IN FLANDERS' FIELDS

In Flanders' fields the poppies blow Between the crosses, row on row, That mark our place; and in the sky The larks still bravely singing fly, Scarcely heard amidst the guns below. We are the dead. Short days ago we lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow, Loved and were loved and now we lie In Flanders' fields. Take up our quarrel with the foe, To you from failing hands we throw The torch—be yours to hold it high; If ye break faith with us who die We shall not sleep, though poppies grow In Flanders' fields.

On Saturday, November 6, all of us will be asked to wear a little red poppy on our coats or dresses. The day will be Poppy Day when we of America pay tribute, by wearing their memorial flower, the poppy to those who gave their lives in America's service during the World Wars. And when we receive our poppy that day we will be aiding the war's living victims by the contribution we make for the flower.

The poppy comes to us from the fields of France and Belgium where the churning tide of war obliterated all touches of beauty except its brave red blooms. It comes to us from the shell-pitted battle areas and from among the wooden crosses of the war cemeteries. There it was nature's tribute to the heroic dead and here in America it is the tribute of patriots to those who made patriotism's highest sacrifice.

The poppies which we will wear on Poppy Day are not, of course, natural flowers from the battlefields. They are flowers which have even greater significance than any nature could produce. They have been grown in hospitals and work rooms where war's suffering still is going on. They have bloomed under the hands of men disabled in war—the comrades of those in whose honor they will be worn. Their petals are only paper and their stems wire, yet into them has been breathed the spirit of patriotic sacrifice, the spirit of those days when life itself was not too much to give for America.

The disabled veterans who make the poppies derive double benefit from the work. First, it gives them employment—their only chance to help support themselves and families. With strength and health gone, they cannot do regular work, earning money from each flower they make. Second, the work is of real value in aiding their recovery, occupying hands and minds, breaking the tedium of long idleness, and restoring spirit crushed by hopelessness.

The women who distribute the poppies, unlike the disabled veterans who make them, receive nothing for their effort—nothing tangible, that is, only the satisfaction of having helped brighten the memory of the dead and of having contributed to the welfare of the living.

The American Legion Auxiliary will have charge of the Poppy Day sale this Saturday. Wear a poppy in remembrance of those who died!

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Saul and children, of Mineral Wells, Texas, visited Mr. and Mrs. Gabe Garrison Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Durwood Brown and children, of Plainview, visited Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Roy Brown.

Young cowhands at Boy's Ranch, Amarillo, are bursting with pride over their newest building—the non-denominational chapel. Jack Dempsey, former world heavyweight champion boxer and a true friend of boys, recently visited the Ranch and a group of the boys took him to the new chapel, moved to the Ranch from Dalhart Air Base. The building was given two coats of paint by members of the Amarillo Junior Chamber of Commerce. Non-denominational services are conducted every Sunday in the new chapel. "Now the Ranch has everything," Dempsey said. "It's wonderful that the boys have a place to worship."

Large Crowd Pay Final Tribute To N. R. "Jake" Honea Thursday

One of the largest crowds ever to pay final tribute to a Briscoe County citizen was to their beloved ex-sheriff "Jake" Honea Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Silvertown cemetery. Judge O. R. Tipps, of Wichita Falls, Texas, former Briscoe County Judge, and a close friend of the Honea family, made the graveside talk, assisted by Rev. Marvin Brotherton of Matador and Rev. Grady Adecock, of Silvertown.

Mr. Honea was born February 20, 1889, in Johnson County, Texas. With his parents he moved to Briscoe County the following year and had lived here since that time, with the exception of ten years, from 1908 to 1918, spent in Nebraska.

He operated a farm near Quitaque until the time of his death. A part of this farm was the original homestead filed on by his father in 1890.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Jessie Honea of Silvertown; two sisters, Mrs. Van Meter and Mrs. Odin Wilson of Quitaque, and a brother, Briscoe C. Honea of Carson City, Nevada.

Burial was under the direction of Stewart-Douglas Funeral Home of Silvertown.

The former Briscoe County sheriff was killed instantly at 7 o'clock Tuesday evening, October 26, 1948 when his car jammed the rear-end of a pick-up truck about five miles east of Silvertown on Highway 86 between Silvertown and Quitaque.

Mr. Honea was attempting to pass the pick-up, operated by Elmer Vaughn of Silvertown, when a car coming from the opposite direction forced him back into the right hand traffic lane and his vehicle jammed the one he had attempted to pass. He was killed instantly. Vaughn was slightly injured but was not hospitalized.

He was instrumental in breaking a number of the outlaw gangs which preyed on this part of the country in the early thirties. Among the notorious outlaws he assisted in apprehending were John "Perchmouth" Stanton and Glen Hunsucker. Hunsucker was from Quitaque and Stanton also frequented this area.

The pair teamed up and harried the area for months. After Swisher County Sheriff John Mosley of Tulia had been shot to death by the two desperadoes, the Briscoe County sheriff took the trail.

At the head of a posse of Texans, he cornered the pair in a cave near Roswell, New Mexico. Hunsucker was killed and the posse laid siege to the cavern until the "Perchmouth" was starved out. Stanton was later electrocuted for his part in the killing of Sheriff Mosley.

On another occasion Sheriff Honea cornered three men in the cedar brakes near Quitaque after they had burglarized a hardware store. Sheriff Honea shot it out with the outlaws and after seriously wounding one, he captured all three. While the wounded man was in the hospital he visited him. The trio served prison sentences and later came back to Silvertown frequently to visit their friend, the sheriff who sent them to prison.

The story goes that the sheriff once captured three young men, just out of their teens, after the armed robbery of a service station. It was late November and the Briscoe County jail was cold.

"I'm going to let you go and get something to eat and warm up," Sheriff Honea is said to have told his prisoners. "If you fellows take a notion to leave town, I'll trail you to the end of the earth." The boys, who only hours before with guns in their hands had dreamed of copying Dillinger and "Pretty Boy" Floyd were taken aback by the generosity of their captor. They took seriously his promise of swift retribution for breach of trust and as docile as lambs reported promptly at the appointed time.

COWBOYS' PRAYER

In Memory of "Jake" Honea. By a Friend. O Lord, I've never lived where churches grow; I've loved creation better as it stood That day you finished it, so long ago, And looked upon your work and called it good.

Just let me live my life as I've begun! And give me work that's open to the sky; Make me a partner of the wind and sun, And I won't ask a life that's soft and high.

Make me as big and open as the plains; As honest as the horse between my knees; Clean as the wind that blows behind the rains; Free as the hawk that circles down the breeze.

Just keep an eye on all that's done and said; Just right me sometime when I turn aside; And guide me on the long, dim dim trail ahead— That stretches upward towards the Great Divide. Author Unknown.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dalton, Mr. and Mrs. Cozel Foster, of Canyon, better known as the Hanna twins, spent Saturday night and Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. N. West.

Silvertown Owls went down to defeat at the hands of the terrible Turks from Turkey Friday night, 31-12. As the experts predicted, the Turks took the count of the Owls by 19 points.

The Owls were beaten in the first quarter and could not seem to muster the spirit and fire to overhaul a 6-19 lead at halftime.

Much praise was given to Jett Mason Owl meteor back, who broke away on a 45 yard touchdown jaunt in the second period. Mason displayed a fine bit of football both on offense and defense, the score would have been much taller had Jett not been in the game. Don Rhea scored the only other marker for the locals.

The Owls entertain the Lakeview Eagles at 8 o'clock Friday night, November 5, on the local gridiron.

Silvertown stands a chance of winding up its season Friday at 2:30 against the Happy Coyotes at Tulia. Should the Owls win both these games they could tie for the district championship.

ECONOMICS HIGHLIGHTS

Happenings that affect the dinner pails, dividend checks and tax bills of every individual national and international problems inseparable from local welfare.

As the United States News puts it, former President Herbert Hoover "may have more influence upon the country now than he ever did while he was in the White House."

The reason for this hasn't anything to do with partisan politics, or the possible resurgence of the long-starved Republican party. It is, instead, due to the fact that Mr. Hoover is head of a little-known but immensely important commission—the Commission on Organization of the Executive Branch of the government. And that calls for a little background information.

The Federal government, like Topsy, "just grewed." Bureau duplicates bureau. There is a tremendous overlapping of responsibility. In some cases several independent agencies are charged with doing almost identical jobs. The result is a heavy waste in manpower and money — plus a disheartening amount of red tape and administrative lethargy and inefficiency.

Ever since anyone can remember there has been talk about doing something to remedy this unhappy situation. Taft, Wilson, Hoover and F. D. Roosevelt all had plans of one kind or another. And all of them got precisely nowhere. And one of the main causes of their failure was pressure on Congress by governmental employees who were afraid of being displaced. To quote the U. S. News again, "All past moves toward abolishing government agencies, or trimming down their power, have run up against this roadblock. The employees go to their friends, and their friends go to Congress. Thus, sometimes Congress has rejected presidential plans for reorganization at the outset."

The 80th Congress created and financed the Commission which Mr. Hoover heads. It is to report within 10 days after the 81st Congress convenes next year. The law authorizing it provided that it be on a strictly bipartisan basis — with half the commissioners Republicans and half Democrats. President Truman immediately signed the act, and appointed the former President as boss. The broad objective is a sweeping study of what can be done to improve the executive branch.

The complete study, of course, has not yet been made. However, Mr. Hoover recently made a talk in which he outlined some of the reforms which will be recommended. As an example, he intimated that the Commission will propose that the number of Federal lending agencies be drastically reduced—"an adroit citizen," he said, "can probably borrow something from 26 different agencies in this government."

The report — judging by Mr. Hoover's remarks — will dwell heavily on the unconscionable burden that has been placed on the President. His legal duties and responsibilities have been increased to an incredible extent in the last few decades. The Executive Department, Mr. Hoover believes, must be streamlined and made more efficient, and that will require the delegation of functions. In his own words: "More operating vice-presidents—that is, more responsibility on cabinet members—is the answer. The President must be relieved of some of this administration of these small agencies running around loose."

In this connection, there was a hint that the Commission may recommend an increase in the number of Cabinet members. In addition to the 10 Departments, the Executive is in direct charge of from 60 to 80 independent agencies—and some of them are exceedingly important, complex and specialized. The impossibility of one man doing the job properly was emphasized by Mr. Hoover when he said, "If the President devoted one hour to each, he would have a 70-hour week." All the other onerous work which the President has to do would come on top of that.

Mr. Hoover also touched on the dangers of excessively costly government, when he said, "We have not yet socialized property in the United States, but we have come close to socializing savings." It is clear that our vast commitments for rearmament, foreign rehabilitation, and the really essential functions of government, make it all the more important that we pare costs wherever possible, and to the greatest possible degree.

There is hardly a branch of the government which will not be touched upon when the Commission's report goes to Congress. Mr. Hoover has assumed personal direction of the group studying the Presidency. Other groups, all staffed by experts in various fields, have been assigned the jobs of dealing with buying, veterans, farming, statistics, foreign affairs and so on down the list. In all, 22 reports are being prepared in order to provide the groundwork for dealing with the big picture. Mr. Hoover has said, "We are going to have to make some very bold and drastic recommendations." Most citizens will say Amen to that.

SPEECH DEFECTS HANDICAP TEXAS SCHOOL CHILDREN

There are more than 62,000 speech-defective youngsters attending elementary schools in Texas today—"another 8,300 will be added next year"—a study by the Institute of Logopedics reveal. London Psychologist Claims Pain Is Key To Mother-Love

LONDON.—Anesthetics may kill a mother's love for her baby, claims Dr. J. A. Hadfield, psychologist and lecturer in mental hygiene at London university.

Hadfield, believing that pain is the stimulus of the maternal instinct, wrote to the British Medical Journal suggesting that pain in childbirth may have a possible biological value. He points out that Eugene Marais, South African naturalist, has maintained that pain is the key which unlocks the doors to mother-love in all animals—from the termite to the whale.

Where pain is negligible, mother-love and care are feeble, according to Marais, says Dr. Hadfield, and where pain is absent there is absolutely no mother-love. Dr. Hadfield describes Marais' experiments on a herd of half-wild buck.

In 15 years Marais saw no instance of a mother refusing her young in normal circumstances. One day, Marais gave six mother bucks an anesthetic during labor. In all six cases, the mother refused to accept the lamb of her own volition.

In four cases, Marais administered curare, by which consciousness was partly paralyzed but not destroyed during the labor. The mothers were in doubt for over an hour. Then three accepted and one refused the lamb.

To prove that the refusal was not due to the anesthetic itself, Marais let six mothers deliver their young normally, and immediately afterwards anesthetized them for half an hour.

In all cases the mother accepted the lamb immediately after she became conscious.

Dr. Hadfield adds this comment: "If these views are correct, they give support to those 'misguided' mothers who prefer to have their babies without anesthetic in order to suffer the pain, claiming that it gives them more love for their offspring."

Match, Dog and Boy Provide Excitement

PASADENA, CALIF.—A match, a home chemical set, a dog and a boy proved to be an exciting combination.

Let's start at the beginning: Darryl Nelson, 9, put a lighted match into a can he had been using for chemical experiments. The can blew up. Darryl's pants caught fire.

Mrs. Norman Nelson, the boy's mother, dashed to his aid. A neighbor's dog, excited by the blast, dashed to Mrs. Nelson and bit her on the leg.

Mother and son were given first aid treatment at Pasadena emergency hospital, he for burns and she for the bite.

The dog? Not a scratch.

Boy, 4, Fights Fireman To Turn in Second Alarm

DANBURY, CONN.—An unidentified boy, who appeared to be no more than four years old, had quite a time here.

He turned in a fire alarm from a box in the center of Danbury's congested factory district, bringing three fire companies to the scene.

After firemen arrived, he gave the alarm box hook another yank which brought out all of Danbury's fire fighting apparatus together with 150 firemen.

Fire Chief John A. McNamara said the second alarm was equivalent to a general alarm because of the nature of the area.

He also explained that the boy was able to reach the fire alarm box because "it was a low hanging one."

The boy turned in the second alarm, the chief said, while he was struggling in the arms of a fireman who saw him standing near the instrument.

"He slapped the fireman in the face with one hand and turned in the alarm with the other," the chief said.

During the excitement of apparatus arriving to answer the second alarm, the chief said, the boy disappeared in the crowd.

Collision With Pedestrian Restores Veteran's Memory

WICHITA, KAS.—Collision of two pedestrians on a street brought back the memory of one suffering from amnesia.

Calvin W. Tinsley, 23, a navy veteran of Davenport, Iowa, rushed into police headquarters to ask where he was. He learned he was 700 miles from home.

Tinsley told police the last thing he remembered was leaving his job with a construction company at Rock Island, Ill., near Davenport.

Searching his pockets, the youth found a list of unbought groceries, 24 cents in change and an empty billfold.

Tinsley's wife and parents telephoned that they were coming here for him.

He had been missing four days. The disappearance had not been reported to Davenport police.

Cotton Machinery Developed to Meet Growing Demand

A summary of the best recommended practices in the mechanized production of cotton in Texas has just been released by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

Bulletin 704, by H. P. Smith, research agricultural engineer of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, and D. L. Jones, superintendent of the Lubbock Experiment Station, presents highlights of cotton production and shows how mechanization has been developed to meet these problems.

Early Texas farmers produced cotton with the hand hoe and the sweep stock. Riding mule-drawn planters and cultivators were not developed until the 1880's and 1890's.

Outstanding progress has been made in mechanization since the introduction of the row-crop tractor about 25 years ago. Tractor-mounted middlebreakers, planters and cultivators were developed about 1930. Though strippers and pickers were experimented with nearly 100 years ago, there was little progress in their use until attention was given to the effect of varietal characteristics on their performances.

This bulletin, "Mechanized Production of Cotton in Texas," lists each phase of Texas cotton production and discusses the various labor and time-saving machinery which has been developed to handle it. Fifty-five illustrations show these mechanized tools and their relationship to cotton production problems.

Oregon Youth Breaks Jersey Herd Record

LANGLOIS, OREGON.—Ralph E. Cope, Jr., twenty-two year old Jersey breeder and the fourth generation of his family to operate the same farm, has early reached an enviable pinnacle of agricultural accomplishment. Ralph's herd of 32 registered Jerseys has recently completed its fourth year of production testing under the Herd Improvement Registry program of The American Jersey Cattle Club, and has established a new high average for the breed. The Gold Star award was presented to Ralph by The American Jersey Cattle Club for this record-breaking average of 628 pounds butterfat per cow maintained over the four-year period. The four separate years which contributed to this four-year total saw Ralph's herd compile yearly averages of 575, 627, 666 and 644 pounds butterfat per cow, eloquent testimonial to the high production which can be obtained from dairy cattle by selective breeding and good management. Ralph Cope, at the age of twenty-two years, has set an example which, if followed by more dairymen, would lead to a greater abundance of milk for America's people, and a better living for America's farmers.

A sweetheart for a winter start!

Want to get off to a good start? Then let your Conoco Mileage Merchant steer you right... He'll tell you that when it comes to fast, smooth winter starts, a lot depends on having the right kind of oil in your engine. He'll tell you, too, the right oil is winter-grade Conoco Nth Motor Oil. For two reasons: First, because winter-grade Nth is specially refined for cold-weather performance. It's lighter... freer-flowing. Saves wear on your battery... and on your nerves... because it gives you faster starts. And second, Nth oil extra-protects against "dry" friction starts... saves wear on engine parts... because it contains a special, added ingredient that actually OIL-PLATES metal surfaces. And this extra film of lubricant stays up... won't all drain down, even overnight! So, if you want to start off right—and right off—on the next wintry morning...

Crow Steals Car Keys

BABYLON, N. Y.—James A. Rodgers got too friendly with a talking crow.

Rodgers explained it this way to Babylon police:

He and his wife saw the crow on the curb as they left a drug-store.

"Hello," said the crow.

"Hello," answered Rodgers.

To lure the crow closer, he took out the case containing his car keys, driver's license and car registration.

He dangled the keys in front of the bird, which suddenly grabbed them and flew away. The keys still haven't been found.

Police Reject Wanted Man as Too Expensive

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN. — Randolph Ward Aldridge was wanted by police in Honolulu and in Memphis, Tenn., but now that they know where he is, they don't want him. The 32-year-old man with an international criminal record is in a Minneapolis hospital with a broken back. Authorities say he'll never walk again. But he is costing the hospital more than $500 per month.

Detective Inspector Eugene Bernath said the hospital would be "glad to get him off its hands."

Ambulance transportation and that $500 a month are a little more than the authorities are willing to pay to prosecute the man on charges including bigamy, obtaining money under false pretenses, cashing a bad check and breaking probation.

Bernath said Aldridge was in an automobile accident near the town of Minnetonka, Minn., where he had run a radio repair shop and garage.

He talked his way into a local hospital by telling authorities he had a multimillionaire brother-in-law in Hollywood who would foot the bill. He entered the hospital as "Ralph Collins."

It turned out that the brother-in-law was nonexistent and there was no one to pay the bill.

Aldridge was convicted of manslaughter in Hawaii under the name of Aldridge and married his third wife—no divorces recorded for the first two—in Memphis under the name of Ernest Chaig Hunt, a dead World War II veteran.

So until someone decides that Randolph Ward Ralph Ernest Craig Hunt Collins Aldridge should be moved elsewhere for criminal prosecution, the hospital will foot the bill.

Veteran Who Offered Eye as Gift Loses It in Accident

LOUISVILLE, KY.—Chester R. Perkins, blind Indianapolis war veteran, wrote "Santa Claus" that he wanted "two shiny blue eyes" for Christmas.

The appeal was answered by Fred F. Wempe, a Louisville veteran, who offered one of his eyes. But doctors told Wempe that an eye transplantation would not help Perkins.

But Wempe's offer still stood. He said any war-blinded veteran who needed one of his eyes should write him. There were no takers.

One day Wempe reached to adjust a flapping window shade. The roller came loose and struck him in the eye.

Lying in the darkness of Nichols Veterans' hospital, Wempe heard the doctors say his eye must be removed.

Auto With Two Front Ends Gets OK From Patrolman

DES MOINES, IA.—Patrolman Frank Manny blinked when he spotted a car that looked like it was going in two directions.

The car had two front ends and two steering wheels with a man sitting at each wheel.

Manny checked to find that the car consisted of the front ends of two 1929 Ford sedans which had been welded together. It had only one motor and only one steering wheel worked.

The three youths in the car explained the car had been fixed up to "look modernistic."

They were allowed to continue on their way toward California. The boys are Dick Wood, 20, Baldwin, Mich., and Charles Breed, 21, and his brother, Sterling, 19, both of Paw Paw, Mich.

'Rocking Chair Battalion' Holds Its Own in Job Market

ALBANY, N. Y.—A man who should know says grandpa is doing all right on the job he took during the war and isn't ready to give it up without a struggle.

Sen. Thomas C. Desmond, chairman of the late joint legislative committee on problems of the aging, so announced after a survey of industries employing 525,000 workers.

"World War II, by bringing the rocking chair battalion back to work, restored the self-confidence of the elderly and gave them back their self-esteem," Desmond said.

"They had the know-how and gladly grabbed at the chance to get back in harness. And now, even though three years have gone by since the war ended, the elderly are clinging tenaciously to their jobs."

Farm Products Predicted Lower for 1949 Crops

On the average, prices paid for Texas farm products will go down a little in 1949; prices farmers pay for things they buy will probably be a little higher than they were this year.

It all adds up to an expected 1949 net income on Texas farms and ranches of some 5 to 10 percent below that of 1948, but still greatly above any prewar year.

That's a two-statement summary of the 1949 farm prospects as seen by Tyrus R. Timm, extension economist and professor at Texas A. and M. College, who returned last week from the National Agricultural Outlook Conference in Washington, D. C.

As to farm commodities, livestock products seem to hold the most favorable price position. The most speculative situation is indicated for fruits and vegetables. No sharp decline generally is expected, but certain individual commodities in this grouping may experience serious "short-run" seasonal declines. In between, these two groups of commodities is the outlook for cotton and grain, with cotton holding a more favorable spot.

Meanwhile he expects prices of automobiles, farm equipment and building materials to be as high or perhaps higher than in 1948. Some economists, he says, think a general increase of 5-8 percent may be expected.

You may pay a little less for radios, some items of household equipment and textiles.

The outlook interpretations are based on present supply and demand situations and requirements of existing government programs, Timm points out. Drastic changes from normal weather conditions, or a major overhauling of the government's programs, could change the picture completely.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q—My husband is a World War II veteran suffering from a severe-incurred disability and is in need of a prosthetic appliance. Will Veterans Administration pay for the appliance?

A—VA will furnish a prosthetic or service-aggravated disability requiring an appliance.

Q—I enlisted in the war during July, 1947. Am I entitled to loan benefits under the GI Bill?

A—If you served at any time between September 16, 1940 and July 25, 1947 and you were discharged under conditions other than dishonorable after at least 90 days of active service, or for a service-incurred disability in less than 90 days, you may qualify for a GI loan.

Q—What is the last date on which a veteran of World War II may apply for a GI loan?

A—Such veterans have until July 25, 1957 in which to apply for GI loans. Armed Forces Recruitment Act enlistees will have 10 years after their period of enlistment is ended where the discharge date is later than July 25, 1947.

VETERANS' NEWS

Qualified persons in Texas, Louisiana and Mississippi can now obtain jobs as clerk-stenographers with the Veterans Administration in Washington, D. C., VA has announced.

VA is extending its recruiting into most parts of the nation because of the current shortage of qualified stenographers in the nation's capital.

Entrance salary for these positions is $2,498 per year with a very good chance for quick promotion to higher grades, VA said. Travel to Washington will be at government expense.

An adequate number of rooms for single persons are available in Washington at rates from $5.00 a week and up. Government quarters at Arlington Farms in dormitories are also available for girls.

Employment may be obtained through any regional office, hospital or center of the Veterans Administration.

A savings in insurance premiums is available to World War II veterans who still are paying their GI insurance premiums on a monthly basis, VA said.

Pointing out that approximately 90 percent of the veterans are paying premiums on a monthly basis, VA explained that they may receive a three percent annual discount by paying their premiums on a quarterly, semi-annual or annual basis.

In addition, the fewer premiums due lessens the chance of a policy lapsing.

Veterans can take advantage of the savings by visiting any VA office or writing to the VA Dallas Branch Office insurance service, requesting the type of premium payment desired.

POSTAGE STAMP ISSUE COMMEMORATES CENTENNIAL OF FORT BLISS, TEXAS

Fort Bliss, Texas.—First sheets of the Fort Bliss Centennial commemorative stamp rolled from the presses at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, in Washington, D. C., early this week. Postal and military authorities were present for the initial printing.

Noting a century of civilian-military partnership in development of the Southwest since the establishment of Fort Bliss, the Honorable Jesse M. Donaldson, Postmaster General, received first sheets of the new issue from the Honorable Alvin W. Hall, Director of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. Major General H. B. Lewis, assistant to the Adjutant General, represented the Department of the Army.

Featuring a rocket in flight above the Magoffinsville Post of Fort Bliss, the three-cent brown commemorative issue depicts the evolution from the Indian fighting of the pioneers through cavalry and saber days to modern antiaircraft and guided missiles. Two lines, "El Paso, Texas", and "1849-1948" in dark Gothic stand out beneath the design while the top border is capped. "Fort Bliss Centennial", in white Gothic. Designed by Mr. Stanley G. Somers, Army Exhibit Director, the stamp is electric-eye perforated for printing in sheets of 70. The initial printing order is for 60,000,000 subjects.

First day sale of the Fort Bliss stamp, Postmaster General Donaldson announced, will be on Friday, November 5, opening date of the Centennial, at the El Paso Post Office. Third Assistant Postmaster General Joseph J. Lawler and Robert E. Feller, Superintendent, Division of Stamps, will represent that agency at the Centennial.

Supervisors for Cap Rock District—Earl I. Cantwell, Chairman; Watson, Bray H. Cook, L. A. McJimsey and Bill Holmes.

farmers in the Cap Rock Soil Conservation District are urged to a maximum amount of crop residue on the land. Grazing should be limited to waste grains excess forage on all cropland. Tillage should be avoided in order to permit field grasses such as Colorado grass and Crab grass to furnish a cover crop. If land is plowed, the crop residue should be incorporated as near the top of the soil as possible. The great amount of crop residue that is left on the ground keeps wind erosion at a minimum.

Soil Conservation technicians are working on the local field lines October 1948 for Gordon P. Montague, supervisor in the Gregg Conservation Group.

Many cooperators of the Cap Rock Soil Conservation District are leaving their combined feed fields. This land will then be used for other uses or left as pasture. This practice is desirable and is practicable for all farmers with high stubble.

Mr. and Mrs. Sid Richards recently purchased a Pontiac 2-door Streak 8, from Bomar One-Pontiac sales and service.

At last the big party came off! Shirley Haynes was crowned queen of S. H. S. Saturday night at 10:30 by Carl Graham. Train barriers were Jean Dennis and Haskel Harman, attendants were Jo Teeple and Johnnie Bingham. The seniors had $8.42. Everyone had on a costume and enjoyed a gay time. The horror house was quite a horror. They used real eyeballs and everything. The funniest thing was the amount of money turned in for the queens. The seniors won with $8.42, the juniors had $4.37, the sophomores had $0.20, and the freshmen had $0.47.

No, Darrel didn't forget Pat, he just lost his memory after being hit in football.

Note for the Janitor. Don't worry about cats and dogs being under the school house that was just Beth and Wayne fussing.

The sophomores class queen may not have won but we still have talent. Pat and Mary Lou won a prize for being the best dressed persons there.

I guess Larry Tunnel is just pretty smart, you knew he won two prizes Saturday night at the party.

Beth doesn't like classy cars I'm sure but, J just heard her say she thought the Oldsmobiles were the best cars made.

Quality should be the first consideration of the careful housewife. Cheap groceries are not always quality groceries and for this reason special attention should be paid when buying, so that you buy supplies that the grocer buys to back up his reputation.

COMMISSIONER STEELE DIRECTS COYOTE CHASE BY PLANE

While out flying one morning this week County Commissioner Alton Steele spotted a pair of coyotes below so he made ground contact with J. R. Gordon and some other neighbors and the chase was on. By flying low and circling the prey Mr. Steele finally drove the coyotes out of a grain field on to pasture land and the ground men started the chase by car and soon closed in within firing range, and J. R. Gordon killed one of the animals. Coyotes are of the nervous type and run in circles when crowded from the air, says Mr. Steele.

ELECTRONIC EYES FOR THE BLIND

Backing the movement to employ handicapped workers is only one phase of the program carried out by The Timken Roller Bearing Company. Donation of an electronic gaging machine to the Ohio Institute for the Blind is the latest step by the company that employs fifty partially or totally blind persons in six Ohio plants.

Designed originally to give employment to blind civilians and to aid in the re-employment of Timken veterans, the device, by means of sound in place of the normal reading dial, enables the blind operator to make a final inspection on precision bearing parts at a speed and degree of accuracy comparable to that of sighted persons.

Gene Erwin is pictured taking the training, which, when completed, will enable him to become self supporting.

Window Sun Baths Continue Long After Summer Is Gone

The end of summer should not mean the end of baby's healthful sun baths. When Fall winds and winter temperatures curtail daily promenades, an open window can provide a source of skin-warming sun.

For the new baby who just saw light of summer a month ago, this window-sun session should be brief, a minute front and back, with the time increased a minute each day until baby is being sunned up to 20 minutes front and back.

Each sunning period should start with the recommended beauty routine of an all-over patting of baby's skin with his special baby lotion. This emulsion of pure oil and lanolin with an antiseptic ingredient added for greater protection is good insurance against both windburn and sunburn.

The sun-bathing room should be warm and free from draft. A tiny baby may be kept wrapped around the upper part of his body while the legs and feet are sunned.

Mother, too, can use this sunning period to kick off her shoes and relax a bit. If His Nibs is the active kind but doesn't yet walk, he'll delight in some regular exercise, with Mommy helping him raise first one leg, then the other; then one arm, then both.
