NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

We have been unable to secure a new lease on our building, and it appears as though we will be forced to move from Silverton, so we would like to have all our customers who now have clothes in our place to please call for them before Saturday, June 29th.

Thanks for your patronage. If we can obtain a building we will continue in business, because we hate to leave Silverton and our many friends here.

Take Table Salt When Mercury Soars

If your work is such that it causes excessive perspiration add a pinch of ordinary table salt to each drink of water you take to help prevent heat cramps. This is advised by Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer, Austin, to prevent a possible increase in the number of heat victims as the Texas thermometer hits 95% and above.

Laborers, mechanics, farmers, and white collar workers whose work causes them to sweat profusely, are in danger of having their body salt content become deficient with resulting heat cramps or heat fog. Salt is a prominent constituent of sweat; the body may lose as high as 40 to 50 grams during hot days.

In industry, a method of preventing heat cramps is to take a tablet of pure salt or a mixture of salt and dextrose with each drink of water. Workmen whose duties require muscular exertion should be especially careful to add more than the usual amount of salt to what they eat and drink.

Salt deficiency may be prevented by taking salt in various ways. Where prepared tablets are not available, table salt may be added to each drink of water. Milk is a source of salt and will help to make up for the deficiency caused by sweating.

Heat cramp is characterized by pains (cramps) in the abdominal region, headache, and in severe cases, by nausea and vomiting. The body temperature remains about normal, likewise the pulse rate. Body salt losses occur without the knowledge of the individual until there is a deficiency; then the abdominal muscles begin to cramp.

Cull Inefficient Hens For Greater Profits

Any hen laying less than a dozen eggs a month is losing money for her owner, considering prevailing prices of feed and eggs. These inefficient hens should be culled from laying flocks, the Texas A. and M. extension service is advising farm families and backyard poultry raisers of the state.

A hen consumes about five pounds of feed per month even though she is not laying, so further reduction of laying flocks is being sought by the government in view of the current feed shortage. For the nation as a whole, the reduction sought is one of every seven hens.

According to Sam Moore, Extension poultry specialist, most Texas flocks could lose one of every seven hens, and with proper culling profits would increase. Until recently, he says, Texas egg production this year has exceeded last year's for the same period, although the state has reduced its poultry population to or below pre-war numbers. This indicates a rise in production per bird.

While chick production this spring was 20 per cent less than last year with good management an average number of pullets should go into production on Texas farms this fall, Moore says. He indicates that there are large amounts of shell eggs and poultry meat in storage and the demand for fresh eggs has been good this spring.

For Lieutenant Governor

ALLAN SHIVERS
of Jefferson County

Senator Allan Shivers will officially open his campaign for lieutenant governor in Fort Arthur, Thursday, June 27. Dean of the Texas Senate and World War II overseas veteran, his speech, which will be broadcast over the Texas Quality Network, 8 to 8:30 P. M., will be of interest to every voter in Texas.

Improved Program For War Amputees

An improved nation-wide program to provide accurate information and prompt service on artificial limbs for some 23,000 amputees--most of whom served in World War II--is under development by the veterans administration, Dr. Oza J. LeBarge, chief medical officer at the VA Lubbock regional office, announced this week.

The program will be conducted by newly-designated and specially trained contact representatives all of whom have major amputations themselves.

They will operate from the Dallas branch office and from VA's regional offices in Texas, Louisiana and Mississippi, Dr. LeBarge said.

The new type of contact men will be trained not only to provide information and advice on prosthetic devices, but also to help amputees select proper devices and to assist rating boards considering amputee cases.

Their training further will enable them to explain veterans' rights generally so that they may serve as advisors to all veterans.

Men hired for this new type of contact work will be given special training in VA's Central Office, Washington, D. C.

Dr. LeBarge said the operation of the prosthetic appliance program will revolve around the specially trained contact representatives because they will meet the veterans daily and learn their individual problems.

They will also aid veterans with hearing aids, artificial eyes and other prostheses.

Increase Noted in Locker Business

Texas now has 403 frozen food locker plants in operation in comparison with 268 eleven months ago, an increase of 33 per cent in less than a year. A recent survey by the BAE's Texas Division of Agricultural statistics showed that 46 of this number are co-operatives, including 26 REA co-ops. Five of the number are branch plants serviced by central systems.

Roy Snyder, extension meat specialist who also supervises a frozen food locker plant for the Texas A. and M. college, observes several other trends in the locker business besides a rapid expansion in numbers. For one thing, a large number of locker systems have been installing their own small killing plants or abattoirs.

For the last few years frozen food plants have been in their heyday, and rationing increased the popularity of the family locker, Snyder believes. He predicts that as fresh foods become more plentiful, city people are more likely to drop out as customers, buying custom frozen foods in stores rather than processing their own.

As far as technique is concerned, great changes likely are in store in the processing of frozen food. Enzymes, which affect the ripening of fruits and vegetables have been inactivated in the past by steam or boiling water. In the future, they might be inactivated electronically, and thawing may be done the same way. Fresh sterilization also may be a new development in the frozen food field, Snyder believes.

A great deal of research remains to be done on the use of salts and seasonings in sausage and other ground meats, and in determining the best kinds of wrappers and containers for frozen foods. A. and M. research workers are investigating both these problems, Snyder says.

Destroy All Medicine When Illness is Over

There are many persons who naturally hoard anything and everything including old clothes, boxes and other useless articles, some of which constitute no greater danger than a possible fire hazard, but a very real danger is present when this tendency is applied to hoarding old medicine in any form.

"Most medicine finds itself into the home through a doctor's prescribing it for some specific illness. For the sake of safety, leftover medicines should be destroyed immediately when they have fulfilled their purpose and never be stored in the medicine cabinet for future unprescribed use in case of another illness," according to Dr. Geo. W. Cox, state health officer.

Upset Stomachs Yield Inches of Gas and Bloat

"I was so full of gas I was afraid I'd burst. Sour, bitter substance rose up in my throat from my upset stomach after meals. I got INNER-AID, and it worked inches of gas and bloat from me. Waistline is way down now. Meals are a pleasure. I praise Inner-Aid to the sky."—This is an actual testimonial and we can verify it.

INNER-AID is the new formula containing medicinal juices from 12 Great Herbs; these herbs cleanse bowels, clear gas from stomach, act on sluggish liver and kidneys. Miserable people soon feel different all over. So don't go on suffering—Get Inner-Aid. Sold by all drug stores here in Briscoe County. (adv)

SUPERVISORS FOR CAP ROCK DISTRICT—Earl I. Cantwell, Chairman, Louie Kitchens, Obra Watson, Pierce White and Bray Cook.

Now is the time to make preparations for seeding fall pastures to legume-grass mixtures, according to local irrigation farmers that have had previous experience in seeding these mixtures. If early grazing is expected these seedings should be made between August 15th and September 15th.

Seed for these plantings may be secured in this area from seed stores by placing orders now so that sufficient time will be allowed if the desired seeds are not in stock.

Land seeded to improved pasture mixtures should be floated and re-floated to insure even water distribution and prevent drowning out in low places and drying out in high places as this crop is expected to occupy the same land from five to ten years.

Tom Whitely and Jack Haynes cooperators of the Grass conservation group, have recently established an irrigation well on their farm and are constructing irrigation ditches for the watering of row crops. Technicians for the local Soil Conservation Service office assisted in making the irrigation layout.

Are you too skeptical about the work of Foreign Missionaries?
During the past 100 years, thousands of men and women of all faiths have voluntarily dedicated their lives to spreading the "Good News" found in the Scriptures. Some have been physicians; others have been agricultural specialists; others have been teachers.
What have they accomplished? Any War Chaplain who has served in the battle areas, and tens of thousands of returning veterans, will tell you that Foreign Missionaries have laid the foundation stones for world peace, that they have changed the thinking of millions of people all over the globe, and that they have made it possible for nations to trade with each other with confidence.
When your Pastor, Rabbi, or Priest asks you for money to expand the work of some Foreign Missionary, invest as much as you can. Your returns will exceed anything you have ever known.

The Bible as Literature

Dr. William Lyon Phelps, versatile and beloved teacher, author, and lecturer, once said: "I have lived all my life with music, books, and works of art; yet I cannot tell what is the best picture ever painted, or what is the best music ever written, or the best play. If, however, you ask me what is the best prayer ever composed, the best sermon ever written, and the best poetry in the world, I can tell you. The Lord's Prayer is the best prayer . . . the Sermon on the Mount the best sermon . . . the 23rd, 90th, and 112th Psalms the best poetry."

Here lived a man with the world's finest culture in his brain and upon his lips. Indebted to Homer, Dante, Virgil, Shakespeare, Goethe, and many another world-famous poet and thinker for many great and beautiful thoughts, he declared that to him the King James Bible stood incomparably above all other books:

"The Bible has been from the beginning an integral part of myself. It would be as absurd to attempt an estimate of what I owe to the English Bible as it would to appraise what I owe to my lungs and heart."

Your mind isn't functioning if you agree with everything you read; even if we publish it.

It's an old one but I've always liked the story of the intoxicated man who was shoved out the front door of a club and he announced to a bystander, "I'm gonna go back in there an' throw 'em all out. You stand here an' count 'em." So he made his wobbly way back up the steps and back into the building. In a little while the door flew open and out sailed a form. The man on the street said, "One." The figure on the sidewalk slowly rose and said, "Don't start counting yet; this is just me comin' out again."

And changing the subject: For the first breakfast in their home, the bride cooked some biscuits. Her husband said, "Darling, don't cook biscuits anymore; you are too light for such heavy work."

Here's a little poem whose author is unknown, entitled "Give Them the Flowers Now":

Closed eyes can't see white roses,
Cold hands can't hold them, you know;
Breath that is stilled cannot gather
The odors that sweet from them blow
Death, with a peace beyond dreaming,
Its children of earth doth endow;
Life is the time we can help them
So give them the flowers now.

Here are the struggles and striving,
Here are the cares and the tears
Now is the time to be smoothing
The frowns and the furrows and fears.

What, to closed ears, are kind sayings?
What, to hushed heart, is deep vow?
Naught can avail after parting,
So give them the flowers now.

Just a kind word or a greeting,
Just a warm clasp or a smile--
These are the flowers that will lighten
The burdens for many a mile.
After the journey is over,
What is the use of them? How
Can they carry them, who must be carried,
Oh, give them the flowers now.

Blooms from the happy heart's garden,
Plucked in the spirit of love;
Blooms that are earthly reflection
Of flowers that blossom above--
Words cannot tell what a measure
Of blessing such gifts may allow
To dwell in the lives of many;
So give them the flowers now.

New Attraction for Lubbock Air Show

New and spectacular events have been added to the Lubbock National Aeronautics association show to be held at the Lubbock municipal airport beginning at 10:00 a.m., Sunday, June 23. Supplementing the appearance of the spectacular P-80 Shooting Star which recently flew across country and back in one day, the Army Air Forces will present a parachute drop from a C-47, simulated fighter attacks, formation flying, and a fire-fighting exhibition on the ground.

These brilliant and exciting demonstrations will commence at 2:00 p.m. In addition, at least a dozen different types of army planes, including bombers, fighters, cargo planes, and trainers, will be lined up on the ramp at the airport so the people of the South Plains can get a real eyeful of the aircraft flown by the AAF during the war. Air force officials are also extending every effort to get other and even more outstanding planes for the show.

Mr. and Mrs. Wood Hardcastle of White Deer visited relatives over the weekend.

Mrs. Cecil Franks is Honored at Shower

A tea-shower honoring Mrs. Cecil Franks, the former Miss Winona Francis, was held Saturday afternoon from four until six o'clock in the home of Mrs. Fred Mercer. Co-hostesses with Mrs. Mercer were Mrs. Edwin Crass, Mrs. Robert McJimsey and Mrs. O. D. Brown.

In the receiving line were the bride, Mrs. Mercer, Mrs. J. Lee Francis, mother of the bride, Miss Wilma Lee Francis, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Audra Franks, mother of the groom.

Mrs. Crass and Mrs. Alva Jasper presided at the tea table, and Miss Thelma Gean Mercer registered the guests. Mrs. McJimsey displayed the gifts.

About 50 guests called during the afternoon, and many gifts were sent.

Out-of-town guests present were Mrs. Ben Storcks, Mrs. Ollie Storcks, Mrs. Bill Holland and Mrs. Wylie Kirk of Kress, Madine Bell of Lubbock, Mrs. Charles Davis of Plainview and Mrs. Glen Franks and Mrs. Audra Franks of Amarillo.

Keep Picnic and Camp Menus Simple

Camping and picnic season is here in earnest and tasty menus for outdoor excursions must be planned. Edith Lawrence, specialist in food preparation for the A. and M. college extension service, says the task can be made easy with a few simple rules and some interesting recipes.

Meals should be kept simple. One main dish, possibly combining protein and starchy food, a crisp or chevy vegetable, one starchy food, and fruit for dessert will make a substantial meal. Beverages which can be prepared ahead of time or that require little preparation at camp should be served. Water should be taken along unless source of supply is known to be safe.

After planning meals, Miss Lawrence advises listing supplies needed. A checking of all recipes will prevent something being left at home.

Recipes for chicken risotto, bean-hole beans, campfire stew, and other camp foods along with detailed menus for 2½ days and rules for successful meal planning are found in extension service publication MS-742 Food for Camp.

Anyone interested may obtain a copy from her country home demonstration agent or by writing to the Extension Service, A. and M. College, College Station, Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Bean visited Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bean and family of Miami last week. The Carl Beans are the parents of a baby boy. They also visited Mr. and Mrs. Esker Smith of Borger. Their granddaughter accompanied them home for a week's visit.

Sunday dinner guests in the Ira Bean home were Mr. and Mrs. Esker Smith of Borger, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Thompson, Mrs. F. M. Autry, Anna Bean of Plainview, Charles Francis and John and Martin Bean.

Miss Annette Wulfman spent several days this week visiting friends in Lubbock.

Fashion Frock of the Week

TYPED FOR teen-age tempo! That's a twirling peasant dress. Pleasant for playing and perfect for dates, its fiesta colors in a tricky crosspatch pattern make it absolutely OK with the Pepsi crowd. And Mexican cotton, primitive in design and in texture as the country from which it is imported, adds pepper and sauce. The low, shallow neckline of Fashion's Sweet-Teen is banded and tied in front with a bow, and leaves lots of room for beautiful bare brown skin to show forth. Puffed sleeves and strategic gathers in the bodice accent broad shoulders and subtle curves. A handsomely waistband is just right above the gayly gathered skirt. And for nice going on the dance floor, there's a deep tango ruffle that frisks around the knees.

Stresses Need for Missionary Work

The need for missionary work in China was stressed by Miss Lilly Lundley, returned missionary, when she addressed members of the First Baptist WMU and other church auxiliaries Monday afternoon at the Calvary Baptist church.

Miss Lundley stated that industrialization of China should be accompanied by Christianization in order that warlike tendencies might not develop.

Serving for 20 years in the foreign missions field, Miss Lundley returned to the States two and one-half years ago. She has been studying in New York in preparation for returning to China soon.

Mrs. G. A. Elrod opened the afternoon's program by introducing Mrs. C. C. Garrison who presented a piano solo Mrs. G. R. Dowdy, president of the WMU, introduced the speaker.

Mrs. Festus Elrod and Miss Lurge Burson were in charge of the tea service. Around 50 women were present, and a silver offering of over $60 was made.

Mrs. Leo Trimm and daughters, who have been visiting her mother, Mrs. C. M. Strickland, for the past several weeks, left Monday morning for their home in Martinville, Va. They were accompanied home by Mr. and Mrs. Chester Strickland.

Otis Hardin of Lubbock visited his mother, Mrs. C. M. Hardin, in the Hugh Stodghill home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Springer of Hereford spent the weekend here visiting relatives.

New Canned Meat Provisions Issued

Federally - inspected meat slaughterers and canners may not produce canned meat for civilian consumption unless they deliver to governmental agencies 60 per cent of each week's total output of canned meat. This is the essence of the new war food order designed to obtain more canned meat for foreign relief shipment.

U. S. Department of Agriculture reports state that the order applies to any canned food which contains 20 per cent or more of meat or meat by-products. Excluded from the order are vinegar pickled meats in glass, canned soup, mince-meat, tamales, chow mein, chop suey, raviola, meat extract, infant and junior foods.

Department officials said that the new order is designed as the most effective and feasible means of facilitating the procurement of canned meat during the next few weeks. Large quantities of canned meat are needed for foreign relief programs. Because of distribution problems encountered by the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration, most of the meat required by that agency must be in canned form. The Navy still requires relatively small quantities of canned meat, also.
