Why Do They Call It "Lottie Moon Christmas Offering?"

The season of prayer for Foreign Mission observed by the Missionary Society of the First Baptist Church, will be given in an all day meeting Monday, December 4, 1950.

Lottie Moon Christmas offering goal for this year is $1,600,000 throughout the State.

Why do we call it Lottie Moon Christmas Offering?

It was given to only a few women to stand out in Mission History as Miss Lottie Moon does. Her unusual challenge caught up the newly formed Woman's Missionary Union in 1888.

Back from China came many letters from her urging that a gift be taken for foreign mission at the Christmas season. Miss Moon had stayed in China long passed her furlough time, though her bags were packed after eleven years in China she could not come home.

Two men had come from Pingtu. They said the women and girls were expecting her, even hoping they would meet her coming on their way as they walked the 115 miles. She turned from her thoughts of Virginia. Pingtu was calling for teachers and with the word of life she went to Pingtu, and she asked for the offering that more Missionaries might be sent so that all Missionaries could have their needed rest back in the homeland.

Every since the first offering our women and young people have gathered an offering for foreign mission at Christmas time.

In 1918 the Women's Missionary Union decided to name it the Lottie Moon Christmas offering.

Miss Moon was born December 17, 1840. She went out to China in the fall of 1873.

She was the first president of the Women's Missionary Union of North China, organized 1911. She gave her life to China for Christ sake. She gave from her own salary.

She invested her inheritance with the board and year after year gave to the board the entire income to help relieve the debt. In the year of famine she gave a large part of her salary to the relief of the starving Pingtu Christians.

Is not the Lottie Moon Christmas offering well named? By Mrs. C. O. Allard, General Chairman.

"Father of the Bride At Palace November 19-20

Everyone who loves a lover is even more personally interested in brides and in weddings in general. This interest manifested itself recently in the overwhelming selection of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Father of the Bride" for the July Boxoffice Blue Ribbon Ward.

Spencer Tracy in the role of the bill-harassed, protectively concerned father and Elizabeth Taylor as the breath-taking bridal vision in white satin and tulle had something to do with the choice, of course, as did Joan Bennett's competent handling of the bride's mother, with Billie Burke fluttering skillfully as the groom's maternal parent. Moreover the action of the story keeps it from developing into an overly romantic tribute to our connubial tribal customs, and there is a mellow appreciation of their contribution to our stoutly defended right to the pursuit of happiness.

Next weeks program appears on page 2.

It's Usually The Same Story of An Unloaded Gun

This is the time of the year when hunting accidents take their heaviest toll of lives. Most accidents could be prevented if the simple rules of safety with firearms are observed. "Trigger happy" hunters, says R. E. Callender, extension specialist in wildlife conservation of Texas A. & M. College, endanger the lives of every other hunter in the woods and also cause much damage to wildlife. Their wild shooting leaves many birds and animals crippled and these are lost because they are not usually found until they are dead.

Practicing safety with guns in the fields or woods then, says Callender, is just a good conservation practice and it applies to both humans and wildlife. He reports that almost two-thirds of all hunting accidents result from three causes: humans in line of fire, mistaking humans for game and hunting with the safety catch off on the rifle.

He points out that good sportsmanship is just good manners. It includes using the right gun for the right game, hunting only in season and not taking more game than can be used even though the bag limit may permit the hunter to take more. Bird hunters, he says, should use a trained dog to retrieve crippled birds. The careful and wise hunter puts out cigarettes and campfires, breaks matches before dropping them and leaves the area where he has hunted in good condition.

Here is Callender's code of safety for the hunter. Treat every gun as if it were loaded; it is usually the empty gun, they thought it was empty, that takes the most lives. Loaded guns should never be carried in an automobile. The gun barrel and action should always be checked to make sure there are no obstructions in either. The gun should be carried so that the hunter always has control of the direction of the muzzle, even if he should stumble. The good hunter never pulls the trigger until he is sure of his target and never points a gun at anything he doesn't intend to shoot.

He says loaded guns should never be left unattended and that the hunter should unload his gun before climbing a tree or over a fence. Bullets fired at flat, hard surfaces, or at objects on the surface of water may ricochet and hit objects not thought to be in the line of fire. Last but very important, he says gunpowder and alcohol should never be mixed for the results can be disastrous.

The intelligent hunter will be thinking about how he can aid in conserving the wildlife of the land so that he and other hunters will have areas where they can continue to enjoy one of America's greatest sports in the years ahead. Wasteful and careless hunting habits on the other hand, says Callender, can destroy the protection, vegetation and even the wild life itself. It's up to every hunter, he concludes, to see that this situation does not exist in the areas where he hunts.

Mrs. Bill Rucker, of Quitaque, who spent most of last week in the local clinic was able to be moved home Saturday. Her mother, Mrs. F. L. Perkins, reported she was much improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Tunnell, Richard and Frances, visited Larry Tunnell and Wayne McMurtry in Roswell, New Mexico, Sunday.

Plan Now For 1951 Cotton Crop—Is Advice Given

The present world situation and weather conditions over much of the cotton producing areas of the nation can have a strong bearing on the 1951 cotton crop in the United States. World conditions have materially increased the demand for cotton and weather conditions are very unfavorable at this time so far as the production of high quality planting seed for 1951 are concerned.

According to Fred C. Elliott, extension cotton work specialist of Texas A. and M. College, the seed situation is so bad that steps must be taken immediately to prevent an actual shortage of the better adapted varieties of planting seed for next year. He says too much moisture at harvest time materially affects the keeping qualities of cotton seed. When seed that is high in moisture and free fatty acids is stored, heating occurs and this causes seed losses as well as poor germination. He says there is practically nothing that can be done to take care of the free fatty acid problem but that good handling facilities and the proper handling of the stored seed will help some and will hold the damage that can be caused by too much moisture to a minimum.

Elliott says that all reports indicate that the demands for cotton will remain high. No announcement has yet been made regarding the probable acreage of the 1951 cotton crop but indications are that it will be much larger than the 1950 acreage.

With these facts in mind, Elliott recommends to farmers who have a good seed supply of the better adapted varieties of cotton, that they store this seed for 1951 planting purposes. Good gin-run seed of the adopted variety should be saved in each area to take care of the maximum acreage that might be planted in the gin community in 1951.

He urges farmers and ginners to cooperate in saving and storing seed that should be saved for planting purposes, and points out that the building up of reserves of good planting seed must be done within the next few weeks because the present cotton crop is now moving rapidly to gins.

There are other items the cotton producer should be considering at this time, says Elliott. All cotton stalks should be cut and plowed under just as soon as the harvest is completed. Area wide stalk destruction programs are the most effective. Next year's infestation of boll weevils, pink bollworms and possibly other cotton insects can be reduced by early stalk destruction programs.

The land on which cotton will be planted in 1951 should be seeded to a fertilizer and if needed, inoculated winter legume. This crop will protect the land against erosion and usually will boost next year's yield. The losses caused by root rot are materially lessened when cotton follows a winter legume crop.

Elliott urges farmers to purchase now the fertilizers needed to produce their 1951 crop. He says supplies next spring may not be adequate to take care of demands chiefly because of transportation problems. He further suggests that you contact your local county agricultural agent for information on seed storage, proper handling of seed in storage, winter legumes for your area and on most any other question dealing with cotton production.

Merchandise Mart Exhibits Newest Gadgets

CHICAGO, Ill.—Ever heard of a spherical "cube"? Or a magnetic soap holder?

There are such things. And they're practical too.

In Chicago, there is a permanent, constantly expanding exhibit known as "Good Design." Twice yearly, a jury chaired by a consultant to the Museum of Modern Art in New York selects home furnishings designed for present-day life, in general regard to usefulness, to production methods and materials and to the progressive taste of the day.

The exhibit, which is sponsored by the world's largest market place, the Merchandise Mart, includes not only new gadgets like the soap holder which suspends the soap in the air for drying, and a tray which freezes round ice-cubes, but hundreds of other items to add harmony and color and conserve time for Mr. and Mrs. America.

Unusual Appliances

There is a rotary egg-beater which makes manual mixing of liquids practically effortless; there is green and crystal glassware of enviable clarity and design which can be purchased for only fifteen cents a glass; and a dining table that folds in and becomes its own carrying case.

The idea behind the exhibit was germinated during the latter part of 1949 when a group of retailers and wholesalers met informally to discuss methods for creating a better liaison between the drafting boards of America's talented designers and the production lines of the nation's manufacturers. It was felt that, while excellent furnishings are available on the market, opportunities for viewing them were limited because of a lack of concentration among the various lines. It was believed that many new and practical ideas in the field could be introduced by bridging an unnecessary gulf between those who created designs and those who produced the finished products.

Thousands See Exhibit

Subsequently, the Merchandise Mart, which annually attracts thousands of the nation's top manufacturers, launched a program in cooperation with the Museum of Modern Art, to show the best new designs available on the American home furnishings market.

As a result of their efforts, the public as well as manufacturers may now view items which are adjustable, portable, demountable, versatile and space-conserving for the modern home. There are folding chairs, nests of tables, a telescope coffee table, and a lamp so adaptable that only one is necessary to light an entire room. In most items, strength is obtained not through massiveness but through the use of modern materials and techniques—molded plywood, for example.

The items which are on display in the Good Design exhibit are not for sale at the Merchandise Mart. In actual commercial production, they are on display as a link between art and the home furnishings industry and as an exhibit of advances which have been made to lighten the housewife's burden. The near future will see these items in retail stores across the nation.

Youth Asks Police to Keep Him From Committing Crime

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—The detective bureau was started when an 18-year-old youth walked in and told detective Sgt. Charles Heupper, "I'm afraid I'm going to hold someone up."

"Have you got a gun?" the detective asked. "Yes," the youth replied — and reached under his left arm. "Wait a minute," said Heupper. "I'll get it." He reached under the youth's arm and pulled out a loaded .22 caliber pistol. He also found 84 cartridges in a sock in the boy's pocket.

The youth told police he had been discharged from a mental institution at Buffalo, N. Y., four months ago and had been living with an aunt. He said he conceived the hold-up idea because he owed $180 for repairs to an automobile.

Accident Victim Undergoes Thirty-Two Operations

EAST GRINSTEAD, Eng.—Gerry Fitzgerald, 59, a Los Angeles businessman, has undergone his 32nd operation.

Four years ago almost every bone in Fitzgerald's body except his spine was broken in an airplane crash in Switzerland. Since then he has returned to England regularly to have himself mended by Sir Archibald McIndoe, a plastic surgeon.

Fitzgerald said that now he hoped to "go back to God's country and Los Angeles."

A textile export-import dealer and former St. Louis newspaper editor, he has spent his time between operations flying about the world on business.

It's New—EQ 335 Screwworm Remedy, Now Available

A new treatment for the control of the destructive livestock insect pest, the screwworm, has been developed by the USDA's Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine at their Kerrville laboratory. The new treatment is known as EQ 335 screwworm remedy.

According to J. A. Deer, assistant extension entomologist of Texas A. and M. College, the new remedy will replace the old reliable smear 62 formula that has been used for the past 10 years. The formula for EQ 335 contains by weight 3 percent of the powerful new insecticide, Lindane, 35 percent pine oil, 42 percent white mineral oil, 10 percent emulsifier and 10 percent silica gel. Deer says production of the new remedy is to start immediately and there will be smears of different consistencies on the market depending upon the type of emulsifier used. He says any of the smears that contain the 3 percent lindane and the 35 percent pine oil will be effective even though the other items in the formula vary somewhat from the original.

Here are the advantages he lists for the new smear over 62. It will not deteriorate upon standing. An application usually lasts for seven days or about twice as long as an application of Smear 62. Treated wounds heal quickly and the lamp black and other coloring chemicals that stain clothing, wool or hair are not found in the new remedy. The treatment kills maggots deep in the wounds, young maggots as they hatch from eggs and flies attracted to the wound to feed or lay eggs.

According to Deer, the new remedy has been tried on thousands of animals during the past four years and none have been injured from the treatment. He points out, however, that young animals, especially calves, might become sick if the treatment is not applied properly. The smear should be applied with a small paint brush and only the wound and a narrow strip of an inch or less about the wound should be treated.

Deer urges livestock producers to use good livestock management practices and to be on the alert for infestations of screwworms, because the use of the new remedy alone will not give screwworm control. Infested animals should be treated at once and operations or other livestock management practices that cause wounds should be avoided during the screwworm season.

The same formula can be diluted with water, one part of EQ 335 with nine parts of water, and can be used to treat sheep that are infested with wool maggots. The liquid should be applied to the infested portions of the sheep.

Deer says screwworms have caused heavy damage this year in Texas and since the weather remains warm in some parts of the state, further damage can be expected. He says this new smear will soon be available on the market and recommends its use. Check the container label, he says, to be sure the product you purchase contains the 3 percent lin-dane and the 35 percent pine oil by weight for these are the items that give the smear its kick.

SHRUB HUNTING SEASON

Hunting season brings thoughts of well-oiled shotguns and eager hunting dogs to most people. For the homestead gardener, another hunting season has arrived which is just as interesting as the common gun-and-dog version, and the "trophies" can be admired through the years with growing pleasure also. Shrub hunting season is here again.

A visit to a nursery, before going in the search, will help the homestead gardener decide which shrubs and trees to look for in the fields and woods. Sadie Hatfield, homestead improvement specialist for the Texas A. & M. Extension Service, suggests looking over the farm pasture first. Valuable native plants are often found growing in nearby pastures and old fields, canyons and breaks. Miss Hatfield points out that these native plants found near the home are well adapted to the soil and climate and usually thrive when moved to the home grounds. They may take less care than introduced plants.

She says the shrubs should be marked now and transplanted to the home grounds during the winter. Shrubs which have attractive berries and bright fall leaves are easy to select at this time of the year, and plants which hold their leaves in the fall and winter are easy to tell from those which lose all their leaves. Usually shrubs that are transplanted in the winter grow better than those taken up during the spring or fall.

Native shrubs of ornamental value are found in all parts of Texas, says Miss Hatfield. In the southwestern area, the ceniza and the algerita or agarita grow, while several native hollies are found throughout the eastern part of the state. Other wild plants of ornamental value that grow in East Texas are swamp myrtle or bayberry, cherry laurel, and Indian cherry or buckthorn. Evergreen sumac or kiniknik, mountain laurel, Texas madrona or Texas arbutus, cedars, and Arizona cypress are found growing wild in Central and West Texas.

Nurse Tells How Hadacol Was So Helpful To Her

Supplied Vitamins B<sub>1</sub>, B<sub>2</sub>, Iron and Niacin Which Her System Lacked

Mrs. Jennie Lee Adele, 412 N. 27 St., East St. Louis, Ill., a nurse, says she wishes she had found out about HADACOL sooner because since taking HADACOL she feels so good. Mrs. Adele was suffering a deficiency of Vitamins B<sub>1</sub>, B<sub>2</sub>, Niacin and Iron which HADACOL contains.

Here is Mrs. Adele's own statement: "I have been a nurse for over 14 years. My food never seemed to agree with me. I heard one day how so many folks were being helped because of HADACOL. I tried it and after 3 bottles I could tell a big improvement. Now I eat anything I want—sleep well and I am full of energy."

Why HADACOL Gives Such Fine Results

HADACOL does not bring just symptomatic relief. HADACOL now makes it possible to actually relieve the cause of aches and pains in the shoulders, legs and arms, certain nervous disturbances, and a general run-down weakened condition due to deficiencies of Vitamins B<sub>1</sub>, B<sub>2</sub>, Niacin and Iron in your system.

HADACOL not only supplies deficient systems with extra quantities of Vitamins B<sub>1</sub>, B<sub>2</sub>, Iron, and Niacin but also helpful amounts of important Calcium and Phosphorus —elements so vital to help maintain good health and physical fitness.

Why These Vitamins and Minerals Come in Liquid Form

There's a very good reason why HADACOL comes in special liquid form. These precious Vitamins and Minerals are more easily and quickly absorbed into the blood stream this way—ready to go right to work. A big improvement is often noticed within a few days.

Don't Be A 'Doubting Thomas'

After reading Mrs. Adele's wonderful experience with HADACOL—how can you doubt that this great new nutritional formula will help you if your system lacks Vitamins B<sub>1</sub>, B<sub>2</sub>, Iron, and Niacin?

What HADACOL did for Mrs. Adele, it can do for you if you're troubled with aches and pains in the shoulders, legs, and arms, certain nervous disturbances, insomnia when due to an upset stomach, stomach distress and a general run-down weakened condition due to such deficiencies.

So what are you waiting for? Don't you see that HADACOL is the kind of product you need—the kind you should buy and the kind you should start taking immediately!

Sold On A Strict Money-Back Guarantee

HADACOL even helps build up the hemoglobin content of your blood (when Iron is needed) to course through your body, carrying these great health-building elements to every body organ. No wonder HADACOL helps you feel wonderful.

Be fair to yourself! Give yourself a break if you have such deficiencies! Why continue to drag yourself around—a burden to yourself and your family—when relief may be as close at hand as your nearest drugstore if you suffer a deficiency of Vitamins B<sub>1</sub>, B<sub>2</sub>, Niacin and Iron. This great HADACOL is inexpensive, too—costs only a small amount a day. Trial size, only $1.25. Large family or hospital size, $3.50. If your druggist does not have HADACOL, order it direct from The LeBlanc Corporation, Lafayette, Louisiana.

EDITORIAL

Bob oh boy! Silvertown sure is a friendly town. Friday night a group of Plainview boys came to see one of the local boys and they got run out of town. How would you feel if you went over at Plainview and a group of boys jumped on you? You'd think pretty badly of Plainview wouldn't you? And there's no reason to try to fight them for going with the Silvertown girls. If the girls want to go with them that's their business. Its a cinch its not any of yours. If you like one of the girls that they're going with why not ask her for a date yourself? If you don't want to go with her then step aside for the person that does. The Plainview boys will be back and when they do lets be a little more friendly towards them. Lets show outsiders we can be friendly and sportsman like. What say! Lets try it once. O. K.?

Joe Monday

LONELY HEARTS PROBLEMS

Well! Folks. It looks like most of you refuse to write to me. Don't you know I could help you with all your problems. Please write to me and tell me your troubles. I know I can help you. Leave your letters with Mrs. Porter or some of the Journalism Class. You don't need to sign your name just your initial.

Prunelli Phill

Dearest Prunelli
 I know you have many problems but mine is very different and difficult. I have a crush on my teacher. He isn't too much older than I. He has pretty brown curly hair. He is assistant coach here at our school. My problem is that he never even notices me except to call in Study Hall the second period.

Help me Prunelli I simply must win his attention. I am most desperate. UNNOTICED.

S. F.

Dear S. F.
 Your Problem is not so different but to answer it is rather difficult. Not knowing your age or very much about you, I find it hard to advise you. If you are old enough to know what you want I say go after it. To tell you how is also difficult. Be sweet and above all be your self.

On the other hand if this is just a silly infatuation. I say forget it. Maybe this teacher is Married. If he is please forget this idea. You could break up a happy home. If he isn't married it is probably just a "Crush." My advice is to try to forget it.

Hoping I've Helped Prunelli Phill

NOSEY

Golly, Milton is getting popular. We heard that Margaret and Gloria June and Valetta have crushes on him. Are you listening, Milton?

However, Margaret can't seem to make up her mind. She says she has a crush on Milton but is dating Ray Hyatt.

Whats this we hear about Zehpzy going to be Eudean's boyfriend when he gets a ranch.

Why don't some people make up their minds? Joe Wayne and Ruby were together again Saturday and Sunday night.

Nosey saw Eudean with Duke Sunday night.

What was the matter with Sunshine Monday morning? She wasn't so sunshiny. Could it be that the truth about Red hurts.

Janice and William are still going full blast. They were going together again Saturday night.

Flash! In more ways than one. Have you all seen Fern's engagement ring. Isn't it pretty?

Jaye was with Sandy again Saturday night.

It is rumored that Melvin was with Edna Saturday night.

We hear the Plainview boys left town rather suddenly Sunday night. We wonder why? Shame on someone.

Sunshine was with Darrell O'Conner after the dance Saturday night. We hear she had an interesting afternoon Sunday. She was "baby-setting" with six kids.

Millie, Carl, Lois and Lob all went to Plainview Sunday afternoon. They stayed over late enough to go to the show at the drivein.

Why weren't Willie and Joy Nell together any over the week end. Could it be that Willie found out about that crush Joy has on Joe Lee?

Nosey wonders if Chestna and Ray can't find a better time and place for smooching than during the noon hour in front of the school building?

Bad news, kids. Joe Monday and Wayma are going steady now.

Decorators' Tricks Add Great Charm to Rooms

Have you discovered how much distinction unusual colors can give your rooms? With decorative textiles in gay colors and smart contemporary furniture in a variety of woods, such colors as shadowy blue, sun gold, and nut brown have come into favor with decorator and homemaker alike.

You can, of course, obtain many of the fashion-right shades you desire already mixed—or you can do the mixing yourself. Just be sure to mix enough to cover the entire surface to be painted. Tell your paint dealer the measurements of your room so that he can estimate the amount you will need. The colors you will use to obtain the desired hue come in tubes or small cans, if you're planning to tint an oil base paint or enamel.

In tinting oil base paints, add a little of your base paint to a small quantity of tinting color and mix them together thoroughly. Then combine the mixture with the paint in the large container and blend it well. After you add the final dab of color to your paint, see that all of the tinting compound is absorbed. Then strain the whole quantity through a regular paint strainer, a wire screen, or an old stocking—just to make sure there are no lumps left in the bottom of the can.

To alter the color of a lacquer, a casein or an emulsion paint, you usually combine two or more of the ready-mixed coatings. Your dealer can advise you and show you samples of the colors than can be obtained by such mixing.

Farm Pond Owners Warned Of 'Stale Pond Diseases'

Make sure that farm ponds do not become reservoirs of livestock diseases during summer dry spells, livestock owners are advised.

An animal health bulletin points out that low water levels and contamination of farm ponds may cause much sickness among farm animals and bring heavy losses to the owner.

Stale pond water may bring about, or intensify, coccidiosis, stomach and nodular worms, mouth sores, algae poisoning and scours.

This happens so often that veterinarians sometimes refer to these problems as 'stale pond diseases.'

Another dangerous condition arises when shorelines recede due to lower water levels. Cattle walk in the soft mud, leaving holes and sharp ridges which later harden when exposed to the sun and air.

Veterinarians have found that this 'washboard' ground is a serious hazard to the animals' feet. It may easily cause cuts and bruises. Germs lurk in stagnant water, thus gaining entrance to cause 'foul foot.'

Livestock raisers are strongly advised to either fence off ponds or to remove cattle when water levels drop, or when scum on the surface indicates that ponds are becoming stale. This simple precaution may save livestock owners a heavy toll of dead and diseased animals.

Antihistamine for Animals

Reports are beginning to pile up on the use of antihistamine drugs in treating various disorders of livestock and pets. Articles by veterinarians, published in scientific journals, stress that these drugs are not a "cure-all" but that they do appear to be helpful against some types of ailments when used in conjunction with good nursing and other lines of treatment. Their main value, investigators say, seems to be the temporary relief and "lift" they give sick animals.

Repeated trials have shown that cattle, sheep, and horses suffering from founder can be returned to normal conditions within a few hours after treatment with antihistamine drugs now available to veterinarians. These preparations also give animals relief from other kinds of digestive disturbances as well as allergic skin diseases.

Facts About Pentagon

Crowded wartime Washington was reluctant to make space for a building the size of the Pentagon, so it was located across the Potomac in near-by Virginia. Pentagon planners flouted the conventional classic government architecture and "did everything by fives." For instance, there are five sections to the Pentagon, one building nesting within another, and each has five sides. The perimeter of the outer building measures a fifth of a mile on each side and is joined to the other sections by a network of corridors. Naturally, there are five floors.

Nation's Food Reserves

By maintaining the soil's productive capacity, farmers can have a vital part in supplying the needs of our military forces for national defense. The U. S. department of agriculture reports that the nation's food reserves and reserves of food materials in the soil are in better condition today than they were at the beginning of World War II. Much of this improvement is a direct result of the continuous protection and development of the land through the participation of nearly three million farmers in the agricultural conservation program throughout the nation.

Heavy Rainfall Regions

In the United States, Louisiana, having Gulf of Mexico moisture, claim state rainfall honors with four and one half feet per year for a 50-year period. Nevada is the only state averaging less than a foot of rain. The world's regions of heaviest rainfall are mostly close to the equator and on the windward side of high mountain ranges. In Oregon and Washington, the Cascade range illustrates how mountains take moisture from sea winds.

CARVING TURKEY IS EASY

Carving turkey at Thanksgiving or Christmas is really quite easy when a few simple rules are followed, says F. Z. Beanblossom, poultry marketing specialist for the Texas A & M. College Extension Service. He has several suggestions for making the job easy.

First, Beanblossom advises using a sharp knife. Nothing is more discouraging than to saw away at a roasted turkey with a dull carving knife.

Place the turkey on its back with the legs facing the carver. Pieces of apple or bread cut in wedge shapes and placed along the back of the turkey will form a cradle and hold the bird in position.

Hold the end of the drumstick with the left hand and cut down between the body and thigh. A little pressure applied with the left hand on the drumstick away from the body will help locate the hip joint and make the removal of the leg easier.

To carve the drumstick and thigh, first separate them at the joint. Next lay them flat on the platter and place the fork astride the bone and cut parallel to the bone.

After the necessary amount of dark meat has been carved, return to the bird and place the fork astride the breastbone and cut into the wing joint. Press down to dis-joint the wing.

Next, start cutting the breast meat with a downward sawing motion. Thickness of slices may vary according to the carver and the needs of the occasion. When one side of the turkey is finished, reverse the turkey and repeat the process.

Beanblossom states that it is entirely proper for the person doing the carving to stand. It is also helpful if the guests will engage themselves in ordinary conversation and occasionally comment on how well the carver is doing the job. This helps to relieve the tension of those inexperienced in the art of carving turkey.

IT'S NEW

A new treatment for the control of the destructive livestock insect pest, the screwworm, has been developed by the USDA's Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine at their Kerrville laboratory. The new treatment is known as EQ 335 screwworm remedy.

According to J. A. Deer, assistant extension entomologist of Texas A. & M. College, the new remedy will replace the old reliable Smear 62 formula that has been used for the past 10 years. The formula for EQ 335 contains by weight 3 percent of the powerful new insecticide, Lindane, 33 percent pine oil, 42 percent white mineral oil, 10 percent emulsifier and 10 percent silica gel. Deer says production of the new remedy is to start immediately and there will be smears of different consistencies on the market depending upon the type of emulsifier used. He says any of the smears that contain the 3 percent lindane and the 35 percent pine oil will be effective even though the other items in the formula vary somewhat from the original.

Here are the advantages he lists for the new smear over 62. It will not deteriorate upon standing. An application usually lasts for seven days or about twice as long as an application of Smear 62. Treated wounds heal quickly and the lamp black and other coloring chemicals that stain clothing, wool or hair are not found in the new remedy. The treatment kills maggots deep in the wounds, young maggots as they hatch from eggs and flies attracted to the wound to feed on lay eggs.

According to Deer, the new remedy has been tried on thousands of animals during the past four years and none have been injured from the treatment. He points out, however, that young animals, especially calves, might become sick if the treatment is not applied properly. The smear should be applied with a small paint brush and only the wound and a narrow strip of an inch or less about the wound should be treated. Deer urges livestock producers to use good livestock management practices and to be on the alert for infestations of screwworms, because the use of the new remedy alone will not give screwworm control. Infested animals should be treated at once and operations or other livestock management practices that cause wounds should be avoided during the screwworm season.
