FARMERS MOVE THE EARTH

Power machinery is doing much to increase earth-moving soil conservation practices, says the county committee of the Briscoe County Agricultural Conservation Association. Through the use of bulldozers, carry-alls, and other big earth moving equipment, farmers are able to build dams, terraces, level land and carry out other effective conservation measures. The conservation work that would require days of hard labor or man and team labor can be completed in a few hours.

Progress of this kind is an important factor in conservation work since time is a real consideration, says the County Committee. "We have lost more soil than we can afford to lose and it is more than we think."

Heavy equipment now available for dirt-moving enables farmers to build quickly the terraces needed to keep fields from washing away. Dams for the control of erosion and for livestock water are constructed in a short time, the use of the dam is speeded up and benefits from better distribution of livestock are quickly apparent. Improved equipment for land-leveling is helping to make more effective use of the limited irrigation water and checking soil losses due to improper irrigation.

FARM BUREAU MEETING IN LUBBOCK

A district Farm Bureau meeting will be held at the Lubbock Hotel in Lubbock on Wednesday, October 13, it has been announced by J. Walter Hammond, president of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation. W. R. Tilson of Meadow, Texas, district director, will preside. The meeting will start at 10:00 a. m.

This will be one of a series of 13 district meetings being held throughout Texas during the month of October, for the purpose of bringing farmers and ranchmen first-hand information on the immediate agricultural situation, and the economic conditions of the nation as a whole, and go get the thinking from the grass-roots with reference to agricultural matters.

Farm prices have dropped 30 percent in the past nine months, and farmers' buying power has been reduced 18 per cent," Hammond said. "Only through a workable, long range farm program that will provide for adequate price supports for farm commodities, can this nation enjoy a balanced economy and avoid another depression such as was experienced in the early thirties," he declared. The long range farm bill hastily passed during the last session of Congress will not adequately safeguard the interests of agriculture, and it will take a strong organization of farmers in this nation to secure necessary amendments to this bill at the next session, the federation president emphasized.

Texas Farm Bureau's membership goal for 1948 is 60,000.

Durst was commissioned a Ranger in 1918, serving on the Texas border patrol. He joined the refinery guard force immediately after Pearl Harbor. A protection system, only slightly relaxed from that used in wartime, is still maintained at this refinery, country's largest in point of production, to safeguard petroleum resources so critical to both the national defense and economy.

Jeanie Davis Honored On Second Birthday

Mrs. Gordon Montague and Mrs. Mills were hostess to a birthday party Wednesday afternoon honoring Jeanie Davis, small daughter of Edwin Davis, on her second birthday. The centerpiece was pink and white carnations arranged in a pink lamb on a revolving disc. The children enjoyed opening presents and playing. There were fifteen children present to enjoy the beautiful birthday cake. The plate favors were balloons and candy suckers dressed in colored crepe paper dresses.

Those present were: Dianne Davis, Shelia Jarnigan, Beverly Jeffers, Sandra Watters, Sharon Weavers, Beckie Cowart, Dwin Davis, Dwight Rampley, Wayne Nance, Garner Garrison, Dennis Roe Dickinson, Joe Edd Mills, Joe Kitchen and Jeanie Davis. The dormitory will be named Hunter Memorial Hall in recognition of the late Judge Hunter's service to the petroleum industry.

After a disastrous road trip to Kress, the Silvertown Owls take to the road again Friday, October 15, to test the strength of the Estelline grid machine at 8 o'clock at Estelline.

For almost three quarters the Silvertown gridders refused to be awed by the powerful Kress Kangaroos, but fell completely apart in the last quarter to allow the Kress team a 39-14 victory.

Jett Mason exploded 76 yards to a score on the second play of the game and Rhea made good the extra point to put the Owls in front where they stayed for the first quarter.

Kress went ahead in the second quarter on a 20 yard touchdown run and a pass play touchdown that resulted from a pass interception shortly before the half.

The Owls knotted the count again in the third quarter. The fourth quarter started with the teams deadlocked at 14—all. However, the Silvertown team had played a brilliant three quarters of football and decided that was enough. They broke wide open and allowed the Kangaroos to tally 25 points in the fourth quarter to win 39-14.

In the course of the game, the Kangaroos turned three pass interceptions and one costly fumble into touchdowns.

ESTELLINE NEXT IN LINE

The Estelline game should be a corker in comparison to scores. Kress beat Estelline 31 points and Silvertown 25 points. That makes Silvertown 6 points better but due to the poor condition the Owls came out of the Kress game, the Estelline game should be interesting to watch.

CAPSULE FOOD

Pills Make Poor Meals

LONDON. — Dr. Hellmuth Edhardt Heitz, one of the world's leading authorities on concentrated foods, says future generations need not fear the advent of capsuled beefsteaks or pillbox strawberry shortcake.

Heitz, who began experimenting with food concentrates nearly 20 years ago after getting the idea during a big game hunt, asserted that capsuled food could never be substituted for solids as a permanent diet.

However, he believes capsuled food has its place, and an important one, especially in an emergency.

The naturalized Briton, who studied medicine at the University of Vienna, is now the head of Allied laboratories, which manufactures emergency rations in tablet form at the rate of two million a week.

Heitz's ration is contained in a pill the size of a quarter, called Etagone. It was used during the war by the British merchant navy, commandos and ambulance units and now is being converted for peacetime.

Plans Large Scale Test. The doctor said a large scale test would be conducted shortly in a famine area. He said Etagone also would be a fit luncheon for a harassed office worker.

"It is far healthier to have one of my pills than to gobble down a badly made sandwich and suffer indigestion," he contended.

Heitz said Etagone, which will keep a man comfortably for five and a half days without food or water, comes in many flavors. Favorite flavor during the war with the British navy was a banana and caramel mixture.

"This flavor selecting is a delicate thing," he explained. "We must be careful to pick one that does not produce thirst." He said that ruled out beefsteak flavor.

Tailored for Taste. Etagone will be tailored to taste for various foreign countries, he said, although the ingredients are the same. He said China, for instance, might want a pressed duck flavor in their Etagone, while lemon probably would be popular in the United States.

Heitz said he would go to America to see about prospects for manufacturing Etagone there.

The scientist said he conducted many of the initial tests himself. He lived for five and a half days on Etagone.

"I had no thirst at all and slept better than usual," he said. He hopes to store enough energy in Etagone to last a man for one week, which he considers the maximum.

The tablets contain no moisture but are designed to prevent any feeling of thirst by helping the body make the best use of its water reserves. Etagone provides the equivalent of nine-elevenths of an ounce of fresh meat protein and the same amount of minerals as a day's ordinary diet, with a half ounce of dextrin and ovolectin.

The dose is four tablets a day.

Woman's Death Ends Six-Year Vigil Over Hoarded Fortune

WARREN, OHIO. — An aged woman, who lived in squalor amid a small fortune she guarded day and night with three revolvers for six years, died here and police were busy tabulating her wealth.

Mrs. Carrie G. Mountain, a fragile 90-year-old retired house servant, died of the infirmities of old age in the ramshackle frame house where she had lived for 56 years.

After her death police revealed she had spent every night of the last six years sleeping in a chair, guarding her wealth with three revolvers kept on a small table nearby.

Police said she died a few hours after her guardian, Cliff Bland, had deposited to her account $23,000 in cash found hidden in old boxes in the house.

Mrs. Mountain had lived in her lonely house a few yards from the Warren business district, to all intents poverty-stricken. Friends said "she never ate much and wouldn't even spend money to keep warm in winter."

Not until the probate court ordered Bland to search her premises, was it known that Mrs. Mountain had any great amount of money. Bland and police quickly found more than $15,000 in $50 and $100 bills hidden in a moldy shoe box in her bedroom.

Sultan Favors Mass Weddings As Progressive Development

SINGAPORE. — The sultan of Selangor is urging conservative Malays to adopt mass weddings.

"In these days of progressive development," he is quoted as saying, "we want to do things in a rapid, smart, efficient, attractive and economical manner."

The sultan has offered one of his palaces for mass weddings. During the occupation a mass wedding was attempted but failed because few people were interested. A recent survey shows the younger generation favors removing some of the gingerbread from the traditional three day ceremony, which is primarily Hindu in origin.

Drunk? Cops Say Yes but—

SANTA FE, N. M.—State police solved the mystery of the tipsy patrol car. But for a time, it was embarrassing.

The police telephone started ringing with reports that a car bearing state police markings was fouling up traffic here and the driver obviously was drunk.

State police explained they had sold one of their cars to a used-car dealer. The official markings never had been removed, and Domingo Dolores Angel, 22 years old, took it for a spin. He pleaded guilty to drunken driving and was fined $100.

Alone, Maine Man Sails Yawl Across Atlantic in 55 Days

NORTHEAST HARBOR, ME.—A 23-year-old marine engineer guided his doughty yawl into this harbor after a 3,600-mile solo sail across the Atlantic that he claimed clipped a day from the 56-day record for the lonely trip.

Bronzed and smiling happily through a 55-day beard growth, Joseph Patterson of Bangor arrived aboard the 33-foot Seven Seas which he had brought by himself all the way from Setubal, Portugal.

"Got a new record," he called to bemused waterfront residents who flocked down from their homes when news of his arrival spread swiftly through Northeast Harbor.

"Did it in 55 days and that's one day shorter than the record," he said. "Might have made it three days sooner if I'd had a better break in the weather.

"I stocked plenty of provisions," he said. "I had canned meats and plenty of vegetables and fruit juices and about 150 gallons of water. I used only about 40 gallons of water, though, because some of it was pretty rusty."

The Seven Seas was equipped with a diesel engine, but this broke down one day out of Setubal, he said. His radio went dead two days before he sighted the Maine coast.

"I ran into a lot of little squams," he said, "but only one of them really hung on. That was a beaut. Lasted two days and slowed me down quite a bit."

The Seven Seas boasted a roomy cabin with four large bunks and a galley. The vessel was equipped with electricity and a 10-foot rowboat was perched upside down on the roof of the cuddy.

Lonely?

"Guess I should have been, but I wasn't," Patterson said with a laugh. "I just took my time and did a lot of reading and a little fishing and goldbricked around the Atlantic ocean. I was having too good a time to be lonely."

Boy, 12, Escapes From Bear After Exchanging Blows

EVERETT, WASH.—Twelve-year-old Larry Nowlin had a bear story, and he still trembled as he told it.

Larry and two other boys were returning from fishing in a creek south of Everett when, he said, he encountered a bruin in a wooded section near the city park.

The boy had fallen behind when his line became entangled in the brush. He just had freed his pole and line and was setting out after his companions, he said, when the bear burst from the bushes.

"I practically ran right into him," the boy said. "The bear swung at me and ripped my shirt. (He has holes in it as evidence). I took my hunting knife and slashed at the bear and then ran as fast as I could."

It was fast enough. The bear hasn't been seen since. The fright-

Home Coming at Tech College Set For October 30th

With a record 6,000 visitors expected, Texas Technological college this week was preparing for the largest annual Homecoming of its 23-year history.

The October 30 homecoming program will include a giant parade, a luncheon, an afternoon football game between Tech's Red Raiders and Rice Institute Owls, and a dance.

Ordinarily only two sections of Tech's stadium are required at homecoming to handle ex-students, but officials said three sections were reserved this year and these are sold out.

Only about 2,000 general admission seats remain to be sold, and indications are that nearly 25,000 persons, the largest crowd in Tech history, will witness the game. Rice will be making its first visit to Lubbock, the five previous meetings between the Owls having taken place in Houston.

All clubs on the Tech campus have been asked to enter floats in the 10 a. m. parade. Judges will award prizes to the most beautiful, most comical and most descriptive float.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q—I am a disabled veteran. Am I entitled to increased compensation because of my dependents?
A—If your disability rating is 60 per cent or more, you should submit to Veterans Administration documentary evidence of the existence of a wife or child or evidence of dependency of your parents so that you may qualify for increased compensation payments under Public Law 877 of the 80th Congress.

Q—My father is supporting a large family. May I claim him as a dependent while I am in training under the G-I Bill?
A—Dependency will be held to exist if your father does not have an income sufficient to provide reasonable maintenance for himself and members of his family under legal age, or members of his family otherwise dependent by reason of mental or physical incapacity.

Q—I am going to college under the G-I Bill and would like to know whether I will have to refund the tuition if I leave school before the end of the school year?
A—If you drop out of college before the end of the period for which tuition has to be paid by Veterans Administration, you will have to pay VA for the time you did not attend school or you will lose the training time covered by the payments.

Q—Is the amount of disability compensation in any way affected by the amount of money I earn or receive from other sources?
A—No.

$3,094,000 U. S. Seizes Fake Money

WASHINGTON—More than two-thirds of the $3,094,000 in counterfeit American money seized in the last year was made in Europe, the secret service reported. It was the biggest volume of seizures since the service was created in 1865.

James J. Maloney, chief of the secret service, said in a report to John W. Snyder, secretary of the treasury, that over two-thirds of the imitation currency was grabbed at Marseilles, France.

Maloney reported that "by far the greatest enforcement problem" now is the theft and forgery of government checks—mostly tax refunds—and savings bonds. More than 32,000 forged checks and 11,000 forged bonds were received for investigation.

The millions of taxpayers who regularly receive government checks for other purposes, were urged to watch their mail boxes carefully. Merchants were asked to demand positive identification before cashing checks.

Make Big Haul

Fake United States currency amounting to $2,145,200 was seized in a large plant in Marseilles by U. S. secret service agents and French police. Twelve counterfeiters now await trial in French courts. Other foreign seizures totaled $201,596. Only $42,566 got into circulation here, mostly through immigrants who bought it in good faith overseas.

Domestic counterfeiting also increased, but not alarmingly. Some $747,434 in home-made bills and coins were captured. All but $100,000 worth was seized before it could be passed. The secret service arrested 2,278 persons in the year, including 1,964 for check and bond forgery and 158 for counterfeiting.

Other arrests included nine men in Florida and Georgia who proved also to be stolen-car racketeers. This haul brought in $60,000 in counterfeit notes as well as a quantity of stolen New Jersey auto-registration certificates. The defendants were sentenced to terms ranging from three to seven years each.

Question Suspect

One bond-forgery case developed odd quirks. Maloney related these details: Agents from Los Angeles questioned Roy L. Bowman, gas station owner at Madera, Calif., as to what he knew about some United States savings bonds stolen in Avondale, Colo., in a safe burglary.

The questioning had hardly begun when Bowman interrupted with: "Okey, boys, I knew you'd catch up with me as soon as you nabbed Billy Williams." He thereupon confessed to forging bonds given him by Williams. The agents had no idea who Williams was, but set out to find him.

With only the name to guide them, they canvassed California hotels and tourist camps, finally locating Williams and his 17-year-old wife in Fresno. When questioned about the bonds, Williams made the same mistake as Bowman. He thought the agents knew all about his career of crime and confessed a trail of burglaries and bond forgeries over most of the United States. Both men are awaiting trial.

Political Candidate Tests Oratory on Bandit but Fails

VENTURA, CALIF.—Republican Assembly Candidate Charles Teague had a chance to test his oratory and lost.

Teague and his wife were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Price of Ojai. Together with the Charles Raymonds they were playing cards when a masked youth burst into the room armed with a small-bore rifle.

The youth demanded that the card players toss their wallets to him.

Teague, a Ventura attorney, started to talk. He tried to persuade the teenage intruder to mend his ways. He told the boy that it was not too late to avoid a life of crime.

The boy pondered Teague's words for a few minutes and then decided he liked banditry better. He departed with three wallets containing $150.

Hit by Bottle, Wrestling Fan Is Awarded Damages by Court

RICHMOND, VA.—The state supreme court of appeals is pondering this one.

A Norfolk circuit court awarded Mrs. Virginia G. Cox, a wrestling fan, $1,500 damages from Bill Lewis, promoter, because Mrs. Cox was struck in the head by a whisky bottle while watching a match.

Mrs. Cox claimed damages because she said she was struck with the flying bottle after the audience became aroused when a wrestler, Jimmy Coffield, stuck his opponent with a pin.

She charged that Lewis should not have permitted such conduct in the ring.

Lewis appealed with the defense that he had tried to keep bottles out of the auditorium. His petition also said Mrs. Cox should have realized "that wrestling matches are not tea parties."

Twins Visit Come By Chance

COME BY CHANCE, NEW-FOUNDLAND.—A likelier spot than this couldn't have been found for the infant children of Mrs. Edward Carroll of Placentia, Newfoundland.

As the Newfoundland Express left Gander, Mrs. Carroll, a passenger, informed porter Leo Murphy that "I am going to have a baby." He toured the train and came back with Dr. Ian Fraser. They made hasty preparations and a few minutes later a boy was born.

Half an hour later the boy had a twin sister.

And not long after that, the train pulled into Come By Chance, where the family was transferred to a hospital. They're all doing fine.

John, the Monkey, Outsmarts John, The Scientist

LEXINGTON, KY.—John, a wily monkey, is making University of Kentucky scientists wish they never heard of Darwin.

John, and his mate, Phyllis, were living a happy life in a cage in the biological science building, just minding their own monkey business. Then John decided to take off.

Since then scientists have been trying to lure John back home. But John won't lure. His favorite hide-away is the home of Dr. John M. Edney of the university zoological department.

Edney tried to persuade John to hit the road. But John isn't fazed by the gentle brushoff. He has decided to stay.

Edney tried whisky, hoping to get John pie-eyed and then cart him back home.

A true Kentuckian, John loved the bourbon. He lapped it up. But like a good toper, he didn't pass out.

Subtly and underhanded methods failing, Edney chose brute force. He laid down shiny traps throughout the yard and garden.

Behind hidden doors, Edney and the neighbors waited, tense with anticipation. It looked as though John was ready to be sprung.

Cautiously, John approached a trap, fascinated by man's skillful contrivance. He sniffed at it. Gingerly, he put his paw into a spring. With a flicker of defiance, a gesture of derision, he released the spring.

Then he scampered off, still free.

Frenchmen Want Law Altered So Maladors May Kill Bulls

JUAN-LES-PINS, FRANCE.—The bull fight season has reopened on the French Riviera for the first time since the war.

Killing of bulls in a ring is forbidden by French law. However, there is a strong movement in this part of France to rescind the law.

Before the war, killings often took place in the ancient Roman arenas of Prejus.

Like the Spaniards, French bull fighters wear gorgeous comic opera costumes. But they do not use such weapons as short swords and gilt-edged spikes. They just mark the bulls with colored "Cocardes," which are not stuck into the animal but are simply pasted on his hide with glue.

France's bull fight fans now object to this and demand the same type of fights that are held in Spain—including the killing of the bull.

Housing Problem? U. S. Offers To Rent West Indies Hotel

WASHINGTON.—Bluebeard's Castle, famed hotel in the Virgin islands, is for rent or sale, Secretary of the Interior J. A. Krug said.

It is already a money-making proposition. Secretary Krug said the present lessees, who have been paying the department of the interior an annual rental of $3,000 plus 50 per cent of the net profits, paid $18,000 in such fees last year. However, the department wants the project expanded for the good of the island tourist industry.

The hotel was built in 1934, as a $300,000 public works administration project, around an ancient watchtower at Charlotte Amalie, on St. Thomas island. The tower, according to legend, was Caribbean headquarters for a pirate known as Bluebeard.

'Shirt-Sleeved' Postman Retires After 41 Years

SAN ANTONIO, TEX.—San Antonio's shirt-sleeved walking man has retired.

He is George J. Krawitz, 70-year-old postman, who hung up his mail pouch for the last time after 41 years of delivering the mail.

Krawitz became known as "the iron man of the postoffice" because of his custom of always reporting for duty wearing a shirt with rolled up sleeves.

The "iron man" would make his route that way—in all kinds of weather—his shirt dripping wet or his bare arms covered with snow.

Apparently such light attire has been healthful. During 41 years of delivering the mail, Krawitz never missed a day because of illness. At the time of retirement he had 263 days accumulated sick leave.

Rev. W. H. Barnett Former Pastor Here Marries in Lubbock

Rev. W. H. Barnett, pastor of the Denver City Methodist church, and Mrs. Katy McMillan of Plainview, were married in a double ring ceremony Sunday morning at 9 o'clock at the home of Dr. and Mrs. L. N. Lipscomb, 1721 Twenty third. Dr. Lipscomb, retired Methodist minister performed the ceremony.

The couple left immediately on a leisurely trip to Colorado Springs, Denver, and other points of interest in that vicinity, will be at home in Denver where Rev. Barnett is in his second year as pastor.

The bride, widow of a Methodist minister, has been employed for several years in the post clerk's office at Plainview.

Beebie Garvin, Tater and Raymond McImpsey, are attending business college in Lubbock, spent the week end with relatives.

The Annual Staff was appointed by the faculty this week. The following students were chosen:
 Mickey Cornett, editor.
 Joy Brown and Marian Arnold associate editors.
 Larry Turner and Beth Joiner sports editors.
 La Bue Gilkeyson and Kenneth Withers art editors.
 Don Burson and Wayne McMurtry business managers.
 Mona Brock and Jim Mercer photographers.

A better annual is expected this year than in previous years. Last year we had forty-eight pages and this year plans have been made for sixty-four.

Junis Mercer was honored with a farewell party Saturday night in the home of Sandra Mallow. Cokes and cookies were served to many guests and a good time enjoyed by all.

The Senior Class of '49 ordered their graduation invitations Tuesday morning.

Is Jim Mercer really a thief or is it like he explained, a reflexion on his childhood experiences.

A costume party will be given by the Senior Class Saturday night the 30th of October. All high classes are invited and may invite one guest. All the money will go to the Senior Class.

If the Burson bank account goes too low this week just consult Joye Deavenport. Four calls a week to Abilene really runs into money Doesn't it Don?

It seems one just can't get help any more. At least on a six weeks test. One Freshman boy sent a paper clear around the room and still didn't get the answer to his question. Want these Freshmen ever learn?

Jean, Jim, Roxie and Tom like to go dating just as they are. At least I suppose that is because they've adapted a sudden love for drive-in Theaters.

Countess Tolstoy Interviewed

NEW YORK—(Soundphoto)—Countess Alexandra Tolstoy, first benefactress of Mrs. Aksana Kosenkina, was permitted to visit the seriously injured Soviet schoolteacher in Roosevelt Hospital here, and is shown as she later told reporters that the elderly refugee from Russian Consulate manhandling and imprisonment had asked to see a priest. The Countess, who is now an American citizen and prefers to be called Mrs. Tolstoy, said that Mrs. Kosenkina is "suffering greatly" after her leap for freedom, but was able to say "I am glad to suffer for the cause."
