"The Fountainhead" At Palace Theatre Sunday, Monday

Showing at the Palace Theatre, Sunday and Monday, November 13 and 14, with Gary Cooper and Patricia Neal.

For a long period the novel, "Fountainhead", by Ayn Rand, maintained a high rating on the best seller lists.

The story theme is possessed of qualities which make it exploitable, in the insistence of a young architect, Cooper, on the use without change of his designs, although it sees him penniless and evicted from his office.

He becomes involved with Robert Douglas, architectural editor of the newspaper owned by the powerful Massey; with Miss Neal, also a staff member, and Kent Smith, classmate who has taken the easy and successful path of compromise with integrity of design.

Miss Neal falls in love with Cooper, after Douglas has sabotaged Cooper's chances for recognition. This is a picture the whole family will enjoy. This week's program appears on page two.

Silverton's Owls tangle with the mighty Kress Kangaroos Friday night, November 11, at 8 o'clock. The Owls go into the conflict a definite underdog as a result of the Kangaroos 24-20 win over Turkey according to coparative scores with Turkey, the Owls go into the conflict a 15 point underdog.

Kress is rated No. 4 in the region and have only a 7-6 deficit to Lakeview on one of their off nights, to mar their record. This game marks the end of the season for the Owls. Should they win, they will end up in second place. There is a remote possibility that we could end up in a tie for first, should Lakeview and Turkey tie.

Last Friday nights game was a bad one for the Owls. The game was close until the last play of the game when Silverton scored to clinch the affair. Estelline, who had been beaten quite readily by most of their opponents threw up a freakish defense that had the boys wondering throughout.

The Owls were handicapped because their quarterback, Donald Paige, was not all full strength and did not play all the game as a result of an ankle injury sustained in the Turkey game. Donald Rhea was at full strength, as usual, and that was the difference in the two ball clubs. Rhea tore off gain after gain through the Cub line and without the aid of too much blocking. Billie Tension played standout defensive ball for the locals and is apt to give a lot of trouble to opponents next year.

There is some question as to whether Donald Paige's ankle will permit him to play very much, otherwise the team is in good physical condition.

NOW IS THE TIME TO KILL OFF EXTERNAL PARASITES ON YOUR CATTLE

There is no profit in feeding the external parasites on cattle. This is the time of the year when you can get control of the ticks and lice that will take your profits if they are not controlled, says Leo White, county agricultural agent.

Cattle that are free of parasites have a better appearance, are healthier and more productive than cattle that have to use their own methods and energy to combat the insect pests. Healthy and contented cattle turn the feed and roughage they consume into meat and the mother cows will produce stronger, healthier calves next spring.

Lice bother the cattle more in the winter and early spring when the hair is long and the best time to treat the cattle for these pests is the fall of the year. Leo says use 8 pounds of 50 percent wettable DDD powder to 100 gallons of water and treat twice. The second treatment should come two weeks after the first. This second treatment will take care of the lice that hatch after the first treatment. In the case of dairy cattle, methoxychlor should be substituted for DDT and it can be used exactly the same as the DDT, says Leo White. These control methods can be used either as sprays or dips.

Cattle will make better gains during the winter months if they are kept free of the external parasites and they will come out of the winter in much better condition says Leo.

Mrs. Odessa Mills of Tullia and Mrs. Etta Mae Miller of Borger were in Silverton Saturday. Mrs. Mills returned to Tullia with them for the week end.

ACCIDENTS ARE LEADING CAUSE OF DEATHS IN AMERICA

Are accidents now the leading cause of death in America?

In a sense—yes. That is the statement made in the 1949 edition of "Accident Facts," statistical yearbook of the National Safety Council.

Accidents take a greater toll of productive years than any one natural cause of death, according to a study by the American Medical Association.

More actual deaths still are caused by heart disease, cancer and cerebral hemorrhage. But the report points out that such deaths usually befall older persons after their working lifetimes are ended.

In the usual working age span of 20 to 65, accidents claimed 1,750,000 work years; heart disease, 1,680,000; pneumonia, 1,110,000, and cancer, 1,040,000.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Dickerson, Buster Dickerson and Barney Anthony of Lubbock were week end visitors in the home of her mother, Mrs. Gardner and his mother, Mrs. Dickerson.

Mr. and Mrs. N. L. Mosley of El Paso spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Allard.

Walter and Hall Cox of Stephenville were visitors Sunday of their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. W. Allard.

Mrs. W. L. McMinn, Mrs. Bud McMinn, Mrs. Paul Iledbetter and Mrs. Printz Brown were in Floydada Wednesday on business.

Cashier Carves Models of Birds He Seldom Sees

NEW YORK—With the exception of Sunday — his day off — bespectacled Eugene Ruffalo pushes change through the cashier's window on the uptown side of the Washington Square station of the IND subway system.

But there are many moments in the day's occupation when he doesn't have to make change. It is then that the cashier becomes oblivious to the train's roar and takes sandpaper in hand to apply the glossy finish to his carved images of birds in quiet repose or in flight.

And when he is not using the sandpaper, he has penknife in hand and whittles away. That little penknife has carved more than 100 birds, small and large—the robin red breast, bluebirds, brown thrasher, bluejays, cardinals.

Books are Guides
Ruffalo works with the Audubon book and another on North American birds opened wide.

"I suppose it would be really grand if I could go into the fields and look at real birds in motion but I have little time," he explains.

The sound and stress of the subway make little inroad on his concentration as he carves in his change booth. "I don't hear the trains," he says. But Mr. Ruffalo doesn't forget his regular job. The moment a patron steps up to the window, he quickly puts aside his carving and with experienced hand slides the change first.

"The job comes first," he says firmly; "carving is an avocation, not a vocation."

When the day's work is done Eugene hastens home to his five-room apartment in the downtown section of Brooklyn, where he lives with his wife and two children, Caroline, 16, and Eugene, Jr., 8—and quickly takes pen knife to wood for another species of bird.

After the carving and sandpapering, he paints his creations in the colors of nature. His showcase houses more than 100 birds that, as a neighbor says, "look like they're ready to fly right out of the window."

Needed Radio Piece
At his home Ruffalo was putting the finishing touches on his "most ambitious job" — two bluebirds, perched on twigs, facing each other, and in the center a carved wooden nest with several fledglings, beaks pointed upward.

"Caroline gave me that order. She felt we needed something to place on top of the radio," he said.

It was eight years ago that the father started his hobby. He built a doll house for Caroline on her birthday. "It wasn't much, a front and back porch. I rigged up electricity and a dog and bird house." He told of his failure to purchase a tiny toy bird and dog to complete the doll house. It was then that he decided to carve wooden images. Since then, he said, "I have enjoyed every moment."

Philosophically, he remarked: "Time is a precious thing; I remember reading something about 'Time wasted is existence; used, is life.' I hope I'm making the most of my leisure moments."

Horses in Swim Suits Delight Beach Habitues

LAKE GEORGE, N. Y.—Horses in bathing suits looked like a nightmare to beach goers here, but they weren't "seeing things." The horses were real and they were wearing bathing suits.

It looked like a veterinarian's nightmare of a hot Sunday at Coney Island. What happened was that dude ranchers in this Adirondack mountain resort area came up with a new stunt to amuse visitors—marine horse racing.

Volunteers would ride horses 100 yards out into the lake, jump off, and let the horse swim ashore. "No," said the local A.S.P.C.A. officer, Dr. Eldridge Moore.

He appeared at a test heat last week end and called it off. Cruelty to animals, he said.

"Nonsense," retorted Mrs. Ethel Johnson of Warrenburg, who raises Palominos. "Horses like water as well as people do. They appreciate a dip on a hot day."

"Sure they do," agreed Robert Ellsworth of Mountain Meadows Ranch. "I've had horses swimming for years. It's good for their health."

Dr. Moore wouldn't budge. "Maybe," somebody wisecracked later, "it would be all right if we put bathing suits on the horses?"

It doesn't take long for an idea like that to spread when the sun beats down from a cloudless mountain sky. Pretty soon people were saying the doctor had approved the idea. Anyway—

Mrs. Johnson appeared at the lake today with her horses in tailor-made swim suits. Gaudy colors, too.

A crowd of several hundred collected. Dr. Moore drove over to see what was going on.

He saw, "Have your fun," he said, "but if anybody puts a horse in the water, I'll have to make an arrest. These horses aren't trained to do this. They might flounder."

LOCAL GIRL SCOUTS OBSERVE SCOUT WEEK WITH A PROGRAM

The Girl Scouts of Troop 4 met at the school house Wednesday afternoon for their Girl Scout Program.

In 1912 Mrs. Juliette Low began Girl Scout work with a group of eight girls in Savannah, Georgia. Our program was based on the things Mrs. Low taught them.

Ann gave the Scout Prayer, Wayma read the Hallow'en message, Patsy read the life story of Juliette Low, Mildred gave a reading entitled "Be the Best", Margaret gave The Scout Promise, Pat gave the Lews, Faith demonstrated the Scout handshake, sign and salute, and Donna gave a reading entitled "The Winner."

After the program everyone enjoyed several games and then dismissed with the Scout Song.

Scouts present were Ann Brown, Wayma Calloway, Donna Mayfield, Mildred Bean, Margaret Stevens, Faith Smithee, Patsy

Crass, Pat Patton and their leader Mrs. Scott Smithee.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Smith and daughter Ann, of Hereford spent the week end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Smith.

FATHER and SON

Research with a nerve-blocking drug at the University of Michigan makes it possible for doctors to determine in advance whether an operation to correct an over active sympathetic nervous system will be beneficial.

Results of research with the drug, etamon, are reported in the Journal of Clinical Investigation by Dr. Sibley W. Hoobler, assistant professor of internal medicine in the University of Michigan medical school.

His research disclosed a high degree of control over the blood supply was exercised by the sympathetic nervous system. He limited his research to the feet and hands since accurate information on the blood flow could be obtained more easily from these portions of the body.

When the drug was injected intravenously there by blocking nerves, the flow of blood to the feet was increased to eight times the normal amount while the flow to the hands increased to three and four times normal, Dr. Hoobler reported.

Using the drug on patients where the nerves controlling the blood supply to either the feet or hands had been cut showed that etamon acts only on the sympathetic nerves. There was no increase in the blood flow in these cases, the research disclosed.

Overactivity on the part of the sympathetic nervous system causes the blood vessels to be constricted, thus limiting the supply of blood that can reach the portion of the body in which these overactive nerves are located, Dr. Hoobler explained.

How to Start a Paint Job With a Brand-New Brush

Do you know how to "break in" a new paint brush? You'll have a lot better luck when you start the painting job if you soak the brush in raw linseed oil for a few days first. If the brush comes in a paper wrapper, remove the wrapper and work the raw linseed oil into the bristles. Then put the wrapper back on and place the brush in a can of the raw linseed oil.

If you're going to use the brush in oil paint, just wipe off the excess linseed oil by pulling the brush across the edge of an empty can. But if the brush is to be used in varnish, lacquer, or water paints, dip it in turpentine so that the turpentine works all through it. Then wipe off the turpentine on the edge of a can and rotate the brush rapidly between your hands to throw off any remaining turpentine.

And be sure to clean your brush immediately after using it. Don't let it stand in a can of paint overnight.

Electron in New Field

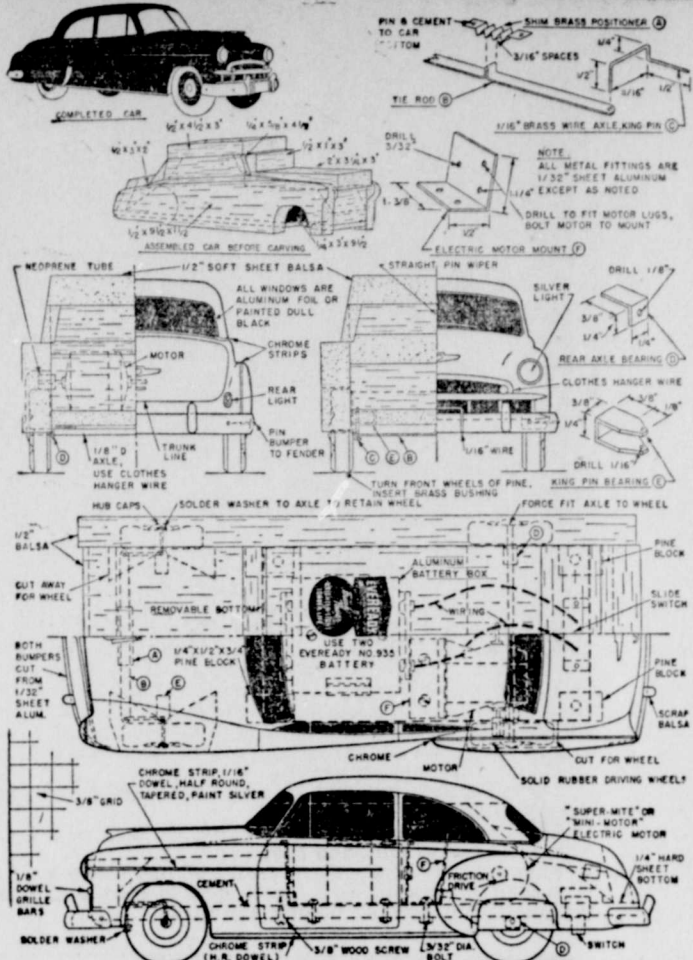

A new experimental technique developed at the national bureau of standards uses the electron as a probe to explore electric and magnetic fields of extremely small dimensions. The results take the form of a photograph which shows, for the magnetic studies, the direction and strength of the magnetic forces about any small magnetized object. Thus it is now possible to photograph and study the minute "atomic magnets" within magnetic materials—magnets so small that the use of a probe any larger than an electron would obscure the effects they produce. The photographic patterns obtained may be measured and used in computing, to a high degree of accuracy, the "absolute value" of the magnetic field strength in the region of magnetic force.

Iodine from Oil Wells

Iodine spouting from oil wells has given America an independent supply of one of its most widely used antiseptics while cutting the price by more than half. The iodine is obtained from a brine that comes up with the oil. Recovering iodine from oil wells, started in 1928 at a single Louisiana well, has expanded into a West coast industry that today supplies almost half the 1,500,000 pounds of iodine which America uses each year. Utilization of iodine-bearing oil brine also prevents its contaminating West coast water and killing fish. Iodine, chiefly used as a germicide, forms a vital element in cattle feed and photographic film as well as in the making of dyes.

New Hormone ACTH

The saving of all possible pituitary glands, used in preparing a new hormone for the control of arthritis, rheumatic fever, gout, and myasthenia gravis, has been urged by the American Meat Institute on all of its members slaughtering hogs. The hormone is adrenocorticotropin, called ACTH, for short. In making the request of its members, the institute emphasized humanitarian considerations and pointed out that ACTH is considered to be one of the most important contributions to mankind in the relief of severe pain, particularly in cases of arthritis and gout. Myasthenia gravis is a disease in which the muscles waste away, and become progressively weaker.

Build this 10 1/2-inch Chevrolet Styleline—2-door Sedan.

Dear Dad: You may own a '49 Chevrolet but here's a chance for junior to have an exact-scale electric motor driven replica. This 10 1/2-inch model looks just like the real car and is just as peppy, being powered with two 10c Eveready flashlight cells which drive a miniature electric motor. It will speed along any smooth surface and the front wheels can be adjusted for turning in either direction.

Build it in a weekend and both junior and you will have the time of your lives watching it perform. If you haven't been lured to your local hobby shop for the material then this will be the first step toward completing this project. And if the building materials and batteries are not available, drop a penny postcard to me at 67 West 44th Street, New York 18, N. Y. and I'll refer you to the nearest source of supply.

You can build this model from these plans and you can obtain additional information from the October issue of MECHANIX ILLUSTRATED magazine. The body is built up from 3/4 and 1/2 inch sheet balsa. Cut blocks to the size indicated on the drawing and then enlarge the side and top views to full size, using a grid with 3/8-inch squares to make the outlines. Trace the various outlines on each piece of balsa, cement them together and proceed to carve the exterior. If you ever run into difficulty when carving you can always visit your local Chevrolet showroom and look at the real car. The 1 1/2-inch diameter wheels can either be turned from wood or else purchased from your hobby shop. Note that only one rear wheel is driven by the motor. The two 10c Eveready No. 935 flashlight cells are mounted in a battery box that is part of the entire removable motor section. Thus, for trouble shooting, you merely remove the screws on the bottom and the entire motor assembly pops out.

After the outside is shaped and the motor hooked up, you'll be able to paint junior's car first using a coat of wood filler followed by four to six coats of colored model airplane dope. Then this Chevrolet will be ready for the road!

Good luck,
Larry Eisinger

Supervisors for Cap Rock District—Earl I. Cantwell, Chairman; Chester Burnett, Bray H. Cook, L. A. McJimsey and R. L. Brunson.

It has been estimated that there are approximately 292,600 acres of native grass pastures in the Cap Rock Soil Conservation District. Of this total acreage approximately 100,000 acres are above the Cap on the hardland and the remainder is found below the Cap. The more important grasses found on the hardlands are Buffalograss and Blue grama. On the rim of the Cap and in the rough broken land below the Cap are found the Bluestems (often called Sage grass), Sideoats grama, Indian-grass, and Needle and Thread grass. The presence or absence of the grasses on a particular range site (hardland, Cap Rock, Shallow land, etc.) determines the condition class of the pasture or site as excellent, good, fair or poor. Range sites are determined by soil conditions and the highest soil of vegetation which is capable of growing on these soils is the determining factor in setting up a condition class. From this information a safe stocking rate for a ranch can be determined by the rancher which in turn will mean more pounds of beef produced and a sustained yield of grass production maintained.

The Soil Conservation Service in cooperation with the Cap Rock Soil Conservation District has personnel trained in locating the different range sites and in identifying the many different grasses which are native to this area. A sustained yield of grass is important not only for the increase in beef production but in supplying cover for the ground to prevent wind and water erosion. Application for a complete range survey can be made at the Soil Conservation office in Silverton.

'Brain Wave' Music By Electric Waves Is Seen for Future

CHICAGO.—Hearing music by "brain waves" without band or composer is something possible for the future. Some day composers won't write music and musicians won't play it—yet fans may enjoy it in never-before-heard perfection.

The composer or artist will simply project it by brain waves—"thought transference." So thinks Raymond Scott, a man who thinks in terms of music and electronics. "Brains put out electrical waves,"

Scott said in an interview. "I wouldn't be at all surprised if some day it were possible to do away with links in music, such as writing it out and playing the notes. You'll just be able to think it.

"Imagine fastening electrodes to your head, inviting some people to your home, and then thinking your music. If you wanted 1,000 violins you could have them—and if you wanted the bass fiddle to play piccolo parts, you could do that, too."

Scott says even recordings will carry, instead of musical sound, the brain waves of the composer. No arrangements, no rehearsals.

Scott is a New Yorker who has passed most of his adult life working on new developments in his two loves, music and electronics. He maintains a permanent electronics research laboratory in New York, while he composes music and directs his bands for radio shows and night club appearances. His musical theories have always been off-beat.

He was appearing at the Blue Note, a Chicago jazz spot. But Scott is the first to admit his music isn't jazz. Instead, it's in a category he calls "quite undefinable."

For instance, some of his favorite compositions have these titles:

"Dedicated Piece To The Crew And Passenger Of The First Experimental Rocket Ship To The Moon;" "A Visit With One Of The Editors Of National Geographic Magazine In Which He Takes His Honored Guests On A Conversational Tour Of An East Indian Village And During Which Time A Block Party Happens To Be In Progress;" another — tersely — "Phfft."

Bernarr MacFadden Makes Chute Jump at Age 81

DANVILLE, N. Y.—Physical culturist Bernarr MacFadden, a venerable 81 years of age, made his first parachute jump and walked away smiling. He bailed out of the plane at 2,000 feet. His wife rolled up to the scene in a red convertible, jumped out and ran to meet her husband, shouting:

"Oh, you wonderful man, you! You wonderful man, you! You wonderful man, you!" MacFadden stamped around climbing out of his parachute rig.

"It was wonderful coming down," he said. A threat of arrest by state police, if he went through with the jump, dissolved. The officers apparently were satisfied when a MacFadden aide announced over a loud-speaker at the airport here that it was not an exhibition jump and asked the spectators to go away. Many of them did.

MacFadden's announced purpose was to prove that "this growing old idea is all nonsense." The jump was also in observance of his birthday, and his wife's 45th, both of which occurred in the last few days.

Man, Wife, Spend Life In Helping Stammerers

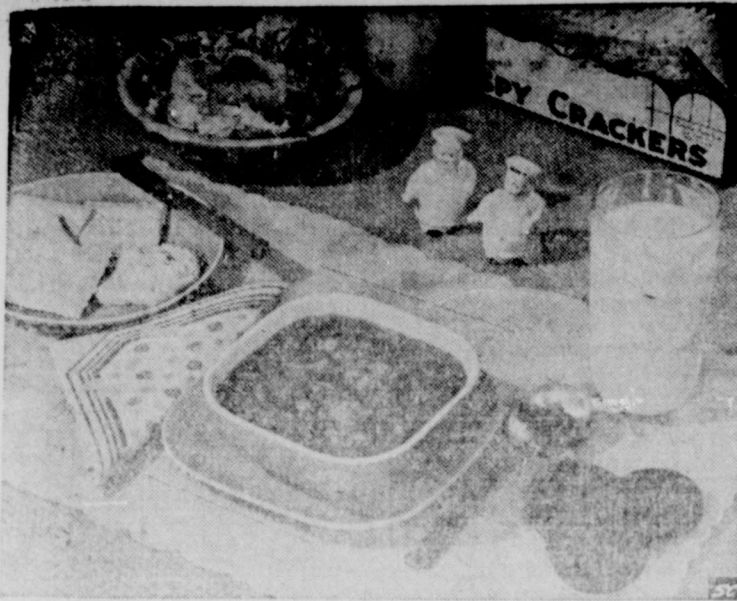

WINTER PARK, FLA.—A woman with 60 years of stammering in her family has teamed with her husband to devote their finances and the latter years of their lives to correcting the stuttering of others.

They are 54-year-old Eleanor Weston Emery and her husband, Theodore, 60. They have been helping children and adults since 1935. Mrs. Emery's eldest brother was a stammerer. She herself stammered so badly she could obtain no formal education and had to do with private tutors and several years abroad. Her first son, now 28, still stammers a little. Two other sons never stuttered.

Her first son was growing up when she realized no one could cure her—that she had to help herself and her son. She now speaks clearly. Her husband has a speech hesitancy, but it comes from difficulty in choosing the right word in conversation "and I guess association with stutterers hasn't helped, either."

The two conduct the nonprofit Emery institute here, incorporated under Florida law and so recognized by the United States treasury department. On the advisory committee are such persons as authors Irving Bachelier and Dr. Kathryn Abbey Hanna, also a professor at Rollins college here; Dr. Eugene R. Smith, Rollins trustee; and Rt. Rev. Oliver L. Loring, Episcopal bishop of the diocese of Maine.

"Strangely," Mrs. Emery says, "a stammerer can talk perfectly when he is alone, when very angry usually while singing or when absolutely unconscious of self. He can always talk to a pet without stammering when he is alone with it."

Steaming bowls of soup with crispy crackers and a fresh fruit salad hit the spot for lunches during the winter months. A lunch of this kind is as nutritious as it is warming on cold days.

Bring variety to meals which feature soup by serving a variety of crackers. Some days have crispy square white crackers; other days, accompany the soup with the round scalloped variety or dainty wheat toast wafers. Inch-square cheezettes serve as ready-made croutons to float on soup. They're especially good with cream soups.

The wide variety of prepared soup mixes and canned soups available helps the busy homemaker. They are good as they are and also lend themselves to many delightful combinations. Here are a few suggestions for achieving variety with canned soups.

Chicken-Vegetable Soup: Mix 1 can chicken soup with 1 can vegetable soup. Heat to boiling and serve.

Creamy Chicken-Tomato Soup: Mix 1 can chicken soup with 1 can tomato soup. Stir in 1 can of milk and heat.

Chicken-Mushroom Soup: Place 1 can cream of mushroom soup in saucepan and stir until smooth. Add 1 can chicken soup and 1 can water, stirring constantly. Heat to boiling and serve.

Did you ever stop to ask yourself this question—To whom does the school belong, the teachers or the pupils? If you have, you may realize that this is your school. Where do you spend the greatest part of your waking hours? At school. So you see, it really is your second home. Alright. Now that we have this straightened out in your minds let us ask this question: How would you like for guests to come to your house and carve their names or initials on your furniture? How would you like it if someone broke window panes out of your windows at home? Would you welcome that guest to your home again? No, indeed! You'd be rightfully indignant at such lack of manners. Then why can't you treat your school house as you treat your home? Aren't you proud of your building? Don't you appreciate the efforts we have made to get new furniture, have walls painted and generally rejuvenated? We feel sure that you do. So let's do our part to keep the building looking nice.

Last year there was some talk about having an Arbor Day celebration on which day each grade would contribute some shrub, tree or flower towards the beautification of our campus. Let's be thinking about this and see if we can make this dream become a reality.

ASSEMBLY PROGRAM

At our Wednesday assembly program on November 2, Mrs. Wilmoth gave a reading by Edna St. Milia "The Ballad of the Harp Weaver," which was received with deep appreciation by all who had the privilege of hearing her read.

The Rev. Arnold Banks gave an inspirational talk on the subject of Oaks versus Squash in which he pointed out that it took a hundred years to grow an oak but only six weeks to grow a squash. Then he asked us which we were—oaks or squash and told us how we might identify each species. Most of us were obliged to admit that we came under the last category. The squashy type of person, according to Mr. Banks, is the one who is satisfied to just "get by." Then when examination time rolls around he is apt to let his gaze wander over to his neighbor's paper in search of the right answer. Mr. Banks predicted that on the basis of what kind of work we did in school he could tell the kind of citizens we would make when we got out in the world—leaders or followers, ones who were great men and women of destiny or those poor followers who were content to spend a lifetime taking orders from others. It might be a good thing if all of us would ask ourselves this question: "Am I an oak or a squash?"

At assembly program this week the Freshmen class will have charge of the program and it gives promise of being highly entertaining and will open the eyes of some people when they see their counterpart on the stage. After all, we aren't getting by with as much as we think we are, eh?

FRESHMEN HAVE BAKE SALE

The freshmen class gave a bake sale last Saturday afternoon at Tunnell's Grocery.

They had quite a number of delicious cakes, pies, and cookies to sell which the public bought with great gusto.

The class wishes to thank Mr. and Mrs. Tunnell for the use of their store.

SOPHOMORE NEWS

There was an uproar in the sophomore class last Friday as they were nominating candidates for queen. Two girls were nominated and when they had been asked to leave the room the noise began. The boys were behind one candidate and the girls behind the other. There was a tie. Then they voted a secret ballot. Still a tie. Someone had to give in but who would it be? It was a cinch that the girls wouldn't. The other candidate gracefully and politely urged the boys to vote for the other girl and they finally agreed to do so. Bonnie Waters was finally elected candidate and we are determined to have her for the school queen. Our class is behind her one hundred percent and we feel sure that she will win the title of Miss Silverton High School Queen for 1949.

SENIOR NEWS

During a senior class meeting last Wednesday the seniors elected Betty Dickerson as their queen. As you probably know by now, the school is electing a queen by vote. The votes are one cent each. Everyone vote for Betty Dickerson for queen.

If anyone has a job around the home that needs fixing or mending and you do not have time to fix it, just call the seniors at high school. We will be glad to help you and we guarantee a good job will be done.

If you want an evening off for a party or bridge game and are in need of a baby sitter, just call high school and contact some senior girl. They are willing and eager to sit with your youngster for the evening for a small fee.

HOME-MAKING GIRLS VERY BUSY

The freshmen and sophomore girls in the home-making classes are busily engaged in making their blouses. Just drop by the home-making room and glance in one of these days and you'll see busy fingers engaged in cutting, basting, pressing, fitting and sewing.

The home-making room is very attractive with Nile green nylon curtains at the windows and several little potted plants.

The junior and senior girls have at last started cooking. Look out, boys! They have learned the old adage about the way to a man's heart being through his stomach.

Introducing Our New Teachers

Mr. John Lowrance was born in Jacksboro, Texas, where he attended public school. After graduation he went to John Tarleton Junior College, now called Tarleton State College, for two years following which he entered North Texas State College at Denton, Texas. He carried a double major in Sociology and Education and received a B. A. degree in these fields. At the same time he majored in History and English. Following receipt of his bachelors he took his masters in sociology and psychology.

Mr. Lowrance's favorite sport is football—as a spectator. He did not play football while in school.

His hobbies are reading and music. Of the latter he prefers classic and semi-classical music.

This is his first year as a teacher and he is doing an excellent job says that that he likes it, and Silverton and community, very much.

We are glad to have Mr. Lowrance on our faculty and feel that he is doing a splendid job. He seems to be very popular with the students as well as the rest of us.

THE OWL HEARD...

My! What has come over Pat Northcutt and Lettie? Lettie said that he let her have the keys to his jeep Monday morning.

Why has Flute been glaring at Junis so much lately? Could Junis' short hair have anything to do with it?

Melvin surely likes the name "Mary", doesn't he? However, he changed the "Francis" to "Lou" Saturday night. How about that, Melvin?

Fayrene and Don were together again Friday night. What is Walter going to have to say about that, Fayrene?

Gay's at it again. She was with Theodore Friday night.

Why was Milly so happy Sunday? Could it be because Jimmy Nance came to see her?

Hasn't Francis got a quick temper? Just ask Millie and Milton.

Why are all of the Freshmen girls afraid to get near Joe Wayne? Sure is a cute little water dog that he has, isn't it?

When did Ray start going to the Methodist church? Do you know, Polly?

Who was Eudean with Sunday afternoon? Do you know, Red?

Who was McPherson with Friday night? Do you know, Francis?

What new comer to our school this year is wearing a "Keep-off-the-grass" ring which she received from a boy in New Mexico?

Mr. and Mrs. McNeese had as their week end guest Mrs. Eunice Hoskins of Granite, Oklahoma. Mrs. Hoskins is a teacher in the Granite school. They go to school during August and turn out in October to permit cotton pulling, thus giving teachers a fall vacation. Mrs. Hoskins seemed to enjoy being in Silverton very much and enjoyed particularly a trip to the Schott Canyon.

OWLS DEFEAT BEARCUBS

The Silverton Owls defeated the Estelline Bearcubs in a well-earned battle here Friday night. The Bearcubs, although held scoreless, put up a terrific fight but the Owls fought back a little harder.

Donald Rhea accounted for all the scores that were made. Rhea, rushing the line, went over the goal twice and kicked one conversion.

Wayne Hamilton and Billy Tennon were outstanding in the line for the Owls.

We will meet the Kress Kangaroos this coming Friday (to-morrow) night here on the Silverton home field.

Don't miss the special event scheduled for between halves at this game. It will be something worth seeing. No more hints for this time.

Answer to last week's riddle: Pat Northcutt.

OWLETS DEFEAT TURKEY POLTS

(Handed in too late to be published last week.)

The Junior High Owlets went to Turkey on Thursday, October 27, where they defeated the Turkey Polts 27-13. Silverton scored on Turkey in the first half of the game and Turkey didn't score until the third quarter.

Silverton's first touchdown was made by Arnold Gilcreast. Their second touchdown was made by Freddy Hamilton and the third touchdown was by Freddy Hamilton, also. Silverton's last touchdown was made by Carlyle Satterfield. All extra points were run over.

Our outstanding center, Jack Graham, will be out of football for a few days because of illness.

The Junior Owlets' next game will be with Happy November 14 at Silverton.

BASKET BALL NEWS

The basket ball girls went to Lockney last Friday, November 1 to compete with the Lockney girls. We ruined our "undefeated" record by letting them beat us 26-22 but we still think we have a pretty good team.

On Tuesday of this week we will play Tulia Hornets. After the game there will be a box supper in the high school auditorium to raise money to help pay for the girls' basket ball suits.

On Tuesday, November 15 Lockney High girls will play here at 7:30 p. m. Come out and watch the game and show our girls that we are behind them 100%. So far, Lockney is the only team that has defeated us this year and we are awaiting this game with blood in our eyes.

OPEN DOOR POLICY

The next time you visit one of our offices take a good look at the doors in it. Chances are you'll find all of them open... especially the door to the manager's office.

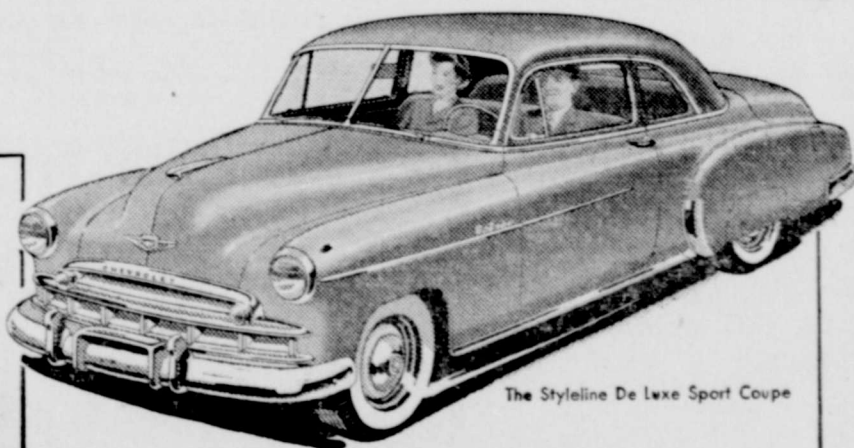

Open doors are a very important part of our policy. Our offices... and the managers and people who work in them... have one main purpose... to bring you the best in electric service. We feel that purpose is best served if you find an "open door" each time you call at one of our offices.

Perhaps you have a suggestion on how to improve our service... a request for information... or just the desire to visit for a while with our people. Whatever the purpose of your visit, we know it will be best accomplished if you find an open door and a hearty welcome. That's what we want you to always find.

Vote! FARMER-COMMITTEEMAN ELECTIONS

Ballots listing the names of nominees for community Production and Marketing Administration Committee and delegates to the county convention which selects the county PMA committee were mailed November 1, 1949 to all known eligible voters in Briscoe county.

Morris Wilson, present county PMA committee chairman urges that voters mark their ballots and return them to the county office immediately. Ballots will be accepted in the county office until November 18, 1949. On November 19, 1949 polling places in each community will be open from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. for those who do not vote by mail. Nominees were selected earlier by nominating committees composed of three eligible voters from each community, Wilson explains. Voters may "write-in" names of other eligible persons on the ballot, however. Election to each position will be by plurality vote. The duties of farmer-committeemen include recommending programs, action, determining acreage allotments, and otherwise administering Federal farm programs; choosing conservation practices for which Federal assistance is offered in Briscoe County; allocating among farmers the funds available for meeting agricultural conservation needs; and handling price support operations, including commodity loans and purchases. Mail your ballot for community PMA farmer-committeemen to the county Production and Marketing Administration office in Silverton. Be sure that the farmer-committeemen who administer your Federal farm programs next year are the committeemen of your choice! Make democracy work—for you!

Don't overlook the importance of planning for future electricity needs or uses in the new farm buildings or in those that may be remodeled. Be sure that you're using the right size wire and that plenty of citrus are included to take care of future needs.

The juice from pickled fruits, such as crabapples, peaches and pears can be used to baste smoked ham.

Before a new garment is worn, touch the center of each button with transparent nail polish. It seals the threads so you won't have to re sew so often.

New concrete on the farm can be cured by covering with earth or straw. Cover it as soon as possible, then keep it moist for at least five days.
