County Pioneer, Ashel Cross, Pass- ed Away Sept. 27

Funeral rites were held for Ashel Cross, 75 years, 6 months and 10 days, Wednesday, September 29, at 4:00 at the high school auditorium, Elder Earl Cantwell, pastor of the Church of Christ officiating. Interment was made in the Silvertown cemetery under the direction of Stewart-Douglas Funeral Home.

Ashel Cross was born March 17, 1873 in Warm Springs, Arkansas. Three years later his parents, four brothers, two sisters, and Ashel, Arkansas in a covered wagon coming to Texas. One of his brothers passed away in Arkansas as they left. On the journey, father became ill and passed away. He was buried beside the mother in a small cemetery. His mother and the children settled at Silvertown, near Mineral Wells, Texas, until May 7, 1892 when they moved to Silvertown. Ashel was a ranchman, started work for the J. A. Ranch, April 15, 1893, and worked there 19 years, 7 of which were spent roping.

He was united in marriage to Mary L. Heckman in Clarendon, Texas, January 24, 1907. He and his wife moved to the J. A. Ranch near Claude, Texas, where they spent five years taking care of the cattle. After leaving the ranch he worked 12 years on a ranch near his present place. This ranch was owned by Senator J. W. Wodsworth of New York.

In 1913 he and his wife moved to his place west of Silvertown. Two daughters were born to this union. One was born and died October 11, 1917. The other is Dorothy Marie who married Milton George Martin. Ashel loved Christianity, people and his home. He had been in bad health for a number of years and on January 20, 1947 he suffered a stroke that paralyzed the left side of his body. He suffered pain every day after that, yet he had a smile for everyone. Sunday, September 19, 1948 he was rushed to the Tulia hospital after an attack of influenza. Six days later he suffered a second stroke and passed away Monday, September 27, 1948 at 6:15 A. M., at the age of 75 years, 6 months and 10 days. His mother, brothers and sisters all preceded him in death. He leaves to mourn his passing his wife, Mary, one daughter, Dorothy and son-in-law, George Martin, four nephews, Cross McDaniels, Cecil Cross, Marion Cross and John Cross; two nieces, Mrs. Mason Neely and Mrs. Carl Morris, and a number of other relatives, and a host of friends and neighbors.

Active pallbearers were: Roy, Alvie and G. Mayfield, Leon and Datis Martin, Jack Jowell, Lewie Reithmeyer and Floyd Woods.

Construction Crew Here This Week On Extensions

A construction crew of the Southwestern Public Service Company supervised by Mr. McHaven, of Plainview, is working in Silvertown this week. They are re-building lines in the alley and back of the clinic building so as to be able to furnish sufficient power to the x-ray machine at the hospital. They are also extending their line out to Luther Gilkeyson's slaughter pens and house on the Silvertown-Quitque highway, where they will serve Mr. Gilkeyson.

SILVERTON OWLS MEET FLOMOT FRIDAY NIGHT

The Silvertown Owls will take to the field Friday night, October 1st, at 8 o'clock on the Silvertown grid-iron to engage Flomot in their initial district game.

Neither of the teams are considered to be strong contenders for the district flag so the teams are relatively even in man power. For this reason, the game is expected to develop into a rugged battle. The game could easily be decided by the breaks that prevail.

Due to an internal injury, Flute Hutsell, stellar right guard for the Owls, is not expected to see action in the game. Left end, Robert McPherson, is sidelined for three weeks because of a lacerated thumb. With these two men out, the Owls will be the definite underdog come game time.

The Owls take on the powerful Kress Kangaroos Friday night, October 8, at Kress. This should be a breeze for the Kangaroos. Kress has the reputation of being the strongest contingent in the Panhandle.

Silvertown Pharmacy New Name for Local Drug Store

E. E. Burgess, new owner of the Palace Drug, recently purchased from Dillard Scott, announced this week that the name of the store is being changed to Silvertown Pharmacy.

The store plans to hold their formal opening at some future date, to be announced later.

Rayburn Burgess, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Burgess, will receive his degree from Oklahoma University School of Pharmacy in January and will be in charge of the store after that date. In the meantime Mr. Burgess is on the job.

Mr. Burgess has employed Misses Lorraine Houghton and Dorothy Gravin as fountain girls.

Mrs. Burgess has spent considerable time here assisting Mr. Burgess in getting things "humping," and we understand she is also working in the store at Quitque, assisting another son, Roy, who is a registered pharmacist.

When Rayburn finishes his course in January the Burgess family will have three registered pharmacists in their team as Mr. Burgess, the father, also is qualified.

SENIOR AGRICULTURAL STUDENTS VISIT EXPERIMENT FARM

Edwin Jowell, Johnny Ted Bingham, Robert McPherson and Donley Gilbreath along with their Vocational Agriculture Teacher Bill Jones visited the USDA Experiment Farm in Lubbock last Saturday, September 25, 1948.

Mr. Lynn, the farm agronomist took a group of about sixty F. A. boys from different schools on a tour of the entire farm. First of all the boys saw the new farm equipment which is to be demonstrated this week. Among this equipment were several cotton strippers and an International Harvester Cotton Picker. After seeing the equipment the boys were then shown the experiments with dry land grain sorghums, cotton and corn. Next the boys were shown the irrigated experiments with the same crops where different amounts of water were used. The cotton experiments showed that where the beds were watered twice before planting and then the cotton watered once after it came up that higher yields were obtained. As the boys neared the end of the tour Mr. Lynn pointed out an experiment where clover had been turned under as a green manure crop. He stated that better results have been obtained with green manure crops than with any other form of fertilizer. The boys could all tell a distinct difference in the cotton where the green manure crop had been turned under.

Later in the afternoon the boys from Silvertown visited the farm at Texas Tech College, where they went through the modern milking barn and saw the college dairy herd. They also toured the hog farm where they saw a central farrowing barn with guard rails and an electric pig brooder which is used at farrowing time.

All of the boys reported a very good time and a very worthwhile trip.

Mesdames Arnold Brown, Conrad Alexander, Dee McWilliams and Pat Cogdill, attended the Panhandle South Plains Fair at Lubbock Tuesday.

IT'S FALL GARDEN TIME AGAIN

Get out the hoes, rakes, shovels and weed cutters. It's time to get the ground ready for a fall garden. But "leave the seed be" for a short time yet. There's a bit of groundwork to be done first.

J. F. Rosborough, extension horticulturist of Texas A and M College, says start with the weed cutter and clear the plot of ground of weeds, removing them completely. If turned under, they cause molding and heating of the soil. This dries out the soil and keeps it from getting a good cultivation. If there is barnyard fertilizer handy, plow it in four or five inches deep. It helps the soil hold more water and prevents packing of the soil.

Deep plowing dries out the seed bed. It will take more water to wet down a deep seed bed than a shallow one. So four or five inches will be deep enough. And after plowing, break up the clods, rake the soil fine and smooth, then plant your seed.

If there isn't much fertility in your soil, work in a commercial fertilizer along with the barnyard fertilizer or compost material. Rosborough warns gardeners in the sandy areas that the commercial fertilizer should be used only where the rainfall is at least 30 inches. Three pounds of 5-10-5 or 4-12-4 per 100 feet of row should be applied at planting time. Open up the planting furrow and mix the fertilizer well into the soil, chopping three or four inches deep.

Although the soil may be dry at planting time, some of the vegetables such as carrots, beets, spinach, cabbage and lettuce grow slowly so they will likely get a good bit of rain during the coming months. This means your garden will have to be in a well-drained area where the water will not stand during the wet season.

If you have vegetables still growing from the spring planting, give them a side dressing of fertilizer 8 or 12 inches from the plant. Apply at the same rate as above. And if the soil is dry, says Rosborough, irrigate before or after fertilizing.

Now you're ready for the fall garden planting.

SEVERAL HUNDRED MILES A YEAR

How far do you walk in a year? It's probably up in the thousands of miles all told. But just around inside the house the average family walks several hundred miles in a year's time over the same few hundred feet of floor space.

And this much walking means that the floor requires considerable upkeep, especially for the certain avenues which get the most traffic.

Much household flooring, whether hardwood or linoleum, is protected with wax. There are right and wrong ways to apply wax, according to Bernice Claytor, extension home management specialist of Texas A and M College.

Mrs. Claytor gives housewives these five "don'ts on the floor waxing:

Don't ever puddle wax on the floor unless you pick it up immediately. Otherwise that puddle spot will show on the finished floor.

Don't ever use a mop which contains traces of oil in polishing your waxed floors. Even a trace of oil will soften the wax film and make dust and dirt stick to it.

Don't apply liquid wax by pouring it on the cloth you intend to use. Pour out the wax into a pan or dish first. Never pour the remainder back into the can. Contamination may cause the wax to spoil.

Don't ever apply liquid wax with a wadded cloth. Fold the cloth into a neat pad so that you'll have a flat surface with which to apply the wax.

Finally, don't apply the wax with haphazard strokes or circles. Put it on with straight, even strokes as you would paint.

Mrs. Claytor says that aids in floor waxing are: floor cleaners for removing old wax and dirt and these are on the market now. Also most floor wax is said to be more resistant to water, wear, dirt and slipping than formerly.

Jap Department Stores Arrange Quick Marriages

TOKYO.—A war time phenomenon still going strong here is the department store marriage. Three department stores in this city will arrange a marriage ceremony with all the trimmings just as readily as they would sell a radio or new dress. Charges for the service are low.

The Takashima department store, for example, marries 12 couples a day and is booked solid two months ahead. Were the ceremony held at a Shinto shrine and followed by a restaurant dinner it would cost the bridegroom—he pays the expenses—6 to 12 months wages.

Takashima officials have speeded up the whole procedure so that they now turn out a married couple every 30 minutes. It is a perfect assembly line layout. The bride picks up her kimono in one room, moves on to the next to be gowned and then proceeds to the hairdressing section and its eight way stations to beauty.

Meanwhile the guests wait in an anteroom and move on cue into a small straw matted hall, the copy of the inside of a small Shinto shrine. After the ceremony the party poses for a picture in an adjoining studio, eats dinner and then everyone goes back to their jobs. The cycle is completed and the next group takes over.

Brokers Get Rich

Mass matchmaking also is sweeping Japan. As a marriage broker a Japanese can become a yen millionaire overnight. Starting the cherry blossom season off with a bang was the town of Uji-Yamada, south of Osaka and near Mikimoto's pearl farms. Town officials invited eligible bachelors and unwed women from all over Japan to participate in a mate hunt. Fifty-five prospective bridegrooms and 17 brides-to-be came to look each other over.

The pay-off in the cupid business, however, came here when 3,000 people walked through a hastily built wedding arch to the muddy banks of the Tamagawa river. After this good look-see at each other they paraded through the streets with flags waving and placards reading: "Times Have Changed; Let's Get Married in a Democratic Way."

Leading the column and wearing striped pants and morning coat was Seido Mishira, Japan's most industrious marriage broker and the prime mover in more than 20,000 marriages in less than two years. Following Mishira, who is the perfect replica of the little man atop a wedding cake, were widowers with babies strapped to their backs, girls chaperoned by their mothers and hundreds of office workers and clerks.

Many Find Partners

Three hundred couples—or 10 per cent—found partners to their liking, according to Mishira. Each had a number and if she or he were too shy to strike up a conversation they could ask for a "number's" name and address at a registration desk and contact the party later.

Matchmaking in Japan is not new, Mishira points out, but he says the current boom is unprecedented. An "ad" in his magazine by a girl of 20, he says, brings 400 replies. When the girl is 25 there are 100 answers, and when she is 40 only 20 men respond. He adds that 70 per cent of the girls are most interested in the prospective bridegroom's pocketbook; 90 per cent of the men want beauty, and 20 per cent will marry an ugly rich girl. He concludes, however, that in most cases parents still make the final decisions.

Escaped Lions Thrill Circus Fans With Unscheduled Act

PITTSBURGH.—Three lions slipped from their cage at Forbes field to give an unscheduled thrill to more than 10,000 persons attending a police circus.

Just as a trapeze act got under way the lions ambled onto the field. The aerialists promptly halted their act and the audience sat as if mesmerized.

Circus employees carrying chairs and ladders hastily formed a circle. Scores of police moved in, their hands on their holsters.

The lions looked up, swung their tails a couple of times—and walked right back into their cage which was locked securely this time.

'It's An Ill Wind That Blows No Good' Is Farmer's Proverb

GETTYSBURG, PA.—Owners of one farm in Adams county must have good reason to believe in getting wind insurance on their buildings.

Three years ago wind demolished a barn on a farm owned by the J. A. Stevens estate.

Two years back the roof of the rebuilt barn came off in a similar storm. With it went one end of the structure. Again it was repaired.

Recently, during another blow, the same end of the barn came down, and this time, for good measure, half of the farmhouse roof vanished.

A Buffalo Going Into the Oil Business

PORT ARTHUR, TEXAS—Passing the camera like a black streak, this young buffalo bull charges from an unloading chute into grounds of the Gulf Oil refinery. He is one of six bison "employed"—probably for the first time in oil industry history—to crop grass around tanks and pipelines. These one-time "kings of the prairie," along with 100 odd Brahma cattle, cows and horses, are being pastured for neighboring ranchers on refinery property, where they save many thousands of dollars in grass cutting bills. But they make risky charges for any but experienced cowhands like B. V. "Bart" Ownby, mounted.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Grewe were business visitors in Plainview Friday. They also visited Mrs. Grewe's brother, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Dietrich.

Mr. and Mrs. B. N. Mason, and daughter, Beth, visited over the week end in Levelland, with their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Biffle.

Workers in U. S. Mint Are 'Birds In Gilded Cage'

DENVER, COLO.—Once upon a time a bookkeeper at the United States mint here had a sour stomach.

This bookkeeper was doing something-or-other quite legitimate in the gold vault one night. He belched four times. Very fast and hard. The next thing he knew, an armed guard with a riot gun came sprinting in. The belches had set off a delicate sound alarm.

"It's just my stomach," the bookkeeper said.

The guard thought that one over a moment, wheeled and made for the door. Then he turned and stared distrustfully at the bookkeeper's stomach.

"Keep an eye on it," he warned.

In Charge of Mint

Moses Smith, the fellow who runs the local money factory and who tells the story of the belching bookkeeper, has to keep an eye on five and three-quarter billion dollars worth of gold.

The stuff is stored in a five story vault, and an extremely tricky mouse couldn't steal enough to fill his cheek.

Employees don't even have a chance to get rich accidentally.

At intervals their work clothes are burned and processed to recover the gold dust. The bath water used by the men at the end of the day, also is processed. One year the mint recovered $80,000 worth of gold from bath water, sweepings and clothing.

The Denver mint makes only coins and the overalls men who handle metal and machines are a pretty weary, bored-looking lot.

Not Very Enthusiastic

They feed the shining straps of silver and copper into the machines with about as much enthusiasm as a hired girl punches cookies from a sheet of dough.

Superintendent Smith said that every time a batch of coins goes through the puncher, or down the inspection belt, the whole lot is weighed.

"We don't have to count them to find if one's missing," Smith said. "We have the finest scales in the world."

The only really disappointing thing about a United States mint is the way the gold looks.

Gold ingots feel and look very cheap, somewhat like the stuff they smear on the saddles of merry-go-round horses, only duller. It has no smell and no sparkle and except for the fact it's worth $35 an ounce, is completely disappointing.

Go ahead and say it. Who are we kidding?

Power Shovel Operator Cheats Death Four Times in One Day

WAUKESHA, WIS.—It was a bad day—or a good day, depending on how you looked at it—for Orval Smith, a power shovel operator. He escaped death or serious injury four times in a few seconds.

First, the bucket on Smith's power shovel struck a gas main. Gas rushed out under 90 pounds of pressure. Smith wasn't smoking, and there was no explosion or fire.

Smith jerked the boom upward and to the left. The bucket and crane tangled with three power lines, each carrying 4,000 volts.

The power shovel became charged with electricity, but Smith was saved from electrocution because the machine formed a ground under him. That was escape No. 2.

The electricity did not spark, and the still escaping gas did not explode. Escape No. 3.

About that time Smith thought he'd get out of his precarious situation. He jumped from the machine to the ground—thereby beating death for the fourth time. If he had crawled out of the cab with one foot on the machine and the other on the ground, he probably would have been electrocuted.

Smith had been excavating basements for homes.

Brother's Pleas Save Man Slashing at Police With Knife

ELIZABETH, N. J.—Chester Bohuk came running down the street, the blade of his long knife catching the rays of the street light.

Two patrolmen, Frederick Erleben and Robert Dering, didn't need to give chase. Bohuk headed directly for them.

"I'm going to give it to you," he shouted, slashing wildly with his knife.

Dering swung with his nightstick but missed, and Erleben, barely sidestepping one of Bohuk's slashes, drew his revolver.

The clatter of running feet echoed again over the almost deserted sidewalk.

"Don't shoot him! Don't shoot him!" the newcomer shouted as he ran.

"I'm Stanley Bohuk," he cried. "That's my brother Chester. Let me talk to him."

Stanley came away with the knife, and Chester walked silently to the two policemen and surrendered.

He just doesn't like policemen, Chester told the judge.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q—I wish to purchase an automobile house trailer that I can use during my vacation. Will Veterans Administration guarantee a loan for the purchase?
A—No. Loans for pleasure purposes cannot be guaranteed or insured by Veterans Administration.

Q—I would like to change the beneficiary on my National Service Life Insurance without letting the old beneficiary know about it. May I do this?
A—Yes. A veteran may change the beneficiary or beneficiaries of his National Service Life Insurance at any time without their knowledge or consent.

Q—One of my arms was amputated because of injuries received while I was in the armed services during World War II. May I select the type of artificial arm I want and the firm I want to buy it from?
A—Yes, you will be permitted to select the artificial arm of your choice, but it must be purchased from an approved prosthetic appliance manufacturer under contract with Veterans Administration.

Q—To what benefits is a veteran with a yellow or blue discharge entitled?
A—A yellow discharge from the Army is dishonorable and the veteran is not entitled to Veterans Administration benefits. A yellow discharge from the Navy may be honorable or other than honorable. If the Navy discharge is dishonorable, the veteran is ineligible for benefits. If the Navy discharge was issued under conditions other than honorable, the veteran is entitled to file a claim and VA will determine whether the discharge was issued under dishonorable or other than honorable conditions. The latter also applies to blue discharges from the Army.

VETERANS' NEWS

The physically disabled, when properly placed, make slightly better workers than the able-bodied, a study prepared by the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics for the Veterans Administration reveals.

The study matched the work performance of some 11,000 impaired and 18,000 unimpaired employees in all major industries. The survey discloses the following:
Handicapped workers suffered fewer serious accidents than the able-bodied.
The disabled experienced the same number of minor injuries as their able-bodied fellow workers.
Production records of the impaired were higher than records of the unimpaired.
The disabled were absent from work more frequently than the able-bodied.
The voluntary quit rate of the handicapped was higher than the rate of the able-bodied.

According to the study, impaired workers experienced 8-9 serious disabling accidents per 1,000,000 man-hours worked, compared with 9.5 accidents for the able-bodied.
Veterans assigned "C" (claims) numbers by Veterans Administration are urged to memorize them, so they can use the numbers readily when they write or call VA about their benefits.
Use of "C" numbers speeds up service to veterans, VA said.
A number is issued to each veteran applying for compensation, pension, schooling, on-the-job training or other VA administered benefits. The number, appearing on his case folder, will identify him in VA records the rest of his life, and may be used by dependents after his death.
With some 20,000,000 veterans' names in VA's files, "C" numbers often are the final means by which VA can distinguish one veteran from another.

Cowboy Travels The Globe With Wheelbarrow

NEW YORK.—A very pushy fellow arrived in town and immediately pushed his way into the limelight without any trouble. He was Larry Hightower, who had behind him 7,426 miles of travel and in front of him a 103-pound wheelbarrow which he says he is pushing around the world.

Why? Well, as one of the spectators remarked, among the hundreds who gathered quickly every time Larry stopped to light a cigaret. "This is a free country, isn't it? If he wants to do it, who can stop him?"

Thus far nothing has stopped Larry, a World War I veteran and a former cowpuncher. He left Ellensburg, Wash., two years ago, and expects to finish his wheeling in 10 more years.

He has pushed the wheelbarrow through 19 states, Mexico and Canada, through rain, hail, sleet, dog days, two cyclones, ambushes by a lobo wolf and a cougar, 10,000 questions and six traffic tickets for speeding and going the wrong way on a one way street.

He Answers Questions
Larry took on all comers, answered questions with aplomb, delivered a brief health talk, and another on Americanism. He said he's given Americanism talks at 212 high schools and at Drake university and the University of Notre Dame.

"You sure look healthy," said one Arthur Brown, 60. "How do you do it?"

"Walking is what does it," Larry replied—a little unnecessarily it seemed.

Larry has a pair of earphones, likes to listen to his crystal radio as he covers his average of 16 miles a day. His favorite programs are of symphonic music. He's not interested in marches, and his most liked western song is not "Wagon Wheels" but "Home on the Range," where he hopes to be 10 years hence.

Outside Tucson, Ariz., a lobo wolf serenaded Larry for three miles. These wolves are "nasty fellers," he said, and he was glad when this one decided not to follow him around the world. Coming over the Sierras in California, a cougar nearly canceled all Larry's plans, and Larry himself, by jumping from a high rocky ledge and missing him by a mere 10 feet.

Carries Supplies
The wheelbarrow contains a kit of utility supplies with oil of wintergreen for rubdowns, a bottle of methallate for insect bites, soap, a foot antiseptic, shaving soap, shaving brush, lotion and razor. Also, a navy battle flag which saw Pacific action in World War II, the flag of the city of Cleveland, a flag of the state of Washington, with autographs by governors of nine other states, a letterbox for correspondence, a Bible, a jacket, a slicker, dungarees, maps, a tool kit and eight log books.

Larry wears a jacket with translucent red cuffs and collar and a red bicycle taillight on the back, for night pushing. The wheelbarrow has a headlight and a speedometer.

From New York he expects to go to London, then to Burma, Iran, Greece, North Africa, Germany, France, Spain, Portugal, California and cross-country again to Washington, D. C. "That'll total 28,500 land miles and the next fellow will think twice before he starts," Larry said.

Idaho Police Chase Weaving Truck; Find Collie at Wheel

IDAHO FALLS, IDA.—Two officers, William Naef and Ray Jones, pursued a truck they saw weaving down the highway. It was quite a job to get the driver to stop.

Ready for a drunk driver, an argumentative driver, a sleeping driver, an inexperienced driver, or almost any other kind, they still weren't ready for what they found when they pulled the truck door open—a collie dog on the driver's seat, his paws on the wheel.

The vehicle had no other occupants.
Some time later, after a search of the neighborhood, the officers solved the mystery. Two youngsters admitted they had taken the truck for a spin, saw the officers coming and jumped out, leaving their dog to do the driving.

County Supervisors 'Pass the Buck' to Solve Legal Tangle

SUPERIOR, WIS.—It was a cool, sunny day and Douglas county supervisors had no stomach for any kind of red tape.

But there was that annoying little detail of an $8 coal bill that had to be taken care of. The coal was delivered last winter to a relief client who since had died. Now the county had the bill.

It was a legal puzzle over what funds should be used to take care of it.

One look out of the window at the clear blue sky settled the matter for the eight supervisors. Each pulled out a dollar bill and clipped it to the relief voucher.

Free High Test Gasoline Irks Dairy Farmer

DENVER.—More than 6,000 gallons of high test gasoline, retailing at 30 cents a gallon, seeped into the water wells of dairy farmer Philip Schweider, truck gardener Carl Stone and Mrs. Bonnie Perko, wife of a bus driver.

First the gasoline was just a nuisance. Now it has become a menace. It has restricted them to dribbles of drinking water from deep artesian wells which also are on their property.
At the Perko residence, gasoline fumes permeated the basement and forced Mrs. Perko to switch from open flame gas cooking to electrical cooking because of the fire hazard.

Stone said that the gasoline seeped into the soil of his truck farm and irrigation well, leaving his farm blighted with dull brown petroleum smears.

Schweider, hard pressed for water for his dairy herd, said, "If the seepage isn't stopped, it might cost me my farm."

Nobody knows where the gasoline is coming from. State and city officials haven't been able to trace the flow and experts from two gasoline depots located more than a mile away said that they had not found any leakage from their tanks.

All agree that it can't be natural because the fluid tests as high octane motor fuel—with anti-knock compounds added.

The city fire department issued a stern warning that fires would be lighted at the property owners' risk after a minor explosion popped the tin roofing from Stone's well.

Tuner Finds Whisky Bottles, Cats, Coins Inside Pianos

BOSTON.—An expert piano tuner said that you're liable to find anything in a piano—ranging from trapped cats to Scotch whisky.

Leslie Hoskins, executive secretary of the American Society of Piano Technicians, listed some of the odd objects he's come across—coins, clothing, rings, lockets, wrist watches and mice nests.

"Once I found six whisky bottles," he said.

Even neat housewives sometimes ruin pianos.

"They drop in moth balls—worst thing you can do to a piano," he said.

'Castaways' in Harbor Get Sympathy but Not for Long

BOSTON.—Sympathy almost burst the buttons on blue-coated bosoms when two bedraggled men were found clinging to driftwood in Boston Harbor.

The castaways said they had been in the water 23 hours—since their fishing boat sank.
A police boat rushed them ashore. A police ambulance hurried them to City hospital.

The press interviewed and photographed the pair as they departed after treatment for immersion. A reporter gave them a dollar for taxi fare.

"Yep," said Maj. George Mulcahy, master of the Deer Island House of Correction, as he later scanned the photos. They're William A. Grinnell of Portland, Ore., and William Strachen, of Boston.
"They escaped from the Island where they were each doing six months."

Pharmacists Shun Drug Store 'Cowboys' as Non-Spenders

SPRINGFIELD, ILL.—Druggists no longer welcome the high school crowds who used their stores as hangouts before the war, according to the president of the Illinois Pharmaceutical association.

Labor costs have risen so much, Harold W. Wild said, that nickel and dime soda fountain drinks show little if any profit.

Druggists discourage lingering over drinks. Some now charge a minimum of 15 cents per customer. Others use a more direct method. They are chasing the high school crowds out.

Wild said druggists are forced to keep a steady stream of customers to show a profit.

Wild has his own solution to the problem. He took his soda fountain out.

Baby Sitters Draft Code For Parents to Follow

FORT WAYNE, IND.—The parent who "rates" with a teen-age baby sitter is usually one who lives up to seven qualifications.

That was one of the conclusions reached at a "baby sitters' clinic" sponsored by the College club here. Teen-age participants in a panel discussion said parents should always leave soft drinks, cookies and magazines around for them to read during the evening.

Also important, they felt, was that the parents "have the situation well in hand, leave brief and complete instructions, leave a phone number, return when they promise, show appreciation of a job well done, and escort them home safely."

 We wonder if Teresa enjoyed her trip to New Mexico? Huh? What is it? Everybody has been wondering. Then someone told us. Jett has a new car.

The most asked question around High School is: "Have you got your book report for Wednesday?"
 What's this I hear about Flute and Carol going back to grade school? Girls that is.

Those dignified Seniors weren't in their suits and long skirts for nothing Thursday morning! They were having their pictures made.

Has the depression hit? Thursday morning I noticed the Senior boys managed to get their suit jackets and ties but I also noticed their $3.98 levies.

Jim Mercer is getting mighty thoughtful, carrying that little 1/2 blond neighbor girl around all the time. Jean?

Can anyone tell me why Lil' Tom Bomar has tried so hard to learn to cook? Could it be that she and Roxie plan to operate a Plumnelly of their own someday?

Have you noticed here Joye Brown's and Ukey Gilkerson's "A" drop on Fridays? Could that occur because Beebie Garvin and "Tater" Woods come home every Friday?

Has everyone noticed those San Diego sailors in Silverton this week? Undoubtedly Nelda Montague and Beth Joiner have!

What's this I hear about the organization of High School band? Kids lets really talk it up.

Automobile Trails of Tomorrow

THE FIVE BEST youthful automobile designers in the country are shown above with their model cars which won national awards of university scholarships in the 1948 Fisher Body Craftsman's Guild competition just completed. They are (left to right) Tom Goad, Birmingham, Mich., $4,000; Howard Eichen, San Francisco, $3,000; Harold Simon, San Antonio, Texas, $2,000; Harvey Whitman, Jackson, Mich., $4,000; and Ronald Johnson, Portland, Ore., $4,000. These futuristic models might well be seen on the highways a few years hence if the boys make careers of automobile designing.

This fabulous Cinderella series has presented hundreds of gifts to lucky women during its three years on the air. "Queen for a Day" was broadcast at the Panhandle South Plains Fair grounds in Lubbock on September 27, 28 and 29. The show started at 12 o'clock noon and lasted for one and one-half hours.

American Milking Shorthorn Society Establishes Independent Registry

The American Milking Shorthorn Society has recently set up its own independent registry office for Milking Shorthorn cattle. This was done upon the unanimous vote of the member breeders and, according to Secretary W. J. Hardy, because this branch of the Shorthorn breed had made such rapid growth in the past decade that it was felt to be in the best interests of the members to record and promote their cattle under independent direction.

This branch of the Shorthorn breed should not be confused with the Beef Type Shorthorn, although formerly all the registration work had been handled by the American Shorthorn Breeders' association. The new organization makes its debut with 8,000 member breeders who are highly enthused and full of plans for the future promotion of their chosen breed.

Mr. Keith King is the president—an active breeder who resides at Victoria, Ill. King also is one of the inspectors on selection of cattle for the forthcoming National Breed Show and Sale at Dallas, Tex., Oct. 18 and 19. This is perhaps the biggest feature among the many plans for promotion and is unique in the fact that it will be a show of "State Herds," something no other cattle breed has ever done. The first show of its kind was held at Kansas City last year and was highly successful.

In the picture is President King (in dark suit) looking over a likely prospect for the national event where these dual-purpose cattle will be showing for $5,000 in premiums and which, after the showing, the best animals will be selected and sold at auction. The first annual meeting of the society will be held at this time also and more than 1,000 members and delegates are expected to be present.

Offices of the American Milking Shorthorn Society are located at 4122 S. Union Ave., Chicago 9, Ill.

Best Tressed

Movie stars following the predictions of M. Louis, hair fashion forecaster for the American Hairdresser, illustrate hair trends for the next six months. Left is Lina Romay, currently appearing in "Joe Palooka—The Big Fight" a Monogram film, with her hair done by Lela Chambers, studio hair dresser. Right, with another style variation, is Binnie Barnes, star of Mutual's radio show "Leave It To The Girls", who has just left for England to do a picture.

Short Hair with Emphasis on Feminine Allure Forecast for Next Six Months

Hollywood stars are six months ahead of the times in grooming their hair.

And this means that the women of the nation will not be far behind when it comes to following the stars. The short hair trend with emphasis on soft feminine alluring lines is due to continue into 1949, according to the hair fashion forecast by M. Louis in the American Hairdresser, leading publication of the beauty industry. Such stars as Irene Dunne, Loretta Young, Lina Romay, Ida Lupino, Binnie Barnes and Claudette Colbert set the pace in the movie capital.

In the fall styles the hair is combed out freely in the back, giving a pleasingly full effect without disturbing the basic cap contour line. Interest is added by a slight upward movement of the wave, clearly defined on the side in contrast to the present horizontal forward movement of the wave. These newer lines can be varied, modified or exaggerated to flatter each individual wearer.

Next year the lines of the hair will swing toward a new line in which the top will be flat, spreading into fullness above the temples. This movement is also predicted in the American Hairdresser.

In making these styles available to thousands of beauty salons throughout the country for the benefit of style-conscious American women, Hazel L. Kozlay, editor-in-chief of the publication points out:

"Within the current trend, styles will remain short, sleek and feminine. But they will continue away from the stereotyped severity of the cap coifs which are far from flattering to many types of faces. Thus, even with the shortest, smart styling will make the hair appear more abundant without sacrificing the freedom and comfort of shorter hair. Hairdressers will adapt these general lines to each individual so they will be most becoming and flattering."
