at once they will be shown overvalued on cotton in 1939 and consequently will not be eligible for any payment at all. So if you are one of those who has received notice that your cotton was overseeded and you have not reported that this acreage has been destroyed, you must at once.

Soil Building Payments
On each farm there is a soil-building payment set up for the farm which the producer may earn by carrying out some soil building practices. In 1938 the total amount which could have been earned was $22,400.00. The amount which the farmers in the county earned was only about $15,000.00. Therefore, Briscoe County farmers returned to the Washington office about $7,400, which they could have earned. The 1939 compliance form indicates that there will be much larger per cent of the soil building allowance earned in 1939 than in 1938. However, there are some producers who have not carried out any soil building practices and a greater number who have only earned a part of the soil building allowance set up for the farm.

The county office is now in the process of preparing the applications for 1939 soil conservation payments and only those who have earned the full amount of the soil building allowance will be in position to have their application submitted for payment before the end of the year 1939. There are two reasons why it is not possible for us to submit your application for payment before you have earned all the soil building allowance for your farm. First, the law provides that each producer may earn these payments only during the year and could we submit the application before pay and should the farmer, between now and the first of the year, earn more practices, which would entitle him to more payment, we would have to submit supplemental application for payment.

Second, we are anxious for you to earn the maximum of payment that may be drawn on your farm; therefore we will hold these applications, giving you an opportunity to earn these soil building practices as long as we can.

The Palo Duro-Garza Highway Association met in Floydada Wednesday and formulated working plans to secure completion at the earliest possible date, of the paving of Highway 207 from Post to Silverton, also, the extension of Highway 207 north from Silverton to Claude to connect with Highways 117 and 370.

Highway No. 207 from Post to Silverton is about 36 per cent paved with all present pavement in Crosby and Floyd Counties. County Judges and Commissioners from Armstrong, Briscoe, Floyd, Crosby and Garza Counties attended the meeting and all agreed on the pressing need of a north to south all-weather highway and made this their individual and collective No. 1 project.

It was pointed out in the meeting, by Judge C. C. Tubbs of Floydada, that 185,000 miles annually would be saved by gasoline trucks alone, hauling gasoline and oil from North Plains refineries, at the same time relieving traffic congestion on other heavily traveled highways now used. Crosby, Floyd and Briscoe Counties truck the largest percentage of their gasoline and oil from North Plains refineries.

Chairman W. Coffee, Jr. of Silverton, was authorized by motion to make an engagement with the Texas Highway Commission for their next meeting in Dallas October 30, at which time the commissioners courts of the five interested counties will appear in a body before the Highway Commission to submit their plan for approval. The plan submitted will probably be divided into three projects to cover the entire undertaking. P. B. Ralls of Ralls and Chas. N. Stewart of Claude were selected to present the plan to the Highway Body.

A Girl

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Judd Donnell of Canyon on September 30, a girl. The young lady weighed seven and one half pounds and has been named Janice J.

Miss Joni Bundy, who is teaching at Plainview Junior High, spent the week end in Silverton with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. O. T. Bundy.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Holland and baby of Perryton, spent Sunday with Mrs. Holland's parents Mr. and Mrs. Herman Pitts. Others that visited in the home were Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt Hill and Robert Brooks.

Arnold Brown and George Kirk have returned home from work on a paving project at Tahoka.

Mrs. Alvie Austin went to Lubbock for a major operation Monday. She was accompanied by her sister Miss Duck and Mrs. Austin.

Mrs. Gilmore from Turkey visited with Rev. and Mrs. Beauchamp Monday. The Beauchamp children accompanied her home.

Miss Geraldine Montague of Canyon spent the week end with home folks.

Mr. H. B. Peek, brother of Mrs. J. S. Fisher, spent the week end in Lubbock with friends.

Houston McCarty of Naravassa, New Mexico visited friends in Silverton for several hours Tuesday.

G. C. Witcher and family and Mrs. B. P. Harrison were visitors in Amarillo Saturday.

Mrs. A. H. Carr, who has been spending the summer in Lubbock has returned to spend the winter in the Clyde Hutsell home.

Mrs. Morton of Goree, Texas is here visiting her daughters, Mrs. Lee D. Bomar and Mrs. Donnell Alexander.

Vinson Smith was home from Texas Tech for the week end.

COLD STORAGE LOCKER BOXES

Cooperative "Locker Box Cold Storage" of meats produced on the farm have created much interest in the last two years in Texas with the Plains area taking the lead in this new enterprise.

Today a number of farm and ranch families in and around Silverton have locker boxes in Plainview which will hold approximately 250 pounds of meat, and having to drive this distance, they consider the locker storage a big saving to them.

With many mechanical boxes in the county this will encourage more of this system of preserving fresh meat because these mechanical boxes will easily hold a weeks supply of meat brought from the locker box to the home.

Farmers and ranchers are in a position to secure this type of storage if they will express themselves as to whether they desire such storage.

Within the next few days the county agent will mail each of you a questionnaire to fill out and return to me expressing your desires in this matter so that we may proceed in securing a 200 locker box storage system for this county.

SOIL CONSERVATION MEETING AT SILVERTON

On numerous occasions farmers have been notified that certain individuals will appear in Silverton to talk to the farmers and every effort possible to get you out has been tried, some successful and some otherwise.

Monday, October 16 at 2:00 p. m. in Silverton in the District Courtroom, Mr. Dutch Hohn and Bartley of Extension Service, who are Extension Service Engineers and Soil Conservation Specialists, will talk conservation to farmers.

Mr. Hohn is not only a specialist of his chosen profession, but is a real entertainer and should you choose to hear him for a few minutes you will enjoy the meeting I am sure.

The new Soil Conservation law will be fully explained, of which I believe you will be interested.

NEW FILLING STATION

Dutch Tidwell is making preparations this week for opening a filling station on South Main in the building formerly occupied by the Gilkeyson Garage. He will operate as an independent dealer.

JONES CLAIMS EMBARGO ACT IS NOT A TRUE NEUTRALITY ACT

(by Marvin Jones)

The present embargo act is not a neutrality act. I think we should have a neutrality act. It is our best hope of keeping out of war. The present embargo act, covering only certain articles, leaves us wide open to grave dangers.

Do you know that under the existing act:
1. American vessels may go into any sea, even in the face of danger from mines, submarines, and aircraft of belligerents, and that such vessels may carry scrap iron, scrap steel, copper, brass, oil, and other essential war materials to belligerents.
2. American citizens may travel on American or other neutral ships through areas made dangerous by mines, aircraft and submarines of belligerents.
3. Motor trucks and tractors may be exported to belligerents but not armored motor trucks and that brass tubing in pipe form may be exported to belligerents if not in actual gun form.
4. American exporters may sell all of these goods and many other articles without transfer of title to the purchasers, which means that American goods on the high seas are subject to destruction by belligerents.
5. Trucks and tractors containing engines that may be installed in airplanes or tanks may be exported to belligerents.

In other words, arms, ammunition and implements of war can not be exported to any belligerent state, but the material that is necessary to manufacture them, can be.

Do you know that practically all of the articles named above and many others have already been listed by the warring nations on both sides as contraband and subject to seizure, and the vessels carrying them subject to destruction by mines, torpedoes and aircraft?

The existing embargo law permits our ships to carry articles to Europe now classed as contraband which in 1938 amounted to about $1,035,000,000. Only $226,000,000 worth of our products out of an export trade of $1,261,000,000 can go abroad without risk of seizure.

So long as our ships are allowed to carry many articles listed as contraband, which they may do at the present time, we are subject to "incidents" and ultimate involvement.

If we ignore our trade altogether, it is only logical to predict that unemployment relief rolls will continue to grow and that farmer and businessman alike will suffer. If we permit goods to be shipped as under the present act, we are taking a serious risk.

If we sell them on a cash and carry basis, requiring that title be passed in this country and that they be carried in the purchaser's own vessels, we will be in far less danger than under the present act.

This is the wiser course and the surest road to peace.

WEEK END BROUGHT .85 INCHES RAIN HERE

Saturday night and Sunday brought showers to this vicinity that measured .85 inches by the Silverton gauge. Reports from other parts vary in amount from nothing at all, to two inches. Although the amounts vary greatly, the rains were fairly general over the Panhandle, and west into New Mexico.

The rain here has started preparations again for wheat planting. With the ground as dry as it is, several good soaking rains are needed to insure any kind of a wheat season.

BANGS DISEASE

A number of individuals who own milk cows in the county are desirous in having them tested for Bangs disease. This program which was sponsored by the cooperative efforts of both Federal and State have expired and the only way that I know for you to receive this service at a nominal cost is for enough owners to leave the number of head to be tested with me and I will secure a licensed veterinary who is the only competent source to do this work.

Again if you will leave your name and number of cattle to be tested with me so that I may secure this service for you, I will contact a veterinary and report the cost which should not exceed 50 cents per head if a full day's work can be had.

HIGHWAY DEPARTMENT OPERATES MAGNETIC NAIL PICKING MACHINES

For the past ten years the Department has operated two Magnetic Nail Picking Machines. A magnetized bar charged by an auxiliary motor is suspended from the rear of a truck a few inches above the ground, and the bar is approximately the same width as the truck. As the truck moves slowly over unpaved surface or shoulders, nails, pieces of steel and other metal are pulled from the dirt or gravel by the magnetized bar. When the bar is covered, the truck operator drives to one side, spreads a canvas under the bar, and by cutting off the current, drops the accumulation of metal on the canvas. This metal is then placed in the truck, to be weighed later and finally disposed of where it can do no damage.

The first work with a machine of this type was conducted in 1929, and so positively proved its value that the operation of Magnetic Nail Pickers has since been considered a regular function of the Highway Department.

During the twelve months ending August 31, 1939, the Magnetic Nail Pickers worked 6,891 miles of State Highways, and picked up a total of 82,355 pounds of metal, making an average of about 12 pounds of metal per mile. The cost of operating the machines was about $1.25 per mile of highway worked, and an average of 30 miles of highway was worked each day, and approximately 349 pounds of metal picked up daily.

The Nail Pickers operated over a total of 17,060 miles of highways, showing that it requires an average of three trips over the highway to work the travel surface properly. On unpaved highways it usually requires four trips to cover the travel surface, whereas on paved highways only two trips are required, one on each of the shoulders.

There are on the State System over 5,000 miles of unpaved highways and 5,780 miles of paved highways which must be worked. It is interesting to note that the 82,355 pounds of metal picked up would be the equivalent of 25,024,180 "four penny" nails. Since even a tack is sufficient to puncture a tire, it can be readily seen just how many punctures must have been prevented by the operation of the Nail Pickers.

It is considered that the operation of Magnetic Nail Pickers and the consequent removal of metal substances constitute an important factor in providing additional safeguards to the motorist, since many accidents, deaths, injuries and a large amount of property damage are caused by tire punctures or blow-outs.

It is evident that the Department in the operation of the Nail Pickers is rendering another desirable traffic service to the traveling public.

Stop-Go Light

A new "stop-go" light has been installed in Miami to take care of traffic. The light is being installed at the expense of the State Highway Department, but will be maintained by the city, says the Miami Chief. The City of Silverton needs such a light at the intersection of Main and Highway 86.

Injured In Wreck

Frank Moore, county assessor and collector of Floyd county, was injured last week when his car crashed into a ravine north of Matador. According to the Floyd County Hesperian, he was driving alone and suffered several hours from exposure. He will recover.

Still Working For Dam

Business men from Turkey were guests of the Quitaque Community Club last week, joining with Quitaque in a move for the proposed dam on Los Lingos. From the Quitaque Post we learn that representatives from Quitaque, Turkey, Flcnot, Matador and Lockney will go to Amarillo this week to further interest in the dam.

SECRET OF SUCCESS

There is a story told about that prince of modern strategy, the daring Stonewall Jackson, who was admired, irrespective of political feeling, for his military genius and Christian character, that on one occasion he found a bridge over the Shenandoah destroyed and it was necessary that he cross the river the very next morning. He sent for his bridge builder, saying, "Miles, turn the men all on at the earliest moment to build a bridge." The next morning Miles reported at Jackson's tent and Jackson asked him, "Have you got the plan?" His engineer was to have drawn a plan and hand it over immediately. "Oh, said Miles, the bridge is finished, but I don't know whether the picture is or not."

This is the thought we want to leave with you this week. The Presbyterian Sunday School invites you to meet with them this week. There will be no preaching service.

HARMONY CLUB MEETS

The Harmony Club met with Mrs. Billy Dickerson on Wednesday, October 11th. The program for the afternoon was Negro Spirituals. The program was made up chiefly of the original songs and poems of Mrs. Gertrude Arnold. Mrs. Arnold presided over the meeting and the following ladies assisted with the program: Mesdames Crass, Dickerson, Alexander, Wheelock, and Hahn. Accompaniments were played by Misses Wilson and Murphy.

Mrs. Tim Moore was welcomed as a new member to the club. The November meeting will be at the home of Mrs. R. D. Wheelock.

Notice

The March of Time Study Club will meet at the Home Economics Cottage on October 18th. Programs for October 4 and for November 2 will be given at this meeting. Please make your papers short as this program will be quite long. The open meeting will be held November 2.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Thompson and Mrs. Mack McKinney were Plainview visitors last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Smith, Jr. of Melrose, New Mexico spent the week end here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe H. Smith. Young Joe is teaching commerce in the high school at Melrose.

Tom Bomar, Jake Honea, Bill Newman and Dewey Beavers visited with Dave Loughborough at the Veterans Hospital in Albuquerque last week. Dave is improving.

This is National Fire Prevention week, and is being observed over the nation with stress being placed everywhere on preventative measures against what has probably been man's greatest enemy, Fire.

In keeping with this Fire Prevention Week, you will find on another page a large ad from the City of Silverton, and merchants urging your cooperation in eliminating fire hazards. A little timely thought and action along this line, at this time, save many disastrous fires in the future.

Silverton has been receiving "credits" on its fire insurance rating now for several years, until now we have the best rating ever given this city. And with no fire losses, the State Insurance Department has promised us another 10 per cent credit March 1st of 1940.

Much of the credit for this good fire record goes to our fire department. While not a large group, the boys are efficient, have regular practices, and have been very successful in combating fires. The fire at the Jewett house last week was almost completely out within three or four minutes after the water was turned on.

Organized In 1928

The department here was created in 1928, with sixteen charter members. Equipment was practically the same as now, and was purchased by the city. Mac McClister was chief of this first group of fire fighters, and of the sixteen, three are still on the force. They are Mack McKinney, Del McKinney, and Doc Minyard. They have been in active service now for eleven years.

Other charter members were Arthur Thomas, Wayne Crawford, Dean Allard, Lewis Gilkeyson, Jerry Burson, Bill Thompson, Newt Summers, Clarence Anderson, and four other boys whose names we were not able to find.

In these eleven years it is impossible to estimate the amount of property that has been saved from fire. While houses have been totally destroyed, in most cases it was because the alarm was not turned in in time; and in almost every such case "joining property was saved from the flames.

Many things have happened in this time... the time the truck made the run to Quitaque, in the dead of the winter, in answer to a call, and several boys have been badly injured. A large number of men have served on the department who are not on the roll now.

For their work in protecting the town, these boys receive as compensation one dollar per fire from the city. This is not enough to pay for damage to their clothes.

The office of fire marshal was created at the same time as the fire department, and in that time there have been six marshalls. The first was J. D. King, then follows L. L. McAnaw, Jey Fry, W. E. Farrell, R. B. Boyle, and Roy Hahn. The fire marshal works on a straight salary of one dollar per month. His duties consist of regular inspections of the town for fire hazards which must be corrected upon his recommendation, reports of fire, and keeping a close lookout for evidence of wilful destruction of property.

The fire department now is headed by T. T. Crass as chief. He has been on the force for the past ten years. Other fire boys at the present time are J. E. Minyard, Del McKinney, Mack McKinney, Charles Cowart, Joe Mercer, James Patton, J. T. Luke, Roy O'Hair, L. T. Wood and James Allred.

L's Help Them

Let's do something this very week about our fire hazards. Take every precaution to check stoves and gas connections. Remove accumulations and in any other way prevent fires. If however a fire is discovered turn in the alarm at once. Don't try to fight it alone. And after the boys have arrived, let them have full sway. Keep off of the hose unless you are asked to help. A person with no knowledge of fire fighting, is really just in the way, and not helping.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS BY JOSEPH W. LaBINE

'Sphere of Interest' Division Produces Clash of Ambitions In Baltic and Balkan Sectors

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.) Released by Western Newspaper Union.

WHY ROME-BERLIN-MOSCOW TRIANGLE CAN'T LAST Map shows European sphere-of-influence division and resultant conflicts. Numbered explosions show probable sites of conflict between "triangle" members: ONE—Baltic sea, long an exclusively German area, becomes a Russian sea following tiny Estonia's capitulation to Moscow. Russia thus becomes naval threat to Reich.

THE WAR: Diplomatic Front As September died, U. S. correspondents visiting Germany's Siegfried line found idyllic peace (see WESTERN FRONT). The war was being fought elsewhere, in London, Berlin and Paris, but chiefly in Moscow where Dictator Josef Stalin was teaching Adolf Hitler the danger of playing with fire.

Aerial Front Conflicts between planes brought conflicting reports. London admitted some planes "have not yet returned" from a raid over Heligoland's German sea base in the North sea, and Berlin reported five of the six raiders were shot down. Two days later London told of a miracle: Over the western front, a five-plane British reconnaissance squadron was allegedly attacked by 15 German fighters. Three British ships were shot down, a fourth forced to land, but the fifth "flew on to finish the job," shot down two Nazi planes and forced the remaining 13 to flee because they were "shaken by the steady and accurate fire" of the lone British plane.

Naval Front Three Norwegian steamships were sunk by Germany in one day; next day the Reich seized three Danish vessels. Apparent reason: Germany has decided everything is contraband of war, which U. S. cash-and-carry advocates maintained was good reason American ships should stay out of belligerent waters.

War Miscellany Poles in France, planning a strong army, appealed to U. S. Poles to come abroad and fight. Experts figured Europe is spending $61,000,000 of the world's wealth on war each day. In London, Britain called 250,000 more men to the colors, including all men between 20 and 22, with exceptions.

AGRICULTURE: Profit Signed last June 23 was a U. S.-British barter treaty with dual purposes: (1) to deplete surplus U. S. cotton and British rubber holdings, and (2) to build up for each nation a supply of strategic war materials which must be held in reserve for seven years unless either goes to war. By early October it looked like the god of war had netted Uncle Sam a $20,000,000 profit on his deal.

NEWS QUIZ

Know your news? Answer all the following and your score is 100. Deduct 20 from each question you miss. Any score above 60 is good: 1. Choice: Wladyslaw Raczkiewicz is (a) the mayor of Warsaw who led that city's heroic defense; (b) the president of Poland; (c) an Indo-China sea captain who refuses to wear shoes.

DOMESTIC: Congress

Simple enough in early phases of neutrality discussion was the proposition of lifting the arms embargo, restricting U. S. ships from belligerent zones and holding belligerent credits to 90 days. But when hair-splitting starts, it is hard to stop. As congress opened debate on the issue, administration forces claimed 65 senators (16 better than a majority) favoring cash and carry neutrality. But many an administration supporter soon found himself just as belligerent as isolationists Nye, Borah and Lundeen.

COLORADO'S JOHNSON He was for and against.

Alva Adams: "For years we've been trying to preserve the rights of our citizens, and now we propose to make felons out of them when they try to exercise their rights." (2) The clause empowering the President to designate combat areas in which American ships could not travel. Presumably this meant U. S. ships must not only avoid Baltic, North and Mediterranean seas, but must also steer clear of Australia, New Zealand, Britain's Caribbean possessions, and even Canadian ports. Unless modified, it meant U. S. merchant ships must not only limit themselves largely to western hemisphere routes, but must even then watch their p's and q's.

Repercussions In New York, George A. Sloan of the Consumer Goods Industries committee announced manufacturers were avoiding boosts in their selling prices so long as possible, despite price advances in raw materials. In Cincinnati, delegates to A. F. of L's fifty-ninth convention heard a plea that the U. S. offer its "mediation services for world peace." Incidentally, A. F. of L. reported 4,006,354 paid members, only 72,388 short of 1930's all-time high despite interference from C. I. O. In Michigan, political prophets wondered how his anti-repeal stand on the present neutrality law would help or hurt Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg, current No. 1 possibility for 1940's G. O. P. presidential nomination. If he wins, the prophets think his nomination is in the bag. In Gearhart, Ore., Assistant Attorney Gen. Thurman W. Arnold told the Oregon Bar association that wartime trade conditions are no excuse for ignoring the anti-trust laws.

News Quiz Answers 1. (B) is correct. Raczkiewicz was named president of the exile Polish regime to succeed Ignace Moscicki, resigned and interned in Rumania. 2. George Cardinal Mundelein, archbishop of Chicago. 3. Ernest Simpson's wife gave birth to a son. 4. Yes. According to a Gallup poll, 64 per cent of the U. S. has this fear. 5. Changsha is in China, newest objective of invading Japanese army, being defended by Gen. Chiang Kai-shek's army.

Floyd Gibbons' ADVENTURERS' CLUB HEADLINES FROM THE LIVES OF PEOPLE LIKE YOURSELF!

'Ten Terrible Seconds' HELLO, EVERYBODY: This is a yarn about a couple of ropes. The yarn—well—it's told by Herman R. Wallin of Brooklyn, N. Y. Herman is supposed to be the adventurer and principal character in it, but somehow or other the ropes managed to take over the story.

One of those ropes chisels into this story solely on the strength of the fact that it—well—that it just wasn't. If we mentioned it here, it's only to post it as A. W. O. L. at a time when it was needed for guard duty. The other rope comes in at the crucial point in our story. Like the hero of the old ten-twenty-thirty melodrama it shows up in the nick of time to right the wrong the other rope has done and prove to the world that though some ropes may be low down and onery, there are good ropes as well as bad.

And now that I've told you the plot of today's little drama, let's bring in Herman Wallin—and on with the show. Today, Herman is a radio operator on the S. S. Birkenhead, but this adventure happened in July, 1926, when Herman was occupying the radio shack of the S. S. Cornelia plying between New York and the West Indies. The Cornelia was almost at the end of her "out" trip—just two or three hours run from the first of the tropical island ports at which she was due to call.

He went through an open space between the two boat davits—and walked overboard.

It was a dark night, and Herman was on the lower deck, making his way up to the boat deck where his room was located. And—well—before we go any farther with this yarn we'll have to tell you something about the way the S. S. Cornelia was constructed. Suppose we let Herman do that himself. "My radio shack," Herman says, "was on the after part of the boat deck—the only quarters located on this part of the ship. A few feet away from my room, on either side of the shack were davits for two lifeboats which had been removed. Since the members of the crew seldom came up on this deck, and then in the daytime only, no ropes had been stretched across the openings between the davits."

And there you have not only the layout of Herman's sea-going penit house but also the lowdown on that rope that just wasn't there. That missing rope was quite a problem. You know they don't have any open lights on the top deck of a ship because they interfere with the vision of the officer on watch up on the bridge. On nights when there wasn't any moon, Herman used to have to watch his step pretty carefully. Usually he would start walking from the ladder in a straight line, counting out the number of steps it required to get to his door. But on this particular night he paused half way in his course and looked back.

And Then Came the Ten Terrible Seconds. And then came those ten terrible seconds—the worst moments in Herman's life. It felt as if time had been slowed down like one of those slow-motion movies—seemed as though that dive from the top deck was taking a year. Herman can still count over every one of those seconds—can still remember how the lights of the lower deck went crawling past him as he fell. One of his arms grazed the rail of the lower deck as he went by, and through his mind flashed the thought that that rail was the last thing he could possibly have caught hold of.

Below him now were only the smooth steel plates of the ship's side, straight down to the water line. Herman thought of the propeller, thrashing the water at the ship's stern and remembered hearing that anyone falling overboard close to the side inevitably gets sucked into the vortex of the churning water and chopped to mincemeat. The water was coming up at him now. He could see it gleaming dully beneath him and he braced himself for the shock of hitting it. Then, suddenly, his left arm hit something—hit it with a sharp, stinging blow that bent it double and almost took Herman's breath away.

Herman didn't know what it was, but instinctively he made a grab for it. He caught it—and his hand skidded several yards along a wet, slimy surface before he realized what it was. A rope! A missing rope had gotten him into this spot in the first place. Another one—a rope that was very much present—seemed to be helping him out of it. His Feet Were Dragging in the Water When He Stopped. Herman clutched at that rope until he thought his arm would come off. "My feet were dragging in the water as I came to a stop," he says. "and the tug of the water added to the strain on my hands. I heard faint shouts above me. The engineer's telegraph rang and I could feel the side of the ship shuddering as though it had hit some obstruction in the water. Then I could see heads thrust out over the deck rail and several voices were calling to me to hang on. A couple of men sitting on the lower deck had seen me flash by and had shouted to the officer on watch to stop the ship."

A rope ladder came over the side and a deckhand came down to help Herman back aboard. "When I reached the deck," he says, "I was so weak with fright that I couldn't stand up. They took me to a stateroom and put me in a bunk. Outside of a few bruises and a pair of skinned hands, I was as good as ever in a few hours, but I saw to it next day that a couple of lines were stretched between those empty boat davits." And in case you're wondering what that other rope was doing hanging over the side of the ship, here's Herman with the answer. "It was what is known as the guest line," he says. "It's a heavy rope put over the side near the water's edge and used to tie the small boats and launches near the gang-way. The ship was approaching the first of our tropical ports and this line had been put out only a few hours before." (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Donkey Was Responsible for Discovery of Silver Mines Kellogg's Jack, a diminutive but thoroughbred jackass, was responsible for the discovery of a few decades ago of two silver mines in the Coeur d'Alene mountains of northern Idaho that were worth $4,000,000. The story is that the "jack," whose head was nearly as large as its body, was the pack animal for N. S. Kellogg, Phil O'Rourke and Con Sullivan when the trio went prospecting up a creek near the Mulian road, one of the first military routes through Idaho. One night when the small party made camp they turned the animal loose to graze. In the morning it was not in sight, but the trail was found easily. Kellogg and his partners followed it. Finally they emerged into a comparatively clear canyon and spotted the "jack" on a hillside. It seemed to be on a point like a dog. Advancing they said they saw the animal gazing intently at a broad splash of mineralized rock, which proved to be a slab of rich galena.

Improved Uniform International SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D. Dean of The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago. (Released by Western Newspaper Union.) Lesson for October 15

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education; used by permission. THE TEMPTATION OF JESUS

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 4:1-11. GOLDEN TEXT—For we have not an high priest which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities; but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin.—Hebrews 4:15.

Temptation is the common lot of all mankind (I Cor. 10:13). The strongest and most noble of men are subject to it; angels were tempted, and our scripture reveals that even Jesus was tempted. We recognize that Jesus was tempted as the Messiah (vv. 3, 6) and as one without sin (Heb. 4:15); but it is also true that He was tempted in all points as we are, apart from sin, and that we may learn from His temptation how we may meet and be the victors over temptation.

I. What Is Temptation? "Temptation is seduction to evil, solicitation to wrong. It stands distinguished from trial thus: trial tests, seeks to discover the man's moral qualities or character; but temptation persuades to evil, deludes, that it may ruin. God tries; Satan tempts" (A. M. Fairbairn). Temptation is not sin, but yielding to temptation is sin. Luther said, "We cannot keep the birds from flying over our heads, but we can keep them from building nests in our hair." Temptation comes from within, that is, from our own lusts (James 1:13, 14). Satan also tempts us (Eph. 6:11). God may permit temptation as a means of proving our faith (James 1:2, 3).

II. How Temptation Works. It is significant that the temptations of Jesus were along the threefold line of the temptations of Adam and Eve (Gen. 3:6) and the general threefold temptation of all men, namely, the lust of the flesh, the pride of life, and the lust of the eyes (I John 2:16). These three temptations really exhaust Satan's bag of tricks, but he can dress up these three fundamental temptations with almost endless variety. He works 1. By appealing to the flesh (vv. 2, 3). He observes the normal appetites and desires of a man's body, excites them to a high degree, and then suggests an improper method of satisfying them. Hunger is normal and a sign of good health. Jesus had fasted forty days and Satan took advantage of that fact to suggest the use of His divine power to satisfy His hunger. This would involve a denial of His entire mission on earth, namely, the redemption of man by a divine person who had become a real man.

2. By appealing to pride (vv. 5, 6). Satan misapplied Scripture to tempt Jesus to presumption on the assumption that He was exercising faith. God had promised to keep Him "in all his ways" (Ps. 91:11). To cast himself down from the temple was not one of the ways in which Christ was called to walk. Satan comes to us with the same kind of temptation. If He cannot get us to forsake faith, he tempts us to become fanatic and to proudly substitute presumption for faith.

3. By appealing to the eyes (vv. 8, 9). By showing Christ the kingdoms of the world and offering them to Him by the short-cut of a brief act of worship rather than by the way of the cross, Satan tempted Him again. Here the devil showed his true desire that man should worship him rather than God.

III. How to Meet Temptation (vv. 4, 7, 10). 1. By the right use of Scripture. If Jesus needed that weapon, how can we do without it? How can we use Scripture if we do not study it and hide it in our hearts? 2. By dependence on God. Every Scripture used by Jesus honored God. We cannot fight Satan in our own strength. To attempt to do so is to fail utterly. The real victory for the Christian is to bring Satan back to the cross where Christ won a decisive victory over him.

3. By denouncing Satan. Jesus sent him on his way. We may do the same in Jesus' name. It is always a serious error to try to argue with Satan or to engage in any discussion with him. Let us meet him with Scripture and with a "Get thee hence."

IV. The Result. Satan left and angels came to minister to Christ. The overcoming of temptation results in peace, victory, and blessing. This is ever so in the life of the believer. Temptation overcome makes us stronger to meet the next temptation, and also enables us to help our weaker brethren.

Framing Our Lives Religion does not consist in the performance of certain ceremonial acts at specified times, outside which acts and times it has no place; but consists in framing our whole life, and all our acts, upon a distinct view of our position as created beings, charged by the fact of our creation, with duties both to our fellow creatures and to our Creator. —Edward Denison.

Gay Aprons From Unbleached Muslin

By RUTH WYETH SPEARS Every one who has ever lived in the country knows the possibilities of unbleached muslin. A source of supply there is flour food sacks but even purchased from the yard it is an inexpensive sturdy material for aprons many other things. If you have friends who share your enthusiasm for interesting aprons, plan and cut them for them.

group; then trimmings may be exchanged and every piece will produce something. The diagram shown here gives you cutting dimensions for a skirt part of a plain little apron and shows how to shape the waistline. Belts for the bibs may be rather wide now—two or three inches wide—and a half inches finished, and are generally 4-inches wide as long as you like. Now, do not dare when you come to pattern or adding a bib. Try an idea of your own. These gay unbleached muslin aprons are just suggestions to get you started.

Constipation Relief That Also Pepsin-izes Stomach When constipation brings on acidigestion, bloating, dizzy spells, gas, tongue, sour taste, and bad breath, stomach is probably loaded up with undigested food and your bowels move. So you need both Pepsin to break up that rich undigested food in your stomach, and Laxative Senna to trigger on those laxative bowels. Take Dr. Caldwell's Laxative, because Syrup Pepsin helps you gain that wonderful stomach-relief, while the Laxative Senna moves your bowels. Tests prove power of Pepsin to dissolve those undigested protein food which cause acidity and nausea. This is how Pepsinizing your stomach helps relieve that distress. At the same time the Laxative Senna helps you feel better by taking away that stomach discomfort, too. Even little children love to taste this delicious family laxative. ADMINISTRATIVE NOTES

By W. E. Sherman

The Silverton School is well under way on its 1939-40 term. We have enrolled this year about 400 students. The high school shows 170 and elementary school 230.

This year a new system of pupils marks has been adopted. All parents are urged to inspect the pupils' marks and sign them promptly so they can be returned.

The system adopted is as follows:

A	90-100
B	80-90
C	70-80
U	Below 70 and unsatisfactory

At this season of the year quite a few students are out for various reasons. We urge you to keep your children in school as much as possible. If they have to be out let us assist that they do some home work on their books so that they can catch up as soon as possible when they return to school. You will find the faculty only too glad to assist your children in making their work.

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Wheelock were in Olton over the week end visiting her mother, Mrs. Marjorie Brewer.

EDITORIALLY SPEAKING

By John Henry Crow

Cooperation is going to be an essential thing if we are to issue our best school paper. If every student will do his small part each week, Silverton can and will have one of the best school papers anywhere. A box will be placed somewhere in the school building, and when you have some news, drop it in this box. The news used in our school paper will be taken from these articles. We feel that this will not burden you much and know that it will be a great aid to our school paper.

Our annuals will cost two dollars per copy, and arrangements have been made whereby you can contract for the annual now with only fifty cents down. One hundred annuals must be purchased as last year.

Our school paper would have been published sooner but we have been trying to get enough purchasers for annuals so that we might have a 1939-40 school annual.

PERSONALITY PARADE

This column will deal in pupil personality throughout the year. It will include boys and girls from all 4 classes in high school, and if the occasion permits will include others.

In this we plan to give you the most important facts on the pupils as we see them.

For our opening line-up we find Vivian Burleson heading our list. Vivian is a Senior in our Student Body, having climbed the stairs of S. H. S. all 4 years of her high school career. She is a medium blond, with big brown eyes that sparkle with her winsome smile. Vivian has been active in pep squad, on the staff and has taken part in some office almost all 4 years. She has a winning way, a lovable personality and that studious nature, which wins her friends in both classmates and teachers. She is only 5 feet, 4, but is really a "go-getter" in every activity she enters.

PAUL S. ROGERS

Mr. Paul S. Rogers is serving his first year as Superintendent of the Silverton Public Schools. He has a B. S. Degree from N. T. S. T. C., and is working toward his Master's Degree at U. S. C.

His interest in the general welfare of the school is one of his outstanding qualities.

CHAPEL FRIDAY

The entire student body met in the auditorium Friday at 9 o'clock for chapel. Through the work of Roberta McMurtry we had three young women direct from Paris. Susie Q. Willie the Jitterbug, and the distinguished bride. All three were dressed in wearing apparel from the most exclusive shop in Paris. The band students, as judges, proclaimed Willie, the jitterbug, winner in the beauty contest. Following the band concert, an amateur contest was presented which was made up chiefly of vaudeous but innocuous flapdoodle.

JOLLY ECKERS INITIATE MEMBERS

The Jolly Eckers initiation exercises were held Thursday, October 5, in the Homemaking Cottage. After a very serious ceremony, the new members were asked to prove their loyalty by wearing their hair plaited and tied with red ribbon.

Immediately following the exercises, a business meeting was held to elect new officers.

In a game packed with thrills and chills, the Spur Bulldogs barely managed to put down the invading Silverton Owls last Friday night, 12-7. It was anybody's football game until the final whistle.

The Plains boys crawled upon the old dope bucket and almost spilled its contents. An outstanding defender of that old battle-scarred dope bucket was Barclay for the Bulldogs. Outside of his brilliant ball toting, the ball game belonged to Silverton all the way through. In the second quarter he skirted Silverton's left end for sixteen yards and a touchdown. Martin was able to knock down the interference but this speedy little ball carrier outran the secondary to score. The extra point was blocked.

Spur scored again in the third quarter when Barclay cut over Silverton's right tackle and again outran the Silverton secondary for a 60 yard scoring sprint. The extra point was blocked. Then the Owls tightened their belts and really went to work. Mixing passes and exploding crashes through the line by Hank Brown they drove to Spur's one foot line where Brown ripped the middle with five yards to spare. Perry added the extra point by placement. That ended the scoring for the night.

Late in the fourth quarter Silverton marched 40 yards to Spur's 30 where a long pass to Martin over the goal line was intercepted by Barclay. With only four minutes to play, Silverton marched from their 17 yard line to the Bulldog 40. On the next play a pass was completed to Tillary, but he fumbled and Spur recovered. Spur was marching toward the goal when the game ended.

Hank was stamped as one of the hardest running-backs ever to appear on the Spur field. Little Fred Brannon brought cheers from the stands with his crashing tackles behind the line of scrimmage. Perry, Brannon and Martin blocked brilliantly at times, Brannon being the most consistent blocker on the field.

Pauline Steele Winner In FFA Contest

A FOOTBALL REVIEW

The Owls opened the 1939 football season September 29 in Matador, suffering a 27-0 loss to the potential 4-A champions. The Matador club was playing its third game and they were more polished than the Owls. Mental and physical relapses were chiefly responsible for the Matador victory. In the matter of statistics, the Silverton club out-ranked the cow town boys. First downs were 7-4 for Silverton, passes completed were 7-1 for the Owls, and Richard Brown led the edge in punting.

On two occasions the luckless Owls got inside Matador's one yard line, and Tillery dropped a pass over the goal line. Brown's passing and terrific driving were features of the game.

On the 29th of September a determined flock of Owls motored to Canyon and inflicted a 26-0 defeat on the hides of the Canyon Calves. The Silverton team was clicking in every department and did not allow the Canyon boys to register a first down. The loss of Rampley in the second quarter was a costly blow. Before leaving the game he was running wild through the line and around the ends.

The 12-7 loss to the Spur Bulldogs showed that the Owls could not. Rampley's absence was sorely felt. A report on this game will be found elsewhere in the paper.

In checking through the statistics for the first three games the Owls have made 27 first downs to their opponents. We need a little more "goal line scent".

Due to the cancellation of the game with the Canyon Eagles, Friday will be just another day of hard practice for the boys. In fact until the game with the Estelline team Friday the 20th, the boys will have time to get in plenty of practice, and here's hoping two weeks' time will heal all wounds. The Owls and the Cubs will engage on the Estelline gridiron on the 20th. This is the first conference tilt for the Owls, and it could prove quite an interesting one since the Estelline team is

CURRICULUM CHANGES

Some very definite changes have been made in our high school curriculum this year.

The class periods have been lengthened from 45 minutes to one hour. This reduces the number of study halls and gives more time for the teachers to give individual assistance to the students it also gives the teacher more opportunity to offer a more thorough course of study.

A few subjects have been discontinued this semester. They are: Spanish, Chemistry, Physics, and Speech. One new has been added—Junior Business Training. This course has proved very popular, with more than 100 students enrolled. Mr. Durham and Miss Cross are teaching this new subject. A few new subjects may be added next semester.

As a result of the schedule change, the football boys are obliged to work out at 11 o'clock. This does away with holding the entire student body until after football practice. Mr. Rogers has introduced the most comprehensive physical educational program in the school's history. Every student has the opportunity to participate in some form of physical activity. Mr. Rogers is doing every thing possible to raise the school to a very high standard. To do this, he must keep the interest of the taxpayer in every step he takes. He has the support of the entire student body and community.

Guinn Williamson accompanied Rex Douglas to Canyon Saturday to visit Gaynelle Douglas who is attending W. T. S. C.

composed of several returning lettermen. The Cubs weren't pushovers last year by any means, and with a fair 1938 record and plenty of practice sessions behind them they should make up a good team, especially since they have some pretty fast players which can be added to their other assets.

More dope about this game will be included in next week's paper.

F. F. A. NEWS

By Alva C. Jasper

Bob Brooks, our local FFA President, will leave for Kansas City this week to attend the National FFA meeting. He will attend the National Stock Show and many other interesting exhibits. The local chapter will furnish the money for the trip.

The Silverton Chapter sponsored a pie supper a few days ago and raised about $25.00. Part of this will be used to send Bob to the National Convention and the balance will be used in the chapter as needed.

Part of the local FFA boys have ordered uniforms. These are blue, trimmed in gold, with the FFA emblem on the back. Only six have been ordered but more boys will order soon.

Two local FFA boys, Bob Brooks and Alva Jasper, are going to apply for State Lone Star Farmers this year. Fred Brannon has been the only one to make it in the past.

The requirements are:

1. Be an active FFA member.
2. Hold class discussion for 40 minutes.
3. Make $250.00 and deposit in bank or invest in livestock.
4. Earn at least three certificates of merit.

The boys applying for this are both FFA officers, won second and third place in the agriculture contest last year. Both are active FFA members and have earned three certificates of merit each.

The local boys are organizing judging teams of various kinds. These include livestock judging, dairy judging and farm shop work.

Mr. Harmon has the boys going now and they are doing their work like old hands.

The FFA Sweetheart contest ended last Friday at noon with Pauline Steele, the FFA nominee, winning by a wide majority. Pauline received 1789 of the 2408 votes cast. Other contestants were: Winona Francis, Ruby Lee Steele, Evelyn Coffee, Martinez Cowart, and Freda Wimberly.

Miss Steele will receive a jacket with the FFA Emblem on it. The money derived from this race will be used to send Bob Brooks to Kansas City, and the jacket will also be purchased from this fund.

JUNIOR-SENIOR PARTY

The Junior Class entertained the Senior Class with a party Saturday night at 7:30 in the High School Auditorium. Miss Murphy and Mr. Rogers sponsored the group. Several games were enjoyed by the group then a refreshment course was served to 24 members of the classes.

SOPHOMORE PARTY

The Sophomores had a party at Patricia Bomar's Saturday night. Games were played in the house due to the weather. Hamburgers and pop were served to 16 members and the sponsors, Miss Wilson and Mr. Harmon.

To Merely Educate a Man in Mind, and Not in Spiritual Values, Is To Educate a Menace to Society.

THERE'S NO TELLING what you will read in this column this week. My usual line of truthful articles fell through. I think I have fooled everyone into being good boys and girls. This 2:30 Thursday now, and not a squeak do I hear the mess of wheels I use for a ain.

TAKE HONEA and Charley Norr. I have both got a mad on at the law force. Jake called up and amberry thought it was Charley & went so far as to call him arley. Jake went up in blue smoke. And then Charley Norr did us about it and threatens suit. ys if he knew where he could hire a good lawyer, he would sue at once.

ADD THIS TO your collection of Scotch stories. It concerns two local boys who have been getting double duty out of their dimes. Printz Brown and Joe Ed Bursleson have found that they can get two-for-one when they are at the bowling alley. They work on the same principle . . . when they bowl they skate. Joe Ed lots of times slides the full length of the alley. They kinda put the skids under Printz though, when they sprinkled a lot of rosin right in front of him. I'm going to try to get Dee to change his ad to read "Combination—Bowling Alley and Skating Rink."

CONSIDER THIS MY opening barrage in my self appointed role of "Dog Exterminator." There isn't any doubt about it, this town is going to the dogs. Every dog in town except the boy dogs either have pups or are expecting . . . and the smallest litter I've heard of is eleven.

THE THING THAT has aroused me to this thankless task happened, so to speak, right in my own back yard. I stepped to the back door of the shop yesterday (every editor has two entrances to his place of business and when this is over I may need more than that) and I am not stretching it when I say that the old greasy bones piled there by the own curs will fill the bottom bed of a pickup. Not little bones, nor clean bones, but old greasy bones that give out a stench that would turn the strongest stomach.

WELL, THIS WEEK end I want to hire someone to clean the place up. They will need some way to haul it out of town. Then, after the place is cleaned up I am afraid that there is liable to be a little private dog war started in my back yard. I like dogs but I don't like pack rats. And I don't believe in having my back yard converted into a bone yard.

THE CITY SHOULD license dogs and then get rid of the rest. If a dog isn't worth $2.50 a year, then he needs to be exterminated. And if a dog is worth anything to his owner, he won't be carousing around town. What's the matter with our city marshal getting rid of these pests.

I BELIEVE THAT if Dr. Bundy would drop a little hint to Ab, he would start a little target practice.

Seasoned Timber

The athletic contests of the world usually are won by young men. Seldom do we find in men over forty that combination of physical strength, endurance, and speed that makes the champion.

In times of war the men who go "over the top" are young men, as are the men who fly our fighting planes and man our battleships.

In industry and in business there are certain types of work that can best be done by young men at their zenith in physical dexterity and stamina.

But it is a different matter to outline the policies of a giant corporation; to lead a country at war; to understand and solve the complex problems of a great nation; to be able to win the confidence and the full cooperation of leaders in thought and action. For such important tasks thoughtful persons demand men of broad experience—"seasoned timber."

The biggest job in the world today is the management of the United States of America. Greatest country that it is—in material resources and in the brains to develop them—it has social and economic problems that can be coped with only by a man of keenest insight; knowledge obtained by many years of close touch with governmental affairs; and long study of agriculture, industry, and finance from a national viewpoint.

Virile, practical, influential, forceful John N. Garner is the man of the hour today. For thirty years in the House of Representatives and for six years in the Vice-President's chair—thirty-six years of power and of leadership—he has fought for constructive liberalism in government; for true democracy; for social justice; for economic independence of the American citizen. Seasoned in statesmanship, he has the wisdom, the practicality, the understanding of men, the insight into great problems, the extraordinary technique of politics, and the human sympathy that only the years can bring—those qualities that this great nation so vitally needs today.

Galileo made scientific discoveries after he was 70.

Henry Ford, at 83, is still improving the Ford car.

Judge Gary, at 83, headed the giant United States Steel Corporation.

Clemenceau, the Tiger of France, guided his war-weary people at 77.

Benjamin Franklin, at 81, helped to frame the American Constitution.

Gladstone, when past 85, was Prime Minister of England.

Justice Holmes, at 90, wrote important and exceedingly clear Supreme Court decisions.

John N. Garner, in his intellectual prime at 60, is being called to the Presidency in 1940 by all classes of the American people. He has the confidence of the farmer. He has the confidence of the working man in town and country. He has the confidence of the man at the head of an industrial empire and the men of financial power. Vigorous of body and mind, powerful of conviction and courage, wise in the affairs of state, he will carry on all of the sound legislation that has been passed during the term of President Roosevelt.

A great patriot, a great progressive liberal, a great Democrat, a great leader, John Nance Garner will be the next president of the United States!

TAKE ADVANTAGE OF SILVERTON'S PRESENT

Low Fire Insurance Rates

A few years ago a policy for $1,000 on a frame house, tenant occupied, in Silvertown, would have cost you nearly $20.00.

Now however, due to our good rating, I can write you the same policy for only $6.64 for fire protection.

INSURE TODAY—then you'll be protected in case of fire.

A small policy may save you years of regret.

Our Fire Department Is A Giant... Watching Over Our City

Silvertown is, at this time, enjoying the lowest fire insurance rates that it has ever had from the State Fire Insurance Department, which means a saving each year of thousands of dollars in insurance premiums.

Most of the credit for this good record goes to our fire boys . . . the boys who work without salary . . . who crawl out at all hours . . . who risk their lives in protecting our homes and business places.

Each and every one of us has an important part to play in preventing fires. Every possible fire hazard should be eliminated, and with winter coming on, every stove, and gas outlet should be checked. Trash should be removed, and every precaution taken to prevent fire.

Let us then, this very week, take every means to

WHY DOES A HEN
CACKLE AFTER LAYING AN EGG?

IN EVERY form of animal life there is a specific way of expressing joy when that animal has performed the mission for which he was created. The hen cackles to notify the chicken world that she has discharged this duty and reboots her joy that the attendant discern fact in the laying of the egg is over. She is proud of herself!

Watch Your Kidneys!

Help Them Cleanse the Blood of Harmful Body Waste Your kidneys are constantly filtering waste matter from the blood stream. But kidneys sometimes lag in their work—do not act as Nature intended—fail to remove impurities that, if retained, may poison the system and upset the whole body machinery. Symptoms may be sagging backache, persistent headache, attacks of dizziness, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes—a feeling of nervous anxiety and loss of pep and strength. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder may be burning, scanty or too frequent urination. There should be no doubt that prompt treatment is wiser than neglect. Use Doan's Pills. Doan's have been winning new friends for more than forty years. They have a nation-wide reputation. Are recommended by grateful people the country over. Ask your neighbor!

HANDY PRESCRIPTION

The report that the judges were unable to read the signature of the successful architect for the new Dundee art college recalls the classic story relating to a medical man's prescription: After receiving the medicine, the patient used the prescription for years as an invitation to a dance, once as an invitation to a society wedding, and later as a letter from his employer instructing the cashier to raise his salary. And in the evenings his daughter played it over on the piano!—Edinburgh Dispatch. "Will That Be All?" Jawsom—You know that pretty girl who works in the bargain basement? Duff—Yes—she's a beauty. Jawsom—Well, I took her home from a party last night and I stole a kiss. Duff—What did she say? Jawsom—She said: "Will that be all?"

"And he told you to go to the devil. That's all you learned."

"Fathead! You mean that's all you learned. I learned that he's ready. He's red-hot ready."

"Ready for what?"

"To get Norwood. He's trigger-ready. If he weren't, he'd be playing for time, and we'd be arguing this minute about the price of what we'll tell him he'll pay."

"You mean he'd have bribed us?"

"I do not. Gulbaz makes promises. And he sometimes keeps his promises, unless."

"Unless someone else can keep 'em for him with a long knife. He can hire that done for five rupees a head. So why pay us a thousand? Can your intellect answer that conundrum? Figure it out on a board when you get home."

CHAPTER XVI

The Maharanee was scrupulously fair. Rather than disguise her motive, she revealed it. She stripped objections to it naked. She didn't pretend that Rundhia was a prince of virtue or a man of his word, except when it suited him, or when compelled to keep a promise. It

The Maharanee believed every word she said.

Maharane believed every word she said. But she used arguments that sounded curious, even to Lynn, who was under the spell of the eastern environment.

Lynn later found Rundhia standing in moonlight, in a golden turban and European dinner clothes. As a palace door closed behind Lynn, she, too, stepped into the moonlight, with her face half veiled under the sequined sari. It was she who looked oriental, dressed according to the Maharane's wishes. Rundhia looked like a western athlete, in more or less fancy dress. And he called Lynn a goddess in western terms that any polo-playing American gallant might have used:

"You look like Miss India! You almost give me religion! Pull away that curtain! Show your golden hair, and let's give all the other goddesses a sight to make them green with envy!"

Lynn uncovered her head and walked beside him in silence.

"I feel like a god tonight," said Rundhia.

"Have you been drinking?" Lynn asked.

"You golden-haired iconoclast! Your arrow aimed into the heart of my ballooning self-esteem! You delicious archer! I have had five cocktails. Do I seem drunk?"

"What sized cocktails?"

"Measured to my mood, exactly."

"Then you seem astonishingly sober. What have you done about Captain Norwood?"

"Lynn, let's forget Norwood. I want to talk to you."

"I can't forget him. You and I have wronged him."

"Has he answered your letter?" Rundhia retorted.

"No. But have you forgotten your promise?"

"Didn't the Maharane tell you? Don't trouble yourself about Norwood. Forget him. Talk to me."

"I wish to talk about Captain Norwood."

"He has talked about you, I don't mind telling you. According to one of the palace servants, he told your aunt this afternoon that he's disgusted with you."

"Lynn answered. "But I can't imagine him saying so to Aunt, or to anyone else."

"Let us talk about you," said Rundhia.

"Very well, what about me?"

"Now you have made me speechless!"

"Have I? Then perhaps you will listen to me."

"Beloved, I will gladly listen to you, in an ecstasy of patience and devotion, during years which shall flow so fast that we'll be old before we know it!"

"Did you get that from a book?"

"I never read books. When I talk to you, my tongue can only stutter miserable hints of how I feel. You make me delirious. Be good enough to notice that these arms resist impulse!" He extended his arms toward the moon, then dropped them to his sides. "Oh, Lynn, I love you."

"Good job I don't love you," she answered. "There'd be—"

"A new golden age in Kadur!" Rundhia interrupted. "Lynn: philosophy, religion, economics and the other muck they made me listen to at school and college left me, until you came, dry of faith in anything but evil—and even evil dying! You are my first glimpse of goodness."

"Don't you love the Maharanees? Isn't she good?"

"Oh, yes. She is good past history. Lynn, you are the present and the future! One straight look into your blue eyes, and I knew what hope means and the higher vision. I had never seen it, until I saw you."

"Sounds good," Lynn answered.

"What was in the cocktails?"

"Don't joke! Lynn, I'm in love. I mean every word I'm saying to you."

"I mean what I say, too," Lynn answered. "I don't love you—What was that noise? In the distance. It sounded like shooting."

"I didn't hear it," said Rundhia.

They had reached the steps that led to the kiosk on the garden wall. It was dark in the wall's shadow. He was justified in offering his arm to guide her up the steps, but he put it around her. She could feel his vibrance. She escaped him—ran up the steps ahead of him, then waited on the wall in full moonlight, facing him, unafraid.

"There! Did you hear that? Wasn't that a rifle-shot, Rundhia?"

"Might have been," he answered. "Not so easy to tell."

"Isn't Captain Norwood's camp in that direction?" Lynn asked.

"Somewhere over there, yes. Possibly a jackall or a stray dog scared his sentries. Never mind Norwood. Lynn, you say you don't love me. I don't believe you."

"Why not? I told you the plain truth—Do you think sentries would fire at a dog?"

"His would! He's crazy. Lynn, I don't believe you because you forgave what I did in the treasure room. And because when you hurt me, you were sorry. Also because you are not afraid to be alone with me now. Lynn, you don't know yourself. You're—"

"Do you know yourself?" she retorted. "Don't you think it strange that they should be shooting at night?"

"No. Most soldiers live in a continual state of false alarm. Lynn, listen to me. Don't I excite you?"

"You did. But I saw you, and I heard you laugh at Captain Norwood's ruin."

"You dislike me?"

"Oh, no."

"You admit I can stir your emotions?"

"Oh, yes. I admit that. Why tell lies about it? You're magnetic. I almost fell in love with you."

"Lynn, you are thinking about East and West. That hoary old superstition! It lingers, they tell me, in America more tenaciously than anywhere else, though even school-books nowadays admit that we and you are of the same race. Do you know how many western women have become the wives of Indian princes?"

"I don't want to know. I don't care."

"You are right, Lynn. Quite right. Why should you care? It is love, not what others have done, that crumbles superstitions. Lynn, I love you. I wouldn't lie to you—"

"Have you done your best for Captain Norwood? Have you really done it? What have you done?"

"Never mind. I have done it."

"You swear?"

"Yes."

"Then I will listen. You were saying—"

Rundhia had to recover the train of his thought. He turned away from her a moment, paced the wall, and came back:

"Lynn, my love for you may sound selfish. I always have been selfish, until I met you. I have no practice with words that a genuine lover should use. But I am genuine. For the first time in my life, I am unselfish. May I tell you—I will you listen if I tell you—what my heart tells me?"

"Yes, I will listen, Rundhia."

"Will you really listen?"

"Yes, Rundhia. I would rather listen to almost anything than my own thought, at the moment."

"You are feeling deserted?"

"Despised!" Lynn answered. "If Captain Norwood had answered my letter—"

"You are lonely! So am I lonely! Lynn, diwaza kola hai! The door is open! Enter. It is that short step across the threshold that makes you hesitate. Leap!"

"You mean into your arms?"

"Yes."

"No."

"Come, Lynn!"

"Lynn, you make me hate myself. Am I so unappealing to you—?" Suddenly he changed his voice. He sounded angry: "Are you in love with Norwood?"

"I hardly know him. How could I be? I only know that I never felt dirty before in all my life. I don't like it, Rundhia. And I can't forgive you for having crowded over Captain Norwood's disgrace. You and I brought it on him."

"Lynn, is that all that's the matter? If I give you my word of honor that I have solved the Norwood problem, will you listen to me?"

"Have you solved it?"

"If I prove to you, before midnight, that there is no longer any problem about Norwood, will you come into my arms?"

"Speak plainly, Rundhia."

"I will. Lynn, face it! Norwood has no use for you. Has he answered your letter? He has not! The messenger reported that he tore up your letter without reading it. I don't know why you care a damn what happens to him. He doesn't care what happens to you. Your aunt doesn't care. She is leaving you flat."

Lynn interrupted: "You say Captain Norwood tore up my letter? Why didn't you tell me that before?"

"To save your feelings. However, you know now. That's how he feels. That's Norwood. Lynn, you are merely hesitating on that damned old superstitious crumbling platform of 'East is East and West is West,' that Kipling lied about. You and I are above all that nonsense. Lynn, beloved, come into my arms now! You are lonely. So am I lonely. See, I am waiting for you. Come here, Lynn. Come of your own will. Be mine. Face things from the inside looking outward. You shall be my wife, and I swear by my love for you, that Norwood—"

"Oh, that's only a promise," Lynn interrupted. "I won't believe you about Captain Norwood, until you prove it."

Psychologist Discusses Effect of Meat on Energy

Is the jungle lion ferocious because it lives on raw meat? Would it be more gentle if a vegetarian? And are men who live principally on a meat diet likely to be more belligerent than those who prefer vegetables?

The answers to those questions, according to Martin F. Frits, associate professor of psychology at Iowa State college, is yes and no. Lack of meat in the diet may cause an animal or human being to live on a lower energy plane, Frits found, thus giving the appearance of a peaceful, mild disposition.

"According to that hypothesis," he said, "a vegetarian diet simply depresses the activity level while a generous intake of meat may bring out the full energy potentialities."

"It might be argued that the continued eating of high protein foods, such as meat, might result in a permanently higher plane of basal metabolism which would account for the energy and vigor of meat-eating nations," he continued.

But Frits apparently found a hitch in this argument. For if it were true, he said, the Eskimos could be expected to be especially violent "for they eat a meat diet and their basic metabolism is about 33 per cent higher than that of people living in temperate zones."

The Eskimos, however, are the most peaceful and unwarlike race in the world, the professor declared. Inheritance is an important factor in the degree of activity, he said. But, "it may be argued that all races have inherited a potentially high level of activity—a very questionable assumption—and that the differences we observe are due to the failure to utilize a diet which will bring out this activity to its fullest extent."

Frits summarized by saying: "It is quite possible that diet does influence racial temperament, but until further evidence is gathered we may well be just a bit cautious in drawing conclusions."

Cruise's Tobacco

The University of California has sent a party to Robinson Cruise island to find the particular tobacco plant that grows there. It is hoped that the plant can be transplanted to the United States and grown here.

Adam's Day
Slow in Anger
Spotted Aristocrats

The world's 250,000,000 Moslems observe Friday as their Sabbath because, according to Mohammed, this was the day Adam was created, the day he entered and was also expelled from Paradise, the day of his repentance, the day of his death and the day he will be resurrected.

Chameleons are "slow-motion" fighters. When two enemies start a battle, many minutes, even hours, pass between each thrust and parry. Sometimes the only way that one can tell a fight is in progress is by the color of their skins, which have turned black with rage.

Increasing age diminishes attendance at the movies to an astonishing degree. Surveys indicate that the number who no longer attend increases from 50 per cent at the age of forty to 75 per cent at sixty to 98 per cent at eighty.

Although about nine thousand members of Britain's aristocracy and sporting world are admitted to the Royal Enclosure at Ascot, England, at each meeting, thousands are excluded because they are in bankruptcy, involved in a divorce, owe too much money to a bookmaker or have not been presented at a royal court.—Collier's.

only delays action, but may actually be dangerous to the rest of the force. A few moments lost, sometimes means the loss of a building.

Another thing to which we could devote a little thought this week is insurance. Very few people can afford to "carry" their own insurance. With the low key rate we now have, no property owner should be without insurance.

Let's give our volunteer fire department a hand. And the best way we can do it is to ELIMINATE FIRE HAZARDS!
