

She'll Fly Over Berlin

VETERANS — You men who fought the last War—make this your job. To see that no American boy shall fall because a lack of scrap deprived him of a fighting chance!

Scrap Slackers Can Lose This War!

It's squarely up to you. The mills need scrap to make the steel to go across the sea as ships, and tanks, and guns. They need it now—and in the months to come. For all new steel must be 50% scrap—and the mills are running out. They haven't enough for even 30 days more production—then they will be shutting down.

Unless you get to work. Unless you go into your basement and your attic, and the far corners of your farm, and rout out the junk that's there. Talk about it to your friends and neighbors—you men who know what war is like. Tell them... "Don't be a scrap slacker. Get your scrap ready and bring it to town or send for a truck. Then get to work and help them do it.

Let's go "all-out" to fill the junk yards—to make them a towering tribute to our fighting men. And don't think the job is done when the scrap starts piling up—because the war must end before the need for scrap is over. Do this now! You'll be helping to make sure that the war ends our way, and that Old Glory really flies over Tokyo and Berlin.

NEWS from the BOYS IN SERVICE

JACK HAYNES, with the Marines, has been seeing a little excitement, and has been enjoying it. The letter has so much good news in it that it deserves bold face type. The letter was reprinted in the News by Jim who is of Eagle Pass. Jack says:

I again have my feet on good old dry earth again, but there isn't a white woman within a thousand miles as far as I know.

I was over in the Solomon Islands long enough to see our Marines kick the hell out of the Japs. So far we have done fairly well toward "setting the Rising Sun" — just give us a little time.

I saw our anti-aircraft drop 21 medium bombers in four minutes time. I yelled for an encore each time one dropped (Very exciting).

I am OK and will probably remain that way for quite a while. Yours, — Jack.

"FRED" HARRIS writes to Mom and Pop Kendricks, "It seems that I get further away all the time. I am attending gunnery School at Las Vegas to be an Aerial Gunner. The course is not so long and I had a bunch of fun shooting. It is just like hunting those prairie dogs that Bill and I hunted in high school.

I won high score in shooting in my class last week; this week I haven't been so hot, however I have been above the average. I will get a lot more practice pretty soon. I hope it is leveling my sight on one of those squint-eyed yellow bellies. This shooting business is fun. Each fellow tries to do the other — more or less — in a game. I have bet beer and money, but we don't have any money here and I am just saving some for a hot day. I will probably forget them, for I don't like beer any more. We have had beer on the highways nearby but no one seems to go there. We have plenty of ice cream, cookies and different drinks such as lemonade.

I went into Las Vegas last night to see what was there. My girl from Los Angeles came down and we went out to dinner. I hadn't told you about her. She is very pretty and sweet. Good thing I didn't tell her or he would have taken her from me. Las Vegas is just like you have read about, not so hot, but very busy. This is where

WAAC NEEDS WOMEN FOR AIRCRAFT WARNING SERVICE

To all women, physically fit, between the ages of 21 and 45, the Army needs you. And each day the need grows greater. More bodied men for combat duty, bodied men for combat duty. Women are needed in offices, hospitals, as laboratory assistants, radio operators and technicians, and 40 other types of specialists. Another opportunity for women in the WAAC is in Aircraft Warning Service. Applicants are enrolled as auxiliaries with view of assignment to the Aircraft Warning Service.

These specialists are of two types — basic and administrative specialists. For basic aircraft service, a specialist must have the regular qualifications of auxiliaries for the WAAC. The Administrative Aircraft Warning Service specialist needs the requirements for basic aircraft warning service specialist plus experience as a typist and with a general office background.

Also, the War Department is encouraging qualified colored women to apply for enrollment. Any women, white or colored, who can be spared from her office, or home, or work, is urged to go to the nearest Army Recruiting Station, and get application blanks and information folder.

Those attending the funeral of Mr. Perry Thomas Sr., from out of town were Mr. Clyde Thomas, and Mrs. A. C. Nabors of Ada, Oklahoma, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Thomas and son of Oklahoma City, Mr. George Thomas, Sherman, Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Parker and family, of Wellman, Texas, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Thomas and son of Knox City, Texas.

Miss Phyllis Allred of Plainview visited her parents Wednesday.

Figures obtained from Claude Carpenter, of the local Salvage Committee show that the Silverton area of Briscoe County has turned in since May of this year, enough scrap metal to build 12,206 fifty-calibre machine guns, or 1,221 2,000-lb. block buster bombs. To get that in a per capita basis, the scrap would give every man, woman and child in Briscoe County three of these of these heavy calibre machine guns to operate; or it would allow every person in Silverton to send their personal greetings to Hitler in the form of two 2,000-lb. bombs.

The poundage figures show that since May 610,320 pounds of scrap have been sold in Silverton, and since August 1, 307,173 pounds have been handled by Silverton junk dealers. Figures from Quitaque and vicinity are not complete, but since August 1, there have been approximately 168,000 pounds handled by junk dealers, and 100,000 pounds collected by the WPA truck operating there. That brings the county total to at least 625,173 pounds since August 1, or 164 pounds per person.

Silverton merchants and individuals have been helping the interest along by giving War Stamps and Bonds as prizes for those who bring junk, and the effort has been well worth, while. These prizes are to be discontinued for the time being, but may start at a future date.

It is thought that most of the large scrap piles have been turned in over the country, but that there are thousands of pounds of odds and ends that have not been turned in. Look back at the first paragraph again and see what the junk already in would make. Then look around your place again and collect those old pieces that you have overlooked.

SILVERTON STUDENTS START NEW SCRAP DRIVE MONDAY

The Silverton Students will participate in a nation-wide scrap iron drive for two weeks beginning Monday. Twenty-five million school boys and girls will take the initiative October 5th in collecting scrap iron and steel, rubber, copper, brass, bronze, aluminium, zinc and lead, for Uncle Sam's War Machine Officials in Washington have designated this AMERICAN JUNIOR ARMY as the "Third Front" in the winning of the war.

The Silverton Students will concentrate the first week on locating the scrap metals, the amount available at each farm or residence and whether or not it is in shape to be transported by truck to the junk dealers. According to instructions sent out from Washington, defense stamps and bonds will be used to pay for substantial amounts of scrap metals. In no instance will cash be paid for scrap metals.

Children are making posters and slogans to be posted in the business section of town Saturday and it is hoped these will cause the public to become scrap conscious and cooperate with the students in this all out drive for VICTORY.

Ziegler Gathers First 1942 Bale

The Silverton Gin Company received the first bale of 1942 cotton Monday from J. A. Ziegler. He received free ginning and $26.85 in merchants prizes for his trouble in skimming 40 acres to gather the bale. The real picking will start within a few days, however.

The Silverton Gin "fired up" for a test run Thursday afternoon for a short time, testing the new engine and making last minute adjustments. It will be perhaps ten days before cotton harvest gets well under way.

THANK YOU

Thanks folks for your contribution to the money collected for my first bale of 1942 cotton.

RATIONING OF MENS RUBBER FOOTWEAR

Because of the serious rubber shortage, certificate rationing of men's rubber boots and rubber work shoes has been ordered by the Office of Price Administration to insure necessary supplies of this footwear for men working on jobs essential to the war effort or the public health and safety, D. J. Northcutt, Chairman of the Briscoe County War Price and Rationing Board announced today.

Mr. Northcutt said this action was taken at the direction of the War Production Board. Effective at midnight September 29, Mr. Northcutt said the OPA ordered all sales and shipments of six types of men's rubber boots and rubber work shoes frozen to prevent a buyer's "run" on the stocks now on hand and also to give dealers time to take inventory.

All retailers, wholesalers, and manufacturers of the rationed footwear are required to obtain OPA inventory forms from their local War Price and Rationing Board on either Thursday, Friday or Saturday of this week. The "freeze" period will end on Monday, October 5, when rationing to NATIONAL NEWSPAPER week is October 1st to 8th. In thousands of papers both large and small this week over the United States, Old Glory dominates the front page. We wish to add our solemn pledge to that of the newspaper fraternity, that we are "all out for Victory."

THAT IS A phrase that is used far too often with no meaning attached. It is easy to say. I think that within a few months it will be easier to mean. The winning of this war means everything to everyone of us, and whether we like it or not the war can be summed up in three words, "Victory or Death."

A LADY JUST told me some mighty fine logic about rationing. She said "When they ration something from us here at home, it kinda makes me glad, cause I know that's just a little more that the boys are getting." Well now that's a mighty fine way to look at it. Much better than the way some folks take it.

THERE ARE STILL a lot of us worrying about our own business. Of course we've all got to get by and all that, but one can help his worrying a lot if he'll just figure it out this way — No one knows just what is coming next, either during the war or after. No matter what we do, it is just 50-50 as to whether it was right or wrong. As long as we have no idea what's coming, why worry? It's like trying to dodge lightning. If you move, you might move right to the place where it's going to strike. The only sane logic is for each of us to do his own job as well as he can — if the job changes, try to change along with it.

REMINDS ME OF an old doctor the folks used to talk about. It was in the "good old days" and the doc used to get drunk every so often. When he did he'd strap on his six-shooter and get on the street. He'd holler "Look out, Mister, you're standing right where I'm going to shoot." He would wait about a minute and then shoot there. All the natives knew Old Doc and would move, and of course no one got hurt. But a stranger was in town and for some reason he didn't move and Doc shot him. The man didn't die, but Doc went to the pen for a few years.

BARB HAS BEEN having some eye trouble and we went to Amarillo Saturday for glasses. No soap (nor glasses). All the doctor's offices were running over. If you don't have an appointment you're out of luck. And so we went to Floydada Monday evening and got her glasses. What I started to say was that I lost my kid almost.

HE WAS ASLEEP in the back seat and I forgot he was there and went off to get shaved. I wondered once while in the chair just why Barbara took him with her. It's usually me that rides herd on him in other towns. Anyway Old Son woke up — strange town, strange faces, and no Dad or Mother, and I guess business picked up. Two men finally got it out of him who he was and where his mother was and took him to the office. What I mean my name has been mud ever since.

HERE'S THE WAY dinner goes: It's a wonder you didn't forget to sit down. And supper — don't forget to chew. And night — don't forget to close your eyes before you sleep. And breakfast — darned if I don't believe I forgot to eat breakfast this morning. I don't really believe that I forgot him though. I just didn't know I had him.

I RAN INTO Shorty Davis in Amarillo. He had just gotten in after getting a medical discharge on account of a bad foot. He had one pretty good yarn about the Army. He said there was an old kid came in and the first two or three days he wouldn't keep his collar fastened. The sergeant and corporal had really chewed him out till he was plenty sore. And he met the Captain and he said, "Why don't you pull up your tie?" "The rookie looked him over and came back with "What's it to you, you son-of-a-seacock. You haven't any stripes on your sleeves."

THE CHINA RELIEF drive has slowed down a lot. During the past week the Busy Bee Club has turned in $2.50 and J. S. Fisher managed for $4.00 over at the Methodist Church. If there are any of you who wish to help out on this you better get it in, cause I'm going to check it to headquarters in a few days. It's not buying anything for the Chinese lying in the bank.

A LOT OF the boys have been sitting around the radio listening to the World Series and professing great interest. The real World Series is being played in Russia. I'm pretty interested myself, in whether Hitler can get that third strike on Stalin, in that game on the Volga.

Private: "I have a pain in my abdomen."
Army Doc: "Young man, officers have abdomens; sergeants have stomachs; you have a bellyache."

"But, judge," protested the convicted and sentenced murderer, "I'm in poor health and I can't do a 99-year sentence."
"Well," said the kindly old judge "just do what you can of it."

Reverend: And when I get through with my sermon I'll ask those of the congregation, who want to contribute $5.00 towards the mortgage on the church stand up. In the meantime, you play appropriate music.
Organist: What do you mean, appropriate music?
Reverend: Oh! something like the Star Spangled Banner.

HOARDING GASOLINE WILL VOID INSURANCE; ENDANGERS LIVES

Civic leaders in the promotion of fire prevention are facing a heavy handicap of increased hazards to overcome during Fire Prevention Week, October 4 to 10, declares Marvin Hall, State Fire Insurance Commissioner.

Innumerable fire hazards were created in a number of Texas cities last week when unfounded rumors, spreading at an almost unbelievable rate, told of proposals to impose gasoline rationing without notice. Citizens rushed to filling stations to buy gasoline and take it home in any type container available.

The buying raid on gasoline dealers took place several days before official announcements said nationwide rationing of motor fuel would probably be made effective in November.

"Every person in Texas who is hoarding gasoline has automatically voided fire insurance on his property," Commissioner Hall announced. "Persons foolishly trying to hoard a few gallons of gasoline have done three things:

"First, they have jeopardized their insurance. When gasoline comes into your house, your fire insurance policy goes out. Unless you have a special permit from your company, the policy simply says that gasoline is a more powerful explosive than dynamite and that 'I will not stand guard over a house where gasoline is stored—even a small amount. Your policy literally says this in different words, but that is what it means.

"Second, they endanger the present low insurance rates of Texas—the lowest of all times. Losses affect all insurance rates, and if excessive dwelling fires are caused by careless hoarding of gasoline, then the recent 25 per cent reduction on residence rates could easily be wiped out.

"Third, they also jeopardize their lives and the lives of all of all members of their families when gasoline is stored on the premises. Gasoline fires are already responsible for the loss of too many lives in this state. During August gasoline caused seven of the 16 fire deaths in Texas.

"Too few people realize that pouring gasoline from one container to another very frequently generates static electricity that will cause an explosion of gasoline vapor. Gasoline has more explosive power by volume than dynamite. None of us would think of keeping 100 pounds of dynamite in the home — that would be too dangerous. Yet, a gallon of gasoline has about the same explosive power as is contained in 100 pounds of dynamite.

"We need at this time to use a lot of common sense and reasoning when fire prevention was of greater importance than it is today. Fire prevention is needed, not for just a few days or a week, but every day in the year. It is foolish to throw safety and protection aside by taking undue risks with gasoline."

Texas standard fire policies, the Commissioner points out, clearly state that insurance is void if gasoline is stored on the premises unless a permit is obtained from the insurance company. The company doesn't have to serve the policy with any kind of notice.

"Should a fire result from stored gasoline," Hall said, "the property owner could not collect any insurance if the company had not granted permission for gasoline storage regardless of the quantity on hand."

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

When in high school, my ambition was to become a lawyer. In fact, I actually conducted one case. It was a mock trial and was held one night in the Baptist Church.

One of the most devout members of the congregation was a grand old man who had served in the Confederate Army. He used to tell about how, after the surrender, he started back home on foot and saw a horse, riderless, with a saddle-blanket that was lettered "C. S. A." — (Confederate States of America). Since there no longer was such a nation, he reasoned that he was an "heir", so he took the horse and rode back to Tennessee.

Just for fun, some of his friends decided to "try" him for "stealing" the horse 50 years afterward. Your columnist— still in high school — was chosen by the old gentleman to be his "attorney". After his "acquittal", my client paid me a fee — $100, in Confederate money!

I wish I still had that bill. It was misplaced years ago. Someone wrote these lines on the back of a Confederate note.

"Representing nothing on God's earth now
And naught in the waters below,
As the pledge of a nation that's dead and gone,
Keep it, dear friends, and show it."

Can you remember:
When men were sleeve-holders

with a bright-colored bow of ribbon?
Women wore petticoats—and they rustled?
Folks went to county fairs and bought celluloid buttons that contained such snappy sayings as "I should worry and get a double chin."
"The Good Old Summer Time" was the song-hit that swept the nation?

Folks talked about such personalities of the day as Anna Held, Lillian Russell, Frank Gotch, Stanley Ketchel and T. R.?
The Keystone Cops delighted movie-goers?

A BED GOES TO WAR

Mrs. Kelly finally rummaged through her attic, hauled down the old tumbledown iron bed and discarded it the other day.

It's good that Mrs. Kelly made her decision and had the old four-poster hauled down to the junk dealer.

In a few weeks Mrs. Kelly's bed will have produced enough metal to make hundreds of hand grenades—enough to wipe out an entire Jap machine gun nest or blow to kingdom come a Nazi tank in Egypt.

Mrs. Kelly's bed is just a dot in the Texas drive for scrap. But let's follow it from the moment it leaves her door until it becomes a weapon of war.

First, it goes to the junk dealer. And let's get straight about this junk dealer. He's not the black character some fifth columnists would have you to believe. He is an extremely vital cog in this urgent drive to collect scrap.

The man makes little profit and works hard. He must cut scrap metals to match government specifications, press bulky objects such as automobile bodies into small bundles the size of your grocery store basket. Above all, he must keep scrap rolling to the mills.

Junk dealers are doing a swell job—scores of freight cars are moving out of Texas daily.

At the junk yard Mrs. Kelly's bed is very carefully cut into pieces which must not be more than five feet long, 18 inches wide.

Incidentally, Mrs. Kelly's bed goes through quite a process at the junk yard. The OPA has designated 32 grades of scrap upon which it has placed price ceilings. The United States Department of Commerce goes much farther—it recognizes 75 grades.

If Mrs. Kelly's bed is cast iron, it must be broken into chunks not weighing more than 150 pounds. If it is destined for an electric furnace mill, it must not be more than 12 inches in any direction.

Mrs. Kelly's bed is tossed into freight cars in neat lengths and bundles and started for the mill. The junk dealer goes back to the task of diving into the mountain of scrap.

Mrs. Kelly's bed reaches the mill. The freight gondolas arrive on a spur track and trains equipped with magnetic cranes roll alongside and lift the scrap, drop it into little cars which hustle off for the furnaces.

Steel mills have their own forges—but remember this, all mills use at least 50 per cent of scrap metal to keep their furnaces going. Formulas consist of certain amounts of pig iron, cast iron, coke and melting steel and various alloys. But all include scrap—Mrs. Kelly's bed.

The bed is hurled into a furnace and left in a molten stage 12 hours. Ladies pour the molten metal into ingot holes and there it stands and cools.

Mrs. Kelly's bed now hits the crucial stage—the fabricating mill where the old iron resting spot of the old days becomes a part of a ship, a tank or a gun. Or many hand grenades.

The job that Mrs. Kelly's bed is doing could be done by you if you will quickly hand in the old lawn mower, flat iron, wood stove, skid chains, bathtubs, golf clubs, refrigerators, radiators, washing machines, kitchen sinks and a thousand other things cluttering up your garage or attic.

Wouldn't you like to know that a piece of your scrap metal went zinging into a Nazi gun emplacement when the second front is opened?

Mom, I don't know when I will get a furlough. That seems to be a thing of the past in the Air Corps. Everyone, civilian and Soldiers, seems to be putting in every hour of the day, 7 days a week to win the war. That is the most remarkable thing that could happen today.

I hope that you and Pop are in excellent health — I think of you often, even if I do skip writing to the folks at home sometimes. I

They don't think much of Southern boys either.

I'd better stop now and cram for examinations to-morrow."

Rationing of New Farm Machinery
New farm machinery which was ordered prior to September 17 will be delivered to producers, the Texas USDA War Board has announced.

Producers whose orders were not filled before the "freeze" date automatically will be given rationing certificates by county rationing committees, provided the applicant can satisfy the committee that the order was placed prior to September 17.

Orders placed after the effective date, however, will be subject to rationing through local boards.

County rationing committees have established in each of the 254 Texas counties and are now operating. B. F. Vance, chairman of the board said.

New farm machinery was frozen in the hands of the dealers September 17 pending organization of local rationing committees.

According to the rationing program, farm machinery will be classified in three groups. Class A Machinery, including items which are scarce and vitally needed in 1942 production, may be sold only upon approval of local county rationing committees. Class B. machinery, which includes items somewhat less scarce, may be sold only upon certification by the farmer to the dealer that the equipment is required for current and vital agricultural production. Other less essential items are included in Class C and may be sold without restrictions.

Purpose of the farm machinery rationing program is to insure a fair distribution of available machinery in channels where it will do the most good in wartime agricultural production.

The members of the Briscoe County Farm Machinery Rationing Committee are: Mr. Otis Wilson, chairman; Eugene Long, regular member; H. S. Crow, regular member; Vaughn Chandler, alternate and H. P. Howard, alternate.

The Farm Machinery Rationing Committee will meet each Monday morning.

40 CHURCHES TO HOLD NATION WIDE COMMUNION SUNDAY

Forty different church denominations have united to observe the first Sunday in October as Communion Sunday. Every one partaking is requested to leave on the altar rail a sacrificial gift which will be used to provide more religious training for our soldiers in the armed services, and to alleviate suffering of Allied casualties of the war.

This money will be sent directly by the various churches to the particular places where they are to minister. There will be no part of it used for any other purpose than that for which it is given.

Fifty per cent of the money goes to provide additional religious training for our boys in camp. Each church will directly minister through her chaplains more helpful reading materials, and will be able to minister more helpfully to the ever enlarging numbers of our sons and fathers going to camp. The need shall be greater as the war progresses. Our Allied friends who are suffering as war victims need additional ministrations of food, medicines, and other things to provide for their relief and recovery. This money which we shall give will be given sacrificially and willingly. There will be no quotas for any group.

customers begins. The Briscoe County War Price and Rationing Board will open to workers and company purchasing agents who need certificates entitling them to buy the rationed footwear. Mr. Northcutt said. "To get a certificate," he explained, "the applicant must fill out two copies of a form that will be available at local War Price and Rationing Board. These can be obtained by coming to the board in person, writing for them, or sending representative.

He emphasized that OPA restricted sales of the rationed footwear because it is pressed one hand by the same rubber shortage that has restricted sale of tires, and on the other by a demand for Men's rubber boots and rubber work shoes that grows as wartime agriculture and industrial activity increases.
