1952-53 School Term To Begin Here on September 1

Superintendent M. G. Moreland made the following announcement Tuesday of this week:

At a recent meeting of the Silverton School Board several things of importance were done. Among the actions of the board was the setting of the date for the opening of the 1952-53 school term. This was set for September 1.

With the opening of school so near it is the hope of the school officials that parents will take notice and make plans for their children to be ready. If children are in need of medical attention of any kind this is a good time to attend to such matters. Have eyes checked, get vaccinations etc. As you know there is no compulsion in such matters but we like to see the children properly cared for in matters of health as well as otherwise.

We have employed a school nurse for 1952-53 and feel that this will be of great benefit to all of us. Four new teachers have been employed but we are in need of two others. One for the third grade and one for the eighth grade. These are to be employed soon. A full list of all teachers will be published soon.

UNDERS NOT TO BE TAUGHT

Another thing of importance to several of our patrons is the decision of the board not to teach unders this year. Since we have a full load of six year olds it does not seem that it could be otherwise. Pupils must be six or before the first of September and should have been enumerated last March. In the event that one was overlooked if you will send a birth certificate we can make a late enumeration and they will then be eligible to attend school.

Repair work has been in progress for the entire summer and the buildings are about ready for the opening of school. All things point to a good school year ahead for Silverton schools.

Cap Rock Soil Conservation District News

It is important to a rancher or farmer to know if his pastures are becoming better, just holding their own, or going downhill. Anyone with a little practice can determine this by looking at the pasture if he knows what grasses and forbs should be growing on any particular soil.

To make this system easy to work with we have what we call Range Sites. These sites are tied directly with the type of soil we find in a given area. In the Cap Rock Soil Conservation District we have six range sites. All of them are different in some way, and all are capable of supporting different types of vegetation.

These range sites are: Smooth hardland, shallowland site, Cap Rock site, Mixed Land Site, Rough Broken Site, and Sandy Land Site. On all the above the vegetation is a little different, and with some overlapping occurring. Below, by sites, are listed the best grasses that a site will support.

1. Smooth hardland site—Little and Feather bluestem, Western wheatgrass, Sideoats and Blue Grama, and some Buffalo Grass.
2. Shallowland site—Little and feather bluestem, Blue grama, sideoats grama, and a small amount of hairy grama.
3. Cap Rock Site—Little, Big and Feather bluestem, Switchgrass, Indiangrass, Canada Wildrye, Sideoats and blue grama.
4. Mixedland site—Little and feather bluestem, Western wheatgrass, Canada wildrye, sideoats and blue grama.
5. Rough Broken Site—Little bluestem, Indiangrass, switchgrass, Western wheatgrass, Canada wildrye, Needle and thread, Sideoats and blue grama.
6. Sandyland Site—Little, big and feather bluestem, Indian and switch grass, Canada wildrye, and needle and thread.

If any of the above sites have from 75 to 100% of the grasses listed, they are considered to be in excellent condition. From 50 to 75% is in good condition, from 25 to 50% is in fair condition and 0 to 25% is in poor condition.

If a farmer or rancher knows what should grow on a particular site, he can watch the grass and know what is happening to his pastures.

The Soil Conservation Service personnel at Silverton would be glad to help any rancher or by going over his place with him.
