County Briscoe Co. Committee

Food-For-Freedom Pledges

Food-For-Freedom pledges are under way in Briscoe county. Under the plan of the Briscoe County Defense Board and with cooperation of the AAA and Agricultural agencies.

During the first week of November, explaining the 1942 Food-For-Freedom program, were held throughout Texas to get food production in full production.

The production pledge is included in the 1942 farm plan sheet which will be used in mapping out the AAA program in individual counties. The plan sheet is the official notice of 1942 of cotton, corn, and Irish potato acreage, alfalfa, yields, and marketing.

Producers should remember that the production pledge is not the important phase of the Food-For-Freedom campaign. It is a way through, delivering the feed bill to the farmer.

PATRIOTIC PROGRAM AT SCHOOL WEDNESDAY

By Anita Johnigan

An enjoyable and profitable patriotic program was presented to the student body and many visitors in the High School auditorium Wednesday November 5 at 2 o'clock.

The speech on Americanism by Mr. Henry Teuble of Tulia was the high point of the program. Superintendent Vardy of Turkey gave an explanation of the purpose and purchase of Defense Saving Stamps and Bonds.

Two interesting playlets were presented by the sixth and eighth grades, Miss Thacker, Miss Rumpy and Mrs. Redin were on the program committee.

W. E. SCHOTT INJURED IN HEAD-ON COLLISION

W. E. Schott returned from the Matador Hospital today with his leg in a cast and suffering from bruises and chock, the result of a head-on collision Tuesday noon near Matador.

The accident occurred on a corner where the view was hidden by tall sunflowers. Schott collided with a car driven by a Mr. Martin, as they both started to turn the corner. Martin sustained minor injuries and both cars were badly wrecked. The fact that both drivers were slowed down to make the turn, prevented any fatalities.

Schott's injuries consisted mainly of a dislocated knee-cap. He was fortunate enough, that the fluid was not lost from the knee, and the doctors say that a few weeks with his leg in a cast will put him in the running again.

PIE AND CAKE SALE BY SENIOR CLASS SATURDAY

The Senior class is sponsoring a cake and pie sale Saturday November 15th starting at 10.00. If the weather permits. The sale will be held between Cashes' store and King's Barber shop. The cakes will be sold in pieces or whole. Coffee and sandwiches will also be sold. Everyone is invited to buy from the Senior Class. Proceeds will go for the annual Senior trip in the spring.

HENRY — STRICKLAND

Miss Geraldine Henry of Lubbock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Henry of Crosbyton, and Alton Strickland of Lubbock, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Strickland of this city were married Sunday morning at 9 o'clock at the home of the bride's brother, Clay Henry in Crosbyton. Rev. Noel V. Guice, pastor of the Crosbyton First Baptist Church read a double ring ceremony.

The bride wore a Cadet blue costume suit with blue fox fur trim, she carried gloves to match, veiling on her blue hat and a corsage of gardenias. For something old she carried an Irish lace handkerchief and her only jewelry was a sweetheart bracelet, a gift from the bridegroom.

Mrs. Wylie Curry of Crosbyton played the accordion accompanying the song "Because" and also the traditional wedding marches.

Gene Strickland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Strickland of Lubbock and niece of bridegroom was ring bearer. Miss Betty Ellison of Crosbyton was maid of honor. She wore a British tan suit with corresponding accessories and a corsage of yellow chrysanthemums.

John Bean an old school mate attended the groom as best man.

After a short trip the couple will be at home in Lubbock where Mr. Strickland is assistant credit manager of a jewelry store.

Guests other than the bride's and bridegroom's parents were: Messers and Mesdames W. W. Wilson, Crosbyton; J. D. Strickland, Warren Henry, J. D. Jenkins, and Harman Jenkins of Lubbock; Derell Henry, Post; Ray C. Bomar, Silverton; Chester Strickland, White Deer; Misses Verna Ray Jones and Jimmie Payne, Paul Kinard, David Enger, Rayburn Henry, all of Amarillo; Durene Strickland, Silverton; Hugh Nance, Camp Bowie; Wylie Curry and Mrs. N. V. Guice of Crosbyton.

TEXAS TO MAKE DEEPER TEST HOLE

A huge oil test rig is in Silverton today, ready to start work on another deep seismicograph test on Dinner Creek northeast of Silverton on the JA Ranch. The rig is one of the largest the Texas Company uses and is capable of drilling a well 3,000 feet deep.

Considerable road work will be necessary before work can start on the test, and the rig and crew are here waiting for the road crew to make the road.

DRILLING STOPPED TO INSTALL CASING

Drilling operations stopped Sunday night at the Montague No. 1 south of Silverton and the past few days have been spent in casing the well with eight-inch casing. 4,500 feet of casing will be put in the well before drilling is resumed. The bit was 4,962 feet in the ground Sunday night at five o'clock.

Superintendent Tyler said that considerable difficulty was being had with wall cave-ins and that the casing was being laid to prevent these cave-ins and that drilling would probably be resumed Friday.

They have been drilling in domestic since 4,200 feet. Reports were circulated last week that a showing of oil was found at 4,200 and another at 4,700. When asked concerning this report, Mr. Tyler replied that it might have happened, but that he hadn't been notified. Which to this editor, meant, "Maybe yes, maybe no—mostly no!"

STUDY CLUB HAS INTERESTING TRAVEL PICTURES

The March of Time Study Club met November 6th at the Home-making Cottage, with Miss Dorothy Walker of West Texas State College, as guest speaker.

Miss Walker, who has traveled extensively and has been through the Panama Canal a number of times presented an interesting lesson on the Canal. She also showed movies in connection with her talk.

MRS. ELMER STINSON HONORED WITH SHOWER

Mrs. Ben O. King and Mrs. J. B. Mercer honored Mrs. Elmer Stinson with a bridal shower Nov. 10th at the home of Mrs. Mercer.

The home was made attractive with a profusion of cut flowers. Mrs. Nash Blasengame and Ruth Mercer poured tea from 4 to 5 o'clock, and Mary Dee Mercer and Nora Mae Thompson poured tea from 5 to 6 o'clock. The bride's mother, Mrs. Fannie Shearer assisted in receiving the guest. Some 40 ladies registered in the brides book during the afternoon and many who were unable to attend sent lovely gifts.

Tresa Bell Crass spent Thursday night in the Enis Autry home.

Ocean Their Mail Box

Because St. Kilda, an island off Scotland, was inaccessible most of the year, its citizens, before their evacuation about a decade ago, used to "post" their letters in sheepskin bags and toss them into the ocean. Some were picked up by ships, others were carried by a current 500 miles across the North sea to the coast of Norway, where they were found and their contents mailed.

Pull the Trigger on Lazy Bowels, with Ease for Stomach, too

When constipation brings on acid indigestion, stomach upset, bloating, dizzy spells, gas, coated tongue, sour taste and bad breath, your stomach is probably "crying the blues" because your bowels don't move. It calls for Laxative-Senna to pull the trigger on those lazy bowels, combined with Syrup Pepsin for perfect ease to your stomach in taking. For years, many Doctors have given pepsin preparations in their prescriptions to make medicine more agreeable to a touchy stomach. So be sure your laxative contains Syrup Pepsin. Insist on Dr. Caldwell's Laxative-Senna combined with Syrup Pepsin. See how wonderfully the Laxative Senna wakes up lazy nerves and muscles in your intestines to bring welcome relief from constipation. And the good old Syrup Pepsin makes this laxative so comfortable and easy on your stomach. Even finicky children love the taste of this pleasant family laxative. Buy Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Senna at your druggist today. Try one laxative combined with Syrup Pepsin for ease to your stomach, too.

(See Recipes Below)

THANKSGIVING

This holiday is ours! As you bustle about and plan this year's Thanksgiving dinner, remember this is the day we give our thanks for the bounteous harvest of the year, for the peace and the prosperity, singularly ours. Remember, too, and cherish the foresight of the Pilgrims who had the courage to start carving out this land of ours!

Yes, this holiday is ours, so let it be filled with the spirit of the day and wholehearted thanks. Some foods are synonymous with Thanksgiving without which the day wouldn't be complete, but don't get into a rut about having the same dinner every year, vary the trimmings a bit and fascinate the family.

Thin wisps of croutons will intrigue if you serve them in the oyster stew.

*Oyster Stew.
(Serves 6 to 8)
1 pint oysters
4 tablespoons butter
1 quart milk
Salt and pepper

Put cleaned oysters, oyster liquor strained, butter and seasonings in a saucepan and simmer gently until oysters curl at the edges. Heat the milk, add to the oysters and serve at once.

Has the family become a trifle weary of your old stuffing? Then try this savory new one with yummy sausage flavoring which is right at home with either turkey, goose, duck or chicken. The sausage stuffing will do a proud job with stuffed veal, pork or shoulder of lamb:

*Sausage Stuffing.
(Makes 6 cups)
4 cups soft bread crumbs
1/2 cup butter
3 tablespoons chopped onion
1/2 teaspoon salt
Pepper
1/2 teaspoon sage or thyme
1/2 cup chopped celery
2 cups sausage in the bulk

Melt butter, add onion and cook until it becomes yellow. Add bread crumbs mixed with seasonings. Mix in chopped celery and sausage. Cook 2 minutes, stirring constantly.

*Turkey.
Small birds are allowed 25 to 30 minutes per pound for baking, large birds, 22 to 25 minutes per pound. Your oven should be set at 325 to 350 degrees.

*Sweet Potato Puff.
(Serves 10 to 12)
4 cups mashed sweet potato
2 tablespoons fat
1 egg

LYNN SAYS:

To clean the turkey, singe it first, then remove the pin feathers with tweezers. Scrub the outside with water. The inside should be wiped with a damp cloth. If there is any foreign odor, a half teaspoon of baking soda may be added to the water with which the turkey is scrubbed.

Allow 1 pound of turkey to each person. Allow 1 cup of stuffing to each pound of turkey. When stuffing, be sure to put some in the neck for this will give the bird a good full shape. Fasten the skin from the neck to the back. Stuff the cavity but do not pack since dressing swells.

For good roasting and easier carving truss the bird, by inserting a long needle through breast, through rib at the base of the thigh. Draw the cord through and bring the string across by pulling the cord through the openings formed by folding the wings triangularly onto the back. Tie the cords.

Insert the needle through the drumstick joints, bring the cord around the tail, through the backbone, and tie securely. Remove cord before serving.

THIS WEEK'S MENU

- *Oyster Stew      Croutons
- *Roast Turkey
- *Sausage Stuffing
- *Cranberry Orange Relish
- *Sweet Potato Puff
- *Brussels Sprouts
- *Hot Rolls
- Celery Curls      Pickled Beets
- *Pumpkin or Mince-meat Tarts
- Hot Coffee
- *Recipe Given

Salt and pepper
1/2 cup milk or 1/4 cup evaporated milk and 1/4 cup water

Add the melted fat, seasonings and milk to the potatoes. Beat the egg separately, add yolk first and fold in white to the potato. Place in a buttered casserole dish, set in a pan containing hot water and bake 15 to 20 minutes at 375 degrees until light and puffy. Marshmallows may be placed on top of casserole during last 7 minutes of baking time.

With all the soft food of the meal, you'll want something crispy and tart as a relish.

*Cranberry-Orange Relish.
(Serves 12)
2 cups cranberries, cleaned, washed
2 oranges, whole
1 cup sugar

Grind all the fruit together by putting through a coarse food grinder. Mix the ground fruit with sugar and let stand about an hour before serving.

*Brussels Sprouts.
Brussels sprouts lend a bright touch of green when served plain with butter or crumbled, cooked chestnuts. Pick the dead leaves off the sprouts, then soak them in cold salted water for 1/2 hour. Wash and put in boiling water and let cook until just tender about 15 to 17 minutes. Drain, reheat, and serve after seasoning.

*Magic Yeast Rolls.
3 cups bread flour
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup butter
3 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 cup sugar (rolled in later)
1 tablespoon sugar
1 cup chopped nuts
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup hot water
2 packages granular yeast

Sift flour. Add to 1 1/2 cups of flour the salt and shortening. Combine as for pie crust. Combine milk and hot water. When luke-warm, add yeast and 1 tablespoon sugar. Combine with first mixture; beat until smooth. Cover and let stand 20 minutes. Add eggs, vanilla and the rest of the flour. Stir until it becomes a smooth, sticky dough, but stiff. Tie dough into a clean cloth (wring out in cold water first). Drop in a pan of cool water. In an hour the dough will rise to the top. Remove and turn on a platter and cut into pieces the size of an egg. Roll in sugar and nut mixture. Twist into figure eights. Shape and turn onto a greased pan. Let stand 5 minutes and bake 10 minutes at 425 degrees F.

Remember how mother used to make her pumpkin pie and tarts the day before and how good they always tasted after they stood in the cool pantry overnight? Why not try it this time? It'll save you a great deal of fuss on the big day itself besides giving the tarts a chance to mellow and ripen for extra good flavor.

*Pumpkin Filling.
(Makes 1 large pie or 10 to 12 tarts)
1 1/2 cups prepared pumpkin
1/2 cup brown sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon ginger
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 eggs
1 1/2 cups milk

For fresh pumpkin, steam or bake until soft and put through a sieve. Add remaining ingredients in order given. Turn into crust lined pie tin or tart pans and bake first in a very hot (450 degrees) oven, then reduce temperature to 325 degrees and bake 25 minutes.

Ulster County Gazette

The Ulster County (New York) Gazette of January 4, 1800, became famous because it carried the first complete account of the death and funeral of George Washington. More than a million reproductions of that issue have been printed and sold, many still being regarded by their owners as historic treasures.

However, there are only two known original copies—one owned by the American Antiquarian society, Worcester, Mass., the other by the Library of Congress.

Household Hints

Never use a damp or wet cloth or holder in removing a hot dish from the oven or stove. A dry one prevents the heat from penetrating and scorching the fingers.

Powdered or confectioner's sugar that has become lumpy should be pressed through a fine-meshed sieve or rolled with a rolling pin.

Grease marks on pages of books may be removed by sponging them with benzine, placing them between two sheets of blotting paper and pressing them with a hot iron.

Place a piece of beeswax between two pieces of flannel and rub your iron on them occasionally; it will keep the iron clean and make it run smoothly.

New waffle irons should be washed with soap and rinsed carefully. If this is not done the first waffles are likely to be discolored.

ROY W. HAHN
Editor and Publisher

AN EDITORIAL ON Armistice Day, which is set aside to honor veterans of the first World War, should have appeared in last week's paper.

I FORGOT IT! I believe that I am average, and yet I forgot it. How painfully true that is of war. In 1918 the boys were all heroes--they had given up jobs, homes, and families to defend our country. Many did not return to their homes, many returned physically unfit, and not one returned but what was scarred with the memory of his war experiences. Yet, I and millions of other Americans forgot. Forgot, until for a short while today, the honor that is due these veterans.

AND TODAY WE are building a new army of men that in twenty years will be veterans who have served and saved their country. Yet, without doubt, they will be forgotten. The outward glory of war is short lived. We should thank God that this country of ours is, and always been, made of men who have gone willingly to their country's aid, knowing that in the hurry-scurry of after years, expressions of appreciation would be few and far between.

HOW UNFAIR IT is that America, a country that desires peace above all things, is forced to send the flower of her manhood out to fight a war of survival--survival against the powerthirsty lunges of such a few small and maniacal madmen.

WAS JUST TALKING to Shorty Bingham--he's with the Army up in Oklahoma. He told me about an old boy that they thought went kinda crazy down there. He was a good soldier, except when he caught sight of a piece of paper. Then, no matter what he was doing, he would pick up the paper, look it over and then always shake his head. Sigh, and say, "No, that's not it." Of course all the boys thought he was a little off, and then it came to the attention of the officers. Finally, they sent for a mental doctor, who watched him for a couple of days. After much discussion, they sent for him to come to general headquarters office. There he did the same thing--looked over every piece of paper in the waste basket and always said, "No, that's not it." The doctors shook their heads and the officers shook their heads. He was called up to the desk and handed his discharge. He unfolded it over, then grinned and said, "Thanks, this is what I have been looking for."

OVER IN GEORGE Childress's office I ran across this little gem. "I thought she was a clean girl until I saw her neck." That little expression could be used in any English class to illustrate the use of nouns and verbs.

PERSONAL TO SCHOTT: Teh, teh! Do you remember that cast I had on my leg one time? Well that was the funniest feeling I ever had. If I remember it was even funnier to you. Come around and I'll tap around on it a little. By the way, who took you to the hospital?

OLD SPINDLETOP

A monument to an oil well was dedicated near Beaumont recently. It is a solid granite shaft sixty feet high and marks the exact spot on which Spindletop No. 1, internationally known as the Lucas gusher, was drilled. Mrs. Anthony F. G. Lucas of Washington, D. C., daughter-in-law of Captain A. F. Lucas, the discoverer of Spindletop, unveiled the monument.

Preceding the unveiling, a replica of the Lucas drilling rig was erected in a vacant lot in Beaumont and the "spudding in" of the famous well was re-enacted by a crew including some of the outstanding figures in the oil world. Great companies which had their inception at Spindletop were represented: Humble by Harry C. Wiess, its president; Gulf by Geo. S. Davison, retired vice-president; The Texas Company by T. H. Donoghue, retired vice-president; Magnolia by E. R. Brown, chairman of its board of directors; Sun by J. Edgar Pew, vice-president. With them was Al W. Hamill of Tulsa, driller on the discovery well at Spindletop.

The Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association was holding its annual convention and this seemed a fitting occasion to commemorate an event which, as was said by E. De Golyer, Director of conservation for the Petroleum Coordinator, "marked the beginning of the modern petroleum industry."

There was plenty of excitement, not only in Texas but throughout the oil world, when the Lucas well blew in on January 10, 1901. Nothing like it had ever been seen anywhere. An immense column of oil shot more than 200 feet above the derrick, carrying tons of pipe with it, wrecking the derrick and scattering the countryside with mud, sand and rocks. Escaping gas made a roar like that of an erupting volcano. The well ran wild for ten days, wasting one million barrels of oil—more than the entire production of the State in the preceding year.

Meantime, America became "oil conscious." An unprecedented rush of producers and speculators took place. Beaumont grew from a town to a boom city. Excursions were run there from all the large eastern cities. Soon there were five hundred oil derricks on 140 acres at Spindletop. In 1902, this field alone produced 96 per cent of the Texas output. In fact, it produced too much. Oil went down to three cents a barrel—a level never since reached.

Later, the field apparently played out. It took on an appearance comparable to that of a deserted mining camp, cluttered up with relics of former grandeur. Twenty years ago, famous Spindletop was little more than a memory. Since then it has done a comeback. Steel derricks now neighbor the old wooden ones. But the old timers who launched the movement for Spindletop monument had difficulty in locating the exact site of the Lucas gusher.

It would be hard to exaggerate the significance to Texas of old Spindletop No. 1. The development touched off by that well's discovery has made the State over in little more than a generation.

Before the Lucas gusher came in, Ohio was the leading oil state of the Nation, with West Virginia second and Pennsylvania third. Even New York produced more oil than Texas. This state's production for the entire 1900 was far below its present daily production. It is also true that Texas had only one seaport worthy of the name and but one city of more than 50,000 population when the Spindletop field was opened. Texas industries were few and Texas capital for industrial development was almost non-existent.

The Lucas gusher itself did not pay off, and the first Spindletop boom proved anew the old saying that more money is put into oil wells than is taken out of them. But the discovery well proved such in a double sense. With its bringing in, the oil world discovered Texas as a region of real great promise. Operators who started at Spindletop went on to other fields. Partnerships grew into great companies.

Exploration expanded rapidly in the Gulf coast area and soon spread to other parts of the state. Sour Lake followed Spindletop and was followed by Batson, Saratoga, Matagorda, Petrolia, Humble and Dayton. Production from these older fields dropped for a time, but the wave of exploration and discovery swept on until all sections of the State had their oil fields. Behind it came a wave of general industrial development and urban growth.

Today, Texas leads the world in both production and refining of petroleum. Its drillers are recognized as the world's best, and executives who began their careers in Texas are key figures in the world's oil industry.

It isn't strange that there should be a monument to Spindletop No. 1. It is only strange that the monument was not erected long ago and as a statewide project, instead of one carried out by oil men alone.

COTTON IMPORTANT TO NATIONAL DEFENSE

"The importance of the role cotton is playing in America's national defense program cannot be over-estimated," Mr. E. G. Rice, Chairman of the Briscoe County Cotton Industry Committee, said here today.

Stating that approximately 12 per-cent of current cotton textile production is going into defense materials, Mr. E. G. Rice said that literally hundreds of cotton articles are being used in large quantities by the armed forces of the United States. In addition, he added that the Cotton Producing Industry and Cotton Trades Industry are cooperating with the Surplus Marketing Administration, U. S. Department of Agriculture in an effort to increase the consumption of 100% American cotton products by everyone.

Listing as typical examples of Army purchases of cotton articles, Mr. E. G. Rice said that as far back as March the Army had bought 7,300,000 pairs of cotton khaki trousers, 1,000,000 canvas coats, 2,400,000 mosquito nets, 1,700,000 raincoats, 300,000 canvas tents, 200,000 cook's caps, 10,000 cotton parachutes, 5,000,000 towels, 1,300,000 gas masks, 1,800,000 sand bags, and 450,000 rolls of surgical gauze.

"Increased cotton purchases by the government for the Army and Navy have not been the sole effect of the world war American cotton, however," Mr. E. G. Rice said. "On the other side of the picture, cotton has lost virtually all its foreign markets at least for the duration of the war."

"Formerly the United States exported almost 7,000,000 bales of cotton a year to foreign markets. This year cotton exports will be less than a million bales," he continued. "Naturally this loss of markets has greatly affected the cotton industry. The only free markets remaining open to the eleven million Americans directly dependent on cotton for a livelihood are those afforded by this country. It is essential that we redouble our efforts to increase the domestic cotton consumption."

A survey by the U. S. Department of Agriculture shows that home production promises a full supply of spinach seed for planting in 1942.

ACCIDENT PREVENTION

People who like to talk about accidents they've seen or figured in—and most everybody does—will have a chance now to "get it off their chests" in an official way.

"Next to the weather and their operations, folks like to talk about accidents more than anything else," State Police Director Homer Garrison observed today. "But far from being idle gossip, there's a lot to be learned about accident prevention from people who have been in collisions."

"Enforcement of the new compulsory accident reporting law has just begun. In the next 12 months approximately 60,000 Texas drivers will figure in collisions, and they'll file with the Department of Public Safety the same comprehensive report made by an investigating officer. From these reports we expect to glean a wealth of information that will help us to prevent further accidents."

Under the former system of voluntary reporting, the State Police were able to obtain complete information only on fatal accidents. Now, with all accidents being reported by the drivers involved, Colonel Garrison expects his department to improve its selective enforcement and educational programs and be of greater assistance to traffic engineers in the correction of road defects which cause accidents.

In preparation for the compulsory reporting program, the department recently sent N. K. Worrner, head of the Accident Records Section, to a statistical school at the University of California in Berkeley, California, where he studied with other accident experts from throughout the nation.

Motorists will be able to obtain accident report forms from local officers, Highway Patrolmen, service stations, garages and auto clubs.

A boy rushed into a drugstore and said, "Father's being chased by a bull!" The druggist asked, "Well, what do you want me to do about it?" The lad replied, "Gimme a roll of film for my camera and hurry."

For 20 years, your columnist has made a study of the history and romance of Texas oil rushes. I would hesitate to say how many weeks and months and how much of my own money have been spent in traveling over the State to get first-hand information. Two books as well as several articles in the Saturday Evening Post and other magazines have resulted. When one of the oil and gas associations become history-conscious and decided to celebrate the fortieth anniversary of the Spindletop field, this writer wasn't invited to make a one-minute talk.

"Five mornings a week, nine months a year, we mothers of Texas get our children ready for school. In our home and a million other Texas homes, that's one of the first and most important duties of a mother's day. Sometimes Dad finds out what a job it is when he has to do it by himself."

All of us want our children to have the best education possible. Most of us look to the public schools for this.

Fortunately, Texas has the best public schools in the South. Helping to build and operate them is the Texas petroleum industry which pays 24 million dollars a year in taxes for school purposes.

These petroleum taxes pay an average of one-fourth the cost of educating our children. Altogether, they meet the entire expense of schooling nearly 400,000 Texas boys and girls.

In addition, oil has contributed substantially to the 70 million dollar permanent school fund. Oil is also responsible for much of the 30 million dollar permanent university fund, which has made possible the expansion of the University of Texas and A. & M. College.

Furthermore, taxes on petroleum products add another 11½ million dollars a year for the schools of our State.

Our children get a better education today because of the Texas petroleum industry.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS By Edward C. Wayne

Army, Navy and Commercial Airlines Suffer in Series of Plane Crashes; 'Reuben James' Sinking, F.D.R. Speech Draw Formal Statement From Hitler

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.) (Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Troops who took over the Bendix, N. J., plant of Air Associates, a the command of President Roosevelt are shown camping in a field near the plant. The order for the plant's occupation came in the interests of "national defense" according to official sources as Air Associates holds millions of dollars' worth of defense contracts for various kinds of aviation equipment. Production had been held up because of difficulty between the company and union leaders, but work got under way soon after the troops moved in.

FIRST LOSS: Sinking of 'James'

First American naval loss of the war was the Reuben James, 1,000-ton destroyer, 20 years old, sent to the bottom of the Atlantic with an undetermined loss of life somewhere west of Iceland.

Details were shrouded with greatest secrecy by the navy, who finally disclosed that 44 men, apparently all enlisted men, were saved. Whether more would later be rescued was problematical.

She carried about 120 officers and men. Whether she had previously encountered and battled successfully with submarines was a matter of conjecture.

One news service had obtained a purported letter from one of the sailors on the Reuben James which stated that the vessel had sunk two submarines, "maybe more."

The writer was Leonidas C. Dickerson, a seaman, who wrote to his aunt in Danville, Va.:

"We've been at sea for 42 consecutive days, and I've lost lots of sleep. I'll be glad when we're through with this job and I can get some sleep again."

The letter, written several weeks before the sinking, said: "We have gotten two subs, maybe more. I have lots to tell you when I see you."

Another letter told of a submarine attack on the James. It had been written by Harold James Orange to his mother, Mrs. Marie Orange, in Chicago. He said:

"I was up on the crow's nest on watch when we were nearing Iceland and I saw a torpedo. It was coming right for us. I gave the alarm and we started zig-zagging. It missed us, sped right by. I saw not one, but several submarines."

REACTION: In Many Quarters

Following the sinking of the Reuben James the reactions followed swiftly, drawing certain powerful figures closer to the President's foreign policy, and bringing from Hitler's headquarters no other statement than that "people foolish enough to walk down a railroad track may expect to be run over."

Berlin issued a lengthy formal statement from Hitler, most of which was devoted to answering the President's Navy day address.

He reiterated his statements that the South American map and the document purporting to reveal a Nazi plan to do away with all religion as "nonsensical" and "crude forgeries." He categorically denied that the Reich government had created either of these items.

The wording of the declarations from the German leader was scanned carefully by foreign correspondents, who saw in it the typical Nazi line of argument that their vessels had been attacked; that Germany was being attacked by the United States, that the U. S. was stamping itself as the aggressor.

These words were believed significant in that it was the usual German terminology preceding an open break between the Reich and another nation. It was pointed out that treaties between Germany and her Axis partners called for help in case any member of the three is attacked.

'Declaration'?

Hitler, it was believed by the correspondents, was simply laying the usual groundwork for a definite hostile declaration against this country and its policies.

He said: "Herr Roosevelt has been placed before the tribunal for world judgment of his acts."

The declaration attacked the truth of Roosevelt's statements that the Greer and the Kearny had been attacked by the Germans, and stamped both vessels as the attackers.

PLANES: Keep Crashing

Started off by the crashing of five army pursuit planes, this disaster seemed the signal for a series of tragic losses, which had reached a new record for American aviation.

A Northwest Airlines plane dropped to earth in a fog, killing 14 persons and hurling the pilot clear. Within 24 hours a 21-passenger American Airlines plane, carrying 20 persons, plummeted to earth in a rainstorm near St. Thomas, Can., and burst into flames. All lost their lives.

Less than 48 hours later an army bomber, with five air corps men aboard, fell out of misty clouds into a cornfield near Findlay, Ohio, and burst into flames.

The five men were instantly killed. Then it was the navy's turn to announce a disaster. This was the crash of a huge bomber at sea with the loss of 12 lives. The plane was "operating in the Atlantic ocean area."

At nearly the same time a 22-year-old American of German extraction was arrested at the Glenn L. Martin plant in Baltimore, and confessed to be a saboteur of planes, having cut electrical wires in such a way that contacts would be broken at some later date.

His deeds had affected more than a hundred planes, though most, if not all of them, had been discovered. So cleverly did he hide his work that suspicion had been thrown on hundreds of other employees. It took the FBI agents from July until late October to catch him.

REDS: 'Reservoirs'

Although the defense lines around Moscow had been bending now and then, the break had not come, and enormous reserves from "manpower reservoirs" in Siberia and other parts of the vast country were reported as having been hurled into the fray.

The United States heard that the first American planes had gone into battle, and had bombed Berlin, a fact which Berlin promptly denied.

It was an unquestioned fact that the Reds had, however, some of the newest and largest American bombing planes, easily capable of flights over Berlin and back.

The Nazis had broken through into the Crimea, however, and the fall of the whole peninsula, thus opening one narrow and difficult road to the Caucasus, was believed certain.

NEUTRALITY: Battle

With even its opponents admitting that victory was sure, and anti-administration editorial writers regarding it editorially as a fait accompli, there still was bitter fighting over the measure on the floor of the senate.

A notable acquisition of support, however, came when Senator Bridges of New Hampshire, long a foe of the administration's policy, switched over and spoke in behalf of the bill which would remove from the Neutrality act those measures which would prevent arming of merchant vessels, and would open all ports to the American flag ships.

Another indication of support was the agreement in the senate to push forward action on the bill. This had followed the sinking of the Reuben James.

Senator Ball of Minnesota, a Republican, held that freedom of the seas was necessary for the preservation of our liberties; while Senator Clark of Missouri was attacking the President, and daring him to ask for a formal declaration of war.

Clark said the measure was "intended to be and can only be an authorization for a state of war."

Official Pictures of Torpedoed U. S. S. Kearny

Official pictures released by the navy department show the damage done to the U. S. S. Kearny when she was torpedoed by a submarine off Iceland. At left, crew members look at twisted wreckage below decks after the torpedoed destroyer steamed into port. Right: the Kearny, tied to sister ship, is shown limping into unnamed port. Agriculture Has a Role In Post-War Planning

Government Gives Serious Consideration to Problems of the Farmer When 'Reconstruction' Period Begins.

By BAUKHAGE National Farm and Home Hour Commentator.

WNU Service, 1343 H Street, N.W., Washington, D. C.

The people of the United States, through their representatives in Washington, have just begun spending another six billion dollars for tanks, guns, shells, and ships. When these products are used up for the purpose for which they are produced, what will the world have to show for it? Just what the farmer has when he is done fighting a blitz of grasshoppers, beetles or other varmints—a lot of ruined property and a lot of dead things to bury, burn, or plow under—the result of wholesale destruction.

But along with all this spending to kill and destroy, the nation is also planning to build and create. Currently thousands of Americans are gathering in state capitals, county seats and rural communities to talk over some brass-tack ideas for reconstruction after destruction. Post-war planning, it's called.

"We visualize a post-war world," says Secretary of Agriculture Wickard, "in which we will make full use of our manpower and our resources for the benefit of the American people."

That's a nice visualization. What's being done to make the vision real? The National Resources Planning board in Washington is centralizing post-defense planning efforts, not only of the federal government but of the country as a whole. In September Secretary Wickard set up an inter-bureau committee in the department of agriculture on post-defense problems to help work out some of these plans. The committee has three jobs:

- 1. Keeping in touch with and making what contribution it can to the developments that affect the national economy as a whole.
2. Developing rural works programs in the capital improvement field. (That means improving the farmer's "plant.")
3. Developing publicly sponsored programs of rural welfare ("services").

How does this committee get action? Through state and local land-use planning committees already set up, with the co-operation of department field representatives. These are state committees, county committees and committees of neighborhood groups. The latter are made up of farmers; the others are mixed farmers and federal and state officials.

What are the general problems the American farmer has to face in the post-war world as the department of agriculture sees them today? First, there is likely to be a great demand for foodstuffs as the United States feeds a starving Europe after the war.

Secondly, there will be an effect on the domestic market when military service and defense work ends, for the farmer's income swells and shrinks in direct proportion to the size of the employee's pay envelope.

Of course, every effort will be made to create jobs on public works projects while industry is changing over from defense to civilian production. But it is freely admitted that the tremendous defense effort in the industrial world cannot be duplicated by "made" work. Therefore, the emphasis in planning is to be placed on jobs that will produce jobs, and agriculture must expand to carry its share of the effort, say the planners.

The first job which the department of agriculture is concerned with right now under "capital improvement" is a rural works program which will provide work in rural areas to improve the farmer's physical plant. And that is what the committees are now considering—"rural housing." When these committees have studied the question and given their suggestions, they will be reported back to the inter-bureau committee and the department will build its policy under the influence of these suggestions.

Then the department will report to the National Resources Planning board which in turn will submit its program to congress whose duty it is to carry out the wishes of the people.

Thus the democratic cycle is completed.

Carrier Pigeon Useful in Emergencies In a world where aviation has developed so rapidly that a plane often obsolete before its construction can be finished, one type of emergency communication which is the oldest of all, the carrier pigeon is still considered the means of emergency communication.

Recently a new set of trained feathered recruits started training for service with bombers at the Dill, Fla. They are expected to prove useful in case of emergency landings—that is, if the pigeon is released unscathed with a message it could guide rescuers to the scene of the crash. The officer in training them is Lieut. Thomas Fulton. He is the man who received the message, borne by a pigeon, which caused the rescue of the famous Lost Battalion in the Argonne forest in the last war.

When the birds now training are grown they will be able to fly 600 to 700 miles a day without tiring.

signed a contract providing that Jacqueline may continue her present mode of living for six months, after which she could tear up the contract. He gave her $10,000 as surety. Jacqueline warned Larry that a detective was watching him. When her father, Vince Anthony, became ill, Larry invited him into the country. Because she felt she had sold herself, Jacqueline prepared to return the money he had given her. Now continue with the story.

CHAPTER X

True to his suggestion, Larry arranged to take Vince to the country the following Monday morning. It was something of a shock to Jacqueline when she found her patient dressed and sitting in a chair when she called Sunday afternoon. "It doesn't seem fair," Jacqueline attempted to say lightly. "I no more than find you, than you're running off again. I believe you're glad to go away and leave me."

"No, I'm not," Vince said thoughtfully. "It's been nice. . . You're a lot like your mother, Skipper."

"Am I?"

"Yes. . . I never noticed it before, somehow. That's why I'm anxious to get away now. I know I'm going to make good this time. And then I can start doing things for you. . . the things I should have done."

"Of course you're going to make good, Vince," she said presently.

"I saw him a few minutes after myself. Looks better, don't you think?"

"So much better. I suppose taking him out in the country soon."

"Yes, Dr. Kennedy says he'll be on the trip almost any time. I'd run him up country the first of the week. He's anxious to go."

"I noticed."

"I made all the arrangements. I'll have a comfortable trip. We'll car and take his traps. We'll be away a good deal longer than you thought. I'll be glad to see you."

"I'll miss you, but I must stay here and to business."

highway that led to Terryville. The road of memories.

"We were here before!" she exclaimed, not realizing how pointless it must sound.

"So you recognize it?" Larry laughed over his shoulder. "I wish we were going to do it all over again. But we're not going to Terryville this time," he added hastily, seeing a warning glint in her eyes.

Then he volunteered some information about the farm. Mrs. Brown was a widow and had two sons and a daughter. The boys did the work on the place. Larry thought they were in comfortable circumstances. The original property had comprised more than five hundred acres, but Mrs. Brown had sold off all but the homestead eight. The house was large and comfortable and she occasionally took summer boarders. . . more for company than anything else.

"How did you happen to meet her?" Jacqueline asked curiously.

"Through Rannie. I told him I was looking for a quiet place, you know. Seems he used to spend his vacations with the Browns when he was a kid. The place is just made to order for. . . us."

"Oh," she gasped.

Jacqueline was forced to agree when she saw the comfortable farmstead, met the cheery owner and her healthy trio of children. They greeted her in friendly fashion and left her to be entertained by her father. Larry also disappeared, insisting smilingly that he was tired and intended to indulge in a nap before dinner.

"A man has to be in good shape to tackle one of Mother Brown's dinners," he explained.

Vince displayed his new quarters proudly.

He had a large, bright room on the ground floor. Best of all, the boys had supplied him with a work bench and unpacked all his cherished gadgets. Larry, it appeared, was quartered on the floor above.

"He insisted I take this room," Vince explained, "so that I wouldn't have to climb the stairs. He says he's coming up to stay before long. Then we're going to get to work on something he has in mind. I hate to slow up on my invention right now, but if I can do something to help make expenses, I'd better do it. I want to pay my own way as soon as I can."

"Of course. What sort of work is Mr. Cutter going to have you do?"

"I don't know exactly. He says he's working on something, and that he's sure my experience will come in handy. He's an engineer."

"So he told me."

Larry's prediction about the dinner, served early in the afternoon, was more than correct. Jacqueline quite gave herself up to the delights of home cooking. Stewed chicken in rich gravy, with vegetables fresh from the garden. An imposing array of jellies, pickles and preserves.

After the meal, she insisted that she be allowed to assist with the dishes. "Just to keep me from going into a coma," she explained. But her offers were smilingly refused.

She had come all the way from the city to see her father. The two of them must "visit."

Accordingly, Jacqueline found herself reclining in a steamer chair under an oak tree, fighting off a delicious drowsiness as she listened to Vince's account of proposed work, riches, travel. He lay in a hammock close by, giving his dreams free range.

By fall, he and the Skipper should be ready to go places. This was to be one winter when there would be no snow or cold weather for either of them. It ought to be pretty decent down around the Mediterranean. He always had an idea he'd like to see Africa, too. Had the Skipper ever read any of those ads about round-the-world trips?

"Lots of times."

Vince chuckled suddenly. "What a fraud you are, Skipper!" The blue eyes opened wide.

"What do you mean, Vince?"

"You know. Talking so innocently to your old dad about 'Mr. Cutter' this and 'Mr. Cutter' that!"

"I don't know what you mean."

"Sure you don't?" Vince chuckled delightedly. "Come now. . . why didn't you tell me what you two kids had been up to?"

The color slowly left Jacqueline's face as she stared at her father.

"Will you please tell me just what you mean?" she asked in a low voice.

The quizzical smile on Vince's face vanished. He shifted uncomfortably in his hammock and stole an apprehensive glance in the direction of the house.

"I mean that Larry's head over heels in love with you. He told me so," Vince added defensively.

"And did he tell you that I was in love with him?"

"He didn't have to. I got eyes. I couldn't imagine you, or any other girl in her right mind, turning down a chap like Larry."

SEES 'PLANNED ECONOMY' AS FORM OF FASCISM

WASHINGTON is figuring on the war in Europe continuing at least into, and possibly all through 1943, and that we will be a part of it. No one has attempted to say when or how up to this time, but it is expected the opening may be with Japan and Hitler's support of the Japs against us.

Washington hopes to stay out of active participation in the war until our war production can be greatly increased, in fact trebled. That would mean an annual expenditure of 50 billion dollars a year. It would also mean cutting production for civilian use by at least 50 per cent.

The opinion in Washington is that all small manufacturing concerns that cannot be adapted to war production will have to close and get out of business. It will mean the closing of thousands of small factories, a large proportion of them located in small towns.

Big business is to be regimented, as the farms are regimented. The government will not operate them, but will dictate what they will produce, whom they will employ and how they will operate. It is to be "planned economy" for American business.

When the war is over the "planned economy" is to be applied to business throughout the world, as well as to America, if America has the "say so" and in Washington they believe America will be in a position to dictate. It is through such "planned economy" that an after-war depression is to be prevented.

That, briefly, is the program at Washington for the future. To me it is not a bright or promising future, either during the war or after it is over. To me it is the end of the American way of life, the American system of free competition under which we have grown great. To me it is the state capitalism of Fascist Italy.

INFLATION WOULD MEAN EQUALIZATION OF POVERTY

WE ARE TOLD in Washington that America is to spend 50 billions a year on preparations for war and aid to the democracies. That is about three times as much as we have spent during 1941.

Where are we to get this 50 billion dollars a year? What are we to use for money. Does it mean the printing presses? If it does, it means destruction of all our values, as individuals and as a nation. It does not mean the equalization of wealth, but it does mean the equalization of poverty, and it means poverty for every one, with nothing to divide.

Our domestic and foreign policies are so tied together that it is impossible to determine where one stops and the other begins.

America's future is in the balance, with the scales tipping definitely against our American way of life, our American civilization.

THEY, TOO, SERVE WHO MAKE CHEESE

THE DAIRY SECTION of Wisconsin, one of the greatest dairy producing districts in the world, is a two to five-hour haul to the Chicago market. Wisconsin cheese is now going to England, purchased and paid for on lease-lend account by the United States for the English government. Wisconsin cheese is selling in English stores at less than people in Chicago can buy it. To help England, it is necessary to provide more than war supplies. Food is a major item. Of the first seven billions appropriated by congress for British assistance, practically one billion will be used for food products from American farms, and American farmers have reason to be proud of the job they are doing.

OUR ARMY

FOR A REPUBLIC to create an effective fighting force there must be a purpose, enthusiasm, equipment, discipline. Today we have an army of one and a half million men, but to the rank and file of that army, all four ingredients are lacking. To assemble and maintain that army has cost close to two billion dollars. If we are to equip and feed the democracies of the world, it would have been better if we had kept that million and a half men on the farms and in the factories, where they might have been doing their part in providing the food and equipment so badly needed. They would have been more effective and better satisfied.

THAT SHRINKING DOLLAR

THROUGHOUT the last 200 years in all nations the cost for the necessities of life—for food, clothing, shelter, fuel—has taken 65 per cent of the income of each individual. In this country as late as 1905, the government took an additional five cents out of each dollar for taxes. But taxes are now taking about 30 cents, leaving us only five cents that we can do with as we please. That may account for the decrease in collections at Sunday church services.

Alley Oomph

Time was when the bowling alleys of the nation were regarded as select gentlemen's clubs. Today some 3,000,000 women in the United States go in for bowling in a big way. This series of photos shows you some of the gals who bring oomph to the alleys.

The streamlined eye-ful at right has the floor in this corner as she tells the quartet about the wonders bowling does for the figure.

Too much vim behind the ball, and a bit tardy in getting that dainty finger out of the hole.

This pretty maid knows that a heavy ball will knock the bark from those darling shin bones.

Picture Parade

This poly-poly has taken up bowling to reduce.

To add a little something different to the game, one lady bowler lends her legs for a frame, while two of the alley sisters roll at once

Switching on charm for cameramen—easier than making a "strike."

DOUBLE FEATURE THIS WEEK AT THE PALACE

Thinking perhaps that folks are a bit tired of the Midnight Freevue, Joe Mercer announces that this Friday and Saturday the Palace Theatre will show a big double feature program, each of which is a regular full length show.

Feature Number One is "BAR-NACLE BILL", a riproaring sail-or comedy starring Wallace Berry and Marjorie Main, probably the funniest team that ever sailed the ocean main. There is plenty of adventure too in the show, for you know, fights and excitement are Wallace Berry's main dish.

Feature Number Two is PUD-DIN' HEAD" with Judy Canova, the most versatile young actress yet. Judy can do everything from milking a cow to singing high opera. And she does them all well too. "Puddin' Head" (if you have read the theatre sections in your dailies) has been a top attraction in the large cities within the past few weeks.

Of course added to the double feature program is another episode of the "JUNGLE GIRL".

"MOON OVER MIAMI" showing Sunday and Monday, is rated as one of the best shows that have been released in the past 90 days. For music, laughter and romance you can't beat Don Ameche and Betty Grable. It's a picture that will please everyone—unless you are past 95 or under two.

Added to the feature is the One Day Old News Reel and a lively Terry-Toon Comedy.

STEVENSON'S GET TOGETHER

The Stevenson family met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Allard Wednesday for a family get-together. All were present except Mr. and Mrs. Lee Stevenson of Ft. Sumner, New Mexico and Roscoe Stevenson of Amarillo. A delicious lunch was served and pictures were taken of the family group. Those present were, Mr. and Mrs. Al Stevenson and Bobbie, of Cheyenne, Wyo.; Mr. and Mrs. Wood Hardcastle, Al-mogorda, New Mexico, Zell Stevenson, Cheyenne and Mr. Nance of Cheyenne Wyo., Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Stevenson, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Stevenson and Billie Don, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Allard and Joe Len Allard of Silverton.

Alena Francis spent Tuesday night with Ava Nell Brown.

RED CROSS MEMBERSHIP DRIVE THIS WEEK END

The Red Cross membership drive for the Silverton area will open Friday morning, when the ladies committees, headed by Mrs. Coffee and Mrs. Sanders will make a house to house canvass of the town for members.

Saturday too, will be a big day and special committees will solicit memberships from the Saturday crowds on the streets.

Briscoe County's quota was a little more than doubled over last year. Last year the county was expected to have 200 members—this year the quota is 450 members. The minimum amount entitling one to a membership is $1.00. Anyone who wishes may contribute the amount they wish. Fifty cents of each membership goes to the National Headquarters—the rest stays in the local relief fund.

Briscoe County people will undoubtedly go over the top again. The cause is one that is not only worthy but a good investment as well. The National Red Cross is like having an insurance policy—very handy when we need it most.

MRS. CLYDE WRIGHT HOSTESS TO 1925 STUDY CLUB

The 1925 Study Club met Wednesday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Clyde Wright. Mrs. D. O. Bomar was program leader.

Those taking part on the program were Mrs. T. C. Bomar and Mrs. Williamson.

The topics discussed were "The Uses of Serenity" and "Let's All Be Realistic".

In the absence of the Club Chairman, Mrs. O. T. Bundy, who is in Dallas attending the F.W.C. convention, Mrs. Paul Rogers, vice-chairman presided over the business session. The club voted to contribute to the Cancer Memorial Fund.

The next meeting will be Nov. 19th and "Texas" will be the program theme. Members of the Club will present a Historical Play "The Rose Window of San Jose".

Sim Reeves bought a new Farm-all M this week from the Tull Implement Company. The International Company has ordered an increase of $90 on these tractors within a very short time.

Mrs. Sam Hendrix of Leslie is visiting her parents this week.

Rev. and Mrs. Orbin Turner of Decatur; and his mother, Mrs. Ambrose Turner of Lubbock; and Mrs. Tom Turner of Lubbock were here Tuesday visiting friends.

Mrs. V. L. Miller and Mrs. Marvin Tracy of Quitaque were Silverton visitors Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Roy Hahn entertained with a surprise breakfast in honor of Mrs. Theron Crass on her birthday November 7th. After a lovely breakfast, the honoree was presented with a set of feista dishes, a gift from all present. Those enjoying the Occasion were Mesdames Maurice Foust, J. T. Luke, Theron Crass, Joe Mercer, and Roy Hahn, and master Collin Hahn.

TEXAS FARMERS ADVISED TO BUY MACHINE PARTS

Texas farmers should get replacement parts for their agricultural machinery before February since it is doubtful they will be available after that, Senator J. Alton York of Bryan asserted Wednesday.

Senator York, returning from the Rocky Mountain Interstate Conference on National Defense, asserted M. Clifford Townsend, director of agricultural defense relations for the United States Department of Agriculture, had warned delegates of an impending parts shortage.

York said the conference adopted a resolution urging the priorities division of OPM to allow farmers to purchase such agricultural essentials as horseshoes, rope, bags, baling wire, ties, rubber boots and canvas. —Ft. Worth Star Telegram.
