For Weather Forecasts Texas to be Split Into Sections

The United States Weather Bureau announced Friday that as of November 1 it will slice up the map of Texas into four sections instead of two, because its citizens are as mercurial as its weather.

A. M. Hamrick, chief of the Dallas bureau, said Texas geographical size was by no means the only reason for the reshuffle. "Cowboys in West Texas don't like to see Abilene, Junction and Kerrville roughly classified in weather reports as East Texas," he said.

By the same token, he added, East Texas boosters are loathe to stand by idly while the Weather Bureau arbitrarily puts Abilene and Longview together as if both were in the Piney Woods, halloed ground to, say, a citizen of Lufkin.

The Weather Bureau chief said the thousands of letters pointing out the discrepancy had indicated a mounting dissatisfaction.

Nor were theirs the only complaints. The Panhandle is not in the Rio Grande Valley and Texans who follow the vagaries of Texas weather were eyeing the weather reports with understandable impatience.

As a result, Texans will be receiving more detailed weather forecasts beginning next Thursday.

Under the new 4-zone plan the West Texas area will include the Panhandle, South Plains and the Del Rio, Pecos and El Paso sectors. The eastern boundary will be roughly a line formed by Varnon, Seymour, Albany, Coleman, Brady, Mason and Kerrville.

There will be two new areas—North Central Texas and South Central Texas.

The North Central area will take in Wichita Falls, Fort Worth, Waco, Temple, Dallas, Sherman and Denison.

The South Central area will include Austin, San Antonio, Corpus Christi, Laredo and Brownsville in the Rio Grande Valley.

The East Texas area, much reduced from its former size, will include Bay City, Houston, Galveston, Beaumont, Port Arthur, Palestine, Tyler, Paris and Texarkana.—The Dallas Morning News.

National Outlook Conference Being Held in Washington

For the 28th consecutive year, the United States Department of Agriculture and the Land-Grant colleges of the nation are holding this week in Washington, D. C. the National Outlook Conference.

According to Dr. Tyrus Timm, Extension economist of Texas A. and M. College, this is a mighty important meeting and Texas farm and ranch families should be interested in the reports that will be released later on the 1952 outlook for agriculture.

No one knows for sure, points out Timm, (who will happen in 1952 or in any other future year because of the "free-choice system" of buying and selling that operates in America. However, he adds, the outlook information is based upon information that has been collected for years and studies have indicated that the forecasts are correct from 80 to 90 per cent of the time. These forecasts then should be considered by farm and ranch families when they make plans for 1952.

The outlook reports will deal with demands and prices, production costs, farm family living as well as the outlook for individual crops and the different kinds of livestock. The supply of the items needed by those engaged in agricultural production will also be studied.

It is reasonable to assume, says Timm, that the more information farmers and ranchers can get on the factors that enter into the supply and demand of the particular agricultural commodity, the better the decisions they must make will be. The purpose of providing outlook information than is to furnish Texas agriculturists with information that will aid them in planning long time net income and at the same time be consistent with good farm management practices.

The general public is interested in outlook information, says Timm for such work does tend to level out the peaks and valleys in production and to some extent stabilizes consumer prices.

Generally, says Timm, 1952 looks like another big year for Texas agriculture, but he adds that further increases in net farm income will likely have to come from added production and increased efficiency instead of higher prices. There is little likelihood, he continues that the ration of prices of farm products to prices of things farmers buy will give the producer any added advantage in 1952.

Timm urges farm and ranch families to study the outlook reports when they are available. Decisions made on the basis of outlook information should be better than those arising out of indifference and "just hoping," he says.

John G. McHaney and Gladys Darden both of the headquarters staff, are representing the Texas Agricultural Extension Service at the Conference.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Jones and son, Mrs. R. E. Campbell went to Amarillo Saturday afternoon to visit Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Burnett. Sunday they visited Miss Roberta Campbell in Hereford, and Monday morning they left for their home in Powell, South Dakota.

This is one in a weekly series depicting various activities and true life stories of the more than 400 boys and girls who live at the Methodist Home.

The Methodist Home, founded in 1890 by the Methodist Conference, will celebrate its sixty-first anniversary during November. It is supported entirely by voluntary contributions from members of the Methodist Church and other friends in New Mexico and Texas. More than 6000 boys and girls have graduated into a successful adult life during the 61 years.

More Beef From Same Pasture is Simple Economy

Clifton Wheeler, Jr., a McMullen county ranchman, has demonstrated that it pays to balance livestock numbers with range forage production. In 1949, with assistance from county agent L. E. Franks, Jr., Mr. Wheeler established a demonstration on his ranch to show the value of proper stocking rates along with other range management practices.

A 1,250 acre pasture was used. This pasture previously had been used to graze 100 head of grown cows. In 1949 these cows produced a 60 per cent calf crop and at weaning time the 60 calves weighed and averaged of 300 pounds each. The range vegetation was eaten to the ground and the mother cows were in poor condition.

In 1950 the number of cows on the pasture was reduced to 65 head. This increased the number of acres available for each cow from 12.5 to 19. The calf crop jumped from 60 to 95 per cent or 62 calves from the 65 cows. These calves averaged 425 pounds each at selling time and the gain in pounds of beef was more than 8,000.

In 1951 despite the serious drought, balancing livestock numbers and the available range forage again paid off. The number of cows on the pasture was increased to 74 head in order to lighten the load on other pastures but the calf crop still went to 88 per cent and the calves averaged 340 pounds each in June. This demonstration pasture despite the drought was rated fair.

Overstocking, says Wheeler, costs the ranchman in four ways; smaller calf crops, ruins the turf, the breeding cattle do not stay in good condition and the calves do not bring the top market prices.

How to do Away With Fish Odors

Fish sometimes loses its popularity in the American home because the odor remains in the kitchen long after it has been eaten. Frances Reasonover, food and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, has these tips for conquering that fishy odor.

Rinse hands in cold water before touching the fish. Afterwards, wash hands with hot water and salt. Soap won't do the job, the specialist warns.

Fishy odors can be removed from frying pans and dishes by soaking them in hot water and salt. Apply no soap until the salt has had a chance to do its work.

When fish is stored in the refrigerator, be sure that it is wrapped in a plastic bag or other air-tight material, so that the fish odor will not penetrate other foods.

90% For! 10% Against

Railroad workers are represented by 23 standard unions. By mutual agreement, 20 of these unions—comprising about 1,200,000 men, or more than 90%—are working under wages and rules agreed to by them and the railroads. But leaders of three unions—with only about 130,000 men, or less than 10%—still refuse, after more than a year of negotiations, to accept similar wage and rules agreements. These are even more favorable than the terms recommended by the Emergency Board appointed by the President.

Yes, it certainly seems to be finally about time that the leaders of the three unions stop their delaying tactics—their quibbling. But the leaders of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, and the Order of Railway Conductors continue to refuse. They continue a course of dillying and dallying. It is definitely time to

END THIS QUIBBLING!

On June 15, 1950, an Emergency Board appointed by the President under the terms of the Railway Labor Act—an Act largely fathered by the unions themselves—made its recommendations on certain wage and working conditions ("rules" in railroad language) which had been in dispute between employees and the railroads.

More Than 90% of Employees Accept
Since then, terms equal to or better than the Board recommendations have been accepted by about 1,200,000 railroad employees—more than 90% of the total of all workers. They are represented by 20 of the 23 standard railroad unions.

Less Than 10% Refuse
But three unions—with about 130,000 men, or less than 10% of the total—have refused to accept, even after months of negotiations. These three unions are the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, and the Order of Railway Conductors. These are three of the so-called "operating" unions. Already the highest paid men in the industry, their leaders demand still further advantages over other workers.

In all, there are about 270,000 operating employees. But not all of them, by any means, are represented by BLE, BLF&E, or ORC. As a matter of fact, less than half—132,000 to be exact—are in these three unions. More than half—about 140,000—are in other unions, principally the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. What makes the whole situation so hard to understand is that these 140,000 operating employees are working under wages and rules which the leaders of the other 130,000 say they cannot agree to.

What Do the Railroads Offer?
They offer these three unions the same settlement which was contained in a Memorandum of Agreement signed at the White House on December 21, 1950, by four brotherhoods and the railroads. Later these brotherhoods sought to repudiate this agreement. But on May 25, 1951, the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen signed a complete agreement carrying out the principles of the Memorandum Agreement of December 21. They have been working under this agreement since May 25.

What About Wages?
Under the terms of the agreement, yard engineers, firemen and conductors would now be receiving a wage increase of $34 an hour ($2.72 a day) and road engineers, firemen and conductors would now be receiving an increase of 19 1/2 cents an hour ($1.56 per day). Large sums of retroactive pay have already accrued and if the agreement is carried out, will be paid promptly.

What About "Cost of Living" Increases?
The White House Agreement includes an "escalator" clause under which wages will be geared to changes in the Government's cost-of-living index. Two such increases—April and July, 1951—have already been paid to the 90% of railroad employees covered by signed agreements.

What About the 40-Hour Week?
The White House Agreement calls for the establishment of the 40-hour week in principle, for employees in yard service. The employees can have it any time after January 1, 1952, provided the manpower situation is such that the railroads can get enough men to perform the work with reasonable regularity at straight time rates. If the parties do not agree on the question of availability of manpower, the White House Agreement provides arbitration by a referee appointed by the President.

What Else Do the Union Leaders Demand?
The continued quibbling of the leaders of the three unions has to do principally with rules changes, which have already been agreed to by the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen. Of these, the principal one seems to be that having to do with so-called "interdivisional service"—runs which take in two or more seniority districts.

The union leaders would bar progress and efficiency in the industry, and better service to the public, by maintaining a situation where they can arbitrarily stop a railroad from establishing such interdivisional runs. The carriers propose that if a railroad wishes to set up an interdivisional run, the railroad and the unions should try to agree on such run and the conditions which should surround its establishment, and if the railroad and the unions can't agree, the matter will be submitted to arbitration.

But the three union leaders still refuse.

Rules Can Be Arbitrated
The railroads have not only offered these three unions the same rules agreed to by the BRT and covered by the White House Agreement, but have even agreed to submit such rules to arbitration.

The Industry Pattern Is Fixed
With the pattern so firmly established in the railroad industry, it seems fair to suggest that the leaders of BLE, BLF&E, and ORC stop their quibbling and take action to make the railroad labor picture 100% complete. Certainly today's economic and international situation calls for a united front. And certainly no good reason has been advanced why these three unions should be preferred over all other railroad employees.

Second and Third

As the time draws nearer to the carnival we worked harder for our queen. John Turner bought a box of pop corn balls to sell for our queen. The sale of these proved to be quite successful as they were all sold in our own room before school. This inspired others to bring home-made candy or other things to sell in order to swell our queens fund. A prize is being offered to the one in our room who turns in the most votes for our queen.

Junior News

The junior class presented the assembly program this week for the entire school. Most of the pupils seem to have liked and enjoyed the program. The program consisted of a little skit of an operation on Kay Steele with Jim Baird the Dr. Several songs were sang by various juniors.

Of Course, It's an Electric Range It uses clean Electricity!

No messy burners on an electric range... just the sparkling cleanness of electric elements. For electricity is clean and spill-overs vanish into thin air... the electric elements completely clean themselves. You can take your finest party gloves (white, if you please) or your most delicate kerchief and hold military inspection by actually wiping them over the electric elements. No fear, lady, they'll remain just as clean as they are... because electric cooking is the cleanest way of cooking yet discovered. An electric range stands inspection in the store... or in the kitchen!

The Silvertton Owls kicked to the Matadors at the start. The Owls held them until they had to kick. The Owls then took the ball and went on a rampage. Freddie Hamilton ran the first TD off tackle for 35 yards.

Joe Brooks ran the second TD from the 9 yards line for the second TD.

Joe Brooks made the last TD from the 1 yard line. He also made the two extra points. All the boys played a good game and there was a lot of good blocking. It was the second conference game of the year and there are three more to go. The Owls meet Estelline November 2 here.

A Message of Importance

★ ★ ★ To Every Automobile Driver ★ ★ ★
In The State of Texas

HERE'S WHAT YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT THE NEW TEXAS "SAFETY RESPONSIBILITY LAW"

- 1 Enforcement Begins January 1, 1952. On this date, the new Safety Responsibility Law, as passed by the Legislature, goes into effect. This law was designed to protect you against financially irresponsible drivers and owners of motor vehicles involved in accidents. It affects all drivers and motor vehicle owners (except Federal, State, County and City-owned cars).
- 2 What Must You Do After An Accident? Under existing laws, you must file a written report to the Department of Public Safety if your car is involved in an accident where there is a death, an injury or property damage in excess of $25. Under the new law, a written report must be filed within ten days if your car is in an accident resulting in death, injury or property damage in excess of $100.
- 3 You Don't Have to Carry Liability Insurance, But . . . If you are not insured against bodily injury and property damage liability, you must be able to deposit with the Department of Public Safety security equal to the estimated damage, not exceeding $15,000.00, to cover all claims growing out of an accident anywhere in Texas in which you or your motor vehicle were involved. If you cannot establish financial responsibility for the future, your driver's license and your motor vehicle license plates are automatically suspended.
- 4 It's Easy to Establish Financial Responsibility with a motor vehicle liability insurance policy. If you do not now have such a policy, call your local insurance agent today. He is a qualified insurance counselor who will be happy to advise you concerning your needs.
- 5 What is the Minimum of Your Liability? The law permits each driver to establish the following minimum limits of liability: up to $5,000.00 for injuries sustained by one person; up to $10,000.00 for all personal injuries resulting from one accident, and up to $5,000.00 for property damage. You do not have to establish such liability but it is the easiest way.
